JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (0-3) AT CINCINNATI BENGALS (2-1)

WEEK 4, GAME 4
THURSDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL
SEPT. 30 AT PAUL BROWN STADIUM

UP NEXT: WEEK 5, GAME 5
OCT. 10 VS. GREEN BAY

GAME NOTES

Kickoff: 8:20 p.m. Eastern.

Television: The game will air nationally on NFL Network and is produced by FOX-TV. In Cincinnati, it also will be carried by WLWT-TV (NBC Ch. 5). Broadcasters are Joe Buck (play-by-play), Troy Aikman (analyst), Erin Andrews (sideline reporter) and Kristina Pink (sideline reporter).

Radio: The game will air on the Bengals Radio Network, led by Cincinnati flagship stations WLW-AM (700), WCKY-AM (ESPN 1530; all sports) and WEBN-FM (102.7). Broadcasters are Dan Hoard (play-by-play) and Dave Lapham (analyst).

The game also will air nationally on Westwood One Radio. Broadcasters are Ian Eagle (play-by-play) and Mike Golic (analyst).

Setting the scene: The Bengals this week host the Jacksonville Jaguars at Paul Brown Stadium in a nationally televised Thursday Night Football showdown. Cincinnati is coming off of a 24-10 win over the Pittsburgh Steelers on Sunday, and will look to carry that momentum through the short week.

"I'm just proud of the team," said Bengals head coach Zac Taylor after the game. "This is something we needed. It's just a small step in the journey of the rest of the season.

"We expect to be able to win divisional games on the road to achieve all the things we talk about internally as a team, so this was something that's necessary."

The Bengals controlled the game against Pittsburgh from start to finish on both sides of the ball. Offensively, QB Joe Burrow completed 77.8 percent of his passes, tossed three TDs to one INT, and posted a 122.9 passer rating. Burrow averaged 9.6 yards per attempt through the air, while HB Joe Mixon averaged 5.0 yards per carry on the ground. Burrow also was not sacked all afternoon, breaking an NFL-record streak of 75 straight games in which the Steelers had recorded a sack.

"The offensive line played really, really well," Burrow said. "You've got to give credit to them. They're getting better and better each week.

"On the second touchdown to Ja'Marr (Chase), he was my fifth read. I told the O-line that that was their touchdown. I said, 'I was able to get to my fifth read, and that's all because of you guys.'"

Defensively, the Bengals applied constant pressure on Steelers QB Ben Roethlisberger, sacking him four times and hitting him three more. LB Logan Wilson earned the game ball from Taylor after the game, after he picked off Roethlisberger twice and led the team in tackles (14). The offense turned Wilson's two INTs into 14 points.

Wilson now has three INTs this season, tied for most in the NFL entering Week 4 and most in a season by a Bengals LB since Odell Thurman (five) in 2005.

"I guess I can't say if Logan gets enough attention nationally or not, but I know his value to this team," Taylor said. "And the team knows his value. He quietly just steps up and makes tremendous play after tremendous play. He's going to be a great player in this league for a long time, and we're really glad to have him."

Rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase, another young Bengals standout, continued his own hot start to the season, catching two TDs from Burrow. The first TD was a 34-yard go-route down the left sideline just before the half to give Cincinnati a 14-7 lead.

"Ja'Marr came to me before that play and was like, 'Just throw it up to me. Just throw it,'" Burrow said. "And so I was like, 'OK, I'll just throw it up.' And he went and got it.

"The corner had pretty good coverage, but Ja'Marr just 'out-physicaled' him and got to the ball. That's why you draft a guy like that — he makes those plays."

Chase now has four receiving TDs this season, tied for second in the NFL behind the Rams' Cooper Kupp. He stands as just the ninth rookie in NFL history to catch a TD in each of his first three career games, and the third to catch TDs of at least 25 yards in their first three games (Donte Stallworth in 2002, Billy Howton in 1952).

This week, Cincinnati faces Jacksonville in a game chock full of storylines. The contest features the last two No. 1 overall picks — Burrow and Jacksonville's Trevor Lawrence — marking just the second time in NFL history that a rookie QB chosen No. 1 overall faces a QB who was chosen No. 1 overall the previous year. The only other instance came in 2019, when rookie Kyler Murray of Arizona bested Cleveland's Baker Mayfield.

The game will also feature a homecoming of sorts for Jaguars coach Urban Meyer, who most notably was head coach of Ohio State University from 2012-18 but also is an alum of the University of Cincinnati. While at Ohio State, Meyer coached five players currently on the Bengals' active roster — Burrow (played at OSU from 2015-17, before transferring to LSU), CB Eli Apple, S Vonn Bell, DE Sam Hubbard and OT Isaiah Prince.

"I'm excited to see him, and excited to play against him," Burrow said of his old coach. "We have a great relationship. Whenever you get to see a friend pregame, it's always fun to talk to people you haven't seen in a while. But it's also pro football, and you've got to go get a win. So I'm excited to do both of those things."

Jacksonville enters Thursday's game 0-3, after falling 31-19 to Arizona last week.

The series: The Jaguars lead 13-10, but the Bengals have won five of the last seven meetings. The Bengals also won three of the last four meetings at Paul Brown Stadium.

The Bengals won the most recent meeting, 33-25 in Cincinnati in 2020. The Bengals lead 7-5 overall as the home team.

The Bengals and Jaguars were rivals in the AFC Central Division from 1995 through 2001, playing twice each season. This week's game is their 10th meeting since the 2002 realignment that put Cincinnati in the AFC North and Jacksonville in the AFC South. The Bengals hold a 5-4 series edge since the realignment.

Team bests from the series:

Bengals — MOST POINTS: 33, twice: in a 33-23 victory at Cincinnati in 2014, and in a 33-25 win at Cincinnati in '20. LARGEST VICTORY MARGIN: 17, in a 27-10 win at Jacksonville in 2012. FEWEST POINTS ALLOWED: 10, in the 27-10 win in '12.

Jaguars — MOST POINTS: 41, in a 41-10 win in 1999 at Cincinnati. LARGEST VICTORY MARGIN: 31, in the 41-10 win in '99. FEWEST POINTS ALLOWED: 0, in a 13-0 win at Jacksonville in 2000.

The last meetings: Summaries of the last two Bengals-Jaguars meetings — in 2019 and in '20, both in Cincinnati — are on page 16 of this news release.

Bengals on Thursday: The Bengals have played 14 times previously on Thursday, posting a 8-7 record. Cincinnati has a 5-2 record on TNF at home, but just a 3-5 mark on the road. This is the second TNF game the Bengals have played under head coach Zac Taylor. One of the Thursday games, in 2010, was played on Thanksgiving.

Here's a recap of the Bengals' Thursday experience:

Bengals career records watch: Here's a look at potential upcoming movement in the team's career records book (regular-season):

- Bengals P Kevin Huber has played in 193 career Bengals games, 13 shy of DT Tim Krumrie (206) for second place all-time. CB Ken Riley (207) is the Bengals' all-time leader. Huber passed QB Ken Anderson (192) for third place all-time in Game 3 at Pittsburgh.
- Bengals LS Clark Harris has played in 187 career Bengals games, one shy of DT Tim Krumrie (188) for fifth place all-time. Harris passed OT Anthony Munoz (185) for sixth place in Game 2 at Chicago.
- Bengals S Brandon Wilson has two career kickoff returns for TDs, tied with S/CB Tremain Mack for the Bengals' all-time lead.

Records vs. Jaguars: On Dec. 9, 2001 at Paul Brown Stadium, the Bengals tied the club record with eight sacks, all against Jacksonville's Mark Brunell. Cincinnati's other eight-sack game was at Pittsburgh on Oct. 16, 1994.

On Oct. 9, 2005 in Jacksonville, Bengals P Kyle Larson recorded the longest punt in team history — 75 yards. That record was later tied by Kevin Huber on Dec. 1, 2013 at San Diego.

The most receptions the Bengals have given up in a single game to a single receiver came on Jan. 2, 2000 in Jacksonville, when Jimmy Smith hauled in 14 catches for 165 yards (since tied).

Individually vs. Jaguars: Here is a look at the stats for current Bengals offensive players against Jacksonville (ordered by total games played):

- HB Joe Mixon: Three games; 48 rushes for 184 yards (3.8) and three TDs; 10 receptions for 47 yards (4.7) and two TDs.
- WR Tyler Boyd: Two games; 12 receptions for 145 yards (12.1).

- TE Drew Sample: Two games; Four receptions for 50 yards (12.5).
- WR Auden Tate: Two games; Four receptions for 80 yards (20.0).
- QB Joe Burrow: One game; 25-of-36 passing (69.4 percent) for 300 yards, one TD and one INT (92.4 rating).
- WR Tee Higgins: One game; Four receptions for 77 yards (19.3); one rush for 13 yards.
- WR Mike Thomas: One game; One reception for five yards.

Uniform watch: The Bengals are scheduled to wear orange jerseys and white pants (orange stripes) this week vs. Jacksonville. The team over the offseason unveiled new uniforms, marking Cincinnati's first significant uniform redesign since 2004.

There are three different color options for the new jerseys — black, white and orange. The pants also feature three different options — black with orange stripes, white with orange stripes, and white with black stripes. The team's iconic striped helmet was unchanged.

Here are the possible combinations for the Bengals' new uniforms (this table does not consider the additional possible options of the three sock colors of black, orange and white):

JERSEY	PANTS/STRIPE	W-L-T	PCT.
Black	Black/Orange	0-0-0	—
Black	White/Orange	0-0-0	—
White	Black/Orange	0-1-0	0.000
White	White/Black	2-0-0	1.000
Orange	Black/Orange	0-0-0	—

* — NFL rules allow teams to wear designated alternate jerseys, color rush (CR) uniforms and/or throwback uniforms for a combined total of three regular-season games. As in years past, orange will serve as the Bengals' designated alternate jersey. Cincinnati does not have a throwback uniform, and no longer has a color rush uniform.

Bengals-Jaguars connections: Jaguars head coach Urban Meyer was head coach at Ohio State University from 2012-18. Meyer played defensive back at the University of Cincinnati in 1984, then got his start in coaching at St. Xavier High School and then UC, both in '85. He then was a graduate assistant coach at Ohio State from 1986-87, and later got his first head coaching assignment at Bowling Green State University from 2001-02 ... Six current Bengals played at Ohio State University under Jaguars head coach Urban Meyer — CB Eli Apple, S Vonn Bell, QB Joe Burrow (later transferred to LSU), DE Sam Hubbard, OT Isaiah Prince and DE Noah Spence (practice squad) ... Jaguars WR Marvin Jones Jr. originally was a fifth-round draft pick of the Bengals in 2012, and was with Cincinnati through the '15 season ... Jaguars OL Andrew Norwell is from Cincinnati (Anderson High School) and played at Ohio State University ... Jaguars RB Carlos Hyde originally is from Cincinnati, and played one year at Princeton High School before moving out of state; Hyde also played collegiately at Ohio State University ... Five Jaguars played at Ohio State University — Norwell, Hyde, TE Luke Farrell, DT DaVon Hamilton and WR Devin Smith (practice squad); Hamilton is from Pickerington, Ohio (Pickerington Central High School) ... Jaguars DE/OLB Josh Allen played at the University of Kentucky ... Jaguars DL Dawuane Smoot is from Groveport, Ohio (Madison High School) ... Bengals DE Trey Hendrickson is from Apopka, Fla. (Apopka High School) ... Bengals K Evan McPherson and OT Fred Johnson both played at the University of Florida ... Bengals WR Auden Tate played at Florida State University ... Bengals S Ricardo Allen (Reserve/Injured) is from Daytona Beach, Fla. (Mainland High School) ... Jaguars DT Doug Costin (practice squad) played at Miami (Ohio) University ... Jaguars DE/OLB Aaron Patrick (practice squad) is from Dayton, Ohio (Meadowdale High School) and played at Eastern Kentucky University ... Bengals senior defensive assistant Mark Duffner was on the Jaguars' coaching staff from 2006-13 ... Bengals defensive line coach Marion

Hobby was on the Jaguars' coaching staff from 2017-18 ... Bengals wide receivers coach Troy Walters coached at the University of Central Florida from 2016-17 ... Jaguars offensive quality control coach Kyle Caskey was on the Bengals' coaching staff from 2010-18 ... Jaguars head strength and conditioning coach Anthony Schlegel played for the Bengals in 2007, and also played ('04-05) and coached ('11-15) at Ohio State University ... Jaguars assistant head coach/inside linebackers coach Charlie Strong was head coach at the University of Louisville from 2010-13 ... Jaguars defensive backs/safeties coach Chris Ash coached at Ohio State University from 2014-15 ... Jaguars offensive line coach George Warhop played center (1980-83) and coached ('83) at the University of Cincinnati ... Jaguars CBs coach Tim Walton played at Ohio State University from 1992-95, and coached at Bowling Green State University from '95-99.

BENGALS RING OF HONOR

Ring of Honor inducts inaugural class: At halftime of Thursday's game against Jacksonville, the Bengals will officially induct four members into their Ring of Honor as part of its inaugural class. Those four people are founder/head coach Paul Brown, OT Anthony Munoz, QB Ken Anderson and CB Ken Riley.

Over the offseason, the team announced the formation of a Ring of Honor, which will recognize former players, coaches and individuals who have played a significant role in the franchise's history and tradition. The Ring of Honor will be displayed on the east façade inside Paul Brown Stadium, as well as on the Bengals' digital media channels.

The Bengals announced upon the Ring of Honor's formation that the first two members would be Brown, the organization's founder and first head coach, and Munoz, who is widely considered among the top offensive linemen in NFL history. Both Brown (1967) and Munoz ('98) are members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

"The Bengals Ring of Honor is a way to show our appreciation for individuals who have made a significant impact on our franchise," said Bengals President Mike Brown. "We selected Paul Brown and Anthony Munoz. They are in the Hall of Fame in Canton, and it pleases me to put them out front as our initial inductees. We have a lot of great players and coaches to honor, and it will be fun to reminisce as we go about this process."

The other two members of the Ring of Honor's inaugural class were decided via vote over the summer by Bengals season ticket holders. They selected Anderson and Riley, two longtime Bengals who were pillars of Cincinnati's first Super Bowl team in 1981.

"We have a long history of players, many of them great players. Ken Anderson and Ken Riley are at the top of that list of great players," Mike Brown said. "They were the type of players that we like to think our team is all about. I am pleased they are the top picks of the fans."

In addition to the aforementioned halftime ceremony during Thursday's game vs. Jacksonville, the Bengals will also celebrate the 40th Anniversary of the 1981 team's Super Bowl appearance during a pregame ceremony. Munoz, Riley and Anderson all played on that Super Bowl team, and Paul Brown was its general manager.

A look at the inductees: At halftime of Thursday's game vs. Jacksonville, the Bengals will induct Paul Brown, Anthony Munoz, Ken Anderson and Ken Riley into their Ring of Honor. It's the first year for the Bengals Ring of Honor, which means Brown, Munoz, Anderson and Riley are its first four members.

Here's a look at the Bengals careers of each of the four inductees:

• PAUL BROWN, founder/head coach/general manager, 1968-91: Brown was not only the founder and first head coach of the Bengals and Browns, he was one of the great innovators in pro football history.

Brown won championships at all levels of football — high school, college and professional — and was elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1967, one year prior to the Bengals' inaugural season in '68. He founded and served as head coach of the Cleveland Browns, whom he guided to seven league championships in their first 12 seasons. He then founded the Bengals, for whom he served as head coach and GM for eight seasons (1968-75). He led the expansion Bengals to three playoff berths as head coach, and then moved exclusively into the GM role following an 11-3 season in 1975. As GM, he was responsible for building the powerful Bengals teams of the 1980s, including two squads that reached the Super Bowl ('81 and '88 seasons).

A comprehensive rundown of Brown's football innovations is much too long to list, but here are a few notables — he pioneered coaching as a year-round profession, invented the draw play, introduced the use of face masks on helmets, initiated film study, was the first coach to call plays from the sideline, and was the first coach to use coach-to-player radio communication inside players' helmets.

He also broke the color barrier in modern American pro sports, as his Cleveland team featured African-American stars Marion Motley and Bill Willis in 1946, a year before Jackie Robinson's debut in Major League Baseball.

• ANTHONY MUNOZ, offensive tackle, 1980-92: Widely considered among the top offensive linemen in NFL history, Anthony Munoz was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame on Aug. 1, 1998, in what was his first year of eligibility. To this day, he is one of only 90 players selected to the Hall in their first year of eligibility.

Cincinnati selected Munoz with the third pick in the 1980 NFL Draft. He had knee surgery during his playing career at the University of Southern California, so at the time the pick was considered a roll of the dice by the Bengals. Obviously, it worked out well, as Munoz played 185 career games, which still stands seventh in team history.

In his 13 Bengals seasons, Munoz earned a team-record 11 Pro Bowl nominations, which at the time of his retirement were the most in NFL history. He was a key component on powerful Bengals offenses throughout the 1980s, and helped the team to Super Bowl appearances in the '81 and '88 seasons. He was known on the field for his exceptional agility and athleticism, qualities that are reflected by his entry line in the Bengals' all-time receiving statistics — seven catches as a tackle-eligible, with four TDs.

Off the field, Munoz was known for his work in the community. He won the NFL's prestigious Man of the Year Award in 1991, and after his playing career has continued his impact with the Anthony Munoz Foundation, which strives to impact the lives of Tri-State (Greater Cincinnati) area youth mentally, physically and spiritually through seven Impact Programs. Munoz was the first player of primarily Hispanic background to enter the Pro Football Hall of Fame, and he has been a key figure in the NFL's efforts to grow the game of football in the Hispanic community.

• KEN ANDERSON, quarterback, 1971-86: The Bengals selected Anderson out of Augustana (Ill.) College in the third round of the 1971 draft. He went on to play a Bengals-record 16 seasons and appear in 192 games (fourth-most all-time), and although the era in which he played was not pass-happy like today's NFL, his name is still all over the team's record book. To this day, he stands as the Bengals' career leader in both career pass attempts (4475) and passing yards (32,828), and is second in completions (2654), yards per attempt (7.34) and TD passes (197). He also holds numerous single-season and game records.

Anderson, though, is not in the Pro Football Hall of Fame, which has become a growing point of contention with Bengals fans and alumni. Anderson's case for the Hall is among the strongest of anyone not already donning a gold jacket. He led the NFL in passer rating four times — a claim only five players can make to this day — and did so in two different decades (1974, '75, '81, '82). He also led the league in passing yardage twice (1974 and '75), yards per pass attempt twice ('74 and '75), and completion percentage three times ('74, '82 and '83). Anderson's accuracy was his hallmark, and his 70.2 completion percentage in 1982 stood as a single-season NFL record for 27 years until Saints QB Drew Brees topped it in 2009. In 1981, he won both the NFL MVP and Comeback Player of the Year awards, after guiding the league's second-ranked offense as the Bengals reached the Super Bowl.

Anderson also was known for his impact off the field, and in 1975 won the NFL's prestigious Man of the Year award.

• KEN RILEY, cornerback, 1969-83: Known by teammates as the picture of humility and class, Ken Riley was a respected leader off the field and a dominant force on it. His two most noteworthy Bengals records are reflections of those qualities.

Riley played in 207 career games, the most in team history. Consider, though, that teams played just 14 games for the first nine years of his career, and that the 1982 season consisted of just nine games due to a players' strike.

The other team record Riley owns is undoubtedly the most eye-popping: 65 career interceptions. Louis Breeden (33) is the only other Bengal with even half as many. That statistic is the central sticking point for Bengals fans and alumni who feel Riley should be in the Pro Football Hall of Fame, because those 65 INTs are tied with Charles Woodson for fifth-most in NFL history. Charles (65) and Rod Woodson (71) are the only players to match 65 INTs since Riley's retirement in 1983, and both are in the Hall of Fame. In fact, Riley and Darren Sharper are the only players in the top eight of the NFL's all-time INTs list who are not in the Hall (Sharper's omission is widely considered to be due to off-field issues). And unlike many players whose production fades late in their careers, Riley was great to the very end and earned AP All-Pro honors in his 15th and final season in 1983.

"If there is any such thing as a Hall of Famer, it's Ken Riley," said former Steelers CB Mel Blount. "As a Hall of Famer myself, it's a shame he's not in, and we've got to correct that for a man like Ken, who's not only made such a great contribution to the game of football, but to the game of life. He's a decent human being who gave his life to the community and to the NFL."

"Justice needs to be served for Ken Riley. He played (cornerback) as well as anybody, even including myself," Blount said. "He played tremendously all of those years. It's an injustice, not only to the Hall of Fame but to guys like myself who are in the Hall of Fame, not to recognize the work that he did and the contribution he made to the National Football League."

Riley joined Cincinnati as a sixth-round pick in 1969, the team's second year of existence. He was a college QB at Florida A&M, but switched to CB upon joining the Bengals. After his playing career, he served as head coach at Florida A&M from 1986-93, and then as the school's athletic director from '94-04.

Riley died on June 7, 2020. His son, Ken Riley II, will be on hand for his father's Ring of Honor ceremony.

THE HEAD COACHES

Zac Taylor was named the 10th head coach in Cincinnati Bengals history on Feb. 4, 2019.

In 2019, his first season as head coach, Taylor headed off a wave of early season injuries to lead Cincinnati to second-half turnarounds on both offense and defense. Offensively, the Bengals' per-game rushing average jumped 70.6 yards from the first half of the season (59.5) to the second (130.1), while their per-attempt average jumped 1.26 yards (3.17 to 4.43) and they allowed 10 fewer sacks (29 to 19). The team's top four WRs — Tyler Boyd, Alex Erickson, Auden Tate and John Ross III — all posted career-highs in both receptions and receiving yards. Defensively, Cincinnati notched 11 more sacks in the second half of the season compared to the first, and allowed 84.1 fewer yards per game. The team finished 2-14 that season.

In 2020, Taylor helped transition QB Joe Burrow, the No. 1 overall pick in the draft, to the pro level despite the absence of an in-person offseason program due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Taylor helped Burrow to one of the most productive starts to a career by a QB in NFL history, before a knee injury ended the rookie's season after 10 games. Still, Burrow's 264 completions were the most ever by an NFL QB through their first 10 career games, while his 404 pass attempts were second and his 2688 passing yards were fifth. Defensively, Taylor oversaw the onboarding of seven new starters, and helped Cincinnati hold opposing passers to just a 62.8 completion percentage (sixth-lowest in the NFL).

Taylor came to Cincinnati after two seasons (2017-18) with the L.A. Rams, where he served as assistant wide receivers coach in 2017 and quarterbacks coach in '18. In 2018, he helped guide Rams QB Jared Goff to career highs in every major passing category. Goff ranked fourth in the NFL in passing yards and eighth in passer rating. The Rams' QB play was a key component to their offense, which finished the regular season ranked second in the NFL in total net yards (421.1 per game), fifth in net passing yards (281.7), second in scoring (32.9), first in first downs (401) and fifth in third-down percentage (45.0). Los Angeles won the NFC West with a 13-3 regular-season record and advanced to Super Bowl LIII against the New England Patriots.

In 2017, Taylor helped oversee an emerging Rams passing offense that ranked 10th in the NFL in passing yards per game (239.4). Taylor directed a young Rams receiving corps headed by rookie Cooper Kupp, who finished the season with 62 catches, a team-high 869 receiving yards and five TDs.

Prior to his time with the Rams, Taylor had a one-year stint in the college ranks, serving as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at the University of Cincinnati in 2016. Taylor served under head coach Tommy Tuberville at UC.

Taylor broke into NFL coaching in 2012 with the Miami Dolphins as assistant quarterbacks coach. He was elevated to quarterbacks coach from 2013-15, and spent the final five games of '15 as the Dolphins' interim offensive coordinator and primary play-caller, after the team made coaching staff changes.

During his time in Miami, Taylor was instrumental in the development of QB Ryan Tannehill, the team's first-round draft pick in 2012.

Taylor's coaching career began at Texas A&M University, where he served as offensive graduate assistant and tight ends coach under head coach Mike Sherman from 2008-11. The Aggies shared the Big 12 South Championship in 2010 and played in three bowl games during Taylor's time in College Station.

As a player, Taylor began his college career at Wake Forest (2002-03), before transferring to Butler County Community College in Kansas ('04) and then playing his final two seasons ('05-06) at the University of Nebraska. Taylor had a decorated career with the Cornhuskers, setting numerous school records and passing for a combined 5850 yards and 45 touchdowns. In his senior season of 2006, Taylor was named Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year after passing for 3197 total yards and leading the Cornhuskers to a 9-3 record, an appearance in the Big 12 Championship Game and a berth in the Cotton Bowl. He was inducted into the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame in 2017.

Taylor joined the Tampa Bay Buccaneers as a college free agent in 2007, but he was waived prior to the start of training camp and never saw NFL action. Later that year, he joined the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League, where he spent one season (did not play).

His father, Sherwood, was a defensive back and captain at the University of Oklahoma, playing under Sooners head coach Barry Switzer from 1976-79. Sherwood Taylor later served as an assistant coach at Oklahoma and Kansas State University. Taylor's brother, Press, played quarterback at Marshall University and is currently senior offensive assistant for the Indianapolis Colts.

Taylor was born in Norman, Okla., on May 10, 1983. After attending Norman High School, he earned a bachelor's degree in communication studies from the University of Nebraska in 2006. He and his wife, Sarah, have four children — Brooks, Luke, Emma Claire and Milly. Sarah Taylor is the daughter of former Green Bay Packers and Texas A&M head coach Mike Sherman.

Urban Meyer was named the seventh head coach in Jaguars history on Jan. 14, 2021.

Meyer previously served as head coach of the Bowling Green State University, the University of Utah, the University of Florida and Ohio State University. Meyer retired from coaching in 2019, but came out of retirement to become head coach of the Jaguars, his first NFL job.

Before joining the Jaguars, Meyer accumulated a 187-32 record and an .854 winning percentage, the third-highest in college football history. He also posted a 12-3 record in postseason play. He is the only modern-day coach to win national championships in two different conferences (SEC in 2006 and '08 at Florida, and Big Ten in '14 at Ohio State).

Meyer played defensive back at the University of Cincinnati in 1984. He also was an college assistant coach at Cincinnati (1985), Ohio State ('86-87), Illinois State ('88-99), Colorado State ('90-95) and Notre Dame ('96-2000).

Meyer was born on July 10, 1964. He and his wife, Shelley, have three children — Nicki, Gigi and Nate, and two grandchildren.

Taylor vs. Jaguars: The series is tied, 1-1.

Taylor vs. Meyer: No previous meetings.

Meyer vs. Bengals: No previous meetings.

BENGALS NOTES

Mr. Reliable wears No. 30: Jessie Bates earned a starting S spot midway through his first preseason in Cincinnati, and he hasn't looked back since. The 2018 second-round pick has started all 51 possible games since joining the team, tied for the sixth-most consecutive starts by a player to begin their career as a Bengal. Furthermore, Bates stands just one start shy of LB Takeo Spikes (52) for most consecutive starts by a defender to begin a Bengals career. Bates, though, suffered a neck injury in last Sunday's game at Pittsburgh, and his status for Thursday's game vs. Jacksonville, in which he could tie Spikes, is unknown.

Here's a look at the players with the most consecutive starts to begin a Bengals career:

PLAYER	CONSECUTIVE STARTS TO BEGIN CAREER
C Bob Johnson	94
QB Andy Dalton	77
TE Dan Ross	65
C Russell Bodine	64
LB Takeo Spikes	52
S Jessie Bates	51
LB Bill Bergey	51

Roster flip noticeable in Year 3: Zac Taylor took over as Bengals head coach in 2019, and throughout his now three-year tenure there has been a steady but noticeable churn of the roster. Of the 53 players on the current roster (as of Tuesday, Sept. 28), only 13 suited up as Bengals prior to Taylor's arrival. That means 40 current Bengals — or 75.5 percent of the roster — have joined Cincinnati since 2019.

Cincinnati's roster overhaul has especially hit overdrive since the end of last season. Twenty-two current Bengals — that's 41.5 percent of the 53-player roster — had never suited up in a game for Cincinnati prior to the 2021 regular season. (It should be noted that figure includes three players who were with Cincinnati previously but never played — CB Trae Waynes, OT Isaiah Prince and TE Mitchell Wilcox.)

2021 Bengals captains: Prior to start of the regular season, the Bengals named team captains for 2021 on offense, defense and special teams.

On offense, the captains are second-year QB Joe Burrow, fifth-year HB Joe Mixon and sixth-year WR Tyler Boyd. This is Burrow's second season as a captain, while Mixon and Boyd are first-time captains.

On defense, the captains are fourth-year S Jessie Bates, fourth-year DE Sam Hubbard and sixth-year S Vonn Bell. It's the first captain nod for both Bates and Hubbard, and the second for Bell, who joined the Bengals last season.

The lone captain on special teams is P Kevin Huber, who is the longest-tenured Bengal on the roster at 13 seasons. Huber is 36 years old, while Boyd, Bell and Hubbard are the next-oldest captains at just 26.

Burrow bounces back: Bengals QB Joe Burrow returned to the field this season a little more than nine months after his rookie campaign was cut short by a left knee injury. Over the offseason, a hot topic of debate centered on how quickly Burrow could return to game action, and then if and when he would return to form. He answered both of those questions in Game 1 vs. Minnesota. First, he made good on a promise from after the injury, when he said that he would start Cincinnati's 2021 season opener. Then he emphatically answered any questions that remained about the possibility of having rust.

Burrow against Minnesota posted then career-highs in passer rating (128.8), completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempt (9.67). At halftime, he had as many TDs (two) as he did incompletions (11 of 13 passing). He finished off the game with a seven-play, 46-yard drive in overtime that set up a game-winning FG as time expired. That drive was highlighted by perhaps the play of the day, when on fourth-and-inches with 39 seconds remaining in OT, Burrow changed the play at the line of scrimmage and tossed a 32-yard pass to TE C.J. Uzomah to get the Bengals to the Vikings' 20-yard line. Three plays later, rookie K Evan McPherson nailed the 33-yard game-winner.

"I was excited to get out there and get hit a little bit," Burrow said of his first game back. "I think I could have played a little better, but it's great to get the win in Game 1. I don't think we win that game last year."

So far this season, Burrow has completed 53 of 75 passes (70.7 percent) for 640 yards, seven TDs and four INTs (105.4 rating).

Recapping Burrow's NFL journey: Bengals QB Joe Burrow has returned healthy this year after his rookie campaign last season ended due to a left knee injury suffered early in the third quarter of Cincinnati's Nov. 22 game at Washington. With one of the top statistical seasons by any rookie in Bengals history cut short, the 24-year old Burrow had surgery on Dec. 2 and then embarked on a long rehab process. He was medically cleared in time to take the first snap of training camp on July 28, and participated fully in every practice (save for one scheduled rest day). Bengals coaches played it safe with Burrow in preseason though, limiting him to just three snaps, which came in the preseason finale vs. Miami.

Burrow ended his rookie campaign with 404 pass attempts, 264 completions, a 65.3 completion percentage, 13 TDs, five INTs and a passer rating of 89.8. He had five 300-yard passing games, which tied the Bengals' single-season record despite him playing only 10 games. At the time of his injury, the Athens, Ohio native had been on pace to shatter numerous other NFL rookie passing records, including the marks for attempts, completions and passing yards.

So far in 2021, Burrow has completed 53 of 75 passes (70.7 percent) for 640 yards, seven TDs and four INTs (105.4 rating).

Burrow tops 3000 passing yards: Bengals QB Joe Burrow surpassed 3000 career passing yards in Game 2 at Chicago, in what was his 12th career game. That made him just the eighth QB ever to reach 3000 in as few games.

It also should be noted that Burrow missed nearly the entire second half of his 10th career game, when he left the contest with a season-ending left knee injury early in the third quarter.

Here's a look at the NFL QBs who took the fewest number of games to reach 3000 career passing yards:

PLAYER	TEAM	GAMES TO REACH 3K YARDS
Patrick Mahomes	Kansas City Chiefs	10
Justin Herbert	L.A. Chargers	10
Cam Newton	Carolina Panthers	11
Andrew Luck	Indianapolis Colts	11
Joe Burrow	Cincinnati Bengals	12
Deshawn Watson	Houston Texans	12
Baker Mayfield	Cleveland Browns	12
Marc Bulger	St. Louis Rams	12

Burrow among fastest Bengals to 3K: In Game 2 at Chicago, Bengals QB Joe Burrow reached 3000 career passing yards on just his 444th career attempt. That made him among the fastest Bengals ever to hit the mark.

Here's a look at the Bengals QBs who took the fewest number of passing attempts to reach 3000 career yards:

BENGALS QB	PASS ATTEMPTS TO REACH 3K YARDS
Jeff Blake	420
Boomer Esiason	425
Andy Dalton	437
Joe Burrow	444
Carson Palmer	446

Burrow's college connections: Bengals QB Joe Burrow may only be in his second NFL season, but he has plenty familiar faces around him in Cincinnati. There are six current Bengals who played with Burrow in college at either Ohio State or LSU, meaning 11.5 percent of Burrow's 52 Bengals teammates suited up with him for at least one season in college.

The Bengals also have two practice squad players who played with Burrow, along with one assistant coach — assistant WRs coach Brad Kragthorpe — who was on LSU's staff in 2018, Burrow's first season with the Tigers.

Here's a look at the current Bengals who played with Burrow in college, along with the years they played together. Burrow played at Ohio State from 2015-17, and at Louisiana State from '18-19:

NAME	POSITION	SCHOOL	SEASONS WITH BURROW
Eli Apple	CB	Ohio State	2015
Vonn Bell	S	Ohio State	2015
Ja'Marr Chase	WR	Louisiana State	2018-19
Sam Hubbard	DE	Ohio State	2015-17
Isaiah Prince	OT	Ohio State	2015-17
Tyler Shelvin	DT	Louisiana State	2018-19
Keandre Jones*	LB	Ohio State	2016-17
Thaddeus Moss*	TE	Louisiana State	2018-19

* — Asterisk denotes practice squad player.

Tee continues rookie momentum: Bengals WR Tee Higgins this season has continued the momentum he built during his rookie campaign in 2020. Higgins, a second-round pick of the Bengals in 2020, has 10 catches for 118 yards and two TDs so far this season. Higgins, though, missed last Sunday's game at Pittsburgh with a shoulder injury, and his status for Thursday's game vs. Jacksonville is unknown.

Last year, Higgins' 67 catches tied with former WR Cris Collinsworth for the most by a rookie in team history, while his team-high 908 receiving yards were good for the fourth-most ever by a Bengals rookie. He also hauled in six TD catches, tied for fifth-most ever by a Bengals rookie. He finished the season ranked third leaguewide in catches, yards and TDs by a rookie.

It also should be noted that Higgins' rookie accomplishments came despite several obstacles along the way. He did not have an offseason program or preseason games due to the COVID-19 pandemic, and a hamstring injury caused him to miss two weeks early in training camp. He was eased into the WR rotation the first two regular-season games, and then his starting QB — fellow rookie Joe Burrow — was lost for the final six games of the season due to injury. Higgins caught passes from three different QBs as a rookie.

Then, he was held without a catch in the season finale after leaving early in the game with an injury. That injury occurred on a 41-yard catch-and-run in the first quarter, which would have broken the rookie receptions tie with Collinsworth and moved him closer to becoming just the third Bengals rookie to record 1000 receiving yards.

Higgins this season has drawn praise from numerous Bengals coaches and teammates for transforming his body over the offseason. "My biggest thing was to get stronger," Higgins said over the summer. "I didn't do any routes, I didn't run. I was just really in the weight room for the most part. Then, once I was able to actually get on the field and do like a workout or something, I just went out there and it felt good. I just felt like I had to get stronger, so I focused a little bit more on the weight room. Now I'm weighing like 220 (pounds), and it feels good. Last year I came in at like 220, but it was too heavy for me, so I had to lose a few pounds. Now it feels really good and I feel even faster."

Boyd looking for third thousand: Bengals WR Tyler Boyd so far this season has a team-high 14 catches for 141 yards and a TD. The 2016 second-round pick of the Bengals is looking this season to top 1000 receiving yards for what would be the third time in his career. That would make him just the fifth Bengal ever with as many 1000-yard seasons.

Boyd ended his 2020 season with 841 receiving yards, just 159 shy of reaching the 1000-yard mark for what would have been the third consecutive season. Boyd had been aiming to become just the fourth Bengal ever to reach 1000 receiving yards in at least three consecutive seasons. He was on pace to do just that before he left Game 14 vs. Pittsburgh in the first quarter with a concussion, and then missed the following week at Houston. He also was limited to just 10 games with the team's No. 1 QB, Joe Burrow, who suffered a season-ending injury in November.

Boyd stands as one of nine Bengals ever to reach 1000 receiving yards in a season, and one of six to hit the mark more than once. WR Chad Johnson's seven 1000-yard seasons stand as the most in team history, followed by WRs A.J. Green (six), Carl Pickens (four), Cris Collinsworth (four) and T.J. Houshmandzadeh (two). WRs Eddie Brown, Tim McGee and Darnay Scott each had one 1000-yard season.

Chase, Burrow reunite in Cincinnati: One of the most statistically accomplished QB-WR duos in college football history has reunited in Cincinnati. Bengals QB Joe Burrow, the No. 1 overall pick in the 2020 draft, and WR Ja'Marr Chase, the No. 5 overall pick in the '21 draft, are now teammates again after helping power the Louisiana State Tigers to a college football national championship in 2019.

So far this season, Burrow and Chase have connected 11 times for 220 yards (20.0 average) and four TDs.

With Burrow as his QB in 2019, Chase set single-season SEC records for receiving yards (1780) and TDs (20), en route to winning the Biletnikoff Award as college football's top receiver. Burrow, of course, went on to win the Heisman Trophy as college football's top player that year, after setting numerous NCAA and SEC passing records.

"Ja'Marr is one of the best receivers I've evaluated in the draft," said Bengals head coach Zac Taylor. "You can see the chemistry that he and Joe had together in that 2019 season. He comes in and adds to a great receiver room that we already have, and gives us one more great playmaker. Adding a guy like Ja'Marr when we already have Tyler Boyd and Tee Higgins, you're able to put pressure on the defense."

Chase third-youngest to hit paydirt: It didn't take Bengals rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase long to find the end zone. Cincinnati's first-round pick in April's draft caught a 50-yard TD from QB Joe Burrow just before halftime in the team's season-opener vs. Minnesota, and in doing so he became the third-youngest Bengal ever to score a TD. Chase also finished the Vikings game with 101 receiving yards, which made him the youngest Bengal ever to hit 100 receiving yards in a game.

Chase, the youngest Bengal on the current roster, was just 195 days removed from his 21st birthday when he scored in the opener. Only former DE Robert Geathers and HB Joe Mixon, Chase's teammate, were younger for their first Bengals TD.

Here's a look at the youngest Bengals to score a touchdown:

PLAYER	DATE/OPPONENT	AGE
HB Joe Mixon	10-8-2017 vs. Buffalo	21 years, 76 days
DE Robert Geathers	1-2-2005 at Philadelphia	21 years, 144 days
WR Ja'Marr Chase	9-12-2021 vs. Minnesota	21 years, 195 days
WR Josh Malone	10-29-2017 vs. Indianapolis	21 years, 222 days
S Jessie Bates	10-28-2018 vs. Tampa Bay	21 years, 244 days

Ja'Marr over the top: Ja'Marr Chase, the Bengals' first-round pick in April's draft, came to Cincinnati with a reputation as a premier deep threat at WR. And so far this season, he's lived up to that billing.

Chase caught a 50-yard TD in his NFL debut on Sept. 12 vs. Minnesota, a 42-yard TD the next week at Chicago, and a 34-yard TD in Week 3 at Pittsburgh. That makes him the second player since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger with TD catches of at least 40 yards in each of his first two NFL games (Vikings WR Sammy White in 1976), and the second rookie since the merger with TD catches of at least 25 yards in each of their first three games (Saints WR Donte Stallworth in 2002).

So far this season, Chase has 11 catches for a team-high 220 yards and four TDs.

'Uno' for six: Bengals rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase, who is the first player in Bengals history to wear uniform No. 1 and has thus earned the nickname "Uno" among fans, has gotten off to perhaps the best start of any rookie WR in team history. Through three games, "Uno" has 11 catches for 220 yards and four TDs (tied for second in NFL).

Chase told CBS sideline reporter Melanie Collins in Game 3 at Pittsburgh that he keeps the statistics of other rookie WRs as the background on the lock screen of his phone as motivation. Right now, he stands above them all in both receiving yardage and TDs.

Chase's ability to find the end zone has been particularly impressive thus far. At 21 years old (born March 1, 2000), he stands as the youngest player in NFL history with at least four receiving TDs in his first three career games. That one-upped Pro Football Hall of Famer Randy Moss, who at 21 years old had three TDs in Minnesota's first three games in 1998.

Chase also stands as one of just nine players in NFL history with at least one receiving TD in each of their first three games. Here's a look at the full list:

ROOKIE PLAYER	TEAM	SEASON
WR Ja'Marr Chase	Cincinnati	2021
WR Terry McLaurin	Washington	2019
WR Martavis Bryant	Pittsburgh	2014
WR Andre Davis	Cleveland	2002
WR Donte Stallworth	New Orleans	2002
WR Louis Lipps	Pittsburgh	1984
WR Daryl Turner	Seattle	1984
TE/WR Billy Howton	Green Bay	1952
RB Steve Lach	Chicago	1942

That didn't take long: Bengals rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase, the team's first-round pick in April's draft, notched his first career multi-TD game on Sept. 26 at Pittsburgh. Those two TD grabs (nine and 34 yards) made him the first NFL rookie this year with a multi-TD game, and the first Bengal rookie to reach pay dirt twice since Tee Higgins did it last year.

Higgins recorded his first multi-TD game on Sept. 27, 2020, which at the time was the earliest a Bengals rookie had ever achieved the feat. Chase, though, can now lay claim to it, after his two-TD performance against Pittsburgh came just one day earlier — Sept. 26, 2021. It should be noted that both players recorded their first multi-TD games in Week 3 of their respective seasons.

Chase also now stands as one of only six Bengal rookies ever to catch at least two TDs in a game. The others are Higgins (Sept. 27, 2020 at Philadelphia), Mohamed Sanu (Nov. 25, 2012 vs. Oakland), Darnay Scott (Oct. 30, 1994 vs. Dallas), Cris Collinsworth (Nov. 29, 1981 at Cleveland), and Isaac Curtis (Dec. 9, 1973 vs. Cleveland, and Dec. 16, 1973 at Houston).

Chase goes long in debut: Bengals rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase began his Bengals career in style, with five catches for 101 yards and a TD in his NFL debut. His first two catches converted third downs to keep alive what became a Bengals TD drive, and then his third reception was a 50-yard TD pass from QB Joe Burrow to give the Bengals the lead just before halftime.

That 50-yard TD went down as the longest score of any kind by a Bengals rookie in their NFL debut.

Here's a look at the longest TDs by Bengals rookies in their NFL debut.

BENGALS ROOKIE	DATE/OPPONENT	TOUCHDOWN
WR Ja'Marr Chase	9-12-2021 vs. Minnesota	50-yard reception
WR A.J. Green	9-11-2011 at Cleveland	41-yard reception
WR Darnay Scott	9-4-1994 vs. Cleveland	24-yard reception
QB Joe Burrow	9-13-2020 vs. L.A. Chargers	23-yard rush

Chase debuts in style: Bengals rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase made his NFL debut in Cincinnati's season-opening overtime win over Minnesota on Sept. 12, and he stuffed the stat sheet in what was widely considered one of the top debuts ever by a Bengals rookie.

Chase, Cincinnati's first-round pick in April's draft, had five catches for 101 yards and a TD against the Vikings, which made him the 30th rookie in NFL history to top 100 receiving yards in their NFL debut. And at 21 years and 195 days old, he became the youngest Bengal ever to top 100 receiving yards, and the third-youngest Bengal to score a TD. He was the first Bengal with a receiving TD in his NFL debut since A.J. Green in 2011, and his 50-yard TD catch at the end of the first half was the longest TD of any kind by a Bengals rookie in their NFL debut.

Here's a look at the Bengals rookies with the most receiving yards in their NFL debut.

BENGALS ROOKIE	GAME	REC. YDS.
WR Ja'Marr Chase	9/12/2021 vs. Minn.	101
WR Jordan Shipley	9/12/2010 at N.E.	82
WR Peter Warrick	9/10/2000 vs. Cle.	80
WR Cris Collinsworth	9/6/1981 vs. Sea.	65

Mixon fastest Bengal to 3K/1K: Bengals HB Joe Mixon currently stands at 3645 career rushing yards and 1037 receiving yards. It took the 2017 second-round pick just 45 career games to hit 3000 career rushing yards, and then another five to top 1000 career receiving yards. That made him one of just seven Bengals ever to hit both marks, however it took him the fewest number of games (50) to do so.

Corey Dillon, James Brooks, Pete Johnson, Harold Green, Giovani Bernard and Essex Johnson are the only other players to accomplish the 3000/1000 feat as Bengals. And of those players, only Dillon, Brooks and Johnson reached 4000 career rushing yards as Bengals, a figure Mixon is just 355 yards shy of matching.

Here's a look at the fastest players ever to top 3000 career rushing yards and 1000 career receiving yards in a Bengals uniform (it should be noted that Brooks began his career with the San Diego Chargers from 1981-83; however, the data counts only rushing/receiving yardage and games played as a Bengal):

NAME	BENGALS GAMES TO REACH 3K/1K
Joe Mixon	50
James Brooks	61
Corey Dillon	71
Giovani Bernard	75
Pete Johnson	77

Bengals tough when Mixon hits 20 carries: The Bengals hold a 9-7 record when HB Joe Mixon reaches the 20-carry mark. And in those 16 games, Mixon has topped 100 rushing yards 10 times. Nine of his last 12 games with 20 carries have resulted in 100-yard rushing performances.

The Bengals are 1-1 this year when Mixon hits the mark — he had 29 carries for 127 yards (4.4 average) in a win over Minnesota in the season opener, and 20 carries for 69 yards in a Week 2 loss at Chicago. Last year, despite being limited by a foot injury to just six games, Mixon hit the 20-carry mark twice, and the Bengals were 1-1 in those contests.

Mixon secures the rock: Not only is Bengals HB Joe Mixon considered one of the top rushers in the NFL, he's also proven effective at protecting the football. Mixon has fumbled just four times (two lost) since entering the league in 2017, a span that covers 1014 combined touches on offense (879 rushes, 135 catches). That includes just one fumble (lost) since the start of the 2018 season. He also put together a streak of 541 consecutive rushing attempts without a fumble (ended in Game 1 last season), which was the second-longest by a Bengal since the Elias Sports Bureau began tracking the stat in 1990.

Mixon has a current streak of 168 rushes without a fumble, dating back to his fumble in the 2020 opener.

Here's a look at the longest streaks of rushing attempts by a Bengal without a fumble since 1990:

NFL PLAYER	CARRIES WITHOUT A FUMBLE	SEASONS SPANNED
Giovani Bernard	829	2013-20
Joe Mixon	541	2017-20
Harold Green	298	1991-93
Jeremy Hill	282	2015-17
Cedric Benson	260	2010-11

Logan leads NFL in INTs: Bengals second-year LB Logan Wilson has turned heads this season as one of the team's top defensive players. The 2020 third-round pick has three INTs so far this season, tied for the most in the NFL. No other linebacker has more than one INT. Wilson's three INTs already are the most by a Bengals LB in a season since Odell Thurman's five in 2005.

Wilson has also been strong against the run. His 30 tackles lead the team and rank tied for sixth leaguewide.

As a rookie last season, Wilson was eased into the regular defensive rotation and then battled injuries late in the year. This season, he was assigned the green dot on his helmet as the team's designated communicator, and has been credited by teammates for being a vocal leader.

"He has a huge responsibility on his shoulders this year," DE Trey Hendrickson said of Wilson. "He's taken in a lot in just two years, and you wouldn't know that he's a second-year guy. He's our play-caller out there, and he's getting the calls out quickly. That's what we need from a guy inside like that. And he's got hands too."

Bengals carry "Mo" into halftime: The Bengals this season have scored a combined 21 points in the last two minutes of the first half. That total is tied for second among all NFL teams. When divided out among Cincinnati's three games, that's an average of 7.0 points per game in the last two minutes.

Here's a look at the NFL teams this season with the most points in the last two minutes before halftime:

TEAM	MOST POINTS IN TWO MINUTES BEFORE HALF
San Francisco 49ers.....	24
Cincinnati Bengals.....	21
Denver Broncos.....	21
Green Bay Packers.....	17
Arizona Cardinals.....	17

Bengals D gets off the field: Cincinnati's defense this season has excelled at getting the ball back to the offense in a hurry. According to the Elias Sports Bureau, the Bengals this season have forced their opponents into 13 "three-and-outs," tied for fourth in the NFL.

Elias defines a "three-and-out" as a drive ending without gaining a first down. That means a "three-and-out" could be up to four plays, and a drive that ends with an INT or fumble without the offense gaining a first down would count.

Here's a look at the NFL teams with the most "three-and-outs" this season, according to Elias.

TEAM	THREE-AND-OUTS
Buffalo Bills.....	14
Carolina Panthers.....	14
Arizona Cardinals.....	14
Cincinnati Bengals.....	13
Houston Texans.....	13
New England Patriots.....	13
Tampa Bay Buccaneers.....	13

Bates coming off his best season: Bengals S Jessie Bates this season is looking to build off of a strong 2020 campaign in which he was among the top performers — offense or defense — on the team. Bates, a 2018 Bengals second-round pick, has drawn praise from many observers as one of the top safeties in the NFL.

Bates so far this season has 22 tackles, including one for a loss. Last year, he started all 16 games and recorded 107 tackles (second on team), including two for losses, along with 15 PDs (tied for sixth in NFL), three INTs and a FF.

Opposing coaches have noticed when watching the film. "I don't know how many interceptions Jessie Bates has, but this is a good player," said Dolphins head coach Brian Flores. "I'll tell you that right now, this is a damn good player."

Added Steelers head coach Mike Tomlin: "I just can't say enough about the play of (the Bengals') safety tandem, specifically Jessie Bates. He's a good player. They are asking him to do more, and he's delivering more."

Said Bates of all the praise: "That only means so much. I play this game to win football games. I'm a leader of this team on the defensive side, and my main goal is to win football games. I look at national media when I need to, but right now I'm just focusing on building the right environment around here."

Bates has started all 51 games of his career (more info in "Mr. Reliable wears No. 30"), and topped 100 tackles in each of his first three seasons.

Hubbard a Day 2 draft steal: DE Sam Hubbard, a third-round pick (77th overall) of the Bengals in 2018, ranks third in sacks (18.0) among all players from the '18 rookie class (draft picks and college free agents).

Players' listed positions vary from media outlet to media outlet (e.g. whether a player is classified as a LB or DE), but according to NFL.com's draft record, Hubbard was the 13th defensive lineman selected in 2018 — five DEs and seven DTs came off the board before him. According to NFL.com, there were a total of 40 defensive linemen (20 DEs, 20 DTs) selected in the 2018 draft, along with 32 linebackers and one player classified as "EDGE." There were also, of course, numerous undrafted rookies in 2018.

Hubbard has been the Bengals' starting RDE since 2019, and signed a contract extension with the Bengals in July that keeps him in Cincinnati through the end of the 2025 season.

Here's a look at the career sack leaders from the rookie class of 2018:

PLAYER/POSITION	TEAM	PICK (ROUND)	SACKS
Bradley Chubb/DE	Denver .....	No. 5 (1st)	20.5
Harold Landry/EDGE	Tennessee .....	No. 41 (2nd)	20.5
Sam Hubbard/DE	Cincinnati .....	No. 77 (3rd)	18.0
Darius Leonard/OLB	Indianapolis .....	No. 36 (2nd)	15.0
Marcus Davenport/DE	New Orleans .....	No. 14 (1st)	13.0

McPherson the youngest with OT winner: Bengals rookie K Evan McPherson made his NFL debut in style on Sept. 12 vs. Minnesota, booting a game-winning 33-yard FG as time expired in OT.

McPherson, a fifth-round pick of the Bengals in April's draft, chose to forgo his final year of college eligibility to enter the NFL draft, and thus is among the youngest Bengals on the roster. At the time of his game-winner against Minnesota, which he says was the first "walk-off" kick of his career on any level, he was 22 years and 53 days old (born 7-21-99), making him the youngest player in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG in overtime. It also made him just the second rookie kicker in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG with no time remaining in OT (the other was Miami K Jason Sanders in 2018). Earlier in the game, McPherson became the youngest Bengal ever to kick a FG or PAT.

So far this season, McPherson has made all eight of his PATs and all four of his FGs, including two 50-plus yarders and the aforementioned 33-yard game-winner.

Here's a look at the youngest players in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG in OT:

PLAYER	TEAM	DATE/OPPONENT	AGE
Evan McPherson	Cincinnati	9-12-2021 vs. Minn.	22 years, 53 days
Pete Stoyanovich	Miami	10-8-1989 vs. Cle.	22 years, 163 days
Wade Richey	San Francisco	12-6-1998 at Car.	22 years, 201 days
Ali Haji-Sheikh	N.Y. Giants	9-11-1983 at Atl.	22 years, 243 days
Blair Walsh	Minnesota	9-9-2012 vs. Jax.	22 years, 245 days

Special teams soar under Simmons: Over the 19-year tenure of Darrin Simmons, the Bengals have consistently boasted one of the top special teams units in the NFL. Simmons in 2020 added the title of assistant head coach to his usual role as special teams coordinator, a nod to a successful run that has seen 17 of his pupils appear in the team's record book.

Here's an overview of Simmons' players' dominance in the records (for more info, see the Bengals' records section on page 168 in the 2020 media guide):

- The three most accurate FG kickers (by career percentage) in team history — Shayne Graham, Randy Bullock, and Mike Nugent — were all coached by Simmons for their entire Bengals careers. Simmons has also been at the helm for each of the six most accurate single seasons by Bengals kickers.

- The five longest consecutive FG streaks in team history have all come under Simmons' watch, as have three of the five longest PAT streaks.

- Simmons, who punted at the University of Kansas, has had particular success coaching his former position. Current P Kevin Huber holds the top spot in every Bengals career punting category, along with the top five single seasons for gross average, net average and inside-20s. Former P Kyle Larson, who spent his entire Bengals term (2004-08) under Simmons, ranks within the top four in every career punting category, and shares with Huber the record for longest punt in team history (75 yards).

- Simmons has coached three of the Bengals' top four leaders in career punt return average — Adam Jones, Quan Cosby and Peter Warrick.

- Simmons has coached four of the team's top six leaders in career kickoff return average — Jones, Alex Erickson, Bernard Scott, Glenn Holt — along with five of the six best single seasons by a kickoff returner (based on yards per kickoff return).

And although the category is not kept as an official team record, it should be noted that LS Clark Harris has executed 1725 deep snaps without a single unplayable delivery since joining the Bengals in mid-2009.

Simmons has also coached four players who have made the Pro Bowl as special teamers — Huber, Jones, Harris and HB Cedric Peerman.

Wilson goes long: On Cincinnati's opening possession of last season's Nov. 29 matchup vs. the N.Y. Giants, S Brandon Wilson fielded a kickoff in the end zone and darted 103 yards for a TD. It counted officially as the longest play of any kind in Bengals history, topping a 102-yard kickoff return by RB Eric Bieniemy (Oct. 26, 1997 at NYG) and a pair of 102-yard INT returns by CBs Artrell Hawkins (Nov. 3, 2002 at Houston) and Louis Breeden (Nov. 8, 1981 at S.D.). It was also the longest play in the AFC in 2020.

According to the NFL's Next Gen Stats service, which uses GPS to track players' speed, Wilson reached a top speed of 21.05 MPH during the return. It didn't, however, match the 22.03 MPH he recorded on a kickoff return for a TD in 2019, which still stands as fastest by a Bengal since NGS' launch in '16.

Wilson currently has two career kickoff returns for TDs, tied with former S/CB Tremaine Mack for the most in team history.

25 points does the trick: Since 2011, the Bengals own a 52-5-2 record when scoring 25 or more points. That's good for the third-best winning percentage (.898) in the NFL when topping the 25-point mark over that span.

The Bengals are 6-4 under head coach Zac Taylor (1-0 this season) when reaching the 25-point plateau.

Here are the top five teams in the NFL since 2011, in terms of winning percentage, when hitting the 25-point plateau:

TEAM	WINS	LOSSES	TIES	WINNING PCT.
New England Patriots	92	9	0	.911
Cincinnati Bengals	52	5	2	.898
Miami Dolphins	42	5	0	.894
Denver Broncos	58	8	0	.879
Arizona Cardinals	50	8	0	.856

Huber, Harris chasing down Kenny: One of the most prestigious Bengals records in existence, and one that has stood for 38 years, could be matched by the end of the 2021 season. Longtime CB Ken Riley's Bengals record 207 games played is currently 14 clear of current P Kevin Huber (193), meaning that if Huber plays in each of the Bengals' 14 remaining games this season, he would tie The Rattler's historic mark that has stood since his retirement in 1983.

In Game 3 vs. Pittsburgh, Huber passed QB Ken Anderson (192) for third place all-time in career games played as a Bengal. He now trails only LB Reggie Williams (206) and Riley (207).

Not far behind that group is current LS Clark Harris (187 games played), who has snapped to Huber since joining Cincinnati midway through the 2009 season. Harris passed Pro Football Hall of Famer Anthony Munoz (185) for sixth place in Game 2 at Chicago, and he is just one shy of DT Tim Krumrie (188) for fifth place.

Here's a look at the players with the most career games played as a Bengal:

PLAYER	GAMES AS A BENGAL	YEARS
CB Ken Riley	207	1969-83
LB Reggie Williams	206	1976-85
P Kevin Huber	193	2009-present
QB Ken Anderson	192	1971-86
DT Tim Krumrie	188	1983-94
LS Clark Harris	187	2009-present
OT Anthony Munoz	185	1980-92

The Huber roundup: Bengals P Kevin Huber, a 2009 Bengals fifth-round pick who is now in his 13th season in stripes, has long been considered the top punter in team history. He has cemented that legacy in recent seasons by taking over the top spot in the few remaining career punting categories he did not already own.

Huber now stands first in team history in the following categories:

- Punts (928)
- Punting yards (42,010)

- Gross average (45.27)
- Net average (40.28)
- Inside-20 punts (322)

Huber has also taken over many of the Bengals' single-season and single-game records. Among them are:

- He holds the top five Bengals season averages in both gross and net punting yardage, and in 2020, his 12th NFL season, he re-set his own single-season team records in both categories (47.18 gross, 42.82 net).
- He shares the team record for longest punt (75 yards) with Kyle Larson.
- His 33 inside-20 punts in 2012 is a single-season franchise record.
- His six inside-20 punts on Sept. 14, 2017 vs. Houston are tied with Lee Johnson (Nov. 2, 1997) for the most in a game in Bengals history.

Huber among NFL's best at pinning 'em: As the evidence shows, no Bengals punter has ever been nearly as successful as Kevin Huber at pinning opponents inside the 20-yard line. The 2009 fifth-round draft choice currently has 322 career inside-20 punts, a margin of more than 100 over the next-best in team history (Lee Johnson, 186).

But the numbers also show that Huber is among the best active punters in the NFL at pinning opponents deep.

Here's a look at the five active punters with the most career inside-20 punts:

PUNTER	2020 TEAM	NFL EXP.	CAREER INSIDE-20s
Andy Lee	Arizona	18	450
Sam Koch	Baltimore	16	431
Brett Kern	Tennessee	14	378
Kevin Huber	Cincinnati	13	322
Johnny Hekker	L.A. Rams	10	271

Kickoff weekend roster comparisons: Early this season, the NFL released its annual comparison of rosters throughout the league on kickoff weekend. The data includes comparisons of height, weight, experience and age across all 32 NFL rosters on the Week 1 of the season.

Here's a look at the Bengals' opening-week roster data from each of the last five seasons (all info is according to the NFL's annual kickoff weekend roster comparison press release):

CATEGORY	2021	2020	2019	2018	2017

Examining Week 1 Bengals since '02: Here's a look at how Cincinnati's opening-week roster this year stacked up with the Bengals' Week 1 rosters of the last 20 seasons (since 2002). All info is according to the NFL's annual kickoff weekend roster info press release, which compares the height, weight, age and experience of all 32 teams in Week 1.

The 2021 Bengals' average height was 6.18 feet, which tied for the fourth-shortest Week 1 roster Cincinnati has had over the last 20 years. The 2002 team (6.11 feet) was the shortest, while the '16 squad (6.22 feet) was the tallest.

This year's Bengals averaged 248.83 pounds, good for the sixth-heaviest opening-week squad Cincinnati has had over the last 20 years. The 2010 team (251.53) was the heaviest, while the '02 squad (244.6) was the lightest.

The players on the Bengals' 2021 opening-week roster averaged 25.68 years old, good for the third-youngest Week 1 roster Cincinnati has had over the last 20 years. The 2018 squad (25.38) was the youngest, while the '06 team (26.57) was the oldest.

This year's Bengals players averaged 3.81 years of NFL experience, the eighth-fewest by a Cincinnati squad over the last 20 years. The 2004 team (3.57) was the least-experienced, while the '15 squad (4.49) was the most-experienced.

The 2021 Bengals had 11 rookie and first-year players on the roster, tied for the sixth-most by a Cincinnati team over the last 20 years. The 2017 Bengals (14) had the most rookies and first-year players, while the '13 team (seven) had the fewest.

This year's Bengals had just five players age 30 or older, the second-fewest by a Cincinnati team over the last 20 years. The 2011 Bengals (two) had the fewest players 30 or older, while the '15 team (11) had the most.

The 2021 Bengals had just eight players 200 pounds or lighter, which tied for the third-fewest over the last 17 years (the league's info in this category goes back only to 2005). The 2017 and '19 Bengals (seven) had the fewest, while the '09 team (13) had the most.

This year's Bengals had nine players listed shorter than six feet, which tied for the fifth-fewest in that category over the last 17 years (the league's info in this category goes back only to 2005). The 2008 Bengals (five) had the fewest players under six feet, while the 2004, '10 and '15 teams (all 11) had the most.

Finally, the 2021 Bengals had 14 players who weighed 300 pounds or more, tied with the '08 team for the most in the last 19 years (the league's info in this category goes back only to 2003). The 2003, '04 and '17 Bengals (all eight) tied for the fewest.

Bengals leaned on 2020 rookies: Despite the lack of an offseason program to ease the college-to-pro transition, the Bengals in 2020 leaned heavily upon their draft class. The seven players drafted by Cincinnati in 2020 combined to play in 96 games with 33 starts as rookies. For perspective, the most combined games played by a Bengals draft class since 1994 (the year the draft went to seven rounds) is 99, achieved by the 11-player class of 2017. The most combined starts over the same period is 50, by the nine-player class of 1988.

This season, that 2020 draft class has played in 14 combined games, with eight starts. It should be noted, though, that two players have not yet played due to injury — OT Hakeem Adeniji is on the Reserve/Non-Football Injury list, and DE Khalid Kareem is on Reserve/Injured. The other five players in the draft class all made the roster and have been regular contributors.

2021 draft class overview: Of the 10 players Cincinnati selected in April's draft, four were defensive linemen and three were offensive linemen. That haul added more than a ton — 2077 pounds, to be exact — of reinforcement to the Bengals' trenches.

Here's a closer look at Cincinnati's 2021 entire draft class:

- WR Ja'Marr Chase, LSU (Round 1, Pick 5): Cincinnati looks to re-create the magic of Louisiana State's 2019 season, when Chase and then-Tigers QB Joe Burrow helped lead their team to a national championship. Chase set SEC records for receiving yards (1780) and TDs (20) that year, en route to winning the Biletnikoff Award as college football's top receiver.

- G Jackson Carman, Clemson (Round 2, Pick 46): Carman is a native of nearby Fairfield, Ohio, which is about 35 minutes north of Paul Brown Stadium. At Clemson, he played LOT and protected the blindside of QB Trevor Lawrence, the 2021 No. 1 overall draft pick. The Bengals, though, have moved the 6-5, 322-pound Carman to G.

- DE Joseph Ossai, Texas (Round 3, Pick 69): Ossai was set to be the youngest Bengal on the roster at 21 years old, born (4-12-00) just four months prior to the opening of Paul Brown Stadium (8-19-00). He showed great promise early, recording a sack and two additional QB hurries in the preseason opener at Tampa Bay, but a knee injury suffered later in that same game landed him on Reserve/Injured at final cuts and ended his rookie season before it started.

- DE Cam Sample, Tulane (Round 4: Pick 111): Sample earned Defensive MVP honors at the 2021 Senior Bowl, and was rated last season by Pro Football Focus as the most valuable defensive lineman in college football. He is known for his relentless effort and outstanding production in college against both the pass and run.

- DT Tyler Shelvin: LSU (Round 4, Pick 122): The heaviest Bengal on the roster at 350 pounds, Shelvin played NT at LSU and was the man in the middle of the Tigers' national championship defense in 2019. He did not play for LSU in 2020, after opting out of the college season due to COVID-19.

- OT D'Ante Smith, East Carolina (Round 4, Pick 139): Bengals coaches initially called Smith a pure OT prospect due to his size (6-5) and length (35-inch arms), but during training camp practices he impressed with his play at G, so that's where he is listed to begin his NFL career. Smith entered last season at East Carolina considered by scouts as a possible riser on draft boards, but he suffered an injury in the Pirates' opener and did not take the field again until the Senior Bowl in January.

- K Evan McPherson, Florida (Round 5, Pick 149): McPherson spent three seasons at Florida and left as the SEC's all-time leader in FG percentage (85.0). He is also known for his leg strength, as 56.4 percent of his kickoffs in college went for touchbacks.

- C/G Trey Hill, Georgia (Round 6, Pick 190): Hill was the starting C the last two seasons at Georgia, which was widely considered to have one of the top offensive lines in college football. At 6-4, 319 pounds with ability to play both C and G, however the Bengals list him only at C.

- HB Chris Evans, Michigan (Round 6, Pick 202): Bengals coaches first noticed Evans during one-on-one drills at 2021 Senior Bowl practices, when he showed off his hands and route-running ability out of the backfield. He looks to fill the vacant role that was held in recent years by former HB Giovani Bernard.

- DE Wyatt Hubert, Kansas State (Round 7, Pick 235): A productive defender and leader in college at Kansas State, Hubert was expected to push for a spot in the regular pass-rushing rotation as a rookie. But that plan is on hold for now due to a pectoral injury he suffered over the summer. He did not participate in training camp, and is currently on the Reserve/Non-Football Injury list.

These cats can fly: Since 2016, the NFL's Next Gen Stats service has tracked a variety of in-game measurements using GPS trackers and other technology. One of those measurements is the speed — in miles per hour — that ball carriers reach during a given play.

The fastest speed reached by a Bengals ball carrier so far in 2021 came from Joe Mixon, who clocked in at 20.66 MPH on a 19-yard run in the season-opener vs. Minnesota. That run, though, is not among the four fastest by a Bengals ball-carrier since 2016.

Here are Next Gen Stats' fastest Bengals ball carriers since 2016:

PLAYER	SPEED (MPH)	DATE/OPPONENT	PLAY
S Brandon Wilson	22.03	10-13-19 at Balt.	92-yard KOR (TD)
WR Alex Erickson	21.52	12-16-18 vs. Oak.	77-yard KOR
CB William Jackson III	21.52	9-24-17 at G.B.	75-yard INT return (TD)
CB William Jackson III	21.33	9-15-19 vs. S.F.	19-yard INT return

Three Bengals hail from Queen City: The Bengals have three players — DE Sam Hubbard, P Kevin Huber and G Jackson Carman — who grew up in Greater Cincinnati.

Hubbard, a Moeller High School alum and former Ohio State standout, played his third Bengals season, after joining the team as a third-round draft pick (77th overall) in 2018. He is in his third season as a full-time starting DE, and in July signed a contract extension that keeps him in Cincinnati through 2025.

"It's insane," Hubbard said after being drafted. "Seeing that 513 area code pop up on my phone on draft day was just incredible. To get an opportunity to represent Cincinnati for the pro team in this city is a dream come true. I watched every game the Bengals played. I've just always been a big fan."

Huber, an Anderson Township native and alum of McNicholas High School and the University of Cincinnati, was a fifth-round draft choice of the Bengals in 2009. He is the longest-tenured player on the roster and has played in all but two games throughout his career in Cincinnati. He currently stands as the Bengals' career leader in both gross (45.25) and net (40.23) punting average.

Huber and his wife, Mindi, have been active in the local community throughout his Bengals career. The couple started their own charity, The Foundation for Underserved Rescues, which "provides resources and support to underserved Cincinnati-area animal rescues."

Carman, a rookie, is a native of Fairfield, Ohio, a Cincinnati suburb about 35 minutes north of the city. He attended Fairfield High School before playing at Clemson University for three seasons, and then the Bengals selected him in the second round of the 2021 draft.

"As soon as I saw the 513 area code pop up on my phone, everything instantly hit me at once," Carman said on draft night. "It was an amazing feeling. Knowing that I was going to be able to be home, it's indescribable."

Bengal bites: Rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase, Cincinnati's first-round pick in April's draft, is the first player in Bengals history to wear uniform No. 1 ... According to the NFL's Next Gen Stats service, which tracks players' speed by using GPS, S Brandon Wilson's kickoff return for a TD at Baltimore in 2019 (22.03 MPH) stands as the fastest speed by a Bengal ball-carrier since NGS' launch in '16; The fastest speed by a Bengals ball-carrier in 2021 came from HB Joe Mixon, who reached 20.66 MPH on a 19-yard run in the season-opener vs. Minnesota ... Cincinnati's 19 successful fourth-down conversions in 2020 tied for the second-most in a season in NFL history, just behind the 1996 Chicago Bears (20) ... The longest-tenured player on the roster in 2021 is P Kevin Huber, a 13th-year pro who joined the Bengals as a fifth-round pick in 2009 ... The oldest Bengal on the roster is LS Clark Harris, who is 37 (born July 10, 1984) ... The youngest Bengal is WR Ja'Marr Chase, who is 21 (born March 1, 2000) ... The lightest Bengal on the roster is CB Mike Hilton, who is 184 pounds ... The heaviest Bengal is DT Tyler Shelvin, who is 350 pounds ... The tallest Bengal is OT Isaiah Prince, who is 6-7 ... The shortest Bengal on the roster is CB Mike Hilton, who is 5-9.

POSITION BY POSITION

Quarterbacks: Second-year pro Joe Burrow has returned to action this season, after his rookie campaign was limited to just 10 games due to a left knee injury. So far, he has completed 53 of 75 pass attempts (70.7 percent) for 640 yards, seven TDs and four INTs (105.4 rating). In Cincinnati's Game 1 overtime win vs. Minnesota, his first game back since the injury, he posted career highs in passer rating (128.8), completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempts (9.6). Burrow then ended the game in OT with a seven-play, 46-yard drive that included a fourth-and-inches in which he changed the play at the line of scrimmage and tossed a 32-yard completion to set up a game-winning FG as time expired three plays later. Burrow was medically cleared in time to take the first snap of training camp on July 28, and in Game 1 this season he followed through on a vow he made shortly after his injury that he would start the 2021 regular-season opener. After winning the Heisman Trophy and leading the LSU Tigers to a national championship in 2019, the Bengals made Burrow, a native of Athens, Ohio, the No. 1 pick in the '20 draft. Despite the absence of an offseason program and preseason his rookie year, Burrow got off to one of the best statistical starts to a career by a QB in NFL history, and at the time of his injury had been on pace to shatter numerous NFL rookie records. Still, his five 300-yard passing games in 2020 tied the Bengals' single-season record and stand third-most by a rookie in NFL history, while he also became the first rookie in NFL history to pass for 300 yards in three consecutive games (Games 2-4) and the sixth to top 400 yards in a single game (Oct. 25, 2020 at Cleveland). Listed second on the depth chart is veteran Brandon Allen, who filled in as starter in Burrow's absence late last season. Allen started five of Cincinnati's final six games in 2020, and completed 63.4 percent of his passes for 925 yards, five TDs and four INTs (82.0 rating). Allen joined the Bengals in August of 2020, and then began that season on the practice squad as the team's "quarantine QB" that was kept away from the rest of the QBs at practice/meetings in case they could not play due to COVID-19.

Running backs: Leading the Bengals' running back room is fifth-year pro Joe Mixon, who has returned to action this season after his 2020 campaign was limited to just six games due to a right foot injury. Originally a second-round pick of the Bengals in 2017, Mixon has shouldered a heavy load for Cincinnati, and when healthy is considered one of the NFL's top running backs. So far this season, Mixon has rushed for 286 yards (second in NFL) and a TD on 67 carries (second in NFL), and caught six passes for 29 yards. Mixon topped 1000 yards rushing in both 2018 and '19, before his foot injury last season prevented him from making it three seasons in a row. Mixon has one 100-yard rushing game this season (Game 1 vs. Minnesota) and 11 for his career; he also has one game with at least 100 yards from scrimmage this season (Game 1 vs. Minnesota), and 18 for his career. Mixon signed a contract extension in 2020 that keeps him in Cincinnati through the '24 season. Fifth-year pro Samaje Perine, who also shared a backfield with Mixon in college at Oklahoma, is in his third Bengals season after beginning his career with Washington. Perine this season has six carries for 21 yards, and two catches for 15 yards. Perine saw increased playing time late last year in Mixon's absence, and he impressed with a 4.8-yard-per-carry rushing average and three TDs on 63 carries. At 5-11, 240 pounds, Perine brings size and a physical rushing style, and he's also used extensively on special teams. Cincinnati spent a sixth-round pick this year on HB Chris Evans, who is known for his receiving ability out of the backfield. Evans has three catches for 40 yards. Bengals coaches say they first took notice of Evans' route-running and hands during receiving drills at 2021 Senior Bowl practices.

Wide receivers: Considered one of the top slot receivers in football, sixth-year pro Tyler Boyd leads a young and talented group of Bengals wide receivers. So far this season, Boyd has a team-high 14 catches for 141 yards and a TD. Boyd led the team in catches the last three seasons (2018-20), and stands as one of six Bengals ever to top 1000 receiving yards in consecutive seasons ('18-19). Boyd has nine career 100-yard receiving games, and five games with at least 10 catches. Boyd signed a contract extension in 2019 that keeps him in Cincinnati through the '23 season. Returning this season after a terrific rookie year is second-year pro Tee Higgins, a second-round pick of the Bengals in 2020. Higgins so far this season has 10 catches for 118 yards and two TDs. Higgins, though, missed Game 3 at Pittsburgh due to a shoulder injury, and his status for Thursday's game vs. Jacksonville is unknown. Last season, he led Cincinnati in receiving yards (908) and tied for the franchise's rookie receptions record (67). Higgins brings considerable size (6-4, 216) to the receiving corps, and coaches have credited him for transforming his body over the offseason to get stronger. Higgins caught six TDs as a rookie last season, after a three-year career at Clemson in which he tied a school record with 27 TDs. The newest addition to the Bengals' offense this season is first-round draft pick Ja'Marr Chase, who brings previous experience with Joe Burrow from their time together in college at LSU. Chase already has been one of Cincinnati's top performers, with 220 yards and four TDs (tied for second in NFL) on 11 catches. Chase leads all rookies in both receiving yards and TDs. Chase has provided Cincinnati's offense with a downfield threat, and now is one of just two players since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger to have TD catches of at least 25 yards in each of his first three career games. In Game 1 vs. Minnesota, his NFL debut, Chase became the youngest Bengal (21 years, 195 days) ever to post 100 receiving yards, the third-youngest Bengal ever to score a TD, and his 50-yard TD catch at the end of the first half was the longest TD of any kind by a Bengals rookie in their NFL debut. With Burrow as his QB in 2019 at LSU, Chase set single-season SEC records for receiving yards (1780) and TDs (20), and won the prestigious Biletnikoff Award as college football's top receiver. Chase has been assigned uniform No. 1, and is the first player in Bengals history to wear that number. Providing valuable depth is Auden Tate, a 2018 seventh-round pick who at 6-5, 228 pounds is known as a big-bodied receiver with a knack for making acrobatic catches. Tate battled a shoulder injury last season and was limited to just nine games, but when healthy the Bengals have utilized his wide catch radius and ability to come down with contested catches. Sixth-year pro Mike Thomas adds value as a speedy rotational receiver, as well as on special teams. Thomas has one catch for five yards so far this season. Thomas joined the Bengals in 2020 but spent his first four NFL seasons with the L.A. Rams, where in '17 his assistant WRs coach was Zac Taylor. Third-year pro Stanley Morgan, a 2019 college free agent signee of the Bengals, also adds depth at receiver, but he has excelled most in the NFL as a gunner on special teams. Rounding out the receivers room is first-year pro Trenton Irwin, who was signed from the practice squad to the active roster on Sept. 15. Irwin joined the Bengals midway through 2019 and has spent a majority of the time since on the practice squad.

Tight ends: C.J. Uzomah, a 2015 fifth-round pick of the Bengals, has returned to action this year after suffering a season-ending right Achilles injury in the second game of 2020. Uzomah so far this season has four catches for 39 yards. In Cincinnati's Game 1 overtime win vs. Minnesota, his first game back since the injury, Uzomah caught a 32-yard pass on fourth-and-inches in OT to help set up a game-winning FG as time expired three plays later. Uzomah is known for his veteran leadership off the field, and his combination of blocking and receiving ability on it. Also known as complete tight end, with both receiving and blocking ability, is 2019 second-round pick Drew Sample. After Uzomah's injury last season, Sample shouldered a heavier work load that saw him start 13 games, play more than 80 percent of the team's offensive snaps, and catch 40 passes and a TD. Mitchell Wilcox, a 2020 college free agent signee of the Bengals, spent nearly all of his rookie season on Cincinnati's practice squad. Wilcox is also considered a complete TE prospect — he left USF in 2019 with every single-season and career receiving record for a TE, and also helped block for three different 1000-yard rushers.

Offensive linemen: Now in his second season as Cincinnati's starting LOT is 2019 first-round pick Jonah Williams. After missing his entire rookie season to a shoulder injury, Williams started 10 games in his sophomore campaign in 2020. A right knee injury ended Williams' 2020 season early, but it was not deemed serious and he participated fully in the Bengals' offseason program. At ROT this season is 10th-year pro Riley Reiff, who signed with Cincinnati in March after spending his first nine NFL seasons with Detroit and Minnesota. Reiff has played LOT for a majority of his career, with his one season as a full-time ROT coming in 2016 with Detroit. Reiff, though, told the local media after signing with Cincinnati that he welcomes the opportunity to play ROT in Cincinnati, and if needed would even move inside to G for the first time in his pro career. Cincinnati's starting C since 2019 has been Trey Hopkins, who originally was a college free agent signee of the Bengals in '14. Hopkins battled injuries and bounced between the practice squad and roster for his first three seasons, before settling into a regular role and gaining starting experience at all three interior OL spots. Hopkins suffered a torn left ACL in last season's finale, but he was medically cleared in time to participate in the first practice of training camp on July 28 and lined up as the Bengals' starting C in the regular-season opener. Seventh-year pro Quinton Spain, a proven starter at G for the Titans and Bills, joined the Bengals mid-season in 2020 and is listed this year as Cincinnati's starting LG. Spain played in nine games (eight starts) last season for Cincinnati, and made starts at both RG and LG, as well as at ROT when the line was dealing with injuries and COVID-19 issues. Another valuable veteran on the interior of the line is G Xavier Su'a-Filo, who is listed as the starting RG. Su'a-Filo, who is known for his athleticism and intelligence, opened 2020 as the Bengals' No. 1 RG but suffered an ankle injury in the opener and then switched to the starting LG spot upon his return late in the year. Su'a-Filo, though, has dealt with a knee injury early this season, meaning his backup, Jackson Carman, has been called upon to start. Carman, a native of Fairfield, Ohio, about 35 minutes north of Paul Brown Stadium, was the first of three offensive linemen that the Bengals added in April's draft. The 6-5, 322-pound Carman played LOT at Clemson, but he is listed at G for the Bengals. In the fourth round, Cincinnati selected D'Ante Smith from East Carolina. Bengals coaches called Smith a "pure OT prospect" due to his size (6-5), length (35-inch arms) and agility, but he excelled at G during training camp, so that is where he is currently listed on the depth chart. In the sixth round, Cincinnati selected Georgia's Trey Hill, who is touted as a stout interior blocker with good movement skills and a high football IQ. Hill started 26 career games at C at Georgia, considered one of college football's top offensive lines, and this year is listed as the Bengals' backup C. Adding depth at OT is third-year pro Fred Johnson, who stands at an imposing 6-6, 325 pounds. Johnson has starts at both OT and G during his now three-year career in Cincinnati, but he figures to work mostly at OT this season. Johnson has been a reserve at OT to this point in his career, but the Bengals are a combined 4-1 when he fills in as a starter at either OT spot. The tallest Bengal on the roster this season is OT Isaiah Prince (6-7), who returns to action in 2021 after opting out of the '20 season due to COVID-19. Prince originally was a sixth-round draft pick of the Dolphins in 2019, and then joined the Bengals on waivers later that year.

Defensive linemen: Cincinnati native and Archbishop Moeller graduate Sam Hubbard is in his fourth Bengals season, including his third as a full-time starter, and is considered the leader of the defensive line. A third-round draft pick of the Bengals in 2018, Hubbard's 18.0 career sacks are third-most among players from his draft class (including college free agents), and he's also considered among the best DEs in the NFL against the run. Hubbard signed a contract extension in July that keeps him in Cincinnati through the 2025 season. At the LDE is Trey Hendrickson, one of Cincinnati's most high-profile additions from free agency in March. So far this season, Hendrickson has 2.5 sacks and a FF. Hendrickson spent the last four seasons (2017-20) with New Orleans, and last year his 13.5 sacks tied for the NFC lead and tied for second in the NFL. Last year's high-profile addition in free agency was DT D.J. Reader, a 6-3, 347-pound nose tackle who excels against the run. Reader was limited to just five games last season due to a left quad injury, but he has returned healthy this year and has a sack. Lining up next to Reader is DT Larry Ogunjobi, who signed a one-year deal with Cincinnati in March. Ogunjobi has impressed so far this season, with one sack and three additional tackles for a losses. Ogunjobi spent his first four NFL seasons with Cleveland, where he played NT, however in Cincinnati he is playing three-technique DT, which he has called his "natural position." Also seeing regular action at three-technique DT is B.J. Hill, who was acquired in an Aug. 30 trade with the N.Y. Giants. Hill already has three sacks on the season, including two in the season-opener less than two weeks after joining the Bengals. Hill stands 6-3, 311 pounds, and has played in every possible game over his now four-year career. Back in the lineup this season is 6-3, 345-pound DT Josh Tupou, who opted out of last season due to COVID-19. Tupou was a college free agent signee of the Bengals in 2017, and has worked his way into the regular defensive rotation as a reliable run-stuffer. In the fourth round of April's draft, the Bengals selected Tulane DE Cam Sample, who has seen rotational action so far and has one sack. Sample is known as a productive, versatile and high-energy player, and last season he was rated the most valuable defensive lineman in college football by Pro Football Focus. Bengals coaches say that Sample caught their eye during the 2021 Senior Bowl, where he earned Defensive MVP honors. Later in the fourth round, the Bengals selected 6-2, 350-pound DT Tyler Shelvin, a space-eater with a rare blend of strength and athleticism. Shelvin was a key player on LSU's defense during their national championship run in 2019, but he opted out of the '20 college season due to COVID-19. Adding depth at DE is second-year pro Wyatt Ray, who was acquired on waivers from Tennessee on Sept. 1. Ray originally was a college free agent signee of the Cleveland Browns in 2019, and has also spent time with Houston, Buffalo, the N.Y. Jets and Tennessee. Rounding out the defensive line group is 6-1, 248-pound rookie DE Darius Hodge, a college free agent signee out of Marshall. Hodge, who initially was listed at LB, excelled as a pass-rusher during preseason and earned a roster spot out of training camp.

Linebackers: Among Cincinnati's most promising young defenders is second-year pro Logan Wilson, the team's third-round draft pick in 2020. Wilson, who is in his first season wearing the green dot as the defense's communicator, leads the NFL in INTs (three) so far this season, and ranks tied for sixth in tackles (30). The last Bengals LB with at least three INTs in a season was Odell Thurman (five) in 2005. Wilson battled injuries as a rookie in 2020 and was limited to 12 games (two starts). Germaine Pratt, a 2019 third-round pick of the Bengals, has grown into a key contributor on defense after being considered a raw prospect coming out of the draft, due to switching from S to LB late in his college career. Pratt has 15 tackles, a FF and a FR so far this season. In Cincinnati's season-opening win vs. Minnesota, Pratt made the defensive play of the game late in overtime when he forced and recovered a fumble by Vikings RB Dalvin Cook; the play thwarted Minnesota's potential game-winning drive, which had reached the Bengals' 38-yard line, and set up a Cincinnati drive that ended with a game-winning FG as time expired in OT. Pratt, who earned a starting LB spot midway through his rookie season, has drawn particular praise from coaches this season for his grasp of the defense. At 26 years old, fifth-year pro Jordan Evans is Cincinnati's longest-tenured linebacker by two years. Evans originally was a sixth-round pick of the Bengals in 2017, and has developed into a valuable rotational LB and special teams contributor. Akeem Davis-Gaither, a fourth-round pick of the Bengals in 2020, also is in the LB rotation this year. Davis-Gaither is known for his speed and playmaking ability, and has played in every game so far in his career. Drawing positive reviews this season is second-year LB Markus Bailey, a seventh-round pick of the Bengals in 2020. Bailey suffered an ACL tear his final season (2019) at Purdue, which coaches cite for bringing him along slowly as a rookie, but he did begin to see action on defense late last season.

Defensive backs: S Jessie Bates, a fourth-year pro and 2018 Bengals second-round pick, is considered one of the core leaders of the team. So far this season, Bates has 22 tackles. Bates earned a starting S spot in training camp as a rookie and has started every game since, becoming one of Cincinnati's most productive players. Bates (51 straight starts) on Thursday can tie LB Takeo Spikes (52) for most consecutive starts by a Bengals defender to begin a career, but he suffered a neck injury in last Sunday's game at Pittsburgh, and his status is unknown. Bates topped 100 tackles in each of his first three seasons (2018-20), and last year showed off his coverage ability with 15 PDs (sixth in the NFL). Next to Bates at S is sixth-year pro Vonn Bell, who has not missed a single snap since joining the Bengals in 2020 after spending his first four seasons with New Orleans. So far this season, Bell has 17 tackles, including two for a losses, and two PDs. Last year, in his first season with the Bengals, Bell played all 1059 defensive snaps and led the team in both tackles (114) and FFs (three). One of the headliners of the Bengals' 2020 free agency haul was CB Trae Waynes, who is listed as one of Cincinnati's two starting outside CBs. Waynes, though, has not played yet this season due to a hamstring injury suffered late in training camp. Last year, Waynes suffered a pectoral injury early in training camp and ended up missing the entire season. Depth at CB was a primary focus for the Bengals in 2020 free agency, as the team added three veteran corners. The first is Chidobe Awuzie, a former second-round pick of the Cowboys who spent his first four seasons in Dallas. Awuzie, who is under contract through the 2023 season, mans the other outside CB spot opposite Waynes. Awuzie, though, suffered a groin injury in last Sunday's game at Pittsburgh, and his status for Thursday's game vs. Jacksonville is unknown. The second free agency addition was Mike Hilton, who is widely considered among the top slot CBs in the NFL. Hilton, who is under contract through the 2024 season, is among the smallest players on the roster at 5-9, 184 pounds, but he is known as a sure tackler and outstanding blitzter. The third free agent addition over the offseason was Eli Apple, a former first-round pick of the Giants. Apple brings familiarity with Bell, whom he played alongside in college at Ohio State, as well as with defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo, who was his position coach with the Giants in 2018. Bringing experience and a veteran presence at CB is Darius Phillips, a 2018 sixth-round pick of the Bengals who, when healthy, has proven to be a playmaker in the secondary. Phillips led the team in INTs (four) in 2019 despite playing only 108 snaps on defense, but then he battled injuries throughout '20. Phillips has taken over as Cincinnati's primary punt returner this season, and thus is filling a rotational role on defense. At safety, 2017 sixth-round pick Brandon Wilson fills a rotational role on defense and primary role on special teams. Wilson is considered one of the top kickoff returners in the NFL, and has two career KORs for TDs (tied for most in team history). CB Jalen Davis joined the Bengals in mid-2020 and was thrust into action quickly while the team dealt with a wave of injuries and COVID-19 issues. Davis, who previously spent time with the Dolphins and Cardinals, drew praise from coaches during his six games of action in 2020, and earned a contract extension with the Bengals in March. Rounding out the defensive backfield is CB Nick McCloud, who was acquired on waivers from Buffalo on Sept. 1. McCloud, a rookie out of Notre Dame, was a college free agent signee of the Bills in May.

Special teams: Cincinnati native and the longest-tenured player on the roster Kevin Huber is handling the Bengals' punting duties for the 13th consecutive season. Huber, a graduate of Archbishop McNicholas High School and the University of Cincinnati, originally was a fifth-round pick of his hometown Bengals in 2009. So far this season, Huber is averaging 46.3 gross yards on punts, and 43.0 net yards. Huber is considered the top punter in team history, and stands as the Bengals' career leader in every significant punting category, including punts (928), punting yards (42,010), gross average (45.27), net average (40.28) and inside-20 punts (322). Huber was a Pro Bowl selection in 2014, but he has maintained a high level of play and last season posted career-highs in both gross (47.2) and net (42.8) average. Huber has played in 193 career games, third-most in team history, and is within striking distance this season of leaders Reggie Williams (206) and Ken Riley (207). He passed QB Ken Anderson (192) in Game 3 vs. Pittsburgh. The oldest Bengal on the roster is LS Clark Harris (37 years old), who joined the Bengals early in 2009 and has snapped to Huber nearly his entire career. Harris has been a paragon of reliability for Cincinnati, and has never had an unplayable snap in 1725 career attempts (925 punts, 798 placekicks) as a Bengal. Harris, a Pro Bowler in 2017, has also been strong in kick coverage throughout his career. Harris has played in 187 career games as a Bengal, sixth-most in team history and one shy of DT

Tim Krumrie (188). Among the youngest players on the roster is 21-year-old rookie K Evan McPherson, whom the Bengals selected in the fifth round of April's draft. McPherson has already made a significant impact, after nailing a game-winning 33-yard FG as time expired in overtime of his first career game (season-opener vs. Minnesota). McPherson has not yet missed a FG or PAT this season. McPherson left the University of Florida as the SEC's all-time leader in FG percentage (85.0). In the return game, S Brandon Wilson is considered among the most dangerous kickoff returners in the NFL. Wilson has two career kickoff returns for TDs, tied with Tremain Mack for most in team history, and his 103-yarder last season against the N.Y. Giants stands as the longest play of any kind in team history. Cincinnati's No. 1 PR this season is CB Darius Phillips, who prior to 2021 had five career punt returns in the NFL. In college though, Phillips was considered among the top returners in college football history, as he set an FBS career record with 12 career TDs on returns (five KOR, one PR, five INT, one FR). The Bengals also feature a number of experienced players in kick and punt coverage, including Wilson, LB Jordan Evans, LB Akeem Davis-Gaither, WR Stanley Morgan and WR Mike Thomas.

March 10	— Deadline for all clubs to conduct physical examinations pursuant to CBA Article 45, Section 7(a) for players claiming the Extended Injury Protection Benefit for the 2022 season.	April 4	— Clubs that hired a new Head Coach after the end of the 2021 regular season may begin offseason workout programs.
March 14-16	— During the period beginning at noon Eastern, on March 14 and ending at 3:59:59 p.m. Eastern, on March 16, clubs are permitted to contact, and enter into contract negotiations with, the certified agents of players who will become Unrestricted Free Agents upon the expiration of their 2021 Player Contracts at 4 p.m. Eastern, on March 16. During the above two-day negotiating period, a prospective UFA who is not represented by an NFLPA Certified Contract Advisor is permitted to communicate directly with a new club's front office officials (excluding the Head Coach and other members of the club's coaching staff) regarding contract negotiations. No prospective Unrestricted Free Agent is permitted to execute a contract with a new club until 4 p.m. Eastern, on March 16.	April 18	— Clubs with returning Head Coaches may begin offseason workout programs.
March 16	— Prior to 4 p.m. Eastern, clubs must exercise options for 2022 on all players who have option clauses in their 2021 contracts.	April 20	— Deadline to bring draft-eligible players to their facilities for a physical examination.
March 16	— Prior to 4 p.m. Eastern, clubs must submit Qualifying Offers to their Restricted Free Agents with expiring contracts to retain a Right of First Refusal/Compensation.	April 22	— Deadline for Restricted Free Agents to sign Offer Sheets.
March 16	— Prior to 4 p.m. Eastern, clubs must submit a Minimum Salary Tender to retain exclusive negotiating rights to their players with expiring 2021 contracts who have fewer than three Accrued Seasons of free agency credit.	April 27	— Deadline for Prior Club to exercise Right of First Refusal to Restricted Free Agents.
March 16	— Top 51 Rule is in effect. All clubs must be under the 2022 Salary Cap prior to 4 p.m. Eastern.	April 27	— Deadline to time, test, and interview draft-eligible players.
March 16	— All 2021 player contracts will expire at 4 p.m. Eastern.	April 28-30	— Annual Player Selection Meeting, Las Vegas, Nev.
March 16	— The 2022 League Year and Free Agency period begin at 4 p.m. Eastern. The first day of the 2022 League Year will end at 11:59:59 p.m. Eastern, on March 16. Clubs will receive a Personnel Notice that will include all transactions submitted to the League office during the period between 4 p.m. Eastern, and 11:59:59 p.m. Eastern, on March 16.	May 2	— Deadline for Prior Club to send "UFA Tender" to its unsigned Unrestricted Free Agents. If the player has not signed a Player Contract with a Club by July 22 or the first scheduled day of the first NFL training camp, whichever is later, he may negotiate or sign a Player Contract from that date until the Tuesday following the 10th weekend of the regular season, at 4 p.m. Eastern, only with his Prior Club.
March 16	— Trading period for 2022 begins at 4 p.m. Eastern, after expiration of all 2021 contracts.	May 2	— Deadline for Clubs to exercise Fifth-Year Option for players selected in the first round of the 2019 Draft.
March 16	— Commencing at 4 p.m. Eastern, Clubs may designate up to two Player Contracts that, if terminated on or prior to June 1, 2022 and if not renegotiated after Jan. 9, 2022, shall be treated as if terminated on June 2, subject to the further requirements of CBA Article 13, Section 6(b)(ii)(1).	May 6-9 or May 13-16	— Clubs may elect to hold their one three-day post-Draft rookie mini-camp from Friday through Sunday or Saturday through Monday.
		May 16	— Rookie Football Development Programs begin.
		May 19-22 (Tentative)	— NFLPA Rookie Premiere. Invited Rookies (typically, first and/or second-round selections) must be permitted by their respective clubs to attend. Such players are unavailable for offseason workouts, OTA days, and minicamps during this period.
		May 23-25	— Spring League Meeting, TBD.
		June 1	— Deadline for Prior Club to send "June 1 Tender" to its unsigned Restricted Free Agents who received a Qualifying Offer for a Right of First Refusal Only in order for such player to be subject to the CBA's "June 15 Tender" provision.
		June 2	— For any player removed from the Club's roster or whose contract is assigned via waivers or trade on or after June 2, any unamortized Signing Bonus amounts for future years will be included fully in Team Salary at the start of the 2022 League Year.
		June 15	— Deadline for club to withdraw Qualifying Offer to Restricted Free Agents and still retain exclusive negotiating rights by substituting "June 15 Tender" of one-year contract at 110 percent of the player's prior-year Paragraph 5 Salary (with all other terms of his prior-year contract carried forward unchanged).
		Late June	— Rookie Readiness Program to be held at individual clubs.

THE LAST BENGALS-JAGUARS MEETINGS

2019 SEASON
WEEK 7, GAME 7

Jacksonville Jaguars 27, Cincinnati Bengals 17
Sunday, Oct. 20, 2019 at Paul Brown Stadium

Cincinnati led 7-6 at halftime and 10-9 after three quarters, but the visiting Jaguars scored 18 fourth-quarter points to depart Paul Brown Stadium with a win, leaving the Bengals still in search of their first victory. The Jaguars gained 460 net yards, including 216 rushing, but Cincinnati's defense proved stout in the red zone and held Jacksonville to just one TD on six trips inside the 20. Bengals QB Andy Dalton threw three fourth-quarter INTs, including one in the red zone and another that was returned for a TD. The Bengals' offense struggled to find traction in the ground game, as HBs Giovani Bernard and Joe Mixon were held to a combined two yards on 14 carries, and the Jaguars had nearly a 17-minute advantage in time of possession (38:17 to 21:43). Jacksonville improved to 3-4, while Cincinnati fell to 0-7.

2020 SEASON
WEEK 4, GAME 4

Cincinnati Bengals 33, Jacksonville Jaguars 25
Sunday, Oct. 4, 2020 at Paul Brown Stadium

QB Joe Burrow recorded the first win of his career and became the first rookie in NFL history to throw for at least 300 yards in three straight games. But perhaps the most notable performer for the Bengals was HB Joe Mixon, who was in the hospital the night before with a chest injury. Mixon scored three TDs (two rushing, one receiving) and had 181 yards from scrimmage, including 121 of his 151 rushing yards in the second half. Cincinnati posted 500 total yards, and for the first time since 1988 recorded 200 rushing yards and 300 passing yards. Cincinnati improved to 1-2-1, while Jacksonville fell to 1-3.

2021 GAME SUMMARIES

WEEK 1, GAME 1

Cincinnati Bengals 27, Minnesota Vikings 24 Sunday, Sept. 12, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

Bengals QB Joe Burrow, who was less than 10 months removed from a left knee injury that ended his rookie season, showed few signs of rust, posting career-highs in passer rating (128.8), completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempt (9.67). HB Joe Mixon, whose 2020 season also ended early due to injury, rushed for 127 yards and a TD on 29 carries. Rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase impressed in his NFL debut with five catches for 101 yards, including a 50-yard TD. Minnesota closed a 14-point second-half deficit and sent the game to OT with a 53-yard FG at the end of regulation. Late in OT, LB Germaine Pratt forced and recovered a fumble by Vikings RB Dalvin Cook, setting up a seven-play, 46-yard drive that was highlighted by a 32-yard pass from Burrow to TE C.J. Uzomah on fourth-and-inches. Rookie K Evan McPherson, making his NFL debut, then nailed a 33-yard FG as time expired to give Cincinnati the win. The game was the first in NFL history with a game-tying FG with no time left in regulation, and a game-winning FG with no time left in OT. Cincinnati moved to 1-0, and Minnesota dropped to 0-1.

WEEK 2, GAME 2

Chicago Bears 20, Cincinnati Bengals 17 Sunday, Sept. 19, 2021 at Soldier Field

The visiting Bengals allowed the fewest total yards (206) by a Cincinnati defense in seven years, but the offense struggled to protect the football and find the scoreboard. Bengals QB Joe Burrow threw three INTs — including a pick-six — on consecutive attempts in the fourth quarter, helping the Bears to a comfortable 17-point margin late. But Burrow connected with rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase for a 42-yard score with 4:39 remaining, and then an INT by Bengals LB Logan Wilson on the ensuing possession set up a seven-yard TD from Burrow to WR Tee Higgins on the next play to cut the margin to just three. Burrow was the first NFL player in 20 years with INTs on three consecutive plays and TD passes on two consecutive plays in the same game (Steelers QB Kordell Stewart on Dec. 30, 2001 at Cincinnati). The Bengals' comeback bid fell short though, as Bears rookie QB Justin Fields, who was filling in for injured starter Andy Dalton, led Chicago to two first downs as the Bears ran out the clock and hung on for a 20-17 win. Cincinnati dropped to 1-1, while Chicago improved to 1-1.

WEEK 3, GAME 3

Cincinnati Bengals 24, Pittsburgh Steelers 10
Sunday, Sept. 26, 2021 at Heinz Field

The Steelers were without numerous starters due to injury, including All-Pro OLB T.J. Watt, and the Bengals took full advantage. Bengals QB Joe Burrow completed 77.8 percent of his passes, tossed three TDs to just one INT, and posted a 122.9 passer rating. He averaged 9.6 yards per attempt through the air, while HB Joe Mixon averaged 5.0 yards per carry on the ground. Rookie Ja'Marr Chase scored two TDs, including a 34-yarder down the sideline before the half to give Cincinnati the lead for good. The Bengals also held the Steelers without a sack, breaking Pittsburgh's NFL-record streak of 75 straight games with a sack. Defensively, the Bengals applied constant pressure to Steelers QB Ben Roethlisberger, sacking him four times and hitting him three more. LB Logan Wilson picked off Roethlisberger twice, and both instances led to Burrow TD passes. Cincinnati cruised to a 24-10 win and improved to 2-1, while Pittsburgh dropped to 1-2.
