WEEKLY NEWS RELEASE

DEC. 7, 2021

SAN FRANCISCO 49ERS (6-6) AT CINCINNATI BENGALS (7-5)

WEEK 14, GAME 13
SUNDAY, DEC. 12
AT PAUL BROWN STADIUM

UP NEXT:
DEC. 19 AT DENVER

GAME NOTES

Kickoff: 4:25 p.m. Eastern.

Television: The game will air nationally on CBS-TV. In the Bengals' home region, it will be carried by WKRC-TV (Ch. 12) in Cincinnati, WHIO-TV (Ch. 7) in Dayton and on WKYT-TV (Ch. 27) in Lexington. Broadcasters are Greg Gumbel (play-by-play), Adam Archuleta (analyst) and AJ Ross (sideline reporter).

Radio: The game will air on the Bengals Radio Network, led by Cincinnati flagship stations WLW-AM (700), WCKY-AM (ESPN 1530; all sports) and WEBN-FM (102.7). Broadcasters are Dan Hoard (play-by-play) and Dave Lapham (analyst).

The game also will air nationally on ESPN Radio. Broadcasters are Sean Kelly (play-by-play), Kirk Morrison (analyst) and Sal Paolantonio (sideline reporter).

Setting the scene: The Bengals on Sunday face the San Francisco 49ers in what will be Cincinnati's third straight home game, and third home game in a six-week span. The Bengals will be looking to get back into the win column after falling 41-22 at home last week to the L.A. Chargers.

"We didn't deserve to win today," said Bengals head coach Zac Taylor. "To dig a hole the way that we did with turnovers, explosive plays, the opening kickoff going back 48 yards, and just other things that I did were certainly unacceptable. The Chargers are a good football team, so when you put that performance out there, that's what's going to happen."

The Bengals fell behind 24-0 early in the second quarter, after the Chargers scored three TDs and a FG on their first four offensive possessions. Two of those possessions came courtesy of Bengals turnovers, which the Chargers turned into 10 points.

"We were down 24-0, and it was looking pretty bleak, but our guys stayed the course" Taylor said. "(The deficit) wasn't all on the defense. Our offense gave them a lot — they got 10 points off of turnovers in the first quarter, and we were putting them in a tough spot a lot of the time."

But what early on looked like a Chargers runaway reversed course quickly. Cincinnati trimmed L.A.'s lead to 24-13 at halftime thanks to two TDs in the second quarter, including a six-yard run by QB Joe Burrow. After his TD, Burrow went to the sideline in obvious pain from what he later said was a dislocated pinky finger on his throwing hand. All eyes — and TV cameras — were on Burrow as he practiced throwing on the sideline in obvious pain.

"It was a decision of, 'Make it feel better, or continue to somewhat throw the ball,'" Burrow said after the game. "So I decided to be able to throw the ball. It was just something I had to play through. That's what football is — you've got to play through injuries sometimes."

"It's just something I'm going to have to deal with. I'm not going to miss any games because of it. That's not something that's going to happen."

Despite the injury, Burrow led the Bengals to a FG and TD on their first two possessions of the second half, closing the gap to 24-22. The TD came on a seven-yard rush by HB Joe Mixon, who now has a TD in nine straight games and enters this Sunday's game vs. San Francisco needing a TD to tie the team record for consecutive games with a TD (see Mixon the TD machine" on page 4).

"Guys believed we could still win," Taylor said of his team at halftime. "We were down 24-13 with the ball to start (the second half). We knew that we had done literally everything we could have done poorly in the first half to give them the 24 points and put ourselves in a hole. But we were still only down 11 with the ball."

Cincinnati's defense, which earlier in the game had lost two starters in LB Logan Wilson and CB Chidobe Awuzie, held the Chargers scoreless in the third quarter and allowed the offense to continue its climb. The Bengals repeatedly pressured Chargers QB Justin Herbert, and sacked him four times on the day. One of those came from DE Trey Hendrickson, who now has a sack in eight straight games — the longest such streak in team history, longest active streak in the NFL, and tied for the seventh-longest streak in league history (see "Hendrickson's sack streak at eight" on page 6).

"We gave up 24 points on the first four drives of the game, but then our defense really bowed up from there," Taylor said. "Our depth did a good job coming in there and holding the fort down and giving us a chance to get back in the game. That's just a credit to all 53 guys that we have on the roster and all the guys making sure that they're ready, because you never know when you're going to get that opportunity."

Down two points early in the fourth quarter, the Bengals drove into field goal range and looked poised to take their first lead of the game when HB Joe Mixon did something he rarely ever does — fumble. Chargers CB Tevaughn Campbell scooped up the fumble and returned it 61 yards for a TD, re-extending L.A.'s lead to 31-22. It was Mixon's first fumble on a carry in 328 rushing attempts, the third-longest streak by a Bengal in the last 31 years (see "Mixon secures the rock" on page 5).

"We had the momentum going there," Mixon said. "But that was a big fumble, and I take full responsibility for that. My teammates count on me, and I let them down. I have to learn from it and move on. It doesn't happen often, but I have to take full responsibility on that. I have to be better."

Cincinnati made yet another comeback attempt midway through the fourth quarter and drove down to the Chargers' 15-yard line, but a Joe Burrow INT — the Bengals' fourth turnover of the day — ended that effort.

"It was everything. And when it's everything, it's 100 percent me. When you turn the ball over four times — four times — you're probably not going to win a football game."

"There were still a lot of good things that happened, though. We had opportunities to go grab this game and put ourselves back in it. But I'm a big part of this — I was not my best today and I didn't give us a chance to win."

San Francisco enters Sunday's game at 6-6 after losing 30-23 at Seattle last week.

The series: The 49ers lead, 12-4, including their close victories in each of the Bengals' two Super Bowls. The 49ers prevailed 26-21 in Super Bowl XVI at Pontiac, Mich. (1981 season) and won 20-16 in Super Bowl XXIII at Miami ('88 season). (Game summaries of Super Bowls XVI and XXIII are on pages 322 and 324 of the Bengals' 2021 media guide, and starting lineups for each game are on page 293.)

The 49ers hold the highest winning percentage (.750) against the Bengals of any NFL team. The Bengals' most recent victory in the series was a 24-14 win in 2015 at San Francisco.

This weekend's matchup is just the fourth visit to Paul Brown Stadium for the 49ers, and it's only their eighth visit ever to Cincinnati. The 49ers are 2-1 at PBS, and they lead the series 5-2 in the Queen City overall.

The complete series results can be found on page 195 of the 2021 Bengals media guide.

Team bests from the series:

Bengals — MOST POINTS: 44, in a 44-30 win at Cinergy Field in 1999. LARGEST VICTORY MARGIN: 18, in a 21-3 victory at San Francisco in 1974. FEWEST POINTS ALLOWED: 3, in the 21-3 win in 1974.

49ers — MOST POINTS: 41, a 41-17 win in 2019 at Cincinnati (the most recent meeting). LARGEST VICTORY MARGIN: 24, in the 41-17 victory in '19 at Paul Brown Stadium. FEWEST POINTS ALLOWED: 3, in the 21-3 win in '81.

The last meetings: Summaries of the two most recent Bengals-49ers meetings — in 2015 at San Francisco, and in '19 at Cincinnati — are on page 16 of this news release.

Bengals career records watch: Here's a look at potential upcoming movement in the team's career records book (regular-season):

• Bengals P Kevin Huber has played in 202 career Bengals games, four shy of LB Reggie Williams (206) for second place all-time. CB Ken Riley (207) is the Bengals' all-time leader. Huber passed QB Ken Anderson (192) for third place all-time in Game 3 at Pittsburgh.

• Bengals LS Clark Harris has played in 196 career Bengals games, six shy of Huber (202) for third place all-time. Harris passed OT Anthony Munoz (185) for sixth place all-time in Game 2 at Chicago, and then he passed DT Tim Krumrie (188) for fifth in Game 4 vs. Jacksonville and QB Ken Anderson (192) for fourth in Game 9 vs. Cleveland.

Records vs. 49ers: The Bengals list no individual or team records set in a game with San Francisco. The 49ers have one entry for individual opponent records set against the Bengals. From a 1978 game at San Francisco, 49ers DB Anthony Leonard shares the mark of most interceptions (three) in a game against Cincinnati. Five players share that mark.

Individually vs. 49ers: Current Bengals' past offensive performances for Cincinnati against San Francisco in regular season include:

- WR Tyler Boyd: One game; 10 receptions for 122 yards (12.2).
- HB Joe Mixon: One game; 11 rushes for 17 yards (1.5); Three receptions for 10 yards (3.3).
- TE Drew Sample: One game; Two receptions for 25 yards (12.5).
- WR Auden Tate: One game; One reception for six yards.

Bengals-49ers connections: 49ers DL Jordan Willis originally was a third-round draft pick of the Bengals in 2017, and was with Cincinnati until 2019 ... Bengals S Mike J. Thomas originally was a college free agent signee of the 49ers in 2012, and was with San Francisco until late in the '13 season. Thomas also played at Stanford University ... Bengals CB Chidobe Awuzie is from San Jose, Calif. (Oak Grove High School) ... Bengals HB Joe Mixon is from Oakley, Calif. (Freedom High School) ... Bengals OT Jonah Williams and QB Jake Browning (practice squad) are both from Folsom, Calif. and were teammates at Folsom High School ... 49ers DL Nick Bosa and RB Trey Sermon both played at Ohio State University ... Bengals WR Trent Irwin played at Stanford University ... Bengals WR Trent Taylor (practice squad) originally was a fifth-round draft pick of the 49ers, and was with San Francisco through the 2020 season ... Bengals S Trayvon Henderson (practice squad) is from Sacramento, Calif. (Grant Union High School) ... Bengals offensive line coach/run game coordinator Frank Pollack was a sixth-round draft pick of the 49ers in 1990, and played seven combined seasons ('90-91, '94-98) with San Francisco ... Bengals offensive coordinator Brian Callahan grew up in the Bay Area and played QB at De La Salle High School in Concord, Calif, where he was part of the school's national-record 151-game winning streak and led the team to a No. 1 national ranking. Callahan also spent two years (2008-09) as an assistant coach at Junipero Serra High School in San Mateo, Calif. ... Bengals wide receivers coach Troy Walters played wide receiver at Stanford University from 1995-99 ... Bengals strength and conditioning coach Joey Boese coached at Fresno State University from 2012-15 ... Bengals assistant strength and conditioning coach Todd Hunt played (2012-15) and coached (2016-17) at Fresno State University ... Bengals assistant strength and conditioning coach Garrett Swanson was a punter/kicker at Fresno State University from 2012-15 ... 49ers assistant offensive line coach Zach Yenser is from Fort Mitchell, Ky. ... 49ers senior defensive assistant/run game specialist James Bettcher coached at Bowling Green State University in 2006 ... 49ers running backs coach Robert Turner Jr. coached at Ohio State University from 1989-90.

Uniform watch: The Bengals are scheduled to wear black jerseys and white pants (orange stripes) this week vs. San Francisco. The team over the offseason unveiled new uniforms, marking Cincinnati's first significant uniform redesign since 2004.

There are three different color options for the new jerseys — black, white and orange. The pants also feature three different options — black with orange stripes, white with orange stripes, and white with black stripes. The team's iconic striped helmet was unchanged.

Here are the possible combinations for the Bengals' new uniforms (this table does not consider the additional possible options of the three sock colors of black, orange and white):

JERSEY	PANTS/STRIPE	W-L-T	PCT.
Black	Black/Orange	0-1-0	0.000
Black	White/Orange	0-1-0	0.000
Black	White/Black	0-1-0	0.000
White	Black/Orange	2-1-0	.667
White	White/Orange	0-0-0	—
White	White/Black	3-1-0	.750
Orange	Black/Orange	1-0-0	1.000
Orange	White/Orange	1-0-0	1.000

* — NFL rules allow teams to wear designated alternate jerseys, color rush (CR) uniforms and/or throwback uniforms for a combined total of three regular-season games. As in years past, orange will serve as the Bengals' designated alternate jersey. Cincinnati does not have a throwback uniform, and no longer has a color rush uniform.

THE HEAD COACHES

Zac Taylor was named the 10th head coach in Cincinnati Bengals history on Feb. 4, 2019.

In 2019, his first season as head coach, Taylor headed off a wave of early season injuries to lead Cincinnati to second-half turnarounds on both offense and defense. Offensively, the Bengals' per-game rushing average jumped 70.6 yards from the first half of the season (59.5) to the second (130.1), while their per-attempt average jumped 1.26 yards (3.17 to 4.43) and they allowed 10 fewer sacks (29 to 19). The team's top four WRs — Tyler Boyd, Alex Erickson, Auden

Tate and John Ross III — all posted career-highs in both receptions and receiving yards. Defensively, Cincinnati notched 11 more sacks in the second half of the season compared to the first, and allowed 84.1 fewer yards per game. The team finished 2-14 that season.

In 2020, Taylor helped transition QB Joe Burrow, the No. 1 overall pick in the draft, to the pro level despite the absence of an in-person offseason program due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Taylor helped Burrow to one of the most productive starts to a career by a QB in NFL history, before a knee injury ended the rookie's season after 10 games. Still, Burrow's 264 completions were the most ever by an NFL QB through their first 10 career games, while his 404 pass attempts were second and his 2688 passing yards were fifth. Defensively, Taylor oversaw the onboarding of seven new starters, and helped Cincinnati hold opposing passers to just a 62.8 completion percentage (sixth-lowest in the NFL).

Taylor came to Cincinnati after two seasons (2017-18) with the L.A. Rams, where he served as assistant wide receivers coach in 2017 and quarterbacks coach in '18. In 2018, he helped guide Rams QB Jared Goff to career highs in every major passing category. Goff ranked fourth in the NFL in passing yards and eighth in passer rating. The Rams' QB play was a key component to their offense, which finished the regular season ranked second in the NFL in total net yards (421.1 per game), fifth in net passing yards (281.7), second in scoring (32.9), first in first downs (401) and fifth in third-down percentage (45.0). Los Angeles won the NFC West with a 13-3 regular-season record and advanced to Super Bowl LIII against the New England Patriots.

In 2017, Taylor helped oversee an emerging Rams passing offense that ranked 10th in the NFL in passing yards per game (239.4). Taylor directed a young Rams receiving corps headed by rookie Cooper Kupp, who finished the season with 62 catches, a team-high 869 receiving yards and five TDs.

Prior to his time with the Rams, Taylor had a one-year stint in the college ranks, serving as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at the University of Cincinnati in 2016. Taylor served under head coach Tommy Tuberville at UC.

Taylor broke into NFL coaching in 2012 with the Miami Dolphins as assistant quarterbacks coach. He was elevated to quarterbacks coach from 2013-15, and spent the final five games of '15 as the Dolphins' interim offensive coordinator and primary play-caller, after the team made coaching staff changes.

During his time in Miami, Taylor was instrumental in the development of QB Ryan Tannehill, the team's first-round draft pick in 2012.

Taylor's coaching career began at Texas A&M University, where he served as offensive graduate assistant and tight ends coach under head coach Mike Sherman from 2008-11. The Aggies shared the Big 12 South Championship in 2010 and played in three bowl games during Taylor's time in College Station.

As a player, Taylor began his college career at Wake Forest (2002-03), before transferring to Butler County Community College in Kansas ('04) and then playing his final two seasons ('05-06) at the University of Nebraska. Taylor had a decorated career with the Cornhuskers, setting numerous school records and passing for a combined 5850 yards and 45 touchdowns. In his senior season of 2006, Taylor was named Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year after passing for 3197 total yards and leading the Cornhuskers to a 9-3 record, an appearance in the Big 12 Championship Game and a berth in the Cotton Bowl. He was inducted into the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame in 2017.

Taylor joined the Tampa Bay Buccaneers as a college free agent in 2007, but he was waived prior to the start of training camp and never saw NFL action. Later that year, he joined the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League, where he spent one season (did not play).

His father, Sherwood, was a defensive back and captain at the University of Oklahoma, playing under Sooners head coach Barry Switzer from 1976-79. Sherwood Taylor later served as an assistant coach at Oklahoma and Kansas State University. Taylor's brother, Press, played quarterback at Marshall University and is currently senior offensive assistant for the Indianapolis Colts.

Taylor was born in Norman, Okla., on May 10, 1983. After attending Norman High School, he earned a bachelor's degree in communication studies from the University of Nebraska in 2006. He and his wife, Sarah, have four children — Brooks, Luke, Emma Claire and Milly. Sarah Taylor is the daughter of former Green Bay Packers and Texas A&M head coach Mike Sherman.

Kyle Shanahan was named the 20th head coach in 49ers history on Feb. 6, 2017 after spending the previous two seasons as offensive coordinator of the Atlanta Falcons. He has 17 seasons of coaching experience in the NFL, including as an offensive coordinator for the Atlanta Falcons (2015-16), Cleveland Browns ('14), Washington Redskins ('10-13) and Houston Texans ('08-09).

In six of his nine seasons as an offensive coordinator (2008-09, '12-13 and '15-16), and one as head coach of the 49ers ('19), Shanahan has directed an offense that ranked in the top 10 in the NFL in yards gained. In 2019, Shanahan led the 49ers to Super Bowl LIV in his third season with the team, earning Coach of the Year honors by The Sporting News and NFC Coach of the Year by The Committee of 101.

Following the 2016 season, after a record-setting performance by the Falcons offense en route to capturing the NFC South division title and an appearance in Super Bowl LI, Shanahan was named Associated Press Assistant Coach of the Year, Coordinator of the Year by The Sporting News and Assistant Coach of the Year by the Pro Football Writers of America.

Shanahan played WR at Duke 1998-99 and Texas 2001-02. He began his coaching career at UCLA (2003) before moving to the NFL with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers ('04-05), Houston Texans ('06-09), Washington Redskins ('10-13), Cleveland Browns ('14) and Atlanta Falcons ('15-16).

Shanahan was born on Dec. 14, 1979 in Minneapolis, Minn..

Taylor vs. 49ers: The 49ers lead, 1-0.

Taylor vs. Shanahan: Shanahan leads, 1-0.

Shanahan vs. Bengals: Shanahan leads, 1-0.

Bengals in Pro Bowl voting: Each week, the NFL releases information on fan voting for the Pro Bowl, including the top 10 vote-getters at each position. Fan voting, which runs through Dec. 16, counts one-third toward determining the final 88 selected Pro Bowlers (44 per conference).

Players and coaches voting make up the other two thirds. Rosters will be announced on Monday, Dec. 20 at 7 p.m. on NFL Network, and the game will be held on Sunday, Feb. 6 at Allegiant Stadium in Las Vegas (3 p.m. Eastern on ESPN and ABC).

Here's a look at the Bengals in the top 10 at their position in the fan vote for this year's Pro Bowl. Vote totals are according to NFL data released on Dec. 2.

PLAYER	POSITION	AFC RANK	NFL RANK
Ja'Marr Chase	WR	1	2
Trey Hendrickson	DE	2	3
Vonn Bell	SS	3	5
Hakeem Adeniji	G	3	4
Joe Mixon	RB	4	6
Joe Burrow	QB	5	10
Sam Hubbard	DE	6	9
Jessie Bates	FS	7	10

17-game pace updates: Several Bengals are on pace to approach team records by the end of this season. Here's a look at some of Cincinnati's top performers, and where their statistics project through 17 games.

- QB Joe Burrow: 259 of 379 for 3135 yards, 23 TDs and 14 INTs (98.3 rating). Burrow's pace projects to 366 completions, 536 attempts, 4441 yards, 32 TDs and 19 INTs. He's on track to challenge Carson Palmer's completions record (373 in 2007), Andy Dalton's passing yardage record (4293 in '13) and Dalton's passing TDs record (33 in '13).

- WR Ja'Marr Chase: 55 catches for 958 yards and eight TDs. Chase's pace projects to 77 catches, 1357 yards and 11 TDs. He could challenge WR Chad Johnson's receiving yardage record (1440 in 2007). He also could challenge Oilers WR Bill Groman's NFL rookie record for receiving yardage (1473 in 1960).

- HB Joe Mixon: 227 rushes for 978 yards and 12 rushing TDs. He also has two receiving TDs, which give him 14 total TDs. Mixon's pace projects to 321 rushes, 1385 rushing yards, 17 rushing TDs and 19 total TDs. He could challenge RB Rudi Johnson's rushing yardage record (1458 in 2005), RB Ickey Woods' rushing TDs record (15 in 1988) and WR Carl Pickens' total TD record (17 in '95).

- DE Trey Hendrickson: 11.5 sacks. Hendrickson's pace projects to 16 sacks for a full season. He's unlikely to challenge DE Coy Bacon's team record 22 sacks in 1976, which the Bengals recognize as the team record. Sacks became an official statistic in 1982, however the Bengals tracked that stat back to '76. Cincinnati's record since 1982 is 13.5 sacks by DE Carlos Dunlap in 2015, and Hendrickson is just two sacks shy of tying that mark.

Bengals great in "middle eight": Much has been made this season of the importance of the "middle eight," a stretch of a game that spans the last four minutes of the first half and first four minutes of the second half. Among the people who have touted the importance of the "middle eight" have been former NFL GM Michael Lombardi and current Buccaneers QB Tom Brady.

"The 'middle eight' minutes of the game are so important to the overall outcome," Brady said earlier this year on ESPN's Monday Night Football broadcast with Peyton and Eli Manning. "Who wins the end of the first half and then the start of the third quarter? A lot of times when you defer and you get the ball on offense (to start the second half), you can create a 14-point swing without them ever touching the ball if you score before the half and then you score coming out in the third quarter. You definitely don't want to give the ball back to your opponents (at the end of the half). We always call it "the last shot" in basketball — you don't want to come down and throw up a three-pointer with 18 seconds left on the shot clock."

So how do the Bengals stack up during the "middle eight?" They're among the best in the NFL this season, and their plus-47 point differential equates to a 3.9-point per game edge in that time period.

Here's a look at the teams this season with the largest point differential in the time period spanning the last four minutes of the first half and first four minutes of the second half.

TEAM	POINT DIFFERENTIAL
L.A. Rams	+59
Cleveland Browns	+53
Cincinnati Bengals	+47
Indianapolis Colts	+39
Buffalo Bills	+38

Bengals carry "Mo" into halftime ... : The Bengals this season have scored a combined 47 points in the last two minutes of the first half. That total is fourth among all NFL teams. When divided out among Cincinnati's 12 games, that's an average of 3.9 points per game in the last two minutes. The Bengals have gotten points (five TDs, four FGs) in the last two minutes of the first half in eight of their 12 games this season.

Here's a look at the NFL teams this season with the most points in the last two minutes before halftime:

TEAM	MOST POINTS IN TWO MINUTES BEFORE HALF
Cleveland Browns	51
San Francisco 49ers	50
Indianapolis Colts	49
Cincinnati Bengals	47
L.A. Rams	44

... And come out firing after the break: Not only are the Bengals one of the NFL's top teams at scoring before halftime, they're also among the leaders in points scored (40) on the first possession of the second half. Cincinnati has come away with points on its first offensive possession of the second half in eight of its 12 games this season (four TDs, four FGs).

It should be noted that the Bengals have received the opening kickoff of the second half in eight of their 12 games this year, thanks in large part to a streak of luck that saw them win the opening coin toss in each of their first six games (see "Coin-toss roller coaster" on page 10). The Bengals deferred to the second half in each of those six games.

Here's a look at the teams this season with the most points scored on the first offensive possession of the second half:

TEAM	POINTS
Tennessee Titans	48
Green Bay Packers	48
Tampa Bay Buccaneers	42
Baltimore Ravens	41
Cincinnati Bengals	40
L.A. Rams	40

Mixon the TD machine: Bengals HB Joe Mixon enters Sunday's game vs. San Francisco with at least one TD in nine consecutive games, tied with WR A.J. Green (nine in 2012) for the second-longest such streak in team history. If Mixon reaches the end zone on Sunday vs. San Francisco, he would tie WR Carl Pickens' team record of 10 straight games with a TD, set in between the 1994 and '95 seasons. Mixon has scored 13 total TDs (11 rushing, two receiving) in his nine-game streak. He also has the second-longest active streak in the NFL, behind Colts RB Jonathan Taylor (10).

Mixon also has six straight games with a rushing TD, tied for the longest such streak in team history (RB Rudi Johnson/2006, and RB Stan Fritts/1975).

Mixon also had multiple TDs in four straight games, the longest such streak in team history, but that streak ended in Game 12 vs. the L.A. Chargers after he reached the end zone just once. The longest previous streak was three games, accomplished by Pete Johnson in 1981 and Rudi Johnson in 2005. The last NFL player with multiple TDs in at least four games was Saints RB Alvin Kamara, who had five straight between the 2019 and '20 seasons. Seahawks WR Doug Baldwin in 2015 was the last player with multiple TDs in four straight games within one season.

Mixon nearing Bengals TD record: HB Joe Mixon this season has scored 14 touchdowns, which already is tied for the fifth-most ever in a season by a Bengal. With five games remaining, Mixon needs just three TDs to tie WR Carl Pickens' single-season TD record of 17, set in 1995.

Here's a look at the Bengals with the most TDs in a season.

PLAYER	SEASON	TDs
WR Carl Pickens	1995	17
RB Pete Johnson	1981	16
RB Pete Johnson	1979	15
RB Ickey Woods	1988	15
RB Pete Johnson	1983	14
RB James Brooks	1988	14
RB Joe Mixon	2021	14

Bengals tough when Mixon hits 20 carries: The Bengals hold an 11-7 record when HB Joe Mixon reaches the 20-carry mark.

And in those 18 games, Mixon has topped 100 rushing yards 12 times. Eleven of his last 14 games with 20 carries have resulted in 100 or more rushing yards.

The Bengals are 3-1 this year when Mixon hits the mark. Last year, despite being limited by a foot injury to just six games, Mixon hit the 20-carry mark twice, and the Bengals were 1-1 in those contests.

Mixon tops 4K: Bengals HB Joe Mixon now stands as one of only six Bengals ever to rush for 4000 yards in a career. He achieved the feat this season on Nov. 21 at Las Vegas, in what was his 60th career game.

Mixon has 4337 career rushing yards, fifth-most in Bengals history. He passed Harold Green (3727) and Cedric Benson (4176) this year, but he's unlikely to catch Pete Johnson (5421) for fourth place until at least next season. Corey Dillon (8061) is the Bengals' all-time leading rusher, followed by James Brooks (6447), Rudi Johnson (5472) and Pete Johnson (5421).

Mixon fastest to 4K/1K: Bengals HB Joe Mixon now stands as one of just four Bengals ever to surpass 4000 career rushing yards and 1000 career receiving yards. He joins Corey Dillon, James Brooks and Pete Johnson in that category.

Reaching the 4k/1k mark took Mixon just 60 career games, 11 faster than the next quickest Bengal (Dillon, 71 games). He topped 1000 career receiving yards earlier this season in Game 1 vs. Minnesota, and then surpassed 4000 rushing yards in Game 10 at Las Vegas.

Mixon currently has 4337 career rushing yards and 1200 receiving yards. It took Mixon just 50 games to reach 3000 rushing and 1000 receiving yards, which also was 11 games quicker than the next-fastest Bengal (Brooks, 61).

Here's a look at the fastest players ever to top 4000 career rushing yards and 1000 career receiving yards in a Bengals uniform (it should be noted that Brooks began his career with the San Diego Chargers from 1981-83; however, the data counts only rushing/receiving yardage and games played as a Bengal):

NAME	BENGALS GAMES TO REACH 4K/1K
Joe Mixon	60
Corey Dillon	71
James Brooks	76
Pete Johnson	77

Mixon secures the rock: Not only is Bengals HB Joe Mixon considered one of the top rushers in the NFL, he's also proven effective at protecting the football. Mixon has fumbled just six times (three lost) since entering the league in 2017, a span that covers 1194 combined touches on offense (1039 rushes, 155 catches). That includes just three fumbles (two lost) since the start of 2018.

Mixon owns two of the four longest streaks of rushing attempts without a fumble by a Bengal since at least 1990 (when the Elias Sports Bureau began tracking the stat). From 2017-20, he went 541 rushing attempts without a fumble, good for the second-longest by a Bengal over that time period. That streak was halted by a fumble in the 2020 season opener. He then rattled off 327 carries without a fumble, the third-longest such streak in team history, before fumbling on a carry in Game 12 this season.

Here's a look at the longest streaks of rushing attempts by a Bengal without a fumble since 1990:

NFL PLAYER	CARRIES WITHOUT A FUMBLE	SEASONS SPANNED
Giovani Bernard	829	2013-20
Joe Mixon	541	2017-20
Joe Mixon	327	2020-21
Harold Green	298	1991-93
Jeremy Hill	282	2015-17

Recapping Burrow's NFL journey: Bengals QB Joe Burrow has returned healthy this year after his rookie campaign last season ended due to a left knee injury suffered early in the third quarter of Cincinnati's Nov. 22 game at Washington. Burrow had surgery on Dec. 2, embarked on a long rehab process, and was medically cleared in time to take the first snap of training camp on July 28. He participated fully in every practice of training camp (save for one scheduled rest day) and took just three snaps in preseason — all came in the finale vs. Miami.

Shortly after his injury last season, Burrow had vowed publicly that he would start Cincinnati's 2021 season opener. On Sept. 12 vs. Minnesota, a little more than nine months after his injury, he not only made good on that promise, he posted then-career highs in passer rating (128.8), completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempt (9.67) in a dramatic Bengals OT win. Burrow's 46-yard drive in the waning minutes of OT set up a game-winning FG as time expired.

Burrow this season has completed 259 of 379 passes (68.3 percent) for 3135 yards, 23 TDs and 14 INTs (98.3 rating).

Burrow surpasses 5K: Bengals QB Joe Burrow surpassed 5000 career passing yards in Game 9 vs. Cleveland this season, in what was just his 19th career game. That made him only the sixth player ever to reach that mark in as few games. Only Patrick Mahomes (16 games) and Justin Herbert (17) reached it quicker. Andrew Luck, Kurt Warner and Marc Bulger also took 19 games to hit the mark.

In Bengals history, Jeff Blake, Andy Dalton and Carson Palmer were previously the quickest to 5000 yards, but it took them 22 games each.

Earlier this season, Burrow surpassed 4000 passing yards in just his 16th game — two quicker than Blake and Palmer (18) for fastest by a Bengal.

Burrow's college connections: Bengals QB Joe Burrow may only be in his second NFL season, but he has plenty familiar faces around him in Cincinnati. There are six current Bengals who played with Burrow in college at either Ohio State or LSU, meaning 11.5 percent of Burrow's 52 Bengals teammates suited up with him for at least one season in college.

The Bengals also have two practice squad players who played with Burrow, along with one assistant coach — assistant WRs coach Brad Kragthorpe — who was on LSU's staff in 2018, Burrow's first season with the Tigers.

Here's a look at the current Bengals who played with Burrow in college, along with the years they played together. Burrow played at Ohio State from 2015-17, and at Louisiana State from '18-19:

NAME	POSITION	SCHOOL	SEASONS WITH BURROW
Eli Apple	CB	Ohio State	2015
Vonn Bell	S	Ohio State	2015
Ja'Marr Chase	WR	Louisiana State	2018-19
Sam Hubbard	DE	Ohio State	2015-17
Isaiah Prince	OT	Ohio State	2015-17
Tyler Shelvin	DT	Louisiana State	2018-19
Keandre Jones*	LB	Ohio State	2016-17
Thaddeus Moss*	TE	Louisiana State	2018-19

* — Asterisk denotes practice squad player.

Chase, Burrow reunite in Cincinnati: One of the most statistically accomplished QB-WR duos in college football history has reunited this season in Cincinnati. Bengals QB Joe Burrow, the No. 1 overall pick in the 2020 draft, and WR Ja'Marr Chase, the No. 5 overall pick in the '21 draft, are teammates again after helping power the Louisiana State Tigers to a college football national championship in 2019.

With Burrow as his QB in 2019, Chase set single-season SEC records for receiving yards (1780) and TDs (20), en route to winning the Biletnikoff Award as college football's top receiver. Burrow, of course, went on to win the Heisman Trophy as college football's top player that year, after setting numerous NCAA and SEC passing records.

So far this season, Burrow and Chase have connected on 55 passes for 958 yards (17.4 average) and eight TDs.

Chase nearing Bengals rookie records: Bengals WR Ja'Marr Chase this season has had what already could be considered one the top rookie seasons in team history. That claim figures to be cemented in the coming weeks, as Chase continues his climb up Cincinnati's rookie receiving record books.

Chase has three 100-yard receiving games this season, and could tie WR A.J. Green's team rookie record (four) this Sunday. He currently is tied with WRs Isaac Curtis and Eddie Brown for second-most by a Bengals rookie.

Chase has eight receiving TDs, and could tie WR Isaac Curtis' team rookie record (nine) this Sunday. Chase's eight scores currently stand tied for second-most by a Bengals rookie with WR Cris Collinsworth and Brown.

Chase currently has 55 receptions, the fifth-most ever by a Bengals rookie. Collinsworth and WR Tee Higgins (67) share the team's rookie record in that category, followed by Green (65) and HB Giovani Bernard (56). Chase already passed WR Tyler Boyd (54) and Brown (53).

Chase currently has 958 receiving yards, third-most ever by a Bengals rookie. Green (1057) holds the team's rookie record, followed by Collinsworth (1009). Chase has already passed Brown (942), Higgins (908) and WR Darnay Scott (896).

The rundown on Chase: Bengals rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase has lit up the record books so far in his young career. Here's a rundown of some of his accomplishments to this point in the season.

- Chase leads all rookies in receiving yardage (958) and receiving TDs (eight). Among all players, he is fifth in receiving yards and tied for fourth in receiving TDs.
- Chase's 906 receiving yards are the 10th-most through a player's first 12 career games in league history.
- He is tied third in the NFL in receptions of 40 yards or longer (six), and is tied for ninth in receptions of 20 yards or longer (14).
- He is the second rookie in NFL history to record at least 50 receiving yards in each of his first seven games. Detroit WR Earl McCullough, who at one time was the world-record holder in the 110-meter hurdles, also did it in 1968. Chase's streak ended in Game 8 at the N.Y. Jets.
- He is one of two players in NFL history with a reception of at least 30 yards in each of their first seven career games. McCullough is the other. Chase's streak ended in Game 8 at the N.Y. Jets.
- His 201 receiving yards on Oct. 24 at Baltimore stand as the second-most among all players in a single game this season.
- In Game 7 at Baltimore, Chase (21 years, 237 days) became the second-youngest player ever to record at least 200 receiving yards in a single game (Mike Evans; 21 years, 87 days).
- In Game 1 vs. Minnesota, his NFL debut, he became the youngest (21 years, 195 days) Bengal ever to top 100 receiving yards.

Two big days for "Uno": WR Ja'Marr Chase, who is the first player in Bengals history to wear uniform No. 1 and has thus earned the nickname "Uno" among fans, is already taking aim at Cincinnati's rookie receiving record book.

Despite being just 12 games into his first NFL season, "Uno" already has two of the three highest single-game receiving yardage outputs by a rookie in team history. His first entry came on Oct. 10 vs. Green Bay, when he recorded 159 yards on nine catches, including a 70-yard TD just before halftime. It should be noted that the Packers game went into overtime, and that Chase had one catch for 21 yards in the extra period.

Then, on Oct. 24 at Baltimore, he exploded for a Bengals rookie record 201 receiving yards on eight catches, including an 82-yard bomb in the third quarter that widened Cincinnati's lead to 10 points. At the time he was 21 years and 237 days old, making him the second-youngest player in NFL history to record at least 200 receiving yards in a single game.

Here's a look at the best single-game receiving yardage totals by Bengals rookies.

BENGALS ROOKIE	DATE/OPPONENT	REC. YARDS
WR Ja'Marr Chase	10-24-2021 at Baltimore	201
WR Speedy Thomas	12-14-69 at Denver	177
WR Ja'Marr Chase	10-11-21 vs. Green Bay (OT)	159
WR Darnay Scott	11-6-94 at Seattle (OT)	157
WR Speedy Thomas	10-19-69 vs. Denver	155
WR Darnay Scott	10-30-94 vs. Dallas	155

Chase heats up before halftime: Bengals WR Ja'Marr Chase this season has arguably been the most productive WR in the NFL during the last two minutes of the first half. The rookie out of LSU leads the NFL in TDs (three) and receiving yards (233) in the final two minutes of the first half, and his five catches of at least 20 yards during that time period also lead the league.

In a season already full of highlights, Chase's fireworks before halftime have helped Cincinnati seize momentum going into the locker room. Here's a look at Chase's game-changing plays just before halftime:

- In Game 1 vs. Minnesota, Chase hauled in a 50-yard bomb from Burrow with 42 seconds left in the half to score his first career TD and give the Bengals a 14-7 lead heading into the locker room.
- In Game 3 at Pittsburgh, Chase got behind the defense again and made a fingertip grab for a 34-yard TD with 43 seconds left, helping Cincinnati to a 14-7 halftime lead.
- In Game 5 vs. Green Bay, QB Joe Burrow extended the play and rolled right to find Chase streaking across the field for a 70-yard TD with 50 seconds remaining, cutting the Packers' lead to two at halftime.
- In Game 6 at Detroit, Chase caught a 34-yard pass down the sideline with 23 seconds remaining, and while he didn't find the end zone, the play got the Bengals into Lions territory and set up a FG three plays later that gave the Bengals a 10-point lead at halftime.

- In Game 7 at Baltimore, Chase caught three passes for 45 yards on Cincinnati's final drive of the first half, which ended with a FG. Those three catches included a 26-yarder to the Baltimore 19-yard line.

Tee continues rookie momentum: Bengals WR Tee Higgins this season has continued the momentum he built during his rookie campaign in 2020. Higgins, a second-round pick of the Bengals in 2020, missed two games earlier this season due to a shoulder injury but still has 52 catches for 698 yards and four TDs.

Last year, Higgins' 67 catches tied with former WR Cris Collinsworth for the most by a rookie in team history, while his team-high 908 receiving yards were good for the fourth-most ever by a Bengals rookie. He also hauled in six TD catches, tied for fifth-most ever by a Bengals rookie. He finished the season ranked third leaguewide in catches, yards and TDs by a rookie.

Higgins this season has drawn praise from numerous Bengals coaches and teammates for transforming his body over the offseason. "My biggest thing was to get stronger," Higgins said over the summer. "I didn't do any routes, I didn't run. I was just really in the weight room for the most part. Then, once I was able to actually get on the field and do like a workout or something, I just went out there and it felt good. I just felt like I had to get stronger, so I focused a little bit more on the weight room. Now I'm weighing like 220 (pounds), and it feels good. Last year I came in at like 220, but it was too heavy for me, so I had to lose a few pounds. Now it feels really good and I feel even faster."

'Fire department' tough after turnovers: The Bengals' offense this season has committed 19 turnovers, including three that were returned for TDs, which means opposing offenses have taken over possession 16 times after Bengals turnovers. In those 16 instances, the Bengals' defense has allowed just two TDs and seven FGs (36 points). That means opponents failed to produce points on seven of those possessions — two punts, one missed FG, a turnover on downs and three INTs (one pick-six).

Opposing offenses have taken over in plus territory after Bengals turnovers on 10 occasions this year. Those have resulted in one TD, six FGs, a punt, a missed FG and an INT (26 points).

When opposing offenses take over inside the Bengals' 20-yard line, they have one TD, three FGs and missed a FG (17 points).

Bengals defenders and coaches say that they have embraced these kinds of back-to-the-wall situations. Defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo has even coined a name for them. "I tell our guys all the time that we're like the fire department," he said. "We're here to put the fire out. We don't ask how or why. We just go out there and we put it out."

Hendrickson on torrid sack pace: DE Trey Hendrickson, one of the headliners of Cincinnati's free agency haul in March, has made a significant impact in the sack column in just his first season as a Bengal.

Hendrickson has a team-high 11.5 sacks (fifth in NFL) through 12 games. That total already is more than double the team lead for all of last season (former DE Carl Lawson, 5.5), and he also is the first Bengal with double-digit sacks since former DT Geno Atkins' 10 in 2018.

Hendrickson is on pace for 16 sacks for a full 17-game season, which would be second-most in team history between DE Coy Bacon's team-record 22 in 1976, and DE Carlos Dunlap's 13.5 in 2015.

Last season with New Orleans, Hendrickson had 13.5 sacks, tied for the NFC lead and tied for second-most leaguewide. And since the beginning of the 2020 season, Hendrickson's 25 sacks are third-most in the NFL, behind only Pittsburgh's T.J. Watt (31.0) and Cleveland's Myles Garrett (26.0). Carolina's Haason Reddick (23) is fourth, and the Rams' Aaron Donald (20.5) is fifth.

Hendrickson's sack streak at eight: Bengals DE Trey Hendrickson has recorded a sack in each of the Bengals' last eight games, good for the longest active streak in the NFL and the longest ever by a Bengal. The previous team record was six straight, by LB Reggie Williams (1984) and DE Eddie Edwards ('83). Eight straight games with a sack is also tied for the seventh-longest in NFL history. Current Chiefs DT Chris Jones holds the NFL record at 11 straight games with a sack (accomplished in 2018). A sack this Sunday vs. San Francisco would give Hendrickson a sack in nine straight games and put him into a tie for fourth place in that category, alongside Bruce Smith, Kevin Greene and Dwight Freeney.

Hendrickson has 11.5 sacks this season (fifth in the NFL), and has recorded a sack in 10 of Cincinnati's 12 contests.

Here's a look at the five longest streaks of games with at least one sack in Bengals history.

BENGALS PLAYER	YEAR	CONSECUTIVE GAMES WITH A SACK
DE Trey Hendrickson	2021	8
DE Eddie Edwards	1983	6
LB Reggie Williams	1984	6
DT Dan Wilkinson	1996	5
DE Sam Hubbard	2019	5

Bengals improve 2020 pass rush: Over the offseason, one of the primary areas of focus for the Bengals was to improve a pass-rush that last year totaled a league-low 17 sacks. Injuries were a key factor a year ago, especially toward the end of the season, but Cincinnati still approached free agency and the draft intent on boosting the defensive line.

So far, it's worked. Through 13 weeks this season (including a Bengals bye), Cincinnati ranks tied for fourth leaguewide with 32 sacks, 15 more than — and nearly double — last season's 16-game total. DE Trey Hendrickson, one of the team's key acquisitions in free agency last March, leads the team and ranks fifth leaguewide with 11.5 sacks. At the end of last season, that total would have led the team. Eight Bengals have gotten into the sack column this season, including DT Larry Ogunjobi (4.5), another 2021 free agent acquisition, DT B.J. Hill (4.5), who was acquired in a trade just before the regular season, and DE Cam Sample (one), who was one of four defensive linemen Cincinnati selected in April's draft. The revamped defensive line has accounted for all but two of the team's sacks this season, and DE Sam Hubbard (7.5) is the only defender in the sack column who was with Cincinnati prior to the 2020 season.

Hubbard a Day 2 draft steal: DE Sam Hubbard, a third-round pick (77th overall) of the Bengals in 2018, ranks second in sacks (24.0) among all players from the '18 rookie class (draft picks and college free agents).

Players' listed positions vary by media outlet (e.g. whether a player is classified as a LB or DE), but according to NFL.com's draft record, Hubbard was the 13th defensive lineman selected in 2018 — five DEs and seven DTs came off the board before him. According to NFL.com, there were a total of 40 defensive linemen (20 DEs, 20 DTs) selected in the 2018 draft, along with 32 linebackers and one player classified as "EDGE." There were also, of course, numerous undrafted rookies in 2018.

Hubbard has been the Bengals' starting RDE since 2019, and signed a contract extension with the Bengals in July that keeps him in Cincinnati through the end of the 2025 season.

Here's a look at the career sack leaders from the rookie class of 2018:

PLAYER/POSITION	TEAM	PICK (ROUND)	SACKS
Harold Landry/EDGE	Tennessee	No. 41 (2nd)	29.0
Sam Hubbard/DE	Cincinnati	No. 77 (3rd)	24.0
Bradley Chubb/DE	Denver	No. 5 (1st)	20.5
Marcus Davenport/DE	New Orleans	No. 14 (1st)	17.5
Josh Sweat/DE	Philadelphia	No. 130 (4th)	15.5

Logan leads all LBs in INTs: Bengals second-year LB Logan Wilson has turned heads this season as one of the team's top defensive players. The 2020 third-round pick has four INTs so far this season, tied for fourth in the AFC, tied for seventh leaguewide, and most among all NFL linebackers. Wilson's four picks also are the most by a Bengals LB in a season since Odell Thurman's five in 2005.

Wilson has also been strong against the run. His 90 tackles lead the team by a wide margin, and he has led the Bengals in tackles in six of their 12 games this season.

As a rookie last season, Wilson was eased into the regular defensive rotation and then battled injuries late in the year. This season, he was assigned the green dot on his helmet as the team's designated communicator, and has been credited by teammates for being a vocal leader.

"He has a huge responsibility on his shoulders this year," DE Trey Hendrickson said of Wilson. "He's taken in a lot in just two years, and you wouldn't know that he's a second-year guy. He's our play-caller out there, and he's getting the calls out quickly. That's what we need from a guy inside like that. And he's got hands too."

Healthy Reader leads stout D-line: During the 2020 offseason, the Bengals made one of the most significant free agency splashes in team history when they signed DT D.J. Reader to a lucrative four-year contract that lasts through the 2023 season. Big things were expected of Reader, but his impact in 2020 was short-lived after he suffered a season-ending left quad injury in the fifth game.

This year, the 6-3, 347-pound Reader has returned healthy and proven his value as a leader and physical presence in the middle of the defensive line. And while the impact of interior defensive linemen is often difficult to quantify with statistics, consider that Cincinnati's run defense ranks fourth in the NFL (92.5 yards/game allowed) this season compared to 29th a year ago (148.0) and 32nd the year before (148.9).

Another measure of the impact of an interior defensive lineman — particularly a nose tackle — is the play of the linebackers behind them. This season, Cincinnati's linebacker play has been among the brightest and most-improved spots on the defense. Leading the way has been second-year pro Logan Wilson, who leads the team in tackles (90) and whose four INTs lead all NFL LBs and rank tied for seventh leaguewide.

But perhaps the most impressive part of Reader's 2021 season thus far has been his recovery from the aforementioned quad injury. He recently talked about the severity of it on the Bengals Booth Podcast with Bengals play-by-play radio announcer Dan Hoard.

"I ruptured the tendon, so it was pretty severe," Reader said. "The first six weeks after surgery, you can't move. You have to keep it straight because the tendon has to repair. And then it was a nine-month rehab. They say it only has about a 50 percent 'return' rate — not very high — but it's gotten better with modern medicine and the surgeries.

"Sleeping was probably the hardest thing, because you can't move at all — you have to sleep on your back, you have to keep it straight, and you're in a brace."

Reader has started every game at NT this season, and has 34 tackles and a sack.

Mr. Reliable wears No. 30: Jessie Bates earned a starting S spot midway through his first preseason in Cincinnati, and he hasn't looked back since. The 2018 second-round pick started 51 straight games to begin his Bengals career — that's three full seasons plus three games — until a neck injury ended his streak in the fourth game of 2021 (Sept. 30 vs. Jacksonville). He missed just that one game before returning to the starting lineup the next week, and he has started every game since.

Still, Bates' streak of 51 is tied for the sixth-most consecutive starts by a player to begin their career as a Bengal, and the second-most by a defender. Had he started the Jacksonville game, he would have tied former LB Takeo Spikes (52) for most starts to begin a career by a Bengals defender.

Here's a look at the players with the most consecutive starts to begin a Bengals career:

PLAYER	CONSECUTIVE STARTS TO BEGIN CAREER
C Bob Johnson	94
QB Andy Dalton	77
TE Dan Ross	65
C Russell Bodine	64
LB Takeo Spikes	52
S Jessie Bates	51
LB Bill Bergey	51

Bell rings of reliability: One of Cincinnati's most trusted leaders and consistent players on the field over the last two seasons has been S Vonn Bell. The sixth-year pro joined the Bengals as an unrestricted free agent prior to the 2020 season, and then proceeded to play in every snap of his first 20 games with the team. His streak of consecutive snaps was broken in Cincinnati's 34-11 win at Detroit on Oct. 17, when the starters were rested late in the fourth quarter.

And although he has missed a few more snaps since that game in Detroit, Bell still leads defense in snaps played (743 of 792) this season. In his now 28 career Bengals games, he has seen action on 1802 of 1851 possible defensive snaps (97.3 percent).

Bell has been a captain in both of his Bengals seasons. He ranks second on the team in tackles (71) this year, after leading the team in that category (114) last season.

Special teams soar under Simmons: Over the 19-year tenure of Darrin Simmons, the Bengals have consistently boasted one of the top special teams units in the NFL. Simmons in 2020 added the title of assistant head coach to his usual role as special teams coordinator, a nod to a successful run that has seen 17 of his pupils appear in the team's record book.

Here's an overview of Simmons' players' dominance in the records (for more info, see the Bengals' records section on page 168 in the 2020 media guide):

- The three most accurate FG kickers (by career percentage) in team history — Shayne Graham, Randy Bullock, and Mike Nugent — were all coached by Simmons for their entire Bengals careers. Simmons has also been at the helm for each of the six most accurate single seasons by Bengals kickers.

- The five longest consecutive FG streaks in team history have all come under Simmons' watch, as have three of the five longest PAT streaks.

- Simmons, who punted at the University of Kansas, has had particular success coaching his former position. Current P Kevin Huber holds the top spot in every Bengals career punting category, along with the top five single seasons for gross average, net average and inside-20s. Former P Kyle Larson, who spent his entire Bengals term (2004-08) under Simmons, ranks within the top four in every career punting category, and shares with Huber the record for longest punt in team history (75 yards).

- Simmons has coached three of the Bengals' top four leaders in career punt return average — Adam Jones, Quan Cosby and Peter Warrick.

- Simmons has coached four of the team's top six leaders in career kickoff return average — Jones, Alex Erickson, Bernard Scott, Glenn Holt — along with five of the six best single seasons by a kickoff returner (based on yards per kickoff return).

And although the category is not kept as an official team record, it should be noted that LS Clark Harris has executed 1802 deep snaps without a single unplayable delivery since joining the Bengals in mid-2009.

Simmons has also coached four players who have made the Pro Bowl as special teamers — Huber, Jones, Harris and HB Cedric Peerman.

Huber among NFL's best at pinning 'em: As the evidence shows, no Bengals punter has ever been nearly as successful as Kevin Huber at pinning opponents inside the 20-yard line. The 2009 fifth-round draft choice currently has 332 career inside-20 punts, a margin of more than 100 over the next-best in team history (Lee Johnson, 186).

But the numbers also show that Huber is among the best active punters in the NFL at pinning opponents deep.

Here's a look at the five active punters with the most career inside-20 punts:

PUNTER	TEAM	NFL EXP.	CAREER INSIDE-20s
Dustin Colquitt	Atlanta.....	17	477
Andy Lee	Arizona.....	18	456
Sam Koch	Baltimore.....	16	446
Brett Kern	Tennessee.....	14	387
Kevin Huber	Cincinnati.....	13	332

Huber, Harris chasing down Riley: One of the most prestigious Bengals records in existence, and one that has stood for 38 years, could be matched by the end of the 2021 season. Longtime CB Ken Riley's Bengals record 207 games played is currently five clear of current P Kevin Huber (202), meaning that if Huber plays in each of the Bengals' five remaining games this season, he would tie The Rattler's historic mark that has stood since his retirement in 1983.

In Game 3 vs. Pittsburgh, Huber passed QB Ken Anderson (192) for third place all-time in career games played as a Bengal. He now trails only LB Reggie Williams (206) and Riley (207).

Not far behind that group is current LS Clark Harris (196 games played), who has snapped to Huber since joining Cincinnati midway through the 2009 season. Harris now stands fourth in career games as a Bengal, and this season has passed Pro Football Hall of Famer Anthony Munoz (185), DT Tim Krumrie (188) and Anderson (192).

Here's a look at the players with the most career games played as a Bengal:

PLAYER	GAMES AS A BENGAL	YEARS
CB Ken Riley	207	1969-83
LB Reggie Williams	206	1976-85
P Kevin Huber.....	202	2009-present
LS Clark Harris	196	2009-present
QB Ken Anderson.....	192	1971-86
DT Tim Krumrie	188	1983-94
OT Anthony Munoz.....	185	1980-92

The Huber roundup: Bengals P Kevin Huber, a 2009 Bengals fifth-round pick who is now in his 13th season, has long been considered the top punter in team history. He has cemented that legacy by taking over the top spot in the few remaining career punting categories he did not already own.

Huber now stands first in team history in the following categories:

- Punts (959)
- Punting yards (43,456)
- Gross average (45.31)
- Net average (40.26)
- Inside-20 punts (332)

Huber has also taken over many of the Bengals' single-season and single-game records. Among them are:

- He holds the top five Bengals season averages in both gross and net punting yardage, and in 2020, his 12th NFL season, he re-set his own single-season team records in both categories (47.18 gross, 42.82 net).

- He shares the team record for longest punt (75 yards) with Kyle Larson.
- His 33 inside-20 punts in 2012 is a single-season franchise record.
- His six inside-20 punts on Sept. 14, 2017 vs. Houston are tied with Lee Johnson (Nov. 2, 1997) for the most in a game in Bengals history.

McPherson from deep: Bengals rookie K Evan McPherson, who turned 22 just seven days before the start of training camp, already has made seven FGs of 50 or more yards, tied with Steelers K Chris Boswell for the most in the NFL this season. Seven FGs of 50 or more yards is tied with Greg Zuerlein for most in NFL history through a player's first 12 career games. It's also the most 50-plus yarders in a full season in Bengals history, topping the previous mark of four by K Horst Muhlmann in 1970.

In a sign of things to come, McPherson's first-ever NFL FG was a 53-yarder in Cincinnati's season-opener vs. Minnesota. Then, on Nov. 21 at Las Vegas, he tied a single-game NFL record with three FGs of at least 50 yards (54, 53 and 51 yards). For perspective, there were only four instances (including Muhlmann in 1970) prior to this year where a Bengals kicker had as many as three 50-plus yarders in a full season. McPherson is the 13th player in NFL history to hit three 50-plus yard FGs in a game, and the third rookie (the two others were Vikings K Blair Walsh on Dec. 16, 2012 at the St. Louis Rams, and Bills K Tyler Bass on Nov. 15, 2020 at Arizona).

Here's a look at the rookies with the most made FGs of 50 or more yards in a season.

YEAR	ROOKIE	TEAM	50+ YARD FGs
2012	Blair Walsh	Minnesota Vikings	10
2019	Joey Slye	Carolina Panthers.....	8
2012	Greg Zuerlein	St. Louis Rams	7
2021	Evan McPherson	Cincinnati Bengals.....	7

McPherson the youngest with OT winner: Bengals rookie K Evan McPherson made his NFL debut in style on Sept. 12 vs. Minnesota, booting a game-winning 33-yard FG as time expired in OT.

McPherson, a fifth-round pick of the Bengals in April's draft, chose to forgo his final year of college eligibility to enter the NFL draft, and thus is among the youngest Bengals on the roster. At the time of his game-winner against Minnesota, which he says was the first "walk-off" kick of his career on any level, he was 22 years and 53 days old (born 7-21-99), making him the youngest player in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG in overtime. It also made him just the second rookie kicker in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG with no time remaining in OT (the other was Miami K Jason Sanders in 2018). Earlier in the game, McPherson became the youngest Bengal ever to kick a FG or PAT.

So far this season, McPherson has made 35 of 37 PATs and 18 of his 21 FGs, including a team-record seven 50-plus yarders and two game-winners as time expired (33 and 35 yards).

Here's a look at the youngest players in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG in OT:

PLAYER	TEAM	DATE/OPPONENT	AGE
Evan McPherson	Cincinnati	9-12-2021 vs. Minn.	22 years, 53 days
Pete Stoyanovich	Miami	10-8-1989 vs. Cle.	22 years, 163 days
Wade Richey	San Francisco	12-6-1998 at Car.	22 years, 201 days
Ali Haji-Sheikh	N.Y. Giants	9-11-1983 at Atl.	22 years, 243 days
Blair Walsh	Minnesota	9-9-2012 vs. Jax.	22 years, 245 days

... Make that two walk-offs: Bengals rookie K Evan McPherson said before the season that he had never, at any level of football, even been in a position to kick a game-winning FG or PAT as time expired — a "walk-off," if you will. He wasted no time changing that in the NFL, when in the season-opener — his NFL debut — he nailed a 33-yarder as time expired in OT to give Cincinnati a dramatic 27-24 win. He did it again three weeks later, in Cincinnati's Sept. 30 Thursday Night Football matchup vs. Jacksonville, this time converting a 35-yarder as time expired in regulation to give the Bengals a 24-21 win.

For what it's worth, McPherson has a long way to go to catch former Bengals K Jim Breech, whose 10 "walk-off" kicks (FG or PAT) with no time remaining stand as the most in team history.

But at 21 years old, McPherson does stand as the youngest player in NFL history with two "walk-off" kicks.

Here's a look at the youngest kickers in NFL history at the time of their second game-winning FG with no time remaining:

PLAYER	TEAM	AGE
Evan McPherson	Cincinnati Bengals	22 years, 71 days
Blair Walsh	Minnesota Vikings	22 years, 357 days
Justin Tucker	Baltimore Ravens	23 years, four days
Morten Andersen	New Orleans Saints	23 years, 51 days
Matt Bahr	Pittsburgh Steelers	23 years, 142 days

Roster flip noticeable in Year 3: Zac Taylor took over as Bengals head coach in 2019, and throughout his now three-year tenure there has been a steady but noticeable churn of the roster. Of the 53 players on the current roster (as of Tuesday, Dec. 7), only 10 suited up as Bengals prior to Taylor's arrival. That means 43 current Bengals — or 81.1 percent of the roster — have joined Cincinnati since 2019.

Cincinnati's roster overhaul has hit overdrive since the end of last season. Twenty-three current Bengals — that's 43.4 percent of the 53-player roster — had never suited up in a game for Cincinnati prior to the 2021 regular season. (It should be noted that figure includes TE Mitchell Wilcox and OT Isaiah Prince, who were with Cincinnati previously but never played).

Recent acquisitions boost Bengals: Cincinnati's player personnel department has struck gold in acquiring new top talent in each of the last two years. On top of solid drafts (see the next item titled "2020 rookies continue to deliver"), the team has unearthed a bounty of player production in free agency, as well as a trade.

Here's a look at how some of the team's 2020 and '21 additions are faring this season (all are unrestricted free agent additions, unless otherwise noted):

ACQUIRED, PLAYER	'21 G/S	NOTES
2020, S Vonn Bell	12/12	Starting S and team captain
2020, DT D.J. Reader	12/12	Starting NT
2020, G Quinton Spain (waivers)	12/12	Starting G (re-signed as UFA in March)
2020, G Xavier Su'a-Filo	2/2	Starting G (though currently on R/I)
2020, WR Mike D. Thomas	8/1	Reserve WR; special teamer
2020, CB Trae Waynes	2/2	Starting CB (though currently on R/I)
2021, S Ricardo Allen (free agent)	9/0	Key reserve; veteran leader
2021, CB Eli Apple (free agent)	12/11	Key reserve turned starter
2021, CB Chidobe Awuzie	11/11	Starting CB
2021, DE Trey Hendrickson	12/10	Starting DE; leads team in sacks (11.5)
2021, DT B.J. Hill (trade)	12/1	Key reserve with 4.5 sacks
2021, CB Mike Hilton	12/6	Starting nickel CB
2021, DT Larry Ogunjobi	12/12	Starting DT (three-technique); 4.5 sacks
2021, OT Riley Reiff	11/11	Starting ROT

2020 rookies continue to deliver: Cincinnati's 2020 draft class combined to play in 96 games (33 starts) as rookies, just three games shy of the most by a Bengals draft class (99 in 2017) since the draft went to seven rounds in 1994. Consider also that the 2020 class was just seven players, while the 2017 class was 11 players.

After being leaned upon heavily as rookies, Cincinnati's 2020 draft class has continued to deliver, combining to play in 63 games (38 starts) this season. It should be noted, though, that three 2020 draft picks — OT Hakeem Adeniji, LB Akeem Davis-Gaither and DE Khalid Kareem — have missed a combined 18 games this season while on reserve lists. Adeniji and Kareem are back in action after beginning the season on reserve lists, while Davis-Gaither is on Reserve/Injured (left foot) and, according to head coach Zac Taylor, will likely miss the rest of the season.

Here is the 2020 Bengals draft class: QB Joe Burrow (first round), WR Tee Higgins (second), LB Logan Wilson (third), Davis-Gaither (fourth), Kareem (fifth), Adeniji (sixth), LB Markus Bailey (seventh). Burrow, Higgins, Wilson and Adeniji are regular starters.

Flipping the script on the road: The Bengals this season have won four road games, which already stands as their most wins away from home since 2015 (six). Wins in their two remaining road games — Week 15 at Denver, and Week 18 at Cleveland — would give them six for the year and tie the single-season team record, accomplished in 1981, 2005, '12, and '15.

Dating back to 2020, Cincinnati has won five of its last seven road games.

It wasn't long ago, though, that the shoe was on the other foot. The Bengals lost 13 straight road games between 2018 and early '20, and that bleeding was stopped only by a tie at Philadelphia. Head coach Zac Taylor did not pick up his first road win until his 16th game away from Paul Brown Stadium (includes a 2019 neutral site loss to the Rams in London), a fact the third-year Bengals head coach has not forgotten.

"We've really matured," Taylor told the media after his team's 31-13 win at Las Vegas on Nov. 21. "We lost 15 games in a row on the road at one point — I don't know if you all remember that, but I do (laughs).

"This team has really turned their mentality. When we get on a plane, get on a bus and go to a hotel, we come out there really focused. They've handled it really well. I have no concerns taking this team on the road and wondering how they're going to handle it. I'm proud of them."

Bengals tap Senior Bowl pipeline: One of the key factors in Cincinnati's success in the draft the last two years has been the team's ability to identify prospects at the Senior Bowl, a college all-star game held each January that serves as the unofficial start to the pre-draft process.

The Bengals have drafted seven players over the last two years who participated in the Senior Bowl, and all seven are still with the team. Four are on the active roster — OT Hakeem Adeniji (2020, sixth round), HB Chris Evans ('21 sixth round), DE Cam Sample ('21, fourth round) and LB Logan Wilson ('20, third round) — while the other three are on reserve lists — LB Akeem Davis-Gaither ('20, fourth round; Reserve/Injured), DE Wyatt Hubert ('21, seventh round; Reserve/Non-Football Injury) and G D'Ante Smith ('21, fourth round; Reserve/Injured).

Zac Taylor and the rest of the Bengals staff coached the South team at the 2020 Senior Bowl, and Davis-Gaither was on their roster. Wilson and Adeniji were on the North team that year, however coaches cite their close exposure to both during that experience as a major reason they ended up in Cincinnati.

Taylor and his staff have attended each of the last two Senior Bowls (2020-21). He was on the Rams' staff in 2018 and was hired by Cincinnati after L.A.'s run to the Super Bowl that year, therefore neither he nor his full coaching staff attended the 2019 Senior Bowl.

25 points does the trick: Since 2011, the Bengals own a 56-6-2 record when scoring 25 or more points. That's good for the second-best winning percentage (.891) in the NFL when topping the 25-point mark over that span.

The Bengals are 10-5 under head coach Zac Taylor (5-1 this season) when reaching the 25-point plateau.

Here are the top five teams in the NFL since 2011, in terms of winning percentage, when hitting the 25-point plateau:

TEAM	WINS	LOSSES	TIES	WINNING PCT.
New England Patriots	98	10	0	.907
Cincinnati Bengals	56	6	2	.891
Denver Broncos	60	8	0	.882
Miami Dolphins	43	6	0	.878
Arizona Cardinals	55	8	1	.867

Tracking weekly/monthly awards: Four different Bengals this season have won a total of six weekly and/or monthly awards given out by the NFL. This year marks the first time in team history that two Bengals rookies (McPherson and WR Ja'Marr Chase) have won a player of the week award in the same season. Here's a rundown of all the winners:

- K Evan McPherson, Week 1, AFC Special Teams Player of the Week: In what was his NFL debut, the Bengals' rookie fifth-round pick kicked a game-winning 33-yard FG as time expired in OT to give Cincinnati a 27-24 win over Minnesota. At the time, he was 22 years and 53 days old, making him the youngest kicker in NFL history to kick a game-winner in OT. He also was just the second rookie kicker ever to convert a FG as time expired in OT. Earlier in the game, McPherson made his first career NFL field goal, a 53-yarder that counted as the second-longest in the AFC in Week 1.

- QB Joe Burrow, Week 4, AFC Offensive Player of the Week: Burrow threw for 348 yards and two TDs in Cincinnati's Week 4 Thursday Night matchup vs. Jacksonville, while also posting then-career highs in both completion percentage (78.1) and passer rating (132.8) as he helped lead the Bengals to a comeback win. Burrow led Cincinnati to scores on all four of its second-half possessions (TD, TD, TD, FG), and his 10-play, 73-yard drive late in the fourth quarter bled 5:33 off the clock and set up a game-winning FG as time expired. In the second half alone, Burrow completed 17 of 20 passes (85 percent) for 253 yards and two TDs (152.1 rating).

● WR Ja'Marr Chase, September, NFL Offensive Rookie of the Month: The fifth overall pick in the 2021 draft led all rookies in receiving yardage (220) and TDs (four) in September. He was one of just nine rookies ever to catch at least one TD in each of his first three career games, and was one of just three players ever to catch TDs of at least 25 yards in each of his first three career games. He also was the youngest player (21 years old) with four receiving TDs through his first three career games, edging out Pro Football Hall of Famer Randy Moss' three in three games in 1998.

● WR Ja'Marr Chase, Week 7, AFC Offensive Player of the Week: Chase caught eight passes for a Bengals rookie-record 201 receiving yards and a TD in Cincinnati's 41-17 win in Week 7 at Baltimore. His receiving yardage total was the highest in the AFC through seven weeks, and his 82-yard TD in the third quarter was the longest pass play in the AFC through seven weeks. Chase's 754 receiving yards through Week 7 led the AFC and ranked as the most ever by an NFL player through his first seven career games. Chase is the first Bengals rookie WR ever to win AFC Offensive Player of the Week, and the first Bengals rookie (at any position) to win the award since HB Jeremy Hill in 2014. AFC player of the week awards have been issued since 1984.

● K Evan McPherson, Week 11, AFC Special Teams Player of the Week: McPherson made all four of his FG attempts in the Cincinnati's Week 11 win at Las Vegas, and accounted for 14 of the team's 32 points on the day. Three of his FGs were from 50-plus yards (54, 53, 51), which tied a single-game NFL record.

● HB Joe Mixon, Week 12, AFC Offensive Player of the Week: Mixon helped Cincinnati to a 41-10 win over division-rival Pittsburgh by rushing for a career-high 165 yards, the most-ever by a Bengal against the Steelers. He also scored two TDs, and ran his tally of consecutive games with multiple TDs to four, the longest such streak in team history and the longest active streak in the NFL at the time. It was also his eighth straight game with a TD, which tied the third-longest streak in team history (streak has since extended to nine games, tied for second in team history).

2021 Bengals captains: Prior to start of the regular season, the Bengals named team captains for 2021 on offense, defense and special teams.

On offense, the captains are second-year QB Joe Burrow, fifth-year HB Joe Mixon and sixth-year WR Tyler Boyd. This is Burrow's second season as a captain, while Mixon and Boyd are first-time captains.

On defense, the captains are fourth-year S Jessie Bates, fourth-year DE Sam Hubbard and sixth-year S Vonn Bell. It's the first captain nod for both Bates and Hubbard, and the second for Bell, who joined the Bengals last season.

The lone captain on special teams is P Kevin Huber, who is the longest-tenured Bengal on the roster at 13 seasons. Huber is 36 years old, while Boyd (27), Bell (26) and Hubbard (26) are the next-oldest captains.

Bengals' Nebraska connections: The Bengals have of course drawn attention this season for their many connections to the LSU Tigers, but look closer and you'll find several significant links to another school — the University of Nebraska.

Bengals QB Joe Burrow's father, Jimmy, was a starting safety at Nebraska under Tom Osborne in the mid-1970s, and then later served as an assistant under Huskers head coach Frank Solich from 2000-02. While on Nebraska's staff, Jimmy coached Joe's older brothers, Jamie (MLB) and Dan (S), who helped Nebraska to a berth in the BCS National Championship Game (Rose Bowl) in the 2001 season. Joe was five at the time.

Solich was fired by Nebraska after the 2003 season, but then caught on in '05 as head coach at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio. He promptly hired Jimmy Burrow as defensive coordinator, and the Burrow family moved to Athens, where Joe went on to play in high school and win Ohio's Mr. Football award in 2014.

Solich was replaced at Nebraska by Bill Callahan, who served as Huskers head coach from 2004-07. Bill Callahan is the father of Bengals offensive coordinator Brian Callahan, who at the time of his dad's Nebraska hiring was already a walk-on QB at UCLA. In 2005, Bill Callahan's Huskers got a transfer QB from Butler County (Kan.) Community College by the name of Zac Taylor, who went on to play two seasons with the Huskers and win Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year in his senior season of 2006. Taylor was inducted into the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame in 2017.

Joe Burrow grew up a Nebraska football fan, but says he was not offered a scholarship by the Huskers out of high school or after his transfer from Ohio State in 2018.

Examining Week 1 Bengals since '02: Here's a look at how Cincinnati's opening-week roster this year stacked up with the Bengals' Week 1 rosters of the last 20 seasons (since 2002). All info is according to the NFL's annual kickoff weekend roster info press release, which compares the height, weight, age and experience of all 32 teams in Week 1.

The 2021 Bengals' average height was 6.18 feet, which tied for the fourth-shortest Week 1 roster Cincinnati has had over the last 20 years. The 2002 team (6.11 feet) was the shortest, while the '16 squad (6.22 feet) was the tallest.

This year's Bengals averaged 248.83 pounds, good for the sixth-heaviest opening-week squad Cincinnati has had over the last 20 years. The 2010 team (251.53) was the heaviest, while the '02 squad (244.6) was the lightest.

The players on the Bengals' 2021 opening-week roster averaged 25.68 years old, good for the third-youngest Week 1 roster Cincinnati has had over the last 20 years. The 2018 squad (25.38) was the youngest, while the '06 team (26.57) was the oldest.

This year's Bengals players averaged 3.81 years of NFL experience, the eighth-fewest by a Cincinnati squad over the last 20 years. The 2004 team (3.57) was the least-experienced, while the '15 squad (4.49) was the most-experienced.

The 2021 Bengals had 11 rookie and first-year players on the roster, tied for sixth-most over the last 20 years. The 2017 Bengals (14) had the most rookies and first-year players, while the '13 team (seven) had the fewest.

This year's Bengals had just five players age 30 or older, the second-fewest by a Cincinnati team over the last 20 years. The 2011 Bengals (two) had the fewest players 30 or older, while the '15 team (11) had the most.

The 2021 Bengals had just eight players 200 pounds or lighter, which tied for the third-fewest over the last 17 years (the league's info in this category goes back only to 2005). The 2017 and '19 Bengals (seven) had the fewest, while the '09 team (13) had the most.

This year's Bengals had nine players listed shorter than six feet, which tied for the fifth-fewest in that category over the last 17 years (the league's info in this category goes back only to 2005). The 2008 Bengals (five) had the fewest players under six feet, while the 2004, '10 and '15 teams (all 11) had the most.

Finally, the 2021 Bengals had 14 players who weighed 300 or more pounds, tied with the '08 team for the most in the last 19 years (league info goes back only to 2003). The 2003, '04 and '17 Bengals (all eight) tied for the fewest.

Kickoff weekend roster comparisons: Early this season, the NFL released its annual comparison of rosters throughout the league on kickoff weekend. The data includes comparisons of height, weight, experience and age across all 32 NFL rosters on the Week 1 of the season.

Here's a look at the Bengals' opening-week roster data from each of the last five seasons (all info is according to the NFL's annual kickoff weekend roster comparison press release):

Coin-toss roller coaster: The Bengals have been on both ends of rather improbable coin-toss streaks dating back to late last season.

On the good-luck side, the Bengals won 11 straight coin tosses between Game 14 vs. Pittsburgh last season and Game 6 at Detroit this season. That's a span of nine games, but it included two OT contests, and the Bengals won the toss prior to the extra period in both of those. Winning 11 straight coin tosses equates to one in 2048 odds.

Now for the other side of the coin. The Bengals lost five straight coin tosses between Game 7 and Game 11 this season (no OT games), which equates to one in 32 odds. That streak, though, was broken with a coin-toss win in Game 12 vs. the L.A. Chargers.

Bengals-Jags most-watched TNF since 2018: The broadcast of the Bengals' Sept. 30 win over the Jacksonville Jaguars on Thursday Night Football drew an average of 8.5 million viewers, which at the time was good for the largest audience of any exclusive TNF game since Week 3 of 2018 (N.Y. Jets vs. Cleveland Browns). The game aired on NFL Network and Yahoo Sports mobile properties, and the viewership measurement includes both television and digital platforms.

By comparison, the Bengals-Jaguars telecast was up 47 percent from last year's Week 4 TNF matchup (Broncos-Jets, 5.8 million viewers), and up 36 percent from the average audience from Weeks 1-3 this season (6.3 million). It was also television's most-watched telecast of the day.

Three Bengals hail from Queen City: The Bengals have three players — DE Sam Hubbard, P Kevin Huber and G Jackson Carman — who grew up in Greater Cincinnati.

Hubbard, a Moeller High School alum and former Ohio State standout, played his third Bengals season, after joining the team as a third-round draft pick (77th overall) in 2018. He is in his third season as a full-time starting DE, and in July signed a contract extension that keeps him in Cincinnati through 2025.

Huber, an Anderson Township native and alum of McNicholas High School and the University of Cincinnati, was a fifth-round draft choice of the Bengals in 2009. He is the longest-tenured player on the roster and has played in all but two games throughout his career in Cincinnati. He currently stands as the Bengals' career leader in both gross (45.31) and net (40.26) punting average.

Carman, a rookie, is a native of Fairfield, Ohio, a Cincinnati suburb about 35 minutes north of the city. He attended Fairfield High School before playing at Clemson University for three seasons, and then the Bengals selected him in the second round of the 2021 draft.

Bengal bites: Rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase, Cincinnati's first-round pick in April's draft, is the first player in Bengals history to wear uniform No. 1 ... According to the NFL's Next Gen Stats service, which tracks players' speed by using GPS, S Brandon Wilson's kickoff return for a TD at Baltimore in 2019 (22.03 MPH) stands as the fastest speed by a Bengal ball-carrier since NGS' launch in '16; The fastest speed by a Bengals ball-carrier in 2021 came from HB Joe Mixon, who reached 20.66 MPH on a 19-yard run in the season-opener vs. Minnesota ... The longest-tenured player on the roster in 2021 is P Kevin Huber, a 13th-year pro who joined the Bengals as a fifth-round pick in 2009 ... The oldest Bengal on the roster is LS Clark Harris, who is 37 (born July 10, 1984) ... The youngest Bengal is WR Ja'Marr Chase, who is 21 (born March 1, 2000) ... The lightest Bengal on the roster is CB Mike Hilton, who is 184 pounds ... The heaviest Bengal is DT Tyler Shelvin, who is 350 pounds ... The tallest Bengal is OT Isaiah Prince, who is 6-7 ... The shortest Bengal on the roster is CB Mike Hilton, who is 5-9 ... The Bengals have two persons with the name of Michael Thomas on the active roster — No. 80 WR Mike D. Thomas (goes by "Mike"; middle name is Davonta), and No. 31 S Michael J. Thomas (goes by "Michael"; has two middle names, "Jacob James").

POSITION BY POSITION

Quarterbacks: Second-year pro Joe Burrow has returned to action this season, after his rookie campaign was limited to just 10 games due to a left knee injury. Burrow this season has completed 259 of 379 pass attempts (68.3 percent) for 3135 yards (ninth in the NFL), 23 TDs (tied for seventh in the NFL) and 14 INTs (98.3 rating). In Cincinnati's Game 1 overtime win vs. Minnesota, his first game back since the injury, he posted then-career highs in passer rating (128.8), completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempt (9.6) — he has since topped all of those numbers. Burrow has a passer rating of 100 or better in six games this season, and nine for his career. Burrow also has passed for 300 or more yards in three games this season, and eight for his career. Burrow has two career 400-yard games, including one this season (Game 7 at Baltimore). Burrow was medically cleared in time to take the first snap of training camp on July 28, and in Game 1 this season he followed through on a vow he made shortly after his injury that he would start the 2021 regular-season opener. Listed second on the depth chart is veteran Brandon Allen, who started in Burrow's absence late last season. Allen has played in four games this season, after starting six late last year following Burrow's injury. Allen joined the Bengals in August of 2020, and began that season on the practice squad as the team's "quarantine QB" that was kept away from the rest of the QBs at practice/meetings in case they could not play due to COVID-19.

Running backs: Leading the Bengals' running back room is fifth-year pro Joe Mixon, who has returned to action this season after his 2020 campaign was limited to just six games due to a right foot injury. So far this season, Mixon has rushed for 978 yards (second in NFL) and 12 TDs (tied for second in NFL) on 227 carries (second in NFL). Mixon also has caught 26 passes for 192 yards and two TDs. Mixon enters Sunday's game vs San Francisco having scored a TD in nine consecutive games, tied for the second-most in team history; a TD this weekend would tie him for the franchise record with WR Carl Pickens (10 straight games). Mixon's 14 total TDs this season are tied for fifth-most ever by a Bengal, and stand just three shy of Pickens' team-record 17, set in 1995. Mixon has three 100-yard rushing games this season and 13 for his career; he also has five games with at least 100 yards from scrimmage this season and 21 for his career. Earlier this season, Mixon had four consecutive games (Games 8-11) with multiple TDs, the longest such streak in team history (see "Mixon the TD machine" on page 4). Mixon topped 1000 yards rushing in both 2018 and '19, before his foot injury last season prevented him from making it three seasons in a row. Mixon signed a contract extension in 2020 that keeps him in Cincinnati through the '24 season. Fifth-year pro Samaje Perine, who also shared a backfield with Mixon in college at Oklahoma, is in his third Bengals season after beginning his career with Washington. This season, Perine has 46 carries for 201 yards and one TD, and 18 catches for 145 yards and one TD. At 5-11, 240 pounds, Perine brings size and a physical rushing style, and he's also used extensively on special teams. The third running back on Cincinnati's active roster is Chris Evans, a rookie sixth-round pick out of the University of Michigan. Evans is known for his receiving ability out of the backfield, and this season he has 11 catches for 127 yards and a TD, along with nine carries for 41 yards.

Bengals coaches say they first took notice of Evans' route-running and hands during receiving drills at 2021 Senior Bowl practices. Trayveon Williams, a sixth-round pick by Cincinnati in the 2019 draft, was signed from the practice squad to the active roster on Dec. 4, ahead of Game 12 vs. L.A. Chargers. Williams has played in three games this season, including two earlier in the year as a standard elevation from the practice squad.

Wide receivers: The newest addition to the Bengals' offense this season is first-round draft pick Ja'Marr Chase, who brings previous experience with Joe Burrow from their time together in college at LSU. Chase has been one of Cincinnati's top performers so far this season, with team-highs in receptions (55), receiving yards (958) and receiving TDs (eight). He leads all rookies in receiving yards (fifth leaguewide) and receiving TDs (tied for fourth leaguewide). Chase has provided Cincinnati's offense with a downfield threat and is tied for third leaguewide in catches of 40 or more yards (six). In Game 1 vs. Minnesota, his NFL debut, Chase became the youngest Bengal (21 years, 195 days) ever to post 100 receiving yards, the third-youngest Bengal ever to score a TD, and his 50-yard TD catch at the end of the first half was the longest TD of any kind by a Bengal rookie in their NFL debut. In Game 7 at Baltimore, Chase posted a Bengals rookie-record 201 receiving yards, and became the second-youngest player in NFL history to record at least 200 receiving yards in a single game. With Burrow as his QB in 2019 at LSU, Chase set single-season SEC records for receiving yards (1780) and TDs (20), and won the prestigious Biletnikoff Award as college football's top receiver. Chase has been assigned uniform No. 1, and is the first player in Bengals history to wear that number. Considered one of the top slot receivers in football, 27-year-old Tyler Boyd is the veteran among a young group of Bengals receivers. So far this season, Boyd has 51 catches for 556 yards and two TDs. Boyd led the team in catches the last three seasons (2018-20), and stands as one of six Bengals ever to top 1000 receiving yards in consecutive seasons ('18-19). Boyd has one 100-yard game this season (Sept. 30 vs. Jacksonville) and 10 for his career. Boyd also has five career games with at least 10 catches. Boyd, a 2016 second-round pick, signed a contract extension in 2019 that keeps him in Cincinnati through the '23 season. Returning this season after a terrific rookie year is second-year pro Tee Higgins, a second-round pick of the Bengals in 2020. Higgins so far this season has 52 catches for 698 yards and four TDs. Higgins missed Games 3-4 this season due to a shoulder injury. In Game 11 vs. Pittsburgh, Higgins posted six catches for 114 yards and a TD; he also became the first Bengal since 2010 (Terrell Owens, seven) to catch six passes of at least 15 yards in a single game. In Game 12 vs. L.A. Chargers, Higgins posted another 100-plus yard receiving game (138) on nine catches, and scored one TD. Last season, Higgins led Cincinnati in receiving yards (908) and tied for the franchise's rookie receptions record (67). Higgins brings considerable size (6-4, 216) to the receiving corps, and coaches have credited him for transforming his body over the offseason to get stronger. Sixth-year pro Mike D. Thomas (not to be confused with Bengals S Michael J. Thomas) adds value as a speedy rotational receiver, as well as on special teams. Thomas joined the Bengals in 2020 but spent his first four NFL seasons with the L.A. Rams, where in '17 his assistant WRs coach was Zac Taylor. Third-year pro Stanley Morgan, a 2019 college free agent signee of the Bengals, also adds depth at receiver and excels particularly as a blocker. Morgan also serves as one of Cincinnati's primary gunners on special teams. Rounding out the receivers room is first-year pro Trenton Irwin, who was signed off the practice squad on Sept. 15. Irwin joined the Bengals midway through 2019 and has bounced between the practice squad and active roster. Auden Tate, a 2018 seventh-round pick of the Bengals, was placed on Reserve/Injured (calf) on Dec. 4, ahead of Game 12 vs. the L.A. Chargers.

Tight ends: C.J. Uzomah, a 2015 fifth-round pick of the Bengals, has returned to action this year after suffering a season-ending right Achilles injury in the second game of 2020. Uzomah this season is in the midst of a career year, and has a career-high five TDs. He has caught 33 passes for 351 yards this season, and also has been a key figure in some of Cincinnati's most important non-scoring plays of the year. In Cincinnati's Game 1 overtime win vs. Minnesota, his first game back since the injury, Uzomah caught a 32-yard pass on fourth-and-inches in OT to help set up a game-winning FG as time expired three plays later. And in Game 4 vs. Jacksonville, Uzomah caught a career-high two TDs (since matched), and then with the game tied late, he took a jailbreak screen 25 yards deep into Jaguars territory to help set up the game-winning FG. In Game 7 at Baltimore, Uzomah had 91 yards receiving and caught TDs of 55 and 32 yards. Drew Sample, a 2019 second-round pick of the Bengals, is known as complete tight end with both receiving and blocking ability. Bengals coaches have called him one of the best blocking TEs in the league. After Uzomah's injury last season, Sample shouldered a heavier work load that saw him start 13 games, play more than 80 percent of the team's offensive snaps, and catch 40 passes and a TD. Also considered a complete TE prospect is Mitchell Wilcox, a 2020 college free agent signee of the Bengals. Wilcox left college at USF in 2019 with every single-season and career receiving record for a TE, and also helped block for three different 1000-yard rushers.

Offensive linemen: Now in his second season as Cincinnati's starting LOT is 2019 first-round pick Jonah Williams, who has started every game this season. After missing his entire rookie season to a shoulder injury, Williams started 10 games in 2020. A right knee injury ended Williams' 2020 season early, but it was not deemed serious and he participated fully in the Bengals' offseason program and has started every game so far this season. At ROT this season is 10th-year pro Riley Reiff, who signed with Cincinnati in March after spending his first nine NFL seasons with Detroit and Minnesota. Reiff has played LOT for a majority of his career, with his one previous season as a full-time ROT coming in 2016 with Detroit. Reiff, though, told the local media after signing with Cincinnati that he welcomes the opportunity to play ROT in Cincinnati, and if needed would even move inside to G for the first time in his pro career. Cincinnati's starting C since 2019 has been Trey Hopkins, who originally was a college free agent signee of the Bengals in '14. Hopkins battled injuries and bounced between the practice squad and roster for his first three seasons, before settling into a regular role and gaining starting experience at all three interior OL spots. Hopkins suffered a torn left ACL in last season's finale, but he was medically cleared in time to participate in the first practice of training camp on July 28. Coaches this season have limited Hopkins in practice during the week in order to ease the load on his knee. Hopkins had started every game this year, until an ankle injury left him inactive for Game 12 vs. L.A. Chargers. Seventh-year pro Quinton Spain is Cincinnati's starter at LG. Undrafted out of college in 2015, Spain began his career with the Titans and Bills before joining the Bengals on waivers mid-season in 2020. Spain has remained at LG this year, but last season after joining Cincinnati he played in nine games (eight starts) and made starts at RG, LG and even ROT when the line was dealing with injuries and COVID-19 issues. Hakeem Adeniji, a sixth-round pick of the Bengals in 2020, took over mid-season as the starter at RG and has earned praise from coaches for his consistent play. Adeniji spent the first eight games of the season on Reserve/Non-Football Injury (pectoral), but jumped into the starting lineup immediately upon returning in Game 9 vs. Cleveland. Adeniji was drafted as an OT, and played OT in college and as a rookie, but the Bengals moved him inside to G this season. Rookie G Jackson Carman, Cincinnati's second-round pick in April's draft, started five games (Games 3-5, 7-8) at RG earlier this season, but has since moved to a reserve role. Another key reserve along the interior of the line is rookie C Trey Hill, who is touted as a stout blocker with good movement skills and a high football IQ. Hill has two starts this season as an injury replacement — at RG in Game 6 at Detroit and at C in Game 12 vs. L.A. Chargers. Hill started 26 career games at C at Georgia, considered one of college football's top offensive lines. The tallest Bengal on the roster this season is OT Isaiah Prince (6-7), who returns to action in 2021 after opting out of the '20 season due to COVID-19. Prince has been used this year mainly as an extra blocker in heavy formations, but started at ROT as an injury replacement in Game 12 vs. L.A. Chargers. Prince originally was a sixth-round draft pick of the Dolphins in 2019, and then joined the Bengals on waivers later that year. Adding depth at OT is third-year pro Fred Johnson, who stands at an imposing 6-6, 325 pounds. Johnson has starts at both OT and G during his now three-year career in Cincinnati, but he has worked mostly at OT this season. Johnson primarily has been a reserve at OT to this point in his career, but the Bengals are a combined 4-1 when he fills in as a starter at either OT spot.

Defensive linemen: Cincinnati native and Archbishop Moeller graduate Sam Hubbard is in his fourth Bengals season, including his third as a full-time starter, and is considered the leader of the defensive line. A third-round draft pick of the Bengals in 2018, Hubbard's 24 career sacks are second-most among players from his draft class (including college free agents), and he's also considered among the best DEs in the NFL against the run. Hubbard signed a contract extension in July that keeps him in Cincinnati through the 2025 season. At the LDE is Trey Hendrickson, one of Cincinnati's most high-profile additions from free agency in March. Hendrickson this season has a team-high 11.5 sacks (fifth in the NFL), which would have led the team at the end of last season. Hendrickson enters Sunday's game vs. the San Francisco 49ers with a sack in eight consecutive games, the longest active streak in the NFL, the longest in Bengals history, and the seventh-longest in NFL history. Hendrickson spent 2017-20 with New Orleans, and last year his 13.5 sacks tied for the NFC lead and tied for second in the NFL. Hendrickson's 25 sacks since the beginning of 2020 are third-most leaguewide. Last year's high-profile addition in free agency was DT D.J. Reader, a 6-3, 347-pound nose tackle who excels against the run. Reader was limited to just five games last season due to a left quad injury, but he returned healthy this year and has a sack. Lining up next to Reader is DT Larry Ogunjobi, who signed a one-year deal with Cincinnati in March. Ogunjobi has impressed so far this season, with 4.5 sacks and three additional tackles for losses. Ogunjobi spent his first four NFL seasons with Cleveland, where he played NT, however in Cincinnati he is playing three-technique DT, which he has called his "natural position." Also seeing regular action at three-technique DT is B.J. Hill, who was acquired in an Aug. 30 trade with the N.Y. Giants. Hill has 4.5 sacks on the season, which includes a two-sack performance in the season-opener less than two weeks after joining the Bengals. Hill stands 6-3, 311 pounds, and has played in every possible game over his now four-year career. Back in the lineup this season is 6-3, 345-pound DT Josh Tupou, who opted out of last season due to COVID-19. Tupou was a college free agent signee of the Bengals in 2017, and has worked his way into the regular defensive rotation as a reliable run-stuffer. DE Khalid Kareem, a Bengals fifth-round pick in 2020, returned to action in Game 8 at the N.Y. Jets, after beginning his second season on Cincinnati's Reserve/Injured list. Kareem played in all 16 games as a rookie (one sack), and this year he has again slid into a rotational DE role. In the fourth round of April's draft, the Bengals selected Tulane DE Cam Sample, who has seen rotational action so far and has one sack. Sample is known as a productive, versatile and high-energy player, and last season he was rated the most valuable defensive lineman in college football by Pro Football Focus. Bengals coaches say that Sample caught their eye during the 2021 Senior Bowl, where he earned Defensive MVP honors. Later in the fourth round, the Bengals selected 6-2, 350-pound DT Tyler Shelvin, a space-eater with a rare blend of strength and athleticism. Shelvin was a key player on LSU's defense during their national championship run in 2019, but he opted out of the '20 college season due to COVID-19. With veterans Reader and Tupou in the top two NT spots on the depth chart, Shelvin has played in just one game so far this season. Adding depth at DE is second-year pro Wyatt Ray, who was acquired on waivers from Tennessee on Sept. 1. Ray originally was a college free agent signee of the Cleveland Browns in 2019, and has also spent time with Houston, Buffalo, the N.Y. Jets and Tennessee.

Linebackers: Among Cincinnati's most promising young defenders is second-year pro Logan Wilson, who is wearing the green dot this year as the defense's communicator. Wilson this season leads all NFL linebackers in INTs (four), and also leads Cincinnati in tackles (90). The last Bengals LB with three or more INTs in a season was Odell Thurman (five) in 2005. Wilson, though, suffered a right shoulder injury on Dec. 5 vs. the L.A. Chargers, and his status for this Sunday's game is unknown. Wilson was Cincinnati's third-round draft pick in 2020. Germaine Pratt, a 2019 third-round pick of the Bengals, has grown into a key contributor on defense after being considered a raw prospect coming out of the draft, due to switching from S to LB late in his college career. Pratt has 58 tackles, including five for losses, along with an INT, two FFs and two FRs so far this season. In Cincinnati's season-opening win vs. Minnesota, Pratt made the defensive play of the game late in overtime when he forced and recovered a fumble by Vikings RB Dalvin Cook; the play thwarted Minnesota's potential game-winning drive, which had reached the Bengals' 38-yard line, and set up a Cincinnati drive that ended with a game-winning FG as time expired in OT. Pratt, who earned a starting LB spot midway through his rookie season, has drawn particular praise from coaches this season for his grasp of the defense. Second-year pro Markus Bailey, a 2020 seventh-round pick of the Bengals, has seen rotational action on defense this season. Bailey has drawn positive reviews from coaches this year after gradually working his way back from a serious college knee injury during his rookie season. Providing depth is second-year pro Joe Bachie, who joined Cincinnati on waivers in May. Bachie began 2021 on Cincinnati's practice squad but impressed in two games as a game-day elevation, so he was signed to the active roster in Week 8. The Bengals' depth at LB has been tested this season by injuries and COVID-19 issues, so over their bye (Week 10), they added to their LB room by acquiring second-year pro Clay Johnston on waivers from Carolina. The 6-1, 232-pounder was a seventh-round pick of the Rams in 2020, and has been used mainly on special teams.

Defensive backs: S Jessie Bates III, a fourth-year pro and 2018 Bengals second-round pick, is a team captain and is considered one of the core leaders of the team. Bates so far this season has 65 tackles (third on team), an INT (65-yard return) and a FR (46-yard return). Bates earned a starting S spot in training camp as a rookie and started the first 51 games of his career — that's three seasons plus three games — until a neck injury broke the streak and held him out of Cincinnati's Sept. 30 matchup vs. Jacksonville. Bates, though, returned to the lineup the following week and hasn't missed a game since. Bates topped 100 tackles in each of his first three seasons (2018-20). Next to Bates at S is sixth-year pro Vonn Bell, who joined the Bengals in 2020 after spending his first four years with New Orleans. Bell, a team captain, has 71 tackles (second on team), including six for losses and a sack, along with three PDs, two FFs and a FR. Last year, in his first season with the Bengals, Bell played all 1059 defensive snaps and led the team in both tackles (114) and FFs (three). Depth at CB was a primary focus for the Bengals in 2020 free agency, as the team brought in an influx of reinforcements at the position. The most high-profile of those additions is Chidobe Awuzie, a former second-round pick of the Cowboys who spent his first four seasons in Dallas. Awuzie, who signed as an unrestricted free agent and is under contract through the 2023 season, has impressed with his coverage and tackling ability this season, and has 41 tackles, 10 PDs and two INTs. Awuzie, though, left the Dec. 5 game vs. the L.A. Chargers with a right foot injury, and his status for Sunday's game vs. San Francisco is unknown. Awuzie missed Game 4 vs. Jacksonville due to a groin injury, but returned to action the following week. The second free agency addition was Mike Hilton, who is widely considered among the top slot CBs in the NFL. Hilton, who is under contract through the 2024 season, is among the smallest players on the roster at 5-9, 184 pounds, but he is known as a sure tackler and outstanding blitz. Hilton had a 24-yard pick-six in Game 11 vs. Pittsburgh, his former team, and he said it was first-career pick-six at any level dating back to pee-wee football. Another veteran CB addition is Eli Apple, a former first-round pick of the Giants. Apple brings familiarity with Bell, whom he played alongside in college at Ohio State, as well as with defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo, who was his position coach with the Giants in 2018. Injuries in the Bengals' defensive backfield have thrust Apple into a starting role, so he has started all but one game this season and has two INTs. The most physically imposing member of the secondary is 6-3, 203-pound CB Tre Flowers, who joined Cincinnati on waivers from Seattle in October. Flowers has filled a rotational role for the Bengals, and mostly has been used to cover TEs in passing situations. Another mid-season addition in the mix is CB Vernon Hargreaves III, whom the Bengals acquired on waivers from Houston on Nov. 4. Hargreaves was a first-round pick of the Buccaneers in 2016, and adds depth and experience in the secondary. Another mid-season acquisition is veteran S Michael J. Thomas (not to be confused with WR Mike D. Thomas), who originally was a college free agent signee of the 49ers back in 2012, and has 100 games of NFL experience with five teams (including Cincinnati). Thomas is known for his impact on special teams, and has either led or finished second on his team in special teams tackles in six of the last seven seasons (outlier was in injury shortened 2020 season). Adding experience at CB is Darius Phillips, a 2018 sixth-round pick who has proven to be a playmaker in the secondary when healthy. In 2019, Phillips he led the team in INTs (four) despite playing only 108 snaps on defense. Phillips, who fills a rotational role on defense, is Cincinnati's No. 1 PR this season, and recently took over as the No. 1 KOR after S Brandon Wilson suffered a season-ending knee injury in Game 9. CB Jalen Davis joined the Bengals in mid-2020 and was thrust into action quickly while the team dealt with a wave of injuries and COVID-19 issues. Davis, who previously spent time with the Dolphins and Cardinals, drew praise from coaches during his six games of action in 2020, and signed a contract extension with the Bengals in March.

Special teams: Cincinnati native and the longest-tenured player on the roster Kevin Huber is handling the Bengals' punting duties for the 13th consecutive season. Huber, a graduate of Archbishop McNicholas High School and the University of Cincinnati, originally was a fifth-round pick of his hometown Bengals in 2009. So far this season, Huber is averaging 46.5 gross yards on punts, and 41.2 net yards. Huber is considered the top punter in team history, and stands as the Bengals' career leader in every significant punting category, including punts (959), punting yards (43,456), gross average (45.31), net average (40.26) and inside-20 punts (332). Huber was a Pro Bowl selection in 2014, but he has maintained a high level of play and last season posted career-highs in both gross (47.2) and net (42.8) average. Huber has played in 202 career games, third-most in team history, and is within striking distance this season of leaders Reggie Williams (206) and Ken Riley (207). He passed QB Ken Anderson (192) in Game 3 vs. Pittsburgh. The oldest Bengal on the roster is LS Clark Harris (37 years old), who joined the Bengals early in 2009 and has snapped to Huber nearly his entire career. Harris has been a paragon of reliability for Cincinnati, and has never had an unplayable snap in 1802 career attempts (956 punts, 844 placekicks) as a Bengal. Harris, a Pro Bowler in 2017, has played in 196 career games as a Bengal. Among the youngest players on the roster is 21-year-old rookie K Evan McPherson, whom the Bengals selected in the fifth round of April's draft. McPherson has already made a significant impact, and has two game-winning "walk-off" FGs with no time remaining. The first came in overtime of Game 1 vs. Minnesota — his NFL debut — when he nailed a 33-yarder; the second was in Game 4 vs. Jacksonville on Thursday Night Football, and came from 35 yards out as time expired in regulation. McPherson has said that entering this season, he had never kicked a game-winning FG at any level of football. McPherson has made 35 of 37 PATs and 18 of 21 FGs this season. He has been particularly good from long range, netting seven field goals of at least 50 yards, tied for the current league lead and already the most ever by a Bengal in a season. In Cincinnati's Game 10 win at Las Vegas, McPherson made four FGs, including an NFL-record tying three from 50-plus yards (54, 53, 51). CB Darius Phillips and WR Trenton Irwin have split PR duties this season. And after Cincinnati's No. 1 KOR Brandon Wilson was lost for the season with an injury in November, Phillips and practice squad WR Pooka Williams have each gotten chances on kickoff returns. The Bengals also feature a number of experienced players in kick and punt coverage, including HB Samaje Perine, S Michael J. Thomas, WR Stanley Morgan and WR Mike D. Thomas.

- Dec. 14 — NFLMC Labor Seminar, TBD.

THE LAST BENGALS-49ERS MEETINGS

2015 SEASON
WEEK 15, GAME 14

Cincinnati Bengals 24, San Francisco 49ers 14
Sunday, Dec. 20, 2015 at Levi's Stadium

Locked in a scoreless tie for much of the first half, the Bengals scored three TDs in the last 5:16 of the second quarter for a 21-0 lead and held on from there to subdue the 49ers. The win clinched a fifth consecutive playoff berth for Cincinnati. DE Carlos Dunlap started the onslaught by forcing a fumble from WR Anquan Boldin and returning it 21 yards to the San Francisco 11-yard line. Cincinnati scored in five plays, on a one-yard rush by HB Jeremy Hill, for a 7-0 lead. Hill got another one-yard TD at the 1:17 mark, on a drive set up by a short San Francisco punt, and Cincinnati went up 21-0 at halftime when QB AJ McCarron passed 20 yards to TE Tyler Kroft with 0:53 to play. The McCarron-Kroft connection was a one-play drive, set up when LB Vontaze Burfict intercepted a bobbled 49ers pass at the San Francisco 36, returning it 16 yards to the 20. McCarron won his first pro start, subbing for Andy Dalton, who was out due to a thumb fracture suffered the previous week vs. Pittsburgh. The Bengals improved to 11-3, while the 49ers fell to 4-10.

2019 SEASON
WEEK 2, GAME 2

San Francisco 49ers 41, Cincinnati Bengals 17
Sunday, Sept. 15, 2019 at Paul Brown Stadium

The game started poorly right away for Cincinnati — a penalty erased a kickoff return, followed by a sack, then by a fumble on QB-RB exchange for no gain, then a failed third-down conversion attempt, and then a punt that barely made it to midfield. And, largely, the game was all downhill from there for the Bengals. The 49ers scored TDs on three of their first four drives to jump out to a 21-7 first-half lead and never looked back. San Francisco beat the Cincinnati soundly on both sides of the ball, outgaining the Bengals in total net yards 572-316, including 259-25 rushing. There were some individual positives for Cincinnati, as WR Tyler Boyd had 10 catches for 122 yards, and WR John Ross III had four catches for 112 yards and a TD. The 49ers improved to 2-0. The Bengals fell to 0-2.

2021 GAME SUMMARIES

WEEK 1, GAME 1

Cincinnati Bengals 27, Minnesota Vikings 24 Sunday, Sept. 12, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

Bengals QB Joe Burrow, who was less than 10 months removed from a left knee injury that ended his rookie season, showed few signs of rust, posting career-highs in passer rating (128.8), completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempt (9.67). HB Joe Mixon, whose 2020 season also ended early due to injury, rushed for 127 yards and a TD on 29 carries. Rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase impressed in his NFL debut with five catches for 101 yards, including a 50-yard TD. Minnesota closed a 14-point second-half deficit and sent the game to OT with a 53-yard FG at the end of regulation. Late in OT, LB Germaine Pratt forced and recovered a fumble by Vikings RB Dalvin Cook, setting up a seven-play, 46-yard drive that was highlighted by a 32-yard pass from Burrow to TE C.J. Uzomah on fourth-and-inches. Rookie K Evan McPherson, making his NFL debut, then nailed a 33-yard FG as time expired to give Cincinnati the win. The game was the first in NFL history with a game-tying FG with no time left in regulation, and a game-winning FG with no time left in OT. Cincinnati moved to 1-0, and Minnesota dropped to 0-1.

WEEK 2, GAME 2

Chicago Bears 20, Cincinnati Bengals 17 Sunday, Sept. 19, 2021 at Soldier Field

The visiting Bengals allowed the fewest total yards (206) by a Cincinnati defense in seven years, but the offense struggled to protect the football and find the scoreboard. Bengals QB Joe Burrow threw three INTs — including a pick-six — on consecutive attempts in the fourth quarter, helping the Bears to a comfortable 17-point margin late. But Burrow connected with rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase for a 42-yard score with 4:39 remaining, and then an INT by Bengals LB Logan Wilson on the ensuing possession set up a seven-yard TD from Burrow to WR Tee Higgins on the next play to cut the margin to just three. Burrow was the first NFL player in 20 years with INTs on three consecutive plays and TD passes on two consecutive plays in the same game (Steelers QB Kordell Stewart on Dec. 30, 2001 at Cincinnati). The Bengals' comeback bid fell short though, as Bears rookie QB Justin Fields, who was filling in for injured starter Andy Dalton, led Chicago to two first downs as the Bears ran out the clock and hung on for a 20-17 win. Cincinnati dropped to 1-1, while Chicago improved to 1-1.

WEEK 3, GAME 3

Cincinnati Bengals 24, Pittsburgh Steelers 10
Sunday, Sept. 26, 2021 at Heinz Field

The Steelers were without numerous starters due to injury, including All-Pro OLB T.J. Watt, and the Bengals took full advantage. Bengals QB Joe Burrow completed 77.8 percent of his passes, tossed three TDs to just one INT, and posted a 122.9 passer rating. He averaged 9.6 yards per attempt through the air, while HB Joe Mixon averaged 5.0 yards per carry on the ground. Rookie Ja'Marr Chase scored two TDs, including a 34-yarder down the sideline before the half to give Cincinnati the lead for good. The Bengals also held the Steelers without a sack, breaking Pittsburgh's NFL-record streak of 75 straight games with a sack. Defensively, the Bengals applied constant pressure to Steelers QB Ben Roethlisberger, sacking him four times and hitting him three more. LB Logan Wilson picked off Roethlisberger twice, and both instances led to Burrow TD passes. Cincinnati cruised to a 24-10 win and improved to 2-1, while Pittsburgh dropped to 1-2.

WEEK 4, GAME 4

Cincinnati Bengals 24, Jacksonville Jaguars 21
Thursday night, Sept. 30, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

The game featured the previous two No. 1 overall picks in Cincinnati second-year QB Joe Burrow and Jacksonville rookie QB Trevor Lawrence. The Jaguars owned the first half, racking up 15 first downs and 240 total yards en route to a 14-0 halftime lead. The turning point for Cincinnati came with a minute left in the first half, when LB Logan Wilson tackled Lawrence at the one-yard line on a fourth down to prevent a halftime deficit of 21. In the second half, Burrow led a comeback that saw Cincinnati score on all four possessions (TD, TD, TD, FG). Burrow completed 17 of his 20 second-half attempts (85 percent) for 253 yards and two TDs (152.1 rating). With just over a minute left and the score tied 21-21, Burrow made what was perhaps the play of the game when he audibled into a jailbreak screen that went to TE C.J. Uzomah, who ran it for 25 yards to the Jacksonville 21-yard line. That play set up a 35-yard, game-winning FG by K Evan McPherson two plays later. At halftime of the game, the Bengals inducted four people as part of their inaugural Ring of Honor class - founder/GM/head coach Paul Brown, OT Anthony Munoz, QB Ken Anderson and CB Ben Riley. Cincinnati improved to 3-1, while Jacksonville fell to 0-4.

WEEK 5, GAME 5

Green Bay Packers 25, Cincinnati Bengals 22
Sunday, Oct. 10, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

The host Bengals and visiting Packers combined to miss six placekicks, including five FGs, but Packers K Mason Crosby broke the run of misses and nailed a 49-yarder late in OT to secure a Green Bay win. The Packers racked up 466 total yards, including 206 receiving yards from WR Davante Adams, but the Bengals' defense held them to just two TDs on five total trips to the red zone. Bengals WR Ja'Marr Chase had a big day of his own, posting the second-most receiving yards (159) ever by a Cincinnati rookie. The highlight of the day came just before halftime, when Bengals QB Joe Burrow connected with Chase on a 70-yard TD that drew the Bengals within two points. Cincinnati tied the game with 3:27 left in the fourth quarter, but McPherson missed a potential go-ahead 57-yard FG with 26 seconds left, and then Crosby missed from 51 yards as time expired. In OT, Crosby missed from 40 yards and McPherson from 49, before Crosby finally converted with 1:55 remaining. Green Bay improved to 4-1, while Cincinnati fell to 3-2.

WEEK 6, GAME 6

Cincinnati Bengals 34, Detroit Lions 11
Sunday, Oct. 17, 2021 at Ford Field

The visiting Bengals cruised to a 23-point win, good for their largest margin of victory in four seasons. Rookie HB Chris Evans caught a 24-yard TD on Cincinnati's first offensive possession, but the offense struggled for much of the rest of the first half. Cincinnati's defense picked up the slack though, holding the Lions scoreless in the first two quarters while allowing just 51 total yards. Cincinnati led just 10-0 at halftime, but in the second half the offense came away with points on all four of its full possessions (three TDs and a FG). Cincinnati was effective in the air and on the ground. QB Joe Burrow tossed three TDs on the afternoon and posted a 115.7 passer rating, while HB Joe Mixon racked up 153 total yards, including a 40-yard receiving TD that featured a massive downfield block from rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase to lead him into the end zone. Cincinnati improved to 4-2, while Detroit fell to 0-6.

WEEK 9, GAME 9

Cleveland Browns 41, Cincinnati Bengals 16
Sunday, Nov. 7, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

The Bengals committed three turnovers, forced none, and had several key drops in the passing game as Cleveland cruised to a comfortable win at Paul Brown Stadium. The first Bengals turnover was a 99-yard pick-six by Browns CB Denzel Ward on the game's opening possession, while the other two — an INT and a fumble — happened deep in their own end and led to Browns points. The Bengals' defense, which had excelled all season at preventing long plays, gave up a 60-yard TD catch and 70-yard TD run to Cleveland. Cincinnati also entered the game ranked seventh in rush defense, but allowed 9.8 yards per carry to Browns RB Nick Chubb. Forced to play from behind most of the game, Cincinnati went pass-heavy but never could find its footing. Bengals QB Joe Burrow was sacked five times, and his longest completion was just 20 yards. Cincinnati fell to 5-4, while Cleveland improved to 5-4.

WEEK 11, GAME 10

Cincinnati Bengals 32, Las Vegas Raiders 13
Sunday, Nov. 21, 2021 at Allegiant Stadium

The Bengals started slow in their first-ever game in Las Vegas, but they scored 19 points in the final quarter to widen what for most of the game was a narrow lead. Cincinnati's defense forced two turnovers and held Las Vegas to just one-of-seven on third downs, while HB Joe Mixon scored two TDs — his third straight multi-TD game — and rushed for 97 yards in the second half as the Bengals wore out the Raiders late. The Raiders trimmed the Bengals' lead to three points early in the fourth quarter, but QB Joe Burrow led a 12-play, 62-yard TD drive that ate 6:39 of clock and re-extended Cincinnati's lead. Rookie K Evan McPherson made all four of his FG attempts, and tied an NFL record with three 50-plus yarders in a game (54, 53, 51). Cincinnati improved to 6-4, while Las Vegas dropped to 5-5.

WEEK 12, GAME 11

Cincinnati Bengals 41, Pittsburgh Steelers 10 Sunday, Nov. 28, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

The 31-point victory margin was the Bengals' largest over the Steelers in 32 years. Bengals HB Joe Mixon rushed for a career-high 165 yards and two TDs, while QB Joe Burrow had a career-high 83.5 completion percentage. Mixon ran his streak of consecutive games with a TD to eight, including four straight with multiple TDs. Cincinnati scored on its first four possessions (three TDs, one FG), and when an INT ended that streak on the fifth drive, Bengals CB Mike Hilton — a former Steeler — returned an INT 24 yards for a TD on the first play of the following Steelers drive. Cincinnati's defense had three sacks and two INTs while holding Pittsburgh to 51 rushing yards. Bengals DE Trey Hendrickson ran his streak of consecutive games with a sack to seven, the longest in Bengals history. Cincinnati improved to 7-4, while Pittsburgh fell to 5-5-1.

WEEK 13, GAME 12

Los Angeles Chargers 41, Cincinnati Bengals 22 Sunday, Dec. 5, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

The visiting Chargers raced to a 24-0 lead early in the second quarter and looked to be on their way to an easy win, but Cincinnati scored twice before halftime to trim the lead to 24-13, and then got to within 24-22 midway through the third quarter. The comeback was led by Bengals QB Joe Burrow, who did not miss a play despite dislocating the pinky finger on his throwing hand in the first half. Cincinnati was down two points early in the fourth quarter and driving to take the lead when HB Joe Mixon fumbled for the first time in 328 rush attempts, resulting in a 61-yard scoop-and-score by Chargers CB Tevaughn Campbell. L.A. tacked on another TD, and then thwarted another Bengals comeback attempt by intercepting Burrow in the end zone — Cincinnati's fourth turnover of the day. Mixon ran his streak of consecutive games with a TD to nine, and DE Trey Hendrickson ran his streak of consecutive games with a sack to eight. The Chargers improved to 7-5, while the Bengals fell to 7-5.
