WEEK 14, GAME 13
SUNDAY, DEC. 8
AT FIRSTENERGY STADIUM

NEXT WEEK:
DEC. 15 VS. NEW ENGLAND

GAME NOTES

Kickoff: 1 p.m. Eastern.

Television: The game will air on CBS-TV. In Cincinnati, it will be carried by WKRC-TV (Ch. 12). Broadcasters are Beth Mowins (play-by-play) and Tiki Barber (analyst).

Radio: The game will air on the Bengals Radio Network, led by Cincinnati flagship stations WLW-AM (700), WCKY-AM (ESPN 1530; all sports) and WEBN-FM (102.7). Broadcasters are Dan Hoard (play-by-play) and Dave Lapham (analyst).

Setting the scene: The Bengals this week travel to FirstEnergy Stadium in Cleveland on Sunday to take on the Browns in this season's first installment of "Battle of Ohio." Cincinnati stands at 1-11, after earning its first win last week in a 22-6 decision over the N.Y. Jets at Paul Brown Stadium.

The Bengals' win over the Jets featured the return of QB Andy Dalton, who was back in the starting lineup for the first time after serving as a reserve for Games 9-11. Dalton completed 22 of 37 passes for 243 yards and a TD (88.0 rating) in the win, however his performance may be remembered most for passing former Bengals QB Ken Anderson for the franchise records in career TD passes and career completions. Dalton now has passed for 198 TDs (Anderson had 197) and 2669 completions (Anderson had 2654).

"I've been here a long time," Dalton said. "It means a lot to me to have the opportunity to break Ken's records — I've known him for a while. (Setting career records) also shows that I've been consistent here for a long time. I've been lucky to have played on some good offenses with good players here. It's cool to break those records, and it gives me bragging rights now (laughs)."

The win will also be remembered as the first for rookie head coach Zac Taylor, who received a Gatorade shower in the game's waning moments.

"It's a great feeling there in the locker room," Taylor said after the game, as music blared in the celebratory locker room adjacent to his news conference. "These guys earned this and fought their tails off for the last nine months, waiting for a moment like this. ... I'm proud of all of them — proud of the coaches, proud of the players for sticking together (through the 11-game losing streak) and earning this win. ... It's emotional. You go through it with all of these guys. And to finally get it, it feels really good."

Players extolled Taylor after the game for keeping the team together through a difficult 0-11 start to the season.

"He always continued to push us," said WR Tyler Boyd. "He never lost his mind, he never snapped, he never felt like we were a losing team. In spite of our record, he knew we were better than what it showed. He continued to be a great head coach and put us in positions to win, and I'm sure he'll continue to do that. If we go out and execute the game plan, we'll keep getting wins."

Perhaps overshadowed in the win was the strong play of the Bengals' defense, which held the Jets to just two FGs, sacked Sam Darnold four times, and didn't allow New York inside the red zone. The Bengals still enter this Sunday's game ranked 31st in the NFL in yards allowed and 24th in points allowed, however the defense's improvement over the last three weeks has been a major reason for the team's turnaround.

Cincinnati has allowed just one TD in the last 10 quarters, dating back to halftime of Game 10 at Oakland. And over the last two weeks, the Bengals' 22 points allowed are the second-fewest in the NFL (among teams who have played both weeks) behind Buffalo (18).

"We've been playing sound, fundamental football and going back to the basics," said S Shawn Williams. "We played well up front (against the Jets). We just executed, and we dominated."

With four games remaining in their season, the Bengals turn their attention toward the division-rival Browns, whom they will face twice in the next four weeks.

"Just keep showing up to work and doing the things we have to do," said HB Joe Mixon. "We have Cleveland next, and we have to go up there and take the division game. We're looking to win against anybody — we don't care who it is. We just have to bring that same mentality we did (against the Jets)."

Cleveland enters Sunday's matchup 5-7, after falling 20-13 at Pittsburgh last week.

The series: The Bengals lead 50-41 in the "Battle of Ohio" series and have won eight of the last 11 games. Home field has been a factor over the length of the series, as the Bengals lead 30-16 at home but trail 20-25 as the road club.

The Bengals have played more games against the Browns (91) than any foe except Pittsburgh. The Bengals have 101 all-time games against the Steelers.

More series notes:

- Cleveland swept the Bengals in 2018, with a 35-20 win over Cincinnati in Game 11 and a 26-18 victory in Game 15. It was the Browns' first season sweep over the Bengals since 2002.

- Cleveland's win in Game 11 last season snapped a seven-game Bengals winning streak against the Browns. That streak, the Bengals' longest in the series, began with the second meeting of 2014. The Bengals' previous longest streak had been a five-game run from Game 2 of 2004 through Game 2 of '06.

- The Browns' longest win streak over Cincinnati also has been seven games, extending from Game 2 of the 1992 season through Game 2 of '95.

- Since the Browns' rebirth in 1999, the Bengals lead 26-14, including 12-8 as the visiting team and 14-6 as the home team.

Complete Bengals-Browns series results entering this season are on page 207 of the Bengals' 2019 Media Guide.

Team bests from the series:

Bengals — MOST POINTS: 58, in a 58-48 victory at Paul Brown Stadium in 2004. LARGEST VICTORY MARGIN: 34, in a 37-3 win at Cleveland in 2015. FEWEST POINTS ALLOWED: 0 (four times), most recently in a 30-0 win in 2014 at Cleveland.

Browns — MOST POINTS: 51, in a 51-45 win at Cleveland in 2007. LARGEST VICTORY MARGIN: 34, in a 34-0 victory at Cincinnati in 1987. FEWEST POINTS ALLOWED: 0 (twice), most recently in an 18-0 win at Cleveland in 2001.

The last meetings: Summaries of last season's Bengals-Browns meetings are on page 15 of this news release.

Bengals seek to regain biggest 'Battle' margin: With its two victories over Cincinnati in 2018, Cleveland whittled the Bengals' lead of 11 games down to nine games in the teams' all-time series. The Bengals previous lead of 11 games after the 2017 season set the benchmark for the biggest lead held by either side in the "Battle of Ohio" series, which began in 1970. This weekend's game at FirstEnergy Stadium is the teams' first meeting this season.

The series began with the Browns winning six of the first seven, and their five-game margin at 6-1, after the first meeting of 1973, stands as their largest lead. The Bengals lead 49-34 since that Cleveland high-water mark. The Browns have not led the series since the end of 2005, when they held a 33-32 edge.

Since surrendering that 33-32 lead by giving up a sweep in the 2006 meetings, the Browns have twice pulled into ties — at 34-34 after game one of '07 and at 35-35 after game one of '08. But the Browns have now endured a 12-year stretch without a lead in the series. Barring possible additions to the series in postseason play, the Bengals cannot surrender their series lead until after the first game of 2023, at the earliest. The Browns could not lead again until after the second game of '23.

More Bengals-Browns facts: The first-ever Bengals-Browns meeting of any kind was Aug. 29, 1970. On that Saturday, the Browns were visitors for the second preseason game of Riverfront Stadium's debut year. The Bengals won 31-24, moving to 2-0 in preseason in their new home.

Also:

- The Bengals were 17-10 against the Browns at Riverfront Stadium/Cinergy Field.
- The Browns were 17-8 against the Bengals at the old Cleveland Stadium, but the Bengals lead 12-8 at FirstEnergy Stadium (formerly Cleveland Browns Stadium).
- The Bengals and Browns never played at Nippert Stadium, as Nippert was the Bengals' American Football League home.
- The Bengals have posted 13 season sweeps, and the Browns have posted nine. The teams have split 23 times. In 1982, they played only once, with the scheduled contest at Cleveland cancelled due to a players' strike.
- The first Bengals-Browns regular-season game at Cincinnati on Nov. 15, 1970 drew the first home crowd of 60,000 in Bengals history (60,007 at Riverfront Stadium). The Bengals won 14-10 behind a 110-yard rushing effort from QB Virgil Carter, the only 100-yarder by a QB in Bengals history.
- The largest Bengals home crowd for a Browns game has been 66,072, on Sept. 17, 2006 at Paul Brown Stadium. That ranks as the fifth-largest crowd in Bengals history.
- The Browns drew the largest Bengals crowd in the Riverfront Stadium/Cinergy Field era — 60,284 for a 27-24 Browns win on Oct. 17, 1971.
- The Bengals and Browns met three times in preseason at Ohio Stadium in Columbus, from 1972-74. All were Sunday afternoon games, and the Browns won two of the three.

Coaches in 'Battle of Ohio': For just the second time in history, Sunday's Bengals-Browns meeting will feature two rookie head coaches (Cincinnati's Zac Taylor and Cleveland's Freddie Kitchens) who are facing both each other and their Ohio rival for the first time in the same game.

The first such instance occurred on Oct. 21, 1984, when Bengals first-year head coach Sam Wyche met Browns first-year head coach Marty Schottenheimer in Cincinnati at Riverfront Stadium. The Bengals won that contest, 12-9.

The Bengals' Homer Rice and the Browns' Sam Rutigliano also were rookie head coaches when they met for the first time on Dec. 17, 1978 at Riverfront Stadium. However, that was Rutigliano's second "Battle of Ohio" as Cleveland's head coach. The two teams met in Game 2 that year, before Rice took the reins in Cincinnati (Rice was named Bengals head coach after Game 5).

More notes about "Battle of Ohio" coaches:

- Former Bengals head coach Marvin Lewis, who was 22-10 overall against Cleveland, has the most total wins and best winning percentage (.688) of any Bengals head coach in the series. Lewis also has coached the most games (32) against Cleveland. Sam Wyche is second in all three categories, with 10 wins, a .625 winning percentage (10-6) and 16 games.
- Bill Belichick has been the top Browns coach in the series, having posted an 8-2 mark against the Bengals during his 1991-95 tenure.
- Lewis is the only Bengals head coach whose first Cincinnati victory came against Cleveland. Lewis took over as head coach in 2003, and his first win was a 21-14 decision at Cleveland on Sept. 28 of that year. The Bengals entered that game at 0-3, but went on to finish 8-8. The six-game improvement, after a 2-14 season in 2002, was the largest in the NFL for '03.
- Forrest Gregg is the only head coach to pilot both teams in the "Battle of Ohio." Gregg was 1-5 as Browns coach against the Bengals from 1975-77, and he was 3-4 as Bengals coach against the Browns from '80-83.

- Here's a full roundup of Bengals' head coaches, in chronological order, and their records in the "Battle of Ohio:" Paul Brown (5-7), Bill "Tiger" Johnson (3-2), Homer Rice (2-1), Forrest Gregg (3-4), Sam Wyche (10-6), Dave Shula (1-7), Bruce Coslet (2-1), Dick LeBeau (2-3), Marvin Lewis (22-10).
- The Bengals are 10-7 against Browns head coaches directing their first game in the series. Browns head coaches who won their first game have been Blanton Collier (1970), Nick Skorich ('71), Sam Rutigliano ('78), Bill Belichick ('91), Rob Chudzinski (2013) and Mike Pettine (2014). On the losing end for Cleveland have been Forrest Gregg (1975), Marty Schottenheimer ('84), Bud Carson ('89), Jim Shofner ('90), Chris Palmer ('99), Butch Davis (2001), Romeo Crennel ('05), Eric Mangini ('09), Pat Shurmur ('11), Hue Jackson ('16) and Gregg Williams ('18).
- Bengals coaches show a 7-2 record the first time out against Cleveland. The last five have won. The seven winners have been Bill Johnson (1976), Homer Rice ('78), Sam Wyche ('84), Dave Shula ('92), Bruce Coslet ('99), Dick LeBeau (2000) and Marvin Lewis ('03). Losing in the first try vs. Cleveland were Paul Brown (1970) and Forrest Gregg ('80).

That '16 game in Cincy was something: For the Bengals, their 559-yard offensive game vs. Cleveland on Oct. 23, 2016 was:

- The highest yardage output in 26 years, since 582 in an overtime win at the Los Angeles Rams on Oct. 7, 1990.
- The highest output in a regulation-time game since Dec. 17, 1989, when the total was 584 vs. Houston.
- Tied for the seventh highest offensive total in franchise history.
- The game with the most rushing yards (271) in more than 30 years, since the team had 274 on Dec. 8, 1985 vs. Dallas. It ranks No. 7 in franchise history.
- The first game in which the Bengals had a 300-yard passer (Andy Dalton 308), a 100-yard rusher (Jeremy Hill 168) and a 100-yard receiver (A.J. Green 169) in a regulation-time game since Sept. 16, 2007 at Cleveland. Cincinnati also did it on Oct. 12, 2014 vs. Carolina, but that was a tie that went five full quarters.
- The game with the most yards per rush (9.0) since Oct. 22, 2000, when the Bengals averaged 11.0 vs. Denver. That Denver game featured a club-record 407 rushing yards, including a club-record 278 by HB Corey Dillon, which was the NFL individual record at the time.

• Erickson has 2575 career kickoff return yards, 177 behind RB Stanford Jennings (2752) for fourth place all-time. Mack (3583) is the Bengals' all-time leader.

*—The NFL has counted sacks as official statistics since 1982. However, the Bengals have sack statistics compiled since 1976 and recognize those sacks recorded from '76-81 in its records. Thus, please note that, because the NFL has sacks statistics for all teams only since 1982, the Bengals' sack statistics for players whose careers included seasons prior to '82 will not be included in league information.

Records vs. Browns: The two highest-scoring games in Bengals history have each been against the Browns. On Nov. 28, 2004 at Paul Brown Stadium, the Bengals won 58-48, and the 106 total points is not only a Bengals record, it is the second-most in NFL history, behind only 113 from Washington's 72-41 win over the N.Y. Giants in 1966. And on Sept. 16, 2007, the Bengals and Browns combined for 96 points at Cleveland in a 51-45 Browns win.

More on Bengals records against the Browns:

• On Dec. 21, 1980 vs. Cleveland, DE Eddie Edwards set the Bengals record for sacks in a game with five. The mark stood unchallenged for 19 years, until DE Antwan Odom tied it on Sept. 20, 2009 at Green Bay.

• In the final Bengals game at Cinergy Field, on Dec. 12, 1999, Cincinnati limited the Browns to the fewest rushing yards ever by an opponent. Cleveland had only 11 net yards on 11 attempts.

• On Sept. 10, 2000, WR Craig Yeast tied a Bengals record for most punt returns in a game with seven. The record was set by RB Tony Davis in 1977, and in addition to Yeast, has since been tied by WR Brandon Tate in 2011.

• On Nov. 25, 2001 at Cleveland, T.J. Houshmandzadeh set the Bengals record for punt return yards in a game with 126. His 86-yarder in that game ranks tied for third-longest in club history.

• The 58-48 Bengals win on Nov. 28, 2004 is the only game in club history in which Cincinnati scored double figures in all four quarters (14-13-14-17 — 58).

• In the Sept. 16, 2007 shootout with the Browns noted above, QB Carson Palmer threw six TD passes, the most ever by a Bengals QB in a single game.

• On Dec. 21, 2008, at Cleveland, Bengals CB Leon Hall tied the team record for most interceptions in a game with three. He was the seventh Bengal to reach that mark in a contest, though no one has done it since.

• On Nov. 17, 2013, the Bengals scored 31 points in the second quarter, a team record for most points in a quarter, en route to a 41-20 Cincinnati victory.

• In their 30-0 win over the Browns in Cleveland on Dec. 14, 2014, the Bengals allowed only five first downs, fewest by an opponent in Bengals history.

• On Oct 23, 2016 against Cleveland, HB Jeremy Hill had the most rushing yards in club history without hitting double digits in carries, breaking a mark that had stood for 45 years. Hill went nine-for-168, averaging 18.7 yards per carry.

• The Bengals' 23-20 overtime victory at Cleveland on Oct. 4, 2009 stands as the longest Bengals game not to end in a tie. Only four seconds remained in the overtime period when K Shayne Graham booted a 31-yard field goal to break a 20-all deadlock. Elapsed scoreboard clock time for the game was 74:56. The only 75-minute games in Bengals history have been three ties, in 2008 vs. Philadelphia, in '14 vs. Carolina and '16 vs. Washington in London.

Since 2004, the year of the Bengals' last significant uniform redesign, a number of color options for jerseys and pants have been available. Below are the records (regular season plus postseason) for the different combinations:

JERSEY	PANTS	W-L-T	PCT.
Orange*	Black.....	6-1-0	.857
Orange*	White.....	16-7-1	.688

* — NFL rules allow teams to wear designated alternate jerseys, color rush (CR) uniforms and/or throwback uniforms for a combined total of three regular-season games. As in years past, orange served as the Bengals' designated alternate jersey, and for the third straight year, the team used their color rush uniforms (white jersey, white pants), which debuted in 2016. Cincinnati does not have a throwback uniform.

THE HEAD COACHES

Zac Taylor was named the 10th head coach in Cincinnati Bengals history on Feb. 4, 2019. He comes to Cincinnati after two seasons with the L.A. Rams, where he served as assistant wide receivers coach in 2017 and quarterbacks coach in '18.

In 2018, Taylor helped guide Rams QB Jared Goff to career highs in every major passing category — completions (364), attempts (561), passing yards (4688), passing TDs (32), completion percentage (64.9), yards per attempt (8.36) and passer rating (101.1). Goff ranked fourth in the NFL in passing yards and eighth in passer rating. The Rams' QB play was a key component to their offense, which finished the regular season ranked second in the NFL in total net yards (421.1 per game), fifth in net passing yards (281.7), second in scoring (32.9), first in first downs (401) and fifth in third-down percentage (45.0). Los Angeles won the NFC West with a 13-3 regular-season record and advanced to Super Bowl LIII against the New England Patriots.

In 2017, Taylor helped oversee an emerging Rams passing offense that ranked 10th in the NFL in pass yards per game (239.4). Taylor directed the Rams' young receiving corps, headed by rookie Cooper Kupp, who finished the season with 62 catches, a team-high 869 receiving yards and five TDs. Kupp (869 yards), TE Gerald Everett (244) and WR Josh Reynolds (104) — all rookies — helped the Rams finish with the third-most receiving yards among rookie pass catchers.

Prior to his time with the Rams, Taylor had a one-year stint in the college ranks, serving as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at the University of Cincinnati in 2016. Taylor served under head coach Tommy Tuberville at UC.

Taylor broke into NFL coaching in 2012 with the Miami Dolphins as assistant quarterbacks coach. He was elevated to quarterbacks coach from 2013-15, and spent the final five games of '15 as the Dolphins' interim offensive coordinator and primary play-caller, after the team made coaching staff changes in late November. During his time in Miami, Taylor was instrumental in the development of QB Ryan Tannehill, the team's first-round draft pick in 2012.

Taylor's coaching career began at Texas A&M University, where he served as offensive graduate assistant and tight ends coach under head coach Mike Sherman from 2008-11. The Aggies shared the Big 12 South Championship in 2010 and played in three bowl games during Taylor's time in College Station.

As a player, Taylor began his collegiate career at Wake Forest (2002-03), before transferring to Butler County Community College in Kansas ('04) and then playing his final two seasons ('05-06) at the University of Nebraska. Taylor had a decorated career with the Cornhuskers, setting numerous school records and passing for a combined 5850 yards and 45 touchdowns. In his senior season of 2006, Taylor was named Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year after passing for 3197 total yards and leading the Cornhuskers to a 9-3 record, an appearance in the Big 12 Championship Game and a berth in the Cotton Bowl. He was inducted into the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame in 2017.

Taylor joined the Tampa Bay Buccaneers as a college free agent in 2007, but he was waived prior to the start of training camp and never saw NFL action. Later that year, he joined the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League, where he spent one season (did not play).

His father, Sherwood, was a defensive back and captain at the University of Oklahoma, playing under Sooners head coach Barry Switzer from 1976-79. Sherwood Taylor later served as an assistant coach at Oklahoma and Kansas State University. Taylor's brother, Press, played quarterback at Marshall University and is currently quarterbacks coach for the Philadelphia Eagles.

Taylor was born on May 10, 1983, in Norman, Okla., where he was raised and later attended Norman High School. He earned a bachelor's degree in communication studies from the University of Nebraska in 2006. He and his wife, Sarah, have four children — Brooks, Luke, Emma Claire and Milly. Sarah Taylor is the daughter of former Green Bay Packers and Texas A&M head coach Mike Sherman.

Freddie Kitchens was named the 17th head coach in Cleveland Browns history by Owners Dee and Jimmy Haslam on Jan. 9, 2019.

Kitchens has over 20 years of coaching experience. He joined the Browns as running backs/associate head coach in 2018 and was promoted to offensive coordinator in the same season. After his promotion, the Browns finished among the league leaders in several categories, including yards per game (No. 4 at 395.1), passing touchdowns (tied for No. 4 with 19) and total touchdowns (tied for No. 6 with 25). He also has coached with the Arizona Cardinals (2007-17) and the Dallas Cowboys ('06).

Kitchens was a three-year starter at quarterback for Alabama (1995-97), finishing his playing career with 4,668 yards and 30 touchdown passes. He coached at Glenville State (1999), Louisiana State (2000), North Texas ('01-03) and Mississippi State ('04-05).

Kitchens was born on Nov. 29, 1974 and is a native of Gadsden, Ala.. He and his wife, Ginger, have two daughters, Bennett and Camden.

BENGALS NOTES

At the top of the list: Here's a look at where the Bengals rank — both individually and in team categories — among the top 10 in the NFL.

BRANDON WILSON

- Third in kickoff return yards (625).
- First in kickoff returns of at least 40 yards (four).
- Tied for second in kickoff returns of at least 20 yards (16).

BENGALS TEAM:

- Tied for fifth in yards allowed per punt return (5.3).

Andy earns two Bengals records: Andy Dalton returned to the Bengals' starting QB role in Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets, after serving in a reserve role for Games 9-11. And in his first game back, Dalton not only led the Bengals to their first win of the season, he passed former Bengals QB Ken Anderson for a pair of team records.

Dalton, who entered the Jets game tied with Anderson for a franchise-best 197 career TD passes, tossed his 198th career TD in the first quarter when he hit WR Tyler Boyd for a 17-yard score. Dalton had actually briefly passed Anderson in Game 8 against the L.A. Rams, when he found WR Auden Tate for a TD with eight seconds left in the game, but the score was taken off the board after replay review deemed it an incomplection.

And then on the Bengals' next offensive possession, Dalton completed his 2655th career pass, passing Anderson (2654) for the Bengals' all-time lead.

Dalton set the records in his 129th career game (all starts) and in his ninth Bengals season, while Anderson played in 192 career games (172 starts) over a Bengals-record 16 seasons. Dalton, who stands second in Bengals history in completion percentage (62.13), tossed the record-setting TD on his 4265th career pass attempt, and set the completion mark on his 4267th attempt. Anderson had 4475 career pass attempts.

"Obviously I've been here a long time," Dalton said, "so it means a lot to me to have the opportunity to break Ken's records. I've known him a long time. I've been lucky to have played on some good offenses here. It's cool to break those records, and it gives me bragging rights now (laughs)."

Andy tops Kenny in total TDs: QB Andy Dalton's three rushing touchdowns this season have given him 22 total TDs for his career, the most by a QB in Bengals history. Dalton tied former Bengals QB Ken Anderson (20) for the lead in Game 3 at Buffalo, and then moved ahead of him in Game 6 at Baltimore with a two-yard rushing score in the fourth quarter. Dalton in 2019 is playing his ninth season, while Anderson played 16 Bengals seasons (1971-86).

Dalton's 21 career rushing TDs are now also the most ever by a Bengals QB, ahead of Anderson (20). All of Anderson's TDs were rushing scores, while Dalton has 22 total by virtue of being the only Bengals QB ever to catch a touchdown pass. He scored on an 18-yard gadget connection from WR Mohamed Sanu vs. Tennessee in 2014.

The next-most total TDs by a Bengals QB is 10, by Jeff Blake.

Dalton and Jack Thompson share the Bengals season record for touchdowns by a QB, at five. Dalton had five in 2014, tying the record first set by Thompson in 1979.

Dalton returns to starting role: On Nov. 25, the day after his team fell 16-10 to the Pittsburgh Steelers, Bengals head coach Zac Taylor announced at his news conference that Andy Dalton would return to the starting QB role for Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets.

Dalton replaced Ryan Finley, who had previously replaced Dalton during the Bengals' Week 9 bye. Finley started three games, and passed 41 of 87 for 474 yards, with two TDs and two INTs.

In his first game back as the No. 1 QB, Dalton led the Bengals to their first victory of the season, a 22-6 home win over the Jets. He passed 22 of 37 for 243 yards and a TD (88.0 rating). During the game, Dalton passed former Bengals QB Ken Anderson for a pair of team passing records — he now has 198 career TD passes (Anderson had 197), and 2669 completions (Anderson had 2654).

“Andy gives us a great chance to go win a game,” Taylor said Dalton returning to the starting lineup. We just want to win. That veteran presence Andy has will certainly be helpful through all the things we’ve been experiencing so far on offense. He has great experience.”

An Andy roundup: After serving in a reserve role for Games 9-11, QB Andy Dalton has returned to the Bengals’ starting QB position. Dalton, who was announced again as the starter at head coach Zac Taylor’s news conference on Nov. 25, ranks among the most accomplished QBs in Bengals history. Here’s an overview of his statistical accomplishments.

- Dalton’s .543 winning percentage (69-58-2) is the best of any Bengals QB with 10 or more starts.
- He now stands as the Bengals’ all-time leader in passing TDs (198) and completions (2669). Dalton passed former Bengals QB Ken Anderson (197 TDs, 2654 completions) in both categories in Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets.
- He also stands as the team’s all-time leader in career passer rating (88.0) and 300-yard passing games (27), and is second in career passing yards (30,595) and completion percentage (62.13).
- He has posted 48 career games with a passer rating of 100 or more, and the Bengals are 39-9 (.813) in those contests.
- His 198 career TD passes and 112 INTs are good for a ratio of 1.77-to-1, the best in Bengals history ahead of second-place Carson Palmer at 1.54-to-1 (154-100).
- His 24 game-winning drives are the most in Bengals history ahead of Boomer Esiason (22). A game-winning drive is defined as a drive that results in an offensive score in the fourth quarter or overtime that is responsible for putting the team ahead to stay (PATs included).
- His 22 total TDs are the most ever by a Bengals QB, ahead of Ken Anderson (20).
- His 21 rushing TDs also are the most ever by a Bengals QB, ahead of Anderson (20).
- He holds club season records for passing yards (4293) and TD passes (33), both set in 2013.
- He is the only Bengals passer to throw for 300-plus yards in four consecutive games (2013).
- He is the only Bengals QB ever to catch a TD pass. He scored on an 18-yard gadget connection from WR Mohamed Sanu vs. Tennessee in 2014.
- He opened his career with 77 consecutive regular-season starts, a Bengals record for quarterbacks at any point during a career. The previous mark had been 61, posted by Boomer Esiason from 1985-89.

Keep an eye on Andy: QB Andy Dalton owns a 69-58-2 record as a starter, good for the top winning percentage (.543) of any Bengals QB with 10 or more starts. And as the numbers have shown, the Bengals’ success is tied closely to that of their QB.

The Bengals are 39-9 (.813) when Dalton achieves a passer rating of at least 100, with wins in 11 of their last 16 such instances. Conversely, Cincinnati is just 10-27 (.270) when Dalton’s passer rating is 70 or lower, with losses in the last 15 such instances.

Dalton has thrown at least two TDs 63 times in his career, and the Bengals are 41-21-1 (.659) in those contests. In his 23 games with at least three TD passes, the Bengals are 22-1 (.957), with the only outlier coming in a 2012 loss at Cleveland. Conversely, the Bengals are just 6-17 (.261) when Dalton is held without a TD pass, and haven’t won such a game since 2014 at Cleveland.

A similar trend is true with passing yardage. In the 52 instances of Dalton topping 250 passing yards, the Bengals are 29-21-2 (.577). He’s topped 300 yards 27 times, with Cincinnati going 15-11-1 (.574) in those contests. But when he is held under 150 passing yards, Cincinnati is just 6-11 (.353).

Cincinnati has also proven tough to beat when Dalton is at his most accurate. When he completes at least 65 percent of his passes (minimum 20 attempts), the Bengals are 36-15-1 (.702), including wins in eight of their last 12 such games. And when that completion percentage jumps to at least 70, the Bengals are 21-6-1 (.768), with wins in 12 of their last 15 such games. Cincinnati, however, is just 5-18 (.217) when Dalton’s completion percentage is 55 or lower.

‘Ice-Water’ Andy: Bengals QB Andy Dalton has 24 career game-winning drives, the most in Bengals history ahead Boomer Esiason (22).

A game-winning drive is defined as a drive that results in an offensive score in the fourth quarter or overtime that is responsible for putting the team ahead to stay (PATs included).

The Bengals’ record for most game-winning drives in a season is five, set by former QB Jeff Blake in 1996, and then tied by former QB Carson Palmer in ’09. Dalton had four game-winning drives in 2018, despite missing the final five games due to a season-ending thumb injury.

Since 2011, the year the Bengals drafted him, Dalton’s 24 game-winning drives are tied with Atlanta’s Matt Ryan for the fourth-most in the NFL.

Here’s a look at the NFL quarterbacks with the most game-winning drives in the fourth quarter or overtime since 2011.

QUARTERBACK	TEAM	GAME-WINNING DRIVES SINCE 2011
Matthew Stafford	Detroit	32
Russell Wilson	Seattle	28
Drew Brees	New Orleans	27
Andy Dalton	Cincinnati	24
Matt Ryan	Atlanta	24
Eli Manning	N.Y. Giants	23

‘Crazy Legs’ Andy: QB Andy Dalton’s 21 career rushing TDs not only put him in rare company in team history, he also is among the best when compared to his current NFL peers. In the category of rushing TDs by a QB, only Carolina’s Cam Newton, whose 58 are beyond similarity, ranks higher than Dalton since 2011. Dalton and Dallas QB Dak Prescott (21) stand tied for second behind Newton, with Russell Wilson (19), Tyrod Taylor (16) and Josh Allen (16) not far behind.

Boyd eyeing another thousand: With WR A.J. Green having not yet played this season due to an ankle injury, WR Tyler Boyd has again stepped into the spotlight as the Bengals No. 1 WR. But it’s familiar territory for the fourth-year pro. Boyd served in the same role the second half of last season while Green was out with a foot injury, and he ended the year with a career-high 1028 receiving yards despite missing the final two games with his own injury. That made him the first Bengal other than Green to top 1000 receiving yards in a season since 2009 (Chad Johnson, 1047).

This season, Boyd is on pace to again top 1000 receiving yards. He currently has a team-high 758 receiving yards, and stands just 242 yards shy of 1000. He would need to average 60.6 yards over the season’s final five games to reach the century mark.

Boyd already stands as one of nine Bengals ever to reach 1000 receiving yards in a season, and he’s attempting to become just the sixth Bengal to hit the mark in multiple seasons. Johnson’s seven 1000-yard seasons stand as the most in team history, followed by Green (six), WR Cris Collinsworth (four), WR Carl Pickens (four) and WR T.J. Houshmandzadeh (two). WRs Eddie Brown, Tim McGee and Darnay Scott each had one 1000-yard season.

T.B. chasing 100: With just four games to go in the 2019 season, WR Tyler Boyd has an outside chance at becoming just the third Bengal ever to catch 100 passes in a single season. Former Bengals WR T.J. Houshmandzadeh caught a team-record 117 passes in 2007, while WR Carl Pickens’ 100 catches in 1996 count as the only other instance of a Bengal reaching the 100-catch plateau.

Boyd currently has 68 catches, and is on pace for 90 grabs by season’s end. He would need to average 8.0 catches over the final four games to reach 100 receptions. By comparison, Pickens had 78 catches through 12 games in 1996, while Houshmandzadeh had 88 in 2007.

A.J. nears a return: WR A.J. Green has not yet played this season, due to an ankle injury suffered in the Bengals’ first training camp practice on July 27. But the possibility remains that Cincinnati’s star WR could make his 2019 debut in the coming weeks, and could even do so as early as this Sunday at Cleveland.

Green ranks as the Bengals’ all-time leader in 100-yard receiving games (33), and is second in career receptions (602) and receiving yards (8907). His 63 career receiving TDs rank tied for second in team history with WR Carl Pickens, and are just three shy of all-time leader Chad Johnson (66). Green also stands as the only NFL WR since the 1970 merger to begin his career with seven straight Pro Bowl seasons. He and DT Geno Atkins are tied for the second-most Pro Bowls (seven) in team history, behind Hall-of-Fame OT Anthony Munoz.

Green has played in 112 of 140 possible regular-season games in his nine Bengals seasons. Of the 29 regular-season games he's missed, 19 have come since the beginning of 2018.

Last season, Green was limited by a toe injury (right foot) to just nine games. He suffered the injury on the final drive in Game 8 vs. Tampa Bay, missed the next three games, and then re-aggravated it in the first half of Game 12 vs. Denver. He ended the season on Reserve/Injured, but returned healthy for the start of 2019 training camp. Then came the ankle injury.

Despite the unclear timeline that came with this summer's injury, the Bengals opted to carry Green on the active roster at the start of the season rather than putting him on Reserve/Injured, thus leaving open the narrow possibility of a return within the first eight weeks of the season. During his rehab, Bengals head coach Zac Taylor publicly expressed satisfaction with Green's progress while also declining to put a timetable on his return. Green returned to practice on a limited basis prior to Week 6, and bounced between limited participation and DNP for two weeks. Green and Taylor both publicly expressed optimism during the Week 9 bye about a possible return in Game 10 vs. Baltimore, but a setback on Wednesday of that week caused Green's return to be further delayed.

"Everything is trending up," Green said recently. "But I have to be effective to be out there, and right now I'm not."

Green and some gold jackets: Ninth-year Bengals WR A.J. Green has 10 career games of at least 150 receiving yards and one TD, making him one of only nine receivers to ever reach as many games through their first nine NFL seasons. It should also be noted that Green's numbers come despite missing 29 regular-season games to injury throughout his career, including 19 since the beginning of 2018.

Here's a look at the list of players with 10 or more games of 150-plus receiving yards and a TD through their first nine NFL seasons.

PLAYER	TEAM	NO. OF GAMES
Jerry Rice*	San Francisco 49ers	17
Lance Alworth*	San Diego Chargers	16
Calvin Johnson	Detroit Lions	13
Torry Holt	St. Louis Rams	11
A.J. Green	Cincinnati Bengals	10
Antonio Brown	Pittsburgh Steelers	10
Isaac Bruce	St. Louis Rams	10
Don Maynard*	N.Y. Jets	10
Randy Moss*	Minnesota Vikings	10

* — Asterisk denotes a Pro Football Hall of Famer.

A.J. finds paydirt: Bengals WR A.J. Green has 63 career receiving TDs, which since his rookie year of 2011 ranks as the sixth-most of any NFL player, the most among WRs and the second-most among active players. Green and former Bengals WR Carl Pickens are tied for second in team history in TD catches, behind WR Chad Johnson (66). It should be noted that Green has posted those lofty totals despite missing 29 career regular-season games due to injury, including 19 since the beginning of 2018.

Here's a look at the NFL's leaders in receiving TDs since 2011.

PLAYER	TEAM	RECEIVING TDs
Antonio Brown	Pittsburgh/New England	75
Jimmy Graham	New Orleans/Seattle/Green Bay	69
Rob Gronkowski	New England	69
Dez Bryant	Dallas/New Orleans	67
Jordy Nelson	Green Bay/Oakland	66
A.J. Green	Cincinnati	63

Hey, Mr. Wilson: Coming into the 2019 season, Bengals S Brandon Wilson had just one career kickoff return — he was on the receiving end of a 36-yard pooch kick designed to run out the clock in the first half of Game 9 vs. New Orleans last season. But this season, Wilson leads the NFL with a 31.3-yard average on KORs, narrowly ahead of the next-best qualifying player, Chicago's Cordarrelle Patterson (30.9). Wilson's 20 returns for 625 yards this season have included four of at least 40 yards and one TD.

Opportunity came knocking for Wilson in Game 5 this season, when the Bengals, who were already down their No. 1 KOR Darius Phillips (Reserve/Injured; knee), lost No. 2 KOR Alex Erickson to a concussion. On his first opportunity, Wilson, a third-year pro from the University of Houston, returned a kickoff 52 yards and nearly broke free for a TD. He later added a 40-yarder that was called back by a penalty.

The next week at Baltimore, Wilson bolted 92 yards for a TD on the game's opening kickoff, marking the first time in team history a Bengal has opened a game with a kickoff-return TD. The NFL's Next Gen Stats service, which tracks players' speed by using GPS, clocked Wilson's TD dash at 22.03 MPH, the third-fastest in the NFL this year, and fastest by a Bengal since NGS' launch in 2016.

In Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, Wilson nearly scored again, but had to settle for a 61-yard return thanks to a shoestring tackle as he broke into the clear. And in Game 9 vs. Baltimore, he added a 47-yarder to his resume.

With a 31.3-yard average per kickoff return, Wilson is currently on track to set the Bengals' single-season record for average yards per kickoff return — 31.26, set by CB Adam Jones in 2014.

Finding the end zone isn't new to Wilson. In college at Houston, he ranked as one of college football's most dynamic playmakers, and scored eight career TDs in six different ways — two rushing, two KORs, a missed FG return, fumble return, INT return and a blocked FG return.

Bengals look to get Joe clicking: While Bengals HB Joe Mixon hasn't yet found the form that helped earn him the AFC rushing crown last season (more info in "Joe looks to regain 2018 form"), head coach Zac Taylor has alluded several times this season to the coaching staff's effort to involve him more heavily in the offense. That's likely a good idea, because as history shows, the Bengals have been tough to beat when Mixon is heavily involved.

The Bengals are 6-2 since Mixon's 2017 rookie season when has at least 20 carries, and 3-3 when he has at least 100 rushing yards. The Bengals are 6-7 when he reaches 100 total yards. Mixon this season has reached 100 total yards three times, 100 rushing yards once and 20 carries once, but the Bengals are winless in those games.

Mixon looks to regain 2018 form: Despite missing two games due to a knee injury last season, HB Joe Mixon still managed to become the only Bengals player ever to lead the AFC in rushing yards (1168) in a season (RB Paul Robinson led the AFL in rushing in 1968).

Mixon struggled to find that same rhythm early this season, however the third-year pro has started to hit his stride since the Bengals' Week 9 bye. He has 323 rushing yards over the last four weeks, which equates to 80.8 yards per game, slightly behind his 83.4 average from last year.

Mixon's turnaround began in Game 9 vs. Baltimore, when he notched a season-high 151 yards from scrimmage, including 114 rushing yards on 30 carries. In Game 10 at Oakland, Mixon averaged 5.7 yards per carry (15 rushes, 86 yards and a TD) and totaled 103 yards from scrimmage. In Game 11 vs. the Steelers, he started slow before hitting his stride in the second half and finishing with 18 carries for 79 yards (4.4). And in Game 12, Mixon totaled 44 rushing yards and a TD against a N.Y. Jets defense that entered the contest No. 1 in the NFL in run defense.

Mixon's season totals now stand at 183 rushes for 643 yards and a TD, and 26 catches for 190 yards and three TDs.

For the season, Mixon has one game with 100 rushing yards, and three games of 100 yards from scrimmage. Last year, he had four games of 100 or more yards rushing and seven games of 100 or more yards from scrimmage.

15 carries for Gio does the trick: Over his now seven seasons in Cincinnati, Giovani Bernard has carved out a spot among the top dual-threat running backs in team history.

But when examining Bernard's workload specifically as a rusher throughout his career, a significant trend becomes apparent — the Bengals are 10-1-1 in games in which Bernard has at least 15 rushing attempts. Bernard has not yet reached 15 carries in a game in 2019, however Cincinnati was 1-0 in 2018 when Bernard hit the mark (15 rushes for 69 yards in Game 4 at Atlanta).

In the 12 games in which Bernard has reached 15 carries, he has averaged 78.4 yards, scored seven rushing TDs and topped 100 yards three times.

Gio sets sights on Brooks: HB Giovani Bernard currently stands within striking distance of the Bengals' all-time leads in both receptions and receiving yards by a running back, which are both held by RB James Brooks. With 289 career receptions, Bernard stands eight short of James Brooks' record of 297. And with 2459 receiving yards, Bernard is 553 short of Brooks' record of 3012. Brooks played eight seasons with the Bengals (1984-91), while 2019 is Bernard's seventh.

Bernard averaged 898 yards from scrimmage in his first six NFL seasons — 518 rushing, 380 receiving — although his pursuit of Brooks' records has been slowed slightly by injuries in recent years. In 2018, he got off to a fast start before a knee injury sidelined him for four games. He also missed the final six games of 2016 due to a torn ACL in his left knee.

The Huber roundup: Long considered the top punter in Bengals history, 11th-year pro Kevin Huber now has the career records to back up that claim. Already a considerable presence in the Bengals' record book heading into last season, Huber moved into first place in the only two remaining career punting categories in the Bengals' record book.

Huber now stands first in team history in the following categories:

- Punts (827)
- Punting yards (37,249)
- Gross average (45.04)
- Net average (39.94)
- Inside-20 punts (291)

Huber has also taken over many of the Bengals' single-season and single-game records. Among them are:

• He holds the top four Bengals season averages in gross yardage and the top five Bengals season averages in net. His gross record is 46.84, and his net record is 42.10 — both were set in 2014.

- He shares the team record for longest punt (75 yards) with Kyle Larson.
- His 33 inside-20 punts in 2012 is a single-season franchise record.
- His six inside-20 punts on Sept. 14, 2017 vs. Houston are tied with Lee Johnson (Nov. 2, 1997) for the most in a game in Bengals history.

Looking at first-year Bengals coaches: When Zac Taylor was named Bengals head coach on Feb. 4, questions immediately surfaced about how quickly he could return the team to success. But even the best coaches in Bengals history have taken time to right the ship.

Here's a look at the nine previous Bengals head coaches' records in their first full season as the team's head coach.

HEAD COACH	1ST FULL SEASON	RECORD
Paul Brown	1968	3-11-0
Bill "Tiger" Johnson	1976	10-4-0
Homer Rice	1979	4-12-0

Bruce Coslet	1997	7-9-0
Dick LeBeau	2001	6-10-0
Marvin Lewis	2003	8-8-0

How rookie head coaches stack up: Over the last 10 seasons (2009-18), first-time NFL coaches in their first full season have gone a combined 304-352 (.463). Here's a look at how many wins those 41 rookie head coaches piled up in their first full regular season.

(NOTE: This includes only rookie coaches who made their NFL head coaching debut at the start of a season.)

25 points does the trick: Since 2011, the Bengals own a 46-1-2 record (.959) when scoring 25 or more points. Only Miami has a better winning percentage, at .971 (33-1-0), when topping the 25-point mark over that span.

The Bengals have yet to reach to 25-point plateau in a game this season. In 2018, they were a perfect 6-0 when scoring 25 points or more, and 0-10 when failing to hit the mark.

Here are the top five teams in the NFL since 2011, in terms of winning percentage, when hitting the 25-point plateau.

TEAM	WINS	LOSSES	TIES	WINNING PCT.
Miami Dolphins	34	1	0	.971
Cincinnati Bengals	46	1	2	.959
New England Patriots	86	8	0	.915
Denver Broncos	51	6	0	.895
Philadelphia Eagles	52	7	0	.881
N.Y. Jets	35	5	0	.875

Dunlap's PD frenzy: While he's recorded just three passes defended this season, in part due to missing two games with a knee injury, Bengals DE Carlos Dunlap still has a reputation as one of the league's best defensive linemen at batting down passes at the line of scrimmage. And he has the numbers to back it up, too.

Dunlap had eight passes defended in 2018, second-most in the NFL among non-DBs. His eight PDs were the third-highest single-season total of his career, behind the 2013 (10) and '16 (15) seasons. His 2016 total led all Bengals defenders and all other NFL defensive linemen, and it was the first time since Cincinnati began recording defensive stats in 1976 that a Bengals defensive lineman had ever led the team in PDs.

To paint a clearer picture of just how effective Dunlap has been at batting passes, here's a list of non-defensive backs in the NFL with the most passes defended since the start of the 2016 season.

PLAYER	POS	TEAM	PDs SINCE 2016
Eric Kendricks	LB	Minnesota	34
Alec Ogletree	LB	St. Louis/L.A. Rams/N.Y. Giants	34
Carlos Dunlap	DE	Cincinnati	33
Deion Jones	LB	Atlanta	29
Luke Kuechly	LB	Carolina	28

Dunlap has played in 10 of Cincinnati's 12 games so far this season. He missed Games 6-7 due to a knee injury.

Dunlap's, Atkins' dominance = team success: Bengals DE Carlos Dunlap and DT Geno Atkins entered the NFL together in 2010 as draft picks of the Bengals, and in the 10 seasons since they've established themselves among the top pass-rushing duos in the league. Most importantly though, the record shows that when Dunlap and Atkins are at their most dominant, it usually spells success for Cincinnati.

The Bengals are 11-6 (.647) when Dunlap records more than one sack, and 8-6 (.571) when Atkins records more than one sack. There have been two instances in which both have had more than one sack in the same game (Bengals are 1-1 in those contests), which means Cincinnati is a combined 18-11 (.621) when getting more than one sack from either player.

The Bengals are 8-1 since the beginning of the 2015 season when Dunlap records more than one sack, with the only outlier coming in a 20-17 overtime loss at Denver in 2015. Dunlap had a career-best three sacks in that Denver game and finished 2015 with a career-high 13.5, second-most in Bengals history. Dunlap has one multi-sack game this season — Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets, when he tied his career from the 2015 Denver game with three sacks.

Since 2015, the Bengals are 6-4 when Atkins has more than one sack. The Bengals are 0-2 this season when Atkins records more than one sack — two sacks in Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, and 1.5 sacks in Game 10 at Oakland.

Dunlap and Atkins are under contract with the Bengals through the '21 and '22 seasons, respectively. Dunlap (78 sacks) currently stands second on the Bengals' all-time sack list, and Atkins (75.5) is third. The Bengals' leader in career sacks is DE Eddie Edwards, with 83.5.

Dunlap, Atkins neck-and-neck in career sacks: Just 2.5 sacks separate Bengals DE Carlos Dunlap (78 sacks) and DT Geno Atkins (75.5), who rank second and third, respectively, on Cincinnati's all-time sack list behind all-time leader Eddie Edwards (83.5). And now that Edwards' record is within sight, the race is on to see which player catches him first.

Dunlap, a two-time Pro Bowler (2015 and '16) who turned 30 after the '18 season, has a team-high 5.5 sacks this season. He entered the year 1.5 sacks ahead of Atkins, but fell behind after missing two games (Games 6-7) due to a knee injury. Dunlap, though, re-took the lead in impressive fashion in Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets, when he tied a career high with three sacks. Dunlap averaged 8.1 sacks over his first nine NFL seasons, while Edwards averaged just under seven over 12 seasons. In 2015, Dunlap set a career-high in sacks, with 13.5, the second-most in Bengals history.

Atkins, who missed nearly half of the 2013 season with a torn ACL, has more than double the number of sacks of the next-closest interior defensive lineman in Bengals history (Tim Krumrie, 34.5). Atkins has 4.5 sacks this season, including two multi-sack performances — Game 7 vs. Jacksonville (two), and Game 10 at Oakland (1.5). Last season, he had a team-high 10 sacks, the third-highest single-season sack total of his career (he had a career-high 12.5 in 2012, and 11 in '15). Atkins has finished with at least a share of the NFL lead for sacks by an interior lineman five times in nine NFL seasons, including in three of the last four years (see "Geno looks to re-claim his crown").

NOTE: The NFL has counted sacks as official statistics since 1982. However, the Bengals have sack statistics compiled since 1976 and recognize those sacks recorded from '76-81 in its records. Thus, please note that, because the NFL has sacks statistics for all teams only since 1982, the Bengals' sack statistics for players whose careers included seasons prior to '82 will not be included in league information.

Geno on HOF pace: Bengals DT Geno Atkins, who is playing his 10th NFL season in 2019, currently stands at 75.5 career sacks, third in team history and the most ever by a Bengals interior defensive lineman.

But a closer look reveals that Atkins is on a Hall-of-Fame pace. When compared to defensive tackles in the Pro Football Hall of Fame, Atkins compares quite favorably at this point in his career.

Here's a look at the sack totals of notable Hall-of-Fame DTs through their 10th seasons, as well as where they stood at the end of their careers. It should be noted that Atkins missed nearly half of the 2013 season, due to a torn ACL.

(NOTE: This list includes only DTs whose careers started after 1982, when the NFL began counting sacks as official statistics):

NAME	YEARS ACTIVE	THRU 10 SEASONS	CAREER SACKS
John Randle.....	1990-2003	106.0	137.5
Warren Sapp.....	1995-2007	79.5	96.5
Geno Atkins	2010-present	*75.5	*75.5
Cortez Kennedy.....	1990-2000	57.0	58.0

*—Atkins is 12 games into his 10th NFL season.

Geno looks to re-claim his crown: Bengals DT Geno Atkins this season is looking to reclaim a crown that, for all intents and purposes, has been his for much of this decade. In nine previous NFL seasons (2010-18), Atkins has five times finished in at least a tie for most sacks by an NFL interior defensive lineman. He claimed it outright in 2012 (12.5 sacks), '16 (nine) and '17 (nine), while sharing it in '11 (7.5) and '15 (11).

Atkins, though, has some work to do in order to catch up over the final four games. Atkins has 4.5 sacks this season, and stands five behind the league's leader among interior linemen, Rams DT Aaron Donald (9.5).

Last season, Atkins had a team-high 10 sacks but finished two short of the top spot, held by 49ers DT DeForest Buckner (12). It marked the first time in the previous four seasons that Atkins failed to finish in at least a tie for the lead.

Atkins has been selected to the Pro Bowl seven times in his nine previous seasons. Those seven selections are the most by a Bengals defensive player in team history, just ahead of CB Lemar Parrish (six). No other Bengals defensive lineman has been selected more than twice. Atkins currently stands at 75.5 career sacks, the most by a Bengals interior lineman and third overall.

Two Bengals hail from Queen City: Two Bengals — DE Sam Hubbard and P Kevin Huber — grew up in Greater Cincinnati.

Hubbard, a Moeller High School alum and former Ohio State standout, is now in his second season with the Bengals. A third-round draft pick (77th overall) a year ago, Hubbard followed up a productive rookie season by earning the Bengals' No. 1 RDE spot in preseason. He has five sacks this season (second on team).

"It's insane," Hubbard said after being drafted by his hometown Bengals. "Seeing that 513 area code pop up on my phone on draft day was just incredible. To get an opportunity to represent the city of Cincinnati one more time, and to do it for the pro team in this city, is a dream come true. I watched every game the Bengals played. I was there when Carson Palmer got hurt in the playoffs (in the 2005 season). I've just always been a big fan."

Huber, an Anderson Township native and alum of McNicholas High School and the University of Cincinnati, was a fifth-round draft choice of the Bengals in 2009. He has played in all but two games throughout his career in Cincinnati, and he currently stands as the Bengals' career leader in both gross (45.04) and net (39.94) punting average.

Huber and his wife, Mindi, have been active in the local community throughout his Bengals career. The couple started their own charity, The Foundation for Underserved Rescues, which "provides resources and support to underserved Cincinnati-area animal rescues."

It should also be noted that Bengals have a third player with Cincinnati ties. Rookie G Michael Jordan was born in Fairfield, Ohio, just outside of Cincinnati, but his family moved and he attended high school in Michigan.

Bengals draft picks stick in NFL: A familiar trend has emerged this season regarding which teams have the most keen eye for talent in the draft, and the Bengals again are toward the top of the list. As of Tuesday (Dec. 3), there were 48 players on NFL rosters who entered the NFL as draft picks of the Bengals, one shy of New England (49) for the most of any team in the NFL.

Cincinnati was among the top three teams all of last season as well, and even held a double-digit lead over the second place team early in the year before 13 qualifying players landed on the Bengals' Reserve/Injured list. Only players on active 53-man rosters are counted in this data.

Of the 53 players on Cincinnati's active roster on Tuesday (Dec. 3), 40 entered the NFL with the Bengals — 33 as draft picks, and seven as college free agents.

Of the Bengals' 33 draft picks on their roster, six were first-round picks, seven were second-rounders, four were third-rounders, six were fourth-rounders, four were fifth-rounders, three were sixth-rounders and three were seventh-rounders.

It should also be noted that the Bengals have four former draft picks currently on Reserve lists, including former first-rounders OT Jonah Williams and CB Dre Kirkpatrick.

Here's a look at the teams with the most draft picks on an active NFL roster, as of Tuesday, Dec. 3.

TEAM	DRAFT PICKS ON NFL ROSTERS
New England Patriots	49
Baltimore Ravens	48
Cincinnati Bengals	48
Seattle Seahawks	45
Green Bay Packers.....	45

Bengal bites: Three Bengals on the 53-player roster have changed uniform numbers since preseason — CB Darius Phillips now is No. 24 and CB B.W. Webb now is No. 23 ... The tallest Bengal is QB Jake Dolegala, who is 6-7 ... The shortest Bengal is HB Trayveon Williams, who is 5-8 ... There is a tie for heaviest Bengals player between DT Josh Tupou and OT Cordy Glenn, who are both 345 pounds ... The lightest Bengal is CB Tony McRae, who is 185 pounds ... The oldest Bengal is LS Clark Harris, who is 35 (born July 10, 1984) ... The youngest Bengal is G Michael Jordan, who is 21 (Jan. 25, 1998).

BENGALS QUOTES

Head coach Zac Taylor, on the overall state of the team:

"We're in this thing together. We genuinely care about each other, and we've put in a lot of work. If we stay the course and we believe in what we're doing and we believe in the people we're doing it with, good things are going to happen. We know good things are coming our way. We just have to keep working."

Taylor, on his feelings after the team's first win:

"I'm proud of all of them — proud of the coaches, proud of the players for sticking together (through the 11-game losing streak) and earning this win. It's emotional. You go through it with all of these guys. And to finally get it, it feels really good."

Taylor, on his team's attitude throughout the losing streak:

"It's easy to give up. It's even easier to start pointing fingers. That's what we didn't see anybody do. It speaks to the leadership we have, throughout the building, really, that we stuck together and found the positives."

WR Tyler Boyd, on what it meant to give Zac Taylor his first win:

"Everything. He always continued to push us. He never lost his mind, he never snapped, he never felt like we were a losing team. In spite of our record, he knew we were better than what it showed. He continued to be a great head coach and put us in positions to win, and I'm sure he'll continue to do that. If we go out and execute the game plan, we'll keep getting wins."

Taylor, on how QB Andy Dalton handled the quarterback changes:

"Andy has handled it as well as you could hope any veteran would. He wants to play and feels he can help the team win, but at the same time, he was still a leader for us and going about things the right way when he wasn't the starting quarterback. He and I have always had a relationship where we can be open with each other. We appreciate that, and now we're relying on him to help us win games, and he's going to take that on."

QB Andy Dalton, on breaking Ken Anderson's team records for passing TDs and completions:

"I've been here a long time. It means a lot to me to have the opportunity to break Ken's records — I've known him for a while. (Setting records) also shows that I've been consistent here for a long time. I've been lucky to have played on some good offenses with good players here. It is cool to break those records, and it gives me bragging rights now."

Taylor, on handling the offensive play-calling responsibilities:

"It leaves you with a lot on your plate, but at the same time I know what I want this thing to look like. (Offensive coordinator) Brian Callahan and I are in lockstep. We're on the same page, along with all the other coaches in this offense. It may be me calling the plays, but everybody has input. Even at practice, I'm listening to Brian and some of the other coaches talk about ideas. Even though it's coming out of my mouth, it doesn't mean the ideas for play-calls are solely coming from me. (Communication between us) is something we practice, and it's important that everyone is equally involved."

Offensive coordinator Brian Callahan, on the offense being without A.J. Green (injured early in training camp) thus far this season:

"Listen, we all want A.J. out there. Everyone wants him. When you have those (premier players), you find ways to use them. But there are plenty of instances where you may not have him. You always stay true to what you believe offensively is going to help you win the game. If that involves featuring matchups with a guy as dynamic as A.J., then that's going to be part of it. If we don't have that piece, we will move the pieces around to get us the best matchups that help us win the game."

Taylor, on HB Giovani Bernard, who signed a contract extension just prior to the opener:

"He's consistent with his approach every day. You know what you're getting from him. He's very detailed with his craft — he's a good runner, he's a good receiver and he's a good protector. He fits all three of those traits that you want in a running back, and particularly in a No. 2 running back, because Joe gets the majority of the touches. Gio has always been reliable and goes about it the right way. He sets a great example for the other players on this team. He's very deserving of what he received (with a contract extension) and I'm happy for him."

HB Joe Mixon, on the Bengals' recent rushing success:

"We've done a good job up front, and the receivers on the perimeter are blocking. I hope we build on it. I think that's what's going to help us in these late-season games — running the football and controlling the line of scrimmage."

Taylor, on offensive line coach Jim Turner:

"Our experience working together (in the past) has great value. We see protections the same way, we see the run game the same way (and) the cadences the same way. We are always on the same page. ... I believe in Jim. I've seen him coach for six years live and in person now. I've seen what he has gotten out of players and the way he has developed players. Jim's attention to detail is unmatched. Our offensive linemen are going to be disciplined and know how we want it done. I don't believe in anybody more than I believe in Jim to get that job done."

Offensive line coach Jim Turner, on Trey Hopkins earning the starting center position in 2019:

"We feel like Trey helps us win at center better than anybody else on our team. As far as the performance of playing center and all the things that go into that position, Trey's got a lot of experience. When you watch the tape over Trey's career, he has done a heck of a job, and he has developed into a heck of a player. We expect a lot out of him now, having given him this responsibility."

Taylor, on WR Auden Tate:

"Auden has aggressive hands and he's tough. Those are two traits that you love. He's a guy we have a role for in this offense. He looks like a tight end playing wide receiver. He's physical in the run game, he has a great catch radius, he catches the ones you throw to him, and he's hard to take down. When his number has been called, he's produced for us."

WR Auden Tate, on WR Tyler Boyd:

"He's just a playmaker. In one-on-one opportunities, he wins them. He shows us that every game, putting the offense on his back, getting us a touchdown, getting us on the scoreboard. He has shown everybody what kind of player he is. He's special."

Callahan, on TEs C.J. Uzomah and Tyler Eifert:

"There's no question — when we put those guys in different positions in formations, they do a lot for us both as coverage indicators and as pieces in the passing game. On top of that, they can run block well. We're able to run a lot of different things with them in the lineup."

Tight ends coach James Casey, on using TEs C.J. Uzomah and Tyler Eifert on the field at the same time:

"It opens up so many possibilities with both those guys on the field. I don't think C.J. gets enough credit for how well he runs and catches the ball, and I don't think Tyler gets enough credit for how well he does blocking."

Taylor, on rookie TE Drew Sample:

"He's a gritty player. He really just has a special knack in all three phases — pass protection, run blocking and being a receiver. He's improving every game as he plays against different defensive lines and different linebackers. I'm very pleased with the direction he is headed in."

CB B.W. Webb, on defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo:

"Lou is very strategic about what he calls and has a lot of confidence in his players. That's very big for us — for our confidence — when a coach trusts you enough to put you in certain positions against the opponent's best players. He knows what the offense wants to do against us, so he just prepares us throughout the week, and we trust him."

CB William Jackson III, on defensive coordinator Anarumo and the defense's recent turnaround:

"Lou's a great coach, and he stayed on us about the little details (during the losing streak). You can see it paying off now. He has been on us hard, and this defense is really coming together as one now."

Defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo, on DE Carl Lawson:

"He's a powerful guy. I watched Cam Wake do it for six years (with the Miami Dolphins). Carl has the same body type and can also jack up 300-pound tackles in the run game. And Carl has that same kind explosion. I think Carl's an all-around player and a three-down guy for us, for sure."

POSITION BY POSITION

Quarterbacks: Veteran Andy Dalton returned to the starting quarterback role for Game 12 against the N.Y. Jets after serving as a backup for three games. In his return, he led the Bengals to their first victory of the season by virtue of his 243 passing yards and touchdown pass. Through his first eight games, Dalton ranked second in the NFL in passing attempts (338) and fifth in completions (204). In Game 8 at the L.A. Rams (London), Dalton completed 32 passes en route to 329 yards and one touchdown through the air. In Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, Dalton totaled four rushes for 33 yards and collected his third rushing touchdown of the season. In Game 5 vs. Arizona, Dalton posted a season-high 107.6 passer rating, his highest output since Game 4 of 2018, when he notched a 109.5 rating at Atlanta. In the opener at Seattle, he set career-highs in completions (35) and passing yards (418), en route to a 106.5 passer rating. Dalton owns a 69-58-2 regular season record as a starter, good for the top winning percentage (.543) of any Bengals QB with 10 or more starts. He stands as the Bengals' all-time leader in career passer rating (88.0), 300-yard passing games (27), career completions (2669) and passing TDs (198). He is currently second in passing yards (30,595) and completion percentage (62.13). His 198 career TD passes and 112 INTs are good for a ratio of 1.77-to-1, the best in Bengals history ahead of second-place Carson Palmer at 1.54-to-1 (154-100). Dalton's 22 total TDs in his career are the most ever by a Bengals QB, ahead of Ken Anderson (20); his 21 career rushing TDs are also the most ever by a QB, ahead of Anderson (20). Dalton has posted 48 career games with a passer rating at or above 100, and the Bengals' record in those contests is 39-9 (.813). After serving as the second-string quarterback for the first eight games of 2019, rookie Ryan Finley took the reins as the starting signal-caller for Game 9 vs. Baltimore. After three starts, however, he is back in his secondary role. Finley completed 41-of-87 passing attempts (47.1 percent), totaling 474 yards, two touchdowns and two interceptions. In his debut, Finley passed for 167 yards on 16-of-30 passing, with a touchdown pass to TE Tyler Eifert for his first-career score. The Bengals traded up in April's draft to select Finley, from N.C. State, in the fourth round. Finley left N.C. State with the top career completion percentage (.645) in school history. Despite playing only three seasons (2016-18) at N.C. State, Finley finished his career ranked third in ACC history in both passing yards (10,505) and 300-yard passing games (18). Finley began his college career at Boise State (2013-15), then graduated and played his final three seasons ('16-18) at N.C. State. Perhaps the biggest surprise of training camp was the play of college free agent Jake Dolegala of Central Connecticut State, a tall (6-foot-7), athletic and strong-armed passer who impressed in a little more than one game of action in preseason. In college, Dolegala set school records for career passing yards (8129) and TDs (48). Dolegala has not yet played this season — inactive for Games 1-6 and 8-10, and active/DNP for Game 7.

Running backs: HB Joe Mixon now is in his third season with the Bengals, after a 2018 campaign in which he rushed for 1168 yards and became the first Cincinnati HB ever to lead the AFC in rushing yards in a season (Paul Robinson led the AFL in rushing as a rookie in 1968). Through 12 games, Mixon has rushed 183 times for 643 yards and two TDs, and has 26 catches for 190 yards and two TDs. In Game 12 against the N.Y. Jets, Mixon found the end zone for his second rushing touchdown on the season. In Game 10 at Oakland, Mixon logged 86 yards and a touchdown on the ground, including a 30-yard run that came on a 12-play drive in the second quarter. Mixon's TD came on the final play of that drive — a 3-yard improvisation that he cut back against the grain. In Game 9 vs. Baltimore, Mixon surpassed the 100-yard rushing mark for the first time this season, with 114 yards on the ground. In Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, Mixon collected a receiving touchdown on a two-yard pitch-and-catch from Dalton with 1:25 left to play in the first half. Mixon had his most productive game of the season in Game 5 vs. Arizona, reaching 100 yards from scrimmage (93 rushing, 16 receiving) for the time this year. In Game 3 at Buffalo, Mixon reached the end zone for the first time in 2019 with a one-yard reception in the fourth quarter. In 37 career games (28 starts), Mixon has six 100-yard rushing performances and 12 games of at least 100 yards from scrimmage. Giovani Bernard, a 2013 second-round pick of the Bengals, again serves in the No. 2 HB role behind Mixon. In Game 8 against the L.A. Rams, Bernard ripped off a season-long 25-yard run. In the opener at Seattle, Bernard caught two passes for 42 yards, including a 35-yarder on a screen pass, which was his longest gain since 2017. Bernard ranks second in Bengals history in both receptions (289) and receiving yards (2459) by a RB, trailing only James Brooks (297 and 3012). Brooks played seven Bengals seasons (1984-91), and Bernard in 2019 is in his seventh season. Bernard also owns the Bengals' record for receiving yards in a game by a RB (128), which he set in 2015 at Arizona, and his 89-yard TD run vs. Carolina in '14 stands as the second-longest rush in team history. New to the Bengals' backfield this season is rookie sixth-round pick Trayveon Williams of Texas A&M. Williams was inactive for Games 1-2 due to a foot injury he suffered in preseason, but has appeared in six games this season and has seen action on special teams. In three seasons at A&M, Williams had 4176 yards from scrimmage and 35 total TDs. Last season, Williams led the Southeastern Conference in rushing yards (1760) and TDs (18), while ranking second among SEC running backs in receptions (27) and third in receiving yards (278).

Wide receivers: Tyler Boyd has stepped up to be the Bengals' No. 1 receiver this season. Boyd currently leads the Bengals in both receptions (68) and receiving yards (758). In Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets, Boyd reeled in a 17-yard touchdown reception over the middle to give Cincinnati the lead — a lead it wouldn't relinquish en route to its first victory of the season. In Game 11 vs. Pittsburgh, Boyd hauled in five catches for 101 yards and a touchdown. Boyd hauled in a 47-yard deep ball from QB Ryan Finley to set up his 15-yard TD grab late in the second quarter. In Game 5 vs. Arizona, Boyd led the team in receptions (10) and receiving yards (season-high 123), and had a 42-yard touchdown catch in the fourth quarter. In Game 2 vs. San Francisco, Boyd had 122 yards on 10 receptions. He now has six career 100-yard receiving games and three career games with double-digit receptions. Boyd has become one of the most reliable and productive receivers in the league on third down, and currently has 16 third-down receptions, including 14 that have converted first downs. Boyd has caught at least one pass in all 50 of his career games played. Originally a 2016 second-round pick of the Bengals, Boyd signed a contract extension in July that will keep him in Cincinnati through the 2023 season. Second-year pro Auden Tate, a 6-5 WR out of Florida State has worked his way into the regular rotation at WR, and has 39 receptions (second on team) for 559 yards (second on team). In Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, Tate hauled in three receptions for 65 yards, including a career-long 33-yard grab in the third quarter. Tate had a career day in Game 6 at Baltimore, leading the team in catches (five) and receiving yards (91). Tate recorded his first career touchdown in Game 5 vs. Arizona on a two-yard pass from Dalton with 4:11 remaining in the game. Tate made his first NFL start in Game 3 at Buffalo, and posted 88 receiving yards on a career-high six receptions. Alex Erickson, a Bengals CFA signee in 2016, has seen time throughout his career at both returner spots, WR and emergency RB. Erickson has played in all 60 games of his NFL career, and has 68 career catches for 825 yards and a TD. In Game 8 against the L.A. Rams, Erickson led the team with 97 receiving yards, including a career-long 52-yard connection in the fourth quarter. Erickson had a career day in Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, notching his first career 100-yard receiving game, while posting career highs in catches (eight) and yards (137), and had a 48-yard catch. Stanley Morgan, a 2019 college free agent signee out of Nebraska, was signed from the practice squad to the active roster on Oct. 2. In Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, Morgan collected his first career special teams tackle, and downed a first-quarter punt at the Jaguars three-yard line. He made his NFL debut in Game 5 vs. Arizona and notched his first career reception with a six-yard catch in the second quarter. Morgan spent four seasons (2015-18) at Nebraska, and set school records in career receptions (189) and receiving yards (2747). Rookie Damion Willis, a college free agent signee out of Troy, was re-signed from the practice squad on Nov. 15. Willis entered training camp as a long shot to even make the roster, and then became just the 11th Bengals WR ever to start a season-opener; all 10 of the previous players were drafted in the fourth round or higher. He's played in 10 games (two starts) this season, and has nine catches for 82 yards. WR A.J. Green has been rehabbing from an ankle injury suffered in the first practice of training camp, thus his climb up the Bengals' record books is temporarily on hold while he rehabs. Green has not yet played in 2019, and Bengals head coach Zac Taylor says there is no specific timeline for his return. Last season, Green was limited by a toe injury to just nine games, and for the first time in his eight seasons, missed out on earning a Pro Bowl nod. Green, though, still stands as the only NFL WR since the 1970 merger to start his career with seven consecutive Pro Bowl nominations. Green's seven Pro Bowl selections are tied with DT Geno Atkins for second in Bengals history, behind HOF OT Anthony Munoz (11). Despite limited action in 2018, Green finished second on the team in receptions (46), receiving yards (694) and receiving TDs (six); it was the first time in his eight seasons he did not lead the team in receptions and receiving yards. Green currently ranks second in team history in receptions (602) and receiving yards (8907); Chad Johnson, who played 10 seasons with the Bengals, is first in both categories (751 and 10,783). Green is the Bengals' all-time leader in 100-yard receiving games (33), after passing Johnson (31) last season. John Ross III, the Bengals' first-round pick out of Washington in 2017, returned to practice on Nov. 13 after being placed on Reserve/Injured with a sternoclavicular injury on Oct. 2. Ross, who suffered the injury in Game 4 at Pittsburgh, is expected to be activated and receive playing time this week against Cleveland, according to head coach Zac Taylor. Ross started the first four games at WR, and caught 16 passes for 328 yards and three TDs. In Game 1 at Seattle, he notched career-highs in receptions (seven), receiving yards (158) and TDs (two), including a 33-yarder on a flea-flicker and a 55-yarder just before halftime that gave Cincinnati the lead. In Game 2 vs. San Francisco, Ross posted 112 receiving yards on four catches, including a career-long 66-yard TD. Known for his record-breaking speed, his 4.22-second 40-yard dash at the 2017 NFL Combine is considered to be the fastest in the event's history.

Tight ends: Fifth-year pro C.J. Uzomah, who signed a three-year contract extension (through 2021) with the Bengals over the offseason, is listed as the No. 1 TE on the Bengals' depth chart and has started all 12 games this season. Uzomah has 16 receptions for 168 yards this season, including a career-high 66 yards in Game 1 at Seattle. Last season, Uzomah notched career-highs in catches (43), receiving yards (439) and TDs (three). Tyler Eifert, who was limited to just 14 games from 2016-18 due to back and ankle injuries, has played in all 12 games so far this season. Eifert has 33 catches for 176 yards and two TDs on the year, including 17 third-down catches for 157 yards this season. In Game 9 against Baltimore, Eifert hauled in his second touchdown of the season to convert a red zone opportunity. In Game 8 against the L.A. Rams, Eifert posted season-highs in receptions (six) and receiving yards (72). In Game 2 against San Francisco, Eifert collected a one-yard TD in the first quarter, his first score since his 15-yard TD in Game 4 of 2018. When healthy, Eifert has proved to be among the top pass-catching TEs in the NFL. In 2015, Eifert caught 13 TDs (in just 13 games), the most ever by a Bengals TE. Cincinnati invested a second-round pick in April's draft in Drew Sample of Washington, who was touted by scouts as a well-rounded prospect that excels in the blocking game. Sample had seen action in the first nine games this season before falling to an ankle injury during Game 9 against Baltimore and hasn't played since. Prior to his departure, he had five catches for 30 yards. A timeline for Sample's return is unknown. In college, Sample was a key part of a blocking effort that helped Washington RB Myles Gaskin top 1200 rushing yards and score double-digit TDs in each of his four seasons. Cethan Carter, a third-year player out of Nebraska, appeared in each of the Bengals' first 11 games this season, but exited in Game 11 vs. Pittsburgh with a concussion. Carter has seen most of his action on special teams, and has four ST tackles this season. Cincinnati signed TE Mason Schreck off the practice squad on Nov. 30 ahead of Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets, when he made his season debut and contributed primarily on special teams. Schreck, a third-year player, was originally a seventh-round draft pick (251st overall) of the Bengals in 2017. He was limited by knee injuries to just six games over his first two seasons (no statistics), and then spent Games 1-11 of this season on Cincinnati's practice squad.

Offensive linemen: At center is veteran Trey Hopkins, who won the starting job after a strong preseason. Hopkins, now in his sixth season in Cincinnati, is known for his intelligence, versatility (has started all three interior OL spots during his career) and experience (32 career starts). Hopkins and ROT Bobby Hart are the only Bengals offensive linemen to start each of the 12 games this season. Hart, a seventh-round pick of the N.Y. Giants in 2015, signed with Cincinnati in the '18 offseason, and has started all 28 games in his Bengals career. Veteran Cordy Glenn, last year's No. 1 LOT returns back outside after missing the first 10 games of the season. Glenn suffered a concussion in preseason, and missed much of the first half of the season before returning to practice on Oct. 16 and working his way back into playing shape. Glenn also spent Game 7 vs. Jacksonville on the Reserve/Suspended by Club list. Glenn made his 2019 debut in Game 11 vs. Pittsburgh and played every offensive snap. Glenn, who has played all 92 of his career NFL games at LOT, was acquired in a trade with Buffalo during the 2018 offseason. At RG this season is John Miller, an unrestricted free agent signee who spent his first four seasons with the Buffalo Bills. At 6-3, 315, Miller is considered a powerful run-blocker and helped the Bills rank in the top 10 in rushing offense in each of his four seasons with the team. After starting the first 53 games of his NFL career, Miller was inactive for Games 7 and 8 due to a groin injury he suffered in the second quarter of Game 6 at Baltimore. Miller returned to play every offensive snap in Game 10 at Oakland. The Bengals invested a first-round pick in OT Jonah Williams of Alabama, who was slated as the 2019 starter at LOT, but a shoulder injury suffered in OTAs will cause Williams to miss most or all of his rookie season (currently on Reserve/Physically Unable to Perform). Veteran John Jerry, who signed with the Bengals in June after Williams' injury, has played in 10 games this season, with starts at LOT in Games 6-10 for the injured Smith. Jerry has played in 131 career games, with 106 starts. Entering this season, he had two career starts at LOT. Billy Price, a 2018 first-round pick (21st overall) out of Ohio State, began the year as a reserve but has since started seven games at LG (Game 3 and Games 6-11). Price was limited during preseason and early in the regular season by a foot injury. In Game 1 at Seattle, rookie G Michael Jordan, a Bengals fourth-round pick and the youngest player on the roster (turns 22 in January), became just the 16th Bengals rookie to start on the offensive line in an opener, the seventh to do so at G, and the seventh to do so after being drafted in the fourth round or lower. Jordan has played in 10 games this season, with five starts at LG. New to the Bengals' offensive line is OT/G Fred Johnson, who was acquired on Oct. 14 on waivers from the Pittsburgh Steelers. Johnson, a rookie out of the University of Florida, originally was a college free agent signee of the Steelers in May. He made his NFL debut in Game 7 vs. Jacksonville and has seen action in two games for Cincinnati.

Defensive linemen: Considered one of the top interior defensive linemen in football, 10th-year DT Geno Atkins again anchors the Bengals' defensive line and continues his climb up the Bengals' all-time sack list. He's currently second on the team in sacks (4.5), and in Game 10 at Oakland, Atkins was consistently in the Raiders' backfield and logged 1.5 sacks of QB Derek Carr. In Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, Atkins recorded his second and third sacks of the season after dropping Jaguars QB Gardner Minshew two times in a three-minute span. Atkins also recorded a sack in Game 3 at Buffalo. The 10th-year veteran now has 75.5 sacks, third-most in team history, most by a Bengals interior lineman and eight shy of the all-time lead. Atkins in 2018 led the Bengals in sacks (10) for the fifth time in his career. In his nine previous seasons, Atkins has finished in at least a share of the NFL lead for sacks by an interior defensive lineman five different times — he claimed it outright three times (2012, '16, '17) and shared it twice ('11 and '15). Atkins' seven Pro Bowl selections are the most ever by a Bengals defensive player, and tied with teammate A.J. Green for the second-most in team history behind Hall of Fame OT Anthony Munoz (11). Standing in second place on the Bengals' all-time career sack list is 10th-year DE Carlos Dunlap, whose 78 sacks are 5.5 shy of all-time leader Eddie Edwards (83.5). After appearing in 115 consecutive contests and not missing a game since 2012, Dunlap missed Games 6-7 with a knee injury. Dunlap has 5.5 sacks this season, most recently contributing last week in the Game 12 matchup vs. the N.Y. Jets, when he tied his career high with three sacks of QB Sam Darnold. In addition to pressuring the quarterback consistently, he also had a PD. His other sacks were registered in Game 1 at Seattle, Game 10 at Oakland and Game 11 against Pittsburgh. Also considered one of the NFL's most proficient defensive linemen at batting down passes, Dunlap's 34 PDs since 2016 are tied for the most in the NFL among non-defensive backs over that span. And in 2015, Dunlap's career-best 13.5 sacks were the second-most in a season in Bengals history. Second-year DE Sam Hubbard, a Cincinnati native (Archbishop Moeller High School), has taken over at RDE this season. Hubbard leads all Bengals defensive linemen in tackles (60) and is second in sacks (five). In Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets, Hubbard sacked QB Sam Darnold on third down and forced a Jets punt. In Game 11 against Pittsburgh, Hubbard chased down QB Devlin Hodges and aided in stalling the drive. In Game 5 vs. Arizona, Hubbard totaled five tackles, including a sack (a five-yard loss). In Game 3 at Buffalo, Hubbard posted six tackles and collected his second career forced fumble (Bengals recovered) after stripping the ball from Bills RB T.J. Yeldon. Hubbard made his first career start in the opener at Seattle, and recorded a team-high 10 tackles, including two sacks of Seahawks QB Russell Wilson. Fourth-year DT Andrew Billings lines up as Cincinnati's No. 1 NT for the second-straight season. Billings has played in every game this season, with 11 starts at NT, and has 23 tackles and a sack. Third-year DE Carl Lawson, considered one of the Bengals' most talented young defenders, returned to action this season after having his 2018 campaign cut short by a torn ACL in his right knee. Lawson, though, has been limited to eight games this season due to a hamstring injury. In game 10 at Oakland, Lawson sacked QB Derek Carr on a third down to force a Raiders punt. Lawson made his second career start in Game 6, and totaled three tackles and a sack. Lawson turned heads in 2017, when his 8.5 sacks led all NFL rookies and tied for the second-most ever by a Bengals rookie. Veteran DT Josh Tupou, who is tied for the heaviest Bengal on the roster, adds a massive run-stuffing presence to the middle of the Bengals' defensive line. After missing the final six games of 2018 due to a torn pectoral muscle, Tupou has appeared in all 12 games this season, has 21 total tackles and he made his first career start in Game 3 at Buffalo. Tupou registered the most productive game of his career in Game 10 at Oakland, when he notched seven tackles and a forced fumble. Andrew Brown, a 2018 Bengals fifth-round draft pick out of Virginia, made the roster this year after spending his rookie season on Cincinnati's practice squad and Practice Squad/Injured list (hand). After being inactive for the first two games this season, Brown has logged time in Games 3-12, and has 13 total tackles. Brown made his first career NFL start in Game 7 vs. Jacksonville and recorded a career-high five tackles. DT Renell Wren, a 2019 fourth-round pick out of Arizona State, has played in 10 games so far this season, starting Games 11-12 against Pittsburgh and the N.Y. Jets, respectively, and has seven total tackles. At a massive 6-5, 318 pounds, Wren totaled 14.5 tackles for losses and three sacks in four seasons at ASU. Anthony Zettel, a fourth-year DE, was originally signed by the Bengals on Oct. 18 and played in Games 7-9 in a reserve role. He was inactive for Games 10-12. He originally was a college free agent signee of Detroit in 2016, and also spent time with Cleveland.

Linebackers: The Bengals' linebackers are led in 2019 by fourth-year pro Nick Vigil, who has started all 12 games this season and leads the team in tackles (95). Vigil led the defensive charge in Game 10 at Oakland, posting 12 tackles and his third career fumble recovery. In Game 9 against Baltimore, Vigil recorded his second-career sack when he took down elusive QB Lamar Jackson on a drive that ended with a punt. In Game 6 at Baltimore, Vigil tied his season-high with 13 tackles, and collected a fumble recovery. In addition to his team-high 11 tackles in Game 4 at Pittsburgh, Vigil collected his first career forced fumble (Bengals recovered) after jarring the ball loose from Steelers WR Diontae Johnson. Vigil now has nine career games with 10 or more tackles, including four this season. The Bengals this year invested a third-round draft pick in LB Germaine Pratt of North Carolina State, who began his college career at S before switching to LB. Pratt has played in all 12 games this season, and led the team in tackles (eight) for the first time in his career in Game 11 against Pittsburgh. Pratt made his first career start in Game 6 at Baltimore, and has seen increased playing time since, finding himself in a starting role for Games 9-12. He has totaled 38 tackles on defense and three on special teams. Last season was Pratt's first as a starting LB, and he ended up leading the Wolfpack in tackles (104) while earning first-team All-ACC honors. Third-year pro Jordan Evans, a 2017 sixth-round pick of the Bengals, has played in 41 career games (nine starts) for the Bengals, seeing time mainly as a rotational linebacker. Evans this year has contributed mainly on special teams, with four tackles. LaRoy Reynolds, signed with the Bengals as a free agent on Sept. 10, and has appeared in all 11 games since. He has three tackles and a PD on defense, and two tackles on special teams. Reynolds, a seventh-year player out of the University of Virginia, previously spent time with the Jaguars, Bears, Falcons and Eagles. Hardy Nickerson, a 2017 college free agent signee out of Illinois, was signed from the practice squad on Nov. 15. Nickerson has bounced between the roster and practice squad over his three seasons in Cincinnati. He has played in three games so far this season, and has three tackles.

Defensive backs: Shawn Williams, a 2013 third-round draft pick, fills a starting S position for the fourth-straight season, and he's currently third on the team with 86 tackles. In Game 11 against Pittsburgh, Williams energized the Bengals with a red-zone interception of QB Mason Rudolph. Williams posted the second highest tackle output in Game 10 at Oakland with nine. In Game 5 vs. Arizona, Williams collected his fourth-career game with double-digit tackles (12). Williams posted a team-high nine tackles in Game 3 at Buffalo. At the other safety spot is second-year pro Jessie Bates III, a 2018 second-round draft pick of the Bengals who has started all 28 possible games of his career. Bates has five career games with double-digit tackles, including two this season. After leading the team in tackles (111) a year ago, Bates currently ranks second on the team in tackles, with 89. In Game 10 at Oakland, Bates jumped a route and intercepted QB Derek Carr for his fifth-career pick. In Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, he recorded 12 tackles, which led the team and tied his career high. In Game 4 at Pittsburgh, Bates collected his first career fumble recovery. Considered one of Cincinnati's most talented young defenders, William Jackson III is in his fourth season as a Bengal, and second as a full-time starting CB. Jackson suffered a shoulder injury in Game 6 at Baltimore, which caused him to miss Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, but he returned to action in Game 8 against the L.A. Rams. Jackson, the Bengals' first-round pick in 2016, collected his second career interception in Week 2 with a 19-yard pick off of San Francisco QB Jimmy Garoppolo. His other career INT is a 75-yard pick-six of Packers QB Aaron Rodgers in 2017. Veteran CB B.W. Webb, an unrestricted free agent signee over the offseason, has played this season through a right arm injury he suffered in Game 2. Webb has appeared in 11 games this season and made eight starts (four at NCB, and four at CB). In Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, Webb started in place of Jackson and collected three tackles and two passes defensed. In Game 5 vs. Arizona, Webb had two tackles and two passes defensed, including a pass deflection on third-and-10 that forced a Cardinals punt late in the fourth quarter and set up a Bengals game-tying TD with 2:03 remaining. Webb previously spent time with the N.Y. Giants (2018), Cleveland ('17), New Orleans ('16), Tennessee ('15), Pittsburgh ('14) and Dallas ('13). CB Darqueze Dennard, the Bengals' first-round pick in 2014, began the season on the Physically Unable to Perform list with a knee injury before making his season debut in Game 7 vs. Jacksonville. Dennard recorded five tackles and two passes defensed against the Jaguars, but suffered a hamstring injury in the contest that caused him to miss Game 8 against the L.A. Rams. He returned to play in the Game 9 matchup against Baltimore, and had the second-most tackles in Game 10 at Oakland as a starting CB. Dennard has played in 73 career games (22 starts), and has 237 tackles, three INTs, three sacks, 21 PDs, two FFs and a FR. CB Darius Phillips was activated from Reserve/Injured on Nov. 29 after missing games 4-11 due to a knee injury. Prior to his departure, he played in the first three games and recorded one tackle, one INT, and six kickoff returns for 137 yards (22.8 average). He now returns to the roster in a reserve role. Adding depth at safety is Clayton Fejedelem, a seventh-round pick of the Bengals in 2016 who has become a core special teams player and valuable reserve on defense. Fejedelem has played in all 60 possible games over his career (six starts), and he led the Bengals in special teams tackles in each of his first three seasons. S Brandon Wilson, a 2017 sixth-round pick of the Bengals, has seen action in all 12 games this season. Wilson has 18 tackles and two FFs on defense this year, but his impact has been felt most on special teams. Wilson this season leads the NFL with a 31.3 KOR average on 20 returns, and has amassed 625 yards, which are third-most in the league. Additionally, Wilson leads the team in special teams tackles with six. Wilson's season highlight was his game-opening 92-yard TD in Game 6 at Baltimore. In Game 4 at Pittsburgh, Wilson saw extended action on defense and made back-to-back tackles for losses on a third and fourth down, forcing a Steelers turnover on downs. In Game 3, Wilson forced a fumble by Bills QB Josh Allen, but it was deemed that the ball was recovered by the Bengals out of bounds. Veteran CB Tony McRae, a reliable contributor on both defense and special teams, also adds depth in the secondary. McRae this season has 15 tackles and a PD on defense, and is second on the team with five tackles on special teams. In Game 8 against the L.A. Rams, McRae logged a career-high five tackles and one PD. New to the defensive backfield is CB Torry McTyer, who the Bengals signed from the Kansas City Chiefs' practice squad on Sept. 26. McTyer, a third-year player out of Nevada-Las Vegas, was originally a college free agent signee of the Miami Dolphins in 2017, and has previous experience playing under secondary/cornerbacks coach Daronte Jones and defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo. McTyer has played in four games for the Bengals this season, and has two tackles on defense. CB Greg Mabin, a rotational CB and third-year player out of the University of Iowa, has spent time on both the active roster and practice squad this season for the Bengals. He's played in five games (Games 4 and 9-12) and was inactive for another (Game vs. Arizona). He was originally a college free agent signee of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 2017, and also spent time with the Buffalo Bills and San Francisco 49ers. He has played in 25 career games (one start), and has 18 tackles, a pass defensed and a forced fumble.

Special teams: S Brandon Wilson, a 2017 sixth-round pick out of Houston who has long been a key contributor in kick coverage (team-leading six ST tackles this season), has burst onto the scene as a kickoff returner this season. Wilson currently has 20 kickoff returns for 625 yards, which are third-most most in the league, and a TD. Wilson is the first NFL player since 2010-11 (Jets RB Joe McKnight) to have his first 10 career KORs include at least three of 40 or more yards and a TD. In Game 6 at Baltimore, Wilson totaled 142 KOR yards (47.3 avg.), the most in a single game this season, and his TD was the third-longest of the season (longest in the AFC), the first Bengals KOR TD since HB Bernard Scott 2009 and it marked the first time the Bengals opened the game with a kickoff return for a TD. Wilson got his first KOR opportunity of the season in Game 5 vs. Arizona, after WR Alex Erickson left with a concussion, and he recorded three returns for a total of 97 yards (32.3 avg.). Erickson has been a key contributor for the Bengals in the return game since joining the team as a CFA in 2016. Erickson, though, has seen more action at WR this season due to injuries at that position group, and has just three kickoff returns (for 53 yards) on the year. In Game 4 at Pittsburgh — his first action returning kickoffs this season — Erickson had two returns for 44 yards, including a 25-yard return in the second quarter. Erickson also has posted 113 yards on 19 punt returns this year. Last season, Erickson's 1049 kickoff return yards were second-most in the NFL. As a rookie in 2016, Erickson posted an AFC-best 27.9-yard average on kickoff returns, the second-best mark in team history. Eighth-year pro Randy Bullock has served as the Bengals' placekicker since midway through the 2016 season, when he joined Cincinnati on waivers from Pittsburgh. So far this season, Bullock is 18-for-18 on PATs and 17-for-21 on FG attempts. Handling punting duties again this season is 11th-year pro Kevin Huber, the longest-tenured Bengal on the roster. Huber, a Cincinnati native (McNicholas High School), stands as the Bengals' career leader in every significant punting category, including punts (827), punting yards (37,249) gross average (45.04), net average (39.94) and inside-20 punts (291). He also shares the franchise record for longest punt (75 yards) and owns the Bengals' best career ratio for inside-20s to touchbacks (4.41-to-1; 291-66). Huber, who also serves as the holder for placekicks, has played in 175 of 177 possible games (including postseason) since joining the team as a fifth-round draft pick in 2009. LS Clark Harris, the oldest Bengal on the roster at 35, has served as the Bengals' long snapper since midway through the 2009 season. Harris has been a paragon of reliability throughout his career in Cincinnati, with no unplayable snaps in 1506 attempts as a Bengal (824 punts, 699 placekicks). In 2017, Harris became the first-ever Bengals long snapper to earn a Pro Bowl nod. Harris has also been solid in kick coverage throughout his time in Cincinnati, with 33 career special teams tackles.

LAST SEASON'S BENGALS-BROWNS MEETINGS

2018 SEASON

WEEK 12, GAME 11

Cleveland Browns 35, Cincinnati Bengals 20
 Sunday, Nov. 25, 2018 at Paul Brown Stadium

The Bengals fell behind 28-0 late in the first half, and that four-score deficit proved too large to overcome. QB Andy Dalton suffered a thumb injury on his throwing hand early in the second half against the Browns and did not return. Jeff Driskel, Dalton's backup, finished the game. Dalton was placed on the Reserve/Injured list the following day. Driskel filled in admirably against the Browns, despite inheriting tough game conditions. The Bengals were down 35-7 when he took the field in the third quarter, and Cincinnati's offense had entered the game without two other injured starters — WR A.J. Green (toe) and LOT Cordy Glenn (back). Driskel, who led the team to two second-half scores, completed 17 of 29 passes for 155 yards and one TD (84.7 passer rating). He also rushed three times for nine yards and another TD. HB Joe Mixon totaled 155 yards from scrimmage — a team high for the season — with 89 yards rushing (14 carries; 6.4-yard average) and 66 yards receiving (seven catches; 9.4). WR Tyler Boyd finished the game with seven receptions for 85 yards and a TD. The Bengals fell to 5-6, while the Browns improved to 4-6-1.

2018 SEASON

WEEK 16, GAME 15

Cleveland Browns 26, Cincinnati Bengals 18
 Sunday, Dec. 23, 2018 at FirstEnergy Stadium

Cincinnati's offense struggled, particularly early. In first half, the Bengals totaled just 36 net yards, including minus-15 yards passing, en route to a 16-0 halftime deficit. Not until early in the fourth quarter did Cincinnati complete a drive that ended in a score. But by then, the Browns led 23-0. The Bengals did their best to close the gap late. Down 26-3, QB Jeff Driskel hit TE C.J. Uzomah for a 14-yard TD pass with 4:56 left. Then, after Cincinnati blocked a Cleveland punt on the following drive, Driskel connected with WR John Ross III for a three-yard TD pass and then hit WR Cody Core for a two-point conversion to pull to within eight points, 26-18 with 2:56 left. However, on the third play of the ensuing drive, Cleveland took a short pass 66 yards to end any possibility that Cincinnati, which had no timeouts left, could regain possession and attempt to tie the game. Driskel completed 13 of 19 passes for 133 yards, two TDs and no INTs (123.4 passer rating). The Bengals fell to 6-9, while the Browns improved to 7-7-1. The loss cemented the Bengals' first last-place finish in the AFC North since 2010, and the win gave Cleveland its first series sweep over Cincinnati since 2002.

2019 GAME SUMMARIES

WEEK 1, GAME 1

Seattle Seahawks 21, Cincinnati Bengals 20 Sunday, Sept. 8, 2019 at CenturyLink Field

Cincinnati outgained Seattle by 196 net yards (395-161), recorded 10 more first downs (22-12) and held more than a 10-minute advantage in time of possession (35:50-24:10), but the Bengals ultimately were inefficient in converting yards into points and lost their first game under new head coach Zac Taylor. The Bengals scored just one FG in three trips inside the Seahawks' red zone in the game. And in the third quarter alone, three times Cincinnati reached Seattle's 36-yard line or farther (36, 27 and 12) and came away with no points (the drives ended on a fumble, a missed FG and a turnover on downs). Seattle, however, scored TDs on three of their four drives into Cincinnati territory overall, including two TDs on their only two trips inside the Bengals' red-zone. QB Andy Dalton had career highs in yards (418) and completions (35) in 51 attempts, tossed two long TDs to WR John Ross III, and had a 106.5 passer rating. Ross had career highs in catches (seven) and receiving yards (158), and his TDs came on passes of 55 and 33 yards. The Bengals' defense enjoyed a solid game overall, recording four sacks and holding the Seahawks, who led the NFL in rushing in 2018, to just 72 yards on the ground. Seahawks QB Russell Wilson, however, stung the Bengals with a 44-yard TD pass to WR Tyler Lockett on the first play of the fourth quarter for what ultimately were the game's winning points.

WEEK 2, GAME 2

San Francisco 49ers 41, Cincinnati Bengals 17 Sunday, Sept. 15, 2019 at Paul Brown Stadium

The game started poorly right away for Cincinnati — a penalty erased a kickoff return, followed by a sack, then by a fumble on QB-RB exchange for no gain, then a failed third-down conversion attempt, and then a punt that barely made it to midfield. And, largely, the game was all downhill from there for the Bengals. The 49ers scored TDs on three of their first four drives to jump out to a 21-7 first-half lead and never looked back. San Francisco beat the Cincinnati soundly on both sides of the ball, outgaining the Bengals in total net yards 572-316, including 259-25 rushing. There were some individual positives for Cincinnati, as WR Tyler Boyd had 10 catches for 122 yards, and WR John Ross III had four catches for 112 yards and a TD. The 49ers improved to 2-0. The Bengals fell to 0-2.

WEEK 3, GAME 3

Buffalo Bills 21, Cincinnati Bengals 17
Sunday, Sept. 22, 2019 at New Era Field

Cincinnati's offense stalled for nearly the entirety of the first two quarters en route to a 14-0 halftime deficit, and the early ineffectiveness ultimately doomed the Bengals' late efforts for a comeback win against an undefeated Buffalo team in a stadium packed with rowdy Bills fans. The Bengals, who failed to produce a first down until the two-minute warning of the first half, had just 76 total net yards at intermission. Still, when they kick-started their offense in the second half, the Bengals scored 17 unanswered points to take a 17-14 lead with just under five minutes left. The Bills, however, responded with a late seven-play, 78-yard drive, which was highlighted by a 49-yard pass from QB Josh Allen to TE Dawson Knox in which Knox stiff-armed and bulldozed his way deep into Bengals territory, and ended in a one-yard TD run by RB Frank Gore. QB Andy Dalton drove the Bengals 42 yards to the Bills' 28-yard line with 20 seconds left, but his next pass bounced off the outstretched hand of WR Auden Tate and was intercepted by Buffalo CB Tre'Davious White to seal the Bills' win. The Bengals fell to 0-3, while the Bills improved to 3-0.

WEEK 4, GAME 4

Pittsburgh Steelers 27, Cincinnati Bengals 3
Monday night, Sept. 30, 2019 at Heinz Field

A FG by K Randy Bullock gave Cincinnati a 3-0 lead after one quarter of the 100th meeting between the Bengals and Steelers, but Pittsburgh scored 27 unanswered points in the final three quarters and cruised to a dominant 27-3 win on Monday Night Football. Both teams entered the matchup 0-3, and the Steelers were without QB Ben Roethlisberger (Reserve/Injured; elbow) for the first time in a game against the Bengals since 2003. But Roethlisberger's replacement, QB Mason Rudolph, filled in admirably, completing 24 of 28 passes for 229 yards, two TDs and no INTs (124.6 passer rating). His top two targets were RBs James Conner and Jaylen Samuels, who combined for 16 catches for 140 yards and one TD receiving. Samuels also added another TD rushing. Bengals QB Andy Dalton was sacked eight times, the most in his nine-year career, and Cincinnati's offense gained just 175 total net yards. It was the eighth straight win in the series for the Steelers, who improved to 1-3. The Bengals fell to 0-4.

WEEK 5, GAME 5

Arizona Cardinals 26, Cincinnati Bengals 23 Sunday, Oct. 6, 2019 at Paul Brown Stadium

Behind 23-9 midway through the fourth quarter, the Bengals rallied to tie the game on a 42-yard TD pass from QB Andy Dalton to WR Tyler Boyd with 1:41 remaining. But Cardinals rookie QB and No. 1 overall draft pick Kyle Murray led Arizona on a six-play, 62-yard drive that ended with a Zane Gonzalez FG as time expired, and Arizona escaped Paul Brown Stadium with a 26-23 win. Despite allowing 514 total yards, including 266 rushing yards and a 7.0-yard rushing average, the Bengals' defense was stout in the red zone, keeping the game close by allowing the Cardinals just one TD on six trips inside the 20. Despite not having two of his top three receivers — John Ross III and A.J. Green, both out due to injury — Dalton completed 71.1 percent of his passes (27 of 38) and leaned heavily on Boyd, who totaled 10 receptions for 123 yards and a TD. The Bengals fell to 0-5, while Arizona improved to 1-3-1.

WEEK 6, GAME 6

Baltimore Ravens 23, Cincinnati Bengals 17 Sunday, Oct. 13, 2019 at M&T Bank Stadium

Cincinnati raced to literally the fastest start in team history when S Brandon Wilson took the opening kickoff 92 yards for a score, becoming the first Bengal ever to begin a game returning a kickoff for a TD. But the Ravens answered, scoring on their first three possessions to take a 17-7 lead, and they never looked back. Baltimore, which amassed 497 total yards, leaned heavily on a ground attack that gained 269 yards on 43 rushes and earned a 19-minute edge in time of possession (39:42 to 20:18). The Ravens were led by QB Lamar Jackson, whose 152 rushing yards were the third-most ever in a game by a QB. Cincinnati's rushing offense, on the other hand, struggled to find traction and totaled just 33 yards on 14 attempts. But the game was kept close, and the visiting Bengals pulled to within six with 1:28 remaining when QB Andy Dalton capped a 12-play, 48-yard drive with his 21st career TD (a Bengals QB record). Wilson recovered the ensuing onside kick attempt, but it was ruled that the kick did not travel the required 10 yards, and the Ravens were able to run out the clock. Cincinnati fell to 0-6, while Baltimore improved to 4-2.

WEEK 10, GAME 9

Baltimore Ravens 49, Cincinnati Bengals 13
Sunday, Nov. 10, 2019 at Paul Brown Stadium

The Ravens scored TDs on five of their first six possessions and cruised to an easy 49-13 win at Paul Brown Stadium. Rookie QB Ryan Finley made his first career start, replacing longtime starter Andy Dalton, who was assigned to a reserve role the previous week during the team's bye. Finley played mostly well, passing for 167 yards and a TD against a stout Ravens defense, however he made two costly mistakes — an INT that was returned 89 yards for a TD, and a fumble that was returned 33 yards for a TD. The Ravens were led by second-year QB Lamar Jackson, who became just the third player ever to post a perfect 158.3 passer rating in a game (minimum 15 attempts) against the Bengals (also Oilers QB Chris Chandler in 1995, and Rams QB Kurt Warner in '99). Jackson also impressed with his feet, stunning fans with a 47-yard TD run that featured a highlight-reel spin move. The Bengals fell to 0-9, while the Ravens improved to 7-2.

WEEK 11, GAME 10

Oakland Raiders 17, Cincinnati Bengals 10
Sunday, Nov. 17, 2019 at Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum

With the Raiders moving from Oakland to Las Vegas after the 2019 season, the Bengals made perhaps their final trip to the Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum. A TD by Bay-area native Joe Mixon gave the Bengals a 7-0 lead after one quarter, but Oakland outscored Cincinnati 17-3 in the final three periods to earn the win. The Bengals did have two potential game-tying drives late in the fourth quarter, but they turned the ball over on downs and then threw what amounted to a game-sealing INT. Bengals QB Ryan Finley struggled in his first career road start and completed just 41.9 percent of his passes, along with an INT, lost fumble and five sacks. The Bengals fell to 0-10, matching their 1993 season for the worst start in team history. The loss was also their 12th straight dating back to 2018, the longest losing streak in team history. The Raiders improved to 6-4.

WEEK 12, GAME 11

Pittsburgh Steelers 16, Cincinnati Bengals 10 Sunday, Nov. 24, 2019 at Paul Brown Stadium

In the first Bengals-Steelers matchup in 16 years that featured neither Andy Dalton or Ben Roethlisberger, the 32nd-ranked Bengals defense played stout and helped Cincinnati to a 7-3 lead at halftime. In the third quarter, Pittsburgh benched starting QB Mason Rudolph in favor of rookie college free agent Devlin Hodges, who tossed a 79-yard TD to WR James Washington on his third pass attempt. The Bengals and starting QB Ryan Finley couldn't muster an answer, and were held to just three points in the second half. Cincinnati's best scoring opportunity came on a 72-yard drive in the fourth quarter, but that ended when WR Tyler Boyd, who had a game-high 101 receiving yards, lost a fumble on the Steelers' six-yard line. Finley struggled in his third start, completing just 12 of his 26 passes (46 percent) for 192 yards and a TD, while also losing a fumble. On Monday after the game, Bengals head coach Zac Taylor announced that QB Andy Dalton would return to the starting role, after serving as a reserve for three games. Pittsburgh improved to 6-5, while Cincinnati fell to 0-11, the worst start in team history.

WEEK 13, GAME 12

Cincinnati Bengals 22, N.Y. Jets 6 Sunday, Dec. 1, 2019 at Paul Brown Stadium

After starting the season 0-11, the Bengals put together a dominant performance for their first win of the year, and the first career win for Zac Taylor as head coach. The visiting Jets, who had scored exactly 34 points in each of the three previous weeks (all wins), were held to just two FGs by a Bengals defense that entered the contest ranked 27th in points allowed. The Bengals applied constant pressure to Jets QB Sam Darnold and sacked him four times, including three by DE Carlos Dunlap, while holding the Jets' offense out of the red zone altogether. Bengals QB Andy Dalton returned to the starting lineup, after serving in a reserve role behind rookie Ryan Finley the previous three weeks, and passed former QB Ken Anderson for first place all-time in both career completions and TD passes by a Bengal (Anderson had 197 TD passes, and 2654 completions). The Bengals improved to 1-11, while the Jets fell to 4-8.
