WEEKLY NEWS RELEASENOV. 16, 2021

CINCINNATI BENGALS (5-4) AT LAS VEGAS RAIDERS (5-4)

WEEK 11, GAME 10
 SUNDAY, NOV. 21
 AT ALLEGIAN STADIUM

UP NEXT:
 NOV. 28 VS. PITTSBURGH

GAME NOTES

Kickoff: 4:05 p.m. Eastern.

Television: The game will air nationally on CBS-TV. In the Bengals' home region, it will be carried by WKRC-TV (Ch. 12) in Cincinnati, WHIO-TV (Ch. 7) in Dayton and on WKYT-TV (Ch. 27) in Lexington. Broadcasters are Ian Eagle (play-by-play), Charles Davis (analyst) and Evan Washburn (sideline reporter).

Radio: The game will air on the Bengals Radio Network, led by Cincinnati flagship stations WLW-AM (700), WCKY-AM (ESPN 1530; all sports) and WEBN-FM (102.7). Broadcasters are Dan Hoard (play-by-play) and Dave Lapham (analyst).

The game also will air nationally on Sports USA Radio. Broadcasters are John Ahlers (play-by-play) and Hank Bauer (analyst).

Setting the scene: The Bengals this week hit the road to take on the Raiders on Sunday, in what will be the organization's first-ever game in Las Vegas. Cincinnati, which is coming off of its bye week, will be looking to get back into the win column after suffering two straight losses. The most recent of those was a 41-15 decision to the Cleveland Browns on Nov. 7.

"We feel like we let an opportunity slip through our hands," Taylor said. "We didn't deserve to win; Cleveland did. They beat us, plain and simple."

Miscues were the story of the day for Cincinnati, which committed three turnovers, forced none, and had several key drops in the passing game. The first turnover was a 99-yard pick six on the game's opening drive, while the other two — an INT and fumble — both came deep in Cincinnati's own end. Including the pick-six, the Browns scored 13 points off of those turnovers.

"It's tough when you have the turnovers that we had," Taylor said. "Really, there was a 14 point swing just on the first possession of the game."

"I don't think there's any magic formula, we just made some pretty simple mistakes. We had more dropped passes than I've seen from our group. It was just a day where we needed to be pretty dang good, and we weren't. It's as simple as that."

Despite the Browns' extra possessions and short fields, Cincinnati's defense held strong and allowed just two TDs on four Cleveland trips inside the 20-yard line. The Browns, though, accomplished what few teams had through the first eight weeks and hit the Bengals with big plays. The Browns' two long offensive scores — a 60-yard reception and a 70-yard run — accounted for 14 more points and 130 of the team's 348 total yards on the afternoon.

"The explosive plays hurt us," Taylor said. "We need to be better there. And we need to be better with our tackling. Nick Chubb is a fantastic running back, and they've got a really good offensive line and a tight end that blocks really well for them. One of the things you've got to do is be where you're supposed to be, and be able to put the back on the ground when you've got the opportunities."

The Browns led 24-10 at halftime, and then leaned on their No. 1-ranked rushing attack to widen their lead in the second half.

"When you're playing a team that's built the way they are with the running game and you give them a big lead — a two-score lead or a three-score lead — that's where they're going to be at their best," Taylor said. "So it's disappointing, but that's the outcome."

Despite the loss to Cleveland, Cincinnati remains in the thick of the playoff hunt and is one of 12 AFC teams at or above .500. Six teams, including the Bengals, have exactly five wins.

"We're halfway through the season now, so we've still got a long way to go," said QB Burrow. "Today (against the Browns) was a tough day. We didn't play very well, and it showed on the field. But everything is still in front of us."

Among the aforementioned five-win teams is Las Vegas, which stands 5-4 after losing 41-14 to the Kansas City Chiefs on Sunday Night Football.

"Now our guys get a chance to regroup," Taylor said of his team at the bye. "You're going to see a good football team after this bye. We've got a lot of season left in front of us. We're going to learn from this, move on, and be a team to be reckoned with here in November and December."

The series: The Raiders lead 21-11, including 2-0 in postseason, though the Bengals have won three of the past four meetings, and four of the last six.

The game will mark the Bengals' first-ever visit to Las Vegas, where the Raiders moved to in 2020. And despite the Bengals' recent success in the series, the Raiders have dominated as the home team overall, leading the Bengals 15-2 combined in both Oakland and Los Angeles. The Bengals' road win in Oakland in 2015 was the team's only victory in 12 visits to Oakland dating back to 1968. The Bengals were 1-4 at Los Angeles, where the Raiders were based from 1982-94.

In all games, home and road, the Bengals were 7-15 against the Oakland Raiders and were 4-6 against the L.A. Raiders.

The series includes two playoff games. The Raiders won 31-28 in a divisional game at Oakland in 1975, and they won 20-10 in a divisional game at Los Angeles in '90.

Team bests from the series:

Bengals — MOST POINTS: 45, in a 45-21 win at Los Angeles in 1988. LARGEST VICTORY MARGIN: 24 (twice), set in the 45-21 win in '88, then matched in a 34-10 win at Cincinnati in 2012. FEWEST POINTS ALLOWED: 10 (four times), most recently in the 2012 game at Cincinnati.

Raiders — MOST POINTS: 38, in a 38-14 victory at Cincinnati in 1991. LARGEST VICTORY MARGIN: 34, in a 34-0 win at Cincinnati in 1968. FEWEST POINTS ALLOWED: 0, in the 34-0 win in '68.

The last meetings: Summaries of the two Bengals-Raiders meetings — in 2018 at Cincinnati, and in '19 at Oakland — are on page 15 of this news release.

Bengals career records watch: Here's a look at potential upcoming movement in the team's career records book (regular-season):

- Bengals P Kevin Huber has played in 199 career Bengals games, seven shy of LB Reggie Williams (206) for second place all-time. CB Ken Riley (207) is the Bengals' all-time leader. Huber passed QB Ken Anderson (192) for third place all-time in Game 3 at Pittsburgh.
• Bengals LS Clark Harris has played in 193 career Bengals games, six shy of Huber (199) for third place all-time. Harris passed OT Anthony Munoz (185) for sixth place all-time in Game 2 at Chicago, and then he passed DT Tim Krumrie (188) for fifth in Game 4 vs. Jacksonville and QB Ken Anderson (192) for fourth in Game 9 vs. Cleveland.
• Bengals HB Joe Mixon has 3995 career rushing yards, 181 shy of RB Cedric Benson (4176) for fifth place all-time.

Records vs. Raiders: The two longest rushing gains ever against the Bengals both were recorded by Bo Jackson of the Raiders. Jackson had a 92-yarder for a TD at Los Angeles on Nov. 5, 1989, and he had an 88-yarder (no score) on Dec. 16, 1990 at Los Angeles. Also:

- Four times, the Bengals have posted five interceptions against an opposing quarterback. The first of those instances came against Raiders QB Daryle Lamonica on Nov. 2, 1969 at Nippert Stadium.
• Eight times a Bengals defender has logged three interceptions in a game. One of those instances was recorded by CB Ken Riley on Nov. 28, 1982 vs. the L.A. Raiders.
• Eight times an opposing receiver has caught three TDs against the Bengals in a single game. The first such instance was recorded by Raiders WR Warren Wells on Dec. 7, 1969 at Oakland.

Individually vs. Raiders: Here is a look at offensive statistics for current Bengals against the Raiders:

- WR Tyler Boyd: Two games; Five receptions for 38 yards (7.6) and one TD; One rush for 10 yards.
• HB Joe Mixon: Two games; 42 rushes for 215 yards (5.1) and three TDs; Three receptions for 18 yards (6.0).
• WR Auden Tate: Two games; Four receptions for 56 yards (14.0).
• TE C.J. Uzomah: Two games; Three receptions for 32 yards (10.7).

Uniform watch: The Bengals are scheduled to wear white jerseys and black pants (orange stripes) this week at Las Vegas. The team over the offseason unveiled new uniforms, marking Cincinnati's first significant uniform redesign since 2004.

There are three different color options for the new jerseys — black, white and orange. The pants also feature three different options — black with orange stripes, white with orange stripes, and white with black stripes. The team's iconic striped helmet was unchanged.

Here are the possible combinations for the Bengals' new uniforms (this table does not consider the additional possible options of the three sock colors of black, orange and white):

Table with 4 columns: JERSEY, PANTS/STRIPE, W-L-T, PCT. Lists combinations of jersey and pants colors and their win-loss-tie records and percentages.

* — NFL rules allow teams to wear designated alternate jerseys, color rush (CR) uniforms and/or throwback uniforms for a combined total of three regular-season games. As in years past, orange will serve as the Bengals' designated alternate jersey. Cincinnati does not have a throwback uniform, and no longer has a color rush uniform.

THE HEAD COACHES

Zac Taylor was named the 10th head coach in Cincinnati Bengals history on Feb. 4, 2019.

In 2019, his first season as head coach, Taylor headed off a wave of early season injuries to lead Cincinnati to second-half turnarounds on both offense and defense. Offensively, the Bengals' per-game rushing average jumped 70.6 yards from the first half of the season (59.5) to the second (130.1), while their per-attempt average jumped 1.26 yards (3.17 to 4.43) and they allowed 10 fewer sacks (29 to 19). The team's top four WRs — Tyler Boyd, Alex Erickson, Auden Tate and John Ross III — all posted career-highs in both receptions and receiving yards. Defensively, Cincinnati notched 11 more sacks in the second half of the season compared to the first, and allowed 84.1 fewer yards per game. The team finished 2-14 that season.

In 2020, Taylor helped transition QB Joe Burrow, the No. 1 overall pick in the draft, to the pro level despite the absence of an in-person offseason program due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Taylor helped Burrow to one of the most productive starts to a career by a QB in NFL history, before a knee injury ended the rookie's season after 10 games. Still, Burrow's 264 completions were the most ever by an NFL QB through their first 10 career games, while his 404 pass attempts were second and his 2688 passing yards were fifth. Defensively, Taylor oversaw the onboarding of seven new starters, and helped Cincinnati hold opposing passers to just a 62.8 completion percentage (sixth-lowest in the NFL).

Taylor came to Cincinnati after two seasons (2017-18) with the L.A. Rams, where he served as assistant wide receivers coach in 2017 and quarterbacks coach in '18. In 2018, he helped guide Rams QB Jared Goff to career highs in every major passing category. Goff ranked fourth in the NFL in passing yards and eighth in passer rating. The Rams' QB play was a key component to their offense, which finished the regular season ranked second in the NFL in total net yards (421.1 per game), fifth in net passing yards (281.7), second in scoring (32.9), first in first downs (401) and fifth in third-down percentage (45.0). Los Angeles won the NFC West with a 13-3 regular-season record and advanced to Super Bowl LIII against the New England Patriots.

In 2017, Taylor helped oversee an emerging Rams passing offense that ranked 10th in the NFL in passing yards per game (239.4). Taylor directed a young Rams receiving corps headed by rookie Cooper Kupp, who finished the season with 62 catches, a team-high 869 receiving yards and five TDs.

Prior to his time with the Rams, Taylor had a one-year stint in the college ranks, serving as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at the University of Cincinnati in 2016. Taylor served under head coach Tommy Tuberville at UC.

Taylor broke into NFL coaching in 2012 with the Miami Dolphins as assistant quarterbacks coach. He was elevated to quarterbacks coach from 2013-15, and spent the final five games of '15 as the Dolphins' interim offensive coordinator and primary play-caller, after the team made coaching staff changes.

During his time in Miami, Taylor was instrumental in the development of QB Ryan Tannehill, the team's first-round draft pick in 2012.

Taylor's coaching career began at Texas A&M University, where he served as offensive graduate assistant and tight ends coach under head coach Mike Sherman from 2008-11. The Aggies shared the Big 12 South Championship in 2010 and played in three bowl games during Taylor's time in College Station.

As a player, Taylor began his college career at Wake Forest (2002-03), before transferring to Butler County Community College in Kansas ('04) and then playing his final two seasons ('05-06) at the University of Nebraska. Taylor had a decorated career with the Cornhuskers, setting numerous school records and passing for a combined 5850 yards and 45 touchdowns. In his senior season of 2006, Taylor was named Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year after passing for 3197 total yards and leading the Cornhuskers to a 9-3 record, an appearance in the Big 12 Championship Game and a berth in the Cotton Bowl. He was inducted into the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame in 2017.

Taylor joined the Tampa Bay Buccaneers as a college free agent in 2007, but he was waived prior to the start of training camp and never saw NFL action. Later that year, he joined the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League, where he spent one season (did not play).

His father, Sherwood, was a defensive back and captain at the University of Oklahoma, playing under Sooners head coach Barry Switzer from 1976-79. Sherwood Taylor later served as an assistant coach at Oklahoma and Kansas State University. Taylor's brother, Press, played quarterback at Marshall University and is currently senior offensive assistant for the Indianapolis Colts.

Taylor was born in Norman, Okla., on May 10, 1983. After attending Norman High School, he earned a bachelor's degree in communication studies from the University of Nebraska in 2006. He and his wife, Sarah, have four children — Brooks, Luke, Emma Claire and Milly. Sarah Taylor is the daughter of former Green Bay Packers and Texas A&M head coach Mike Sherman.

Rich Bisaccia was named interim head coach on Oct. 11, following the resignation of Jon Gruden. In his 38th year of coaching, Bisaccia is in his fourth season overall with the Raiders. His resume includes 19 seasons of experience as a special teams coordinator in the NFL with the Raiders (2018-20), Dallas Cowboys ('13-17), San Diego Chargers ('11-12) and Tampa Bay Buccaneers ('02-10). With the Raiders the past three seasons, he had the added role of assistant head coach.

Bisaccia is in his 20th season as an NFL coach. Prior to joining the Raiders, he spent five seasons with the Cowboys as special teams coordinator. Before joining the Cowboys, he spent two seasons with the Chargers as special teams coordinator from 2011-12, adding assistant head coach duties in '12.

Bisaccia entered the NFL coaching ranks as a special teams coordinator with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 2002. From 2002-10, he served in various roles on the Buccaneers coaching staff. He was special teams coordinator from 2002-07 and added the responsibility of associate head coach and RBs in '08, before spending '09-10 as the associate head coach/special teams coordinator.

Prior to joining the Buccaneers, Bisaccia spent 19 seasons coaching at the collegiate level. From 1999-2001, he coached at Mississippi as RBs coach and special teams coordinator, adding the role of assistant head coach for his last two seasons. From 1994-98, he was RBs coach, special teams coordinator and recruiting coordinator at Clemson. He was a graduate assistant for TEs and WRs at South Carolina in 1988, before moving on to work with the Gamecocks' DEs and special teams from '89-90 and TEs and special teams in '91, before being named RBs/special teams coordinator from '92-93. Bisaccia began his coaching career in 1983 at Wayne State College (Nebraska), coaching DBs and special teams. He switched to offense in 1984, coach QBs and WRs from '84-87.

Bisaccia was born on June 3, 1960 in Yonkers, N.Y.. He played DB at Yankton (S.D.) College, and earned a bachelor of science in physical education from Wayne (Neb.) State College. He and his wife, Jeanne, have three daughters and a son.

Taylor vs. Raiders: The Raiders lead, 1-0.

Taylor vs. Bisaccia: No previous meetings.

Bisaccia vs. Bengals: No previous meetings.

BENGALS NOTES

At the top of the list: Here's a look at where the Bengals rank — both individually and in team categories — among the top 10 in the NFL.

LOGAN WILSON

- Tied for fourth in INTs (four).

TREY HENDRICKSON

- Seventh in sacks (8.5).

17-game pace updates: Several Bengals are on pace to approach team records by the end of this season. Here's a look at some of Cincinnati's top performers, and where their statistics project through 17 games.

- QB Joe Burrow: 195 of 286 (68.2 percent) for 2497 yards (8.73 yards/attempt), 20 TDs and 11 INTs (102.6 rating).

Burrow's pace projects to 368 completions, 540 attempts, 4716 yards, 37 TDs and 20 INTs. He's on track to challenge Carson Palmer's completions record (373 in 2007), Ken Anderson's completion percentage record (70.55 in 1982), Andy Dalton's passing yardage record (4293 in 2013), Dalton's passing TDs record (33 in 2013), and Dalton's passer rating record (106.3 in 2015).

- WR Ja'Marr Chase: 44 catches for 835 yards (19.0 avg.) and seven TDs. Chase's pace projects to 83 catches, 1577 yards and 13 TDs. He's on track to challenge WR Chad Johnson's receiving yardage record (1440 in 2007) and WR Carl Pickens' receiving TDs record (17 in 1995). He also could challenge several NFL rookie records, including Oilers WR Bill Groman's receiving yardage record (1473 in 1960), and Vikings WR Randy Moss' receiving TDs record (17 in 1998).

- DE Trey Hendrickson: 8.5 sacks.

Hendrickson's pace projects to 16 sacks for a full season. He's unlikely to challenge DE Coy Bacon's team record 22 sacks in 1976, which the Bengals recognize as the team record. Sacks became an official statistic in 1982, however the Bengals tracked that stat back to '76. Cincinnati's record since 1982 is 13.5 sacks by DE Carlos Dunlap in 2015, and Hendrickson is well on track to challenge that mark.

Bengals great in "middle eight": Much has been made this season of the importance of the "middle eight," a stretch of a game that spans the last four minutes of the first half and first four minutes of the second half. Among the people who have touted the importance of the "middle eight" have been former NFL GM Michael Lombardi and current Buccaneers QB Tom Brady.

"The 'middle eight' minutes of the game are so important to the overall outcome," Brady said earlier this year on ESPN's Monday Night Football broadcast with Peyton and Eli Manning. "Who wins the end of the first half and then the start of the third quarter? A lot of times when you defer and you get the ball on offense (to start the second half), you can create a 14-point swing without them ever touching the ball if you score before the half and then you score coming out in the third quarter. You definitely don't want to give the ball back to your opponents (at the end of the half). We always call it "the last shot" in basketball — you don't want to come down and throw up a three-pointer with 18 seconds left on the shot clock."

So how do the Bengals stack up with the rest of the league during the "middle eight?" They're among the best in the NFL this season, and their plus-26 point differential equates to a 2.9-point per game edge in that time period.

Here's a look at the teams this season with the largest point differential in the time period spanning the last four minutes of the first half and first four minutes of the second half.

TEAM	POINT DIFFERENTIAL
Buffalo Bills.....	+48
Cleveland Browns.....	+47
L.A. Rams.....	+42
Cincinnati Bengals.....	+26
New Orleans Saints.....	+24

Bengals carry "Mo" into halftime: The Bengals this season have scored a combined 40 points in the last two minutes of the first half. That total is third among all NFL teams. When divided out among Cincinnati's nine games, that's an average of 4.4 points per game in the last two minutes. The Bengals have gotten points (four TDs, four FGs) in the last two minutes of the first half in seven of their nine games this season.

Here's a look at the NFL teams this season with the most points in the last two minutes before halftime:

TEAM	MOST POINTS IN TWO MINUTES BEFORE HALF
Cleveland Browns.....	42
New Orleans Saints.....	41
Cincinnati Bengals.....	40
Buffalo Bills.....	37
Green Bay Packers.....	34
L.A. Rams.....	34
San Francisco 49ers.....	34
Tampa Bay Buccaneers.....	34

... And come out firing after the break: Not only are the Bengals one of the NFL's top teams at scoring before halftime, they're also among the leaders in points scored (34) on the first possession of the second half. Cincinnati has come away with points on its first offensive possession of the second half in six of its nine games this season (four TDs, two FGs).

It should be noted that the Bengals have received the opening kickoff of the second half in seven of their nine games this year, thanks in large part to a streak of luck that saw them win the opening coin toss in each of their first six games (see item titled "Coin-toss streak ends at 11" on page nine). The Bengals deferred to the second half in each of those six games.

Here's a look at the teams this season with the most points scored on the first offensive possession of the second half:

TEAM	POINTS
Tennessee Titans.....	42
Las Vegas Raiders.....	35
Cincinnati Bengals.....	34
Green Bay Packers.....	34
L.A. Rams.....	33

Burrow surpasses 5K: Bengals QB Joe Burrow surpassed 5000 career passing yards in Game 9 vs. Cleveland this season, in what was just his 19th career game. That made him only the sixth player ever to reach that mark in as few games. Only Patrick Mahomes (16 games) and Justin Herbert (17) reached it quicker. Andrew Luck, Kurt Warner and Marc Bulger also took 19 games to hit the mark.

In Bengals history, Jeff Blake, Andy Dalton and Carson Palmer were previously the quickest to 5000 yards, but it took them 22 games each.

Earlier this season, Burrow surpassed 4000 passing yards in just his 16th game. That was two games quicker than Blake and Palmer (18) for fastest by a Bengal.

Recapping Burrow's NFL journey: Bengals QB Joe Burrow has returned healthy this year after his rookie campaign last season ended due to a left knee injury suffered early in the third quarter of Cincinnati's Nov. 22 game at Washington. With one of the top statistical seasons by any rookie in Bengals history cut short, the 24-year old Burrow had surgery on Dec. 2 and then embarked on a long rehab process. He was medically cleared in time to take the first snap of training camp on July 28, and participated fully in every practice (save for one scheduled rest day). Bengals coaches played it safe with Burrow in preseason though, limiting him to just three snaps, which came in the preseason finale vs. Miami.

Shortly after his injury last season, Burrow had vowed publicly that he would start Cincinnati's 2021 season opener. On Sept. 12 vs. Minnesota, a little more than nine months after his injury, he not only made good on that promise, he posted then-career highs in passer rating (128.8), completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempt (9.67) in a dramatic Bengals OT win. Burrow's 46-yard drive in the waning minutes of OT set up a game-winning FG as time expired.

Burrow this season has completed 195 of 286 passes (68.2 percent) for 2497 yards, 20 TDs and 11 INTs (102.6 rating).

Burrow's two-TD streak ends at eight: Second-year Bengals QB Joe Burrow tossed at least two TDs in each of Cincinnati's first eight games this season. That streak ended in Game 9 vs. Cleveland, when he was held without a TD pass for the first time this season.

The only other rookie or second-year player to begin a season with at least two TDs in as many games was Pro Football Hall of Fame QB Dan Marino, who tossed at least two TDs in each of his team's first 10 games in 1984 (his second season).

Burrow's college connections: Bengals QB Joe Burrow may only be in his second NFL season, but he has plenty familiar faces around him in Cincinnati. There are six current Bengals who played with Burrow in college at either Ohio State or LSU, meaning 12.0 percent of Burrow's 50 Bengals teammates suited up with him for at least one season in college.

The Bengals also have two practice squad players who played with Burrow, along with one assistant coach — assistant WRs coach Brad Kragthorpe — who was on LSU's staff in 2018, Burrow's first season with the Tigers.

Here's a look at the current Bengals who played with Burrow in college, along with the years they played together. Burrow played at Ohio State from 2015-17, and at Louisiana State from '18-19:

NAME	POSITION	SCHOOL	SEASONS WITH BURROW
Eli Apple	CB	Ohio State.....	2015
Vonn Bell	S	Ohio State.....	2015
Ja'Marr Chase	WR	Louisiana State.....	2018-19
Sam Hubbard	DE	Ohio State.....	2015-17
Isaiah Prince	OT	Ohio State.....	2015-17
Tyler Shelvin	DT	Louisiana State.....	2018-19
Keandre Jones*	LB	Ohio State.....	2016-17
Thaddeus Moss*	TE	Louisiana State.....	2018-19

* — Asterisk denotes practice squad player.

Chase, Burrow reunite in Cincinnati: One of the most statistically accomplished QB-WR duos in college football history has reunited this season in Cincinnati. Bengals QB Joe Burrow, the No. 1 overall pick in the 2020 draft, and WR Ja'Marr Chase, the No. 5 overall pick in the '21 draft, are teammates again after helping power the Louisiana State Tigers to a college football national championship in 2019.

With Burrow as his QB in 2019, Chase set single-season SEC records for receiving yards (1780) and TDs (20), en route to winning the Biletnikoff Award as college football's top receiver. Burrow, of course, went on to win the Heisman Trophy as college football's top player that year, after setting numerous NCAA and SEC passing records.

So far this season, Burrow and Chase have connected on 44 passes for 835 yards (19.0 average) and seven TDs.

Chase nearing Bengals rookie records: Bengals WR Ja'Marr Chase this season has had what already could be considered one the top rookie seasons in team history. That claim figures to be cemented in the coming weeks, as Chase continues his climb up Cincinnati's rookie receiving record books.

Chase has three 100-yard receiving games this season, and could tie WR A.J. Green's team rookie record (four) this Sunday. He currently is tied with WRs Isaac Curtis and Eddie Brown for second-most by a Bengals rookie.

Chase has seven receiving TDs, which already is tied with Green for fourth-most by a Bengals rookie. Curtis (nine) holds the team rookie record, and WR Cris Collinsworth and Brown (eight) are tied for second.

Chase currently has 44 receptions. Collinsworth and WR Tee Higgins (67) share the team's rookie record in that category, with Green (65), HB Giovani Bernard (56), WR Tyler Boyd (54) and Brown (53) rounding out the top five.

Chase currently has 835 receiving yards. Green (1057) holds the team's rookie record, and Collinsworth (1009), Brown (942), Higgins (908) and WR Darnay Scott (896) round out the top five.

Chase second through nine games: Bengals rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase this season has 835 receiving yards, the second-most in NFL history by any player through their first nine career games. His receiving yardage total ranks fifth leaguely among all players this season.

The most receiving yards in NFL history through 10 games is 978, by Bill Groman in 1960. Chase enters this weekend's game 143 yards shy of that figure.

Here's a look at the players with the most receiving yardage in NFL history through their first nine games.

PLAYER	TEAM	YEAR	YARDS
Marques Colston	New Orleans Saints	2006	869
Ja'Marr Chase	Cincinnati Bengals	2021	835
Odell Beckham Jr.	N.Y. Giants	2014	829
Harlon Hill	Chicago Bears	1954	810
Bill Groman	Houston Oilers	1960	796

The rundown on Chase: Bengals rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase has lit up the record books so far in his young career. Here's a rundown of some of his accomplishments to this point in the season.

- Chase leads all rookies in receiving yardage (835) and receiving TDs (seven). Among all players, he is fifth in receiving yards and tied for fifth in receiving TDs.
- He is tied for the NFL lead in receptions of 40 yards or longer (six), and is tied for third in receptions of 20 yards or longer (14).
- He is the second rookie in NFL history to record at least 50 receiving yards in each of his first seven games. Detroit WR Earl McCullough, who at one time was the world-record holder in the 110-meter hurdles, also did it in 1968. Chase's streak ended in Game 8 at the N.Y. Jets.
- He is one of two players in NFL history with a reception of at least 30 yards in each of their first seven career games. McCullough is the other. Chase's streak ended in Game 8 at the N.Y. Jets.
- His 201 receiving yards on Oct. 24 at Baltimore stand as the second-most among all players in a single game this season.
- In Game 7 at Baltimore, Chase (21 years, 237 days) became the second-youngest player ever to record at least 200 receiving yards in a single game (Mike Evans; 21 years, 87 days).
- In Game 1 vs. Minnesota, his NFL debut, he became the youngest (21 years, 195 days) Bengal ever to top 100 receiving yards

Two big days for "Uno": WR Ja'Marr Chase, who is the first player in Bengals history to wear uniform No. 1 and has thus earned the nickname "Uno" among fans, is already taking aim at Cincinnati's rookie receiving record book.

Despite being just nine games into his first NFL season, "Uno" already has two of the three highest single-game receiving yardage outputs by a rookie in team history. His first entry came on Oct. 10 vs. Green Bay, when he recorded 159 yards on nine catches, including a 70-yard TD just before halftime. It should be noted that the Packers game went into overtime, and that Chase had one catch for 21 yards in the extra period.

Then, on Oct. 24 at Baltimore, he exploded for a Bengals rookie record 201 receiving yards on eight catches, including an 82-yard bomb in the third quarter that widened Cincinnati's lead to 10 points. At the time he was 21 years and 237 days old, making him the second-youngest player in NFL history to record at least 200 receiving yards in a single game.

Here's a look at the best single-game receiving yardage totals by Bengals rookies.

BENGALS ROOKIE	DATE/OPPONENT	REC. YARDS
WR Ja'Marr Chase	10-24-2021 at Baltimore	201
WR Speedy Thomas	12-14-69 at Denver	177
WR Ja'Marr Chase	10-11-21 vs. Green Bay (OT)	159
WR Darnay Scott	11-6-94 at Seattle (OT)	157
WR Speedy Thomas	10-19-69 vs. Denver	155
WR Darnay Scott	10-30-94 vs. Dallas	155

Chase heats up before halftime: Take a quick glance at the stat sheet, and it's clear that Bengals rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase has quickly become one of the most dangerous offensive weapons in the NFL. But as close observers of the Bengals will point out, Chase's big-play ability has been most evident in the waning moments of the first half.

Chase this season leads the NFL in TDs (three) and receiving yards (233) in the final two minutes of the first half, and his five catches of at least 20 yards during that time period also lead the league.

In a season already full of highlights, Chase's fireworks before halftime have helped Cincinnati seize momentum going into the locker room. Here's a look at Chase's game-changing plays just before halftime:

- In Game 1 vs. Minnesota, Chase hauled in a 50-yard bomb from Burrow with 42 seconds left in the half to score his first career TD and give the Bengals a 14-7 lead heading into the locker room.
- In Game 3 at Pittsburgh, Chase got behind the defense again and made a fingertip grab for a 34-yard TD with 43 seconds left, helping Cincinnati to a 14-7 halftime lead.
- In Game 5 vs. Green Bay, QB Joe Burrow extended the play and rolled right to find Chase streaking across the field for a 70-yard TD with 50 seconds remaining, cutting the Packers' lead to two at halftime.
- In Game 6 at Detroit, Chase caught a 34-yard pass down the sideline with 23 seconds remaining, and while he didn't find the end zone, the play got the Bengals into Lions territory and set up a FG three plays later that gave the Bengals a 10-point lead at halftime.
- In Game 7 at Baltimore, Chase caught three passes for 45 yards on Cincinnati's final drive of the first half, which ended with a FG. Those three catches included a 26-yarder to the Baltimore 19-yard line.

That didn't take long: Bengals rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase, the team's first-round pick in April's draft, notched his first career multi-TD game on Sept. 26 at Pittsburgh. Those two TD grabs (nine and 34 yards) made him the first NFL rookie this year with a multi-TD game, and the first Bengal rookie to reach pay dirt twice since Tee Higgins did it last year.

Higgins recorded his first multi-TD game on Sept. 27, 2020, which at the time was the earliest a Bengals rookie had ever achieved the feat. Chase, though, can now lay claim to it, after his two-TD performance against Pittsburgh came just one day earlier — Sept. 26, 2021. It should be noted that both players recorded their first multi-TD games in Week 3 of their respective seasons.

Chase also now stands as one of only six Bengal rookies ever to catch at least two TDs in a game. The others are Higgins (Sept. 27, 2020 at Philadelphia), Mohamed Sanu (Nov. 25, 2012 vs. Oakland), Darnay Scott (Oct. 30, 1994 vs. Dallas), Cris Collinsworth (Nov. 29, 1981 at Cleveland), and Isaac Curtis (Dec. 9, 1973 vs. Cleveland, and Dec. 16, 1973 at Houston).

Tee continues rookie momentum: Bengals WR Tee Higgins this season has continued the momentum he built during his rookie campaign in 2020. Higgins, a second-round pick of the Bengals in 2020, missed two games earlier this season due to a shoulder injury but still has 38 catches for 431 yards and two TDs.

Last year, Higgins' 67 catches tied with former WR Cris Collinsworth for the most by a rookie in team history, while his team-high 908 receiving yards were good for the fourth-most ever by a Bengal rookie. He also hauled in six TD catches, tied for fifth-most ever by a Bengal rookie. He finished the season ranked third leaguely in catches, yards and TDs by a rookie.

Higgins this season has drawn praise from numerous Bengals coaches and teammates for transforming his body over the offseason. "My biggest thing was to get stronger," Higgins said over the summer. "I didn't do any routes, I didn't run. I was just really in the weight room for the most part. Then, once I was able to actually get on the field and do like a workout or something, I just went out there and it felt good. I just felt like I had to get stronger, so I focused a little bit more on the weight room. Now I'm weighing like 220 (pounds), and it feels good. Last year I came in at like 220, but it was too heavy for me, so I had to lose a few pounds. Now it feels really good and I feel even faster."

Bengals tough when Mixon hits 20 carries: The Bengals hold a 9-7 record when HB Joe Mixon reaches the 20-carry mark. And in those 16 games, Mixon has topped 100 rushing yards 10 times. Nine of his last 12 games with 20 carries have resulted in 100-yard rushing performances.

The Bengals are 1-1 this year when Mixon hits the mark — he had 29 carries for 127 yards (4.4 average) in a win over Minnesota in the season opener, and 20 carries for 69 yards in a Week 2 loss at Chicago. Last year, despite being limited by a foot injury to just six games, Mixon hit the 20-carry mark twice, and the Bengals were 1-1 in those contests.

Mixon nearing 4K: Bengals HB Joe Mixon has 3995 career rushing yards, sixth-most in team history, and stands just five yards shy of becoming the sixth Bengal ever to rush for 4000 career yards.

Mixon passed RB Harold Green (3727) for sixth place on the team's all-time rushing list in Game 5 vs. Green Bay. He currently stands 181 shy of HB Cedric Benson (4176) for fifth place.

Here's a look at the Bengals' all-time rushing leaders.

PLAYER	RUSH YARDS	YEARS
Corey Dillon	8061	1997-2003
James Brooks	6447	1984-91
Rudi Johnson	5472	2001-07
Pete Johnson	5421	1977-83
Cedric Benson	4176	2008-11
Joe Mixon	3995	2017-present

Mixon nearing 4K/1K feat: Bengals HB Joe Mixon currently stands at 3995 career rushing yards and 1202 receiving yards. This Sunday at Las Vegas, he can become just the fourth Bengal ever to reach 4000 career rushing yards and 1000 receiving yards, joining Corey Dillon, James Brooks and Pete Johnson.

Sunday will be Mixon's 60th career game, which means that if he gains the necessary five rushing yards to hit 4000 for his career, he will have accomplished the 4000/1000 feat 11 games quicker than the next-quickest Bengal (Dillon, 71).

It took Mixon just 50 games to reach 3000 rushing and 1000 receiving yards, which was 11 games quicker than the next-fastest Bengal (Brooks, 61).

Here's a look at the fastest players ever to top 4000 career rushing yards and 1000 career receiving yards in a Bengals uniform (it should be noted that Brooks began his career with the San Diego Chargers from 1981-83; however, the data counts only rushing/receiving yardage and games played as a Bengal):

NAME	BENGALS GAMES TO REACH 4K/1K
Corey Dillon	71
James Brooks	76
Pete Johnson	77

Mixon secures the rock: Not only is Bengals HB Joe Mixon considered one of the top rushers in the NFL, he's also proven effective at protecting the football. Mixon has fumbled just five times (two lost) since entering the league in 2017, a span that covers 1113 combined touches on offense (962 rushes, 151 catches). That includes just two fumbles (one lost) since the start of 2018. He also put together a streak of 541 consecutive rushing attempts without a fumble (ended in Game 1 last season), which was the second-longest by a Bengal since the Elias Sports Bureau began tracking the stat in 1990.

Mixon has a current streak of 251 rushes without a fumble, dating back to his fumble in the 2020 opener. He does have one fumble this season, but it came on a pass play (he also recovered it).

Here's a look at the longest streaks of rushing attempts by a Bengal without a fumble since 1990:

NFL PLAYER	CARRIES WITHOUT A FUMBLE	SEASONS SPANNED
Giovani Bernard	829	2013-20
Joe Mixon	541	2017-20
Harold Green	298	1991-93
Jeremy Hill	282	2015-17
Cedric Benson	260	2010-11

Bengals improve 2020 pass rush: Over the offseason, one of the primary areas of focus for the Bengals was to improve a pass-rush that last year totaled a league-low 17 sacks. Injuries were a key factor a year ago, especially toward the end of the season, but Cincinnati still approached free agency and the draft intent on boosting the defensive line.

So far, it's worked. Through 10 weeks this season (including a bye), Cincinnati ranks tied for 10th leaguewide with 25 sacks, eight more than last season's 16-game total. DE Trey Hendrickson, one of the team's key acquisitions in free agency last March, leads the team and is seventh leaguewide with 8.5 sacks. At the end of last season, that total would have led the team. Seven Bengals have gotten into the sack column this season, including DT Larry Ogunjobi (3.5), another 2021 free agent acquisition, DT B.J. Hill (three), who was acquired in a trade just before the regular season, and DE Cam Sample (one), who was one of four defensive linemen Cincinnati selected in April's draft. The revamped defensive line has accounted for all but one of the team's sacks this season, and DE Sam Hubbard (five) is the only defender in the sack column who was with Cincinnati prior to the 2020 season.

"We've got a band of guys that are all in the same kind of age group," said DT D.J. Reader, who played just five games a year ago due to injury. "We're all similar in ways that we're all competitors. Everybody's competitive. And everybody is on the board right now. Everybody has a sack so now it's just we're all hunting together."

Hendrickson's sack streak at five: Bengals DE Trey Hendrickson has recorded a sack in each of the Bengals' last five games, good for the second-longest active streak in the NFL. Hendrickson has 8.5 sacks on the season (seventh in the NFL), and has recorded a sack in seven of Cincinnati's nine contests this year.

Here's a look at the players with the longest active sack streaks in the NFL.

PLAYER	TEAM	GAMES
DE Myles Garrett	Cleveland Browns	6
DE Trey Hendrickson	Cincinnati Bengals	5
LB T.J. Watt	Pittsburgh Steelers	4

Hendrickson on torrid sack pace: DE Trey Hendrickson is in his first season with the Bengals, but he's already making an impact in the sack column.

Hendrickson, one of the headliners of Cincinnati's free agency haul in March, has a team-high 8.5 sacks through just nine games. That total would have led the team for all of last season.

It's still early, but Hendrickson is on pace for 16 sacks for a full 17-game season, which would be second-most in team history between DE Coy Bacon's team-record 22 in 1976, and DE Carlos Dunlap's 13.5 in 2015. It would also make him the first Bengal with double-digit sacks since former DT Geno Atkins' 10 in 2018.

Last season with New Orleans, Hendrickson had 13.5 sacks, tied for the NFC lead and tied for second-most leaguewide. And since the beginning of the 2020 season, Hendrickson's 22 sacks are tied with Carolina LB Haason Reddick for third-most in the NFL, behind only Pittsburgh's T.J. Watt (27.5) and Cleveland's Myles Garrett (25.0).

Hubbard a Day 2 draft steal: DE Sam Hubbard, a third-round pick (77th overall) of the Bengals in 2018, ranks second in sacks (21.5) among all players from the '18 rookie class (draft picks and college free agents).

Players' listed positions vary by media outlet (e.g. whether a player is classified as a LB or DE), but according to NFL.com's draft record, Hubbard was the 13th defensive lineman selected in 2018 — five DEs and seven DTs came off the board before him. According to NFL.com, there were a total of 40 defensive linemen (20 DEs, 20 DTs) selected in the 2018 draft, along with 32 linebackers and one player classified as "EDGE." There were also, of course, numerous undrafted rookies in 2018.

Hubbard has been the Bengals' starting RDE since 2019, and signed a contract extension with the Bengals in July that keeps him in Cincinnati through the end of the 2025 season.

Here's a look at the career sack leaders from the rookie class of 2018:

PLAYER/POSITION	TEAM	PICK (ROUND)	SACKS
Harold Landry/EDGE	Tennessee	No. 41 (2nd)	29.0
Sam Hubbard/DE	Cincinnati	No. 77 (3rd)	21.5
Bradley Chubb/DE	Denver	No. 5 (1st)	20.5
Marcus Davenport/DE	New Orleans	No. 14 (1st)	16.0
Darius Leonard/OLB	Indianapolis	No. 36 (2nd)	15.0

Healthy Reader leads stout D-line: During the 2020 offseason, the Bengals made one of the most significant free agency splashes in team history when they signed DT D.J. Reader to a lucrative four-year contract that lasts through the 2023 season. Big things were expected of Reader, but his impact in 2020 was short-lived after he suffered a season-ending left quad injury in the fifth game.

This year, the 6-3, 347-pound Reader has returned healthy and proven his value as a leader and physical presence in the middle of the defensive line. And while the impact of interior defensive linemen is often difficult to quantify with statistics, consider that Cincinnati's run defense ranks eighth in the NFL (100.9 yards/game allowed) this season compared to 29th a year ago (148.0) and 32nd the year before (148.9).

Another measure of the impact of an interior defensive lineman — particularly a nose tackle — is the play of the linebackers behind them. This season, Cincinnati’s linebacker play has been among the brightest and most-improved spots on the defense. Leading the way has been second-year pro Logan Wilson, who ranks tied for fourth in the NFL in INTs (four) and leads the team in tackles (76).

But perhaps the most impressive part of Reader’s 2021 season thus far has been his recovery from the aforementioned quad injury. He recently talked about the severity of it on the Bengals Booth Podcast with Bengals play-by-play radio announcer Dan Hoard.

“I ruptured the tendon, so it was pretty severe,” Reader said. “The first six weeks after surgery, you can’t move. You have to keep it straight because the tendon has to repair. And then it was a nine-month rehab. They say it only has about a 50 percent ‘return’ rate — not very high — but it’s gotten better with modern medicine and the surgeries.

“Sleeping was probably the hardest thing, because you can’t move at all — you have to sleep on your back, you have to keep it straight, and you’re in a brace.”

Reader has started every game at NT this season, and has 28 tackles and a sack.

Logan tied for fourth in NFL in INTs: Bengals second-year LB Logan Wilson has turned heads this season as one of the team’s top defensive players. The 2020 third-round pick has four INTs so far this season, tied for third in the AFC and tied for fourth leaguewide. No other linebacker has more than two INTs. Wilson’s four picks are the most by a Bengals LB in a season since Odell Thurman’s five in 2005.

Wilson has also been strong against the run. His 76 tackles lead the team by a wide margin, and he has led the Bengals in tackles in five of their nine games this season.

As a rookie last season, Wilson was eased into the regular defensive rotation and then battled injuries late in the year. This season, he was assigned the green dot on his helmet as the team’s designated communicator, and has been credited by teammates for being a vocal leader.

“He has a huge responsibility on his shoulders this year,” DE Trey Hendrickson said of Wilson. “He’s taken in a lot in just two years, and you wouldn’t know that he’s a second-year guy. He’s our play-caller out there, and he’s getting the calls out quickly. That’s what we need from a guy inside like that. And he’s got hands too.”

Mr. Reliable wears No. 30: Jessie Bates earned a starting S spot midway through his first preseason in Cincinnati, and he hasn’t looked back since. The 2018 second-round pick started 51 straight games to begin his Bengals career — that’s three full seasons plus three games — until a neck injury ended his streak in the fourth game of 2021 (Sept. 30 vs. Jacksonville). He missed just that one game before returning to the starting lineup the next week vs. Green Bay.

Still, Bates’ streak of 51 is tied for the sixth-most consecutive starts by a player to begin their career as a Bengal, and the second-most by a defender. Had he started the Jacksonville game, he would have tied former LB Takeo Spikes (52) for most starts to begin a career by a Bengals defender.

Here’s a look at the players with the most consecutive starts to begin a Bengals career:

PLAYER	CONSECUTIVE STARTS TO BEGIN CAREER
C Bob Johnson	94
QB Andy Dalton	77
TE Dan Ross	65
C Russell Bodine	64
LB Takeo Spikes	52
S Jessie Bates	51
LB Bill Bergey	51

Bell rings of reliability: One of Cincinnati’s most trusted leaders and consistent players on the field over the last two seasons has been S Vonn Bell. The sixth-year pro joined the Bengals as an unrestricted free agent prior to the 2020 season, and then proceeded to play in every snap of his first 20 games with the team. His streak of consecutive snaps was broken in Cincinnati’s 34-11 win at Detroit on Oct. 17, when the starters were rested late in the fourth quarter.

And although he has missed a few more snaps since that game in Detroit, Bell still leads defense in snaps played (593 of 619) this season. In his now 24 career Bengals games, he has seen action on 1652 of 1678 possible defensive snaps (98.5 percent).

Bell has been a captain in both of his Bengals seasons. He ranks second on the team in tackles (56) this year, after leading the team in that category (114) last season.

Special teams soar under Simmons: Over the 19-year tenure of Darrin Simmons, the Bengals have consistently boasted one of the top special teams units in the NFL. Simmons in 2020 added the title of assistant head coach to his usual role as special teams coordinator, a nod to a successful run that has seen 17 of his pupils appear in the team’s record book.

Here’s an overview of Simmons’ players’ dominance in the records (for more info, see the Bengals’ records section on page 168 in the 2020 media guide):

- The three most accurate FG kickers (by career percentage) in team history — Shayne Graham, Randy Bullock, and Mike Nugent — were all coached by Simmons for their entire Bengals careers. Simmons has also been at the helm for each of the six most accurate single seasons by Bengals kickers.
- The five longest consecutive FG streaks in team history have all come under Simmons’ watch, as have three of the five longest PAT streaks.
- Simmons, who punted at the University of Kansas, has had particular success coaching his former position. Current P Kevin Huber holds the top spot in every Bengals career punting category, along with the top five single seasons for gross average, net average and inside-20s. Former P Kyle Larson, who spent his entire Bengals term (2004-08) under Simmons, ranks within the top four in every career punting category, and shares with Huber the record for longest punt in team history (75 yards).
- Simmons has coached three of the Bengals’ top four leaders in career punt return average — Adam Jones, Quan Cosby and Peter Warrick.
- Simmons has coached four of the team’s top six leaders in career kickoff return average — Jones, Alex Erickson, Bernard Scott, Glenn Holt — along with five of the six best single seasons by a kickoff returner (based on yards per kickoff return).

And although the category is not kept as an official team record, it should be noted that LS Clark Harris has executed 1776 deep snaps without a single unplayable delivery since joining the Bengals in mid-2009.

Simmons has also coached four players who have made the Pro Bowl as special teamers — Huber, Jones, Harris and HB Cedric Peerman.

McPherson the youngest with OT winner: Bengals rookie K Evan McPherson made his NFL debut in style on Sept. 12 vs. Minnesota, booting a game-winning 33-yard FG as time expired in OT.

McPherson, a fifth-round pick of the Bengals in April’s draft, chose to forgo his final year of college eligibility to enter the NFL draft, and thus is among the youngest Bengals on the roster. At the time of his game-winner against Minnesota, which he says was the first “walk-off” kick of his career on any level, he was 22 years and 53 days old (born 7-21-99), making him the youngest player in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG in overtime. It also made him just the second rookie kicker in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG with no time remaining in OT (the other was Miami K Jason Sanders in 2018). Earlier in the game, McPherson became the youngest Bengal ever to kick a FG or PAT.

So far this season, McPherson has made all 27 of his PATs and 11 of his 14 FGs, including three 50-plus yarders and two game-winners as time expired (33 and 35 yards).

Here’s a look at the youngest players in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG in OT:

PLAYER	TEAM	DATE/OPPONENT	AGE
Evan McPherson	Cincinnati	9-12-2021 vs. Minn.	22 years, 53 days
Pete Stoyanovich	Miami	10-8-1989 vs. Cle.	22 years, 163 days
Wade Richey	San Francisco	12-6-1998 at Car.	22 years, 201 days
Ali Haji-Sheikh	N.Y. Giants	9-11-1983 at Atl.	22 years, 243 days
Blair Walsh	Minnesota	9-9-2012 vs. Jax.	22 years, 245 days

... Make that two walk-offs: Bengals rookie K Evan McPherson said before the season that he had never, at any level of football, even been in a position to kick a game-winning FG or PAT as time expired — a “walk-off,” if you will. He wasted no time changing that in the NFL, when in the season-opener — his NFL debut — he nailed a 33-yarder as time expired in OT to give Cincinnati a dramatic 27-24 win. He did it again three weeks later, in Cincinnati’s Sept. 30 Thursday Night Football matchup vs. Jacksonville, this time converting a 35-yarder as time expired in regulation to give the Bengals a 24-21 win.

For what it’s worth, McPherson has a long way to go to catch former Bengals K Jim Breech, whose 10 “walk-off” kicks (FG or PAT) with no time remaining stand as the most in team history.

But at 21 years old, McPherson does stand as the youngest player in NFL history with two “walk-off” kicks.

Here’s a look at the youngest kickers in NFL history at the time of their second game-winning FG with no time remaining:

PLAYER	TEAM	AGE
Evan McPherson	Cincinnati Bengals	22 years, 71 days
Blair Walsh	Minnesota Vikings	22 years, 357 days
Justin Tucker	Baltimore Ravens	23 years, four days
Morten Andersen	New Orleans Saints	23 years, 51 days
Matt Bahr	Pittsburgh Steelers	23 years, 142 days

Huber among NFL’s best at pinning ’em: As the evidence shows, no Bengals punter has ever been nearly as successful as Kevin Huber at pinning opponents inside the 20-yard line. The 2009 fifth-round draft choice currently has 330 career inside-20 punts, a margin of more than 100 over the next-best in team history (Lee Johnson, 186).

But the numbers also show that Huber is among the best active punters in the NFL at pinning opponents deep.

Here’s a look at the five active punters with the most career inside-20 punts:

PUNTER	TEAM	NFL EXP.	CAREER INSIDE-20s
Dustin Colquitt	Atlanta	17	476
Andy Lee	Arizona	18	455
Sam Koch	Baltimore	16	442
Brett Kern	Tennessee	14	386
Kevin Huber	Cincinnati	13	330

Huber, Harris chasing down Riley: One of the most prestigious Bengals records in existence, and one that has stood for 38 years, could be matched by the end of the 2021 season. Longtime CB Ken Riley’s Bengals record 207 games played is currently eight clear of current P Kevin Huber (199), meaning that if Huber plays in each of the Bengals’ eight remaining games this season, he would tie The Rattler’s historic mark that has stood since his retirement in 1983.

In Game 3 vs. Pittsburgh, Huber passed QB Ken Anderson (192) for third place all-time in career games played as a Bengal. He now trails only LB Reggie Williams (206) and Riley (207).

Not far behind that group is current LS Clark Harris (193 games played), who has snapped to Huber since joining Cincinnati midway through the 2009 season. Harris now stands fourth in career games as a Bengal, and this season has passed Pro Football Hall of Famer Anthony Munoz (185), DT Tim Krumrie (188) and Anderson (192).

Here’s a look at the players with the most career games played as a Bengal:

PLAYER	GAMES AS A BENGAL	YEARS
CB Ken Riley	207	1969-83
LB Reggie Williams	206	1976-85
P Kevin Huber	199	2009-present
LS Clark Harris	193	2009-present
QB Ken Anderson	192	1971-86
DT Tim Krumrie	188	1983-94
OT Anthony Munoz	185	1980-92

The Huber roundup: Bengals P Kevin Huber, a 2009 Bengals fifth-round pick who is now in his 13th season in stripes, has long been considered the top punter in team history. He has cemented that legacy in recent seasons by taking over the top spot in the few remaining career punting categories he did not already own.

Huber now stands first in team history in the following categories:

- Punts (950)
- Punting yards (43,032)
- Gross average (45.30)
- Net average (40.24)
- Inside-20 punts (330)

Huber has also taken over many of the Bengals’ single-season and single-game records. Among them are:

- He holds the top five Bengals season averages in both gross and net punting yardage, and in 2020, his 12th NFL season, he re-set his own single-season team records in both categories (47.18 gross, 42.82 net).

- He shares the team record for longest punt (75 yards) with Kyle Larson.
- His 33 inside-20 punts in 2012 is a single-season franchise record.
- His six inside-20 punts on Sept. 14, 2017 vs. Houston are tied with Lee Johnson (Nov. 2, 1997) for the most in a game in Bengals history.

Roster flip noticeable in Year 3: Zac Taylor took over as Bengals head coach in 2019, and throughout his now three-year tenure there has been a steady but noticeable churn of the roster. Of the 51 players on the current roster (as of Tuesday, Nov. 16), only 11 suited up as Bengals prior to Taylor’s arrival. That means 40 current Bengals — or 78.4 percent of the roster — have joined Cincinnati since 2019.

Cincinnati’s roster overhaul has hit overdrive since the end of last season. Twenty-two current Bengals — that’s 43.1 percent of the 51-player roster — had never suited up in a game for Cincinnati prior to the 2021 regular season. (It should be noted that figure includes OT Isaiah Prince, who was with Cincinnati previously but never played).

Recent acquisitions boost Bengals: Cincinnati’s player personnel department has struck gold in acquiring new top talent in each of the last two years. On top of solid drafts (see next item titled “2020 rookies continue to deliver”), the team has unearthed a bounty of player production in free agency, as well as a trade.

Here’s a look at how some of the team’s 2020 and ’21 additions are faring this season (all are unrestricted free agent additions, unless otherwise noted):

ACQUIRED, PLAYER	'21 G/S	NOTES
2020, S Vonn Bell	9/9	Starting S and team captain
2020, DT D.J. Reader	9/9	Starting NT
2020, G Quinton Spain (waivers)	9/9	Starting G (re-signed as UFA in March)
2020, G Xavier Su’a-Filo	2/2	Starting G (though currently on R/I)
2020, WR Mike D. Thomas	6/1	Reserve WR; special teamer
2020, CB Trae Waynes	2/2	Starting CB (though currently on R/I)
2021, S Ricardo Allen (free agent)	6/0	Key reserve; veteran leader
2021, CB Eli Apple (free agent)	9/8	Key reserve turned starter
2021, CB Chidobe Awuzie	8/8	Starting CB
2021, DE Trey Hendrickson	9/8	Starting DE; leads team in sacks (8.5)
2021, DT B.J. Hill (trade)	9/0	Key reserve with three sacks
2021, CB Mike Hilton	9/3	Starting nickel CB
2021, DT Larry Ogunjobi	9/9	Starting DT (three-technique); 3.5 sacks
2021, OT Larry Reiff	9/9	Starting ROT

2020 rookies continue to deliver: Cincinnati’s 2020 draft class combined to play in 96 games (33 starts) as rookies, just three games shy of the most by a Bengals draft class (99 in 2017) since the draft went to seven rounds in 1994. Consider also that the 2020 class was just seven players, while the 2017 class was 11 players.

After being leaned upon heavily as rookies, Cincinnati’s 2020 draft class has continued to deliver, combining to play in 46 games (26 starts) this season. It should be noted, though, that two 2020 draft picks — OT Hakeem Adeniji and DE Khalid Kareem — missed a combined 15 games early in the season while on reserve lists. The other five players all made the active roster out of training camp and have been regular contributors all season.

Here is the 2020 Bengals draft class: QB Joe Burrow (first round), WR Tee Higgins (second), LB Logan Wilson (third), LB Akeem Davis-Gaither (fourth), Kareem (fifth), Adeniji (sixth), LB Markus Bailey (seventh).

Bengals tap Senior Bowl pipeline: One of the key factors in Cincinnati’s success in the draft the last two years has been the team’s ability to identify prospects at the Senior Bowl, a college all-star game held each January that serves as the unofficial start to the pre-draft process.

The Bengals have drafted seven players over the last two years who participated in the Senior Bowl, and all seven are still with the team. Four are on the active roster — OT Hakeem Adeniji (2020, sixth round), HB Chris Evans (’21 sixth round), DE Cam Sample (’21, fourth round) and LB Logan Wilson (’20, third round) — while the other three are on reserve lists — LB Akeem Davis-Gaither (’20, fourth round; Reserve/Injured), DE Wyatt Hubert (’21 seventh round; Reserve/Non-Football Injury) and G D’Ante Smith (’21, fourth round; Reserve/Injured).

Zac Taylor and the rest of the Bengals staff coached the South team at the 2020 Senior Bowl, and Davis-Gaither was on their roster. Wilson and Adeniji were on the North team that year, however coaches cite their close exposure to both during that experience as a major reason they ended up in Cincinnati.

Taylor and his staff have attended each of the last two Senior Bowls (2020-21). He was on the Rams' staff in 2018 and was hired by Cincinnati after L.A.'s run to the Super Bowl that year, therefore neither he nor his full coaching staff attended the 2019 Senior Bowl.

25 points does the trick: Since 2011, the Bengals own a 54-6-2 record when scoring 25 or more points. That's good for the second-best winning percentage (.887) in the NFL when topping the 25-point mark over that span.

The Bengals are 8-5 under head coach Zac Taylor (3-1 this season) when reaching the 25-point plateau.

Here are the top five teams in the NFL since 2011, in terms of winning percentage, when hitting the 25-point plateau:

TEAM	WINS	LOSSES	TIES	WINNING PCT.
New England Patriots	96	10	0	.906
Cincinnati Bengals	54	6	2	.887
Denver Broncos	59	8	0	.881
Miami Dolphins	42	6	0	.875
Arizona Cardinals	54	8	1	.865

Tracking weekly/monthly awards: Three different Bengals this season have won a total of four weekly and/or monthly awards given out by the NFL. This year marks the first time in team history that two Bengals rookies (WR Ja'Marr Chase and K Evan McPherson) have won a player of the week award in the same season. Here's a rundown of all the winners:

• K Evan McPherson, Week 1, AFC Special Teams Player of the Week: In what was his NFL debut, the Bengals' rookie fifth-round pick kicked a game-winning 33-yard FG as time expired in OT to give Cincinnati a 27-24 win over Minnesota. At the time, he was 22 years and 53 days old, making him the youngest kicker in NFL history to kick a game-winner in OT. He also was just the second rookie kicker ever to convert a FG as time expired in OT. Earlier in the game, McPherson made his first career NFL field goal, a 53-yarder that counted as the second-longest in the AFC in Week 1.

• QB Joe Burrow, Week 4, AFC Offensive Player of the Week: Burrow threw for 348 yards and two TDs in Cincinnati's Week 4 Thursday Night matchup vs. Jacksonville, while also posting then-career highs in both completion percentage (78.1) and passer rating (132.8) as he helped lead the Bengals to a comeback win. Burrow led Cincinnati to scores on all four of its second-half possessions (TD, TD, TD, FG), and his 10-play, 73-yard drive late in the fourth quarter bled 5:33 off the clock and set up a game-winning FG as time expired. In the second half alone, Burrow completed 17 of 20 passes (85 percent) for 253 yards and two TDs (152.1 rating).

• WR Ja'Marr Chase, September, NFL Offensive Rookie of the Month: The fifth overall pick in the 2021 draft led all rookies in receiving yardage (220) and TDs (four) in September. He was one of just nine rookies ever to catch at least one TD in each of his first three career games, and was one of just three players ever to catch TDs of at least 25 yards in each of his first three career games. He also was the youngest player (21 years old) with four receiving TDs through his first three career games, edging out Pro Football Hall of Famer Randy Moss' three in three games in 1998.

• WR Ja'Marr Chase, Week 7, AFC Offensive Player of the Week: Chase caught eight passes for a Bengals rookie-record 201 receiving yards and a TD in Cincinnati's 41-17 win in Week 7 at Baltimore. His receiving yardage total was the highest in the AFC through seven weeks, and his 82-yard TD in the third quarter was the longest pass play in the AFC through seven weeks. Chase's 754 receiving yards through Week 7 led the AFC and ranked as the most ever by an NFL player through his first seven career games. Chase is the first Bengals rookie WR ever to win AFC Offensive Player of the Week, and the first Bengals rookie (at any position) to win the award since HB Jeremy Hill in 2014. AFC player of the week awards have been issued since 1984.

2021 Bengals captains: Prior to start of the regular season, the Bengals named team captains for 2021 on offense, defense and special teams.

On offense, the captains are second-year QB Joe Burrow, fifth-year HB Joe Mixon and sixth-year WR Tyler Boyd. This is Burrow's second season as a captain, while Mixon and Boyd are first-time captains.

On defense, the captains are fourth-year S Jessie Bates, fourth-year DE Sam Hubbard and sixth-year S Vonn Bell. It's the first captain nod for both Bates and Hubbard, and the second for Bell, who joined the Bengals last season.

The lone captain on special teams is P Kevin Huber, who is the longest-tenured Bengal on the roster at 13 seasons. Huber is 36 years old, while Boyd (27), Bell (26) and Hubbard (26) are the next-oldest captains.

Coin-toss streak ends at 11: Perhaps the luckiest streak in team history came to an end before kickoff in Game 7 at Baltimore this season, when the Bengals lost a coin toss for the first time since late in the 2020 season.

Cincinnati had won the opening coin toss in nine consecutive games, dating back to the team's Dec. 21 Monday Night Football win over Pittsburgh last year. That nine-game stretch included two overtime contests, and the Bengals won the coin tosses prior to the extra period in both of those games.

Add it all up, and Cincinnati won 11 straight coin tosses during that stretch, which equates to one in 2048 odds.

Prior to the coin-toss loss in Baltimore, the last toss that didn't go Cincinnati's way was in Game 13 of 2020 (Dec. 13 vs. Dallas).

Bengals' Nebraska connections: The Bengals have of course drawn attention this season for their many connections to the LSU Tigers, but look closer and you'll find several significant links to another school — the University of Nebraska.

Bengals QB Joe Burrow's father, Jimmy, was a starting safety at Nebraska under Tom Osborne in the mid-1970s, and then later served as an assistant under Huskers head coach Frank Solich from 2000-02. While on Nebraska's staff, Jimmy coached Joe's older brothers, Jamie (MLB) and Dan (S), who helped Nebraska to a berth in the BCS National Championship Game (Rose Bowl) in the 2001 season. Joe was five at the time.

Solich was fired by Nebraska after the 2003 season, but then caught on in '05 as head coach at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio. He promptly hired Jimmy Burrow as defensive coordinator, and the Burrow family moved to Athens, where Joe went on to play in high school and win Ohio's Mr. Football award in 2014.

Solich was replaced at Nebraska by Bill Callahan, who served as Huskers head coach from 2004-07. Bill Callahan is the father of Bengals offensive coordinator Brian Callahan, who at the time of his dad's Nebraska hiring was already a walk-on QB at UCLA. In 2005, Bill Callahan's Huskers got a transfer QB from Butler County (Kan.) Community College by the name of Zac Taylor, who went on to play two seasons with the Huskers and win Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year in his senior season of 2006. Taylor was inducted into the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame in 2017.

Joe Burrow grew up a Nebraska football fan, but says he was not offered a scholarship by the Huskers out of high school or after his transfer from Ohio State in 2018.

Examining Week 1 Bengals since '02: Here's a look at how Cincinnati's opening-week roster this year stacked up with the Bengals' Week 1 rosters of the last 20 seasons (since 2002). All info is according to the NFL's annual kickoff weekend roster info press release, which compares the height, weight, age and experience of all 32 teams in Week 1.

The 2021 Bengals' average height was 6.18 feet, which tied for the fourth-shortest Week 1 roster Cincinnati has had over the last 20 years. The 2002 team (6.11 feet) was the shortest, while the '16 squad (6.22 feet) was the tallest.

This year's Bengals averaged 248.83 pounds, good for the sixth-heaviest opening-week squad Cincinnati has had over the last 20 years. The 2010 team (251.53) was the heaviest, while the '02 squad (244.6) was the lightest.

The players on the Bengals' 2021 opening-week roster averaged 25.68 years old, good for the third-youngest Week 1 roster Cincinnati has had over the last 20 years. The 2018 squad (25.38) was the youngest, while the '06 team (26.57) was the oldest.

This year's Bengals players averaged 3.81 years of NFL experience, the eighth-fewest by a Cincinnati squad over the last 20 years. The 2004 team (3.57) was the least-experienced, while the '15 squad (4.49) was the most-experienced.

The 2021 Bengals had 11 rookie and first-year players on the roster, tied for sixth-most over the last 20 years. The 2017 Bengals (14) had the most rookies and first-year players, while the '13 team (seven) had the fewest.

This year's Bengals had just five players age 30 or older, the second-fewest by a Cincinnati team over the last 20 years. The 2011 Bengals (two) had the fewest players 30 or older, while the '15 team (11) had the most.

The 2021 Bengals had just eight players 200 pounds or lighter, which tied for the third-fewest over the last 17 years (the league's info in this category goes back only to 2005). The 2017 and '19 Bengals (seven) had the fewest, while the '09 team (13) had the most.

This year's Bengals had nine players listed shorter than six feet, which tied for the fifth-fewest in that category over the last 17 years (the league's info in this category goes back only to 2005). The 2008 Bengals (five) had the fewest players under six feet, while the 2004, '10 and '15 teams (all 11) had the most.

Finally, the 2021 Bengals had 14 players who weighed 300 or more pounds, tied with the '08 team for the most in the last 19 years (league info goes back only to 2003). The 2003, '04 and '17 Bengals (all eight) tied for the fewest.

Kickoff weekend roster comparisons: Early this season, the NFL released its annual comparison of rosters throughout the league on kickoff weekend. The data includes comparisons of height, weight, experience and age across all 32 NFL rosters on the Week 1 of the season.

Here's a look at the Bengals' opening-week roster data from each of the last five seasons (all info is according to the NFL's annual kickoff weekend roster comparison press release):

Three Bengals hail from Queen City: The Bengals have three players — DE Sam Hubbard, P Kevin Huber and G Jackson Carman — who grew up in Greater Cincinnati.

Hubbard, a Moeller High School alum and former Ohio State standout, played his third Bengals season, after joining the team as a third-round draft pick (77th overall) in 2018. He is in his third season as a full-time starting DE, and in July signed a contract extension that keeps him in Cincinnati through 2025.

"It's insane," Hubbard said after being drafted. "Seeing that 513 area code pop up on my phone on draft day was just incredible. To get an opportunity to represent Cincinnati for the pro team in this city is a dream come true. I watched every game the Bengals played. I've just always been a big fan."

Huber, an Anderson Township native and alum of McNicholas High School and the University of Cincinnati, was a fifth-round draft choice of the Bengals in 2009. He is the longest-tenured player on the roster and has played in all but two games throughout his career in Cincinnati. He currently stands as the Bengals' career leader in both gross (45.30) and net (40.24) punting average.

Huber and his wife, Mindi, have been active in the local community throughout his Bengals career. The couple started their own charity, The Foundation for Underserved Rescues, which "provides resources and support to underserved Cincinnati-area animal rescues."

Carman, a rookie, is a native of Fairfield, Ohio, a Cincinnati suburb about 35 minutes north of the city. He attended Fairfield High School before playing at Clemson University for three seasons, and then the Bengals selected him in the second round of the 2021 draft.

"As soon as I saw the 513 area code pop up on my phone, everything instantly hit me at once," Carman said on draft night. "It was an amazing feeling. Knowing that I was going to be able to be home, it's indescribable."

These cats can fly: Since 2016, the NFL's Next Gen Stats service has tracked a variety of in-game measurements using GPS trackers and other technology. One of those measurements is the speed — in miles per hour — that ball carriers reach during a given play.

The fastest speed reached by a Bengals ball carrier so far in 2021 came from Joe Mixon, who clocked in at 20.66 MPH on a 19-yard run in the season-opener vs. Minnesota. That run, though, is not among the four fastest by a Bengals ball-carrier since 2016.

Here are Next Gen Stats' fastest Bengals ball carriers since 2016:

PLAYER	SPEED (MPH)	DATE/OPPONENT	PLAY
S Brandon Wilson	22.03	10-13-19 at Balt.	92-yard KOR (TD)
WR Alex Erickson	21.52	12-16-18 vs. Oak.	77-yard KOR
CB William Jackson III	21.52	9-24-17 at G.B.	75-yard INT return (TD)
CB William Jackson III	21.33	9-15-19 vs. S.F.	19-yard INT return

Bengals-Jags most-watched TNF since 2018: The broadcast of the Bengals' Sept. 30 win over the Jacksonville Jaguars on Thursday Night Football drew an average of 8.5 million viewers, which at the time was good for the largest audience of any exclusive TNF game since Week 3 of 2018 (N.Y. Jets vs. Cleveland Browns). The game aired on NFL Network and Yahoo Sports mobile properties, and the viewership measurement includes both television and digital platforms.

By comparison, the Bengals-Jaguars telecast was up 47 percent from last year's Week 4 TNF matchup (Broncos-Jets, 5.8 million viewers), and up 36 percent from the average audience from Weeks 1-3 this season (6.3 million). It was also television's most-watched telecast of the day.

Bengal bites: Rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase, Cincinnati's first-round pick in April's draft, is the first player in Bengals history to wear uniform No. 1 ... According to the NFL's Next Gen Stats service, which tracks players' speed by using GPS, S Brandon Wilson's kickoff return for a TD at Baltimore in 2019 (22.03 MPH) stands as the fastest speed by a Bengal ball-carrier since NGS' launch in '16; The fastest speed by a Bengals ball-carrier in 2021 came from HB Joe Mixon, who reached 20.66 MPH on a 19-yard run in the season-opener vs. Minnesota ... Cincinnati's 19 successful fourth-down conversions in 2020 tied for the second-most in a season in NFL history, just behind the 1996 Chicago Bears (20) ... The longest-tenured player on the roster in 2021 is P Kevin Huber, a 13th-year pro who joined the Bengals as a fifth-round pick in 2009 ... The oldest Bengal on the roster is LS Clark Harris, who is 37 (born July 10, 1984) ... The youngest Bengal is WR Ja'Marr Chase, who is 21 (born March 1, 2000) ... The lightest Bengal on the roster is CB Mike Hilton, who is 184 pounds ... The heaviest Bengal is DT Tyler Shelvin, who is 350 pounds ... The tallest Bengal is OT Isaiah Prince, who is 6-7 ... The shortest Bengal on the roster is CB Mike Hilton, who is 5-9 ... The Bengals have two persons with the name of Michael Thomas on the active roster — No. 80 WR Mike D. Thomas (goes by "Mike"; middle name is Davonta), and No. 31 S Michael J. Thomas (goes by "Michael"; has two middle names, "Jacob James").

POSITION BY POSITION

Quarterbacks: Second-year pro Joe Burrow has returned to action this season, after his rookie campaign was limited to just 10 games due to a left knee injury. So far, he has completed 195 of 286 pass attempts (68.2 percent) for 2497 yards (seventh in the NFL), 20 TDs (tied for fourth in the NFL) and 11 INTs (102.6 rating). In Cincinnati's Game 1 overtime win vs. Minnesota, his first game back since the injury, he posted then-career highs in passer rating (128.8), completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempts (9.6) — he has since topped all of those numbers. Burrow then ended the game in OT with a seven-play, 46-yard drive that included a fourth-and-inches in which he changed the play at the line of scrimmage and tossed a 32-yard completion to set up a game-winning FG as time expired three plays later. Burrow was medically cleared in time to take the first snap of training camp on July 28, and in Game 1 this season he followed through on a vow he made shortly after his injury that he would start the 2021 regular-season opener. After winning the Heisman Trophy and leading the LSU Tigers to a national championship in 2019, the Bengals made Burrow, a native of Athens, Ohio, the No. 1 pick in the '20 draft. Listed second on the depth chart is veteran Brandon Allen, who started in Burrow's absence late last season. Allen has played in three games this season. Last season, Allen started five of Cincinnati's final six games for the injured Burrow, and completed 63.4 percent of his passes for 925 yards, five TDs and four INTs (82.0 rating). Allen joined the Bengals in August of 2020, and began the season on the practice squad as the team's "quarantine QB" that was kept away from the rest of the QB's at practice/meetings in case they could not play due to COVID-19.

Running backs: Leading the Bengals' running back room is fifth-year pro Joe Mixon, who has returned to action this season after his 2020 campaign was limited to just six games due to a right foot injury. Originally a second-round pick of the Bengals in 2017, Mixon has shouldered a heavy load for Cincinnati, and when healthy is considered one of the NFL's top running backs. So far this season, Mixon has rushed for 636 yards (eighth in NFL) and seven TDs (tied for fourth in NFL) on 150 carries (fourth in NFL). Mixon also has caught 22 passes for 194 yards and two TDs. Mixon has one 100-yard rushing game this season (Game 1 vs. Minnesota) and 11 for his career; he also has three games with at least 100 yards from scrimmage this season and 19 for his career. Mixon also has two multi-TD games this season (Game 8 at N.Y. Jets and Game 9 vs. Cleveland), and five for his career. Mixon topped 1000 yards rushing in both 2018 and '19, before his foot injury last season prevented him from making it three seasons in a row. Mixon signed a contract extension in 2020 that keeps him in Cincinnati through the '24 season. Fifth-year pro Samaje Perine, who also shared a backfield with Mixon in college at Oklahoma, is in his third Bengals season after beginning his career with Washington. This season, Perine has 36 carries for 159 yards and one TD, and 12 catches for 110 yards and one TD. At 5-11, 240 pounds, Perine brings size and a physical rushing style, and he's also used extensively on special teams. The third running back on Cincinnati's active roster is Chris Evans, a rookie sixth-round pick out of the University of Michigan.

Evans is known for his receiving ability out of the backfield, and this season he has nine catches for 115 yards and a TD, along with three carries for 18 yards. Bengals coaches say they first took notice of Evans' route-running and hands during receiving drills at 2021 Senior Bowl practices.

Wide receivers: The newest addition to the Bengals' offense this season is first-round draft pick Ja'Marr Chase, who brings previous experience with Joe Burrow from their time together in college at LSU. Chase has been one of Cincinnati's top performers so far this season, with team-highs in receptions (44), receiving yards (835) and TDs (seven). He leads all rookies in receiving yards (fifth leaguewide) and receiving TDs (seven). Chase has provided Cincinnati's offense with a downfield threat and is tied for first leaguewide in catches of 40 or more yards (six). In Game 1 vs. Minnesota, his NFL debut, Chase became the youngest Bengal (21 years, 195 days) ever to post 100 receiving yards, the third-youngest Bengal ever to score a TD, and his 50-yard TD catch at the end of the first half was the longest TD of any kind by a Bengals rookie in their NFL debut. In Game 7 at Baltimore, Chase posted a Bengals rookie-record 201 receiving yards, and became the second-youngest player in NFL history to record at least 200 receiving yards in a single game. With Burrow as his QB in 2019 at LSU, Chase set single-season SEC records for receiving yards (1780) and TDs (20), and won the prestigious Biletnikoff Award as college football's top receiver. Chase has been assigned uniform No. 1, and is the first player in Bengals history to wear that number. Considered one of the top slot receivers in football, 27-year old Tyler Boyd is the veteran among a young group of Bengals receivers. So far this season, Boyd has 38 catches for 409 yards and two TDs. Boyd led the team in catches the last three seasons (2018-20), and stands as one of six Bengals ever to top 1000 receiving yards in consecutive seasons ('18-19). Boyd has one 100-yard game this season (Sept. 30 vs. Jacksonville) and 10 for his career. Boyd also has five career games with at least 10 catches. Boyd, a 2016 second-round pick, signed a contract extension in 2019 that keeps him in Cincinnati through the '23 season. Returning this season after a terrific rookie year is second-year pro Teo Higgins, a second-round pick of the Bengals in 2020. Higgins so far this season has 35 catches for 431 yards and two TDs. Higgins missed Games 3-4 this season due to a shoulder injury. Last season, Higgins led Cincinnati in receiving yards (908) and tied for the franchise's rookie receptions record (67). Higgins brings considerable size (6-4, 216) to the receiving corps, and coaches have credited him for transforming his body over the offseason to get stronger. Providing valuable depth is Auden Tate, a 2018 seventh-round pick who at 6-5, 228 pounds is known as a big-bodied receiver with a knack for making acrobatic catches. Tate battled a shoulder injury last season and was limited to just nine games, but when healthy the Bengals have utilized his wide catch radius and ability to come down with contested catches. Sixth-year pro Mike D. Thomas (not to be confused with Bengals S Michael J. Thomas) adds value as a speedy rotational receiver, as well as on special teams. Thomas joined the Bengals in 2020 but spent his first four NFL seasons with the L.A. Rams, where in '17 his assistant WRs coach was Zac Taylor. Third-year pro Stanley Morgan, a 2019 college free agent signee of the Bengals, also adds depth at receiver, but he has excelled most in the NFL as a gunner on special teams. Rounding out the receivers room is first-year pro Trenton Irwin, who was signed off the practice squad on Sept. 15. Irwin joined the Bengals midway through 2019 and has bounced between the practice squad and active roster.

Tight ends: C.J. Uzomah, a 2015 fifth-round pick of the Bengals, has returned to action this year after suffering a season-ending right Achilles injury in the second game of 2020. Uzomah this season is in the midst of a career year, and already has a career-high five TDs. He has caught 25 passes for 313 yards this season, and also has been a key figure in some of Cincinnati's most important non-scoring plays of the year. In Cincinnati's Game 1 overtime win vs. Minnesota, his first game back since the injury, Uzomah caught a 32-yard pass on fourth-and-inches in OT to help set up a game-winning FG as time expired three plays later. And in Game 4 vs. Jacksonville, Uzomah caught a career-high two TDs (since matched), and then with the game tied late, he took a jailbreak screen 25 yards deep into Jaguars territory to help set up the game-winning FG. In Game 7 at Baltimore, Uzomah had 91 yards receiving and caught TDs of 55 and 32 yards. Drew Sample, a 2019 second-round pick of the Bengals, is known as complete tight end with both receiving and blocking ability. Bengals coaches have called him one of the best blocking TEs in the league. After Uzomah's injury last season, Sample shouldered a heavier work load that saw him start 13 games, play more than 80 percent of the team's offensive snaps, and catch 40 passes and a TD. Mitchell Wilcox, a 2020 college free agent signee of the Bengals, spent nearly all of his rookie season on Cincinnati's practice squad. Wilcox is also considered a complete TE prospect — he left USF in 2019 with every single-season and career receiving record for a TE, and also helped block for three different 1000-yard rushers. Wilcox was placed on Reserve/COVID-19 on Nov. 15.

Offensive linemen: Now in his second season as Cincinnati's starting LOT is 2019 first-round pick Jonah Williams. After missing his entire rookie season to a shoulder injury, Williams started 10 games in his sophomore campaign in 2020. A right knee injury ended Williams' 2020 season early, but it was not deemed serious and he participated fully in the Bengals' offseason program and has started every game so far this season. At ROT this season is 10th-year pro Riley Reiff, who signed with Cincinnati in March after spending his first nine NFL seasons with Detroit and Minnesota. Reiff has played LOT for a majority of his career, with his one previous season as a full-time ROT coming in 2016 with Detroit. Reiff, though, told the local media after signing with Cincinnati that he welcomes the opportunity to play ROT in Cincinnati, and if needed would even move inside to G for the first time in his pro career. Cincinnati's starting C since 2019 has been Trey Hopkins, who originally was a college free agent signee of the Bengals in '14. Hopkins battled injuries and bounced between the practice squad and roster for his first three seasons, before settling into a regular role and gaining starting experience at all three interior OL spots. Hopkins suffered a torn left ACL in last season's finale, but he was medically cleared in time to participate in the first practice of training camp on July 28. Coaches this season have limited Hopkins in practice during the week in order to ease the load on his knee, but he has started every game. Seventh-year pro Quinton Spain is Cincinnati's starter at LG. Undrafted out of college in 2015, Spain began his career with the Titans and Bills before joining the Bengals on waivers mid-season in 2020. Spain has remained at LG this year, but last season after joining Cincinnati he played in nine games (eight starts) and made starts at RG, LG and even ROT when the line was dealing with injuries and COVID-19 issues. G Hakeem Adeniji is the starter at RG. A Bengals sixth-round pick in 2020, Adeniji returned to action in Game 9 against the Browns, after spending the start of his second season on Reserve/Non-Football Injury (pectoral). Adeniji was drafted as an OT, and played OT in college and as a rookie, but the Bengals moved him inside to G this season. Last year, Adeniji showed his versatility, playing in 14 games (five starts) when the offensive line dealt with multiple injuries at both LOT and ROT. Rookie G Jackson Carman, Cincinnati's second-round pick in April's draft, has started five games (Games 3-5, 7-8) at RG this season, but has since moved to a reserve role. One of the key reserves along the interior of the line is rookie C Trey Hill, who is touted as a stout blocker with good movement skills and a high football IQ. Hill has one start this season — at RG in Game 6 at Detroit as an injury replacement. Hill started 26 career games at C at Georgia, considered one of college football's top offensive lines. The tallest Bengal on the roster this season is OT Isaiah Prince (6-7), who returns to action in 2021 after opting out of the '20 season due to COVID-19. Prince has been used this year as an extra blocker in heavy formations. Prince originally was a sixth-round draft pick of the Dolphins in 2019, and then joined the Bengals on waivers later that year. Adding depth at OT is third-year pro Fred Johnson, who stands at an imposing 6-6, 325 pounds. Johnson has starts at both OT and G during his now three-year career in Cincinnati, but he has worked mostly at OT this season. Johnson primarily has been a reserve at OT to this point in his career, but the Bengals are a combined 4-1 when he fills in as a starter at either OT spot.

Defensive linemen: Cincinnati native and Archbishop Moeller graduate Sam Hubbard is in his fourth Bengals season, including his third as a full-time starter, and is considered the leader of the defensive line. A third-round draft pick of the Bengals in 2018, Hubbard's 21.5 career sacks are second-most among players from his draft class (including college free agents), and he's also considered among the best DEs in the NFL against the run. Hubbard signed a contract extension in July that keeps him in Cincinnati through the 2025 season. At the LDE is Trey Hendrickson, one of Cincinnati's most high-profile additions from free agency in March. Hendrickson this season has a team-high 8.5 sacks (seventh in the NFL), which would have led the team at the end of last season. Hendrickson enters Sunday's game at Las Vegas with a sack in five consecutive games, the second-longest active streak in the NFL behind Cleveland's Myles Garrett. Hendrickson spent 2017-20 with New Orleans, and last year his 13.5 sacks tied for the NFC lead and tied for second in the NFL. Hendrickson's 22 sacks since the beginning of 2020 are tied for third-most among all players leaguewide. Last year's high-profile addition in free agency was DT D.J. Reader, a 6-3, 347-pound nose tackle who excels against the run. Reader was limited to just five games last season due to a left quad injury, but he has returned healthy this year and has a sack. Lining up next to Reader is DT Larry Ogunjobi, who signed a one-year deal with Cincinnati in March. Ogunjobi has impressed so far this season, with 3.5 sacks and three additional tackles for losses. Ogunjobi spent his first four NFL seasons with Cleveland, where he played NT, however in Cincinnati he is playing three-technique DT, which he has called his "natural position.” Also seeing regular action at three-technique DT is B.J. Hill, who was acquired in an Aug. 30 trade with the N.Y. Giants. Hill has three sacks on the season, which includes a two-sack performance in the season-opener less than two weeks after joining the Bengals. Hill stands 6-3, 311 pounds, and has played in every possible game over his now four-year career. Back in the lineup this season is 6-3, 345-pound DT Josh Tupou, who opted out of last season due to COVID-19. Tupou was a college free agent signee of the Bengals in 2017, and has worked his way into the regular defensive rotation as a reliable run-stuffer. DE Khalid Kareem, a Bengals fifth-round pick in 2020, returned to action in Game 8 at the N.Y. Jets this season, after beginning his second season on Cincinnati’s Reserve/Injured list. Kareem played in all 16 games as a rookie (one sack), and this year he has again slid into a rotational DE role. In the fourth round of April’s draft, the Bengals selected Tulane DE Cam Sample, who has seen rotational action so far and has one sack. Sample is known as a productive, versatile and high-energy player, and last season he was rated the most valuable defensive lineman in college football by Pro Football Focus. Bengals coaches say that Sample caught their eye during the 2021 Senior Bowl, where he earned Defensive MVP honors. Later in the fourth round, the Bengals selected 6-2, 350-pound DT Tyler Shelvin, a space-eater with a rare blend of strength and athleticism. Shelvin was a key player on LSU’s defense during their national championship run in 2019, but he opted out of the ’20 college season due to COVID-19. Adding depth at DE is second-year pro Wyatt Ray, who was acquired on waivers from Tennessee on Sept. 1. Ray originally was a college free agent signee of the Cleveland Browns in 2019, and has also spent time with Houston, Buffalo, the N.Y. Jets and Tennessee.

Linebackers: Among Cincinnati’s most promising young defenders is second-year pro Logan Wilson, who is wearing the green dot this year as the defense’s communicator. Wilson this season ranks tied for fourth in the NFL in INTs (four) and also leads Cincinnati in tackles (76). The last Bengals LB with three or more INTs in a season was Odell Thurman (five) in 2005. Wilson was Cincinnati’s third-round draft pick in 2020. Germaine Pratt, a 2019 third-round pick of the Bengals, has grown into a key contributor on defense after being considered a raw prospect coming out of the draft, due to switching from S to LB late in his college career. Pratt has 43 tackles, an INT, a FF and a FR so far this season. In Cincinnati’s season-opening win vs. Minnesota, Pratt made the defensive play of the game late in overtime when he forced and recovered a fumble by Vikings RB Dalvin Cook; the play thwarted Minnesota’s potential game-winning drive, which had reached the Bengals’ 38-yard line, and set up a Cincinnati drive that ended with a game-winning FG as time expired in OT. Pratt, who earned a starting LB spot midway through his rookie season, has drawn particular praise from coaches this season for his grasp of the defense. Providing depth is second-year pro Joe Bachie, who joined Cincinnati on waivers in May. Bachie began 2021 on Cincinnati’s practice squad but impressed in two games as a game-day elevation, so he was signed to the active roster in Week 8. Cincinnati’s depth at LB has been tested this season by injuries and COVID-19 issues. Over their bye (Week 10), the Bengals added to their LB room by acquiring second-year pro Clay Johnston on waivers from Carolina. The Bengals this Sunday hope to get back LB Markus Bailey, who was placed on Reserve/COVID-19 on Nov. 9. Bailey, a seventh-round pick of the Bengals in 2020, is a rotational linebacker and had been drawing positive reviews this season after gradually working his way back from a serious college knee injury during his rookie year. LB Akeem Davis-Gaither, a 2020 fourth-round pick of the Bengals, was placed on Reserve/Injured (foot) on Nov. 9, and head coach Zac Taylor said he is undergoing surgery and will likely miss the rest of the season.

Defensive backs: S Jessie Bates, a fourth-year pro and 2018 Bengals second-round pick, is a team captain and is considered one of the core leaders of the team. Bates so far this season has 55 tackles (third on team) and an INT that he returned 65 yards. Bates earned a starting S spot in training camp as a rookie and started the first 51 games of his career — that’s three seasons plus three games — until a neck injury broke the streak and held him out of Cincinnati’s Sept. 30 matchup vs. Jacksonville. Bates, though, returned to the lineup the following week and hasn’t missed a game since. Bates topped 100 tackles in each of his first three seasons (2018-20). Next to Bates at S is sixth-year pro Vonn Bell, who joined the Bengals in 2020 after spending his first four years with New Orleans. Bell, a team captain, has 56 tackles (second on team), including five for losses, along with three PDs, two FFs and a FR. Last year, in his first season with the Bengals, Bell played all 1059 defensive snaps and led the team in both tackles (114) and FFs (three). Depth at CB was a primary focus for the Bengals in 2020 free agency, as the team brought in an influx of reinforcements at the position. The most high-profile of those additions is Chidobe Awuzie, a former second-round pick of the Cowboys who spent his first four seasons in Dallas. Awuzie, who signed as an unrestricted free agent and is under contract through the 2023 season, has impressed with his coverage and tackling ability this season, and has 33 tackles, eight PDs and an INT. Awuzie missed Game 4 vs. Jacksonville due to a groin injury, but returned to action the following week. The second free agency addition was Mike Hilton, who is widely considered among the top slot CBs in the NFL. Hilton, who is under contract through the 2024 season, is among the smallest players on the roster at 5-9, 184 pounds, but he is known as a sure tackler and outstanding blitzer. Another veteran CB addition is Eli Apple, a former first-round pick of the Giants. Apple brings familiarity with Bell, whom he played alongside in college at Ohio State, as well as with defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo, who was his position coach with the Giants in 2018. Apple has stepped into a starting role of late, after CB Trae Waynes was placed on Reserve/Injured on Oct. 12 with a right hamstring injury. A mid-season addition who figures into the mix is CB Vernon Hargreaves III, whom the Bengals acquired on waivers from Houston on Nov. 4. Hargreaves was a first-round pick of the Buccaneers in 2016, and adds depth and experience in the secondary. Another mid-season acquisition in the mix is S Michael J. Thomas (not to be confused with WR Mike D. Thomas). Thomas was a college free agent signee of the 49ers back in 2012, and brings 97 games of NFL experience with five teams (including Cincinnati). Bringing experience at CB is Darius Phillips, a 2018 sixth-round pick and the only CB on the roster who played for Cincinnati prior to this season. Phillips has proven to be a playmaker in the secondary when healthy, and in 2019 he led the team in INTs (four) despite playing only 108 snaps on defense. Phillips has taken over as Cincinnati’s primary punt returner this season, and thus has mainly filled a rotational role on defense. CB Jalen Davis joined the Bengals in mid-2020 and was thrust into action quickly while the team dealt with a wave of injuries and COVID-19 issues. Davis, who previously spent time with the Dolphins and Cardinals, drew praise from coaches during his six games of action in 2020, and signed a contract extension with the Bengals in March. Reserve S Brandon Wilson, also the Bengals’ primary KOR, suffered a season-ending knee injury on Nov. 7 vs. Cleveland and was placed on Reserve/Injured on Nov. 9.

Special teams: Cincinnati native and the longest-tenured player on the roster Kevin Huber is handling the Bengals’ punting duties for the 13th consecutive season. Huber, a graduate of Archbishop McNicholas High School and the University of Cincinnati, originally was a fifth-round pick of his hometown Bengals in 2009. So far this season, Huber is averaging 46.4 gross yards on punts, and 40.9 net yards. Huber is considered the top punter in team history, and stands as the Bengals’ career leader in every significant punting category, including punts (950), punting yards (43,032), gross average (45.30), net average (40.24) and inside-20 punts (330). Huber was a Pro Bowl selection in 2014, but he has maintained a high level of play and last season posted career-highs in both gross (47.2) and net (42.8) average. Huber has played in 199 career games, third-most in team history, and is within striking distance this season of leaders Reggie Williams (206) and Ken Riley (207). He passed QB Ken Anderson (192) in Game 3 vs. Pittsburgh. The oldest Bengal on the roster is LS Clark Harris (37 years old), who joined the Bengals early in 2009 and has snapped to Huber nearly his entire career. Harris has been a paragon of reliability for Cincinnati, and has never had an unplayable snap in 1776 career attempts (947 punts, 827 placekicks) as a Bengal. Harris, a Pro Bowler in 2017, has played in 193 career games as a Bengal, and passed DT Tim Krumrie (188) for sixth-most in team history in Game 5 vs. Green Bay. Among the youngest players on the roster is 21-year-old rookie K Evan McPherson, whom the Bengals selected in the fifth round of April’s draft. McPherson has already made a significant impact, and has two game-winning “walk-off” FGs with no time remaining. The first came in overtime of Game 1 vs. Minnesota — his NFL debut — when he nailed a 33-yarder; the second was in Game 4 vs. Jacksonville on Thursday Night Football, and came from 35 yards out as time expired in regulation. McPherson has said that entering this season, he had never kicked a game-winning FG at any level of football. McPherson has made all 27 of his PATs and 11 of his 14 FGs this season, including three from 50-plus. McPherson left the University of Florida as the SEC’s all-time leader in FG percentage (85.0). S Brandon Wilson, the team’s primary KOR, suffered a season-ending knee injury on Nov. 7 vs. Cleveland. Taking over as KOR is CB Darius Phillips, who has handled PR duties all season. Phillips this season is averaging 7.6 yards on punt returns and 20.5 yards on kickoff returns. The Bengals also feature a number of experienced players in kick and punt coverage, including LB Germaine Pratt, LB Logan Wilson, WR Stanley Morgan and WR Mike D. Thomas.

THE LAST BENGALS-RAIDERS MEETINGS

2018 SEASON

WEEK 15, GAME 14

Cincinnati Bengals 30, Oakland Raiders 16
Sunday, Dec. 16, 2018 at Paul Brown Stadium

Cincinnati scored on four consecutive first-half drives en route to a 20-7 halftime lead. Oakland scored three second-half FGs to pull to within seven points, 23-16, late in the fourth quarter. After that third FG, however, Bengals WR Alex Erickson returned the ensuing kickoff 77 yards (a season long) to the Raiders' 21-yard line, and HB Joe Mixon scored on a 15-yard rush two plays later for the game's final score. Mixon rushed for a season-high 129 yards and two TDs on 27 carries (4.8-yard average), while WR Tyler Boyd caught four passes for 38 yards and a TD, passing 1000 yards receiving on the season. Cincinnati's defense held Oakland to only 297 total net yards, including just 68 yards rushing, and just three total third-down conversions, while also recording two fumble recoveries. DT Geno Atkins and DE Sam Hubbard combined for five sacks (Atkins 3.0, and Hubbard 2.0). The win was the first for QB Jeff Driskel, who made his third start in place of injured Andy Dalton. The Bengals improved to 6-8, while the Raiders fell to 3-11.

2019 SEASON

WEEK 11, GAME 10

Oakland Raiders 17, Cincinnati Bengals 10
Sunday, Nov. 17, 2019 at Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum

With the Raiders moving from Oakland to Las Vegas after the 2019 season, the Bengals made perhaps their final trip to the Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum. A TD by Bay-area native Joe Mixon gave the Bengals a 7-0 lead after one quarter, but Oakland outscored Cincinnati 17-3 in the final three periods to earn the win. The Bengals did have two potential game-tying drives late in the fourth quarter, but they turned the ball over on downs and then threw what amounted to a game-sealing INT. Bengals QB Ryan Finley struggled in his first career road start and completed just 41.9 percent of his passes, along with an INT, lost fumble and five sacks. The Bengals fell to 0-10, matching their 1993 season for the worst start in team history. The loss was also their 12th straight dating back to 2018, the longest losing streak in team history. The Raiders improved to 6-4.

2021 GAME SUMMARIES

WEEK 1, GAME 1

Cincinnati Bengals 27, Minnesota Vikings 24 Sunday, Sept. 12, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

Bengals QB Joe Burrow, who was less than 10 months removed from a left knee injury that ended his rookie season, showed few signs of rust, posting career-highs in passer rating (128.8), completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempt (9.67). HB Joe Mixon, whose 2020 season also ended early due to injury, rushed for 127 yards and a TD on 29 carries. Rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase impressed in his NFL debut with five catches for 101 yards, including a 50-yard TD. Minnesota closed a 14-point second-half deficit and sent the game to OT with a 53-yard FG at the end of regulation. Late in OT, LB Germaine Pratt forced and recovered a fumble by Vikings RB Dalvin Cook, setting up a seven-play, 46-yard drive that was highlighted by a 32-yard pass from Burrow to TE C.J. Uzomah on fourth-and-inches. Rookie K Evan McPherson, making his NFL debut, then nailed a 33-yard FG as time expired to give Cincinnati the win. The game was the first in NFL history with a game-tying FG with no time left in regulation, and a game-winning FG with no time left in OT. Cincinnati moved to 1-0, and Minnesota dropped to 0-1.

WEEK 2, GAME 2

Chicago Bears 20, Cincinnati Bengals 17 Sunday, Sept. 19, 2021 at Soldier Field

The visiting Bengals allowed the fewest total yards (206) by a Cincinnati defense in seven years, but the offense struggled to protect the football and find the scoreboard. Bengals QB Joe Burrow threw three INTs — including a pick-six — on consecutive attempts in the fourth quarter, helping the Bears to a comfortable 17-point margin late. But Burrow connected with rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase for a 42-yard score with 4:39 remaining, and then an INT by Bengals LB Logan Wilson on the ensuing possession set up a seven-yard TD from Burrow to WR Tee Higgins on the next play to cut the margin to just three. Burrow was the first NFL player in 20 years with INTs on three consecutive plays and TD passes on two consecutive plays in the same game (Steelers QB Kordell Stewart on Dec. 30, 2001 at Cincinnati). The Bengals' comeback bid fell short though, as Bears rookie QB Justin Fields, who was filling in for injured starter Andy Dalton, led Chicago to two first downs as the Bears ran out the clock and hung on for a 20-17 win. Cincinnati dropped to 1-1, while Chicago improved to 1-1.

Cincinnati Bengals 24, Pittsburgh Steelers 10
Sunday, Sept. 26, 2021 at Heinz Field

The Steelers were without numerous starters due to injury, including All-Pro OLB T.J. Watt, and the Bengals took full advantage. Bengals QB Joe Burrow completed 77.8 percent of his passes, tossed three TDs to just one INT, and posted a 122.9 passer rating. He averaged 9.6 yards per attempt through the air, while HB Joe Mixon averaged 5.0 yards per carry on the ground. Rookie Ja'Marr Chase scored two TDs, including a 34-yarder down the sideline before the half to give Cincinnati the lead for good. The Bengals also held the Steelers without a sack, breaking Pittsburgh's NFL-record streak of 75 straight games with a sack. Defensively, the Bengals applied constant pressure to Steelers QB Ben Roethlisberger, sacking him four times and hitting him three more. LB Logan Wilson picked off Roethlisberger twice, and both instances led to Burrow TD passes. Cincinnati cruised to a 24-10 win and improved to 2-1, while Pittsburgh dropped to 1-2.

WEEK 4, GAME 4

Cincinnati Bengals 24, Jacksonville Jaguars 21
Thursday night, Sept. 30, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

The game featured the previous two No. 1 overall picks in Cincinnati second-year QB Joe Burrow and Jacksonville rookie QB Trevor Lawrence. The Jaguars owned the first half, racking up 15 first downs and 240 total yards en route to a 14-0 halftime lead. The turning point for Cincinnati came with a minute left in the first half, when LB Logan Wilson tackled Lawrence at the one-yard line on a fourth down to prevent a halftime deficit of 21. In the second half, Burrow led a comeback that saw Cincinnati score on all four possessions (TD, TD, TD, FG). Burrow completed 17 of his 20 second-half attempts (85 percent) for 253 yards and two TDs (152.1 rating). With just over a minute left and the score tied 21-21, Burrow made what was perhaps the play of the game when he audibled into a jailbreak screen that went to TE C.J. Uzomah, who ran it for 25 yards to the Jacksonville 21-yard line. That play set up a 35-yard, game-winning FG by K Evan McPherson two plays later. At halftime of the game, the Bengals inducted four people as part of their inaugural Ring of Honor class - founder/GM/head coach Paul Brown, OT Anthony Munoz, QB Ken Anderson and CB Ben Riley. Cincinnati improved to 3-1, while Jacksonville fell to 0-4.

WEEK 5, GAME 5

Green Bay Packers 25, Cincinnati Bengals 22 Sunday, Oct. 10, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

The host Bengals and visiting Packers combined to miss six placekicks, including five FGs, but Packers K Mason Crosby broke the run of misses and nailed a 49-yarder late in OT to secure a Green Bay win. The Packers racked up 466 total yards, including 206 receiving yards from WR Davante Adams, but the Bengals' defense held them to just two TDs on five total trips to the red zone. Bengals WR Ja'Marr Chase had a big day of his own, posting the second-most receiving yards (159) ever by a Cincinnati rookie. The highlight of the day came just before halftime, when Bengals QB Joe Burrow connected with Chase on a 70-yard TD that drew the Bengals within two points. Cincinnati tied the game with 3:27 left in the fourth quarter, but McPherson missed a potential go-ahead 57-yard FG with 26 seconds left, and then Crosby missed from 51 yards as time expired. In OT, Crosby missed from 40 yards and McPherson from 49, before Crosby finally converted with 1:55 remaining. Green Bay improved to 4-1, while Cincinnati fell to 3-2.

WEEK 6, GAME 6

Cincinnati Bengals 34, Detroit Lions 11 Sunday, Oct. 17, 2021 at Ford Field

The visiting Bengals cruised to a 23-point win, good for their largest margin of victory in four seasons. Rookie HB Chris Evans caught a 24-yard TD on Cincinnati's first offensive possession, but the offense struggled for much of the rest of the first half. Cincinnati's defense picked up the slack though, holding the Lions scoreless in the first two quarters while allowing just 51 total yards. Cincinnati led just 10-0 at halftime, but in the second half the offense came away with points on all four of its full possessions (three TDs and a FG). Cincinnati was effective in the air and on the ground. QB Joe Burrow tossed three TDs on the afternoon and posted a 115.7 passer rating, while HB Joe Mixon raked up 153 total yards, including a 40-yard receiving TD that featured a massive downfield block from rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase to lead him into the end zone. Cincinnati improved to 4-2, while Detroit fell to 0-6.

WEEK 9, GAME 9

Cleveland Browns 41, Cincinnati Bengals 16
Sunday, Nov. 7, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

The Bengals committed three turnovers, forced none, and had several key drops in the passing game as Cleveland cruised to a comfortable win at Paul Brown Stadium. The first Bengals turnover was a 99-yard pick-six by Browns CB Denzel Ward on the game's opening possession, while the other two — an INT and a fumble — happened deep in their own end and led to Browns points. The Bengals' defense, which had excelled all season at preventing long plays, gave up a 60-yard TD catch and 70-yard TD run to Cleveland. Cincinnati also entered the game ranked seventh in rush defense, but allowed 9.8 yards per carry to Browns RB Nick Chubb. Forced to play from behind most of the game, Cincinnati went pass-heavy but never could find its footing. Bengals QB Joe Burrow was sacked five times, and his longest completion was just 20 yards. Cincinnati fell to 5-4, while Cleveland improved to 5-4.
