TEAM NOTES

Bengals make run to Super Bowl LVI: On the strength of one of the NFL's most talented young rosters, the Bengals cruised to a 10-7 record, AFC North title, AFC Conference championship and berth in Super Bowl LVI. Cincinnati's tight-knit locker room and charismatic young stars captured the affection of the fan base, as the team embarked on one of the most exciting and successful runs in Bengals history.

Second-year QB Joe Burrow posted team records for passing yardage (4611), passing TDs (34) and passer rating (108.3) en route to being named the NFL's Comeback Player of the Year (see "Recapping Burrow's NFL journey" on page 8). His primary target was rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase, the No. 5 overall pick in the draft who brought familiarity with Burrow after teaming with him in college at LSU, where they won a national championship in 2019. Chase, who won NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year (AP), put together one of the top rookie seasons ever by a WR (see "The rundown on Chase" on page 9), and teamed with second-year WR Tee Higgins and sixth-year slot WR Tyler Boyd to form one of the NFL's most productive WR trios. Fifth-year HB Joe Mixon proved to be one of the NFL's top RBs (see "Mixon finishes top five in two" on page 10), and posted career-highs in rushing yardage (1205) and total TDs (16), while seventh-year TE C.J. Uzomah, the longest-tenured Bengal on offense, put together a career year of his own — 49 catches, 493 yards and five TDs.

Cincinnati's defense showed well in 2020, thanks to a bevy of new faces and young players stepping into major roles. DE Trey Hendrickson, an unrestricted free agent signee in March, recorded the second-most sacks (14) in team history (see "Trey's 14 sacks second-most by a Bengal" on page 11), while bookend DE Sam Hubbard, a Cincinnati native, posted 7.5 while proving to be one of the top DEs in the NFL against the run (see "Hubbard a Day 2 draft steal" on page 12). At NT, 347-pound D.J. Reader returned after his first Bengals season was cut short by injury, and he helped Cincinnati's 2021 run defense improve 24 spots over the '20 squad (see "Healthy Reader leads stout D-line" on page 12). DTs Larry Ogunjobi and B.J. Hill — both playing their first Bengals seasons — rotated next to Reader and combined for 12.5 sacks.

At LB, second-year pro Logan Wilson made the leap from 2020 rotational player to '21 starter, green-dot communicator and one of the NFL's top young LBs. Wilson's four INTs, led the team, tied for the NFL lead among LBs, and counted as the most by a Bengals LB in 16 years (see "Logan's four INTs tied for LB lead" on page 12).

The secondary was led by a pair of team captains at S in Vonn Bell and Jessie Bates III, who combined for three key INTs and a sack during the Bengals' playoff run (see "Mr. Reliable wears No. 30" on page 13, and "Bell rings of reliability" on page 13). All three of Cincinnati's starting CBs were new to the team in 2021 — Eli Apple, Chidobe Awuzie and Mike Hilton — and each had a pair of INTs.

Along with Chase, Cincinnati's other star rookie was K Evan McPherson, a 22-year-old fifth-round pick out of the University of Florida whose leg strength (see "McPherson from deep" on page 14) and reliability under pressure (see "Shooter McPherson' perfect in playoffs" on page 14) turned him into an immediate fan favorite. McPherson said before the season that he had never even been in position to make a game-winning kick, then he proceeded to hit five "walk-off" FGs as a rookie — in his first NFL game (Sept. 12 vs. Minnesota), his first primetime game (Thursday Night Football on Sept. 30 vs. Jacksonville), one to clinch the AFC North title (Jan. 2 vs. Kansas City), a 52-yarder in below-freezing temperatures to send Cincinnati to the AFC Championship (Divisional Playoff at Tennessee), and another to send Cincinnati to Super Bowl LVI (AFC Championship at Kansas City).

The Bengals found themselves very much in the playoff picture at their Week 10 bye and surged in the second half of the year against a difficult schedule. Cincinnati notched four lopsided wins over Pittsburgh and Baltimore to eventually finish 4-2 in the division and secure an AFC North title. The last of those was a record-setting 41-21 performance on Dec. 26 against Baltimore, which put the Bengals in the driver's seat in the AFC North. Burrow and the Bengals left little doubt about their prospects against the Ravens, as the second-year QB passed for a Bengals-record 525 yards, the fourth-highest single-game total in NFL history (see "Burrow's big days vs. Ravens" on page 8).

The next week, Cincinnati came out victorious in a win-and-in matchup at Paul Brown Stadium against perennial-power Kansas City and QB Patrick Mahomes. The Chiefs held three different 14-point leads, however the Bengals allowed just three second-half points while Chase posted a Bengals-record and NFL-rookie-record 266 receiving yards and three TDs (see "Uno shattered records vs. Chiefs" on page 9).

Cincinnati's playoff run started with a 26-19 win over the Las Vegas Raiders, in front of the largest home crowd in Bengals history (66,217). Trailing by seven late, the Raiders staged a potential game-tying drive in the final moments before a Germaine Pratt INT on a fourth-and-goal with 17 seconds remaining gave the Bengals their first playoff win in 31 years.

The Bengals then traveled to Nashville to take on the AFC's top seed, the Tennessee Titans, in a Divisional Playoff. Cincinnati held star RB Derrick Henry to just 3.1 yards per carry, and tackled him for losses on two of the game's most important plays — a two-point conversion in the first half, and a fourth-and-one on Cincinnati's 35-yard line with the game tied in the fourth quarter. Logan Wilson intercepted a Ryan Tannehill pass with 20 seconds remaining and the score tied, setting up a 19-yard Burrow-to-Chase completion and then a 52-yard game-winning FG by McPherson as time expired.

In the AFC Championship, Cincinnati overcame a 21-3 second-quarter deficit to the two-time defending conference champion Chiefs. Facing a raucous crowd at Arrowhead Stadium, the Bengals chipped away at the lead and eventually tied the game late in the third quarter. Cincinnati held the powerful Chiefs offense to just three second-half points, which came on a game-tying FG at the end of regulation. In OT, Bates tipped a deep pass from Mahomes to WR Tyreek Hill, and it was intercepted by Bell. From there, Burrow and the Bengals drove methodically down the field to get into range for a 31-yard walk-off FG from McPherson to earn a trip to Super Bowl LVI.

The Bengals held a "pep rally" for fans at Paul Brown Stadium as part of Super Bowl Opening Night on Monday, Feb. 7, and then the team flew to Los Angeles the next morning. Once in L.A., the team stayed on UCLA's campus and used the Bruins' football facilities for practice and other football operations. With the COVID-19 pandemic still ongoing, players and coaches conducted virtual media availabilities throughout the week from the team hotel; there was in-person availability on Friday before the game, but it was outdoors and socially distanced.

Super Bowl LVI was played against the L.A. Rams on their home field at SoFi Stadium, however Cincinnati was listed as the home team. The Bengals fell behind 13-3 early in the second quarter, but closed the gap to take the lead on the first play of the second half with a 75-yard TD pass from Burrow to Higgins that counted as the longest play from scrimmage in Bengals postseason history. Cincinnati stretched its lead to seven, but L.A.'s defense stood strong. A TD by WR Cooper Kupp gave the Rams a three-point lead with 1:25 remaining, and the Bengals' attempt to tie or win ended on a fourth-and-one at midfield when Burrow threw an incomplete pass while being tackled.

The Bengals returned to Cincinnati the following evening, and the team's busses were met at the facility's parking lot by a gathering of hundreds of spirited fans who braved the cold to express their gratitude. The organization then embarked on a condensed offseason, with the NFL Combine (March 1-7) starting less than three weeks after Super Bowl LVI and free agency beginning shortly after that (negotiating period started March 14). Cincinnati began free agency by adding to the the offensive line and with three new proven players in G Alex Cappa, OT La'el Collins and C Ted Karras.

2021 AFC North standings: The Bengals captured the 2021 AFC North Division championship by a half-game margin over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Here's the AFC North picture at the end of 2021, with the Bengals and Steelers both making it to the playoffs.

TEAM	W-L	PCT.	DIV.
Cincinnati Bengals .....	10-7-0	.588	4-2
Pittsburgh Steelers .....	9-7-1	.559	4-2
Cleveland Browns .....	8-9-0	.471	3-3
Baltimore Ravens .....	8-9-0	.471	1-5

Bengals to draft 31st: Barring a trade, the Bengals will have the No. 31 overall selection in the 2022 NFL Draft, which runs from April 28-April 30 in Las Vegas, Nev.

Last year, Cincinnati used the fifth overall pick to select Louisiana State WR Ja'Marr Chase, who went on to win 2021 NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year.

Cincinnati has possessed the No. 31 overall pick four other times in team history. In 1969, the Bengals selected Arkansas LB Bill Bergey at No. 31. In 1980, they selected Kansas LB Kirby Criswell. In 1988, they selected Nevada-Las Vegas RB Ikey Woods. And in 1992, they selected Tennessee WR Carl Pickens.

2022 opponents: The Bengals' home and away opponents for 2022 are set. The full schedule, with dates and kickoff times, will be released this spring.

In addition to their six games against fellow AFC North Division teams, the Bengals and the rest of the AFC North will play against all teams in the AFC East and NFC South divisions.

Cincinnati will also play two games — at home against Kansas City and on the road against Tennessee — that were determined by 2021 standings. As first-place finishers in the AFC North, the Bengals are matched against the first-place teams from the AFC West (Kansas City) and AFC South (Tennessee).

The NFL in 2021 added a 17th game, and in '22 that will be a road contest at Dallas. The additional game is always an interconference matchup, and is based on the prior year's standings on a rotating four-year cycle. These games match a first-place team from one division against a first-place team in an opposite-conference division that the team is not scheduled to play that season. The second-place, third-place and fourth-place teams in each division are matched in the same way each year. The home conference for this game rotates each season, with the NFC teams hosting the game in 2022.

Here is the list of opponents for 2022:

- HOME: Baltimore-Cleveland-Pittsburgh, plus Atlanta, Buffalo, Carolina, Kansas City and Miami.
- AWAY: Baltimore-Cleveland-Pittsburgh, plus Dallas, New England, New Orleans, N.Y. Jets, Tampa Bay and Tennessee.

Head coach Zac Taylor: Zac Taylor was named the 10th head coach in Cincinnati Bengals history on Feb. 4, 2019.

In 2021, Taylor led Cincinnati to an AFC North Division championship, an AFC Conference championship and a berth in Super Bowl LVI. Under Taylor's guidance, second-year QB Joe Burrow posted team records for passing yardage (4,611), TD passes (34) and passer rating (108.3) en route to becoming the NFL's Comeback Player of the Year. He also oversaw the rapid rise of rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase, who won AP Offensive Rookie of the Year after posting 1,455 receiving yards during the regular season, the most by any rookie in the Super Bowl era (began in 1966 season). Cincinnati also showed dramatic improvement on defense from 2020 to '21, jumping from 28th to eighth in points allowed, and 29th to fifth in rushing yards allowed.

In 2020, Taylor helped transition Burrow, the No. 1 overall pick in the draft, to the pro level despite the absence of an in-person offseason program due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Burrow, whose rookie campaign ended after 10 games due to a left knee injury, posted the most completions (264) and fifth-most passing yards (2,688) by a QB in NFL history through their first 10 career games.

In 2019, his first season as head coach, Taylor headed off a wave of early season injuries and helped the Bengals' per-game rushing average jump 70.6 yards from the first half of the season to the second, while the defense recorded 11 more sacks and allowed 84.1 fewer yards per game.

Taylor came to Cincinnati after two seasons (2017-18) with the L.A. Rams, where he served as assistant wide receivers coach in 2017 and quarterbacks coach in '18. In 2018, he helped guide Rams QB Jared Goff to career highs in every major passing category, as the Rams' second-ranked offense powered the team to a 13-3 record and berth in Super Bowl LIII against the New England Patriots.

In 2017, Taylor helped oversee an emerging Rams passing offense that ranked 10th in the NFL in passing yards per game (239.4). Taylor directed a young Rams receiving corps headed by rookie Cooper Kupp, who finished the season with 62 catches, a team-high 869 receiving yards and five TDs.

Prior to his time with the Rams, Taylor had a one-year stint in the college ranks, serving as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at the University of Cincinnati in 2016. Taylor served under head coach Tommy Tuberville at UC.

Taylor broke into NFL coaching in 2012 with the Miami Dolphins as assistant quarterbacks coach. He was elevated to quarterbacks coach from 2013-15, and spent the final five games of '15 as the Dolphins' interim offensive coordinator and primary play-caller, after the team made coaching staff changes.

During his time in Miami, Taylor was instrumental in the development of QB

Ryan Tannehill, the team's first-round draft pick in 2012.

Taylor's coaching career began at Texas A&M University, where he served as offensive graduate assistant and tight ends coach under head coach Mike Sherman from 2008-11. The Aggies shared the Big 12 South Championship in 2010 and played in three bowl games during Taylor's time in College Station.

As a player, Taylor began his college career at Wake Forest (2002-03), before transferring to Butler County Community College in Kansas ('04) and then playing his final two seasons ('05-06) at the University of Nebraska. Taylor had a decorated career with the Cornhuskers, setting numerous school records and passing for a combined 5,850 yards and 45 touchdowns. In his senior season of 2006, Taylor was named Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year after passing for 3,197 total yards and leading the Cornhuskers to a 9-3 record, an appearance in the Big 12 Championship Game and a berth in the Cotton Bowl. He was inducted into the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame in 2017.

Taylor joined the Tampa Bay Buccaneers as a college free agent in 2007, but he was waived prior to the start of training camp and never saw NFL action. Later that year, he joined the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League, where he spent one season (did not play).

His father, Sherwood, was a defensive back and captain at the University of Oklahoma, playing under Sooners head coach Barry Switzer from 1976-79. Sherwood Taylor later served as an assistant coach at Oklahoma and Kansas State University. Taylor's brother, Press, played quarterback at Marshall University and is currently offensive coordinator for the Jacksonville Jaguars.

Taylor was born in Norman, Okla., on May 10, 1983. After attending Norman High School, he earned a bachelor's degree in communication studies from the University of Nebraska in 2006. He and his wife, Sarah, have four children — Brooks, Luke, Emma Claire and Milly. Sarah Taylor is the daughter of former Green Bay Packers and Texas A&M head coach Mike Sherman.

Bengals staff changes for 2022: The Bengals have added three assistant coaches to Zac Taylor's staff for the 2022 season, and promoted one other.

The additions include James Bettcher (linebackers), Charles Burks (secondary/cornerbacks) and Derek Frazier (assistant offensive line):

- Bettcher, 42, brings nine years of NFL coaching experience, including as a defensive coordinator for both the N.Y. Giants (2018-19) and Arizona Cardinals ('15-17). His other NFL experience includes senior defensive assistant/running game specialist for the San Francisco 49ers in 2021, outside linebackers coach for the Cardinals from '13-14, and special assistant to the head coach/outside linebackers for the Indianapolis Colts in '12. Prior to his time in the NFL, Bettcher spent nine seasons as a college assistant, including at the University of New Hampshire in 2011, Ball State University in '10, University of North Carolina from '07-09, Bowling Green State University in '06, and University of St. Francis (Ind.) from '03-05.

- Burks, 34, joins Cincinnati after spending 2019-21 with the Miami Dolphins (was coaching assistant in '19, and cornerbacks coach from '20-21). Prior to his time in Miami, he spent eight seasons coaching in the college ranks, including time at Southeastern Oklahoma State University (2014-18), Texas A&M University-Commerce ('13), West Texas A&M University ('12) and East Central (Okla.) University ('11). As a player, Burks was a CB at East Central University from 2008-10.

- Frazier, 48, comes to Cincinnati after spending 2021 as offensive line coach at the University of Wyoming. He spent 2019-20 as assistant offensive line coach with the N.Y. Jets, where he worked with current Bengals offensive line coach/run game coordinator Frank Pollack, who was the Jets' offensive line coach for the same time period. Prior to his time with the Jets, Frazier spent 21 seasons coaching offensive lines in the college ranks — Central Michigan University (2015-18), Colorado State University ('12-14), Fresno State University ('03-04, '06-11), Northern Arizona University ('05), Adams State (Colo.) College ('01-02), and Nichols (Mass.) College (1998-2000). Frazier played center at the University of Northern Colorado from 1992-96, and helped the Bears to an NCAA Division II National Championship as a senior in '96. In Cincinnati, Frazier and Ben Martin both will hold the title of assistant offensive line coach.

Additionally, Jordan Kovacs has been promoted:

- Kovacs, 31, is entering his fourth season with Cincinnati. He now moves into the role of assistant linebackers coach, after spending 2019-21 as defensive quality control coach.

- McPherson kicked a 58-yard FG (Dec. 19 at Denver), a new Bengals record. The previous record was 57 yards, by Randy Bullock in 2019.

Other record-book movement: Here's a look at other movement in the Bengals' single-season record book that happened during the 2021 regular season. Full details on team individual records entering the 2021 season can be found on page 160 of the '21 Bengals Media Guide.

QB Joe Burrow, HB Joe Mixon, K Evan McPherson and DE Trey Hendrickson all played in 16 games; WR Ja'Marr Chase and P Kevin Huber played in 17 games.

- Burrow had 366 completions, second-most in team history. The record is 373, by Carson Palmer in 2007.

- Burrow had a 70.38 completion percentage, second-best in team history. The record is 70.55, by Ken Anderson in 1982.

- Burrow averaged 8.87 yards per attempt, third-best in team history. The record is 9.41, by Greg Cook in 1969.

- Chase had 13 receiving TDs, tied with TE Tyler Eifert for second-most in team history. The record is 17, by Carl Pickens in 1995.

- Chase had five 100-yard receiving games, tied with many players for second-most in team history. The record is six, by A.J. Green in 2013.

- Mixon had 16 total TDs, tied with RB Pete Johnson for second-most in team history. The record is 17, by Pickens in 1995.

- Mixon had 13 rushing TDs, fourth-most in team history. The record is 15, by Ickey Woods in 1988.

- Mixon scored a TD in nine straight games, tied with Green for the second-longest streak in team history. The record is 10, by Carl Pickens in 1995.

- McPherson scored 130 points, tied for third-most in team history. The record is 132, by Mike Nugent in 2011.

- McPherson made 28 FGs, tied for fourth-most in team history. The record is 33, by Nugent in 2011.

- Huber averaged 46.42 gross yards per punt, the fourth-best mark in team history. The record is 47.18, set by Huber in 2020.

- Huber averaged 41.05 net yards per punt, the fifth-best mark in team history. The record is 42.82, set by Huber in 2020.

- Hendrickson had 14 sacks, second-most in team history. Sacks became an official statistic in 1982, however the Bengals tracked that stat back to 1976, therefore the team recognizes DE Coy Bacon's 22 sacks in '76 as the team record. Hendrickson, though, has the most sacks by a Bengal since 1982, and thus the NFL notes him as the record-holder for their information.

And a few more miscellaneous records: A few other Bengals "records" were broken during the 2021 regular season, however they were not officially counted as team records since they're not kept in the team's media guide.

The NFL in 2021 expanded its regular-season to 17 games, however it should be noted that QB Joe Burrow, HB Joe Mixon and K Evan McPherson each played in only 16 games. WR Ja'Marr Chase played in 17 games.

- Burrow had 15 TD passes of at least 30 yards, the most-ever by a Bengal. The previous high was nine, by Ken Anderson (1973), Boomer Esiason ('89) and Carson Palmer (2006).

- Mixon scored a rushing TD in six straight games (Games 7-12), tied with HB Rudi Johnson (2006) and RB Stan Fritts (1975) for the longest such streak in team history.

- Mixon scored multiple TDs in four straight games (Games 8-11) the longest such streak in team history. The previous longest streak was three games, by Pete Johnson in 1981 and Rudi Johnson in 2005.

- Chase had 13 receiving TDs, the most-ever by a Bengals rookie. The previous high was nine, by WR Isaac Curtis in 1973.

- Chase had 81 receptions, the most-ever by a Bengals rookie. The previous high was 67, by Cris Collinsworth in 1981 and Tee Higgins in 2020.

- Chase had 1455 receiving yards, the most-ever by a Bengals rookie. The previous high was 1057, by A.J. Green in 2011.
- Chase had five 100-yard receiving games, the most-ever by a Bengals rookie. The previous high was four, by Green in 2011.
- McPherson made nine FGs of 50 or more yards, the most in team history. The previous high was four, by Horst Muhlmann in 1970.
- The Bengals combined for 10 100-yard receiving games, the most in team history. The previous high was nine, in 2006. Chase had five 100-yard games, while Higgins had four and Boyd had one.

Single-game postseason records set: Here's a look at the Bengals single-game postseason records that were set during Cincinnati's 2021 playoff run. Full detail on team postseason records entering the 2021 season can be found on page 296 of the Bengals' 2021 media guide.

- K Evan McPherson's 14 points in the Wild Card Playoff vs. Las Vegas were the most-ever in a Bengals postseason game. His 13 points in the Divisional Playoff at Tennessee were second-most, and then he tied that mark with 13 again in the AFC Championship at Kansas City.

- McPherson's four FGs in the Wild Card Playoff vs. Las Vegas were the most-ever in a Bengals postseason game. He then tied that mark the next week in the Divisional Playoff at Tennessee, and then again in the AFC Championship at Kansas City.
- QB Joe Burrow had two games — Wild Card Playoff vs. Las Vegas, AFC Championship at Kansas City — with two TD passes. Those tied for the most-ever in a Bengals postseason game, alongside Ken Anderson (four times) and Boomer Esiason (once).
- Burrow completed 75.68 percent of his passes (28 of 37) in the Divisional Playoff at Tennessee. That counts as the highest completion percentage ever in a Bengals postseason game.
- Burrow's 75-yard TD pass to WR Tee Higgins in Super Bowl LVI vs. the L.A. Rams was the longest pass play in Bengals postseason history. The previous record was 66 yards (not a TD) from QB Carson Palmer to WR Chris Henry in the 2005 Wild Card Playoff.
- WR Ja'Marr Chase averaged 21.8 yards (on five catches) in the Divisional Playoff at Tennessee. At the time, it was the highest yards-per-catch average ever in a game in Bengals postseason history, but it now stands second after WR Tee Higgins (25.0) topped that mark in Super Bowl LVI three weeks later.
- WR Tee Higgins had two receiving TDs in Super Bowl LVI vs. the L.A. Rams. That tied TE Dan Ross for most by a Bengal in a postseason game (Ross' came in Super Bowl XVI in the 1981 season).

- WR Trent Taylor averaged 14.0 yards on two punt returns in Super Bowl LVI vs. the L.A. Rams, tying him for the Bengals' single-game record for punt return average with CB Mitchell Price (1/6/1991 vs. Houston).

Uniform watch: The Bengals over the 2021 offseason unveiled new uniforms, marking Cincinnati's first significant uniform redesign since 2004.

There are now three different color options for the jerseys — black, white and orange. The pants also feature three different options — black with orange stripes, white with orange stripes, and white with black stripes. And there are three options for sock color — black, white and orange. The team's iconic striped helmet was unchanged.

Here are the Bengals' records in every possible uniform combination (regular season plus postseason):

* — NFL rules allow teams to wear designated alternate jerseys and/or color rush (CR) uniforms and/or throwback uniforms for a combined total of three regular-season games. As in years past, orange served as the Bengals' designated alternate jersey in 2021. The Bengals no longer have a CR uniform, and the team does not have a throwback uniform.

Three Bengals make Pro Bowl: WR Ja'Marr Chase, DE Trey Hendrickson and HB Joe Mixon all were voted to the AFC team for the 2021 Pro Bowl. It was the first Pro Bowl nod for all three.

Given Cincinnati's berth in Super Bowl LVI, no Bengals played in the Pro Bowl game, which was held on Feb. 6 at Allegiant Stadium in Las Vegas, Nev.

Chase, a rookie out of Louisiana State University, was the lone Bengal voted as a starter. During regular season, he led the team in receptions (81), receiving yards (1455) and receiving TDs (13). All three of those totals were Bengals rookie records. His receiving yardage total was a Bengals single-season record, and the most by any NFL rookie in the Super Bowl era (began in 1966 season).

Chase opened his postseason career with back-to-back 100-yard receiving games, and became the first rookie in league history with multiple 100-yard receiving games in the playoffs. His 368 receiving yards in the playoffs were the most-ever by a rookie in NFL history, and also counted as the most by any Bengal in an entire postseason career.

Chase was the sixth Bengals rookie ever to be voted to the Pro Bowl at any position. The others were QB Andy Dalton (2011), WR A.J. Green ('11), WR Cris Collinsworth (1981), WR Isaac Curtis ('73) and CB Lemar Parrish ('70). Additionally, four Bengals rookies were in the American Football League All-Star Game — LB Bill Bergey in 1969, and C Bob Johnson, RB Paul Robinson and TE Bob Trumpy in '68.

Hendrickson, a fifth-year pro out of Florida Atlantic University, played his first Bengals season in 2021 after joining the team in March as an unrestricted free agent. He led the team and ranked fifth leaguewide with 14 sacks, second-most in team history. Hendrickson recorded at least a half-sack in 11 straight games in 2021 (Games 5-15) — the longest streak in the NFL all season, the longest streak in team history, and tied for the second-longest streak in NFL history (see "Trey's sack streak ends at 11" on page 11).

Mixon, a fifth-year player out of the University of Oklahoma, originally was a second-round pick of the Bengals in 2017. He finished the 2021 regular season ranked third in the NFL in rushing yards (1205), third in rushing attempts (292) and fourth in rushing TDs (13). He also finished the regular season with 16 total TDs, tied for second-most in team history, and 13 rushing TDs, fourth in team history (see "Mixon finishes top five in two" on page 10).

Additionally, five Bengals were alternates for the AFC squad. QB Joe Burrow and LS Clark Harris were both second alternates, DE Sam Hubbard and DT Larry Ogunjobi were fourth alternates, and CB Mike Hilton was a fifth alternate.

Burrow, Chase earn NFL honors: Bengals QB Joe Burrow was awarded the NFL's Comeback Player of the Year for 2021, while WR Ja'Marr Chase earned NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year honors. Both awards were voted on by members of the Associated Press who regularly cover the NFL.

Burrow, a second-year pro in 2021, suffered a season-ending left knee injury 10 games into his rookie season in '20. He was medically cleared to take the first snap of training camp on July 28, then made good on a public vow he made after the injury to start the 2021 regular-season opener. He went on to break numerous team records while leading Cincinnati to a 10-7 record, AFC North title, AFC Conference Championship and berth in Super Bowl LVI (see "Recapping Burrow's NFL journey" on page 8).

The Bengals used the No. 5 overall pick in the 2021 NFL Draft to select Chase, who was Burrow's top target at Louisiana State. The two picked up where they left off in college, as Chase shattered numerous NFL rookie records, including single-season receiving yardage (in the Super Bowl era), single-game receiving yardage, and postseason receiving yardage. Each of those were also Bengals team records (see "The rundown on Chase" on page 9).

Burrow and Chase accepted their awards remotely during the NFL Honors ceremony on Feb. 11, while the team was in Los Angeles preparing for Super Bowl LVI.

Taylor's special delivery: After the Bengals' 26-19 win over the Raiders in the Wild Card Playoff on Jan. 17, Bengals head coach Zac Taylor told his team in the locker room that he was giving out two game balls.

The first went to Bengals president Mike Brown.

"Personally, if I coached in any other organization in football, I probably wouldn't be here right now in my third year," Taylor said. "That's the truth. But (Brown) just has the experience and understanding. There's no other owner that sits at every walk through, at every practice in the freezing cold, the rain, the snow. This means the world to him. And because he's around, and because (Bengals ownership) cares so much, they get a chance to hear your vision firsthand on a daily basis. So we're all on the same page, and there's no miscommunication. They can see where we need to go, and that we're going to get there. They just believe in these players and coaches."

The second went to the City of Cincinnati. Different members of the organization dropped off game balls at bars and restaurants around the city after the game in what Taylor said would be a new tradition after playoff wins. The game balls for the Wild Card Playoff win over Las Vegas went to three local establishments — Pontiac, Walt's Hitching Post and Mount Lookout Tavern. Taylor and P Kevin Huber — a Cincinnati native — made the delivery to MLT, and video surfaced of the two presenting the ball to a packed crowd.

"This is the first of many playoff games we win here," he said. "We're starting a new tradition where we give the game ball to fans. You pass it around, you take selfies with it, and by the end of the night the ball stays here at MLT."

Earlier, in his postgame news conference, Taylor expanded on why the organization is starting the new tradition.

"Some people had their greatest moments tonight," he said of Cincinnati's first playoff win in 31 years. "So we want them to get a chance to enjoy these game balls with us. I told this to the players — some of them may not understand the significance of this win that happened today, but I know a lot of you (media) in the room who are homegrown Cincinnati's certainly do. I think the city can finally exhale and just enjoy this team for what it is and take that pressure off those last 31 years."

On Jan. 22, shortly after returning to town following their Divisional Playoff win at Tennessee, Huber, Taylor, TE C.J. Uzomah and assistant head coach/special teams coordinator Darrin Simmons were among the Bengals representatives who dropped off game balls at Jeff Ruby's Precinct (Columbia Tusculum), 16 Lots Brewing Company (Mason), Delwood (Mount Lookout) and the Holy Grail Tavern and Grille (downtown).

On Jan. 30, after arriving back in town from their AFC Championship win at Kansas City, Taylor and other Bengals representatives delivered game balls to Maloney's Pub West (Delhi), Gametime Ultimate Sports Bar (Mount Healthy), Streetside Brewery (Columbia Tusculum), and Sinners and Saints Tavern (East End).

Bengals reverse the turnovers: In the second half of the 2021 regular season, the Bengals proved to be one of the NFL's best at protecting the football. At the center of that was QB Joe Burrow, who threw only two interceptions between Week 14 and Super Bowl LVI.

Burrow's two interceptions both came in the playoffs — one in the Divisional Playoff at Tennessee, and one in the AFC Championship at Kansas City. It was a stretch of eight straight starts for Burrow (inactive [rest] for regular-season finale). His INT in the divisional round broke a string of 209 consecutive pass attempts without a pick, the second-longest such streak in team history (counting playoffs) and second-longest in the NFL at the time behind Packers QB Aaron Rodgers (243). Burrow went five consecutive starts (counting playoffs) without an INT, tied for the third-longest such streak in team history (minimum 15 attempts per game). Ken Anderson also went five straight in 1973, while Andy Dalton went six straight in 2017 and Neil O'Donnell went seven straight in 1998.

The Bengals' offense did not lose a fumble between Week 14 and Super Bowl LVI, a stretch of nine consecutive games. Cincinnati's only two fumbles during that span — both Dec. 12 vs. San Francisco — were muffed punts. Cincinnati was plus-nine in turnover margin over its last eight games (including playoffs).

Here's a look at the longest streaks of consecutive pass attempts without an INT by a Bengal (including playoff games).

PLAYER	YEAR	ATTEMPTS WITHOUT AN INT
Neil O'Donnell	1998.....	238
Joe Burrow	2021-22.....	209
Joe Burrow	2020-21.....	199
Andy Dalton	2017.....	193

Bengals flip AFC North: Cincinnati's 2021 AFC North division title is the fifth instance in Bengals history that the team won a division title after finishing last in their division the previous season. The 2021 team now joins the 1970, '81, '88 and '90 Bengals as division champions who finished last in their division the season before.

Cincinnati finished 4-11-1 in 2020, and was fourth in the AFC North behind Cleveland (11-5), Baltimore (11-5) and division-champion Pittsburgh (12-4).

Bengals great in "middle eight": Much has been made in recent years about the importance of the "middle eight," a stretch of a game that spans the last four minutes of the first half and first four minutes of the second half. Among the people who have touted the importance of the "middle eight" have been former NFL GM Michael Lombardi and Tampa Bay QB Tom Brady.

"The 'middle eight' minutes of the game are so important to the overall outcome," Brady said in 2021 on ESPN's Monday Night Football broadcast with Peyton and Eli Manning. "Who wins the end of the first half and then the start of the third quarter? A lot of times when you defer and you get the ball on offense (to start the second half), you can create a 14-point swing without them ever touching the ball if you score before the half and then you score coming out in the third quarter. You definitely don't want to give the ball back to your opponents (at the end of the half). We always call it "the last shot" in basketball — you don't want to throw up a three-pointer with 18 seconds left on the shot clock."

So how did the Bengals stack up during the "middle eight" during the 2021 regular season? Their plus-56 point differential during that time period tied for the best in the NFL, and equated to an 8.0-point per game edge. During the playoffs, the Bengals were plus-17 — they scored 24 points and gave up seven.

Here's a look at the teams during the 2021 regular season with the largest point differential in the time period spanning the last four minutes of the first half and first four minutes of the second half.

TEAM	OWN POINTS	OPP. POINTS	DIFFERENTIAL
Cincinnati Bengals.....	112	56	+56
Dallas Cowboys.....	92	36	+56
Indianapolis Colts.....	92	45	+47
L.A. Rams.....	102	55	+47
Tampa Bay Buccaneers.....	92	49	+43

Bengals carry "Mo" into halftime ... : The Bengals scored a combined 63 points in the last two minutes of the first half during the 2021 regular season. That total was fourth among all NFL teams. When divided out among Cincinnati's 17 regular-season games, that's an average of 3.7 points per game in the last two minutes.

When taking the playoffs into account, the Bengals scored points (eight TDs, eight FGs) in the last two minutes of the first half in 15 of their 21 games.

Here's a look at the NFL teams in the 2021 regular season with the most points in the last two minutes before halftime:

TEAM	MOST POINTS IN TWO MINUTES BEFORE HALF
San Francisco 49ers.....	70
Green Bay Packers.....	69
Dallas Cowboys.....	68
Cincinnati Bengals.....	63
Tampa Bay Buccaneers.....	61

... And come out firing after the break: Not only were the Bengals one of the NFL's top teams at scoring before halftime during the regular season, they were also among the leaders in points scored (56) on the first possession of the second half. And that trend continued during the playoffs. The Bengals came away with points on their first offensive possession of the second half in 15 of their 21 games (seven TDs, eight FGs) in 2021, including in three of the team's four playoff games (FG in Wild Card Playoff vs. Las Vegas, TD in Divisional Playoff at Tennessee, TD in Super Bowl LVI vs. L.A. Rams).

It should be noted that the Bengals received the opening kickoff of the second half in 13 of their 21 games this year (including playoffs), thanks in part to a streak of luck that saw them win the opening coin toss in each of their first six games (see "Coin-toss roller coaster" on page 17). The Bengals deferred to the second half in each of those six games.

Here's a look at the teams with the most points scored on the first offensive possession of the second half during the 2021 regular season:

TEAM	POINTS
Green Bay Packers.....	72
Cincinnati Bengals.....	56
Baltimore Ravens.....	54
L.A. Rams.....	54
Tampa Bay Buccaneers.....	52

D tightens after the break: Cincinnati during the regular season allowed just 40 third-quarter points, second-fewest in the NFL behind Buffalo. The Bengals outscored their competition 102-40 in the third quarter during the regular season, good for a plus-62 point differential that was third-best leaguewide behind only Buffalo (plus-70) and Green Bay (plus-63).

Cincinnati's third-quarter defense only got better as the season progressed. The Bengals allowed just 13 combined third-quarter points over their final seven games (including playoffs), with 10 of those coming in the Divisional Playoff win at Tennessee. After their Week 10 bye — a 12-game stretch (including playoffs) — the Bengals allowed just 23 combined points, including just two TDs, in the third quarter. Cincinnati held its opponents scoreless in the third quarter in 12 of its 21 games in 2021.

Flipping the script on the road: The Bengals during the regular season won five road games, which counted as their most wins away from home since 2015 (six). They fell one regular-season road win shy of tying the single-season team record of six, accomplished in 1981, 2005, '12, and '15.

Dating back to 2020, Cincinnati has won eight of its last 11 road games, including two in the playoffs. (NOTE: Super Bowl LVI vs. the L.A. Rams is not counted in that total — it was technically a neutral-site game, and the Bengals were listed officially as the home team.)

Head coach Zac Taylor did not pick up his first road win until his 16th game away from Paul Brown Stadium (includes a 2019 neutral site loss to the Rams in London with Cincinnati as the "visiting" team), a fact the third-year Bengals head coach has not forgotten.

"We've really matured," Taylor said after a 31-13 win at Las Vegas on Nov. 21. "We lost 15 games in a row on the road at one point — I don't know if you all remember that, but I do (laughs). This team has really turned their mentality. When we get on a plane, get on a bus and go to a hotel, we come out there really focused. They've handled it really well. I have no concerns taking this team on the road and wondering how they're going to handle it. I'm proud of them."

Bengals' O boasts young nucleus: During the 2021 regular season, the Bengals became the first team in NFL history with a 4000-yard passer, 1000-yard rusher and two 1000-yard receivers who were all under 26 years old. QB Joe Burrow (25 years old) had 4611 passing yards, HB Joe Mixon (25) had 1205 rushing yards, and Ja'Marr Chase (21) and Tee Higgins (22) had 1455 and 1091 receiving yards, respectively.

The 2006 Bengals were the only other squad in team history with a 4000-yard passer (Carson Palmer), 1000-yard rusher (Rudi Johnson), and two 1000-yard receivers (Chad Johnson and T.J. Houshmandzadeh).

Recapping Burrow's NFL journey: Bengals QB Joe Burrow returned healthy to begin 2021, after his rookie campaign the previous year ended due to a left knee injury suffered early in the third quarter of Cincinnati's game at Washington (Nov. 22, 2020). Burrow had surgery on Dec. 2, 2020, then embarked on a long rehab process and was medically cleared in time to take the first snap of training camp on July 28, 2021. He participated fully in every practice of training camp (save for one scheduled rest day) but took just three snaps in preseason — all came in the finale vs. Miami.

Shortly after his injury in 2020, Burrow had vowed publicly that he would start Cincinnati's '21 season opener. On Sept. 12 vs. Minnesota, less than 10 months after his injury, he not only made good on that promise, he posted then-career highs in passer rating (128.8), completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempt (9.67) in a dramatic Bengals OT win.

Burrow in 2021 completed 366 of 520 passes (70.4 percent) for 4611 yards, 34 TDs and 14 INTs (108.3 rating). His passing yardage, TD pass total and passer rating were all single-season team records. And although the NFL season expanded to 17 games in 2021, Burrow sat out the regular-season finale (rest/knee) and thus played in only 16 games.

In the playoffs, Burrow completed 97 of 142 passes (68.3 percent) for 1105 yards, with five TDs and two INTs (97.3 rating). He was the first No. 1 overall draft pick in NFL history to lead his team to a conference championship game (let alone a Super Bowl berth) in either of their first two seasons.

Burrow was named the NFL's Comeback Player of the Year for 2021.

Burrow's big days vs. Ravens: On Dec. 26 vs. Baltimore, QB Joe Burrow passed for a Bengals-record 525 yards, the fourth-highest single-game total in NFL history. He also posted then-career highs in passer rating (143.2), TD passes (four) and yards per pass attempt (11.4), and tied a career-high with 37 completions. He became the first Bengals QB ever to complete 80 percent of his passes (80.4) while throwing at least 40 times (46).

Burrow's 525 yards and four TDs came on the heels of 416 yards and three TDs earlier in the season at Baltimore. That made him the only QB ever to pass for 400 yards and three TDs more than once in an entire career against the Ravens.

Burrow also became the first QB in NFL history to top 400 passing yards against the same opponent twice in one regular season, and his 941 combined passing yards against Baltimore were the most-ever against the same opponent in one regular season (tops 874, shared by 49ers QB Joe Montana against the Falcons in 1990 and Dolphins QB Dan Marino against the Jets in '88).

In the Dec. 26 matchup, Burrow became just the eighth QB since 2000 to have three completions of at least 52 yards in a game. On the receiving end of those passes were WR Tyler Boyd (68-yard TD), WR Tee Higgins (52) and HB Joe Mixon (52), who became the first trio of Bengals to catch passes of at least 50 yards in a single game since Nov. 17, 1968 at Miami.

Here are the NFL's single-game passing yardage leaders (regular season).

PLAYER	TEAM	YEAR	OPPONENT	YARDS
Norm Van Brocklin	L.A. Rams	1951	N.Y. Yanks	554
Matt Schaub	Houston Texans	2012	Jacksonville	527
Warren Moon	Houston Oilers	1990	Kansas City	527
Joe Burrow	Cincinnati Bengals	2021	Baltimore	525

Burrow masters the deep ball: An NFL-best 15 of QB Joe Burrow's team-record 34 TD passes during the 2021 regular season came from 30 yards or longer. The next-closest players in that category this season were Buccaneers QB Tom Brady (eight), Chiefs QB Patrick Mahomes (seven) and Seahawks QB Russell Wilson (seven). The NFL record is 19, by Giants QB Fran Tarkenton in 1967.

Burrow's 15 TDs of 30-plus also counted as the most in Bengals history. The previous team record was nine, and was shared by Ken Anderson (1973), Boomer Esiason ('89) and Carson Palmer ('06). Burrow played in 16 games during the regular season (inactive [rest] for season finale).

Burrow had two TD passes of 30 or more yards during the playoffs — a 41-yarder to HB Samaje Perine in the AFC Championship at Kansas City, and a Bengals-record 75-yarder to WR Tee Higgins in Super Bowl LVI vs. the L.A. Rams.

Burrow surpasses 7K: Bengals QB Joe Burrow surpassed 7000 career passing yards on Jan. 2 vs. Kansas City, in what was just his 26th career game. That made him the fastest Bengal ever to 7000 passing yards — ahead of Carson Palmer (31), Andy Dalton (32) and Jeff Blake (32) — and the fourth-fastest QB in NFL history.

Burrow was also the fastest Bengal to 6000 passing yards (23 games), 5000 passing yards (19) and 4000 passing yards (16).

Here's a look at the fastest QBs in NFL history — in terms of games played — to reach 7000 passing yards.

Burrow ended the 2021 regular season with 7299 career passing yards.

PLAYER	TEAM	GAMES TO REACH 7K
Patrick Mahomes	Kansas City Chiefs	22
Justin Herbert	L.A. Chargers	25
Kurt Warner	St. Louis Rams	25
Joe Burrow	Cincinnati Bengals	26
Marc Bulger	St. Louis Rams	27
Dan Marino	Miami Dolphins	27

Burrow's college connections: Bengals QB Joe Burrow may have only been in his second NFL season in 2021, but he had plenty of familiar faces around him in Cincinnati. As of Super Bowl LVI (Feb. 13), there were seven players on Cincinnati's roster who played with Burrow in college at either Ohio State or LSU. That means 13.5 percent of Burrow's 52 Bengals teammates suited up with him for at least one season in college.

The Bengals also had one player (TE Thaddeus Moss) on the Practice Squad/Injured list who played with Burrow in college, along with one assistant coach (assistant WRs coach Brad Kragthorpe) who was on LSU's staff in 2018, Burrow's first season with the Tigers.

Here's a look at the Bengals (as of Super Bowl LVI) who played with Burrow in college, along with the years they played together. Burrow played at Ohio State from 2015-17, and at Louisiana State from '18-19:

NAME	POSITION	SCHOOL	SEASONS WITH BURROW
Eli Apple	CB	Ohio State	2015
Vonn Bell	S	Ohio State	2015
Ja'Marr Chase	WR	Louisiana State	2018-19
Sam Hubbard	DE	Ohio State	2015-17
Keandre Jones	LB	Ohio State	2016-17
Isaiah Prince	OT	Ohio State	2015-17
Tyler Shelvin	DT	Louisiana State	2018-19
Thaddeus Moss*	TE	Louisiana State	2018-19

* — Thaddeus Moss is currently on the Practice Squad/Injured list.

Chase, Higgins youngest duo to 1K: Bengals WRs Ja'Marr Chase and Tee Higgins in 2021 became the first duo in NFL history to post 1000 receiving yards in the same season before the age of 23. Chase, a rookie, was 21 years old, while Higgins, a second-year pro, was 22 during the regular season (turned 23 on Jan. 18, during the playoffs).

Chase finished his rookie season with a team-record 1455 receiving yards, which also counted as the most by an NFL rookie during the Super Bowl era (started in 1966). Higgins finished with 1091 yards in just 14 games played — he missed two games early in the season with a shoulder injury, and then was inactive (rest) for the regular-season finale at Cleveland.

The old man in the Bengals' WRs room was 27-year old Tyler Boyd, who finished the regular season with 828 receiving yards. Boyd hit 1000 receiving yards in both 2018 and '19, and played in 16 regular-season games in '21.

The 2021 regular season marked the third time in Bengals history in which the team had multiple 1000-yard receivers — WRs Chad Johnson and T.J. Houshmandzadeh did it twice, in 2006 and '07.

Only five teams in NFL history have had three 1000-yard receivers in the same season. The last to do so was the 2008 Arizona Cardinals, who had Hall of Fame QB Kurt Warner throwing to Larry Fitzgerald (1431), Anquan Boldin (1038) and Steve Breaston (1006). The only other team to do it since the turn of the century was the 2004 Indianapolis Colts, who had Hall of Fame QB Peyton Manning throwing to HOF WR Marvin Harrison (1113), Reggie Wayne (1210) and Brandon Stokley (1077).

Chase, Burrow reunite in Cincinnati: One of the most statistically accomplished QB-WR duos in college football history reunited in Cincinnati in 2021. Bengals QB Joe Burrow, the No. 1 overall pick in the 2020 draft, and WR Ja'Marr Chase, the No. 5 overall pick in the '21 draft, were teammates again after helping power the Louisiana State Tigers to a college football national championship in 2019.

With Burrow as his QB in 2019, Chase set single-season SEC records for receiving yards (1780) and TDs (20), en route to winning the Biletnikoff Award as college football's top receiver. Burrow, of course, went on to win the Heisman Trophy as college football's top player that year, after setting numerous NCAA and SEC passing records.

Burrow and Chase connected on 79 passes for 1429 yards (18.1 average) and 13 TDs during the 2021 regular season. Chase's receiving yardage total was a team record, and the most ever by an NFL rookie during the Super Bowl era (see "Chase tops LSU teammate Jefferson" on page 10). Additionally, his receptions and receiving TDs totals were Bengals rookie records.

Chase and Burrow continued their production during the postseason, and connected on 25 passes for 368 yards and a TD in Cincinnati's four playoff games. Chase's 368 receiving yards were the most ever by an NFL rookie in the postseason, and the most ever by a Bengal in a postseason career.

Uno tops Ocho: WR Ja'Marr Chase, who is the first player in Bengals history to wear uniform No. 1 and thus earned the nickname "Uno" among fans, posted a team-record 1455 receiving yards as a rookie in 2021. That edged out the previous team record of 1440, set in 2007 former Bengals WR Chad Johnson, who famously went by the nickname "Ochocinco" and even made that his legal last name in 2008.

It should be noted that Johnson played in 16 games, while Chase played 17. Chase, though, played just five snaps before exiting the 17th game — Week 18 at Cleveland — as the Bengals rested most of their starters after clinching the AFC North division title the previous week. Chase, who entered the game just 12 yards shy of breaking Johnson's record, caught two passes for 26 yards at Cleveland before heading to the bench.

Here's a look at the Bengals' single-season leaders in receiving yardage (regular season).

PLAYER	SEASON	RECEIVING YARDS
Ja'Marr Chase	2021.....	1455
Chad Johnson	2007.....	1440
Chad Johnson	2005.....	1432

Chase gathers Bengals rookie records: WR Ja'Marr Chase in 2021 had perhaps the best statistical season ever by a Bengals rookie regardless of position. Here's a look at the Bengals rookie records that Chase broke during the 2021 regular season. It should be noted that, although the NFL schedule was expanded to 17 games in 2021, Chase broke all of the previous Bengals rookie records in no more than 16 games.

- Chase's 81 receptions topped the previous team rookie record of 67, shared by WRs Cris Collinsworth and Tee Higgins. Chase caught his 68th pass in the 15th game of the season (Dec. 26 vs. Baltimore).

- Chase's 1455 receiving yards topped the previous team rookie record of 1057, held by WR A.J. Green. Chase passed 1057 receiving yards in the 15th game of the season (Dec. 26 vs. Baltimore).

- Chase's 13 receiving TDs topped the previous team rookie record of nine, held by WR Isaac Curtis. Chase caught his ninth receiving TD in just the 13th game of the season (Dec. 12 vs. San Francisco). Curtis' record was set in a 14-game season in 1973.

- Chase's five 100-yard receiving games topped the previous team rookie record of four, held by Green. Chase's fifth 100-yard receiving performance came in the 16th game of the season (Jan. 2 vs. Kansas City).

The rundown on Chase: Bengals WR Ja'Marr Chase in 2021 had one of the best seasons ever by a rookie receiver. Here's a rundown of some of his accomplishments during both the regular season and playoffs.

- Chase's 1455 receiving yards during the regular season were a Bengals team record and the most ever by an NFL rookie in the Super Bowl era (see "Chase tops LSU teammate Jefferson" on page 10). In addition to receiving yardage, he also led all rookies in receiving TDs (13).

- Chase set the NFL's single-game receiving yardage mark for a rookie (team-record 266 on Jan. 2 vs. Kansas City). He also had 201 receiving yards on Oct. 24 at Baltimore, which gave him two of the three highest single-game receiving yardage outputs in the NFL during the 2021 regular season (see "Uno shattered records vs. Chiefs" on page 9).

- Chase's 1734 combined receiving yards in the regular season and playoffs count as the most-ever by an NFL rookie, ahead of the Houston Oilers' Bill Groman (1510 yards in 1960), Minnesota's Randy Moss (1461 in '98) and Minnesota's Justin Jefferson (1400 in 2020).

- His 25 catches and 368 receiving yards in the playoffs were both NFL rookie records for postseason. It took him just three playoff games to top the previous receiving yardage mark of 242 (see "Uno sets rookie playoff records" on page 9).

- He is the first rookie in NFL history with multiple 100-yard receiving games in the postseason (116 in Wild Card Playoff vs. Las Vegas, and 109 in Divisional Playoff at Tennessee).

- He became the first rookie and fifth player ever with multiple 200-yard receiving games in a single regular season. The others are Hall of Famers Calvin Johnson (2011 and '12) and Don Maynard (1968), along with Josh Gordon ('13) and Alshon Jeffrey ('13).

- He became just the fifth rookie ever with at least 1000 receiving yards and 10 TDs, joining John Jefferson (1978), Randy Moss ('98), Mike Evans (2014) and Odell Beckham Jr. ('14). It should be noted that Chase hit the 1000 yard/10 TD mark in just 13 games.

- He was the second rookie in NFL history to record at least 50 receiving yards in each of his first seven games. Detroit WR Earl McCullough, who at one time was the world-record holder in the 110-meter hurdles, also did it in 1968. Chase's streak ended in Game 8 at the N.Y. Jets.

- He was one of two players in NFL history with a reception of at least 30 yards in each of their first seven career games. McCullough is the other. Chase's streak ended in Game 8 at the N.Y. Jets.

- In Game 7 at Baltimore, Chase (21 years, 237 days) became the second-youngest player ever to record at least 200 receiving yards in a single game (Mike Evans; 21 years, 87 days).

- In Game 1 vs. Minnesota, his NFL debut, he became the youngest (21 years, 195 days) Bengal ever to top 100 receiving yards.

Uno shattered records vs. Chiefs: Bengals WR Ja'Marr Chase's 266 receiving yards on Jan. 2 vs. Kansas City were not only a Bengals record, they were the most in any game by a rookie in NFL history. The previous Bengals record was 260, by WR Chad Johnson (Nov. 12, 2006 vs. San Diego), and the previous NFL rookie record was 255, by Buffalo Bills WR Jerry Butler (Sept. 23, 1979 vs. N.Y. Jets).

Chase scored three TDs that day against the Chiefs — catches of 72, 18 and 69 yards — in what was the 34th time in league history that a rookie scored at least three TDs in a single game. Five of those have now come from Bengals — RB Paul Robinson (1968), WR Isaac Curtis ('73), RB Ickey Woods ('88), RB Corey Dillon ('97) and Chase.

Chase's performance helped Cincinnati to a 34-31 win over Kansas City that officially secured the 2021 AFC North title.

Here's a look at the rookies with the most receiving yards in a single game in NFL history (regular season).

Uno sets rookie playoff records: Bengals WR Ja'Marr Chase during the playoffs re-wrote the NFL's rookie receiving record books for postseason. His 368 receiving yards (in four games) were the most-ever by a rookie in NFL postseason history. He broke the previous mark — 242 by Rams WR Torrey Holt — in just three games. Chase also became the first rookie in NFL history with multiple 100-yard receiving games in the playoffs, after hitting the century mark in each of his first two playoff games — 116 yards in the Wild Card Playoff vs. Las Vegas, and 109 in the Divisional Playoff at Tennessee.

Chase also had 25 receptions in the playoffs, the most by a rookie in NFL postseason history. The previous record was 22, set by Colts RB Joseph Addai in 2006.

Here's a look at the rookies with the most receiving yards in a single postseason

PLAYER	YEAR	TEAM	YARDS
Ja'Marr Chase	2021	Cincinnati Bengals	279
Torry Holt	1999	St. Louis Rams	242
Austin Collie	2009	Indianapolis Colts	241

DeSean Jackson	2008	Philadelphia Eagles	207

Chase tops LSU teammate Jefferson: Bengals WR Ja'Marr Chase during the 2021 regular season had 1455 receiving yards, second-most in NFL history behind the Houston Oilers' Bill Groman (1473) in 1960. But in the Super Bowl era (since 1966), Chase's 1455 are the most ahead of his friend and former LSU teammate Justin Jefferson, who had 1400 with the Minnesota Vikings in 2020.

Chase, Jefferson and Bengals QB Joe Burrow played together at Louisiana State University, where in 2019 they shattered numerous offensive records and led the Tigers to an undefeated season and national championship.

It should be noted that Chase had 1429 yards (and thus topped Jefferson) after 16 games. Groman, a native of Tiffin, Ohio who attended Heidelberg University, set his record in just 14 games in 1960.

Here are the players with the most receiving yards as rookies in NFL history.

ROOKIE	TEAM	YEAR	REC. YARDS
Bill Groman	Houston Oilers	1960	1473
Ja'Marr Chase	Cincinnati Bengals	2021	1455
Justin Jefferson	Minnesota Vikings	2020	1400

Randy Moss	Minnesota Vikings	1998	1313

* — The NFL expanded its schedule from 14 to 16 games in 1978, and then expanded from 16 to 17 games in 2021.

Chase heats up before halftime: Bengals WR Ja'Marr Chase in 2021 was arguably the most productive WR in the NFL during the last two minutes of the first half. During that time period in the regular season, Chase ranked first league-wide in receiving yards (248) and catches of at least 20 yards (five), and tied for second in receiving TDs (three).

Chase, though, did not have a catch during the last two minutes in any of Cincinnati's four postseason games in 2021.

Here's a look at Chase's game-changing plays just before halftime during the 2021 regular season:

- In Game 1 vs. Minnesota, Chase hauled in a 50-yard bomb from Burrow with 42 seconds left in the half to score his first career TD and give the Bengals a 14-7 lead heading into the locker room.
- In Game 3 at Pittsburgh, Chase got behind the defense again and made a fingertip grab for a 34-yard TD with 43 seconds left, helping Cincinnati to a 14-7 halftime lead.
- In Game 5 vs. Green Bay, QB Joe Burrow extended the play and rolled right to find Chase streaking across the field for a 70-yard TD with 50 seconds remaining, cutting the Packers' lead to two at halftime.
- In Game 6 at Detroit, Chase caught a 34-yard pass down the sideline with 23 seconds remaining. But while he didn't find the end zone, the play got the Bengals into Lions territory and set up a FG three plays later that gave the Bengals a 10-point lead at halftime.
- In Game 7 at Baltimore, Chase caught three passes for 45 yards on Cincinnati's final drive of the first half, which ended with a FG. Those three catches included a 26-yarder to the Baltimore 19-yard line.

Three big days for Uno: During the 2021 regular season, Chase posted three of the four highest single-game receiving yardage totals ever by a Bengals rookie.

His first entry came on Oct. 10 vs. Green Bay, when he recorded 159 yards on nine catches, including a 70-yard TD just before halftime. It should be noted that the Packers game went into overtime, and that Chase had one catch for 21 yards in the extra period.

Then, on Oct. 24 at Baltimore, he exploded for a then-Bengals rookie record 201 receiving yards on eight catches, including an 82-yard bomb in the third quarter that widened Cincinnati's lead to 10 points. At the time he was 21 years and 237 days old, making him the second-youngest player in NFL history to record at least 200 receiving yards in a single game.

Later in the season, on Jan. 2 vs. Kansas City, Chase posted a team-record 266 receiving yards and three TDs (72, 18 and 69 yards). His 266 receiving yards were the most-ever by a rookie in NFL history, and the most by any player in the NFL in 2021.

Here's a look at the best single-game receiving yardage totals by Bengals rookies (regular season).

Tee tops 1K in Year 2: Bengals WR Tee Higgins in 2021 continued the momentum he built during his rookie campaign in '20. Higgins, a second-round pick of the Bengals in 2020, had 74 catches for 1091 yards and six TDs during the 2021 regular season, despite missing three games — Games 3-4 (shoulder), and the regular-season finale (rest). He also had four 100-yard receiving games, including on Dec. 26 vs. Baltimore, when he posted career-highs in catches (12) and receiving yards (194) and scored two TDs.

Higgins continued his production in the playoffs, with two 100-yard receiving performances in Cincinnati's four postseason games — 103 yards in the AFC Championship at Kansas City, and 100 in Super Bowl LVI vs. the L.A. Rams. His 18 catches in the playoffs tied teammate Joe Mixon and former teammate A.J. Green for fourth-most in Bengals postseason history. His 309 receiving yards were fourth-most in team postseason history. His 75-yard TD on the first play of the second half in Super Bowl LVI was the longest play from scrimmage in Bengals postseason history. And he joined TE Dan Ross as the only Bengals ever with multiple TDs in a single postseason game — Higgins had two TDs in Super Bowl LVI.

As a rookie in 2020, Higgins caught 67 passes to tie former WR Cris Collinsworth for the most by a rookie in team history, while his team-high 908 receiving yards were at the time the fourth-most ever by a Bengals rookie (both were topped in 2021 by rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase).

Higgins drew praise from numerous Bengals coaches and teammates in 2021 for transforming his body over the offseason. "My biggest thing was to get stronger," Higgins said over the summer. "I didn't do any routes, I didn't run. I was just really in the weight room for the most part. Then, once I was able to actually get on the field and do like a workout or something, I just went out there and it felt good. I just felt like I had to get stronger, so I focused a little bit more on the weight room. Now I'm weighing like 220 (pounds), and it feels good. Last year I came in at like 220, but it was too heavy for me, so I had to lose a few pounds. Now it feels really good and I feel even faster."

Tee goes 3 x 100: Bengals second-year WR Tee Higgins topped 100 receiving yards in Games 12-14 of the 2021 regular season, tying the third-longest streak of consecutive 100-yard receiving games in team history. He had 114 yards on Nov. 28 vs. Pittsburgh, 138 yards on Dec. 5 vs. the L.A. Chargers, and 114 yards on Dec. 12 vs. San Francisco.

The last Bengal with 100 receiving yards in three straight games was WR A.J. Green, who eventually ran his streak to a team-record five games in 2013.

Higgins had four total 100-yard games during the 2021 regular season, and all came in the last six games in which he played (inactive [rest] for season finale). Throw in his two 100-yard performances in the playoffs, and Higgins had 100 yards in six of the last 10 games in which he played in 2021

Here's a look at the longest streaks in Bengals history for consecutive games with at least 100 receiving yards.

WR Carl Pickens	1994	4
WR Isaac Curtis	1973	3

WR T.J. Houshmandzadeh	2007	3
WR Tee Higgins	2021	3

Mixon finishes top five in two: Bengals HB Joe Mixon during the regular season reached the top five in two team scoring lists.

Mixon's 16 total TDs (13 rushing, three receiving) tied for second-most in team history behind WR Carl Pickens, who had 17 in 1995. Mixon and RB Pete

Johnson (1981) share second place. Mixon had multiple TDs in five games during the regular season, which tied for the most in Bengals history with Pete Johnson (1979, '81 and '83), James Brooks ('88) and Ickey Woods ('88).

Mixon's 13 rushing TDs were the fourth-most in team history, behind Woods' 15 in 1988 and Johnson's 14 in both 1979 and '83.

It should be noted that, while the NFL's schedule moved to 17 games in 2021, Mixon played in just 16 contests — he missed Game 17 at Cleveland while on the Reserve/COVID-19 list. The NFL expanded its schedule from 14 to 16 games in 1978, therefore Woods and Pickens both set their team records in 16-game seasons.

Mixon had one rushing TD in Cincinnati's four playoff games — a 16-yarder in the Divisional Playoff at Tennessee.

Mixon's TD streak ends at nine: During the 2021 regular season, Bengals HB Joe Mixon put together a streak of nine consecutive games with at least one TD, which tied WR A.J. Green (nine in 2012) for the second-longest such streak in team history. Mixon's streak was broken when he was held out of the end zone on Dec. 12 vs. San Francisco, and he fell one short of the team record of 10, set over the 1994 and '95 seasons by WR Carl Pickens.

Mixon scored 13 total TDs (11 rushing, two receiving) during his nine-game streak, which lasted between Game 4 and Game 12.

Within his nine-game streak were two other streaks that tied or set team records. He scored a rushing TD in six straight contests (Games 7-12), tied for the longest such streak in team history (RB Rudi Johnson/2006, and RB Stan Fritts/1975). And he scored multiple TDs in four straight games (Games 8-11), the longest such streak in team history.

The longest previous streak of consecutive games with multiple TDs was three, accomplished by Pete Johnson in 1981 and Rudi Johnson in 2005. The last NFL player with multiple TDs in at least four games was Saints RB Alvin Kamara, who had five straight between the 2019 and '20 seasons. Seahawks WR Doug Baldwin in 2015 was the last player with multiple TDs in four straight games within one season.

Mixon tops 4K: Bengals HB Joe Mixon in 2021 became one of only six Bengals ever to rush for 4000 yards in a career. He achieved the feat on Nov. 21, 2021 at Las Vegas, in what was his 60th career game.

Mixon has 4564 career rushing yards, fifth-most in Bengals history. He passed Harold Green (3727) and Cedric Benson (4176) in 2021, and he now stands just 857 yards shy of Pete Johnson (5421) for fourth place. Corey Dillon (8061) is the Bengals' all-time leading rusher, followed by James Brooks (6447), Rudi Johnson (5472) and Pete Johnson (5421).

Mixon fastest to 4K/1K: Bengals HB Joe Mixon in 2021 also became one of just four Bengals ever to surpass 4000 career rushing yards and 1000 career receiving yards. He joined Corey Dillon, James Brooks and Pete Johnson in that category.

Reaching the 4K/1K mark took Mixon just 60 career games, 11 faster than the next-quickest Bengal (Dillon, 71 games). He topped 1000 career receiving yards in the 2021 season opener vs. Minnesota, and then surpassed 4000 rushing yards in Game 10 at Las Vegas.

Mixon finished the 2021 regular season with 4564 career rushing yards and 1322 receiving yards.

It took Mixon just 50 games to reach 3000 rushing and 1000 receiving yards, which also was 11 games quicker than the next-fastest Bengal (Brooks, 61).

Here's a look at the fastest players ever to top 4000 career rushing yards and 1000 career receiving yards in a Bengals uniform (it should be noted that Brooks began his career with the San Diego Chargers from 1981-83; however, the data counts only rushing/receiving yardage and games played as a Bengal):

NAME	BENGALS GAMES TO REACH 4K/1K
Joe Mixon .....	60
Corey Dillon .....	71
James Brooks .....	76
Pete Johnson .....	77

Bengals tough when Mixon hits 20 carries: The Bengals hold a 12-7 record when HB Joe Mixon reaches the 20-carry mark (combined regular season and playoffs). And in those 19 games, Mixon has topped 100 rushing yards 12 times. Eleven of his last 15 games with 20 carries have resulted in 100 or more rushing yards.

The Bengals were 3-1 during the 2021 regular season when Mixon hit the mark. He hit the 20-carry mark once in the playoffs — 21 carries (for 88 yards) in the AFC Championship at Kansas City (overtime).

Mixon secures the rock: Not only is Bengals HB Joe Mixon considered one of the top rushers in the NFL, he's also proven effective at protecting the football. Mixon has fumbled just six times (three lost) since entering the league in 2017, a span that covers 1360 combined touches on offense (1171 rushes, 189 catches). That includes just three fumbles (two lost) since the start of 2018. All of those totals include both regular season and the playoffs.

Mixon owns two of the three longest regular-season streaks of rushing attempts without a fumble by a Bengal since at least 1990 (when the Elias Sports Bureau began tracking the stat). From 2017-20, he went 541 rushing attempts without a fumble, good for the second-longest by a Bengal over that time period. That streak was halted by a fumble in the 2020 season opener. He then rattled off 327 carries without a fumble, the third-longest such streak in team history, before fumbling on a carry in Game 12 in 2021.

Here's a look at the longest streaks of rushing attempts by a Bengal without a fumble since 1990 (regular season only):

NFL PLAYER	CARRIES WITHOUT A FUMBLE	SEASONS SPANNED
Giovani Bernard .....	829	2013-20
Joe Mixon .....	541	2017-20
Joe Mixon .....	327	2020-21
Harold Green .....	298	1991-93
Jeremy Hill .....	282	2015-17

"Fire department" tough after turnovers: The Bengals' offense and special teams units in 2021 (regular season plus playoffs) had 23 turnovers, including three that were returned for TDs, which means opposing offenses took over possession 20 times after Bengals turnovers. In those 20 instances, the Bengals' defense allowed just four TDs and eight FGs (53 points). That means opponents failed to produce points on eight of those possessions — three punts, one missed FG, a turnover on downs and three INTs (one pick-six).

Opposing offenses took over in plus territory after Bengals turnovers on 13 occasions in 2021. Those resulted in three TDs, seven FGs, a punt, a missed FG and an INT (34 points).

When opposing offenses took over inside the Bengals' 20-yard line, they had one TD, three FGs and a missed FG (17 points).

Bengals defenders and coaches say that they embraced those kinds of back-to-the-wall situations. Defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo even coined a name for them.

"I tell our guys all the time that we're like the fire department," he said. "We're here to put the fire out. We don't ask how or why. We just go out there and we put it out."

Trey's 14 sacks second-most by a Bengal: DE Trey Hendrickson, one of the headliners of Cincinnati's free agency haul in March, had a team-high 14.0 sacks (fifth in NFL) during the 2021 regular season. Those 14 sacks were the second-most in team history, between DE Carlos Dunlap's 13 in 2015 and DE Coy Bacon's team-record 22 in 1976. (Sacks became an official NFL statistic in 1982, however the Bengals tracked the stat back to '76 and thus recognize Bacon as the record-holder).

Hendrickson's sack total in 2021 more than doubled the 2020 team lead (former DE Carl Lawson, 5.5). He also was the first Bengal with double-digit sacks since former DT Geno Atkins' 10 in 2018.

In 2020 with New Orleans, Hendrickson's 13.5 sacks tied for the NFC lead and tied for second-most leaguewide. Hendrickson's 27.5 combined sacks in the 2020 and '21 regular seasons were third-most in the NFL, behind only Pittsburgh's T.J. Watt (37.5) and Cleveland's Myles Garrett (28.0).

Hendrickson's stellar production continued into the postseason, as he posted a team-high 3.5 sacks and a FF. Hendrickson left the Wild Card Playoff late in the first half with a concussion, but returned to the starting lineup the next week in the Divisional Playoff at Tennessee.

Trey's sack streak ends at 11: Bengals DE Trey Hendrickson recorded at least a half sack in 11 straight games (Games 5-15) during the 2021 regular season — the longest such streak in Bengals history, the longest streak in the NFL in 2021, and tied for the second-longest in NFL history. The previous Bengals record was six straight games, by Eddie Edwards (1984), Reggie Williams (1984), Carlos Dunlap (2010-11) and Geno Atkins (2016-17).

Hendrickson fell just one game shy of former Titans DE Jevon Kearse's NFL-record of 12. It should be noted, though, that Hendrickson's 11-game streak tied for the longest ever within one season.

Within his 11-game streak, Hendrickson recorded a full sack in nine consecutive games (Games 5-13), which tied for the fourth-longest such streak in NFL history and just two games shy of Chiefs DT Chris Jones' 11 straight in 2018. It was also the longest such streak in Bengals history, topping the previous record of six straight by Williams (1984) and Edwards ('83).

Hendrickson's 14 sacks during the regular season were fifth in the NFL and second-most in team history. He recorded at least a half sack in 13 of the 16 regular-season games in which he played (missed the finale while on Reserve/COVID-19). His sack production continued into the postseason, when he recorded a team-high 3.5 sacks and notched a full sack in three of Cincinnati's four playoff contests.

Here's a look at the longest streaks of games with at least a half sack in NFL history (regular-season games only).

PLAYER	TEAM(S)	YEAR(S)	CONS. GAMES
Jevon Kearse	Tenn.	1999-2000 .....	12
Trey Hendrickson	Cin.	2021 .....	11

Bengals improve on 2020 pass rush: One of Cincinnati's primary areas of focus over the 2021 offseason was to improve a pass-rush that in '20 totaled only 17 sacks. Injuries were a key factor in '20, especially toward the end of the season, but the front office nonetheless made clear its intent of strengthening the defensive front through the draft and free agency.

Those efforts worked. Cincinnati finished the 2021 regular season ranked tied for 11th leaguewide with 42 sacks, more than double the 17 from 2020. DE Trey Hendrickson, one of the team's key acquisitions in free agency in March, led the team and ranked fifth leaguewide with 14 sacks (plus one more in the playoffs). That's more than double 2020's individual team high (5.5, DE Carl Lawson). Eleven Bengals got into the sack column during the regular season, including DT Larry Ogunjobi (7.0), another 2021 free agent acquisition, DT B.J. Hill (5.5), who was acquired in a trade just before the regular season, and DE Cam Sample (1.5), who was one of four defensive linemen Cincinnati selected in April's draft. The revamped defensive line accounted for all but 2.5 of Cincinnati's 41 sacks in 2021 (one additional sack was counted as a team sack). DE Sam Hubbard (7.5) was the only defender in the sack column who was with Cincinnati prior to the 2020 season.

During the regular season, four players — Hendrickson, Hubbard, Ogunjobi and Hill — matched or surpassed 2020's team lead of 5.5 sacks.

The Bengals combined for 10 sacks in their four postseason games. Leading the way was Hendrickson, whose 3.5 sacks were second-most by a Bengal in an entire postseason career.

Hubbard a Day 2 draft steal: DE Sam Hubbard, a third-round pick (77th overall) of the Bengals in 2018, ranks second in sacks (24.0) among all players from the '18 rookie class (draft picks and college free agents).

Players' listed positions vary by media outlet (e.g. whether they're classified as a LB or DE), but according to NFL.com's draft record, Hubbard was the 13th defensive lineman selected in 2018 — five DEs and seven DTs came off the board before him. According to NFL.com, there were a total of 40 defensive linemen (20 DEs, 20 DTs) selected in the 2018 draft, along with 32 linebackers and one player classified as "EDGE." There were also, of course, numerous undrafted rookies in 2018.

Hubbard has been the Bengals' starting RDE since 2019, and during the '21 regular season his 7.5 sacks were second on the team. Hubbard's three sacks in the playoffs ranked tied for fifth among all players, second on the team, and tied for third-most ever by a Bengal for a postseason career (David Grant and Reggie Williams also had three, Trey Hendrickson has 3.5, and Jason Buck had four).

Hubbard signed a contract extension with the Bengals in July 2021 that keeps him in Cincinnati through the end of the 2025 season.

Here's a look at the career sack leaders from the rookie class of 2018:

PLAYER/POSITION	TEAM	PICK (ROUND)	SACKS
Harold Landry/EDGE	Tennessee .....	No. 41 (2nd)	31.0
Sam Hubbard/DE	Cincinnati .....	No. 77 (3rd)	24.0
Marcus Davenport/DE	New Orleans .....	No. 14 (1st)	21.0
Bradley Chubb/DE	Denver .....	No. 5 (1st)	20.5
Josh Sweat/DE	Philadelphia .....	No. 130 (4th)	17.5

Logan's four INTs tied for LB lead: Bengals second-year LB

Logan Wilson had a team-high four INTs during the regular season — tied for the most among all NFL LBs, and the most by a Bengal LB since 2005 (Odell Thurman, five). Consider also that Wilson missed three games (Games 13-15) with a right shoulder injury, and then was inactive (rest) for the season finale at Cleveland.

Wilson was also strong against the run. The 2020 third-round pick of the Bengals had a team-high 98 tackles, despite his missed time, and he led the Bengals in tackles in six of the 12 full regular-season games in which he was healthy (was injured in the first half of Game 12 vs. the L.A. Chargers).

Wilson's strong play continued into the postseason, as he played all 274 possible snaps in Cincinnati's four playoff games. His 39 tackles in the playoffs led all NFL players — next-closest was 29, by teammate Germaine Pratt — and counted as the most by anyone in the previous 10 postseasons. He also made numerous key plays throughout the playoffs, including an INT with 20 seconds remaining in the Divisional Playoff at Tennessee, which gave the ball back to the Bengals' offense and helped set up K Evan McPherson's 52-yard game-winning FG as time expired. He also tackled Titans TB Derrick Henry for a loss on a fourth-and-one in the fourth quarter of that same contest, thwarting a Titans drive that had reached Cincinnati's 35-yard line and giving the Bengals the ball back in what was a tie game.

As a rookie in 2020, Wilson was eased into the regular defensive rotation and then battled injuries late in the year. In 2021, he was assigned the green dot on his helmet as the team's designated communicator, and was credited by teammates for being a vocal leader.

"He has a huge responsibility on his shoulders this year," DE Trey Hendrickson said of Wilson. "He's taken in a lot in just two years, and you wouldn't know that he's a second-year guy. He's our play-caller out there, and he's getting the calls out quickly. That's what we need from a guy inside like that. And he's got hands too."

Healthy Reader leads stout D-line: During the 2020 offseason, the Bengals made one of the most significant free agency splashes in team history when they signed DT D.J. Reader to a lucrative four-year contract that lasts through the 2023 season. Big things were expected of Reader, but his impact in 2020 was short-lived after he suffered a season-ending left quad injury in the fifth game.

In 2021, the 6-3, 347-pound Reader returned healthy and unquestionably proved his value as a leader and physical presence in the middle of the defensive line. And while the impact of interior defensive linemen is often difficult to quantify with statistics, consider that Cincinnati's run defense ranked fifth in the NFL (102.5 yards/game allowed) in 2021 compared to 29th a year earlier (148.0) and 32nd the year before (148.9).

Another measure of the impact of an interior defensive lineman — particularly a nose tackle — is the play of the linebackers behind them. In 2021, Cincinnati's linebacker play was among the brightest and most-improved spots on the defense. Leading the way was second-year pro Logan Wilson, who led the team in both tackles (98) and INTs (four) during the regular season. His INT total tied for the most among all LBs leaguewide, and was the most by a Bengal LB since 2005.

But perhaps the most impressive part of Reader's 2021 season was his actual recovery from the aforementioned quad injury. He talked about the severity of it on the Bengals Booth Podcast with Bengals play-by-play radio announcer Dan Hoard.

"I ruptured the tendon, so it was pretty severe," Reader said. "The first six weeks after surgery, you can't move. You have to keep it straight because the tendon has to repair. And then it was a nine-month rehab. They say it only has about a 50 percent 'return' rate — not very high — but it's gotten better with modern medicine and the surgeries."

"Sleeping was probably the hardest thing, because you can't move at all — you have to sleep on your back, you have to keep it straight, and you're in a brace."

Reader started 15 of 17 games at NT during the 2021 regular season, and had 43 tackles and two sacks. He missed Game 15 vs. Baltimore while on Reserve/COVID-19, and he was inactive (rest) for the regular-season finale at Cleveland.

"Superman" Reader: One of the unsung heroes of Cincinnati's 19-16 Divisional Playoff win at Tennessee was Bengals DT D.J. Reader, who had six tackles (five solo), including two for losses, while helping hold Tennessee's fifth-ranked rushing offense in check. Of course, 347-pound nose tackles aren't known for stuffing the stat sheet, so here's a sampling of quotes from Reader's teammates and coaches talking about his performance against the Titans.

• Head coach Zac Taylor: "D.J. Reader was unbelievable. He was Superman, quite frankly. You see him make some plays during the game, but then you really dial in and watch the tape, and you can further understand the impact he had on the game. Overall, you can point out every single player on defense making some key plays in that game. But if you're going to single out one guy for their performance, D.J. Reader is certainly deserving of that."

• S Jessie Bates: "A guy named D.J. Reader stepped up big time. I could say stuff about all the guys up front, but D.J. really, really stepped up. People maybe know his name now, which they should have before. D.J. is one of my best friends on the team. He's the guy that I was going to when I was in my little funk (earlier in the season). When I was a little isolated, D.J. was the one that was calling me, D.J. was the one that was texting me, coming over to my house, just hanging out. I can't say enough about him. He's the best of the best up front. I don't think a lot of people give him enough credit. He's a hell of a person, a hell of an up-front guy, and a guy that you've got to have in the locker room."

• TE C.J. Uzomah: "He's a monster. He's a beast. I love D.J., straight up. His leadership in the locker room, his presence on the field. He's a force, he's a freak of nature, he's a savage. When the whole defense plays as well as they played (at Tennessee) and coach is up there and he goes, 'I could call out each individual player but I'm going to specifically say that D.J. Reader played a hell of a game,' that's how you know you're an absolute animal out there."

Mr. Reliable wears No. 30: Jessie Bates earned a starting S spot midway through his first preseason in Cincinnati, and he hasn't looked back since. The 2018 second-round pick started 51 straight games to begin his Bengals career — that's three full seasons plus three games — until a neck injury ended his streak in the fourth game of 2021 (Sept. 30 vs. Jacksonville). He missed just that one game before returning to the starting lineup the next week, and then started all but one game (pre-playoff rest) thereafter in 2021.

Still, Bates' streak of 51 tied for the sixth-most consecutive starts by a player to begin their career as a Bengal, and the second-most by a defender. Had he started the Jacksonville game, he would have tied former LB Takeo Spikes (52) for most starts to begin a career by a Bengals defender.

Here's a look at the players with the most consecutive starts to begin a Bengals career:

PLAYER	CONSECUTIVE STARTS TO BEGIN CAREER
C Bob Johnson .....	94
QB Andy Dalton .....	77
TE Dan Ross .....	65
C Russell Bodine .....	64
LB Takeo Spikes .....	52
S Jessie Bates .....	51
LB Bill Bergey .....	51

Bell rings of reliability: One of Cincinnati's most trusted leaders and consistent players on the field over the last two seasons has been S Vonn Bell. The sixth-year pro joined the Bengals as an unrestricted free agent prior to the 2020 season, and then proceeded to play every snap of his first 20 games with the team. His streak of consecutive snaps was broken in Cincinnati's 34-11 win at Detroit on Oct. 17, when the starters were rested late in the fourth quarter.

And although he ended up missing more snaps throughout the year, including missing Game 17 at Cleveland while on Reserve/COVID-19, Bell still led defense in snaps played (1004 of 1124) during the regular season. In his now 36 games played (regular season plus playoffs) for the Bengals, he has seen action on 2329 of 2451 possible defensive snaps (95.0 percent).

Bell was a Bengals captain in both 2020 and '21. He finished the 2021 regular season ranked second on the team in tackles (97), after leading the team in that category (114) in '20.

Bell also came up with one of the more memorable plays of Cincinnati's postseason run in 2021, when in overtime of the AFC Championship at Kansas City he intercepted a deep pass from QB Patrick Mahomes to WR Tyreek Hill. The INT set up what became a game-winning FG drive to send the Bengals to Super Bowl LVI.

Special teams soar under Simmons: Over the 19-year tenure of Darrin Simmons, the Bengals have consistently boasted one of the top special teams units in the NFL. Simmons in 2020 added the title of assistant head coach to his usual role as special teams coordinator, a nod to a successful run that has seen 18 of his pupils appear in the team's record book.

Here's an overview of Simmons' players' dominance in the records (for more info, see the Bengals' records section on page 160 in the 2021 media guide):

• The three most accurate FG kickers (by career percentage) in team history — Shayne Graham, Randy Bullock, and Mike Nugent — were all coached by Simmons for their entire Bengals careers. Simmons has also been at the helm for each of the six most accurate single seasons by Bengals kickers.

• The six longest consecutive FG streaks in team history have all come under Simmons' watch, as have three of the five longest PAT streaks.

• In 2021, Simmons guided K Evan McPherson to perhaps the top rookie season ever by an NFL kicker. McPherson's rookie campaign included five game-winning FGs as time expired (including two in the playoffs), nine FGs of 50 or more yards (most in an entire Bengals career, let alone a season), a Bengals-record 58-yard FG, making all 20 of his placekicks in the postseason, and an NFL record-tying 14 FGs in the postseason (Colts K Adam Vinatieri, 2006).

• Simmons, who punted at the University of Kansas, has had particular success coaching his former position. Current P Kevin Huber holds the top spot in every Bengals career punting category, along with the top five single seasons for gross average, net average and inside-20s. Former P Kyle Larson, who spent his entire Bengals term (2004-08) under Simmons, ranks within the top four in every career punting category, and shares with Huber the record for longest punt in team history (75 yards).

• Simmons has coached three of the Bengals' top four leaders in career punt return average — Adam Jones, Quan Cosby and Peter Warrick.

• Simmons has coached five of the team's top seven leaders in career kickoff return average — Jones, Brandon Wilson, Alex Erickson, Bernard Scott, Glenn Holt — along with five of the six best single seasons by a kickoff returner (based on yards per kickoff return).

And although the category is not kept as an official team record, it should be noted that LS Clark Harris has executed 1876 deep snaps without a single unplayable delivery since joining the Bengals in mid-2009 (including playoffs).

Simmons has also coached four players who have made the Pro Bowl as special teamers — Huber, Jones, Harris and HB Cedric Peerman.

Huber matches Riley, while Harris closes in: One of the most prestigious Bengals records in existence, and one that stood for 38 years, was matched late in 2021. Former CB Ken Riley's team-record 207 games played as a Bengal was tied in the 2021 season finale by P Kevin Huber, a 13th-year player and Cincinnati's fifth-round pick in 2009. Riley's record had stood since his retirement in 1983.

Huber also passed QB Ken Anderson (192 games) and LB Reggie Williams (206) in 2021.

Not far behind, though, is current LS Clark Harris (201 games played), who has snapped to Huber since joining Cincinnati midway through the 2009 season. Harris now stands fourth in career games as a Bengal, and earlier in the season passed Pro Football Hall of Famer Anthony Munoz (185), DT Tim Krumrie (188) and Anderson (192).

Here's a look at the players with the most career games played as a Bengal (regular season only):

PLAYER	GAMES AS A BENGAL	YEARS
CB Ken Riley .....	207	1969-83
P Kevin Huber .....	207	2009-present
LB Reggie Williams .....	206	1976-85
LS Clark Harris .....	201	2009-present
QB Ken Anderson .....	192	1971-86
DT Tim Krumrie .....	188	1983-94
OT Anthony Munoz .....	185	1980-92

Huber among NFL's best at pinning 'em: As the evidence shows, no Bengals punter has ever been nearly as successful as Kevin Huber at pinning opponents inside the 20-yard line. The 2009 fifth-round draft choice has 337 career inside-20 punts, more than double the next-best in team history (Lee Johnson, 186).

But the numbers also show that Huber is among the best active punters in the NFL at pinning opponents deep.

Here's a look at the five active punters with the most career inside-20 punts (regular season):

PUNTER	TEAM	NFL EXP.	CAREER INSIDE-20s
Dustin Colquitt	Atlanta .....	17	483
Andy Lee	Arizona .....	18	458
Sam Koch	Baltimore .....	16	453
Brett Kern	Tennessee .....	14	395
Kevin Huber	Cincinnati .....	13	337

The Huber roundup: Bengals P Kevin Huber, a 2009 Bengals fifth-round pick who in 2021 played his 13th season, has long been considered the top punter in team history. He has cemented that legacy in recent years by taking over the top spot in the few remaining career punting categories he did not already own.

Huber now stands first in team history in the following categories (regular season only):

- Punts (980)
- Punting yards (44,426)
- Gross average (45.33)
- Net average (40.27)
- Inside-20 punts (337)

Huber has also taken over many of the Bengals' single-season and single-game records. Among them are:

- He holds the top five Bengals season averages in both gross and net punting yardage, and in 2020, his 12th NFL season, he re-set his own single-season team records in both categories (47.18 gross, 42.82 net).

- He shares the team record for longest punt (75 yards) with Kyle Larson.
- His 33 inside-20 punts in 2012 is a single-season franchise record.

- His six inside-20 punts on Sept. 14, 2017 vs. Houston are tied with Lee Johnson (Nov. 2, 1997) for the most in a game in Bengals history.

Huber also has been a part of seven Bengals playoff teams (2009, '11-15 and '21) and owns nearly every career postseason punting record in team history. Among those are:

- Total punts (42).
- Punting yards (1879)
- Gross average (44.74)
- Net average (41.29)
- Inside-20 punts (14)

"Shooter McPherson" perfect in playoffs: Bengals rookie K Evan McPherson, who earned the nickname "Shooter McPherson" from longtime Bengals LS Clark Harris, was a perfect 20-for-20 on placekicks during the 2021 postseason. He made all 14 of his FG attempts, and all six of his PATs. No kicker in NFL history had previously been perfect on as many as 11 FGs in a single postseason.

McPherson's nickname is a reference to Shooter McGavin, a character played by actor Christopher McDonald in the 1996 movie Happy Gilmore.

In McPherson's postseason debut — Wild Card Playoff vs. the Las Vegas Raiders on Jan. 15 — he set team postseason records for points (14) and FGs (four) in a game. The next week — Divisional Playoff at Tennessee on Jan. 22 — he booted another four FGs, including two from 50-plus yards. One of those was a 52-yard game-winner as time expired in regulation, which made him the only rookie in NFL postseason history to kick a game-winning FG with no time remaining in the fourth quarter or OT. It also made him the first kicker in NFL history to make at least four FGs in multiple games in a single postseason.

He matched that performance the next week in the AFC Championship at Kansas City, with four FGs and a PAT (13 points). His final FG was a 31-yarder in overtime that won the game and sent Cincinnati to Super Bowl LVI.

McPherson's 14 FGs during the 2021 playoffs tied former Colts K Adam Vinatieri (2006) for most FGs in a single NFL postseason. K Jim Breech (nine) held the previous Bengals record in that category. Despite having played in just four playoff games, McPherson's 48 points already are the second-most by a Bengal for an entire postseason career. He is just four points behind Breech (52), who played nine games over four different postseasons for the Bengals.

McPherson from deep: Bengals rookie K Evan McPherson made an NFL-best nine FGs of 50 or more yards during the 2021 regular season, and fell just one shy of tying the NFL record for most 50-plus yarders. Former Vikings K Blair Walsh (10) holds the rookie record and is tied for the NFL record.

McPherson's nine FGs from 50-plus were more than double the previous team record for a single season (four, by K Horst Muhlmann in 1970). Even more impressive is that he's now the Bengals' career leader in 50-plus yard FGs, and it took him only 14 games to break the previous record of eight.

In a sign of things to come, McPherson's first-ever NFL FG was a 53-yarder in Cincinnati's season-opener vs. Minnesota. Then, on Nov. 21 at Las Vegas, he tied a single-game NFL record with three FGs of at least 50 yards (54, 53 and 51). For perspective, there were only four instances (including Muhlmann in 1970) prior to 2021 in which a Bengals kicker made as many as three 50-plus yarders in a full season.

On Dec. 19 at Denver, McPherson booted a Bengals-record 58-yard FG as time expired in the first half. It was his second 50-plus yarder of the day.

McPherson made three 50-plus yarders in the playoffs as well — 54, 52 and 52 yards. The first 52-yarder was a game-winner as time expired in regulation of the Divisional Playoff at Tennessee.

Here's a look at the NFL players with the most made FGs of 50 or more yards in a single regular season:

YEAR	ROOKIE	TEAM	50+ YARD FGs
2012	Blair Walsh*	Minnesota Vikings .....	10
2016	Justin Tucker	Baltimore Ravens .....	10
2020	Brandon McManus	Denver Broncos .....	10
2021	Evan McPherson*	Cincinnati Bengals .....	9

McPherson the youngest with OT winner: Bengals rookie K Evan McPherson made his NFL debut in style on Sept. 12 vs. Minnesota, booting a game-winning 33-yard FG as time expired in OT.

McPherson, a fifth-round pick of the Bengals in April's draft, chose to forgo his final year of college eligibility to enter the NFL draft, and thus was among the youngest Bengals on the roster. At the time of his game-winner against Minnesota, which he says was the first "walk-off" kick of his career on any level, he was 22 years and 53 days old (born 7-21-99), making him the youngest player in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG in overtime. It also made him just the second rookie kicker in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG with no time remaining in OT (the other was Miami K Jason Sanders in 2018). Earlier in the game, McPherson became the youngest Bengal ever to kick a FG or PAT.

McPherson made 46 of 48 PATs and 28 of his 33 FGs during the 2021 regular season. He also made all 20 of his placekicks during the playoffs — 14 FGs, six PATs. Two of those FGs were game-winners (see following item called "... Make that five walk-offs"), and three were from 50-plus.

Here's a look at the youngest players in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG in OT:

PLAYER	TEAM	DATE/OPPONENT	AGE
Evan McPherson	Cincinnati	9-12-2021 vs. Minn.	22 years, 53 days
Pete Stoyanovich	Miami	10-8-1989 vs. Cle.	22 years, 163 days
Wade Richey	San Francisco	12-6-1998 at Car.	22 years, 201 days
Ali Haji-Sheikh	N.Y. Giants	9-11-1983 at Atl.	22 years, 243 days
Blair Walsh	Minnesota	9-9-2012 vs. Jax.	22 years, 245 days

... Make that five walk-offs: Bengals rookie K Evan McPherson said before the 2021 season that he had never, at any level of football, even been in a position to kick a game-winning FG or PAT as time expired — a "walk-off," if you will. That changed in a hurry in 2021, as the rookie went on to boot three game-winning FGs as time expired in regulation or OT during the regular season. He then added two more "walk-off" kicks in the playoffs.

His first "walk-off" came in the regular-season opener — his NFL debut — when he nailed a 33-yarder as time expired in OT to give Cincinnati a dramatic 27-24 win. He did it again three weeks later, in Cincinnati's Sept. 30 Thursday Night Football matchup vs. Jacksonville, this time converting a 35-yarder as time expired in regulation to give the Bengals a 24-21 win. He did it for a third time on Jan. 2 vs. Kansas City, when his 20-yard FG as time expired in regulation won the game and clinched the AFC North division title.

For what it's worth, McPherson's three regular-season "walk-offs" are still well short of Bengals K Jim Breech's 10, which stand as the most in team history for a career. But at 22 years old, McPherson does stand as the youngest player in NFL history — by more than two years — with at least three career "walk-off" kicks in the regular season.

The first of McPherson's two "walk-offs" in the playoffs was a 52-yarder in the Divisional Playoff at Tennessee. It should be noted that the game-time temperature was listed at 34 degrees, but by the time the Alabama native and former Florida Gator put foot to ball for the game-winner, the temperature had dropped below freezing. The kick also made him the first rookie in NFL postseason history with a "walk-off" FG at the end of regulation or OT.

He did it again the following week in the AFC Championship at Kansas City, when he booted a 31-yarder in overtime that gave Cincinnati the win and sent the Bengals to Super Bowl LVI.

Here's a look at the youngest kickers in NFL history at the time of their third game-winning FG with no time remaining (regular season only):

PLAYER	TEAM	AGE
Evan McPherson .....	Cincinnati Bengals	22 years, 165 days
Blair Walsh.....	Minnesota Vikings	24 years, 291 days
Justin Tucker .....	Baltimore Ravens	24 years, 304 days
Dan Bailey .....	Dallas Cowboys	24 years, 318 days
Harrison Butker.....	Kansas City Chiefs	25 years, 68 days

Roster flip noticeable in Year 3: Zac Taylor took over as Bengals head coach in 2019, and throughout his now three-year tenure there has been a steady but noticeable churn of the roster. Of the 53 players on the roster for Super Bowl LVI (Feb. 13, 2022), only nine had suited up as Bengals prior to Taylor's arrival in 2019. That means 44 Bengals — or 83.0 percent of their Super Bowl LVI roster — had joined Cincinnati since 2019.

Cincinnati's roster overhaul hit overdrive after the end of the 2020 season. Twenty-three Bengals on the team's Super Bowl LVI roster — that's 43.4 percent — had never suited up in a game for Cincinnati prior to the 2021 regular season. (It should be noted that figure includes OT Isaiah Prince, CB Trae Waynes and TE Mitchell Wilcox, who were with Cincinnati previously but never played).

Recent acquisitions boost Bengals: Cincinnati's player personnel department struck gold in acquiring new top talent in each of the last two years. On top of solid drafts (see the next item titled "2020 rookies continue to deliver"), the team unearthed a bounty of player production in free agency, as well as a trade.

Here's a look at how some of the team's 2020 and '21 additions fared in '21 (all are unrestricted free agent additions, unless otherwise noted). Games-starts totals include playoffs; the notes include only regular-season stats.

2020 rookies continue to deliver: Cincinnati's 2020 draft class combined to play in 96 games (33 starts) as rookies, just three games shy of the most by a Bengals draft class (99 in 2017) since the draft went to seven rounds in 1994. Consider also that the 2020 class was just seven players, while the 2017 class was 11 players.

After being leaned upon heavily as rookies, Cincinnati's 2020 draft class continued to deliver in their sophomore campaigns, combining to play in 84 games (56 starts) during the 2021 regular season. In the playoffs, they combined for 24 games and 15 starts.

It should be noted that 2020 draft picks dealt with more injuries in 2021, and spent a combined 23 games on reserve lists during the regular season. LB Akeem Davis-Gaither, a 2020 fourth-rounder, ended his second season on Reserve/Injured (left foot).

Here is the 2020 Bengals draft class: QB Joe Burrow (first round), WR Tee Higgins (second), LB Logan Wilson (third), Davis-Gaither (fourth), DE Khalid Kareem (fifth), G Hakeem Adeniji (sixth), LB Markus Bailey (seventh). Burrow, Higgins, Wilson and Adeniji are regular starters when healthy.

Bengals tap Senior Bowl pipeline: One of the key factors in Cincinnati's success in the 2020 and '21 drafts was the team's ability to identify prospects at the Senior Bowl, a college all-star game held each January that serves as the unofficial start to the pre-draft process.

The Bengals drafted seven players over the last two years who participated in the Senior Bowl, and all seven were with the team throughout Cincinnati's run to Super Bowl LVI. Five were on the active roster — OT Hakeem Adeniji (2020, sixth round), HB Chris Evans ('21 sixth round), DE Cam Sample ('21, fourth round), G D'Ante Smith ('21, fourth round) and LB Logan Wilson ('20, third round) — while the other two were on reserve lists — LB Akeem Davis-Gaither ('20, fourth round; Reserve/Injured) and DE Wyatt Hubert ('21, seventh round; Reserve/Non-Football Injury).

Zac Taylor and the rest of the Bengals staff coached the South team at the 2020 Senior Bowl, and Davis-Gaither was on their roster. Wilson and Adeniji were on the North team that year, however coaches cite their close exposure to both during that experience as a major reason they ended up in Cincinnati.

Taylor and his staff attended the 2020 and '21 Senior Bowls. He was on the Rams' staff in 2018 and was hired by Cincinnati after L.A.'s Super Bowl that season, therefore neither he nor his full staff attended the '19 Senior Bowl. Taylor's coaching staff also did not attend the 2022 Senior Bowl, which took place the weekend before Cincinnati played in Super Bowl LVI.

Tracking weekly/monthly awards: Four different Bengals won a total of nine weekly and/or monthly awards given out by the NFL during the 2021 regular season. It also marked the first time in team history that two Bengals rookies (K Evan McPherson and WR Ja'Marr Chase) won a player of the week award in the same season. Here's a rundown of all the winners:

- K Evan McPherson, Week 1, AFC Special Teams Player of the Week: In what was his NFL debut, the Bengals' rookie fifth-round pick kicked a game-winning 33-yard FG as time expired in OT to give Cincinnati a 27-24 win over Minnesota. At the time, he was 22 years and 53 days old, making him the youngest kicker in NFL history to kick a game-winner in OT. He also was just the second rookie kicker ever to convert a FG as time expired in OT. Earlier in the game, McPherson made his first career NFL field goal, a 53-yarder that counted as the second-longest in the AFC in Week 1.

- QB Joe Burrow, Week 4, AFC Offensive Player of the Week: Burrow passed for 348 yards and two TDs in Cincinnati's Week 4 Thursday Night matchup vs. Jacksonville, while also posting then-career highs in both completion percentage (78.1) and passer rating (132.8) as he helped lead the Bengals to a comeback win. Burrow led Cincinnati to scores on all four of its second-half possessions (TD, TD, TD, FG), and his 10-play, 73-yard drive late in the fourth quarter bled 5:33 off the clock and set up a game-winning FG as time expired. In the second half alone, Burrow completed 17 of 20 passes (85 percent) for 253 yards and two TDs (152.1 rating).

- WR Ja'Marr Chase, September, NFL Offensive Rookie of the Month: The fifth overall pick in the 2021 draft led all rookies in receiving yardage (220) and TDs (four) in September. He was one of just nine rookies ever to catch at least one TD in each of his first three career games, and was one of just three players ever to catch TDs of at least 25 yards in each of his first three career games. He also was the youngest player (21 years old) with four receiving TDs through his first three career games, edging out Pro Football Hall of Famer Randy Moss' three in three games in 1998. Chase joined QB Andy Dalton (offense, Oct. 2011), LB Odell Thurman (defense, Sept. 2005) and HB Corey Dillon (offense, Dec. 1997) as the only Bengals ever to win NFL rookie of the month (award issued since 1996).

- WR Ja'Marr Chase, Week 7, AFC Offensive Player of the Week: Chase caught eight passes for a then-Bengals-rookie-record 201 receiving yards and a TD in Cincinnati's 41-17 win in Week 7 at Baltimore. His receiving yardage total was the highest in the AFC through seven weeks, and his 82-yard TD in the third quarter was the longest pass play in the AFC through seven weeks. Chase's 754 receiving yards through Week 7 led the AFC and ranked as the most ever by an NFL player through his first seven career games. Chase is the first Bengals rookie WR ever to win AFC Offensive Player of the Week, and the first Bengals rookie (at any position) to win the award since HB Jeremy Hill in 2014. AFC player of the week awards have been issued since 1984.

- K Evan McPherson, Week 11, AFC Special Teams Player of the Week: McPherson made all four of his FG attempts in the Cincinnati's Week 11 win at Las Vegas, and accounted for 14 of the team's 32 points on the day. Three of his FGs were from 50-plus yards (54, 53, 51), which tied a single-game NFL record.

- HB Joe Mixon, Week 12, AFC Offensive Player of the Week: Mixon helped Cincinnati to a 41-10 win over division-rival Pittsburgh by rushing for a career-high 165 yards, the most-ever by a Bengal against the Steelers. He also scored two TDs, and ran his tally of consecutive games with multiple TDs to four, the longest such streak in team history and the longest active streak in the NFL at the time. It was also his eighth straight game with a TD, which tied the third-longest streak in team history (streak ultimately stretched to nine games, tied for second in team history).

- QB Joe Burrow, Week 16, AFC Offensive Player of the Week: In the Bengals' 41-21 win over Baltimore on Dec. 26, Burrow posted career-highs in passing yardage (525), passing TDs (four), passer rating (143.2... topped the next week) and completions (37; tied career-high). Each of those totals led the AFC in Week 16, and his passing yardage total was a team record and the fourth-highest in NFL history. Burrow's 941 combined passing yards against the Ravens in 2021 were the most in NFL history by a single player against an opponent in one regular season. The previous record was 874 yards, held by both San Francisco 49ers QB Joe Montana (1990 vs. the Atlanta Falcons) and Miami Dolphins QB Dan Marino (1988 vs. the N.Y. Jets).

- K Evan McPherson, December, AFC Special Teams Player of the Month: McPherson made nine of his 11 FGs and eight of his nine PATs in December. Two of his December FGs were from 50-plus, including a Bengals-record 58-yarder on Dec. 19 at Denver. McPherson scored 35 points in December — more than one-third of Cincinnati's 101 total points for the month. McPherson is the first rookie kicker to win a Special Teams Player of the Month award since the Chiefs' Harrison Butker (Oct. and Dec. 2017). He's also the fourth Bengal ever to win the award, joining K Josh Brown (Dec. 2012), K Mike Nugent (Sept. 2010), and KR Brandon Bennett (Nov. 2002). AFC Player of the Month Awards have been issued since 1986.

- WR Ja'Marr Chase, Week 17, AFC Offensive Player of the Week: Chase had 11 catches for 266 receiving yards and three TDs (72, 18 and 69 yards) in Cincinnati's 34-31 win over Kansas City on Jan. 2. The victory clinched the AFC North division title for the Bengals. Chase's receiving yardage total was a Bengals single-game record, an NFL rookie record, and the highest in the NFL during the 2021 regular season. Chase, who had 201 receiving yards on Oct. 24 at Baltimore, became the first rookie in NFL history and the fifth player ever to record multiple games with 200-plus receiving yards in a single season — the others were Pro Football Hall of Famers Calvin Johnson (2011 and '12) and Don Maynard (1968), along with Josh Gordon ('13) and Alshon Jeffrey ('13).

25 points does the trick: Since 2011, the Bengals own a 58-6-2 record in the regular season when scoring 25 or more points. That's good for the second-best winning percentage (.879) in the NFL when topping the 25-point mark over that span.

The Bengals are 12-5 under head coach Zac Taylor (7-1 during the 2021 regular season) when reaching the 25-point plateau. The Bengals are also 2-0 in the playoffs under Taylor when scoring at least 25.

Here are the top five teams in the NFL since 2011, in terms of winning percentage, when hitting the 25-point plateau (regular season):

TEAM	WINS	LOSSES	TIES	WINNING PCT.
New England Patriots .....	99	10	0	.908
Cincinnati Bengals .....	58	6	2	.894
Denver Broncos .....	61	8	0	.884
Miami Dolphins .....	45	6	0	.882
Kansas City Chiefs .....	78	13	0	.857

2021 Bengals captains: Prior to start of the 2021 regular season, the Bengals named team captains on offense, defense and special teams.

On offense, the captains were second-year QB Joe Burrow, fifth-year HB Joe Mixon and sixth-year WR Tyler Boyd. It was Burrow's second season as a captain, while Mixon and Boyd were first-time captains.

On defense, the captains were fourth-year S Jessie Bates, fourth-year DE Sam Hubbard and sixth-year S Vonn Bell. It was the first captain nod for both Bates and Hubbard, and the second for Bell, who joined the Bengals in 2020.

The lone captain on special teams was P Kevin Huber, who was the longest-tenured Bengal on the roster at 13 seasons. Huber was 36 years old in 2021, while Boyd (27), Bell (27) and Hubbard (26) were the next-oldest captains (ages as of Super Bowl LVI).

Bengals' Nebraska connections: The Bengals drew widespread attention in 2021 for their many connections to the LSU Tigers, but look closer and you'll find several significant links to another school — the University of Nebraska.

Bengals QB Joe Burrow's father, Jimmy, was a starting safety at Nebraska under Tom Osborne in the mid-1970s, and then later served as an assistant under Huskers head coach Frank Solich from 2000-02. While on Nebraska's staff, Jimmy coached Joe's older brothers, Jamie (MLB) and Dan (S), who helped Nebraska to a berth in the BCS National Championship Game (Rose Bowl) in the 2001 season. Joe was five at the time.

Solich was fired by Nebraska after the 2003 season, but then caught on in '05 as head coach at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio. He promptly hired Jimmy Burrow as defensive coordinator, and the Burrow family moved to Athens, where Joe went on to play in high school and win Ohio's Mr. Football award in 2014.

Solich was replaced at Nebraska by Bill Callahan, who served as Huskers head coach from 2004-07. Bill Callahan is the father of Bengals offensive coordinator Brian Callahan, who at the time of his dad's Nebraska hiring was already a walk-on QB at UCLA. In 2005, Bill Callahan's Huskers got a transfer QB from Butler County (Kan.) Community College by the name of Zac Taylor, who went on to play two seasons with the Huskers and win Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year in his senior season of 2006. Taylor was inducted into the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame in 2017.

Joe Burrow grew up a Nebraska fan, but says he was not offered a scholarship by the Huskers out of high school or after his transfer from Ohio State in 2018.

Super Bowl LVI viewership: The Bengals' Feb. 13 matchup with the L.A. Rams in Super Bowl LVI averaged a total audience delivery (TAD) of 112.3 million viewers across NBC, Telemundo, Peacock, NBC Sports Digital, NFL Digital platforms and Yahoo Sports mobile properties. That ranked as the most-watched show in five years — since the Patriots and Falcons met in Super Bowl LI in February 2017 (113.7 million TAD on Fox).

Super Bowl LVI viewership on NBC peaked at 104.4 million from 7:45-8 p.m. Eastern. The game, which ran from 6:35-10:09 p.m. Eastern, averaged 99.3 million viewers on NBC. Telemundo became the first-ever Spanish-language broadcast network to air the Super Bowl and averaged 1.9 million viewers — by far the most-watched NFL game in U.S. Spanish-language history.

The game also counted as the most-streamed Super Bowl ever. The average minute audience (AMA) for the Super Bowl live stream via Peacock, NBC Sports Digital platforms, NFL Digital platforms, Rams and Bengals mobile properties, and Yahoo Sports mobile properties was 6.0 million, according to the traditional counting of streaming (which is the comparable metric to the previous year's 5.7 million). The delivery rises to 11.2 million AMA viewers, which takes into account co-viewing from connected devices.

Super Bowl LVI also served as the lead-in to NBC's live primetime coverage of the Beijing Olympics, which averaged a TAD of 24.0 million viewers.

Cincinnati was the top metered market (out of 44 available) for Super Bowl LVI, with a 46.1/84 rating. Detroit (45.9/79), Pittsburgh (45.6/74), Columbus (45.4/80) and Kansas City (44.6/76) rounded out the top five markets. Los Angeles (36.7/77) was not in the top 10.

Examining Week 1 Bengals since '02: Here's a look at how Cincinnati's opening-week roster in 2021 stacked up with the Bengals' Week 1 rosters of the last 20 seasons (since 2002). All info is according to the NFL's annual kickoff weekend roster info press release, which compares the height, weight, age and experience of all 32 teams in Week 1.

The 2021 Bengals' average height was 6.18 feet, which tied for the fourth-shortest Week 1 roster Cincinnati has had over the last 20 years. The 2002 team (6.11 feet) was the shortest, while the '16 squad (6.22 feet) was the tallest.

The 2021 Bengals averaged 248.83 pounds, good for the sixth-heaviest opening-week squad Cincinnati has had over the last 20 years. The 2010 team (251.53) was the heaviest, while the '02 squad (244.6) was the lightest.

The players on the Bengals' 2021 opening-week roster averaged 25.68 years old, good for the third-youngest Week 1 roster Cincinnati has had over the last 20 years. The 2018 squad (25.38) was the youngest, while the '06 team (26.57) was the oldest.

The 2021 Bengals players averaged 3.81 years of NFL experience, the eighth-fewest by a Cincinnati squad over the last 20 years. The 2004 team (3.57) was the least-experienced, while the '15 squad (4.49) was the most-experienced.

The 2021 Bengals had 11 rookie and first-year players on the roster, tied for sixth-most over the last 20 years. The 2017 Bengals (14) had the most rookies and first-year players, while the '13 team (seven) had the fewest.

The 2021 Bengals had just five players age 30 or older, the second-fewest by a Cincinnati team over the last 20 years. The 2011 Bengals (two) had the fewest players 30 or older, while the '15 team (11) had the most.

The 2021 Bengals had just eight players 200 pounds or lighter, which tied for the third-fewest over the last 17 years (the league's info in this category goes back only to 2005). The 2017 and '19 Bengals (seven) had the fewest, while the '09 team (13) had the most.

The 2021 Bengals had nine players listed shorter than six feet, which tied for the fifth-fewest in that category over the last 17 years (the league's info in this category goes back only to 2005). The 2008 Bengals (five) had the fewest players under six feet, while the 2004, '10 and '15 teams (all 11) had the most.

Finally, the 2021 Bengals had 14 players who weighed 300 or more pounds, tied with the '08 team for the most in the last 19 years (league info goes back only to 2003). The 2003, '04 and '17 Bengals (all eight) tied for the fewest.

Kickoff weekend roster comparisons: Early in the 2021 regular season, the NFL released its annual comparison of rosters throughout the league on kickoff weekend. The data includes comparisons of height, weight, experience and age across all 32 NFL rosters on the Week 1 of the season.

Here's a look at the Bengals' opening-week roster data from each of the last five seasons (all info is according to the NFL's annual kickoff weekend roster comparison press release):

Coin-toss roller coaster: The Bengals were on both ends of rather improbable coin-toss streaks between late-2020 and mid-2021.

On the good-luck side, the Bengals won 11 straight coin tosses between Game 14 vs. Pittsburgh in 2020 and Game 6 at Detroit in 2021. That's a span of nine games, but it included two OT contests, and the Bengals won the toss prior to the extra period in both of those. Winning 11 straight coin tosses equates to one in 2048 odds.

Now for the other side of the coin. The Bengals lost five straight coin tosses between Game 7 and Game 11 in 2021 (no OT games), which equates to one in 32 odds. That streak, though, was broken with a coin-toss win in Game 12 vs. the L.A. Chargers.

Three Bengals hail from Queen City: The Bengals in 2021 had three players — DE Sam Hubbard, P Kevin Huber and G Jackson Carman — who grew up in Greater Cincinnati.

Hubbard, a Moeller High School alum and former Ohio State standout, played his fourth Bengals season, after joining the team as a third-round draft pick (77th overall) in 2018. He played his third season as a full-time starting DE, and in July 2021 signed a contract extension that keeps him in Cincinnati through 2025.

Huber, an Anderson Township native and alum of McNicholas High School and the University of Cincinnati, was a fifth-round draft choice of the Bengals in 2009. He was the longest-tenured Bengal on the roster in 2021 and has played in all but two games throughout his career in Cincinnati. He currently stands as the Bengals' career leader in both gross (45.33) and net (40.27) punting average.

Carman, a rookie, is a native of Fairfield, Ohio, a Cincinnati suburb about 35 minutes north of the city. He attended Fairfield High School before playing at Clemson University for three seasons, and then the Bengals selected him in the second round of the 2021 draft.

P Drue Chrisman, a 2021 college free agent signee who spent parts of his rookie season on Cincinnati's practice squad, is also a Cincinnati native. He grew up in Lawrenceburg, Ind. (35 minutes from Paul Brown Stadium), attended

La Salle High School in Cincinnati, and then played collegiately at Ohio State. Chrisman had four separate stints on Cincinnati's practice squad as a rookie, before signing a Reserve/Future contract on Feb. 7. He technically did not count on the roster again until Feb. 14, the day after Super Bowl LVII.

Willie Anderson a HOF finalist: The Pro Football Hall of Fame announced on Dec. 30 that former Bengals OT Willie Anderson was among 15 Modern Era finalists for the class of 2022. Anderson, the 10th overall pick of the Bengals in 1996, was widely considered to be among the top right tackles in football throughout his 12 seasons (1996-2007) in Cincinnati.

Anderson, though, was not part of the Hall's class of 2022 when it was announced on Feb. 10.

"I consider him to be right there as the best right tackle of his generation," Giants Hall-of-Fame pass rusher Michael Strahan told Bengals.com. "When I found out Willie wasn't in the Hall of Fame, I was surprised. Unbeatable."

It was the first appearance on the Hall of Fame ballot for Anderson, who was in his ninth year of eligibility after retiring from football after the 2009 season. Anderson earned three AP All-Pro nods (2004-06), and joined Hall of Famers Dan Dierdorf, Ron Yary and Rayfield Wright as the only right tackles to previously be selected in three straight seasons.

Anderson was dominant as both a run blocker and pass blocker. On the ground, he blocked for HB Corey Dillon's team-record 8061 yards and 28 100-yard games between 1997-2003. He was also a key figure in both of Dillon's record-setting performances — 246 yards for the NFL rookie record in 1997, and 278 yards for the all-time record in 2000. Each of the five best rushing seasons by a Bengal — in terms of yardage — were accomplished with Anderson at RT.

As a pass blocker, he was equally dominant. It's believed that he allowed just one sack in the 15 career games in which he lined up against Hall-of-Fame pass-rushers (and that was to Bruce Smith in the final seconds of a rout in his rookie year in 1996).

"(Anderson) should absolutely be in the discussion," said former Buccaneers and Colts head coach Tony Dungy in an interview with Bengals.com. "Did he dominate his era? Was he one of the guys that you game-planned for? He was a guy who was tough to beat. He was as good as any right tackle in his era. To me, that says he should be in the (finals) discussion."

The Hall of Fame's 49-member selection committee voted for the 2022 class in a Zoom meeting in mid-January 2022. Up to five finalists could be elected, and all must have received 80 percent of the votes to make the August induction.

Bengal bites: WR Tyler Boyd's 56-yard TD catch from QB Joe Burrow on Dec. 19 at Denver was the 2000th TD in Bengals history ... Rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase, Cincinnati's first-round pick in April's draft, is the first player in Bengals history to wear uniform No. 1 ... According to the NFL's Next Gen Stats service, which tracks players' speed by using GPS, S Brandon Wilson's kickoff return for a TD at Baltimore in 2019 (22.03 MPH) stands as the fastest speed by a Bengal ball-carrier since NGS' launch in '16 ... The fastest speed by a Bengals ball-carrier during the 2021 regular season came from WR Ja'Marr Chase, who reached 21.74 MPH on a 72-yard TD reception on Jan. 2, 2022 vs. Kansas City; Chase reached 21.66 MPH on a 57-yard catch in Cincinnati's Divisional Playoff win at Tennessee, which marked the fastest speed by any NFL player on a reception in the postseason since 2016 ... The longest-tenured player on the roster in 2021 was P Kevin Huber, a 13th-year pro who joined the Bengals as a fifth-round pick in 2009 ... The oldest Bengal on the roster was LS Clark Harris, who was 37 (born July 10, 1984) ... The youngest Bengal was WR Ja'Marr Chase, who was 21 (born March 1, 2000) ... The lightest Bengal on the roster was CB Mike Hilton, who was 184 pounds ... The heaviest Bengal was DT Tyler Shelvin, who was 350 pounds ... The tallest Bengal was OT Isaiah Prince, who was 6-7 ... The shortest Bengal on the roster was CB Mike Hilton, who was 5-9 ... The Bengals have two persons with the name of Michael Thomas on the active roster — No. 80 WR Mike D. Thomas (goes by "Mike"; middle name is Davonta), and No. 31 S Michael J. Thomas (goes by "Michael"; has two middle names, "Jacob James").

Veteran CB joined the Bengals as a free agent in March 2021 and originally was slated to add depth, but he ended up starting nearly every game of Cincinnati's run to Super Bowl LVI ... Played in 16 regular-season games (15 starts) in 2021, and started all four postseason contests ... Had two INTs and 10 PDs during the '21 regular season, along with three PDs in the playoffs ... Key figure in two of Bengals' signature defensive plays during 2021 playoff run — his batted pass in waning seconds of Divisional Playoff at Tennessee led to Logan Wilson's INT and set up game-winning FG, and his takedown of Chiefs WR Tyreek Hill at the one-yard line just before halftime of the AFC Championship drained the remaining clock and kept the Bengals within 11 points at the break ... A fifth-round pick in 2021, McPherson put together perhaps the top season ever by a rookie K, and was a key factor in Bengals' run to Super Bowl LVI ... Made five game-winning "walk-off" FGs as time expired in 2021, including two in postseason ... Nailed 33-yard game-winning "walk-off" FG in OT in his NFL debut (Sept. 12 vs. Minnesota), making him the youngest kicker in NFL history with a "walk off" ... His 52-yarder as time expired in Divisional Playoff at Tennessee made him the first rookie in NFL postseason history with a "walk off" FG, and then he did it again the next week in the AFC Championship at Kansas City, with a 31-yarder in OT that sent Cincinnati to Super Bowl LVI ... His NFL-best nine FGs of 50 or more yards during the 2021 regular season fell one shy of tying for most in a season in NFL history ... It took him just 14 games to become Cincinnati's all-time leader in 50-plus yard FGs (previous record was eight) ... His nine FGs from 50-plus were the most by a Bengal for an entire career, and more than doubled the previous single-season high of four (Horst Muhlmann in 1970) ... Tied NFL single-game record with three 50-plus yard FGs on Nov. 21 at Las Vegas (54, 53 and 51 yards) ... His 58-yard FG on Dec. 19 at Denver was the longest in Bengals history ... Made all 20 of his placekicks in Cincinnati's postseason run, including 14 FGs; no kicker in NFL history had previously been perfect on as many as 11 FGs in a single postseason ... His 14 FGs in the playoffs tied Colts K Adam Vinatieri's NFL postseason record, set in 2006 ... Played three seasons at University of Florida and became SEC's all-time leader in FG percentage (85.0), before declaring for the 2021 NFL Draft ... Earned the nickname "Shooter McPherson," as a reference to the character Shooter McGavin in the 1996 movie Happy Gilmore.

Career transactions: Selected by Cincinnati in fifth round of 2021 NFL Draft (149th overall) ... Signed with Bengals on 5-17-21.

Pro career: 2021—Played in 16 regular-season games and all four postseason games as a rookie, as Cincinnati won the AFC Championship and advanced to Super Bowl LVI ... Inactive for regular-season finale at Cleveland (right groin) ... Put together one of the top seasons by a rookie kicker in NFL history, along with one of the top postseason performances by any kicker regardless of experience ... Made 28 of 33 FGs and 46 of 48 PATs during regular season ... NFL-best nine of his FGs were from 50 yards or longer, which fell one short of tying for most in NFL history while more than doubling the previous season-high by a Bengal (K Horst Muhlmann, four in 1970) ... Took him just 14 games to become the Bengals' career leader in 50-plus yard FGs (previous record was eight) ... # 2021 GAME SUMMARIES

WEEK 1, GAME 1

Cincinnati Bengals 27, Minnesota Vikings 24 (OT) Sunday, Sept. 12, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

Bengals QB Joe Burrow, who was less than 10 months removed from a left knee injury that ended his rookie season, showed few signs of rust, posting career-highs in passer rating (128.8), completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempt (9.67). HB Joe Mixon, whose 2020 season also ended early due to injury, rushed for 127 yards and a TD on 29 carries. Rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase impressed in his NFL debut with five catches for 101 yards, including a 50-yard TD. Minnesota closed a 14-point second-half deficit and sent the game to OT with a 53-yard FG at the end of regulation. Late in OT, LB Germaine Pratt forced and recovered a fumble by Vikings RB Dalvin Cook, setting up a seven-play, 46-yard drive that was highlighted by a 32-yard pass from Burrow to TE C.J. Uzomah on fourth-and-inches. Rookie K Evan McPherson, making his NFL debut, then nailed a 33-yard FG as time expired to give Cincinnati the win. The game was the first in NFL history with a game-tying FG with no time left in regulation, and a game-winning FG with no time left in OT. Cincinnati moved to 1-0, and Minnesota dropped to 0-1.

WEEK 2, GAME 2

Chicago Bears 20, Cincinnati Bengals 17 Sunday, Sept. 19, 2021 at Soldier Field

The visiting Bengals allowed the fewest total yards (206) by a Cincinnati defense in seven years, but the offense struggled to protect the football and find the scoreboard. Bengals QB Joe Burrow threw three INTs — including a pick-six — on consecutive attempts in the fourth quarter, helping the Bears to a comfortable 17-point margin late. But Burrow connected with rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase for a 42-yard score with 4:39 remaining, and then an INT by Bengals LB Logan Wilson on the ensuing possession set up a seven-yard TD from Burrow to WR Tee Higgins on the next play to cut the margin to just three. Burrow was the first NFL player in 20 years with INTs on three consecutive plays and TD passes on two consecutive plays in the same game (Steelers QB Kordell Stewart on Dec. 30, 2001 at Cincinnati). The Bengals' comeback bid fell short though, as Bears rookie QB Justin Fields, who was filling in for injured starter Andy Dalton, led Chicago to two first downs as the Bears ran out the clock and hung on for a 20-17 win. Cincinnati dropped to 1-1, while Chicago improved to 1-1.

WEEK 3, GAME 3*Cincinnati Bengals 24, Pittsburgh Steelers 10
Sunday, Sept. 26, 2021 at Heinz Field

The Steelers were without numerous starters due to injury, including All-Pro OLB T.J. Watt, and the Bengals took full advantage. Bengals QB Joe Burrow completed 77.8 percent of his passes, tossed three TDs to just one INT, and posted a 122.9 passer rating. He averaged 9.6 yards per attempt through the air, while HB Joe Mixon averaged 5.0 yards per carry on the ground. Rookie Ja'Marr Chase scored two TDs, including a 34-yarder down the sideline before the half to give Cincinnati the lead for good. The Bengals also held the Steelers without a sack, breaking Pittsburgh's NFL-record streak of 75 straight games with a sack. Defensively, the Bengals applied constant pressure to Steelers QB Ben Roethlisberger, sacking him four times and hitting him three more. LB Logan Wilson picked off Roethlisberger twice, and both instances led to Burrow TD passes. Cincinnati cruised to a 24-10 win and improved to 2-1, while Pittsburgh dropped to 1-2.

WEEK 4, GAME 4*Cincinnati Bengals 24, Jacksonville Jaguars 21
Thursday night, Sept. 30, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

The game featured the previous two No. 1 overall picks in Cincinnati second-year QB Joe Burrow and Jacksonville rookie QB Trevor Lawrence. The Jaguars owned the first half, racking up 15 first downs and 240 total yards en route to a 14-0 halftime lead. The turning point for Cincinnati came with a minute left in the first half, when LB Logan Wilson tackled Lawrence at the one-yard line on a fourth down to prevent a halftime deficit of 21. In the second half, Burrow led a comeback that saw Cincinnati score on all four possessions (TD, TD, TD, FG). Burrow completed 17 of his 20 second-half attempts (85 percent) for 253 yards and two TDs (152.1 rating). With just over a minute left and the score tied 21-21, Burrow made what was perhaps the play of the game when he audibled into a jailbreak screen that went to TE C.J. Uzomah, who ran it for 25 yards to the Jacksonville 21-yard line. That play set up a 35-yard, game-winning FG by K Evan McPherson two plays later. At halftime of the game, the Bengals inducted four people as part of their inaugural Ring of Honor class — founder/GM/head coach Paul Brown, OT Anthony Munoz, QB Ken Anderson and CB Ken Riley. Cincinnati improved to 3-1, while Jacksonville fell to 0-4.

WEEK 5, GAME 5*Green Bay Packers 25, Cincinnati Bengals 22 (OT)
Sunday, Oct. 10, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

The host Bengals and visiting Packers combined to miss six placekicks, including five FGs, but Packers K Mason Crosby broke the run of misses and nailed a 49-yarder late in OT to secure a Green Bay win. The Packers racked up 466 total yards, including 206 receiving yards from WR Davante Adams, but the Bengals' defense held them to just two TDs on five total trips to the red zone. Bengals WR Ja'Marr Chase had a big day of his own, posting the second-most receiving yards (159) ever by a Cincinnati rookie. The highlight of the day came just before halftime, when Bengals QB Joe Burrow connected with Chase on a 70-yard TD that drew the Bengals within two points. Cincinnati tied the game with 3:27 left in the fourth quarter, but McPherson missed a potential go-ahead 57-yard FG with 26 seconds left, and then Crosby Missed from 51 yards as time expired. In OT, Crosby missed from 40 yards and McPherson from 49, before Crosby finally converted with 1:55 remaining. Green Bay improved to 4-1, while Cincinnati fell to 3-2.

WEEK 6, GAME 6*Cincinnati Bengals 34, Detroit Lions 11
Sunday, Oct. 17, 2021 at Ford Field

The visiting Bengals cruised to a 23-point win, good for their largest margin of victory in four seasons. Rookie HB Chris Evans caught a 24-yard TD on Cincinnati's first offensive possession, but the offense struggled for much of the rest of the first half. Cincinnati's defense picked up the slack though, holding the Lions scoreless in the first two quarters while allowing just 51 total yards. Cincinnati led just 10-0 at halftime, but in the second half the offense came away with points on all four of its full possessions (three TDs and a FG). Cincinnati was effective through the air and on the ground. QB Joe Burrow tossed three TDs on the afternoon and posted a 115.7 passer rating, while HB Joe Mixon racked up 153 total yards, including a 40-yard receiving TD that featured a massive downfield block from rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase to lead him into the end zone. Cincinnati improved to 4-2, while Detroit fell to 0-6.

WEEK 7, GAME 7*Cincinnati Bengals 41, Baltimore Ravens 17
Sunday, Oct. 24, 2021 at M&T Bank Stadium

The visiting Bengals broke a five-game Ravens winning streak in dominating fashion, posting their largest-ever margin of victory (24) over Baltimore and scoring their most points against the Ravens in 16 years. Offensively, Bengals QB Joe Burrow passed for a career-high 416 yards and three TDs, including 55- and 32-yarders to TE C.J. Uzomah, but the star of the game was rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase, whose 201 receiving yards set a Bengals rookie record. Cincinnati was protecting a three-point lead midway through the third quarter when Chase caught a slant, shook three tacklers and darted 82 yards for a TD. Cincinnati added two more TDs and leaned on a dominating defense, which held the Ravens to just 17 points. The Bengals sacked Ravens QB Lamar Jackson five times, including 2.5 from DE Sam Hubbard. Cincinnati improved to 5-2 and the Ravens fell to 5-2.

WEEK 8, GAME 8*N.Y. Jets 34, Cincinnati Bengals 31
Sunday, Oct. 31, 2021 at MetLife Stadium

Jets QB Mike White, an injury replacement, completed 82 percent of his passes for the second-most yards (405) ever by a QB in his first career start to lead the upset over the Bengals, who entered as double-digit favorites. Cincinnati's top-10 defense had three first-half turnovers, but struggled to slow down New York's 31st-ranked offense. Bengals QB Joe Burrow tossed three TDs on the day, including a 10-yarder to WR Tyler Boyd midway through the fourth quarter that gave Cincinnati a seemingly decisive 11-point lead. But White answered with a TD drive, and then the Jets' defense recorded its first interception of the season deep in Bengals territory. White then tossed his third TD and caught a pass on a trick play for the two-point conversion to give the Jets a three-point lead which Cincinnati could not catch before time ran out. The Bengals fell to 5-3, while the Jets improved to 2-5.

WEEK 9, GAME 9*Cleveland Browns 41, Cincinnati Bengals 16
Sunday, Nov. 7, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

The Bengals committed three turnovers, forced none, and had several key drops in the passing game as Cleveland cruised to a comfortable win at Paul Brown Stadium. The first Bengals turnover was a 99-yard pick-six by Browns CB Denzel Ward on the game's opening possession, while the other two — an INT and a fumble — happened deep in their own end and led to Browns points. The Bengals' defense, which had excelled all season at preventing long plays, gave up a 60-yard TD catch and 70-yard TD run to Cleveland. Cincinnati also entered the game ranked seventh in rush defense, but allowed 9.8 yards per carry to Browns RB Nick Chubb. Forced to play from behind most of the game, Cincinnati went pass-heavy but never could find its footing. Bengals QB Joe Burrow was sacked five times, and his longest completion was just 20 yards. Cincinnati fell to 5-4, while Cleveland improved to 5-4.

WEEK 11, GAME 10*Cincinnati Bengals 32, Las Vegas Raiders 13
Sunday, Nov. 21, 2021 at Allegiant Stadium

The Bengals started slow in their first-ever game in Las Vegas, but they scored 19 points in the final quarter to widen what for most of the game was a narrow lead. Cincinnati's defense forced two turnovers and held Las Vegas to just one-of-seven on third downs, while HB Joe Mixon scored two TDs — his third straight multi-TD game — and rushed for 97 yards in the second half as the Bengals wore out the Raiders late. The Raiders trimmed the Bengals' lead to three points early in the fourth quarter, but QB Joe Burrow led a 12-play, 62-yard TD drive that ate 6:39 of clock and re-extended Cincinnati's lead. Rookie K Evan McPherson made all four of his FG attempts, and tied an NFL record with three 50-plus yarders in a game (54, 53, 51). Cincinnati improved to 6-4, while Las Vegas dropped to 5-5.

WEEK 12, GAME 11*Cincinnati Bengals 41, Pittsburgh Steelers 10
Sunday, Nov. 28, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

The 31-point victory margin was the Bengals' largest over the Steelers in 32 years. Bengals HB Joe Mixon rushed for a career-high 165 yards and two TDs, while QB Joe Burrow had a career-high 83.5 completion percentage. Mixon ran his streak of consecutive games with a TD to eight, including four straight with multiple TDs. Cincinnati scored on its first four possessions (three TDs, one FG), and when an INT ended that streak on the fifth drive, Bengals CB Mike Hilton — a former Steeler — returned an INT 24 yards for a TD on the first play of the following Steelers drive. Cincinnati's defense had three sacks and two INTs while holding Pittsburgh to 51 rushing yards. Bengals DE Trey Hendrickson ran his streak of consecutive games with a sack to seven, the longest in Bengals history. Cincinnati improved to 7-4, while Pittsburgh fell to 5-5-1.

WEEK 13, GAME 12*Los Angeles Chargers 41, Cincinnati Bengals 22
Sunday, Dec. 5, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

The visiting Chargers raced to a 24-0 lead early in the second quarter and looked to be on their way to an easy win, but Cincinnati scored twice before halftime to trim the lead to 24-13, and then got to within 24-22 midway through the third quarter. The comeback was led by Bengals QB Joe Burrow, who did not miss a play despite dislocating the pinky finger on his throwing hand in the first half. Cincinnati was down two points early in the fourth quarter and driving to take the lead when HB Joe Mixon fumbled for the first time in 328 rush attempts, resulting in a 61-yard scoop-and-score by Chargers CB Tevaughn Campbell. L.A. tacked on another TD, and then thwarted another Bengals comeback attempt by intercepting Burrow in the end zone — Cincinnati's fourth turnover of the day. Mixon ran his streak of consecutive games with a TD to nine, and DE Trey Hendrickson ran his streak of consecutive games with a sack to eight. The Chargers improved to 7-5, while the Bengals fell to 7-5.

WEEK 14, GAME 13*San Francisco 49ers 26, Cincinnati Bengals 23 (OT)
Sunday, Dec. 12, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

The Bengals fell behind 17-6 at halftime due to costly mistakes — two turnovers on muffed punts (49ers turned them into 10 points), a Ja'Marr Chase TD catch that was ruled a drop by replay review, and a taunting penalty after a third-down stop on defense that resulted in a 49ers TD on the next play. Cincinnati entered the fourth quarter trailing 20-6, but staged a dramatic comeback to tie at 20 and force OT. Burrow posted a 151.0 passer rating in the final period and tossed two TDs to Chase, and then San Francisco K Robbie Gould missed a potential game-winning FG from 47 yards at the end of regulation. In OT, Cincinnati's offense moved downfield quickly for a FG. On the next drive, the 49ers drove 75 yards on seven plays for a game-winning TD. Bengals DE Trey Hendrickson recorded a sack in his ninth straight game — tied for fourth-longest streak in NFL history — before leaving with a back injury. Chase's two receiving TDs gave him 10 for the season, the most-ever by a Bengals rookie. The Bengals fell to 7-6, while the 49ers improved to 7-6.

WEEK 15, GAME 14*Cincinnati Bengals 15, Denver Broncos 10

Sunday, Dec. 19, 2021 at Empower Field at Mile High

The visiting Bengals started slow before rookie K Evan McPherson booted a team-record 58-yard FG as time expired in the first half to give Cincinnati a 6-3 lead at the break. The Broncos jumped ahead 10-9 with a 25-yard TD pass late in the third quarter, but it took just two plays for the Bengals to re-take the lead with a 56-yard TD pass of their own from QB Joe Burrow to WR Tyler Boyd. Denver responded by driving to Cincinnati's nine-yard line, but reserve DE Khalid Kareem stifled the Broncos' scoring opportunity by crashing into the backfield and wrestling the ball away from Denver QB Drew Lock. Cincinnati began to burn late clock time, and a 15-yard Burrow-to-Boyd completion on a third-and-10 forced Denver to spend its remaining time outs. The Broncos finally got the ball back with 1:04 to play, but the Bengals' defense capped a stellar performance by forcing a sack and three incompletions to seal the game. Cincinnati improved to 8-6 and took over sole possession of first place in the AFC North, while Denver dropped to 7-7.

WEEK 16, GAME 15*Cincinnati Bengals 41, Baltimore Ravens 21
Sunday, Dec. 26, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

The Bengals scored on each of their first seven drives (five TDs, two FGs) and QB Joe Burrow passed for a team-record 525 yards (fourth-most in NFL history), as the Bengals' dominated a Ravens team without double-digit players due to injuries and COVID-19. Baltimore, which was missing its top two QBs — Lamar Jackson (ankle) and Tyler Huntley (COVID-19) — took a 7-3 lead after its first offensive drive, but Cincinnati responded with three unanswered TDs. HB Joe Mixon scored a rushing and receiving TD, giving him 16 total for the season (one shy of team record). WR Tee Higgins had 12 catches (tied for second-most in team history) for a career-high 194 yards and two TDs. Rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase (125 yards) tied the team's rookie record for 100-yard receiving games (four). DE Trey Hendrickson, who recorded Cincinnati's lone sack of the day, extended to 11 his streak of consecutive games with at least a half sack (tied for second-longest in NFL history). But Burrow was the star of the day, posting career-highs in passing TDs (four) and passer rating (143.2), while completing 80.4 percent of his passes. The Bengals' win brightened their postseason prospects and widened their narrow lead in their AFC North with just two games remaining. Cincinnati improved to 9-6, while Baltimore dropped to 8-7.

WEEK 17, GAME 16*Cincinnati Bengals 34, Kansas City Chiefs 31
Sunday, Jan. 2, 2022 at Paul Brown Stadium

The Bengals overcame three 14-point deficits (14-0, 21-7 and 28-14) and allowed just three second-half points to clinch the AFC North and snap the two-time defending AFC Champions' eight-game winning streak. After a Chiefs FG tied the game with 6:01 left, the Bengals drained the remaining clock with a 15-play, 74-yard drive that featured a third-and-27 conversion on a 30-yard pass from QB Joe Burrow to WR Ja'Marr Chase. The drive was capped by K. Evan McPherson's third "walk-off" FG of the year as time expired. Burrow posted 446 passing yards and four TDs. Chase had three TDs among his 11 catches, and his 266 yards were a Bengals record, the most-ever by an NFL rookie, and the most leaguewide in 2021. Chase also reached 1429 receiving yards on the season, the second-most ever by a rookie. Cincinnati improved to 10-6, while Kansas City fell to 11-5.

WEEK 18, GAME 17*Cleveland Browns 21, Cincinnati Bengals 16
Sunday, Jan. 9, 2022 at FirstEnergy Stadium

Having clinched the AFC North title the previous week and with few seeding implications on the line, Cincinnati rested nearly every starter — including QB Joe Burrow — in the regular-season finale. The Browns, who had been mathematically eliminated from the playoff race, also were without their starting QB, Baker Mayfield (shoulder). Bengals rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase entered the contest needing 12 yards to break Chad Johnson's team receiving yardage record for a season, so he played five snaps, caught two passes for 26 yards, and then promptly exited for the remainder of the afternoon. Browns QB Case Keenum led Cleveland to a 14-0 lead early in the second quarter, but a 29-yard scoop-and-score by Bengals practice squad S Trayvon Henderson drew Cincinnati close at halftime. The Bengals added a FG and TD in the second half to keep the game close, but the Browns recovered an onside kick just before the two-minute warning and drained the remaining clock to hold on for the win. Cleveland ended its season 8-9, while Cincinnati finished 10-7 and secured the No. 4 seed in the AFC playoffs.

2021 SEASON*AFC WILD CARD PLAYOFF*Cincinnati Bengals 26, Las Vegas Raiders 19
Sunday, Jan. 15, 2022 at Paul Brown Stadium

In front of the largest home crowd in team history, the Bengals snapped an eight-game playoff losing streak and 31-year drought without a postseason win. The Raiders scored an opening-drive FG, but Cincinnati countered with a 75-yard TD drive and never trailed again. The Bengals lost three key defensive linemen to injuries — DT Larry Ogunjobi (foot), DE Trey Hendrickson (concussion) and DT Mike Daniels (groin) — but the defense still managed to hold the Raiders to just one TD. Las Vegas had little trouble moving the ball — QB Derek Carr passed for 310 yards and RB Josh Jacobs averaged 6.4 yards per carry — but the Raiders scored just one TD in five red-zone trips. Bengals QB Joe Burrow completed 70.4 percent of his passes, tossed two TDs and posted a 110.4 rating. Trailing by seven points late, Las Vegas staged a near comeback and drove to the Cincinnati nine-yard line with 30 seconds left. But three plays later, on fourth-and-goal from the nine, Bengals LB Germaine Pratt intercepted a pass over the middle to seal a win.

2021 SEASON

AFC DIVISIONAL PLAYOFF

Cincinnati Bengals 19, Tennessee Titans 16
Sunday, Jan. 22, 2022 at Nissan Stadium

Rookie K Evan McPherson booted a 52-yard FG as time expired to give Cincinnati its first-ever road playoff win and send the No. 4 seed Bengals to their first AFC Championship game in 33 years. The game began with an INT by S Jessie Bates on the first play from scrimmage — it was the first of three INTs thrown by Titans QB Ryan Tannehill. Cincinnati reached the end zone just once, but McPherson made all five of his placekicks (four FGs, one PAT) — including two 50-plus yard FGs — in below-freezing temperatures. The Bengals' offensive line struggled in pass protection, as Burrow was sacked nine times — the most takedowns of a winning QB in NFL postseason history. Titans star RB Derrick Henry, who was playing in his first game since Halloween (foot injury), averaged just 3.1 yards on 20 carries, and the Titans converted just one third down on the afternoon. With the game tied at 16 at the two-minute warning, Tennessee began a drive for a potential game-winning FG. But CB Eli Apple batted a Tannehill pass, and LB Logan Wilson intercepted it with 20 seconds remaining. Burrow quickly hit WR Ja'Marr Chase on a 19-yard pass to set up McPherson's game-winner.

2021 SEASON

AFC CHAMPIONSHIP

Cincinnati Bengals 27, Kansas City Chiefs 24 (OT)
Sunday, Jan. 30, 2022 at Arrowhead Stadium

The Bengals earned their third AFC Championship and a berth in Super Bowl LVI after staging a dramatic comeback road win over the two-time defending AFC Champion Chiefs. Kansas City started fast and raced to a 21-3 lead midway through the second quarter, after putting together TD drives of 84, 75 and 72 yards on their first three possessions. But Cincinnati answered when HB Samaje Perine took a screen pass 41 yards for a score to cut the lead to 21-10. With five seconds remaining before halftime, Kansas City had the ball on Cincinnati's one-yard line but opted to try for a TD instead of a FG. The play was stopped for a loss by Bengals CB Eli Apple, and time expired as Cincinnati escaped to the locker room down only 11 points. Cincinnati's offense came to life after the break and pulled ahead midway through the fourth quarter, while the defense adjusted and held Kansas City's high-powered offense to just three second-half points, which came on a game-tying FG at the end of regulation. Kansas City got the ball first in OT, but Bengals S Vonn Bell intercepted a deep pass from Chiefs All-Pro QB Patrick Mahomes. Bengals QB Joe Burrow then led Cincinnati to three first downs, and got into range for 22-year old rookie K Evan McPherson's second game-winning, walk-off FG in as many weeks.

2021 SEASON*SUPER BOWL LVI*L.A. Rams 23, Cincinnati Bengals 20*Sunday, Feb. 13, 2022 at SoFi Stadium (Inglewood, Calif.)

Playing in their first Super Bowl in 33 years, the four-point underdog Bengals were technically the home team even though the game was held at the "visiting" Rams' home stadium. Cincinnati's first offensive possession stalled at midfield after a failed fourth-and-one conversion, and the Rams took advantage with a 50-yard TD drive to strike first. Los Angeles stretched its lead to 13-3 early in the second quarter, but the Bengals closed to within 13-10 with a trick-play TD pass from HB Joe Mixon to WR Tee Higgins. Then, on the first play of the second half, Higgins caught a 75-yard TD pass from QB Joe Burrow to give Cincinnati its first lead. On the first play of the ensuing possession, an INT by Bengals CB Chidobe Awuzie set up Cincinnati at the Rams' 31-yard line, but the Bengals turned it into only a FG. Behind a strong pass rush, Los Angeles then held Cincinnati scoreless on its final five possessions. After a TD by WR Cooper Kupp gave Los Angeles a three-point lead with 1:25 remaining, Cincinnati's attempt to tie or win ended on fourth-and-one at midfield when Burrow threw an incomplete pass while being tackled.
