CINCINNATI BENGALS (2-2)
AT
BALTIMORE RAVENS (2-2)

SUNDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL
WEEK 5, GAME 5
OCT. 9 AT M&T BANK STADIUM

NEXT UP: WEEK 6, GAME 6
OCT. 16 AT NEW ORLEANS

GAME NOTES

Kickoff: 8:20 p.m. Eastern.

Television: The game will air on NBC-TV. In the Bengals' home region, it will be carried by WLWT-TV (Ch. 5) in Cincinnati, WDTN-TV (Ch. 7) in Dayton and on WLEX-TV (Ch. 2) in Lexington. Broadcasters are Mike Tirico (play-by-play), Cris Collinsworth (analyst) and Melissa Stark (sideline reporter).

Radio: The game will air on the Bengals Radio Network, led by Cincinnati flagship stations WLW-AM (700), WCKY-AM (1530) and WEBN-FM (102.7). Broadcasters are Dan Hoard (play-by-play) and Dave Lapham (analyst).
The game also will air nationally on Westwood One Radio. Broadcasters are Ryan Radtke (play-by-play) and Mike Golic (analyst).

Setting the scene: The Bengals will play in their second straight nationally televised game this week when they take on the Baltimore Ravens at M&T Bank Stadium in a Sunday Night Football matchup. Both teams enter the game with a 2-2 record, and look to grab control of the AFC North Division.
Cincinnati is coming off a 27-15 win over the previously unbeaten Miami Dolphins on Thursday night, earning its second win in five days. The Bengals showcased their ability in all three phases, highlighted by a turnover-free performance from the offense, two INTs by S Vonn Bell and a 57-yard FG from K Evan McPherson.
"We're starting to click on all cylinders," said QB Joe Burrow after the game. "We can keep getting better on offense — there was a spell halfway through the game that we didn't put any points on the board — but I thought we responded well and scored points when we needed to. The defense is going to keep playing great, that's what they do."
In what was a memorable night for the Bengals that featured a Ring of Honor induction ceremony, the debut of the "White Bengal" helmet, and a Paycor Stadium-record crowd of 67,260, the game itself remained up for grabs late into the fourth quarter. Miami, led by backup QB Teddy Bridgewater, was driving to take the lead as the clock ticked below four minutes remaining and the Bengals ahead 20-15. On a second-and-10 from the Cincinnati 26-yard line, Bell came up huge with his second INT of the game and returned it 46 yards to set up the offense with a short field. Burrow cashed in two plays later, hitting WR Ja'Marr Chase in stride for a 36-yard gain that made it first-and-goal to go. A two-yard TD pass to TE Hayden Hurst with 1:56 left sealed the win.
"I'm really proud of them, on this stage and against that team," head coach Zac Taylor said. "I just thought we handled every moment in this game exactly how we needed to, especially in the second half. Turnovers, capitalizing on turnovers with touchdowns, special teams stepping up big — that was just a great way to win a Thursday night game."
Cincinnati scored on its opening offensive possession for the second straight week, as HB Joe Mixon finished off a nine-play, 75-yard drive with his first TD of the season. The Bengals struck again late in the second quarter, when Burrow dropped back on a third-and-11 and launched a deep ball down the left sideline for WR Tee Higgins, who caught it while racing past Pro Bowl CB Xavien Howard for a 59-yard score. It marked the Bengals' longest play from scrimmage this season, and was Burrow's 10th TD pass of 50 or more yards since entering the league in 2020 — the most in the NFL in that span. Higgins finished with seven catches for 124 yards and a TD.
The Bengals totaled 371 net yards and Burrow connected with six different receivers throughout the evening, but perhaps just as notable was the offensive line limiting a strong Miami front to just one sack.

"The protection was awesome," Burrow said. "I had so much time in the pocket to find guys I needed to find. Those guys are just going to keep getting better, because they work so hard every day in practice."
In addition to Bell's fourth-quarter pick, the Bengals' defense was up to the task throughout the second half. Cincinnati forced three punts and closed the game by stopping the Dolphins on a fourth-and-four with 57 seconds left. Defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo's unit is one of two in the NFL this season that has not allowed a TD in the second half.
This week, the Bengals prepare to face an explosive Ravens offense that ranks third in the NFL in scoring (29.8 points per game). QB Lamar Jackson is once again proving himself as an elite dual-threat signal caller, as he enters Week 5 in the top 10 leaguewide in passing TDs (11, tied for first), passer rating (105.1, fourth) and rushing yards (316, ninth).
The series has gone back-and-forth in recent years, as evidenced by the record-breaking performances by both offenses each of the last two seasons. In Week 17 of 2020, Baltimore capped off a sweep of Cincinnati by rushing for 404 net yards, the most a team has ever recorded against the Bengals. In Week 16 of 2021, the Bengals wrapped up a sweep of their own over the Ravens by totaling 498 net passing yards, the most in a single game ever allowed by Baltimore. Each side has held the upper hand on its home field over the series' last 20 games, as the Ravens are 6-4 in the last 10 contested in Baltimore, while the Bengals are 7-3 in Cincinnati dating back to the 2012 season.

The series: The series is a relatively even affair, with Baltimore currently leading, 27-25. The Bengals, however, have won two straight.
Here are some series notes:
● When Cincinnati took a 23-22 series lead in Week 2 of the 2018 season, it was the first time the Bengals had led the series since after the first of two meetings of 1998, when they were up 3-2. That lead didn't last long, however, as the Ravens have won five of the last seven meetings and currently own a two-game advantage.
● The Ravens swept the Bengals in two consecutive seasons (2019 and '20) before the Bengals swept the Ravens in '21. Prior to 2019, the Ravens had not swept the Bengals since 2011.
● The Bengals' 2021 sweep of the Ravens was their first since 2015.
● It hasn't been an easy series for the visiting team. The Bengals lead 16-10 in Cincinnati, and the Ravens lead 17-9 in Baltimore.
● Since 2010, 14 of the teams' 24 meetings have been one-score decisions, by eight or fewer points.
Complete Bengals-Ravens series results are on page 220 of the 2022 Bengals Media Guide.

Team bests from the series:
Bengals — MOST POINTS: 42, in a 42-29 win in 2005 at Paul Brown Stadium. LARGEST VICTORY MARGIN: 24, in the Bengals' 41-17 win at M&T Bank Stadium in 2021. FEWEST POINTS ALLOWED: 7 (three times), most recently in a 17-7 win in 2009 at Paul Brown Stadium.
Ravens — MOST POINTS: 49, in a 49-13 win at Paul Brown Stadium in 2019. LARGEST VICTORY MARGIN: 37, in a 37-0 win at Baltimore in 2000. FEWEST POINTS ALLOWED: 0 (four times), most recently on Sept. 10 in the Ravens' 20-0 win in the 2017 season-opener at Cincinnati.

The last meetings: Summaries of the two 2021 Bengals-Ravens meetings are on page 18 of this news release.

Bengals vs. Ravens in prime time: The Bengals are 3-2 against the Ravens in regular-season prime-time games overall (0-1 on Sunday night, 1-1 on Monday night and 2-0 on Thursday night).

The Ravens, however, have won both of the teams' prime-time matchups in Baltimore, including a Sunday night game in 1998 and a Monday night contest in 2012.

Bengals on Sunday night: This week's game offers Cincinnati the opportunity to improve its record in Sunday night contests, as the Bengals have not fared well in those matchups in the past. In 19 Sunday night games, the Bengals are 3-16 overall, and they have lost nine straight.

The Bengals' most recent Sunday night win was a 16-13 victory over the Miami Dolphins at Paul Brown Stadium in 2004.

Also at night: In regular season, the Bengals are 13-25 playing on Monday night, 10-7 on Thursday night, 0-1 on Friday night and 0-3 on Saturday night.

Turnover margin is key vs. Ravens: In the 41 all-time Bengals-Ravens meetings in which the turnover differential has not been even (1995-present), the team who wins the turnover battle has posted a 35-6 record.

Putting it another way, the Bengals are 15-3 against the Ravens with a plus turnover differential, and 3-20 with a minus. Looking at it from Baltimore's point of view, the Ravens are 20-3 with a plus and 3-15 with a minus.

Cincinnati leads 7-4 in games against Baltimore in which the turnover margin was even.

Burrow's big days vs. Ravens: QB Joe Burrow has recorded 400 or more passing yards in a game four times during his career, with two such performances coming against Baltimore in 2021. In Game 15, he threw for a Bengals-record 525 yards, the fourth-highest single-game total in NFL history. He also posted then-career highs in passer rating (143.2), TD passes (four) and yards per attempt (11.4), and tied a career high with 37 completions. He became the first Bengals QB ever to complete 80 percent of his passes (80.4) while throwing at least 40 times (46).

Burrow's 525 yards and four TDs came on the heels of a 416-yard, three-TD showing in Game 7 at Baltimore. That made him the only QB ever to pass for 400 yards and three TDs more than once in an entire career against the Ravens.

Burrow also became the first QB in NFL history to top 400 passing yards against the same opponent twice in one regular season, and his 941 combined passing yards against Baltimore were the most-ever against the same opponent in one regular season (previous record was 874, shared by 49ers QB Joe Montana against the Falcons in 1990 and Dolphins QB Dan Marino against the Jets in '88).

In the Game 15 matchup, Burrow became just the eighth QB since 2000 to have three completions of at least 52 yards in a game. On the receiving end of those passes were WR Tyler Boyd (68-yard TD), WR Tee Higgins (52) and HB Joe Mixon (52), who became the first trio of Bengals to catch passes of at least 50 yards in a single game since Nov. 17, 1968 at Miami.

Here are the NFL's single-game passing yardage leaders (regular season):

PLAYER	TEAM	YEAR	OPPONENT	YARDS
Norm Van Brocklin	L.A. Rams	1951	N.Y. Yanks	554
Matt Schaub	Houston Texans	2012	Jacksonville	527
Warren Moon	Houston Oilers	1990	Kansas City	527
Joe Burrow	Cincinnati Bengals	2021	Baltimore	525

Bengals career records watch: As Cincinnati continues the 2022 campaign, here is a look at potential upcoming movement on the Bengals' career records lists (regular season):

● WR Tyler Boyd has 400 career receptions, 17 shy of WR Cris Collinsworth (417) for fifth place all-time. WRs Chad Johnson (751), A.J. Green (649), Carl Pickens (530), and T.J. Houshmandzadeh (507) hold the top four spots on the team's career receptions list.

● HB Joe Mixon has 4788 career rushing yards, 633 shy of RB Pete Johnson (5421) for fourth place all-time. Mixon in 2021 passed Cedric Benson (4176).

● Mixon also has 13 career games with 100-plus rushing yards, one shy of RB Pete Johnson for fifth place all-time. RBs Corey Dillon (28), Rudi Johnson (19), James Brooks (17), and Cedric Benson (15) hold the top four spots on the team's career list.

● Mixon in Week 1 had 27 rushing attempts and surpassed Cedric Benson (1109) for fifth place all-time. Mixon currently has 1186 career rushing attempts and is 158 behind James Brooks (1344) for fourth place all-time.

● QB Joe Burrow has 12 career games of 300-plus passing yards, five shy of QB Carson Palmer (17) for fourth place all-time. QBs Andy Dalton (28), Boomer Esiason (23), and Ken Anderson (19) hold the top three spots on the team's career list.

● S Brandon Wilson (Reserve/PUP) has two career kickoff returns for TDs, tied with S/CB Tremain Mack for the Bengals' all-time lead.

Records vs. Ravens: In the first Bengals-Ravens game, Nov. 3, 1996 at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium, head coach Bruce Coslet's Bengals overcame what still stands today as the largest deficit (18 points) to win a regular-season road game in franchise history. The Ravens led 21-3 at halftime, but Cincinnati rallied for a 24-21 win on a 39-yard Doug Pelfrey field goal at the final gun. Not until last year's AFC Championship did the Bengals finally match that road feat (overcoming a 21-3 deficit to earn a berth in Super Bowl LVI).

The Bengals' second-biggest regular-season comeback in a road win also was at Baltimore. On Dec. 5, 2004 at M&T Bank Stadium, Cincinnati rallied from a 20-3 deficit to win 27-26.

Also:

● On Nov. 22, 1998 in Cincinnati, Ravens RB Priest Holmes rushed for 227 yards, the most ever recorded against the Bengals in a game.

● On Sept. 23, 2001 in Cincinnati, Ravens QB Elvis Grbac attempted 63 passes, the most ever against the Bengals in a game.

● The Bengals record for kickoff return yardage in a game (228 yards) was set at Baltimore by HB Brandon Bennett on Nov. 10, 2002. Bennett had a 94-yarder for a TD.

● Also on Nov. 10, 2002, Ravens CB Lamont Brightful recorded the longest punt return ever against Cincinnati, a 95-yarder for a TD.

● K Shayne Graham kicked a Bengals-record seven field goals — for all of Cincinnati's scoring — in a 21-7 win at Baltimore on Nov. 11, 2007. Graham did not have a missed attempt. The NFL record for field goals in a game is eight, set by Rob Bironas of Tennessee in 2007, and Graham is one of nine players sharing second place with seven.

● On Nov. 30, 2008 against the Ravens in Cincinnati, P Kyle Larson punted 11 times, which is tied with three other instances for most in a game in team history. Larson's 480 yards punting that day also stand as the third-most for a single game in Bengals history.

● In the 2014 season opener at Baltimore, Bengals K Mike Nugent tied the NFL record for field goals in a half (five; still tied). His five in the first half gave the Bengals a 15-0 lead toward an eventual 23-16 win.

● On Jan. 3, 2021, the Ravens set a record for most net rushing yards against the Bengals in a single game with 404. That total shattered the previous mark of 313, which had stood since 1969.

● In last season's second Cincinnati-Baltimore meeting on Dec. 26, Bengals QB Joe Burrow set a new team record for most passing yards in a game with 525, which was the fourth-highest single-game total in NFL history. Burrow, who eight games earlier in the season had recorded 416 passing yards against the Ravens, became first QB in NFL history to top 400 passing yards against the same opponent twice in one regular season, and his 941 combined passing yards against the Ravens were the most ever by an NFL QB against the same opponent in one regular season. The Bengals' 498 net passing yards also set a new Bengals team record and were the most ever against the Ravens in a game.

Individually vs. Ravens: Past offensive performances by current Bengals players against the Ravens include (ordered by total games played):

● WR Tyler Boyd: 12 games; 44 receptions for 604 yards (13.7-yard average) and three TDs; two rushes for 26 yards (13.0); one pass attempt (incomplete).

● HB Joe Mixon: Nine games; 151 rushes for 510 yards (3.4) and three TDs; 24 receptions for 228 yards (9.5) and one TD.

● TE Drew Sample (Reserve/Injured): Six games; Eight receptions for 48 yards (6.0).

● HB Samaje Perine: Five games; 20 rushes for 103 yards (5.2) and one TD; Three receptions for 29 yards (9.7).

● WR Tee Higgins: Four games; 23 receptions for 318 yards (13.8) and two TDs.

● QB Joe Burrow: Three games; 79-of-114 passing for 1124 yards, seven TDs and two INTs (114.1 passer rating); Six rushes for 21 yards (3.5).

● WR Mike D. Thomas: Three games (two with Cincinnati, and one with the L.A. Rams); One reception for six yards.

● HB Trayveon Williams: Three games; Four rushes for 74 yards (18.5); One reception for three yards.

● QB Brandon Allen: Two games; 21 attempts with six completions, 48 yards and two INTs (0.0 passer rating); One rush for two yards.

● WR Ja'Marr Chase: Two games; 15 receptions for 326 yards (21.7) and one TD.

● HB Chris Evans: One game; One rush for one yard.

Uniform watch: The Bengals are slated to wear white jerseys, black pants (orange stripes) and white socks in Game 5 at Baltimore. Cincinnati is 3-2 when wearing that combination, with its last appearance in the 2021 regular-season finale at Cleveland.

Cincinnati unveiled new uniforms in 2021, marking the team's first significant uniform redesign since '04. There are three different color options for the current jerseys — black, white and orange. The pants also feature three different options — black with orange stripes, white with orange stripes, and white with black stripes. Options for sock color include black, white and orange.

This year, with the NFL's approval for the use of alternate helmets, the Bengals unveiled a new helmet branded as the "White Bengal," featuring a white base coat and the team's iconic black stripes. The helmet debuted in the Week 4 Thursday Night Football matchup against the Miami Dolphins, which saw the Bengals earn a 27-15 win in front of a white-out crowd at Paycor Stadium.

In the league's revised uniform policy, teams can pair their new helmet with an alternate, classic or Color Rush uniform. To accentuate the "White Bengal" helmet, the Bengals chose to bring back the fan-favorite Color Rush look — a white jersey/pant combination featuring black stripes and black lettering. The team wore the Color Rush uniform seven times from 2016-20.

Here are the Bengals' records in every possible uniform combination (regular season plus postseason):

* — NFL rules allow teams to wear designated alternate jerseys and/or color rush (CR) uniforms and/or throwback uniforms for a combined total of three regular-season games. Orange is the Bengals' designated alternate jersey. In 2022, Cincinnati may wear its new alternate white helmet with its previous color rush uniform. The Bengals do not have a throwback uniform.

Zac Taylor was named the 10th head coach in Bengals history on Feb. 4, 2019. The 2022 season is his fourth in the position.

In 2021, Taylor led Cincinnati to an AFC North Division championship, an AFC championship and a berth in Super Bowl LVI. Working with one of the NFL's top young offenses, he helped guide second-year QB Joe Burrow to a breakout year in which he set team records for passing yardage (4611), TD passes (34) and passer rating (108.3), as well as recording a league-high 70.4 completion percentage. Burrow was named the AP NFL Comeback Player of the Year — becoming the second player in franchise history to do so — after missing the final six weeks of his rookie season due to a knee injury. Taylor also oversaw the rapid rise of first-year WR Ja'Marr Chase, who posted the most receiving yards by a rookie in the Super Bowl era (1455) en route to winning AP Offensive Rookie of the Year honors. Chase and fellow WR Tee Higgins (1091 yards) became the first duo in NFL history to record 1000 receiving yards in the same season before the age of 23. Fifth-year RB Joe Mixon further established himself as one of the NFL's premier backs under Taylor, ranking third in the league in rushing yards (1205) and fourth in rushing TDs (13). Overall, the Cincinnati offense finished the regular season in the top half of the NFL in yards (13th, 361.5 per game), passing yards (seventh, 259.0) and points (eighth, 27.1).

Defensively, the Bengals showed marked improvement from 2020 to '21, improving their league ranking in rushing yards allowed (29th to fifth), total yards allowed (26th to 18th) and points allowed (22nd to 17th).

In 2020, Taylor helped transition Burrow, the No. 1 overall pick in the NFL draft, to the pros, despite the absence of an in-person offseason program due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Burrow had one of the most productive starts to a career by a QB in NFL history before a knee injury ended the rookie's season after 10 games. Still, Burrow's 264 completions were the most ever by an NFL QB through their first 10 career games, while his 404 pass attempts were second and his 2688 passing yards were fifth. Defensively, Taylor oversaw the onboarding of seven new starters, and helped Cincinnati hold opposing passers to just a 62.8 completion percentage (sixth-lowest in the NFL).

In 2019, his first season as head coach, Taylor headed off a wave of early season injuries to lead Cincinnati to second-half turnarounds on both offense and defense. Offensively, the Bengals' per-game rushing average jumped 70.6 yards from the first half of the season (59.5) to the second (130.1), while their per-attempt average jumped 1.26 yards (3.17 to 4.43) and they allowed 10 fewer sacks (29 to 19). The team's top four WRs — Boyd, Alex Erickson, Auden Tate and John Ross III — all posted career-highs in both receptions and receiving yards. Defensively, Cincinnati notched 11 more sacks in the second half of of the season compared to the first, and allowed 84.1 fewer yards per game.

Taylor came to Cincinnati after two seasons (2017-18) with the L.A. Rams, where he served as assistant wide receivers coach in '17 and quarterbacks coach in '18. In 2018, he helped guide Rams QB Jared Goff to career highs in every major passing category. Goff ranked fourth in the NFL in passing yards and eighth in passer rating. The Rams' QB play was a key component to their offense, which finished the regular season ranked second in the NFL in total net yards (421.1 per game), fifth in net passing yards (281.7), second in scoring (32.9), first in first downs (401) and fifth in third-down percentage (45.0). Los Angeles won the NFC West with a 13-3 regular-season record and advanced to Super Bowl LIII against the New England Patriots.

In 2017, Taylor helped oversee an emerging Rams passing offense that ranked 10th in the NFL in passing yards per game (239.4). Taylor directed a Rams' young receiving corps headed by rookie Cooper Kupp, who finished the season with 62 catches, a team-high 869 receiving yards and five TDs.

Prior to his time with the Rams, Taylor had a one-year stint in the college ranks, serving as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at the University of Cincinnati in 2016. Taylor served under head coach Tommy Tuberville at UC.

Taylor broke into NFL coaching in 2012 with the Miami Dolphins as assistant quarterbacks coach. He was elevated to quarterbacks coach from 2013-15, and spent the final five games of '15 as the Dolphins' interim offensive coordinator and primary play-caller, after the team made coaching staff changes.

During his time in Miami, Taylor was instrumental in the development of QB Ryan Tannehill, the team's first-round draft pick in 2012.

Taylor's coaching career began at Texas A&M University, where he served as offensive graduate assistant and tight ends coach under head coach Mike Sherman from 2008-11. The Aggies shared the Big 12 South Championship in 2010 and played in three bowl games during Taylor's time in College Station.

As a player, Taylor began his college career at Wake Forest (2002-03) before transferring to Butler County Community College in Kansas ('04) and then playing his final two seasons ('05-06) at the University of Nebraska. Taylor had a decorated career with the Cornhuskers, setting numerous school records and passing for 5850 yards and 45 touchdowns. In his 2006 senior season, he was named Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year after passing for 3197 total yards and leading the Cornhuskers to a 9-3 record, an appearance in the Big 12 Championship Game and a berth in the Cotton Bowl. He was inducted into the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame in 2017.

Taylor joined the Tampa Bay Buccaneers as a college free agent in 2007, but he was waived prior to the start of training camp and never saw NFL action. Later that year, he joined the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League, where he spent one season (did not play).

His father, Sherwood, was a defensive back and captain at the University of Oklahoma, playing under Sooners head coach Barry Switzer from 1976-79. Sherwood Taylor later served as an assistant coach at Oklahoma and Kansas State University. Taylor's younger brother, Press, played quarterback at Marshall University and currently is the offensive coordinator for the Jacksonville Jaguars.

Taylor was born in Norman, Okla., on May 10, 1983. After attending Norman High School, he earned a bachelor's degree in communication studies from the University of Nebraska in 2006. He and his wife, Sarah, have four children — Brooks, Luke, Emma Claire and Milly. Sarah Taylor is the daughter of former Green Bay Packers and Texas A&M head coach Mike Sherman.

John Harbaugh is in his 15th season at the helm in Baltimore. He has led the Ravens to a playoff berth in nine (2008-12, '14, '18-20) of his 14 full seasons, and in 2012, captured the franchise's second Super Bowl championship.

Under Harbaugh's guidance, Baltimore is one of six teams with at least nine playoff berths in the past 14 seasons: New England (12), Green Bay (11), Baltimore (nine), Kansas City (nine), Pittsburgh (nine) and Seattle (nine). In their most recent postseason berth of 2020, the Ravens registered an 11-5 regular-season record before falling in the Divisional Round at Buffalo.

In 2019, Harbaugh became the first Ravens coach ever to win the Associated Press NFL Coach of the Year Award. He led the Ravens to the AFC's No. 1 playoff seed and a franchise-best 14-2 record. Baltimore also won a franchise-record 12-straight games to close out the regular season. In 2018, Baltimore (10-6) captured the AFC North Division title, earning a Wild Card playoff berth vs. the Los Angeles Chargers. In 2014, the Ravens posted a 10-6 record en route to capturing a 30-17 victory at Pittsburgh in the Wild Card round.

In 2012, the Ravens seized the franchise's second Super Bowl championship. Baltimore topped the Colts in the Wild Card round and followed that by earning a Divisional Round victory over top-seeded Denver before advancing to Super Bowl XLVII with a win in the AFC Championship Game at New England. In the Super Bowl in New Orleans, the Ravens bested the San Francisco 49ers by a final of 34-31.

In his initial season with the team (2008), Harbaugh led Baltimore to an 11-5 record and a berth in the AFC Championship Game. Baltimore set an NFL record that season for most total wins (13) by a team with both a rookie head coach and a rookie starting quarterback (Joe Flacco).

Harbaugh spent his first 10 NFL seasons (1998-2007) with the Philadelphia Eagles. He was the team's secondary coach in 2007, after nine seasons as its special teams coordinator. He was voted the 2001 NFL Special Teams Coach of the Year by his coaching peers.

Harbaugh played defensive back at Miami (Ohio) from 1980-83 and earned a degree in political science. He has no pro playing experience. He coached collegiately at Western Michigan (1984-86), Pittsburgh ('87), Morehead State ('88), Cincinnati ('89-96), and Indiana ('97).

Harbaugh was born in Perrysburg, Ohio, on Sept. 23, 1962. He and his wife, Ingrid, have a daughter, Alison.

Harbaugh is the son of longtime college coach Jack. His brother, Jim, is head coach of the University of Michigan and played for the Ravens in 1998. John's sister, Joani, is married to Tom Crean, a longtime college head basketball coach, most recently for the University of Georgia.

Taylor vs. Ravens: The Ravens lead the series, 4-2.

Taylor vs. Harbaugh: Harbaugh leads the series, 4-2.

Harbaugh vs. Bengals: The series is tied, 14-14.

'21 Bengals O boasted young nucleus: During the 2021 regular season, the Bengals became the first team in NFL history with a 4000-yard passer, 1000-yard rusher and two 1000-yard receivers who were all under 26 years old. QB Joe Burrow (25 years old) had 4611 passing yards, HB Joe Mixon (25) had 1205 rushing yards, and Ja'Marr Chase (21) and Tee Higgins (22) had 1455 and 1091 receiving yards, respectively.

The 2006 Bengals were the only other squad in team history with a 4000-yard passer (Carson Palmer), 1000-yard rusher (Rudi Johnson), and two 1000-yard receivers (Chad Johnson and T.J. Houshmandzadeh).

2022 Bengals captains: Head coach Zac Taylor announced the team's captains for the 2022 season, which were decided through a players-only vote. Wearing the captains' patch this year are three offensive players, three defensive players and one special teams representative.

On offense, the captains are third-year QB Joe Burrow, sixth-year HB Joe Mixon and seventh-year C Ted Karras. This is Burrow's third consecutive season as a captain and the second straight for Mixon. Karras, who joined the Bengals as a free agent in March, will serve as a team captain for the second time in his career, after doing so with the Miami Dolphins in 2020.

On defense, the captains are seventh-year S Vonn Bell, fifth-year DE Sam Hubbard and seventh-year DT DJ Reader. Bell has been voted a captain in each of his three seasons with the Bengals, after joining the team as a free agent during the 2020 offseason. It is the second captain nod for Hubbard and the first for Reader.

The lone captain on special teams is S Michael J. Thomas, who is in his ninth NFL season in 2022. Thomas has earned the respect of each locker room he has been in throughout his career, as this year is his seventh as a team captain while playing for four different teams. He held the title with the Miami Dolphins each season from 2015-17, with the N.Y. Giants from 2018-19, and with the Houston Texans in 2020.

Burrow's NFL journey: After being selected No. 1 overall by the Bengals in the 2020 NFL Draft, former Heisman Trophy winner Joe Burrow had one of the most productive starts to a career by a QB in league history, as his 264 completions still count as the most ever by an NFL passer through their first 10 career games, while his 404 pass attempts are the second-most in that same category and his 2588 passing yards are fifth.

In the third quarter of Cincinnati's Week 11 game at Washington, Burrow suffered a season-ending left knee injury, halting a campaign that was on pace to shatter several NFL rookie passing records. He embarked on a rehab process that lasted over eight months and received medical clearance to participate in training camp in 2021.

Shortly after his injury in 2020, Burrow vowed publicly that he would start Cincinnati's '21 season opener. On Sept. 12 vs. Minnesota, not only did he make good on that promise, but he posted then-career highs in passer rating (128.8), completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempt (9.67) in a Bengals OT win.

Burrow in 2021 completed 366 of 520 passes (70.4 percent) for 4611 yards, 34 TDs and 14 INTs (108.3 rating). His passing yardage, TD pass total and passer rating were all single-season team records. And although the NFL season expanded to 17 games in 2021, Burrow sat out the regular-season finale (rest/knee) and thus played in only 16 games.

In the playoffs, he completed 97 of 142 passes (68.3 percent) for 1105 yards, with five TDs and two INTs (97.3 rating), and became the first No. 1 overall draft pick in NFL history to lead his team to a conference championship game (let alone a Super Bowl berth) in either of their first two seasons.

On July 26, the day before the first official training camp practice of 2022, Burrow was forced to undergo surgery to remove his appendix. He remained involved in team meetings and attended practices on a golf cart during a three-week recovery process, before returning to the field on Aug. 14.

Burrow masters the deep ball: With the Bengals facing a third-and-11 at their own 41-yard line in the second quarter of last Thursday night's game vs. Miami, QB Joe Burrow launched a pinpoint pass down the left sideline that was grabbed by WR Tee Higgins and taken in for a 59-yard TD. It marked the 10th TD pass of 50+ yards since Burrow entered the league in 2020, three more than any QB in the NFL in that span.

Six of Burrow's 50+ yard TD passes have come over his last seven regular-season games, dating back to Dec. 19, 2021 at Denver when he hit WR Tyler Boyd for a 56-yard score to give the Bengals the lead late in the third quarter. Burrow and Boyd hooked up again the following week against Baltimore on a 68-yard catch and run to the end zone. In Week 17 against Kansas City, Burrow threw TD passes of 72 and 69 yards to WR Ja'Marr Chase in what was a 446-yard passing day that helped Cincinnati clinch the AFC North Division title.

Burrow also had an NFL-best 15 TD passes of 30 yards or more during the 2021 regular season. The next closest players in that category were Buccaneers QB Tom Brady (eight), Chiefs QB Patrick Mahomes (seven) and then-Seahawks QB Russell Wilson (seven). It counted as a Bengals single-season record, surpassing the previous mark of nine that was shared by Ken Anderson (1973), Boomer Esiason ('89) and Carson Palmer ('06).

In Week 3 of this season at the N.Y. Jets, Burrow connected with Boyd for a 56-yard TD on the final play of the first quarter.

Here is a look at the QBs with the most TD passes of 50 or more yards since the start of the 2020 season:

PLAYER	TEAM	50-YARD TDs
Joe Burrow	Cincinnati Bengals	10
Justin Herbert	L.A. Chargers	7
Matthew Stafford	Detroit Lions/L.A. Rams	7
Russell Wilson	Seattle Seahawks/Denver Broncos	7
Baker Mayfield	Cleveland Browns/Carolina Panthers	6

Burrow surpasses 8000: QB Joe Burrow surpassed 8000 career passing yards in Game 3 at the N.Y. Jets, in what was just his 29th career game. That made him tied for the third-fastest QB in NFL history to reach 8000 passing yards. He is the fastest Bengal ever to 8000 passing yards, 7500 passing yards (27 games), 7000 passing yards (26), 6000 passing yards (23 games), 5000 passing yards (19) and 4000 passing yards (16).

Over the last six regular-season games in which Burrow has been active (inactive in 2021 season finale due to rest), he has passed for 2070 yards and 16 TDs. He also completed 30-plus passes in three consecutive contests before finishing with 24 in Week 2 at Dallas. Burrow has recorded 300 or more passing yards in five of his last nine regular-season appearances. He enters Week 5's matchup at Baltimore with 8398 yards in 30 games.

Here's a look at the fastest QBs in NFL history — in terms of games played — to reach 8000 passing yards:

PLAYER	TEAM	GAMES TO REACH 8000
Patrick Mahomes	Kansas City Chiefs	25
Justin Herbert	L.A. Chargers	28
Kurt Warner	St. Louis Rams	29
Joe Burrow	Cincinnati Bengals	29
Dan Marino	Miami Dolphins	30
Matthew Stafford	Detroit Lions	30

Burrow's college connections: Bengals QB Joe Burrow may only be in his third NFL season in 2022, but he has plenty of familiar faces around him in Cincinnati. The Bengals locker room (active roster and practice squad) currently features seven players who played with Burrow in college at either Ohio State or LSU. He spent the first three seasons of his collegiate career (2015-17) at Ohio State, including a redshirt year in '15, before transferring to LSU for his final two seasons ('18-19).

Bengals assistant wide receivers coach Brad Kragthorpe was also on the LSU coaching staff in 2018, serving as an offensive analyst during Burrow's first year in Baton Rouge.

Here's a look at the Bengals who played with Burrow in college, along with the years they played together:

NAME	POSITION	SCHOOL	SEASONS WITH BURROW
Eli Apple	CB	Ohio State	2015
Vonn Bell	S	Ohio State	2015
Ja'Marr Chase	WR	Louisiana State	2018-19
Sam Hubbard	DE	Ohio State	2015-17
Keandre Jones*	LB	Ohio State	2016-17
Isaiah Prince^	OT	Ohio State	2015-17

Burrow throws 50th career TD: In the fourth quarter of Game 2 at Dallas, QB Joe Burrow capped off a 19-play, 83-yard drive by finding WR Tee Higgins on a scramble drill for the Bengals' first TD of the day. It marked Burrow's 50th career TD pass in just his 28th game, making him tied for the seventh-fastest QB in NFL history to throw for 50 TDs.

The third-year signal caller had 13 TD passes in 10 games as a rookie before suffering a season-ending knee injury. In his sophomore campaign, Burrow set a team record with 34 TD passes, which ranked eighth in the NFL. A league-best 15 of those came from 30 yards or longer. Burrow has thrown at least one TD pass in each of his last 11 regular-season games.

In the past two games, Burrow has thrown for five TDs against zero interceptions, while completing 64.2 percent of his passes (43 of 67). His performance at the N.Y. Jets in Week 2 marked the ninth time in his career — and third time in his last six regular-season games — that he passed for three or more scores.

Earlier in the game-tying drive against the Cowboys, Burrow hooked up with Higgins for 16 yards on a third-and-10 in what was his 1000th career pass attempt.

Coincidentally, former Bengals QB Carson Palmer also passed for his 50th TD in his 28th career game. Palmer did so on Dec. 24, 2005 against the Buffalo Bills.

Here is a look at the fastest QBs in NFL history — in terms of games played — to reach 50 passing TDs.

PLAYER	TEAM	GAMES TO REACH 50
Patrick Mahomes	Kansas City Chiefs	17
Kurt Warner	St. Louis Rams	21

Burrow, Chase earned NFL honors in '21: QB Joe Burrow was awarded the NFL's Comeback Player of the Year for 2021, while WR Ja'Marr Chase earned NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year honors. Both awards were voted on by members of the Associated Press who regularly cover the NFL.

Burrow, a second-year pro in 2021, suffered a season-ending left knee injury 10 games into his rookie season in '20. He was medically cleared to take the first snap of training camp in July 2021, and completed his rehab process in time to start the '21 regular-season opener. Burrow went on to break numerous team records while leading Cincinnati to a 10-7 record, AFC North title, AFC Conference Championship and berth in Super Bowl LVI.

The Bengals used the No. 5 overall pick in the 2021 NFL Draft to select Chase, who was Burrow's top target at Louisiana State. The two picked up where they left off in college, as Chase shattered numerous NFL rookie records, including single-season receiving yardage (in the Super Bowl era), single-game receiving yardage, and postseason receiving yardage. Each of those were also Bengals team records.

Burrow and Chase accepted their awards remotely during the NFL Honors ceremony on Feb. 11, while the team was in Los Angeles preparing for Super Bowl LVI.

Three-headed monster at WR: The Bengals' offense features one of the top receiving trios in the NFL, consisting of seventh-year veteran Tyler Boyd, second-year pro Ja'Marr Chase and third-year pro Tee Higgins.

The three star WRs combined for 3374 receiving yards during the 2021 regular season, the most among any trio of pass catchers in the NFL (second was L.A. Rams — WR Cooper Kupp, TE Tyler Higbee and WR Van Jefferson combined for 3309 yards). Chase finished his rookie campaign with a team-record 1455 receiving yards, which also counted as the most by an NFL rookie during the Super Bowl era (started in 1966), while grabbing 13 TDs. Higgins had 1091 yards and six TDs in just 14 games played — he missed two games early in the season with a shoulder injury, and then was inactive (rest) for the regular-season finale at Cleveland. Boyd added 828 yards and five scores.

Chase (21 years old in 2021) and Higgins (22) became the first duo in league history to post 1000 receiving yards in the same season before the age of 23. It marked the third time in Bengals history in which the team had multiple 1000-yard receivers — WRs Chad Johnson and T.J. Houshmandzadeh did it twice, in 2006 and '07.

Boyd recorded his 11th career game with 100-plus receiving yards in the Week 3 win at the N.Y. Jets, which included a 56-yard catch and run into the end zone on the final play of the first quarter. Considered one of the NFL's premier slot receivers, Boyd had consecutive 1000-yard seasons in 2018 and '19.

Each receiver has recorded at least 10 catches, 200 receiving yards and two receiving TDs this season. The trio was at its best in Week 4 against Miami, led by a seven-catch, 124-yard stat line from Higgins. Boyd had two grabs for 47 yards, including a 43-yard reception on the opening play of the fourth quarter that set up a go-ahead FG. Chase caught four passes for 81 yards, none bigger than his 36-yarder late in the fourth that led to a game-sealing TD three snaps later.

Chase dominant in season opener: WR Ja'Marr Chase caught 10 passes for 129 yards in Week 1 against Pittsburgh, tying for the third-most receptions by a Bengals player in a regular-season opener. It marked his sixth career 100-yard receiving game (regular season) and the second time he logged double-digit receptions. Chase's career high for receptions is 11 against Kansas City on Jan. 2, 2021.

Six of his catches and 71 of his receiving yards came in the second half to help Cincinnati climb back from an 11-point halftime deficit. None were larger than his six-yard TD grab with two seconds remaining that tied the score at 20-20.

Chase followed up with five catches for 54 yards in Week 2 at Dallas. Though he was held to 29 yards in Week 3 at the N.Y. Jets, he did catch a TD on third-and-goal to give the Bengals a 27-9 lead in the third quarter. He finished with four receptions for 81 yards in Week 4 vs. Miami, highlighted by a 36-yard catch down the left sideline with under three minutes remaining that led to a game-clinching TD.

Chase's 293 yards through four games are 14th-most in the NFL. Along with Tee Higgins' 315 yards (12th), the Bengals are one of two teams (Miami) in the NFL with two receivers ranking in the top 15 in receiving yardage.

Chase set Bengals rookie records in '21: WR Ja'Marr Chase in 2021 had perhaps the best statistical season ever by a Bengals rookie regardless of position. Here's a look at the Bengals rookie records that Chase broke during the 2021 regular season. Although the NFL schedule was expanded to 17 games in 2021, Chase broke all of the previous Bengals rookie records in no more than 16 games.

● Chase's 81 receptions topped the previous team rookie record of 67, shared by WRs Cris Collinsworth and Tee Higgins. Chase caught his 68th pass in the 15th game of the season (Dec. 26 vs. Baltimore).

● Chase's 1455 receiving yards topped the previous team rookie record of 1057, held by WR A.J. Green. Chase passed 1057 receiving yards in the 15th game of the season (Dec. 26 vs. Baltimore).

● Chase's 13 receiving TDs topped the previous team rookie record of nine, held by WR Isaac Curtis. Chase caught his ninth receiving TD in just the 13th game of the season (Dec. 12 vs. San Francisco). Curtis' record was set in a 14-game season in 1973.

● Chase's five 100-yard receiving games topped the previous team rookie record of four, held by Green. Chase's fifth 100-yard receiving performance came in the 16th game of the season (Jan. 2 vs. Kansas City).

Higgins heating up: WR Tee Higgins missed most of the season opener against Pittsburgh after suffering a concussion in the second quarter and was held without a target in the opening half of Game 2 at Dallas, but his skill set was on full display over the final 30 minutes while helping the Bengals climb back from a 17-3 deficit.

Higgins finished the half with six catches for 71 yards (11.8 average) and a TD, with two of his receptions coming as third-down conversions to keep Cincinnati drives moving. With 3:51 remaining in the fourth quarter, QB Joe Burrow found Higgins in the end zone to make it a two-point game. He continued his dominance in the first half of Game 3 at the N.Y. Jets, catching five passes for 93 yards (18.6), including a 45-yard grab near the right sideline.

Last Thursday against Miami, Higgins logged a season-high seven catches for 124 yards and a TD. His TD grab came on a third-and-11 in the second quarter, when he beat Pro Bowl CB Xavien Howard down the left sideline and caught a deep ball from Burrow for a 59-yard score. It was the 14th receiving TD of his career.

A second-round pick of the Bengals in 2020, Higgins had 74 catches for 1091 yards and six TDs during the '21 regular season, despite missing three games — Games 3-4 (shoulder), and the regular-season finale (rest). He also had four 100-yard receiving games, including on Dec. 26 vs. Baltimore, when he posted career-highs in catches (12) and receiving yards (194) and scored two TDs.

He continued his production in the postseason, with two 100-yard receiving performances — 103 yards in the AFC Championship at Kansas City, and 100 in Super Bowl LVI vs. the L.A. Rams. His 18 catches in the postseason tied teammate Joe Mixon and former teammate A.J. Green for fourth-most in Bengals history. His 309 receiving yards were fourth-most in team postseason history. His 75-yard TD on the first play of the second half in Super Bowl LVI was the longest play from scrimmage in Bengals postseason history, and he joined TE Dan Ross as the only Bengals ever with multiple TDs in a single postseason game — Higgins had two TDs in the Super Bowl.

Higgins' 315 receiving yards this season are 12th-most in the NFL. He has 960 receiving yards over the last 11 weeks of regular-season football, dating back to Week 12 of the 2021 campaign. That total ranks third leaguewide in that span. It becomes even more impressive when noting that Higgins played in just 10 games over the last 11 weeks, sitting out the 2021 regular-season finale due to rest. His teammate, WR Ja'Marr Chase, has 881 yards in that timeframe, good for fifth-most in the NFL.

Here is a look at the most receiving yards since Week 12 of the 2021 season:

PLAYER	TEAM	YARDS (GAMES PLAYED)
Cooper Kupp	L.A. Rams	1208 (11)
Justin Jefferson	Minnesota Vikings	1065 (11)
Tee Higgins	Cincinnati Bengals	960 (10)
Mark Andrews	Baltimore Ravens	925 (11)
Ja'Marr Chase	Cincinnati Bengals	881 (11)

Tee goes for 100 in three straight: Of WR Tee Higgins' four 100-yard receiving games during the 2021 regular season, three came in consecutive weeks, tying the third-longest such streak in team history. Higgins had 114 yards on Nov. 28 vs. Pittsburgh, 138 on Dec. 5 vs. the L.A. Chargers, and 114 on Dec. 12 vs. San Francisco.

The last Bengal with 100 receiving yards in three straight games was WR A.J. Green, who eventually ran his streak to a team-record five games in 2013.

With four 100-yard receiving games over the final six contests in which he was active during the 2021 regular season (rested for season finale), two 100-yard performances in the postseason, and a 124-yard outing in Week 4 vs. Miami, Higgins has topped 100 yards in seven of his last 14 games.

Here's a look at the longest streaks in Bengals history for consecutive games with at least 100 receiving yards:

PLAYER	YEAR	CONS. GAMES WITH 100+ REC. YDS.
WR A.J. Green	2013	5
WR Carl Pickens	1994	4
WR Isaac Curtis	1973	3
WR Chad Johnson	2002	3
WR Chad Johnson	2006	3
WR T.J. Houshmandzadeh	2007	3
WR Tee Higgins	2021	3

Mixon it up: Bengals HB Joe Mixon has continually shown his ability as a threat in both the running and passing game. In the season opener against Pittsburgh, he rushed for 82 yards on 27 carries to go with a career-high-tying seven receptions for 63 yards, marking the third time in his career that he recorded 60-plus yards both rushing and receiving. He followed that up with 83 combined yards (57 rushing, 26 receiving) in Week 2 at Dallas.

In Week 4 against Miami, Mixon recorded 61 rushing yards on 24 carries and had his first TD of the season, when he capped off the Bengals' opening drive by driving a wall of defensive linemen five yards into the end zone.

Mixon established himself among the NFL's elite HBs in 2021, as his career-high 1205 rushing yards ranked third in the league while his 13 rushing TDs were fourth. The University of Oklahoma product earned his first career Pro Bowl selection.

In 2021, Mixon became one of just four Bengals ever to surpass 4000 career rushing yards and 1000 career receiving yards, joining Corey Dillon, James Brooks and Pete Johnson. Reaching the 4K/1K mark took Mixon just 60 career games, 11 faster than the next-quickest Bengal (Dillon, 71 games). He topped 1000 career receiving yards in the 2021 season opener vs. Minnesota, and then surpassed 4000 rushing yards in Game 10 at Las Vegas.

Mixon enters Week 5 of the 2022 season with 4788 career rushing yards (fifth-most in Bengals history) and 1438 receiving yards.

It took Mixon just 50 games to reach 3000 rushing and 1000 receiving yards, which also was 11 games quicker than the next-fastest Bengal (Brooks, 61).

Here's a look at the fastest players ever to top 4000 career rushing yards and 1000 career receiving yards in a Bengals uniform (it should be noted that Brooks began his career with the San Diego Chargers from 1981-83; however, the data counts only rushing/receiving yardage and games played as a Bengal):

NAME	BENGALS GAMES TO REACH 4K/1K
Joe Mixon	60
Corey Dillon	71
James Brooks	76
Pete Johnson	77

Bengals revamp O-line in 2022: Cincinnati addressed its biggest need in the 2022 offseason, signing three premier offensive linemen to help protect QB Joe Burrow. The Bengals inked G Alex Cappa (formerly with Tampa Bay), OT La'el Collins (Dallas) and C Ted Karras (New England).

Prior to joining Cincinnati, the new additions played in a combined 236 games (regular and postseason), with 174 starts. They also provide a winning pedigree, as Karras helped the New England Patriots win Super Bowl LI and LIII, while Cappa was a key member of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers team that took home Super Bowl LV.

A fifth-year pro out of Humboldt State (now Cal Poly Humboldt), Cappa has started each his last 47 games played from 2019-22. He helped the Buccaneers offensive line allow a league-low 23 sacks in 2021, while the team led the NFL in yards per game (405.9) and passing yards per game (307.6).

Collins is in his eighth NFL season after originally signing with Dallas as a college free agent in 2015. The LSU product quickly became a mainstay on the Cowboys O-line, starting 61 of his first 62 career games before suffering a hip injury that kept him on the Reserve/Injured list for the entire 2020 season. With Collins in the lineup, Dallas ranked in the top five in rushing offense for three straight years (2017-19).

After playing his first three seasons (2016-18) primarily as a reserve, Karras became the Patriots' starting center entering '19 and has started 46 out of 49 games since then. He signed with Miami as a free agent in 2020, spending one season with the Dolphins before returning to New England in '21. He started two games at RG in 2021, then took over the starting LG spot for the remainder of the regular season and one playoff game.

D tightens after the break: Through four games this season, Cincinnati has allowed just six points in the third quarter and 15 in the second half/overtime. Comparatively, the Bengals have given up 55 first-half points.

The Bengals' defensive dominance in the third quarter is a continuation of its 2021 efforts. Cincinnati during the '21 regular season allowed just 40 third-quarter points, the second-fewest in the NFL behind Buffalo. The Bengals outscored their competition 102-40 in the third quarter, good for a plus-62 point differential that was third-best leaguewide behind Buffalo (plus-70) and Green Bay (plus-63).

Cincinnati is one of two teams (Chicago) that have not allowed a TD in the second half this season. The Bengals' six points given up in the third quarter are tied for the fourth-fewest in the league, while their 15 points allowed in the second half/overtime are second-fewest behind Buffalo (seven).

Hendrickson named AFC DPOW: DE Trey Hendrickson was named AFC Defensive Player of the Week for his efforts in the Bengals' Week 3 win at the N.Y. Jets. Hendrickson tallied four tackles, a career-high 2.5 sacks and two forced fumbles.

It marked the first career weekly recognition for Hendrickson, who has established himself as one of the NFL's top pass rushers over the past three seasons. After being held without a sack through Cincinnati's first two contests, he became the first Bengals player since at least 2000 to record two-plus sacks and two-plus forced fumbles in a single game.

One of the headliners of the team's free agency haul in the 2021 offseason, Hendrickson led the Bengals and posted a career high with 14 sacks (fifth in NFL) during the '21 regular season. That total marked the second-most in team history, between DE Carlos Dunlap's 13 in 2015 and DE Coy Bacon's team-record 22 in 1976. (Sacks became an official NFL statistic in 1982, however the Bengals tracked the stat back to '76 and thus recognize Bacon as the record-holder). Hendrickson's production during the 2021 regular season helped him earn his first career Pro Bowl selection.

The sixth-year pro out of Florida Atlantic continued his impressive pace in the 2021 postseason, recording a team-high 3.5 sacks and a forced fumble.

Hendrickson is the first Bengal to win AFC Defensive Player of the Week since DE Carlos Dunlap in Week 17 of 2019. Last season, Bengals players combined to win nine weekly and/or monthly awards.

Here is a look at the NFL sack leaders since the start of the 2020 regular season:

PLAYER	TEAM	SACKS SINCE 2020
T.J. Watt	Pittsburgh	38.5
Myles Garrett	Cleveland	31
Trey Hendrickson	New Orleans/Cincinnati	30
Aaron Donald	L.A. Rams	28
Haason Reddick	Arizona/Carolina/Philadelphia	27

Hubbard a Day 2 draft steal: DE Sam Hubbard, a third-round pick (77th overall) of the Bengals in 2018, ranks second in sacks (25.0) among all players from the '18 rookie class (draft picks and college free agents). He notched his first sack of the 2022 season in the fourth quarter of Game 2 at Dallas, when he brought down QB Cooper Rush for a five-yard loss on third down to force a Cowboys punt. In Game 4 against Miami, Hubbard had four tackles with two for losses.

Players' listed positions vary by media outlet (e.g. whether they're classified as a LB or DE), but according to NFL.com's draft record, Hubbard was the 13th defensive lineman selected in 2018 — five DEs and seven DTs came off the board before him. According to NFL.com, there were a total of 40 defensive linemen (20 DEs, 20 DTs) selected in the 2018 draft, along with 32 linebackers and one player classified as "EDGE."

Hubbard has been the Bengals' starting RDE since 2019, and during the '21 regular season his 7.5 sacks were second on the team. Hubbard's three sacks in the postseason ranked tied for fifth among all players, second on the team, and tied for third-most ever by a Bengal for a postseason career (David Grant and Reggie Williams also had three, Trey Hendrickson has 3.5, and Jason Buck had four).

Hubbard signed a contract extension with the Bengals in July 2021 that keeps him in Cincinnati through the end of the 2025 season.

Here's a look at the career sack leaders from the rookie class of 2018:

PLAYER/POSITION	TEAM	PICK (ROUND)	SACKS
Harold Landry/EDGE	Tennessee	No. 41 (2nd)	31.0
Sam Hubbard/DE	Cincinnati	No. 77 (3rd)	25.0
Bradley Chubb/DE	Denver	No. 5 (1st)	23.5
Marcus Davenport/DE	New Orleans	No. 14 (1st)	21.5
Josh Sweat/DE	Philadelphia	No. 130 (4th)	20.0

Hill stuffs stat sheet in New York: DT B.J. Hill, who spent the first three seasons of his career with the N.Y. Giants, returned to MetLife Stadium in Week 3 and collected four tackles, a half-sack, one forced fumble and two fumble recoveries against the Jets.

It marked the first two fumble recoveries of his career, and each came at key moments in the second half. The first, forced by DE Trey Hendrickson, was recovered by Hill at the Jets' 24-yard line less than a minute into the third quarter. Cincinnati cashed in with a TD four plays later. In the early stages of the fourth quarter, with New York at the Bengals' 14 yard-line looking to make it a one-possession game, Hill got to QB Joe Flacco, knocked the ball free and recovered it. The offense followed with a 13-play drive that drained 7:48 of game clock.

He followed up with five tackles and a batted-down pass at the line of scrimmage in Week 4 against Miami.

Hill has been a productive interior defender for Cincinnati since being acquired in a trade with the Giants shortly before the 2021 season. He notched 5.5 sacks (fourth on team) as a reserve DT during the regular season, and alongside DT DJ Reader he helped the Bengals' run defense rank fifth in the NFL (102.5 yards/game allowed). Hill was thrust into the starting role heading into the Wild Card Playoff and ended up making one of the signature plays of Cincinnati's postseason run, when he picked off Chiefs QB Patrick Mahomes in the third quarter of the AFC Championship Game.

Wilson among elite young LBs: Third-year LB Logan Wilson recorded his first INT of the 2022 season in Game 3 at the N.Y. Jets, when he dropped back into deep coverage and picked off a throw by QB Joe Flacco over the middle before returning it 47 yards in the second quarter. Head coach Zac Taylor after the game said it "took him back to his receiver and safety days," as Wilson was an all-state WR and defensive back at Natrona County High School in Wyoming.

Wilson this season leads the team in tackles (26) and has two passes defensed. The University of Wyoming product emerged as one of the league's top young linebackers in 2021, when he led the Bengals in tackles (98) and INTs (four) in just his second pro season. His four picks also tied for the most among all NFL LBs, and were the most by a Bengals LB since 2005 (Odell Thurman, five). Consider also that Wilson missed three games (Games 13-15) with a right shoulder injury, and then was inactive (rest) for the season finale at Cleveland. In the 12 full regular-season games in which he was healthy (was injured in first half of Game 12), Wilson led the Bengals in tackles six times.

His strong play continued into the postseason, as he played all 274 possible snaps in Cincinnati's four-game run. His 39 tackles not only led all NFL players — they were the most by any player in a single postseason since Baltimore's Ray Lewis (51) in 2012. Wilson made numerous key plays throughout the postseason, including an INT with 20 seconds remaining in the Divisional Playoff at Tennessee, which gave the ball back to the Bengals' offense and helped set up K Evan McPherson's 52-yard game-winning FG as time expired. He also tackled Titans TB Derrick Henry for a loss on a fourth-and-one in the fourth quarter of that same contest, thwarting a Titans drive that had reached Cincinnati's 35-yard line and giving the Bengals the ball back in what was a tie game.

Since entering the league in 2020, Wilson has recorded seven INTs, the most by any LB. Here is a look at the INT leaders among linebackers since the start of the 2020 regular season:

PLAYER	TEAM	INTs SINCE 2020
Logan Wilson	Cincinnati	7
Eric Kendricks	Minnesota	5
Foye Oluokun	Atlanta/Jacksonville	5

Bengals secondary is airtight: Cincinnati in Week 4 held Dolphins QBs Tua Tagovailoa and Teddy Bridgewater to a combined 59.5 completion percentage (22 of 37) for 303 yards with one TD and two INTs. Tagovailoa had a 52.7 passer rating before leaving the game in the second quarter due to a concussion, and Bridgewater posted a rating of 84.1, continuing a dominant trend for the Bengals that began during the 2021 postseason.

Dating back to the Wild Card Playoff on Jan. 15 against Las Vegas, the Bengals have held eight consecutive starting QBs — and nine consecutive QBs overall — to a passer rating of 100 or lower. The stat becomes more impressive when considering that two of those QBs — Las Vegas' Derek Carr and Kansas City's Patrick Mahomes — ranked in the top 10 leaguewide in passer rating during the 2021 regular season. Also, eight of the nine signal callers did not eclipse 300 passing yards, and four were limited to under 20 completions.

Over the past eight games (2021 postseason, plus four games in '22 regular season), the Bengals have held opposing QBs to a 59.0 completion percentage (186 of 315), while collecting 12 INTs to just 11 pass TDs allowed.

Corners stepped up in '21 postseason: Each of the three veteran CBs signed by the Bengals during the 2021 offseason — Eli Apple, Chidobe Awuzie and Mike Hilton — made critical plays during the team's run to Super Bowl LVI.

Awuzie contributed to a stalwart defensive effort in the second half of the AFC Championship at Kansas City, as the Bengals limited the high-powered Chiefs offense to just 66 yards and six points. He led the Cincinnati secondary with eight tackles. Two weeks later, he played all but two snaps in Super Bowl LVI, and on the Rams' first offensive play of the second half picked off a pass from QB Matthew Stafford to set up a Bengals FG drive.

Hilton came through with back-to-back memorable plays in the third quarter of the AFC Divisional at Tennessee, starting with a chase-down tackle of RB D'Onta Foreman on a 45-yard run that prevented a TD. On the very next snap, he batted a pass from QB Ryan Tannehill into the air and intercepted it (19-yard return) to thwart a Titans goal-to-go scoring opportunity.

Apple made one of the signature plays of the team's postseason run with five seconds left before halftime of the AFC Championship at Kansas City. With the ball at the Bengals' one-yard line and the Chiefs leading 21-10, he tackled WR Tyreek Hill in the flat and forced the remaining clock to expire. The tackle is largely credited for providing a momentum shift going into halftime, as Cincinnati roared back in the third quarter with 11 unanswered points.

The CB trio helped limit opponents to 272 passing yards per game and a combined 77.2 passer rating in the postseason. Cincinnati's eight INTs in the postseason were the most by any team since Green Bay in 2010.

Answering the Bell: S Vonn Bell, who entered the Week 4 matchup against Miami with two INTs in 96 regular-season games, collected two more to help lead the Bengals to a Thursday Night Football win over the previously unbeaten Dolphins.

His first pick came late in the first quarter, when he undercut a deep ball thrown by QB Tua Tagovailoa over the middle. In the fourth quarter, with Miami driving to potentially take the lead as the clock ticked below four minutes remaining, Bell picked off QB Teddy Bridgewater at the Bengals' nine-yard line and returned it 46 yards. That set up the Cincinnati offense with a short field, that was converted into a game-clinching TD five plays later. Bell added four solo tackles and two PDs in what was a career night.

The seventh-year pro has had a strong start to the 2022 season, including a key forced fumble in the third quarter of Week 2 at Dallas. Since joining the Bengals as an unrestricted free agent prior to the 2020 season, Bell has forced seven fumbles, tying for the eighth-most in the NFL and third-most by a defensive back in that timeframe.

Bell has earned a reputation as one of Cincinnati's most consistent players and a trusted leader. Much of that status comes from his remarkable availability, as Bell began his Bengals tenure by playing every snap in his first 20 games with the team. His consecutive snaps streak was broken on Oct. 17, 2021, when the starters were rested late in the fourth quarter of a 34-11 win at Detroit.

And although he missed more snaps throughout the year, including all of Game 17 at Cleveland while on the Reserve/COVID list, Bell still led Cincinnati's defense in snaps played (1004 of 1124) during the regular season. In his now 40 games played (regular season and playoffs) for the Bengals, he has seen action on 2595 of 2717 possible defensive snaps (95.5 percent), including all 266 through four contests in 2022.

Bell has been voted a team captain in each of his three seasons with the Bengals. He led the team in tackles (114) in 2020, before ranking second in that category (97) in '21.

With his two INTs against Miami and a pick on Dec. 26, 2021 vs. Baltimore, Bell has three INTs in his last six regular-season games, after recording one in his previous 91 career appearances.

Mr. Reliable wears No. 30: Jessie Bates earned a starting S spot midway through his first preseason in Cincinnati, and he hasn't looked back since. The 2018 second-round pick started 51 straight games to begin his Bengals career — that's three full seasons plus three games — until a neck injury ended his streak in the fourth game of 2021 (Sept. 30 vs. Jacksonville). He missed just that one game before returning to the starting lineup the next week, and then started all but one game (pre-playoff rest) thereafter in 2021.

Still, Bates' streak of 51 tied for the sixth-most consecutive starts by a player to begin their career as a Bengal, and the second-most by a defender. Had he started the Jacksonville game, he would have tied former LB Takeo Spikes (52) for most starts to begin a career by a Bengals defender.

Over his first four-plus pro seasons, Bates has steadily established himself as one of the NFL's elite players at his position. Since entering the league in 2018, his 420 total tackles rank 23rd leaguewide and third among defensive backs. He logged 100-plus tackles each of his first three seasons, and although that number dipped to 88 in the 2021 regular season (did not play in two games), he stepped up in the postseason with a team-leading two INTs and six PDs.

Bates grabbed his first INT of the 2022 season in Game 3 at the N.Y. Jets, when a tipped pass thrown by QB Joe Flacco fell into his hands at the Cincinnati three-yard line with 57 seconds left, sealing the Bengals win. He logged a season-high six solo tackles and a PD in Game 4 against Miami.

McPherson breaks own team record: K Evan McPherson, who quickly became a fan-favorite in Cincinnati during his rookie season in 2021, notched another historic mark in the '22 regular-season opener against Pittsburgh. McPherson kicked a team-record 59-yard field goal in the first quarter to put the Bengals on the board, breaking the previous record of 58 yards that he hit on Dec. 19, 2021 at Denver.

It marked a continuation of some notable performances from training camp and preseason, as McPherson showed no signs of rust coming out of his rookie year. In three preseason games, McPherson hit nine of 10 FG attempts, with three coming from 50-plus yards. On Aug. 12 against Arizona, converted FGs of 58 and 56 yards just in the second quarter. His nine FGs tied for the league lead during preseason, while his 31 points accounted for (made four PATs) were third-most. In the Bengals' "Back Together Saturday" practice on July 30 at Paycor Stadium, McPherson closed out the afternoon by kicking a 65-yard FG in front of an announced crowd of 28,283.

He grabbed another spot on the team's all-time chart in Week 4 vs. Miami, as his 57-yarder in the fourth quarter tied Randy Bullock for the third-longest FG in Bengals history.

Here is a look at the longest made FGs in Bengals history:

PLAYER	DATE	OPPONENT	FG DISTANCE
Evan McPherson	Sept. 11, 2022	vs. Pittsburgh Steelers	59
Evan McPherson	Dec. 19, 2021	at Denver Broncos	58
Randy Bullock	Dec. 22, 2019	at Miami Dolphins	57
Evan McPherson	Sept. 29, 2022	vs. Miami Dolphins	57
Chris Bahr	Sept. 23, 1979	vs. Houston Oilers	55
Mike Nugent	Nov. 25, 2012	vs. Oakland Raiders	55
Randy Bullock	Oct. 18, 2020	at Indianapolis Colts	55

Mac is money from deep: K Evan McPherson has quickly earned a reputation for being one of the NFL's top kickers from long range. The second-year pro out of Florida is 12 of 14 on FG attempts of 50 or more yards, making him already the Bengals' career leader in 50-plus yard FGs. Even more impressive is that he reached the top of Cincinnati's career chart in that category just 14 games into his rookie season, breaking the previous record of eight.

Referred to by fans as "Money Mac," McPherson made an NFL-best nine FGs of 50 or more yards during the 2021 regular season, and fell just one shy of tying the NFL record for most 50-plus yarders. His nine such FGs were more than double the previous team record for a single season (four, by K Horst Muhlmann in 1970).

In Week 4 against Miami, McPherson nailed a 57-yard kick in the fourth quarter, his second FG of the night. It marked his 12th FG of 50 or more yards in just his 20th regular-season game, tying Minnesota's Blair Walsh (2012-13) for an NFL record.

Here is a look at the most 50-plus yarders through a player's first 20 career games in NFL history:

PLAYER	TEAM	50-PLUS YARD KICKS
Blair Walsh	Minnesota	12
Evan McPherson	Cincinnati	12
Joey Slye	Carolina	8
Chase McLaughlin	LAC/Ind./Jax./Cle.	7
Greg Zuerlein	St. Louis	7

McPherson's rookie roundup: K Evan McPherson took the league by storm in his rookie season, putting together one of the most memorable seasons by a first-year kicker in NFL history. He started it off in style, by booting a game-winning 33-yard FG as time expired in OT to give the Bengals a Week 1 victory over Minnesota on Sept. 12.

At the time of his game-winner, he was 22 years and 53 days old (born 7-21-99), making him the youngest player in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG in overtime. It also made him just the second rookie kicker in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG with no time remaining in OT (the other was Miami K Jason Sanders on 2018).

McPherson went on to make 28 of his 33 FGs and 46 of 48 PATs during the 2021 regular season. Some of his highlights included an NFL-best nine FGs of 50 or more yards, which fell just one shy of tying the NFL rookie record (Blair Walsh kicked 10 in 2012). In a sign of things to come, his first NFL FG was a 53-yarder in the season opener vs. Minnesota. On Nov. 21 at Las Vegas, he tied a single-game NFL record with three FGs of at least 50 yards (54, 53 and 51). For perspective, there were only four instances prior to 2021 in which a Bengals kicker made as many as three 50-plus yarders in a full season. On Dec. 19 at Denver, he nailed a then-Bengals-record 58-yard FG as time expired in the first half.

The rookie sensation found a way to best his regular-season production during the Bengals' postseason run to Super Bowl LVI. Over the four-game stretch, he was a perfect 20-for-20 on placekicks, making all 14 of his FG attempts and all six of his PATs. No kicker in NFL history had previously been perfect on as many as 11 FGs in a single postseason. In his postseason debut, the AFC Wild Card Playoff vs. Las Vegas, McPherson set team postseason records for points (14) and FGs (four) in a game. In the following week's Divisional Playoff at Tennessee, he hit four more FGs, including a 52-yard game-winner as time expired in regulation — making him the first rookie kicker in NFL postseason history to kick a game-winning FG with no time remaining in the fourth quarter or overtime.

He matched that performance the next week in the AFC Championship at Kansas City, with four FGs including a 31-yarder in overtime that won the game and sent Cincinnati to the Super Bowl.

McPherson's 14 FGs tied former Colts K Adam Vinatieri (2006) for the most in a single postseason in NFL history. K Jim Breech (nine) held the previous Bengals record in that category. McPherson's 48 points are already the second-most by a Bengal for an entire postseason career, trailing Breech, who amassed 52 points in nine games.

Huber breaks prestigious record: P Kevin Huber, a 2009 Bengals fifth-round pick in his 14th NFL season, played in his 208th career game for Cincinnati in the regular-season opener against Pittsburgh, breaking a tie with former CB Ken Riley for the most in team history. Riley's record had stood since his retirement in 1983, before Huber matched it in the 2021 regular-season finale.

Huber also passed QB Ken Anderson (192 games) and LB Reggie Williams (206) in 2021.

Not far behind Huber on the list is LS Clark Harris, who played in his 202nd game for the Bengals in Week 1 before suffering a biceps injury in the fourth quarter. Harris, a 14th-year veteran who has snapped to Huber since joining Cincinnati midway through the 2009 season, was placed on the Reserve/Injured list on Sept. 12. He stands fourth in career games as a Bengal, and last season passed Pro Football Hall of Famer Anthony Munoz (185), DT Tim Krumrie (188) and Anderson (192).

Here's a look at the players with the most career games played as a Bengal (regular season only):

PLAYER, YEARS WITH TEAM	CAREER GAMES AS A BENGAL
P Kevin Huber, 2009-present	211
CB Ken Riley, 1969-83	207
LB Reggie Williams, 1976-85	206
LS Clark Harris, 2009-present	202
QB Ken Anderson, 1971-86	192
DT Tim Krumrie, 1983-94	188
OT Anthony Munoz, 1980-92	185

The Huber roundup: P Kevin Huber, who is a Cincinnati native and played at the University of Cincinnati, has long been considered the top punter in Bengals history. He has cemented that legacy in recent years by taking over the top spot in the few remaining career punting categories he did not already own.

Huber stands first in the following team categories (regular season):
● Punts (995).
● Punting yards (45,121).
● Gross average (45.35).
● Net average (40.44).
● Inside-20 punts (343).

Huber also has many of the Bengals' single-season and single-game records. Among them are:
● He holds the top five Bengals season averages in both gross and net punting yardage, and in 2020, his 12th NFL season, he re-set his own single-season team records in both categories (47.18 gross, 42.82 net).
● He shares the team record for longest punt (75 yards) with Kyle Larson.
● His 33 inside-20 punts in 2012 is a single-season franchise record.
● His six inside-20 punts on Sept. 14, 2017 vs. Houston are tied with Lee Johnson (Nov. 2, 1997) for the most in a game in Bengals history.

Huber also has been a part of seven Bengals playoff teams (2009, '11-15 and '21) and owns nearly every career postseason punting record in team history. Among those are:
● Total punts (42).
● Punting yards (1879).
● Gross average (44.74).
● Net average (41.29).
● Inside-20 punts (14).

2022 draft class overview: Cincinnati's six-player draft class in April featured three defensive backs, two defensive linemen and one offensive lineman. The group played in a combined 288 games during their collegiate careers.

Here's a closer look at Cincinnati's 2022 draft class:
● S Dax Hill, Michigan (Round 1, Pick 31): Hill was one of the fastest players in this year's draft (4.38-second 40-yard dash at the NFL Combine) and brings a highly touted versatility to the Bengals' secondary. A first-team All-Big Ten selection as a junior last season, he totaled 42 tackles, including 4.5 for losses, with two INTs and eight PDs. Hill has the ability to line up as a nickel CB or a deep safety. He had an impressive preseason, playing in the first two games and registering seven tackles, two PDs and an INT. Hill made his regular-season career debut in Game 1 against the Steelers, and started for the first time in Game 3 at the N.Y. Jets. He did not record any stats.

● CB Cam Taylor-Britt, Nebraska (Round 2, Pick 60): Cincinnati took a defensive back with each of its first two picks for the first time in team history when it selected the speedy Taylor-Britt out of head coach Zac Taylor's alma mater, Nebraska. He totaled a career-high 51 tackles in 12 starts last season, and is known for his high energy and elite athleticism. After suffering a core injury during training camp, Taylor-Britt was placed on the Reserve/Injured list and missed the first four weeks of the regular season, but Zac Taylor has expressed optimism in the second-rounder's recovery process to this point.
● DT Zach Carter, Florida (Round 3, Pick 95): Carter had success lining up on the edge and at the three technique at Florida, where he collected 13 sacks over his final two seasons. Defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo has indicated Carter will play both on the interior of the defensive line and on the outside. He provides a valuable depth piece and possesses athleticism for his size. Carter has seen action on 51 defensive snaps over the past two games, recording three assisted tackles.
● G Cordell Volson, North Dakota State (Round 4, Pick 136): The first and only offensive player taken by the Bengals in the 2022 draft, Volson earned the starting role at LG during training camp. He brings a winning pedigree from an elite FCS program at North Dakota State, where he won four national championships and played in a program-record 65 career games. He has lined up for each of the Bengals' 302 offensive snaps through four games this season.
● S Tycen Anderson, Toledo (Round 5, Pick 166): Anderson tallied 131 tackles and 16 PDs in a five-year career at Toledo, but his earliest contributions with the Bengals may come via special teams, an area he excelled in college. As a defensive back, he relies on his size (6-2, 209) and natural speed (4.26 40-time). In Cincinnati's second preseason contest at the N.Y. Giants, Anderson recorded seven tackles (six solos). Anderson suffered a hamstring injury during preseason and was placed on the Reserve/Injured list on Sept. 2.
● DE Jeff Gunter, Coastal Carolina (Round 7, Pick 93): Bengals coaches were pleased to get Gunter in the seventh round, given his knack for rushing the passer and causing turnovers. A three-time All-Sun Belt Conference selection, he recorded 18 career sacks, nine FFs and two blocked FG attempts. In his career debut Week 1 vs. Pittsburgh, Gunter saw action on 20 special teams plays. He lined up for seven defensive snaps in Game 3 at the N.Y. Jets.

Four Bengals listed on "Top 100": For the 12th consecutive year, current NFL players have voted to determine the top 100 players in the NFL, with the final list revealed throughout August on NFL Network.

Cincinnati was represented by four players in 2022 — QB Joe Burrow (No. 21), WR Ja'Marr Chase (No. 24), HB Joe Mixon (No. 38) and DE Trey Hendrickson (No. 78). It marks the team's second-most selections on a Top 100 list — there were seven Bengals included in 2016.

Burrow, Chase and Mixon made their Top 100 debuts, while Hendrickson made his second appearance after checking in at No. 73 on the 2021 list. Burrow's ranking at No. 21 is the fifth-highest by a Bengal, as WR A.J. Green was listed in the top 20 four times from 2013-17.

Bengals home now called Paycor Stadium: Cincinnati's Week 1 game against Pittsburgh was the first regular-season contest in newly named Paycor Stadium.

The Bengals and Cincinnati-based Paycor expanded their partnership to include stadium naming rights, further strengthening their shared vision and commitment to the Cincinnati community and driving increased national awareness for both organizations.

Paycor, a leading human capital management (HCM) company, is a cornerstone partner of the Bengals, and has served as the team's official and exclusive HR software provider since 2018. Paycor has been headquartered in Cincinnati for over 30 years and recently celebrated one year as a public company following a July 2021 IPO.

The Bengals and Paycor hosted a ribbon-cutting ceremony at the stadium on Tuesday, Sept. 6 to unveil new branding and celebrate the partnership. Paycor Stadium branding will continue to be integrated throughout the stadium in the coming months.

The stadium was previously called Paul Brown Stadium, named after one of football's most influential coaches and the founder of the Bengals.

"This is a move that I think my father would have agreed to. He was always for what is best for the team," said Bengals President Mike Brown, son of Paul Brown. "This allows the Bengals to continue to compete at the highest level in the NFL and exemplifies our long-term commitment to the community."

Record crowd at Paycor: Cincinnati defeated the Miami Dolphins in Week 4 in front of a paid attendance of 67,260, marking the largest home crowd in Bengals history. The figure surpassed the previous record of 66,277 set in the Wild Card Playoff against the Las Vegas Raiders on Jan. 15, 2022.

The Paycor Stadium attendance in the season opener vs. Pittsburgh on Sept. 11 was announced at 65,841. The last time the Bengals had an attendance of more than 65,000 in consecutive regular-season home games was the 2015 season, when Cincinnati faced Seattle in Week 5 (65,004) and Cleveland in Week 9 (65,816).

Here is a look at the largest home crowds in Bengals franchise history:

DATE	OPPONENT	RESULT	ATTENDANCE
Sept. 29, 2022	Miami	W, 27-15	67,260
Jan. 15, 2022*	Las Vegas*	W, 26-19	66,277
Oct. 28, 2007	Pittsburgh	L, 13-24	66,188
Oct. 1, 2007	New England	L, 13-34	66,113
Dec. 22, 2014	Denver	W, 37-28	66,107

Anderson, Curtis join Bengals Ring of Honor: Bengals legends Willie Anderson and Isaac Curtis were inducted into the team's Ring of Honor at halftime of Game 4 against Miami. They joined the inaugural Ring of Honor class inducted last season, which included QB Ken Anderson, team founder/head coach Paul Brown, OT Anthony Munoz and CB Ken Riley.

Regarded as the best right offensive tackle of his era, Anderson played in 182 games (regular and postseason) for Cincinnati from 1996-2007. A four-time Pro Bowler, his 181 regular-season contests are tied for the eighth-most in team history. He blocked for HB Corey Dillon's two NFL-record setting games — an NFL rookie record 246 rushing yards vs. the Tennessee Oilers in 1997 (since broken), and an NFL record 278 rushing yards vs. the Denver Broncos in 2000 (since broken). He also helped set the club record for fewest sacks allowed twice — 21 in 2005 and 17 in '07.

Considered a game-changing wide receiver in his era, Curtis played from 1973-84 and still holds the Bengals record for average yards per reception (17.07). The four-time Pro Bowler ranks third in team history in both career receiving yards (7101) and 100-yard games (20), and is fourth in receiving TDs (53).

Season Ticket Members selected Anderson and Curtis from a ballot that featured 15 individuals who have played a significant role in the franchise's history and tradition.

Bengals President Mike Brown on the 2022 inductees: "These are two of our finest all-time players. Willie was as good a right offensive tackle as you could draw up. He had it all — strength, movement and attitude. Isaac had incredible speed along with great hands. This is evidence for how our fans felt about Isaac during his career. They knew he was special. The Bengals are fortunate to have both of these outstanding players in the Ring of Honor."

In addition to his spot in the Bengals Ring of Honor, Ken Riley has also been elected as one of three senior nominees for the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Riley, who passed away in June 2020 at age 72 after playing cornerback for the Bengals from 1969-83, was chosen from the senior committee's list of 12 finalists. To become a member of the 2023 Hall of Fame class, he will need to receive 80 percent of the vote from the regular committee when it meets in February.

Willie Anderson was included among the 129 modern-era nominees for the Pro Football Hall of Fame's 2023 class, which were announced on Sept. 20. That list will be cut to 25 semifinalists in November, before 15 finalists are revealed in early January. In 2022, Anderson was a finalist for the first time in his ninth year of eligibility.

Super Bowl LVI viewership: The Bengals' Feb. 13 matchup with the L.A. Rams in Super Bowl LVI averaged a total audience delivery (TAD) of 112.3 million viewers across NBC, Telemundo, Peacock, NBC Sports Digital, NFL Digital platforms and Yahoo Sports mobile properties. That ranked as the most-watched show in five years — since the Patriots and Falcons met in Super Bowl LI in February 2017 (113.7 million TAD on Fox).

Super Bowl LVI viewership on NBC peaked at 104.4 million from 7:45-8 p.m. Eastern. The game, which ran from 6:35-10:09 p.m. Eastern, averaged 99.3 million viewers on NBC. Telemundo became the first-ever Spanish-language broadcast network to air the Super Bowl and averaged 1.9 million viewers — by far the most-watched NFL game in U.S. Spanish-language history.

The game also counted as the most-streamed Super Bowl ever. The average minute audience (AMA) for the Super Bowl live stream via Peacock, NBC Sports Digital platforms, NFL Digital platforms, Rams and Bengals mobile properties, and Yahoo Sports mobile properties was 6.0 million, according to the traditional counting of streaming (which is the comparable metric to the previous year's 5.7 million). The delivery rises to 11.2 million AMA viewers, which takes into account co-viewing from connected devices.

Super Bowl LVI also served as the lead-in to NBC's live prime-time coverage of the Beijing Olympics, which averaged a TAD of 24.0 million viewers.

Cincinnati was the top metered market (out of 44 available) for Super Bowl LVI, with a 46.1/84 rating. Detroit (45.9/79), Pittsburgh (45.6/74), Columbus (45.4/80) and Kansas City (44.6/76) rounded out the top five markets. Los Angeles (36.7/77) was not in the top 10.

The Bengals' Sept. 18 game at Dallas garnered 27.5 million viewers (TV + digital streaming), making it the most-watched game in the NFL this season entering Week 4.

Bengal bites: Since 2011, the Bengals own a 60-6-2 record in the regular season when scoring 25 or more points ... Cincinnati's Week 2 game against the Dallas Cowboys at AT&T Stadium had an attendance figure of 92,944, marking the largest crowd the Bengals have played in front of in team history ... WR Tee Higgins' 75-yard TD reception 12 seconds into the third quarter of Super Bowl LVI tied for the quickest second half score in Super Bowl history (Percy Harvin, KOR TD in Super Bowl XLVIII) ... WR Tyler Boyd's 56-yard TD catch from QB Joe Burrow on Dec. 19 at Denver was the 2000th TD in Bengals history ... According to the NFL's Next Gen Stats service, which tracks players' speed by using GPS, the fastest speed by a Bengals ball-carrier in 2022 came from HB Joe Mixon, who reached 21.11 MPH on a 31-yard run in Game 1 vs. Pittsburgh, the seventh-fastest speed by any player through Week 4 ... The longest-tenured player on the active roster in 2022 is P Kevin Huber, a 14th-year pro who joined the Bengals as a fifth-round pick in 2009 ... The oldest Bengal on the roster is also Huber, who is 37 (born July 16, 1985) ... The youngest Bengal on the roster is S Dax Hill, who is 21 (born Sept. 29, 2000) ... The lightest Bengal on the roster is WR Trent Taylor, who is listed at 181 pounds ... The heaviest Bengal is DT Josh Tupou, who is listed at 340 pounds ... There is a tie for the tallest Bengal between G Max Scharping and G Cordell Volson, who are both listed at 6-6 ... There is also a tie for the shortest player on the roster between WR Trent Taylor and HB Trayveon Williams, who are both 5-8.

POSITION BY POSITION

Quarterbacks: Third-year pro Joe Burrow is coming off perhaps the best season by a QB in Bengals history in 2021. Burrow during the regular season completed 366 of 520 pass attempts for 4611 yards (sixth in the NFL), 34 TDs (eighth) and 14 INTs. He led the league in completion percentage (70.4) and yards per attempt (8.87), while ranking second in passer rating (108.3). His passing yards total, passing TDs and rating each set a new single-season team record. After suffering a season-ending knee injury 10 games into his rookie season, and undergoing an extensive rehab process, Burrow returned for the 2021 season opener and led Cincinnati to an OT win against Minnesota with then-career highs in passer rating (128.8) completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempt (9.6). In Game 15 vs. Baltimore, he threw for a Bengals-record 525 yards (fourth-most in NFL history) and four TDs. He followed that performance the next week with 426 passing yards and four more TDs against the Kansas City Chiefs to help Cincinnati clinch the AFC North Division title. Burrow's 971 combined passing yards in Weeks 16-17 were the second-most ever by a QB in consecutive games (Dak Prescott, 974 yards in 2020), and it made him the first QB in NFL history with at least 400 yards, four TDs and no INTs in consecutive games. He was instrumental in the team's run to Super Bowl LVI, completing 97 of 142 passes (68.3 percent) for 1105 yards and five TDs over four postseason games. He was named the NFL's Comeback Player of the Year, becoming the second player in Bengals history to win the award (QB Jon Kitna, 2003). Burrow underwent surgery to remove his appendix early in training camp and returned to practice on Aug. 14, but did not play during preseason. In the regular-season opener vs. Pittsburgh, Burrow completed 33 of 53 passes (62.2 percent) for 338 yards and two TDs, while also rushing six times for a career-high 47 yards. In Week 2 at Dallas, he threw his 50th career touchdown pass to WR Tee Higgins in the fourth quarter. Burrow in Week 3 helped lead the Bengals to a road win over the N.Y. Jets with 275 passing yards and three TDs. Burrow threw for two TDs in a Week 4 win against Miami, including a season-long 59-yard TD pass to Tee Higgins in the second quarter. Next on the depth chart is sixth-year veteran Brandon Allen, who started six games for the Bengals in his first two seasons with the team (2020-21). He took over the starting role late in 2020 after Burrow suffered a season-ending knee injury, and was behind center in the '21 regular-season finale as the team rested Burrow with a spot in the postseason already clinched. Allen joined the Bengals in August of 2020, and began that season on the practice squad as the team's "quarantine QB" that was kept away from the rest of the QBs at practice/meetings in case they could not play due to COVID-19. In 11 regular-season games with the Bengals, he has completed 107 of 176 passes (60.8 percent) for 1074 yards, with seven TDs and four INTs. After leaving the preseason opener against Arizona in the first quarter with a concussion, Allen started at the N.Y. Giants and played through the opening drive of the third quarter. He completed 14 of 20 passes for 105 yards, finishing with a quarterback rating of 82.3. Allen followed that up by going 11 of 15 for 130 yards in the preseason finale vs. the L.A. Rams.

Running backs: Leading the Bengals' running back room is sixth-year pro Joe Mixon, who returned to action in 2021 after his '20 campaign was limited to just six games due to a right foot injury. Mixon turned in perhaps his best pro season yet, posting career-highs in rushing yards (1205), rushing TDs (13) and rushing attempts (292). His rushing yardage total ranked third in NFL, his rushing TDs total was fourth, and his rushing attempts total was third. Mixon also caught 42 passes for 314 yards and three TDs during the regular season. His 16 total TDs tied for second-most in a single season in team history, and fell just one shy of WR Carl Pickens' record of 17 set in 1995. In the postseason, Mixon rushed for a league-leading 262 yards on 67 carries with one TD. He finished with 90 more rushing yards than the next closest player in that category (L.A. Rams' Cam Akers, 172). 2021 marked Mixon's third season of 1000 or more rushing yards, and saw him earn his first career Pro Bowl selection. He signed a contract extension in 2020 that keeps him in Cincinnati through the '24 season. In Week 1 against the Steelers, Mixon had 27 carries for 82 yards while also tying his career high in receptions with seven for 63 yards. He scored his first TD of the season on the opening drive in the Week 4 win against Miami, and finished with 61 yards on 24 carries. Fifth-year pro Samaje Perine, who also shared a backfield with Mixon in college at Oklahoma, is in his fourth Bengals season after beginning his career with Washington. During the 2021 regular season, Perine had 55 carries for 246 yards and one TD, and 27 catches for 196 yards and one TD. At 5-11, 240 pounds, Perine brings size and a physical rushing style, and he's also used extensively on special teams. In the AFC Championship at Kansas City, Perine scored Cincinnati's first TD of the day when he took a screen pass 43 yards to the end zone, trimming an 18-point Chiefs lead to 11. In Game 3 at the N.Y. Jets, he rushed for 47 yards on nine carries, his most yards on the ground since Week 7 of the 2021 season. Eight of those attempts came during a key 13-play drive in the fourth quarter, when Mixon was sidelined due to an ankle injury. Perine also opened the scoring with a 12-yard receiving TD on the Bengals' first drive. The next HB on Cincinnati's depth chart is Chris Evans, a second-year pro out of the University of Michigan. A sixth-round pick in the 2021 draft, Evans earned a roster spot last season and saw his playing time increase throughout his rookie campaign. He is known for his receiving ability out of the backfield, and during the 2021 regular season had 15 catches for 151 yards and two TDs, along with 17 carries for 77 yards. Trayveon Williams, in his fourth season with the Bengals, has played in 26 career games and totaled 208 rushing yards on 41 attempts as well as six catches for 34 yards. Williams spent time on the practice squad last season and was on the active roster for five games. He had a team-high nine carries for 28 yards and a TD in the second preseason contest at the N.Y. Giants.

Wide receivers: The top of the Bengals' wide receiver depth chart features one of the most explosive pass-catching trios in the NFL in Tyler Boyd, Ja'Marr Chase and Tee Higgins. Boyd, a seventh-year pro, is considered a premier slot receiver that poses a challenge for nickel corners with his size (6-2, 203). He has 398 career catches for 4726 yards and 26 TDs, and led the team in receptions each year from 2018-20 before sharing production with Chase and Higgins last season. He stands as one of six players in team history to top 1000 receiving yards in consecutive seasons ('18-19). Boyd scored the first TD of the Bengals' 2022 regular season on a two-yard pass from Burrow in Week 1 vs. Pittsburgh. He caught four passes for 105 yards in Week 3 at the N.Y. Jets, including a 56-yard TD reception on the final play of the first quarter. Chase, the team's first-round pick in the 2021 NFL Draft (No. 5 overall), had one of the top rookie seasons in NFL history. He led the Bengals and set team rookie records in catches (81), receiving yards (1455) and receiving TDs (13). His yardage total was an NFL rookie record for the Super Bowl Era and the most in team history, topping Chad Johnson's 1440 yards in 2007. Chase led all rookies leaguewide in 2021 in receiving yards (fourth in the NFL) and receiving TDs (third in NFL) and earned his first Pro Bowl selection. He provided the Bengals with a downfield threat, finishing the regular season fourth in the NFL in catches of 40 or more yards (eight). With Burrow as his QB in 2019 at LSU, Chase set single-season SEC records for receiving yards (1780) and TDs (20), and won the prestigious Biletnikoff Award as college football's top receiver. In the regular-season opener vs. Pittsburgh, he paced the Bengals with 10 catches for 129 yards and a game-tying TD with two seconds remaining. Considered among the premier young WRs in the NFL is third-year pro Higgins, who last season eclipsed 1000 receiving yards (1091) for the first time. Higgins, a second-round pick by the Bengals in 2020, netted 74 catches and six TDs, despite missing three games (two early in the season with a shoulder injury, and rested during the regular-season finale). He had four 100-yard games during the regular season — each coming in his final six games played — and then added two more in the postseason (103 in AFC Championship at Kansas City, 100 in Super Bowl LVI). Higgins brings considerable size (6-4, 219) to the receiving corps, and coaches credited him for transforming his body during the 2021 offseason to get stronger. After exiting the regular-season opener against Pittsburgh in the second quarter with a concussion, he returned to lead the team with six catches for 71 yards (11.8 avg.) and a TD in Week 2 at Dallas. Higgins added 93 more receiving yards on five catches in Week 3 at the N.Y. Jets, with all of his production coming in the first half. Higgins led the Bengals in receiving in Week 4, posting seven catches for 124 yards (17.7 avg) and a TD. His 960 receiving yards since Week 12 of the 2021 season rank third in the NFL. Fourth-year pro Stanley Morgan, a 2019 college free agent signee of the Bengals, provides depth at receiver and excels particularly as a blocker. Morgan also serves as one of Cincinnati's primary gunners on special teams, and saw action at KOR in 2021. Seventh-year pro Mike D. Thomas (not to be confused with Bengals S Michael J. Thomas) adds value as a speedy rotational receiver, as well as on special teams. Thomas joined the Bengals in 2020 but spent his first four NFL seasons with the L.A. Rams, where in '17 his assistant WRs coach was Zac Taylor. In Week 1 against the Steelers, Thomas caught a two-point conversion that cut the deficit to 17-14 in the third quarter. Veteran slot WR Trent Taylor was signed to the Bengals practice squad in 2021 after three full seasons (missed '19) in San Francisco. Taylor played in four regular-season games and all four postseason games last season, taking over as the team's primary punt returner. In the AFC Championship win at Kansas City, he caught a two-point conversion in the third quarter that completed an 18-point Cincinnati comeback. Taylor had a strong preseason, catching six passes for 106 yards (17.7 average) in three games, while also returning one punt for 31 yards.

Tight ends: One of the headliners of the Bengals' 2022 free agency class was TE Hayden Hurst, who came to Cincinnati after two seasons with the Atlanta Falcons ('20-21) and two with the Baltimore Ravens ('18-19). He has proven himself as a downfield threat at the TE position, with 125 career catches for 1304 yards and 12 TDs. A former elite baseball prospect, Hurst was drafted by the Pittsburgh Pirates in the 17th round of the 2012 MLB Draft, and played two seasons as a pitcher (2013) and first baseman ('14) in the Pirates organization in the rookie Gulf Coast League before walking on to the University of South Carolina football team. He caught five passes for 46 yards (9.2 avg.) in his Bengals debut against Pittsburgh. Hurst caught three passes for 27 yards (9.0 avg) including a two-yard TD pass from QB Joe Burrow in the fourth quarter to seal the win in Week 4 against the Dolphins. Third-year pro Mitchell Wilcox, a 2020 college free agent signee who spent his rookie year on the team's practice squad, appeared in 15 games with one start in '21. Wilcox played 50.5 percent (239 of 473) of special teams snaps during the regular season, third-highest on the team, and recorded three tackles. In Week 1 against Pittsburgh, Wilcox was called upon to serve as the team's long snapper after veteran LS Clark Harris left the game with a biceps injury. Rounding out the tight ends room is Devin Asiasi, who the Bengals acquired on waivers from New England on Aug. 31. Asiasi originally was a third-round pick of the Patriots in 2020 and has played in 10 games over the past two seasons. He made his Bengals debut in Week 3 at the N.Y. Jets, playing 24 offensive snaps.

Offensive linemen: The Bengals invested heavily in revamping the offensive line during the offseason, signing three marquee free agents in RG Alex Cappa, ROT La'el Collins and C Ted Karras. Cappa, a fifth-year pro out of Humboldt State, spent the past four seasons with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. He was the starting RG for the 2020 Bucs team that won Super Bowl LV, and in '21 helped the Tampa Bay O-line allow a league-low 23 sacks. After playing in six games with no starts as a rookie in 2018, Cappa has started 49 consecutive regular-season contests in which he has been active since the start of the 2019 season, only missing three games in that span. In each of the last three seasons with Cappa as the No. 1 RG, Tampa Bay ranked in the top-two in the NFL in passing yards per game. He was placed on the Active/Physically Unable to Perform (PUP) list at the start of training camp, but returned to make his first start as a Bengal at RG in the regular-season opener. Collins, who was placed on the Active/Non-Football Injury list at the start of camp, also returned in time to start at ROT in Week 1. The eighth-year OT was a key member of a Cowboys O-line that paved the way for one of the NFL's top running games. From 2017-19, he started all but one regular-season contest and helped Dallas rank in the top five leaguewide in rushing yards per game each of those seasons. Karras has taken over the starting center spot for the Bengals, but he brings starting experience at all three interior OL positions. He entered the 2022 season with 34 career starts at C, 12 at LG and five at RG. Karras spent five of his first six seasons with the New England Patriots, with the outlier coming in 2020 with the Miami Dolphins. He was a member of two Super Bowl-winning teams in 2016 and '18, and became New England's starting C in '19. Now in his third season as Cincinnati's starting LOT is 2019 first-round pick Jonah Williams, who started 16 regular-season games (rested in season finale at Cleveland) and all four postseason contests last year. Williams played a team-high 96 percent of offensive snaps in 2021 (regular and postseason), and blocked for an offense that ranked seventh in the NFL in passing yards per game and eighth in points. He missed his entire rookie campaign in 2019 due to a left shoulder injury suffered during OTAs, then in '20 played in 10 games before suffering a season-ending right knee injury. Williams started all 44 possible games in three collegiate seasons at Alabama, helping the Crimson Tide win the national championship in 2017. The lone offensive player selected by the Bengals in the 2022 NFL Draft, G Cordell Volson earned the starting role at LG during training camp. He brings a winning pedigree from FCS powerhouse North Dakota State, where he played in a program-record 65 career games and helped the Bison win four national championships. Volson has lined up for each of the Bengals' 302 offensive snaps through four games this season. All five members of the Bengals' starting offensive line have played 100% of the team's offensive snaps (302 total) through the first four games this season. Hakeem Adeniji, a sixth-round pick of the Bengals in 2020, is a versatile backup on the Bengals' O-line. Currently listed at OT, he took over as the starting RG midway through the 2021 season and earned praise from coaches for his consistent play. He spent the first eight games of the regular season on Reserve/Non-Football Injury (pectoral), but jumped into the starting lineup immediately upon returning. Adeniji was drafted as an OT, and played OT in college and as a rookie, so the 2021 season was his first-ever at G. In the AFC Championship at Kansas City, Adeniji started and split time at RG with Jackson Carman, a 2021 second-round pick of the Bengals who enters his second season. Carman, a native of Fairfield, Ohio (approx. 25 miles north of Cincinnati), was the team's No. 1 RG early in the season before moving to a reserve role upon Adeniji's return from injury. Offensive line coach/run game coordinator Frank Pollack said he was impressed with Carman's attention to detail and improved technique during the offseason. He started at LG in the preseason opener against Arizona and in the finale against the L.A. Rams, but missed the contest at the N.Y. Giants due to COVID-19 protocols. Carman saw action on four special teams plays in the regular-season opener against Pittsburgh. Another key reserve along the interior of the line is second-year pro C Trey Hill, who played in 13 regular-season games (three starts) and all four postseason contests in 2021. Though listed at C, where he made two starts as a rookie, he also started at RG in Game 6 at Detroit last season. Hill is a young prospect who turned 22 during Cincinnati's postseason run (born 1-23-00). The Bengals added more size and experience to the interior of the line when they acquired G Max Scharping on waivers on Aug. 31. Scharping, who is listed at 6-foot-6 and 325 pounds, was a second-round pick of Houston in the 2019 draft. He played in 48 games with 33 starts for the Texans in three seasons (2019-'21), and made his Cincinnati debut in Week 3 at the N.Y. Jets, seeing action on six special teams plays. Adding depth at LOT is second-year pro D'Ante Smith, a fourth-round pick of the Bengals in 2021 and battled injuries throughout his rookie season. He drew positive reviews from coaches when healthy, as he played in two games during the regular season (one start at LOT) and two games in the postseason. Smith also lined up at G in his rookie campaign.

Defensive linemen: Cincinnati native and Archbishop Moeller graduate Sam Hubbard is in his fifth Bengals season (fourth as a full-time starter) and is considered the leader of the defensive line. A third-round draft pick of the Bengals in 2018, Hubbard had 7.5 sacks (second on team) during the 2021 regular season, and his 25 career sacks are second-most among players from his draft class (including college free agents). He had three sacks in the postseason, including two on consecutive plays in the fourth quarter of the AFC Championship with the Chiefs in a goal-to-go situation. In addition to his success as a pass-rusher, Hubbard is also considered among the best DEs in the NFL against the run. He signed a contract extension in July of 2021 that keeps him in Cincinnati through the '25 season. Hubbard tallied his first sack of the 2022 season in the fourth quarter of the Week 2 contest at Dallas, bringing down QB

Cooper Rush for a five-yard loss. He finished the day with four tackles (three solos), one sack and one PD. In Week 4 vs. Miami, Hubbard notched four tackles (three solos), including two for losses. On the other side of the line is DE Trey Hendrickson, who joined the team as a free agent in 2021 and posted a career-high 14 sacks during the regular season. That total ranked fifth in the NFL and second in team history. Hendrickson during the regular season also recorded at least a half sack in 11 straight games (Games 5-15) — the longest such streak in Bengals history, the longest streak in the NFL in 2021, and tied for the second-longest streak in NFL history. He added 3.5 more sacks in the postseason, leading the Bengals in that category. In Week 3 at the N.Y. Jets, Hendrickson was a disruptive force with 2.5 sacks and two forced fumbles, becoming the first Bengal with that stat line since at least 2000. He spent 2017-20 with the New Orleans Saints, breaking out for 13.5 sacks in '20 to tie for the NFC lead and second in the NFL. His 30 combined sacks since the start of the 2020 regular season are third-most among all players. DT B.J. Hill was acquired in a trade with the N.Y. Giants shortly before the 2021 regular season, and proved to be a productive interior defender with 5.5 sacks (fourth on team) in a reserve role. He was thrust into the starting lineup during the postseason, and made one of the signature plays of Cincinnati's run to Super Bowl LVI when he picked off Chiefs QB Patrick Mahomes in the third quarter of the AFC Championship. That INT set up a Bengals TD drive that tied the game. In Week 1, Hill recorded three tackles, including the team's first sack of the season on Steelers QB Mitchell Trubisky for a loss of two yards in the third quarter. He followed up that performance with five tackles, tied for second-most on the team, with one PD in Week 2 at Dallas. Hill collected his first two career fumble recoveries in Week 3 at the N.Y. Jets, while also recording four tackles, a half-sack and a forced fumble. He tallied five tackles and one PD in Week 4 vs. Miami. DT Josh Tupou returned to the lineup in 2021 after opting out of the '20 season due to COVID-19. He played in 17 games with nine starts, and suffered a right knee injury in the regular-season finale that limited him to just five snaps in the first three postseason games. Tupou returned to action in Super Bowl LVI, helping limit the Rams to just 1.9 yards per rushing attempt. He started at nose tackle in Week 4 vs. Miami and finished with three tackles (all solos), including his first career sack in the second quarter. A fourth-round pick of the Bengals in 2021, DE Cam Sample played in 14 regular-season games as a rotational defensive lineman, collecting 14 tackles including 1.5 sacks. Sample battled a hamstring injury late in the regular season and a groin injury in the postseason. He notched his first sack of the 2022 season in Week 3 at the N.Y. Jets, bringing down QB Joe Flacco for a six-yard loss in the second quarter. DT Zach Carter was selected by Cincinnati in the fourth round of the 2022 NFL Draft, and was impressive in training camp. He totaled 17.5 career sacks in 46 games at Florida, starting 23 of his final 24 contests at DT. Carter has the ability to line up inside or on the edge, according to Bengals coaches. He had a strong showing in the preseason opener against Arizona, recording four tackles and batting down a pass at the line of scrimmage. Second-year DE Joseph Ossai returned to action in the regular-season opener after missing the 2021 regular and postseason due to a knee injury. He sustained that injury in the '21 preseason opener at Tampa Bay, a game he impressed in with a sack of QB Tom Brady on the opening drive. Ossai was originally a Bengals third-round pick in 2021. He moved to the United States at age 10 from Ketu Ijanikin, Lagos, Nigeria, and was raised in Conroe, Texas (outside Houston). Rookie DE Jeff Gunter was also taken in the seventh round, as the Bengals coaches were pleased to get the Coastal Carolina product late in the 2022 draft. Gunter is listed as a DE, but played at different spots along the line in college and recorded 18 sacks. His skill set was on display in the preseason opener against Arizona, as he batted down a pass at the line of scrimmage on the game's opening drive and finished with two QB hits. The most recent addition to the D-line is DT Jay Tufele, who was acquired on waivers from Jacksonville on Aug. 31. Listed at 6-foot-3, 305 pounds, he originally was a fourth-round pick of the Jaguars in 2021 and played in four games last season.

Linebackers: Among Cincinnati's most promising young defenders is third-year pro Logan Wilson, who wears the "green dot" as the defense's communicator. Wilson missed Games 12-15 of the 2021 regular season with a right shoulder injury, and then was inactive (rest) for the regular-season finale, but he still finished as the team's leader in both tackles (98) and INTs (four). His INT total tied for the most among all NFL linebackers during the regular season (Shaquille Leonard, Indianapolis). Wilson made several crucial plays during Cincinnati's postseason run to Super Bowl LVI, with the two most notable coming in the AFC Divisional at Tennessee — he tackled RB Derrick Henry for a two-yard loss on a fourth-and-one in the fourth quarter while the game was tied at 16, and then he intercepted a QB Ryan Tannehill pass with 20 seconds remaining that set up a game-winning FG. Wilson logged 39 tackles in the postseason, the most by any NFL player in a single postseason since Ray Lewis in 2012 (51). In Week 1 vs. Pittsburgh, Wilson led the team in tackles (nine) and logged a PD.

He grabbed his first INT of the season in Week 3 at the N.Y. Jets, picking off QB Joe Flacco in the second quarter. In the Week 4 contest vs. Miami, Wilson finished second on the team with seven tackles (four solos), including one TFL. He originally entered the NFL as a third-round draft pick of the Bengals in 2020. Cincinnati's third-round pick a year earlier was Germaine Pratt, who has grown into a key starter on defense after being considered a raw prospect early in his pro career. Pratt switched from S to LB late in his college career, but earned a starting LB spot with the Bengals midway through his rookie season in 2019. During the 2021 regular season, he totaled 88 tackles (tied for third on the team), including five for losses and a half sack, along with an INT, two PDs, two FFs and two FRs. In the Bengals' 2021 season-opening win vs. Minnesota, Pratt made the defensive play of the game late in overtime when he forced and recovered a fumble by Vikings RB Dalvin Cook. He drew praise from coaches for his grasp of the defense, and took over the "green dot" responsibility on defense while Wilson was out with an injury late in the regular season. In the Wild Card Playoff vs. Las Vegas, Pratt intercepted a QB Derek Carr pass on fourth-and-goal late in the fourth quarter that sealed a Cincinnati win. In the 2022 season opener against Pittsburgh, he also tied for the team lead with eight tackles, including a TFL, and had a PD. Pratt finished tied for second on the team with five tackles in Week 2 at Dallas. After missing the Week 3 contest at the N.Y. Jets with a knee injury, he bounced back to lead the defense with nine tackles (six solos) in Game 4 vs. Miami. Third-year pro Markus Bailey, a 2020 seventh-round pick of the Bengals, was a rotational player early in the 2021 season, but late in the year he took on an increased role due to injury issues at LB. Bailey, who has earned the nickname "The Waterboy" from teammates for his all-out playing style, saw more time on defense in 2021 after gradually working his way back from a serious knee injury suffered at Purdue. He missed Cincinnati's final two preseason games with a hamstring injury, but returned in time to play in Week 1 against Pittsburgh. In Week 4 vs. Miami, Bailey led the team with two special teams tackles. To help with injury and COVID-19 issues, the Bengals added to their LB room during the 2021 bye in Week 10 by acquiring second-year pro Clay Johnston on waivers from Carolina. The 6-1, 232-pound Johnston was a seventh-round pick of the Rams in 2020, and has been used mainly on special teams by the Bengals. He had a remarkable stat line in the second preseason game at the N.Y. Giants, finishing with 20 tackles (16 solo), including a sack in the second quarter. The 20 tackles surpass his career total of 18 in seven regular-season games played. Johnston's 29 total tackles in three preseason games led all NFL players. In the Divisional Playoff win at Tennessee last season, Johnston darted into the backfield and tackled Titans RB Derrick Henry for a loss on a two-point conversion to keep the score tied. A 2020 Bengals fourth-round pick, Akeem Davis-Gaither turned in perhaps the best performance of his career in Week 3 at the N.Y. Jets. He led Cincinnati with a career-high 13 tackles, including a TFL in the first quarter that put the Jets in a third-and-long situation. Davis-Gaither showed continued progression in his second year before a left foot injury ended his 2021 season after nine games. He saw time as a rotational LB, and prior to his injury had recorded 26 tackles, three PDs and a FF. He played in all 16 games with two starts as a rookie in 2020.

Defensive backs: S Jessie Bates III, a fifth-year pro and 2018 Bengals second-round pick, is considered one of the core leaders of the team. He topped 100 tackles in each of his first three seasons (2018-20). During the 2021 regular season, he recorded 88 tackles (tied for third on team), along with an INT (65-yard return) and a FR (46-yard return). Bates earned a starting S spot in training camp as a rookie and started the first 51 games of his career — that's three seasons plus three games — until a neck injury broke the streak and held him out of Cincinnati's Week 4 game vs. Jacksonville last season. He then returned to the lineup the following week and has not missed a game since. Named the team's designated franchise player on March 7, Bates signed the one-year tender offer on Aug. 23 and was placed on the Exempt/Commissioner Permission list. He reverted to the active roster on Sept. 5 and started in Week 1 vs. Pittsburgh. Bates snagged his first INT of the season in Game 3 at the N.Y. Jets, picking off QB Joe Flacco late in the fourth quarter to seal a Bengals win. In Week 4 vs. Miami, he finished third on the team with six tackles (all solos) and notched one PD. Bates made several critical plays during Cincinnati's postseason run to Super Bowl LVI, including an INT on the first play from scrimmage in the AFC Divisional Playoff at Tennessee and a pick just before halftime of the Super Bowl. In overtime of the AFC Championship at Kansas City, Bates tipped a deep pass from QB Patrick Mahomes that was intercepted by S Vonn Bell, setting up Cincinnati's game-winning drive. Bell, a seventh-year pro, joined the Bengals in 2020 after spending his first four seasons with New Orleans. He has been a team captain in each of his three Bengals seasons, and finished the 2021 regular season with 97 tackles (second on team). Bell tallied a team-high seven tackles and had a key forced fumble in the Week 2 contest at Dallas. Against the Dolphins in Game 4, he recorded four tackles (all solos) and had two critical INTs. His second came with under four minutes left in the fourth quarter, when he picked off QB Teddy Bridgewater to end a potential go-ahead TD drive for Miami. It marked his first career multi-INT game. During the 2020 offseason, the Bengals brought in three free agent CBs to help bolster their pass defense. One of the high-profile additions was Chidobe Awuzie, who came to Cincinnati after spending the first four years of his career with the Dallas Cowboys. Awuzie proved to be one of the Bengals' top defenders during the 2021 campaign, as he finished the regular season with two INTs and a team-high 14 PDs in 14 starts despite battling groin and foot injuries. He started all four postseason contests, and in Super Bowl LVI had an INT on the Rams' first play of the second half to set up a Bengals FG. Awuzie was originally a second-round pick of the Cowboys in 2017 and moved into a starting role in his second season. Another 2020 free agency addition was Mike Hilton, who is widely considered one of the top slot CBs in the NFL. Hilton, who is under contract through the 2024 season, is among the smallest players on the roster at 5-9, 184 pounds, but he is known as a sure tackler and outstanding blitzer. Hilton had a 24-yard pick-six in last season's Nov. 28 win against Pittsburgh, his former team, and he said it was his first career pick-six at any level dating back to pee-wee football. In Week 3 at the N.Y. Jets, Hilton recorded eight tackles (five solos). CB Eli Apple was originally slated to add depth after signing with the Bengals in March of 2021, but he ended up starting nearly every game last season (15 of 16 in regular season, all four in postseason). He had two INTs and 10 PDs during the regular season, but his biggest play came just before halftime of the AFC Championship at Kansas City, when he tackled Chiefs WR Tyreek Hill at the one-yard line to keep the Bengals within 11 points at the break. Apple has a familiarity with Bell, whom he played alongside in college at Ohio State, as well as with defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo, who was his position coach with the N.Y. Giants in 2018. Apple was originally a first-round pick of the Giants in 2016 and played in New York for two-plus seasons, before being traded to New Orleans five games into '18. He played in 25 games with the Saints over the following two seasons, and spent the 2020 campaign with Carolina. The Bengals selected S Dax Hill with the No. 31 overall pick in the 2022 NFL Draft. Hill brings a highly touted versatility to the Bengals secondary, possessing the ability to line up as a nickel CB and occasionally on the outside, in addition to safety. He spent three seasons (2019-21) at Michigan, starting 23 consecutive games to conclude his career. Hill totaled 151 tackles, including seven for losses, with four INTs and 20 PDs. In the two preseason contests he suited up for, Hill recorded seven tackles (five solos), one INT and two PDs. His INT came in the opening quarter at the N.Y. Giants, when he tracked down a tipped ball and dove to get his hands under it. Hill made his first career start in Week 3 at the N.Y. Jets. A physically imposing member of the secondary is 6-3, 200-pound CB Tre Flowers, who joined Cincinnati on waivers from Seattle in October of 2021. Flowers fills a rotational role for the Bengals, mostly used to cover TEs in passing situations. Entering 2022, he had played in 58 career games with 41 starts, totaling 228 tackles (182 solo), three INTs and 17 PDs through four NFL seasons. Also joining the Bengals last October was S Michael J. Thomas. Thomas went on to play in eight regular-season games (one start) and all four postseason games, quickly becoming a core contributor on special teams. He saw 72 snaps on special teams (tied for fourth on team) in the postseason, including 21 in Super Bowl LVI. Now in his ninth NFL season, Thomas has previously spent time with the San Francisco 49ers, Miami Dolphins, N.Y. Giants and Houston Texans. He was elected by his teammates as one of seven team captains, marking the seventh time in the past eight seasons that he has worn the captains' patch. Thomas has 83 career special teams tackles, with two forced fumbles and one blocked punt. Third-year pro Jalen Davis has also carved out a prominent role on special teams, in addition to serving as a rotational slot CB. The 5-10, 185-pound Davis joined the Bengals in mid-2020 and was thrust into action quickly while the team dealt with a wave of injuries and COVID-19 issues. An ankle injury kept him out of the final two regular-season games of 2021 and three postseason contests, but he returned to the field for Super Bowl LVI. Davis finished preseason with 10 tackles and tied for the team lead with three PDs.

Special teams: Cincinnati native and the longest-tenured player on the roster, Kevin Huber, continues to handle the Bengals' punting duties for a 14th consecutive season. Huber, a graduate of Archbishop McNicholas High School and the University of Cincinnati, originally was a fifth-round pick of his hometown Bengals in 2009. In the 2022 season opener against Pittsburgh, Huber surpassed CB Ken Riley for most career games played (208) in team history. Huber averaged 46.4 gross yards and 41.05 net yards on punts during the '21 regular season. He is considered the top punter in team history and stands as the Bengals' career leader in every significant punting category, including punts (995), punting yards (45,121), gross average (45.35), net average (40.44) and inside-20 punts (343). Huber was a Pro Bowl selection in 2014, but he has maintained a high level of play and in '20 posted career-highs in both gross (47.2) and net (42.8) average. LS Cal Adomitis is handling long-snapping duties for Cincinnati after being signed from the practice squad to the active roster on Sept. 12. Adomitis, who made his NFL debut in Week 2 at Dallas, originally joined the team as a college free agent in May after a five-year career at the University of Pittsburgh. K Evan McPherson became a fan-favorite during his rookie season in 2021, when he produced one of the best debut seasons by a kicker in NFL history. He made five game-winning "walk-off" kicks with no time remaining or in OT — three during the regular season, two in the postseason. The first was a 33-yarder in overtime of the season opener against Minnesota. The second was on Thursday Night Football in Week 4 vs. Jacksonville, when he nailed a 35-yarder as time expired in regulation. He clinched the AFC North Division title for Cincinnati with a 20-yarder on Jan. 2 vs. Kansas City, securing the Bengals' first playoff berth since 2015. The fourth was a 52-yarder in the Divisional Playoff at Tennessee that sent Cincinnati to the AFC Championship, and the fifth was from 31 yards in OT of the AFC Championship at Kansas City, which punched Cincinnati's ticket to Super Bowl

LVI. McPherson said that entering the season, he had never kicked a game-winning FG at any level of football. He was particularly effective from long range, and during the regular season netted nine field goals of at least 50 yards — the most-ever by a Bengal in a season. In Week 1 against Pittsburgh, McPherson broke his own record for the longest kick in franchise history with a 59-yarder in the first quarter. He was perfect in Week 4 vs. Miami, converting both field goal attempts with a long of 57 yards in the fourth quarter and also going three-for-three on extra point attempts. Through four games in 2022, McPherson has converted nine-of-11 field goal attempts (81.8 percent) and six-of-seven extra point attempts (85.7 percent). Three of his FGs have come from 50 or more yards. The Bengals used a rotation of players at PR in 2021, but late in the year WR Trent Taylor took over full-time duties. He had one return for 23 yards in Week 4 vs. Miami, and through four games has nine punt returns for 97 yards (10.8 avg.), good for the seventh-best punt return average in the NFL. WR Tyler Boyd, who has two career punt returns, is listed second on the depth chart. HB Chris Evans is the Bengals' primary kick returner, who flashed his speed on two KORs in the preseason. He had a 41-yard return in the opener against Arizona that set up a Bengals FG, and the following week returned a kick 73 yards before being pushed out of bounds at the Giants' 24-yard line. Fellow HB Trayveon Williams may also be featured as a KOR.

2021 SEASON
WEEK 7, GAME 7
Cincinnati Bengals 41, Baltimore Ravens 17
Sunday, Oct. 24, 2021 at M&T Bank Stadium

The visiting Bengals broke a five-game Ravens winning streak in dominating fashion, posting their largest-ever margin of victory (24) over Baltimore and scoring their most points against the Ravens in 16 years. Offensively, Bengals QB Joe Burrow passed for a career-high 416 yards and three TDs, including 55- and 32-yarders to TE C.J. Uzomah, but the star of the game was rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase, whose 201 receiving yards set a Bengals rookie record. Cincinnati was protecting a three-point lead midway through the third quarter when Chase caught a slant, shook three tacklers and darted 82 yards for a TD. Cincinnati added two more TDs and leaned on a dominating defense, which held the Ravens to just 17 points. The Bengals sacked Ravens QB Lamar Jackson five times, including 2.5 from DE Sam Hubbard. Cincinnati improved to 5-2 and the Ravens fell to 5-2.

2021 SEASON
WEEK 16, GAME 15
Cincinnati Bengals 41, Baltimore Ravens 21
Sunday, Dec. 26, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

The Bengals scored on each of their first seven drives (five TDs, two FGs) and QB Joe Burrow passed for a team-record 525 yards (fourth-most in NFL history), as the Bengals' dominated a Ravens team without double-digit players due to injuries and COVID-19. Baltimore, which was missing its top two QBs — Lamar Jackson (ankle) and Tyler Huntley (COVID-19) — took a 7-3 lead after its first offensive drive, but Cincinnati responded with three unanswered TDs. HB Joe Mixon scored a rushing and receiving TD, giving him 16 total for the season (one shy of team record). WR Tee Higgins had 12 catches (tied for second-most in team history) for a career-high 194 yards and two TDs. Rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase (125 yards) tied the team's rookie record for 100-yard receiving games (four). DE Trey Hendrickson, who recorded Cincinnati's lone sack of the day, extended to 11 his streak of consecutive games with at least a half sack (tied for second-longest in NFL history). But Burrow was the star of the day, posting career-highs in passing TDs (four) and passer rating (143.2), while completing 80.4 percent of his passes. The Bengals' win brightened their postseason prospects and widened their narrow lead in their AFC North with just two games remaining. Cincinnati improved to 9-6, while Baltimore dropped to 8-7.

WEEK 1, GAME 1

Pittsburgh Steelers 23, Cincinnati Bengals 20 (OT)
Sunday, Sept. 11, 2022 at Paycor Stadium

Despite five turnovers, including four INTs by QB Joe Burrow, the Bengals were in position to win twice, but two missed kicks led to the loss. Burrow rallied to lead two second-half TD drives, including a six-yard scoring pass to WR Ja'Marr Chase to tie the game at 20-20 with two seconds left in regulation. But K Evan McPherson's PAT attempt was blocked by Steelers S Minkah Fitzpatrick. Then, after holding Pittsburgh on the opening drive of OT, the Bengals drove into range for another potential game-winning kick, this time a FG attempt from 29 yards. But Cincinnati again failed to convert, as a high snap contributed to McPherson sailing it wide left. The Bengals had yet another opportunity for a game-winning kick when they moved into McPherson's FG range with less than two minutes left in OT, but Burrow was sacked on third down for the seventh time of the game to force a punt, and Pittsburgh quickly drove 45 yards to get in position to convert a 53-yard game-winning FG as OT expired.

WEEK 2, GAME 2

Dallas Cowboys 20, Cincinnati Bengals 17
Sunday, Sept. 18, 2022 at AT&T Stadium

The Bengals faced an early 14-3 first-quarter deficit, as Dallas opened the game with back-to-back TD drives. Cincinnati later scored FGs on consecutive drives in the third quarter, while the Bengals' defense held the Cowboys to three punts and a lost fumble on their first four drives of the second half. The Bengals logged a 19-play, 83-yard drive which took 8:54 off the clock in the fourth quarter and ended with a five-yard TD pass from QB Joe Burrow to WR Tee Higgins. Burrow then connected with WR Tyler Boyd on a two-point conversion to tie the score at 17-17 with 3:45 left. A Cowboys three-and-out gave Burrow the ball back with 2:13 remaining, but the Dallas defense forced the Bengals into a three-and-out of their own on the following drive. With less than a minute left, Cowboys QB Cooper Rush, who started in place of an injured Dak Prescott, quickly led the team on a 33-yard drive to put K Brett Maher in range for a 50-yard game-winning FG as time expired. The Cowboys improved to 1-1, while the Bengals fell to 0-2.

WEEK 3, GAME 3

Cincinnati Bengals 27, N.Y. Jets 12
Sunday, Sept. 25, 2022 at MetLife Stadium

The Bengals scored on four of their first five possessions, including an opening-drive TD, to build an early 20-6 lead. QB Joe Burrow had 95 passing yards on that initial drive, capped by a 12-yard TD throw to HB Samaje Perine on a third-and-goal. After a pair of Jets FGs, Cincinnati struck again on the final play of the first quarter when Burrow found WR Tyler Boyd over the middle, and Boyd spun off a hit and ran 45 yards to the end zone. LB Logan Wilson grabbed the Bengals' first INT of the season in the second quarter, picking off a deep pass from Jets QB Joe Flacco and returning it 47 yards. Cincinnati opened the second half with another TD, as a strip sack from DE Trey Hendrickson on the Jets' first possession set the Bengals up at the New York 24-yard line, and four plays later Burrow found WR Ja'Marr Chase alone in the end zone to make it 27-9. Another forced fumble from Hendrickson with 10:03 left in the fourth quarter led to a 13-play, 52-yard Bengals drive that drained the clock. S Jessie Bates sealed the win with an INT in the final minute. Cincinnati improved to 1-2, while the Jets fell to 1-2.

WEEK 4, GAME 4

Cincinnati Bengals 27, Miami Dolphins 15
Thursday night, Sept. 29, 2022 at Paycor Stadium

The Bengals found the end zone on their opening drive for a second straight game, as HB Joe Mixon put Cincinnati ahead 7-0 with a five-yard rushing TD less than five minutes into the first quarter. Miami moved the ball early, but was held to a pair of FGs before the Bengals struck again late in the second period, when QB Joe Burrow hit WR Tee Higgins for a 59-yard TD to extend the lead, 14-6. The Dolphins answered with a TD on a shovel pass from QB Teddy Bridgewater to RB Chase Edmonds with nine seconds left in the first half. Another Jason Sanders FG in the third quarter gave Miami its first lead, but the Bengals responded with two fourth-quarter kicks from Evan McPherson, including a 57-yarder. Bridgewater drove the Dolphins into Cincinnati territory with under four minutes left, but S Vonn Bell ended their chances of a go-ahead TD with his second INT of the game. The Bengals capitalized on the turnover, as Burrow connected with WR Ja'Marr Chase for a 36-yard completion to set up first-and-goal, and three plays later TE Hayden Hurst caught his first TD of the season to cement the win. Cincinnati improved to 2-2, while the Dolphins fell to 3-1.
