NEXT WEEK: WEEK 8, GAME 8
 SUNDAY, OCT. 27 VS. L.A. RAMS (AT LONDON, ENGLAND)

GAME NOTES

Kickoff: 1 p.m. Eastern.

Television: The game will air on CBS-TV. In the Bengals' home region, it will be carried by WKRC-TV (Ch. 12) in Cincinnati, WHIO-TV (Ch. 7) in Dayton and on WKYT-TV (Ch. 27) in Lexington. Broadcasters are Kevin Harlan (play-by-play), Rich Gannon (analyst) and Jay Feely (sideline reporter).

Radio: The game will air on the Bengals Radio Network, led by Cincinnati flagship stations WLW-AM (700), WCKY-AM (ESPN 1530; all sports) and WEBN-FM (102.7). Broadcasters are Dan Hoard (play-by-play) and Dave Lapham (analyst).

Setting the scene: The Bengals return home on Sunday to face the Jacksonville Jaguars at Paul Brown Stadium, still looking for their first win of the season after a 23-17 loss last week at Baltimore dropped them to 0-6.

"There are certainly things we could have done better to give ourselves a better chance to win," said Bengals head coach Zac Taylor. "There were some plays we feel like we left on the field on both sides of the ball that would have given us an opportunity (to win), but we didn't make them and that's where we're at right now."

Cincinnati's start against Baltimore could be accurately classified as "fast." In fact, it was technically the fastest start in team history. S Brandon Wilson bolted 92 yards for a TD on the game's opening kickoff, marking the first time in team history a Bengal has opened a game with a kickoff-return TD. Additionally, the NFL's Next Gen Stats service, which tracks players' speed by using GPS, clocked Wilson's run at 22.03 MPH, the third-fastest speed in the NFL this year and the fastest by a Bengal since NGS' launch in 2016.

"I had some great blocks," Wilson said after the game. "I read my keys and just went for the score. Clayton (S Clayton Fejedelem) and the guys up front did a great job opening it up for me."

The Ravens responded quickly, though, and scored on their first three possessions to open up a 17-7 lead. But while Cincinnati held Baltimore to just six points the rest of the contest, the Ravens leaned heavily on a ground game (43 rushes, 269 yards) that helped them dominate time of possession, 39:42 to 20:18.

Cincinnati's offense failed to find traction much of the afternoon, until QB Andy Dalton led the Bengals on a 12-play, 48-yard drive to pull within six with 1:28 left. But a Randy Bullock outside kick attempt failed, the Ravens ran out the clock, and the Bengals went home with their sixth loss in as many games.

"There's not one person in this locker room who has quit on us," Taylor said after the game. "I meant it when I told them, 'This is two weeks in a row now where most teams that haven't won a game would shut it down and go ahead and take the 25-point loss and move on. Woe is me and point fingers.' But I haven't seen it from one guy. They've all responded the way you want them to."

"It's going to be very rewarding when this thing clicks. It hasn't just yet, but when it does it's going to be very rewarding for the guys in this locker room."

A major point of emphasis for Taylor and the Bengals will be trying to jumpstart HB Joe Mixon and the rushing game, after the team gained just 33 net yards on 14 carries against the Ravens. Factoring into the equation will be the offensive line, which has been weakened by injuries this season.

"We talk about (the ground game) every day," Taylor said. "We're trying to find the best answers. We're trying to find the best rhythm for the five (offensive linemen) that are out there. 'What do each of them do best? What's the best way to find success?' It's an ongoing conversation that's nonstop."

Cincinnati is also anticipating the upcoming return of star WR A.J. Green, who practiced last week for the first time since late July, when he suffered an ankle injury in the Bengals' first training camp practice. It is unknown, though, if Green will be able to play this Sunday vs. Jacksonville.

"We'll see," Taylor said on Monday when asked about Green's status for this weekend. "I don't want to make any declarations on that right now. He's certainly progressing."

Jacksonville enters Sunday's matchup 2-4, after falling at home to the New Orleans Saints last week.

The series: The Jaguars lead 12-9, but the Bengals have won four of the last five meetings. The Bengals also won the last two meetings at Paul Brown Stadium in 2014 and '08. The Jaguars won the most recent meeting, 23-7 in Jacksonville in 2017, but they have not won in Cincinnati since 2002. The Bengals lead 6-4 overall as the home team.

The Bengals and Jaguars were rivals in the AFC Central Division from 1995 through 2001, playing twice each season. This week's game is their eighth meeting since the 2002 realignment that put Cincinnati in the AFC North and Jacksonville in the AFC South. The Bengals are 4-3 against the Jaguars since the realignment.

Team bests from the series:

Bengals — MOST POINTS: 33, in a 33-23 victory at Cincinnati in 2014. LARGEST VICTORY MARGIN: 17, in a 27-10 win at Jacksonville in 2012. FEWEST POINTS ALLOWED: 10, in the 27-10 win in '12.

Jaguars — MOST POINTS: 41, in a 41-10 win in 1999 at Cincinnati. LARGEST VICTORY MARGIN: 31, in the 41-10 win in '99. FEWEST POINTS ALLOWED: 0, in a 13-0 win at Jacksonville in 2000.

The last meetings: Summaries of the two Bengals-Jaguars meetings — at Cincinnati in 2014, and at Jacksonville in '17 — are on page 14 of this news release.

• Green has 63 total TDs, one short of WR Carl Pickens and RB James Brooks (both with 64) for third place all-time. FB Pete Johnson (70) is the Bengals' all-time leader.

*—The NFL has counted sacks as official statistics since 1982. However, the Bengals have sack statistics compiled since 1976 and recognize those sacks recorded from '76-81 in its records. Thus, please note that, because the NFL has sacks statistics for all teams only since 1982, the Bengals' sack statistics for players whose careers included seasons prior to '82 will not be included in league information.

Records vs. Jaguars: On Dec. 9, 2001 at Paul Brown Stadium, the Bengals tied the club record with eight sacks, all against Jacksonville's Mark Brunell. Cincinnati's other eight-sack game was at Pittsburgh on 10-16-94.

On Oct. 9, 2005 in Jacksonville, Bengals P Kyle Larson recorded the longest punt in team history — 75 yards. That record was later tied by Kevin Huber on Dec. 1, 2013 at San Diego.

The most receptions the Bengals have given up in a single game to a single receiver came on Jan. 2, 2000 in Jacksonville, when Jimmy Smith hauled in 14 catches for 165 yards.

Individually vs. Jaguars: Past offensive performances by current Cincinnati players against Jacksonville include:

• QB Andy Dalton: Four games; 3-1 W-L record; 70 completions in 113 attempts (61.9 percent) for 792 yards (198.0 yards per game) with six TDs and four INTs (85.9 rating); 11 rushes for 15 yards (1.4) with one TD.

• WR A.J. Green: Four games; 15 receptions for 257 yards (17.1) and three TDs.

• HB Joe Mixon: One game; 13 rushes for 31 yards (3.4) and one TD; three receptions for 15 yards.

• HB Giovani Bernard: One game; one rush for minus-1 yard; one reception for minus-5 yards.

Bengals-Jaguars connections: Jaguars OL Andrew Norwell is from Cincinnati (Anderson High School) and played at Ohio State University ... Jaguars OL Cedric Ogbuehi entered the NFL as a first-round pick (21st overall) of the Bengals in 2015, and was with Cincinnati through the '18 season ...

Since 2004, the year of the Bengals' last significant uniform redesign, a number of color options for jerseys and pants have been available. Below are the records (regular season plus postseason) for the different combinations:

JERSEY	PANTS	W-L-T	PCT.
Orange*	Black	6-1-0	.857
Orange*	White	16-7-1	.688

White	White	19-30-0	.388

* — NFL rules allow teams to wear designated alternate jerseys, color rush (CR) uniforms and/or throwback uniforms for a combined total of three regular-season games. As in years past, orange served as the Bengals' designated alternate jersey, and for the third straight year, the team used their color rush uniforms (white jersey, white pants), which debuted in 2016. Cincinnati does not have a throwback uniform.

THE HEAD COACHES

Zac Taylor was named the 10th head coach in Cincinnati Bengals history on Feb. 4, 2019. He comes to Cincinnati after two seasons with the L.A. Rams, where he served as assistant wide receivers coach in 2017 and quarterbacks coach in '18.

In 2018, Taylor helped guide Rams QB Jared Goff to career highs in every major passing category — completions (364), attempts (561), passing yards (4688), passing TDs (32), completion percentage (64.9), yards per attempt (8.36) and passer rating (101.1). Goff ranked fourth in the NFL in passing yards and eighth in passer rating. The Rams' QB play was a key component to their offense, which finished the regular season ranked second in the NFL in total net yards (421.1 per game), fifth in net passing yards (281.7), second in scoring (32.9), first in first downs (401) and fifth in third-down percentage (45.0). Los Angeles won the NFC West with a 13-3 regular-season record and advanced to Super Bowl LIII against the New England Patriots.

In 2017, Taylor helped oversee an emerging Rams passing offense that ranked 10th in the NFL in pass yards per game (239.4). Taylor directed the Rams' young receiving corps, headed by rookie Cooper Kupp, who finished the season with 62 catches, a team-high 869 receiving yards and five TDs. Kupp (869 yards), TE Gerald Everett (244) and WR Josh Reynolds (104) — all rookies — helped the Rams finish with the third-most receiving yards among rookie pass catchers.

Prior to his time with the Rams, Taylor had a one-year stint in the college ranks, serving as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at the University of Cincinnati in 2016. Taylor served under head coach Tommy Tuberville at UC.

Taylor broke into NFL coaching in 2012 with the Miami Dolphins as assistant quarterbacks coach. He was elevated to quarterbacks coach from 2013-15, and spent the final five games of '15 as the Dolphins' interim offensive coordinator and primary play-caller, after the team made coaching staff changes in late November. During his time in Miami, Taylor was instrumental in the development of QB Ryan Tannehill, the team's first-round draft pick in 2012.

Taylor's coaching career began at Texas A&M University, where he served as offensive graduate assistant and tight ends coach under head coach Mike Sherman from 2008-11. The Aggies shared the Big 12 South Championship in 2010 and played in three bowl games during Taylor's time in College Station.

As a player, Taylor began his collegiate career at Wake Forest (2002-03), before transferring to Butler County Community College in Kansas ('04) and then playing his final two seasons ('05-06) at the University of Nebraska. Taylor had a decorated career with the Cornhuskers, setting numerous school records and passing for a combined 5850 yards and 45 touchdowns. In his senior season of 2006, Taylor was named Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year after passing for 3197 total yards and leading the Cornhuskers to a 9-3 record, an appearance in the Big 12 Championship Game and a berth in the Cotton Bowl. He was inducted into the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame in 2017.

Taylor joined the Tampa Bay Buccaneers as a college free agent in 2007, but he was waived prior to the start of training camp and never saw NFL action. Later that year, he joined the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League, where he spent one season (did not play).

His father, Sherwood, was a defensive back and captain at the University of Oklahoma, playing under Sooners head coach Barry Switzer from 1976-79. Sherwood Taylor later served as an assistant coach at Oklahoma and Kansas State University. Taylor's brother, Press, played quarterback at Marshall University and is currently quarterbacks coach for the Philadelphia Eagles.

Taylor was born on May 10, 1983, in Norman, Okla., where he was raised and later attended Norman High School. He earned a bachelor's degree in communication studies from the University of Nebraska in 2006. He and his wife, Sarah, have four children — Brooks, Luke, Emma Claire and Milly. Sarah Taylor is the daughter of former Green Bay Packers and Texas A&M head coach Mike Sherman.

Doug Marrone was named the sixth head coach in Jaguars history on Jan. 9, 2017 after serving as the team's interim head coach for the final two games of the 2016 season. He has compiled a 2-1 postseason record and a 18-22 regular-season record as Jacksonville's head coach, including a 10-6 season in 2017 when he led the Jaguars to their first playoff appearance in a decade.

Marrone joined the Jaguars in 2015 as the team's assistant head coach offense/offensive line coach. He previously served as head coach of the Buffalo Bills (2013-14) and Syracuse ('09-12). Prior to his Syracuse tenure, Marrone spent seven years in the NFL, with New Orleans (2006-08) and the N.Y. Jets ('02-05).

Marrone's career NFL record as a head coach is 35-40.

Marrone was drafted in the sixth round of the 1986 NFL Draft by the L.A. Raiders and played two years in the NFL, first with the Miami Dolphins in 1987 and then with the Saints in '89. He also had playing stints with Pittsburgh, Dallas and Minnesota, as well as the NFL London Monarchs (1991-92).

Marrone played offensive line at Syracuse (1983-85), where he earned a liberal arts degree. He coached collegiately at Cortland (1992), the U.S. Coast Guard Academy ('93), Northeastern ('94), Georgia Tech ('95-99), Georgia (2000), and Tennessee ('01).

Marrone was born on July 25, 1964, in Bronx, N.Y.. He and wife, Helen, have two daughters, Madeline and Annie, and a son, Mack.

Taylor vs. Jaguars: No previous meetings.

Taylor vs. Marrone: No previous meetings.

Marrone vs. Bengals: The series is tied, 1-1. The Bengals beat Marrone's Bills in Buffalo in a 27-24 overtime game in 2013. The Jaguars won 23-7 with him as head coach at Jacksonville in 2017.

T.B. chasing T.J.: Six games into the 2019 season, WR Tyler Boyd remains in position to make a run at former Bengals WR T.J. Houshmandzadeh's team record for receptions in a season. Houshmandzadeh's 112 catches in 2007 stand as the top mark in team history, with WR Carl Pickens' 100 in 1996 counting as the only other instance of a Bengal reaching the 100-catch plateau.

Boyd so far has 40 catches, tied for sixth-most in the NFL this season, tied for the fifth-most ever by a Bengal in the first six games of a season, and slightly behind pace to break Houshmandzadeh's record. Boyd had been ahead of record pace, before being held to a season-low three catches last Sunday at Baltimore.

Houshmandzadeh had 51 catches through six games in 2007, and Pickens had 36 in 1996. Boyd would need to average 7.2 catches over the Bengals' final 10 games to equal Houshmandzadeh's 112, and 6.0 per game to reach the 100-catch plateau.

Boyd eyeing another thousand: With WR A.J. Green having not yet played this season due to an ankle injury, WR Tyler Boyd has again stepped into the spotlight as the Bengals No. 1 WR. But it's familiar territory for the fourth-year pro. Boyd served in the same role the second half of last season while Green was out with a foot injury, and he ended the year with a career-high 1028 receiving yards despite missing final two games his own injury. That made him the first Bengal other than Green to top 1000 receiving yards in a season since 2009 (Chad Johnson, 1047).

So far this season, Boyd has 416 receiving yards on a team-high 40 receptions (tied for sixth in NFL). He needs to average 58.4 receiving yards over the final 10 games to reach 1000 for the season.

"Tyler is a young, up-and-coming receiver in this league, and he's had great production over the years," Bengals head coach Zac Taylor said of Boyd. "He's a great separator, he's got great hands, has great attention to detail and is very coachable. All the traits that we look for in receivers, Tyler exhibits."

T.B. a menace on third down: WR Tyler Boyd this season has picked up right where he left off the last three years — causing problems for opposing defenses on third downs. Boyd has nine receptions on third-down (for 102 yards), tied with TE Tyler Eifert for the team lead. Eight of Boyd's nine catches on third downs so far this season have converted first downs.

Last season, Boyd finished with 22 first-down receptions on third down, good for a career-high and the most in a season by a Bengal since 2008 (26 by T.J. Houshmandzadeh). That total also tied for last year's league lead in that category with Houston's DeAndre Hopkins and New Orleans' Michael Thomas. It should also be noted that Boyd missed the final two games of 2018 due to a knee injury.

Overall on third down last season, Boyd had 24 catches (tied for third in AFC) for 302 yards (12.6 average) and three TDs.

Having success on third down isn't a new trend for Boyd. As a rookie in 2016, his 22 third-down receptions led all rookies, and his 16 third-down receptions that converted first downs tied for the rookie lead with the N.Y. Giants' Sterling Shepard.

Looking at first-year Bengals coaches: When Zac Taylor was named Bengals head coach on Feb. 4, questions immediately surfaced about how quickly he could return the team to success. But even the best coaches in Bengals history have taken time to right the ship.

Here's a look at the nine previous Bengals head coaches' records in their first full season as the team's head coach.

Bengals tough when Joe's clicking: Bengals head coach Zac Taylor has alluded several times this season to the team's effort to involve HB Joe Mixon more heavily in the Bengals' offense. History shows that probably is a good idea.

The Bengals are 6-1 since Mixon's rookie season of 2017 when he gets at least 20 carries, with the lone outlier being a loss at the L.A. Chargers late last year after the Bengals had lost QB Andy Dalton and WR A.J. Green for the season due to injuries.

The Bengals are also 6-5 in games where Mixon has reached 100 total yards, with two of the five losses coming late last year without Dalton and Green. And when Mixon reaches 100 rushing yards, Cincinnati is 3-2, with both losses coming last year without Dalton and Green.

The Bengals are 0-1 this season when Mixon reaches 100 total yards (109 in Game 5 vs. Arizona). He has not yet reached 20 carries or 100 rushing yards.

Mixon looks to regain 2018 form: Despite missing two games due to a knee injury last season, HB Joe Mixon still managed to become the only Bengals player ever to lead the AFC in rushing yards (1168) in a season (RB Paul Robinson led the AFL in rushing in 1968).

And while he has topped 100 total yards once this season (109 in Game 5 vs. Arizona), he hasn't yet found the statistical success in 2019 that he had in '18, when he recorded the 22nd 1000-yard rushing season in Bengals history and became just the 11th Bengal ever to hit that mark. He also scored a team-high nine TDs (eight rushing, one receiving) last year, and had four games of 100 or more yards rushing and seven games of 100 or more yards from scrimmage.

Through six games this year, Mixon has 74 rushes for 252 yards. Bengals head coach Zac Taylor, who entered the season stressing the importance of the run game in his system, said recently that fixing Cincinnati's ground attack is among the coaching staff's top priorities.

"We talk about (the ground game) every day," Taylor said. "We're trying to find the best answers. We're trying to find the best rhythm for the five (offensive linemen) that are out there. 'What do each of them do best? What's the best way to find success?' It's an ongoing conversation that's nonstop."

15 carries for Gio does the trick: Over his now seven seasons in Cincinnati, Giovani Bernard has carved out a spot among the top dual-threat running backs in team history.

But when examining Bernard's workload specifically as a rusher throughout his career, a significant trend becomes apparent — the Bengals are 10-1-1 in games in which Bernard has at least 15 rushing attempts. Bernard has not yet reached 15 carries in a game in 2019, however Cincinnati was 1-0 in 2018 when Bernard hit the mark (15 rushes for 69 yards in Game 4 at Atlanta).

In the 12 career games in which Bernard has reached 15 carries, he has averaged 78.4 yards, scored seven rushing TDs and topped 100 yards three times.

Gio sets sights on Brooks: HB Giovani Bernard currently stands within striking distance of the Bengals' all-time leads in both receptions and receiving yards by a running back, which are both held by RB James Brooks. With 279 career receptions, Bernard stands 18 short of James Brooks' record of 297. And with 2386 receiving yards, Bernard is 626 short of Brooks' record of 3012. Brooks played eight seasons with the Bengals (1984-91), while 2019 is Bernard's seventh.

Bernard averaged 898 yards from scrimmage in his first six NFL seasons — 518 rushing, 380 receiving — although his pursuit of Brooks' records has been slowed slightly by injuries in recent years. In 2018, he got off to a fast start before a knee injury sidelined him for four games. He also missed the final six games of 2016 due to a torn ACL in his left knee.

Keep an eye on Andy: QB Andy Dalton owns a 68-56-2 record as a starter, good for the top winning percentage (.548) of any Bengals QB with 10 or more starts. And as the numbers have shown, the Bengals' success is tied closely to that of their QB.

The Bengals are 39-9 (.813) when Dalton achieves a passer rating of at least 100, with wins in 11 of their last 16 such instances. Conversely, Cincinnati is just 10-26 (.278) when Dalton's passer rating is 70 or lower, with losses in the last 14 such instances.

Dalton has thrown at least two TDs 63 times in his career, and the Bengals are 41-21-1 (.659) in those contests. In his 23 games with at least three TD passes, the Bengals are 22-1 (.957), with the only outlier coming in a 2012 loss at Cleveland. Conversely, the Bengals are just 6-17 (.261) when Dalton is held without a TD pass, and haven't won such a game since 2014 at Cleveland.

A similar trend is true with passing yardage. In the 50 instances of Dalton topping 250 passing yards, the Bengals are 29-19-2 (.600). He's topped 300 yards 26 times, with Cincinnati going 15-10-1 (.596) in those contests. But when he is held under 150 passing yards, Cincinnati is just 6-11 (.353)

Cincinnati has also proven tough to beat when Dalton is at his most accurate. When he completes at least 65 percent of his passes (minimum 20 attempts), the Bengals are 36-15-1 (.702), including wins in eight of their last 12 such games. And when that completion percentage jumps to at least 70, the Bengals are 21-6-1 (.768), with wins in 12 of their last 15 such games. Cincinnati, however, is just 5-17 (.227) when Dalton's completion percentage is 55 or lower.

25 points does the trick: Since 2011, the rookie season of both QB Andy Dalton and WR A.J. Green, the Bengals own a 46-1-2 record (.959) when scoring 25 or more points. Only Miami has a better winning percentage, at .970 (32-1-0), when topping the 25-point mark over that span.

The Bengals were a perfect 6-0 in 2018 when scoring 25 points or more, and 0-10 when failing to hit the mark. They have yet to reach 25 points in a game in 2019.

Here are the top five teams in the NFL since 2011, in terms of winning percentage, when hitting the 25-point plateau.

TEAM	WINS	LOSSES	TIES	WINNING PCT.
Miami Dolphins	32	1	0	.970
Cincinnati Bengals	46	1	2	.959
Arizona Cardinals	37	3	1	.915
New England Patriots	84	8	0	.913
Denver Broncos	51	6	0	.895
Philadelphia Eagles	51	6	0	.895

Dalton passes Kenny in TDs: QB Andy Dalton's two rushing touchdowns this season have given him 21 total TDs for his career, the most by a QB in Bengals history. Dalton tied former Bengals QB Ken Anderson (20) for the lead in Game 3 at Buffalo, and then moved ahead of him in Game 6 at Baltimore with a two-yard rushing score in the fourth quarter. Dalton in 2019 is playing his ninth season, while Anderson played 16 Bengals seasons (1971-86).

All of Anderson's 20 TDs were rushing scores. Dalton has 20 rushing TDs, and he has 21 total by virtue of being the only Bengals QB ever to catch a touchdown pass. He scored on an 18-yard gadget connection from WR Mohamed Sanu vs. Tennessee in 2014.

The next-most TDs by a Bengals QB is 10, by Jeff Blake.

Dalton and Jack Thompson share the Bengals season record for touchdowns by a QB, at five. Dalton had five in 2014, tying the record first set by Thompson in 1979.

'Crazy Legs' Andy: QB Andy Dalton's 20 career rushing TDs not only put him in rare company in team history, he also is among the best when compared to his current NFL peers. In the category of rushing TDs by a QB, only Carolina's Cam Newton, whose 58 are beyond similarity, ranks higher than Dalton since 2011. Dalton and Dallas QB Dak Prescott (20) stand tied for second behind Newton, with Russell Wilson (19) and Tyrod Taylor (16) not far behind.

'Ice-Water' Andy: Bengals QB Andy Dalton has 24 career game-winning drives, the most in Bengals history ahead Boomer Esiason (22).

A game-winning drive is defined as a drive that results in an offensive score in the fourth quarter or overtime that is responsible for putting the team ahead to stay (PATs included).

The Bengals' record for most game-winning drives in a season is five, set by former QB Jeff Blake in 1996, and then tied by former QB Carson Palmer in '09. Dalton had four game-winning drives in 2018, despite missing the final five games due to a season-ending thumb injury.

Since 2011, the year the Bengals drafted him, Dalton's 24 game-winning drives are tied with Atlanta's Matt Ryan for the fourth-most in the NFL.

Here's a look at the NFL quarterbacks with the most game-winning drives in the fourth quarter or overtime since 2011.

Drew Brees	New Orleans.....	26

An Andy roundup: Other records and notable accomplishments in QB Andy Dalton's career include:

- Dalton has posted 48 career games with a passer rating of 100 or more, and the Bengals are 39-9 (.813) in those contests.
- Dalton's .548 winning percentage (68-56-2) is the best of any Bengals QB with 10 or more starts.
- Dalton holds club season records for passing yards (4293) and TD passes (33), both set in 2013.
- He is the only Bengals passer to throw for 300-plus yards in four consecutive games (2013).
- He opened his career with 77 consecutive regular-season starts, a Bengals record for quarterbacks at any point during a career. The previous mark had been 61, posted by Boomer Esiason from 1985-89. Dalton's streak ranks tied for fourth in NFL history for the start of a career by a QB, trailing only Peyton Manning of Indianapolis (208), Joe Flacco of Baltimore (122) and Russell Wilson of Seattle (118 and counting). Dalton is tied with Tennessee QB Ryan Tannehill, whose streak of 77 ended in 2016 while with Miami.

The Huber roundup: Long considered the top punter in Bengals history, 11th-year pro Kevin Huber now has the career records to back up that claim. Already a considerable presence in the Bengals' record book heading into last season, Huber moved into first place in the only two remaining career punting categories in the Bengals' record book.

Huber now stands first in team history in the following categories:

- Punts (796)
- Punting yards (35,817)
- Gross average (45.00)

- Net average (39.80)
- Inside-20 punts (275)

Huber has also taken over many of the Bengals' single-season and single-game records. Among them are:

- He holds the top four Bengals season averages in gross yardage and the top five Bengals season averages in net. His gross record is 46.84, and his net record is 42.10 — both were set in 2014.
- He shares the team record for longest punt (75 yards) with Kyle Larson.
- His 33 inside-20 punts in 2012 is a single-season franchise record.
- His six inside-20 punts on Sept. 14, 2017 vs. Houston are tied with Lee Johnson (Nov. 2, 1997) for the most in a game in Bengals history.

Dunlap's PD frenzy: While he hasn't yet recorded a pass defended so far this season, Bengals DE Carlos Dunlap still has a reputation as one of the league's best defensive linemen at batting down passes at the line of scrimmage. And he has the numbers to back it up, too.

Dunlap had eight passes defended in 2018, second-most in the NFL among non-DBs. His eight PDs were the third-highest single-season total of his career, behind the 2013 (10) and '16 (15) seasons. His 2016 total led all Bengals defenders and all other NFL defensive linemen, and it was the first time since Cincinnati began recording defensive stats in 1976 that a Bengals defensive lineman had ever led the team in PDs.

To paint a clearer picture of just how effective Dunlap has been at batting passes, here's a list of non-defensive backs in the NFL with the most passes defended since the start of the 2016 season.

PLAYER	POS	TEAM	PDs SINCE 2016
Alec Ogletree	LB	St. Louis/L.A. Rams/N.Y. Giants.....	32
Carlos Dunlap	DE	Cincinnati.....	30
Eric Kendricks	LB	Minnesota.....	29
Deion Jones	LB	Atlanta.....	28
Cory Littleton	LB	L.A. Rams.....	24
Cameron Jordan	LB	New Orleans.....	23

Dunlap has played in five of Cincinnati's six games so far this season. He missed Game 6 at Baltimore due to a knee injury, and his status for this week's contest vs. Jacksonville is unknown.

Dunlap's, Atkins' dominance = team success: Bengals DE Carlos Dunlap and DT Geno Atkins entered the NFL together in 2010 as draft picks of the Bengals, and in the 10 seasons since they've established themselves among the top pass-rushing duos in the league. Most importantly though, the record shows that when Dunlap and Atkins are at their most dominant, it usually spells success for Cincinnati.

The Bengals are 10-6 (.625) when Dunlap records more than one sack, and 8-4 (.667) when Atkins records more than one sack. There have been two instances in which both have had more than one sack in the same game (Bengals are 1-1 in those contests), which means Cincinnati is a combined 17-9 (.654) when getting more than one sack from either player.

The Bengals are 7-1 since the beginning of the 2015 season when Dunlap records more than one sack, with the only outlier coming in a 20-17 overtime loss at Denver in 2015. Dunlap had a career-best three sacks in that Denver game and finished 2015 with a career-high 13.5, second-most in Bengals history.

Since 2015, the Bengals are 6-2 when Atkins has more than one sack. The only outliers during that span were losses vs. Houston and at Minnesota in 2017.

Neither Dunlap nor Atkins has had more than one sack in a game so far this season.

Dunlap and Atkins are under contract with the Bengals through the '21 and '22 seasons, respectively. Dunlap (73.5 career sacks) currently stands second on the Bengals' all-time sack list, and Atkins (72) is third. The Bengals' leader in career sacks is DE Eddie Edwards, with 83.5.

Dunlap, Atkins neck-and-neck in career sacks: Just 1.5 sacks separate Bengals DE Carlos Dunlap (73.5 career sacks) and DT Geno Atkins (72), who rank second and third, respectively, on Cincinnati's all-time sack list behind all-time leader Eddie Edwards (83.5). And now that Edwards' record is within sight, the race is on to see which player catches him first.

Atkins, who missed nearly half of the 2013 season with a torn ACL, has more than double the number of sacks of the next-closest interior defensive lineman in Bengals history (Tim Krumrie, 34.5). Atkins in 2018 had a team-high 10 sacks, the third-highest single-season sack total of his career (he had a career-high 12.5 in 2012, and 11 in '15). Atkins has finished with at least a share of the NFL lead for sacks by an interior lineman five times in nine NFL seasons, including in three of the last four years (see "Geno looks to re-claim his crown").

Dunlap, a two-time Pro Bowler (2015 and '16) who turned 30 after the '18 season, averaged 8.1 sacks over his first nine NFL seasons, while Edwards averaged just under seven over 12 seasons. In 2015, Dunlap set a career-high in sacks, with 13.5, the second-most in Bengals history. Besides his 73.5 sacks, Dunlap's career totals include 18 FFs, nine FRs, 56 PDs, four blocked FGs and three TDs.

NOTE: The NFL has counted sacks as official statistics since 1982. However, the Bengals have sack statistics compiled since 1976 and recognize those sacks recorded from '76-81 in its records. Thus, please note that, because the NFL has sacks statistics for all teams only since 1982, the Bengals' sack statistics for players whose careers included seasons prior to '82 will not be included in league information.

Geno on HOF pace: Bengals DT Geno Atkins, who is playing his 10th NFL season in 2019, currently stands at 72 career sacks, third in team history and the most ever by a Bengals interior defensive lineman.

But a closer look reveals that Atkins is on a Hall-of-Fame pace. When compared to defensive tackles in the Pro Football Hall of Fame, Atkins compares quite favorably at this point in his career.

Here's a look at the sack totals of notable Hall-of-Fame DTs through their 10th seasons, as well as where they stood at the end of their careers. It should be noted that Atkins missed nearly half of the 2013 season, due to a torn ACL.

(NOTE: This list includes only DTs whose careers started after 1982, when the NFL began counting sacks as official statistics):

NAME	YEARS ACTIVE	THRU 10 SEASONS	CAREER SACKS
John Randle.....	1990-2003	106.0	137.5
Warren Sapp.....	1995-2007	79.5	96.5
Geno Atkins	2010-present	*72.0	*72.0
Cortez Kennedy.....	1990-2000	57.0	58.0

*—Atkins is five games into his 10th NFL season.

Geno looks to re-claim his crown: Bengals DT Geno Atkins in 2019 is looking to reclaim a crown that, for all intents and purposes, has been his for much of this decade. In nine previous NFL seasons (2010-18), Atkins has five times finished in at least a tie for most sacks by an NFL interior defensive lineman. He claimed it outright in 2012 (12.5 sacks), '16 (nine) and '17 (nine), while sharing it in '11 (7.5) and '15 (11).

Atkins has just one sack thus far this season, but remains within striking distance of the league's co-leaders among interior linemen, Bears DT Nick Williams and Buffalo DT Jordan Phillips (each with 4.0).

Last season, Atkins had a team-high 10 sacks but finished two short of the top spot, held by 49ers DT DeForest Buckner (12). It marked the first time in the previous four seasons that Atkins failed to finish in at least a tie for the lead.

Atkins has been selected to the Pro Bowl seven times in his nine previous seasons. Those seven selections are the most by a Bengals defensive player in team history, just ahead of CB Lemar Parrish (six). No other Bengals defensive lineman has been selected more than twice. Atkins currently stands at 72 career sacks, the most by a Bengals interior lineman and third overall.

Three Bengals hail from Queen City: The Bengals have three players — LB Preston Brown, DE Sam Hubbard and P Kevin Huber — who grew up in Greater Cincinnati.

Brown, who grew up in College Hill and attended Northwest High School, is in his second year with the Bengals in 2019. He spent his first four NFL seasons with the Buffalo Bills. After signing with Cincinnati as an unrestricted free agent in March of 2018, Brown called the opportunity "living out a dream."

"When I started looking around (in free agency), I knew there might be a spot here," Brown said. "And the Bengals definitely jumped to the top of my list when I found out they had interest in me as well."

After missing nine games due to multiple injuries in his first Bengals season,

Brown is now back for Year 2 as a starting LB.

Hubbard, a Moeller High School alum and former Ohio State standout, is now in his second season with the Bengals. A third-round draft pick (77th overall) a year ago, Hubbard followed up a productive rookie season by earning the Bengals' No. 1 RDE spot in preseason. He has a team-high three sacks so far this season.

"It's insane," Hubbard said after being drafted by his hometown Bengals. "Seeing that 513 area code pop up on my phone on draft day was just incredible. To get an opportunity to represent the city of Cincinnati one more time, and to do it for the pro team in this city, is a dream come true. I watched every game the Bengals played. I was there when Carson Palmer got hurt in the playoffs (in the 2005 season). I've just always been a big fan."

Huber, an Anderson Township native and alum of McNicholas High School and the University of Cincinnati, was a fifth-round draft choice of the Bengals in 2009. He has played in all but two games throughout his career in Cincinnati, and he currently stands as the Bengals' career leader in both gross (45.00) and net (39.80) punting average.

Huber and his wife, Mindi, have been active in the local community throughout his Bengals career. The couple started their own charity, The Foundation for Underserved Rescues, which "provides resources and support to underserved Cincinnati-area animal rescues."

It should also be noted that Bengals have a fourth player with Cincinnati ties. Rookie G Michael Jordan was born in Fairfield, Ohio, just outside of Cincinnati, but his family moved and he attended high school in Michigan.

Bengals draft picks stick in NFL:

A familiar trend has emerged this season regarding which teams have the most keen eye for talent in the draft, and the Bengals are again toward the top of the list. As of Monday (10/14), there were 49 players on NFL rosters who entered the NFL as draft picks of the Bengals, four shy of Baltimore for the most of any team in the NFL.

Cincinnati was among the top three teams all of last season as well, and even held a double-digit lead over the second place team early in the year before 13 qualifying players landed on Reserve/Injured. Only players on active 53-man rosters are counted in this data.

Of the 53 players on Cincinnati's active roster on Monday (10/14), 42 entered the NFL with the Bengals — 33 as draft picks, and nine as college free agents. That total includes OT Andre Smith, a Bengals first-round pick in 2009 who later spent time with Minnesota and Arizona before rejoining Cincinnati.

Of the Bengals' 33 draft picks on their roster, seven were first-round picks (including Smith), seven were second-rounders, five were third-rounders, seven were fourth-rounders, two were fifth-rounders, three were sixth-rounders and two were seventh-rounders.

Here's a look at the teams with the most draft picks on an active NFL roster, as of Monday, Oct. 14.

TEAM	DRAFT PICKS ON NFL ROSTERS
Baltimore Ravens	53
Cincinnati Bengals	49
New England Patriots	47
Seattle Seahawks	47
L.A. Rams	47
San Francisco 49ers.....	46

Bengal bites:

Three Bengals on the 53-player roster have changed uniform numbers since preseason — CB Darius Phillips (Reserve/Injured) now is No. 24, CB B.W. Webb now is No. 23 and WR Damion Willis now is No. 15 ... The tallest Bengal is QB Jake Dolegala, who is 6-7 ... The shortest Bengal is HB Trayveon Williams, who is 5-8 ... There is a tie for heaviest Bengals player between DT Josh Tupou and OT Cordy Glenn, who are both 345 pounds ... The lightest Bengal is CB Tony McRae, who is 185 pounds ... The oldest Bengal is LS Clark Harris, who is 35 (born July 10, 1984) ... The youngest Bengal is G Michael Jordan, who is 21 (Jan. 25, 1998).

BENGALS QUOTES

Bengals president Mike Brown, on head coach Zac Taylor and a young staff of assistant coaches:

"It's new, it's different, and we're going to find out. You'll get a feel for (Taylor) as they go about it. They all have good certifications, good backgrounds, and I'm as interested as anybody to see just how it fits together out on the field and how it all works. It's going to be quite different for us. That's the fact. I think that's what our fans wanted. They felt we needed that. I think maybe they're right in how they feel."

Head coach Zac Taylor, on handling the offensive play-calling responsibilities:

"It leaves you with a lot on your plate, but at the same time I know what I want this thing to look like. (Offensive coordinator) Brian Callahan and I are in lockstep. We're on the same page, along with all the other coaches in this offense. It may be me calling the plays, but everybody has input. Even at practice, I'm listening to Brian and some of the other coaches talk about ideas. Even though it's coming out of my mouth, it doesn't mean the ideas for play-calls are solely coming from me. (Communication between us) is something we try to iron out in practice — we try to make it as game-like as possible — and it's important that everyone is equally involved."

WR A.J. Green, on new head coach Zac Taylor's approach to team practices:

"Playing with (former Bengals head) coach (Marvin) Lewis, it was all about the defense. You didn't show up the defense at practice. But at OTA No. 1 (this year), Zac was like, 'We're going to kick the defense's butt.' That's what we like to hear on offense. I love the way he teaches. He's not yelling at you — he's teaching every little detail and having you understand why we run it a certain way."

QB Andy Dalton, on the changes that have occurred under new head coach Zac Taylor:

"With Zac getting here and the whole change, and trying to make it feel new and feel different, I think he's done great. From the day he stepped in here, you felt the change. Obviously he had a plan for what he wanted, and they're doing it. You can see it with all the construction (around the building) and the way the staff came together. They're all in for what Zac is wanting to do."

Offensive coordinator Brian Callahan, on the offense being temporarily without A.J. Green, who was injured early in training camp:

"Listen, we all want A.J. out there. Everyone wants him. When you have those guys, you find ways to use them. But there are plenty of instances where you may not have him. You always stay true to what you believe offensively is going to help you win the game. If that involves featuring matchups with a guy as dynamic as A.J., then that's going to be part of it. If we don't have that piece, we will move the pieces around to get us the best matchups that help us win the game. That's what our system is designed to do — move pieces wherever we need them."

Taylor, on WR Auden Tate:

"Auden has aggressive hands and he's tough. Those are two traits that you love. He's a guy you can find a role for in this offense. He looks like a tight end playing wide receiver. He's physical in the run game, he has a great catch radius, he catches the ones you throw to him, and he's hard to take down. When his number has been called, he's produced for us."

Taylor, on WRs Damion Willis and Stanley Morgan, both rookie CFAs:

"Competitors. They are as competitive as they come. They're natural football players. They make the play whenever the ball is in their vicinity. They love to compete; they love to practice. Those are guys that impress you with the energy they bring to the whole team. Yeah, they're undrafted rookie free agents, but I've really been impressed with them since the first couple of weeks they were here — enough that they're both active right now. You can always ask, 'Do you want to go sign somebody else (a veteran) that you've seen on tape, maybe that's played more in the league?' No. These are guys we believe in, and if we didn't, we wouldn't bring them up (to the active roster) — we'd go get somebody else. But we truly believe in both of those guys."

Taylor, on HB Giovani Bernard, who signed a contract extension on Sept. 3:

"He's consistent with his approach every day. You know what you're getting from him. He's very detailed with his craft — he's a good runner, he's a good receiver and he's a good protector. He fits all three of those traits that you want in a running back, and particularly in a No. 2 running back, because Joe gets the majority of the touches. Gio has always been reliable and goes about it the right way. He sets a great example for the other players on this team. He's very deserving of what he received (with a contract extension) and I'm happy for him."

Taylor, on offensive line coach Jim Turner:

"Our experience working together (in the past) has great value. We see protections the same way, we see the run game the same way (and) the cadences the same way. We are always on the same page. ... I believe in Jim. I've seen him coach for six years live and in person now. I've seen what he has gotten out of players and the way he has developed players. Jim's attention to detail is unmatched. Our offensive linemen are going to be disciplined and know how we want it done. I don't believe in anybody more than I believe in Jim to get that job done."

Turner, on C Trey Hopkins being a starter:

"We feel like, right now, Trey can help us win at center better than anybody else on our team. As far as the performance of playing center and all the things that go into that position, Trey's got a lot of experience. When you watch the tape over Trey's career, he has done a heck of a job, and he has developed into a heck of a player. We expect a lot out of him now, having given him this responsibility."

HB Joe Mixon, on his approach for the season:

"(I will do) as much as I have to do individually and as much as I can for the team, to put ourselves on top. If it takes 250 (carries), I'm going to take 250. If it takes 400, that's what I'm going to do. At the end of the day, every touch counts. I've always been a one-play-away guy until I just break, and I'll continue to do that. If it takes 400 touches, then that's what I'm going to want."

Taylor, on rookie TE Drew Sample:

"He's a gritty player. He really just has a special knack in all three phases — pass protection, run blocking and being a receiver. (The first preseason game) was his welcome-to-the-NFL moment. I thought he played much better (the next at Washington), and he's only going to improve with every single game he plays against a different defensive line and different linebackers he will have to go against. We are only going to see him improve. I'm very pleased with the direction he is headed in."

Callahan, on TEs C.J. Uzomah and Tyler Eifert:

"There's no question — when we put those guys in different positions in formations, they can do a lot for us both as coverage indicators and as pieces in the passing game. On top of that, they can run block well. We're going to be able to run a lot of different things with them in the lineup."

Tight ends coach James Casey, on using TEs C.J. Uzomah and Tyler Eifert on the field at the same time:

"It opens up so many possibilities with both those guys on the field. I don't think C.J. gets enough credit for how well he runs and catches the ball, and I don't think Tyler gets enough credit for how well he does blocking."

S Shawn Williams, on new defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo:

"There isn't a big difference in the playbook — there's actually a lot of carryover. But there's no gray. I want to say it's simplifying everything, but it's really not, because some aspects are the same. There's no gray, so we can play fast. Everything is simple. No hesitation."

Defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo, on his coaching philosophy:

"It's to make sure that we allow the players to play as fast as possible. Whatever their job description is on a particular play, if it's clear cut, they can do it faster. That's with any job on the planet. If I'm supposed to put concrete over there, I can do it quick. If I'm not sure where to put it, I'm going to do it slower."

Anarumo, on DE Carl Lawson:

"He's a powerful guy. I watched Cam Wake do it for six years (with the Miami Dolphins). Carl has the same body type and can also jack up 300-pound tackles in the run game. And Carl has that same kind explosion. I think Carl's an all-around player and a three-down guy for us, for sure."

Taylor, on DT Andrew Billings:

"Billings has been a consistent player for us. Those D-linemen have played a lot of snaps and Billings is a guy that shows up. He's stout against the run, he gets penetration, and he pushes the quarterbacks out of position."

CB B.W. Webb, on defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo:

"Lou is very strategic about what he calls and has a lot of confidence in his players. That's very big for us — for our confidence —when a coach trusts you enough to put you in certain positions against the opponent's best players. He knows what the offense wants to do against us, so he just prepares us throughout the week, and we trust him."

POSITION BY POSITION

Quarterbacks: Veteran Andy Dalton is in the Bengals' starting QB role for the ninth consecutive season. Through six games, Dalton ranks 10th in the NFL in passing yards (1647), third in attempts (243) and fifth in completions (150). With 1:34 remaining in the fourth quarter of Game 6 at Baltimore, Dalton scrambled for a two-yard touchdown giving him the 21st score of his career (20 rushing, one receiving). With the TD, Dalton surpassed QB Ken Anderson for the most TDs by a QB in team history. In Game 3 at Buffalo, Dalton rushed for a one-yard touchdown that tied the game and snapped his two-year drought of being held out of the end zone. Dalton is now tied with Dallas QB Dak Prescott for the second-most rushing TDs by a QB (20) since 2011. In Game 5 vs. Arizona, Dalton posted a season-high 107.6 passer rating, his highest output since Game 4 of 2018, when he notched a 109.5 rating at Atlanta. In the opener at Seattle, he set career-highs in completions (35) and passing yards (418), en route to a 106.5 passer rating. Dalton's 418 passing yards against the Seahawks stands as the fifth-highest output among all QBs this season. Dalton owns a 68-56-2 regular season record as a starter, good for the top winning percentage (.548) of any Bengals QB with 10 or more starts. He stands as the Bengals' all-time leader in career passer rating (88.4) and 300-yard passing games (26), and is second in career completions (2593), passing yards (29,747), passing TDs (195) and completion percentage (62.27). His 195 career TD passes and 109 INTs are good for a ratio of 1.78-to-1, the best in Bengals history ahead of second-place Carson Palmer at 1.54-to-1 (154-100). Dalton has posted 48 career games with a passer rating at or above 100, and the Bengals' record in those contests is 39-9 (.813). The Bengals traded up in April's draft to select N.C. State's Ryan Finley in the fourth round. Finley jumped from third to second on the Bengals' QB depth chart after a strong preseason in which he notched a 99.3 passer rating. Touted by scouts for his accuracy and football intelligence, Finley left N.C. State with the top career completion percentage (.645) in school history. Despite playing only three seasons (2016-18) at N.C. State, Finley finished his career ranked third in ACC history in both passing yards (10,505) and 300-yard passing games (18). Finley began his college career at Boise State (2013-15), then graduated and played his final three seasons ('16-18) at N.C. State. Perhaps the biggest surprise of training camp was the play of college free agent Jake Dolegala of Central Connecticut State, a tall (6-foot-7), athletic and strong-armed passer who impressed in a little more than one game of action in preseason. Dolegala set school records in college for career passing yards (8129) and TDs (48).

Running backs: HB Joe Mixon now is in his third season with the Bengals, after a 2018 campaign in which he rushed for 1168 yards and became the first Cincinnati RB ever to lead the AFC in rushing yards in a season (Paul Robinson led the AFL in rushing as a rookie in 1968). Mixon had his most productive game of the season in Game 5 vs. Arizona, reaching 100 yards from scrimmage (93 rushing, 16 receiving) for the time this year. In Game 3 at Buffalo, Mixon reached the end zone for the first time in 2019 with a one-yard reception in the fourth quarter. In 34 career games (26 starts), Mixon has five 100-yard rushing performances, 11 games of at least 100 yards from scrimmage and the ninth-most rushing yards (2046) since the start of 2017. Also a threat through the air, he has caught 87 career passes for 680 yards and two TDs. A 2017 second-round pick out of Oklahoma, Mixon began his rookie season listed as the Bengals' No. 3 HB, but he worked his way to the No. 1 spot by mid-season. Giovani Bernard, a 2013 second-round pick of the Bengals, again serves in the No. 2 HB role behind Mixon. In the opener at Seattle, Bernard caught two passes for 42 yards, including a 35-yarder on a screen pass, which was his longest gain since 2017 when he had a 61-yard TD catch at Cleveland on Oct. 1. Bernard ranks second in Bengals history in both receptions (279) and receiving yards (2386) by a RB, trailing only James Brooks (297 and 3012). Brooks played seven Bengals seasons (1984-91), and Bernard in 2019 is in his seventh season. Bernard also owns the Bengals' record for receiving yards in a game by a RB (128), which he set in 2015 at Arizona, and his 89-yard TD run vs. Carolina in '14 stands as the second-longest rush in team history. New to the Bengals' backfield this season is rookie sixth-round pick Trayveon Williams of Texas A&M. Williams was inactive for Games 1-2 due to a foot injury suffered in preseason, then was an active/DNP (coach's decision) in Game 3 and inactive again for Games 4-5 (coach's decision). Williams made his first appearance of the season in Game 6 at Baltimore, playing in a reserve role on special teams. In three seasons at A&M, Williams amassed 4176 yards from scrimmage and 35 total TDs. Last season, Williams led the Southeastern Conference in rushing yards (1760) and TDs (18), while ranking second among SEC running backs in receptions (27) and third in receiving yards (278). Adding depth to the running backs room is HB Samaje Perine, a waiver acquisition from the Washington Redskins after roster cut-downs. Perine, who has played in all six games this season, has been a regular contributor on special teams, totaling a team-high four tackles. A fourth-round pick of Washington in 2017, Perine rushed for 635 yards and a TD on 183 carries in two seasons with the Redskins. In college at Oklahoma, Perine shared the backfield with Mixon, and the two formed one of college football's most productive running back tandems. In 2014 at Oklahoma, Perine rushed for an NCAA single-game record 427 yards vs. Kansas.

Wide receivers: Tyler Boyd has stepped into the No. 1 receiving role to start the season, while A.J. Green rehabs from an ankle injury suffered in the first practice of training camp. Boyd has gotten off to a fast start in 2019, and is tied for sixth in the NFL in receptions (40). Boyd's 416 receiving yards lead the team and rank ninth in the AFC. Boyd's 40 receptions so far are tied for fifth-most in Bengals history through the first six games of a season. In Game 5 vs. Arizona, Boyd led the team in receptions (10) and receiving yards (season-high 123) for the second time this season, and reached the end zone for the first time this season on a 42-yard touchdown reception in the fourth quarter. In Game 2 vs. San Francisco, Boyd collected his first 100-yard receiving game of the season with 122 yards on 10 receptions. He now has five career 100-yard receiving games and three career games with double-digit receptions. Boyd's 1000-yard season in 2018 was the first of his career, and the first by a Bengal other than Green since Chad Johnson in 2009. Boyd has become among the most reliable and productive receivers in the league on third down, and currently has nine third-down receptions, which is tied with teammate Tyler Eifert for the team lead. Eight of his nine third-down receptions have converted first downs. In 2018, Boyd tied for the league lead with 22 third-down catches that resulted in first downs, a total that also counted as the most by a Bengal since T.J. Houshmandzadeh's 26 in 2008. Boyd has caught at least one pass in all 46 career games. Originally a 2016 second-round pick of the Bengals, Boyd signed a contract extension in July that will keep him in Cincinnati through the 2023 season. Second-year pro Auden Tate, a 6-5 WR out of Florida State, carved out a roster spot out of training camp for the second straight year, after another strong preseason showing. Tate had a career day in Game 6 at Baltimore, leading the team in catches and receiving yards for the third time this season, while totaling a career-high 93 receiving yards. In Game 5 vs. Arizona, Tate recorded his first career touchdown on a two-yard pass from Dalton with 4:11 remaining in the game. In each of the two previous games (Games 3-4), Tate led the team in receptions and receiving yards, combining for 10 catches and 138 yards. Tate made his first NFL start in Game 3 at Buffalo, and posted 88 receiving yards on a career-high six receptions. Alex Erickson, who has served as the Bengals' No. 1 PR and KOR since joining the team as a CFA in 2016, has seen time throughout his career at both returner spots, WR and emergency RB. Erickson has played in all 54 games of his NFL career and posted 49 catches for 527 yards and a TD. After leaving Game 5 vs. Arizona with a concussion, Erickson had his best showing of the season in Game 6 at Baltimore, tying his season-high in catches (four), posting a season-high in receiving yards (47) and setting a career-high with a 17-yard rush on an end-around. Damion Willis, a college free agent out of Troy who entered training camp as a long shot to even make the roster, was the 11th WR to start a season-opener for the Bengals; all 10 of the previous players to do it were drafted in the fourth round or higher. Willis has played in all six games, made two starts and has nine catches for 82 yards so far this season. Stanley Morgan, a 2019 college free agent signee out of Nebraska, was signed from the practice squad to the active roster on Oct. 2. He made his NFL debut in Game 5 vs. Arizona, and notched his first career reception with a six-yard catch in the second quarter. Morgan spent four seasons (2015-18) at Nebraska, and set school records in career receptions (189) and receiving yards (2747). Regarding ninth-year wideout Green, his climb up the Bengals' record books is temporarily on hold, while he rehabs from an ankle injury suffered in Cincinnati's first training camp practice. Green has not yet played in 2019, and Bengals head coach Zac Taylor says there is no specific timeline for Green's return. Last season, Green was limited by a toe injury to just nine games, and for the first time in his eight seasons, missed out on earning a Pro Bowl nod. Green, though, still stands as the only NFL WR since the 1970 merger to start his career with seven consecutive Pro Bowl nominations. Green's seven Pro Bowl selections are tied with DT Geno Atkins for second in Bengals history, behind HOF OT Anthony Munoz (11). Despite limited action in 2018, Green finished second on the team in receptions (46), receiving yards (694) and receiving TDs (six); it was the first time in his eight seasons he did not lead the team in receptions and receiving yards. Green currently ranks second in team history in receptions (602) and receiving yards (8907); Chad Johnson, who played 10 seasons with the Bengals, is first in both categories (751 and 10,783). Green is the Bengals' all-time leader in 100-yard receiving games (33), after passing Johnson (31) last season.

Tight ends: Fifth-year pro C.J. Uzomah, who signed a three-year contract extension (through 2021) with the Bengals over the offseason, is listed as the No. 1 TE on the Bengals' depth chart and has started all six games this season. To this point, Uzomah has eight receptions for 108 yards, including a season-high four catches for a career-high 66 yards in Game 1 at Seattle. Last season, Uzomah notched career-highs in catches (43), receiving yards (439) and TDs (three). Tyler Eifert entered 2019 healthy, after being limited to just 14 games from 2016-18 due to back and ankle injuries. Eifert, whose season ended after four games last season due to a serious ankle injury, has played in all six games so far this season, and has 15 catches for 108 yards and a TD. Additionally, Eifert has nine third-down catches this season (tied for seventh in the AFC). In Game 2 against San Francisco, Eifert collected a one-yard TD in the first quarter, which was his first time reaching the end zone since his 15-yard score since Game 4 of 2018. When healthy, Eifert has proved to be among the top pass-catching TEs in the NFL. In 2015, Eifert caught 13 TDs (in just 13 games), the most ever by a Bengals TE. Cincinnati invested a second-round pick in April's draft in Drew Sample of Washington, who was touted by scouts as a well-rounded prospect who excels in the blocking game. Sample has seen action in all six games this season, and has three catches for 24 yards. Sample made his first career start in Game 6 at Baltimore, lining up as a second TE to start the contest. In college, Sample was a key part of a blocking effort that helped Washington RB Myles Gaskin top 1200 rushing yards and score double-digit TDs in each of his four seasons. Cethan Carter, a third-year player out of Nebraska, is healthy again this year after missing all of 2018 with a shoulder injury. Carter has appeared in each of the Bengals' six games this season, with most of his action coming on special teams.

Offensive linemen: At RG this season is John Miller, an unrestricted free agent signee who spent his first four seasons with the Buffalo Bills. At 6-3, 315, Miller is considered a powerful run-blocker and helped the Bills rank in the top 10 in rushing offense in each of his four seasons with the team. In 47 career starts with the Bills, Miller helped the team top 100 net yards rushing 33 times, and top 200 yards 10 times. Miller has now started all 53 games of his career, including six this season. In Game 6 at Baltimore, Miller suffered a left groin injury in the second quarter, and was ruled out for the remainder of the game. On Monday, head coach Zac Taylor described Miller's availability for Game 7 vs. Jacksonville as "doubtful." At center is veteran Trey Hopkins, who won the starting center job after a strong preseason. Hopkins, now in his sixth season in Cincinnati, is known for his intelligence, versatility (has started all three interior OL spots during his career) and experience (27 career starts). Bobby Hart again holds down the ROT position, and has started all 22 games in his Bengals career. Hart was originally a seventh-round pick of the N.Y. Giants in 2015 and spent his first three seasons there before joining Cincinnati in the '18 offseason. The Bengals invested a first-round pick in OT Jonah Williams of Alabama, who was slated as the 2019 starter at LOT, but a shoulder injury suffered in OTAs will cause Williams to miss most or all of his rookie season (currently on Reserve/Physically Unable to Perform). Instead, veteran Cordy Glenn, last year's No. 1 LOT who had been slated to move inside to LG, returns back outside to LOT. Glenn, though, suffered a concussion in preseason and has not yet played this season. Glenn is week-to-week, and his status for Game 7 vs. Jacksonville is unknown. Glenn, who has played all 91 of his career NFL games at LOT, was acquired in a trade with Buffalo during the 2018 offseason. Billy Price, a 2018 first-round pick (21st overall) out of Ohio State, began the year as a reserve but has since started two games at LG (Games 3 and 6). Price played last season as the Bengals' No. 1 C but was limited to just 10 games by a foot injury. Backing up both OT positions is veteran Andre Smith, the Bengals' 2009 first-round draft choice. Smith, who has replaced Glenn as the starting LOT in Games 1-5, left Game 5 vs. Arizona with a left ankle injury and missed Game 6 at Baltimore. His status for Game 7 vs. Jacksonville is unknown. Smith, who has played the majority of his 10 NFL seasons with Cincinnati, re-signed with the Bengals as a free agent on July 25. His career totals include 115 games played and 98 starts, with 103 of those contests coming with the Bengals. Also providing depth at G and OT is veteran John Jerry, who signed with the Bengals in June after Williams' injury. Jerry has seen time in five games this season, and made his first start of the 2019 campaign at LOT in Game 6 at Baltimore, subbing for the injured Smith. Jerry has experience under offensive line coach Jim Turner and head coach Zac Taylor with the Miami Dolphins. Jerry has played in 126 career games, with 102 starts, and has twice filled in as a starter at LOT in previous seasons. G Alex Redmond returned to the active roster on Oct. 7, after serving a suspension for Games 1-4 due to a violation of the NFL's policy on performance-enhancing substances. Redmond saw his first action of the season in Game 6 at Baltimore, filling in as a reserve at RG after Miller left with an injury.

Redmond started 15 games at RG last season for the Bengals. Rookie G Michael Jordan, a Bengals fourth-round pick and the youngest player on the roster (turns 22 in January), entered training camp as a long shot for a starting position, but strong performances in practices and preseason games prompted Zac Taylor to announce Jordan as a starter at LG prior to the final preseason game. In the season-opener at Seattle, Jordan became just the 16th Bengals rookie to start on the offensive line in an opener, the seventh to do so at G, and the seventh to do so after being drafted in the fourth round or lower. Jordan has played in four games (Games 1-2, and 4-5) this season, with four starts at LG. Jordan struggled with a knee injury that caused him to miss Game 3 at Buffalo, and is now in a reserve role. He was an active DNP in Game 6 at Baltimore. Jordan was a three-year starter in college at Ohio State, and is one of only six players, and the first offensive lineman since Pro Football Hall of Famer Orlando Pace in 1994, to ever start an opening game as a true freshman at OSU. New to the Bengals' offensive line is OT/G Fred Johnson, who was acquired on Oct. 14 on waivers from the Pittsburgh Steelers. Johnson, a rookie out of the University of Florida, was originally a college free agent signee of the Steelers in May.

Defensive linemen: Considered one of the top interior defensive linemen in football, 10th-year DT Geno Atkins again anchors the Bengals' defensive line and continues his climb up the Bengals' all-time sack list. Atkins recorded his first sack of the season against Buffalo (a two-yard loss), bringing his career total to 72 sacks, third-most in team history, most by a Bengals interior lineman and 11.5 shy of the all-time lead. Atkins in 2018 led the Bengals in sacks (10) for the fifth time in his career. In his nine previous seasons, Atkins has finished in at least a share of the NFL lead for sacks by an interior defensive lineman five different times — he claimed it outright three times (2012, '16, '17) and shared it twice ('11 and '15). Atkins has 12 career games with more than one sack, and the Bengals are 8-4 in those contests, including 6-2 since 2015 and 3-0 last season. Atkins' seven Pro Bowl selections are the most ever by a Bengals defensive player, and tied with teammate A.J. Green for the second-most in team history behind Hall of Fame OT Anthony Munoz (11). Standing in second place on the Bengals' all-time career sack list is 10th-year DE Carlos Dunlap, whose 73.5 sacks stand 1.5 ahead of Atkins and just 10 shy of all-time leader Eddie Edwards (83.5). Prior to missing Game 6 at Baltimore with a knee injury, Dunlap appeared in 115 consecutive contests, and hadn't missed a game since Sept. 16, 2012 vs. Cleveland. His status for Game 7 vs. Jacksonville is not known. Dunlap has one sack this season, which he registered in Game 1 at Seattle. Dunlap has 16 career games with more than one sack, and the Bengals are 10-6 in those contests, including 7-1 since the beginning of 2015. Also considered one of the NFL's most proficient defensive linemen at batting down passes, Dunlap's 30 PDs from 2016-18 were the most in the NFL among non-defensive backs. In 2016, he became the first-ever defensive lineman to lead the Bengals in passes defended (15). And in 2015, Dunlap's career-best 13.5 sacks were the second-most in a season in Bengals history. Second-year DE Sam Hubbard, a Cincinnati native (Archbishop Moeller High School), has taken over at RDE this season. So far in 2019, Hubbard leads all Bengals defensive linemen in tackles (36) and sacks (three). In Game 5 vs. Arizona, Hubbard totaled five tackles, including his third sack (a five-yard loss) of the season. In Game 3 at Buffalo, Hubbard posted six tackles (five solo) and collected his second career forced fumble (Bengals recovered) after stripping the ball from Bills RB T.J. Yeldon. Hubbard made his first career start in the opener at Seattle, and recorded a team-high 10 tackles, including two sacks of Seahawks QB Russell Wilson. Fourth-year DT Andrew Billings lines up as Cincinnati's No. 1 NT for the second straight season. Last season, Billings started all 16 games and totaled 32 tackles and 2.5 sacks. Billings has played in every game this season, and has started the last four contests at NT. Third-year DE Carl Lawson, considered one of the Bengals' most talented young defenders, returned to action this season after having his 2018 campaign cut short by a torn ACL in his right knee. Lawson has played in four of the six games this season, and returned to action in Game 5 vs. Arizona after missing Games 3-4 with a right hamstring injury. In Game 6 at Baltimore, Lawson made his second career start, totaled three tackles and recorded his first sack of the season, and first since Game 4 of 2018. Lawson turned heads in 2017, when his 8.5 sacks led all NFL rookies and tied for the second-most ever by a Bengals rookie. Veteran DT Josh Tupou, who is tied for the heaviest Bengal on the roster, adds a massive run-stuffing presence to the middle of the Bengals' defensive line. After missing the final six games of 2018 due to a torn pectoral muscle, Tupou has appeared in all six games this season, has eight total tackles and he made his first career start in Game 3 at Buffalo. Third-year DT Ryan Glasgow, who also suffered a torn ACL in his right knee early last season, has played in three of the six games this season. He returned to action in Game 5 vs. Arizona after missing Games 3-4 with a thigh injury, but was inactive in Game 6 at Baltimore due to the same injury. His status for Game 7 vs. Jacksonville is unknown. Glasgow is considered a valuable rotational player on the interior of the defensive line, and has six tackles this season. The only rookie on the defensive line entering 2019 is DT Renell Wren, a fourth-round pick out of Arizona State. Wren has played in four games (Game 1, Games 3-4, and Game 6) so far this season, and has two solo tackles. At a massive 6-5, 318 pounds, Wren totaled 14.5 tackles for losses and three sacks in four seasons at ASU. Rounding out the Bengals' defensive line is DE Andrew Brown, a 2018 Bengals fifth-round draft pick out of Virginia who made the roster this year after spending his rookie season on Cincinnati's practice squad and Practice Squad/Injured list (hand). After being inactive for the first two games this season, Brown has logged time in Games 3-6, and made a career-high three tackles against Buffalo. Brown was the Gatorade National Player of the Year coming out of high school in 2013, and totaled 26.5 TFLs and 10.5 sacks in four seasons at UVA. Veteran DE Kerry Wynn was placed on Reserve/Injured on Monday, Oct. 14. Wynn played in Games 1-2, but missed Games 3-6 due to a concussion. Wynn totaled two assisted tackles on defense, and one assisted tackle on special teams.

Linebackers: The Bengals' linebackers are led in 2019 by fourth-year pro Nick Vigil, who has started all six games at LB this season. Vigil's 51 tackles this season lead the team. For the first time in his career, Vigil has posted double-digit tackles in three consecutive games, and has led the team in tackles in each of those contests. In Game 6 at Baltimore, Vigil tied his season-high with 13 tackles, and collected his second career fumble recovery after Brandon Wilson forced the turnover. In addition to his team-high 11 tackles in Game 3 at Pittsburgh, Vigil collected his first career forced fumble (Bengals recovered) after jarring the ball loose from Steelers WR Diontae Johnson. Vigil now has eight career games with 10 or more tackles. Last season, Vigil finished third on the team in tackles (84), despite missing five games due to a knee injury. Lining up next to Vigil is sixth-year pro and Cincinnati native (Northwest High School) Preston Brown, who is in his second season with the Bengals. Brown has started all six games this season, and has 41 total tackles. Brown recovered a fumble and totaled two special teams tackles in Game 3 at Buffalo. In Game 2 vs. San Francisco, he recorded a team-high 14 tackles, and in Game 1 at Seattle, he had four tackles and forced a fumble (Bengals recovered). When healthy, Brown has proved to be one of the NFL's most productive tacklers, after recording an NFL-best 504 combined tackles from 2014-17. The Bengals this year invested a third-round draft pick on Germaine Pratt of North Carolina State, who began his college career at S before switching to LB. Pratt has played in all six games and totaled 10 tackles and defense and two on special teams. In Game 6 at Baltimore, Pratt made his first professional start, collected a season-high five tackles on defense and recorded a special teams tackle. Last season was Pratt's first as a starting LB, and he ended up leading the Wolfpack in tackles (104) and earning first-team All-ACC honors. Third-year pro Jordan Evans, a 2017 sixth-round pick of the Bengals, has seen time mainly as a rotational linebacker over his three seasons in Cincinnati, with 35 games played and nine starts. Evans this year has contributed mainly on special teams, making two tackles. LaRoy Reynolds, the newest Bengals LB, joins the team after signing as a free agent on Sept. 10. Since being acquired, Reynolds has appeared in all five possible games, and has four tackles and one pass defended. Reynolds, a seventh-year player out of the University of Virginia, has previously spent time with the Jaguars, Bears, Falcons and Eagles. For his career, Reynolds has 89 career games played (seven starts) with 85 tackles and two fumble recoveries.

Defensive backs: Considered one of Cincinnati's top young defenders, William Jackson III is in his fourth season as a Bengal, and second as a full-time starting CB. Jackson, the Bengals' first-round pick in 2016, collected his second career interception in Week 2 with a 19-yard pick off of San Francisco QB Jimmy Garoppolo. His other career INT is a 75-yard pick-six of Packers QB Aaron Rodgers in 2017. Manning the other starting CB spot for the fifth straight season is Dre Kirkpatrick, a first-round pick of the Bengals in 2012. So far this season, Kirkpatrick has 33 total tackles and four passes defended, which leads the team. Kirkpatrick got off to a strong start in the season-opener in Seattle, posting five tackles, including a sack, along with his first career fumble recovery. In Game 6 at Baltimore, Kirkpatrick suffered a left knee injury in the second quarter and didn't return. His status for Game 7 vs. Jacksonville is not yet known. Kirkpatrick struggled with a shoulder injury late last season and missed three games, but he's proven mostly durable over his career, playing in 96 of the last 102 possible games (including postseason). Kirkpatrick has 10 career INTs, one behind teammate Shawn Williams (11) for the lead among active Bengals. Williams, a 2013 third-round draft pick, fills a starting S position for the fourth straight season and currently leads the secondary in tackles (49). In Game 5 vs. Arizona, Williams collected his fourth career double-digit tackle game and made 12 stops, one shy of tying his career-high. Williams posted a team-high nine tackles in Game 3 at Buffalo. At the other safety spot is second-year pro Jessie Bates III. After leading the team in tackles (111) a year ago, Bates currently has the third-most tackles on the team at 44. Against Pittsburgh, Bates collected his first career fumble recovery in the first quarter after Vigil knocked the ball loose. In Game 2 vs. San Francisco, Bates collected his fourth career double-digit tackle performance (10). At nickel DB, the Bengals turn to veteran CB B.W. Webb. Webb has appeared in five of the six games this season, despite playing with a right arm injury that he suffered in Game 2. In Game 5 vs. Arizona, Webb had two tackles and two passes defended, including a pass deflection on third-and-10, which forced a Cardinals punt late in the fourth quarter. The stop led to the offense scoring the game-tying TD with 2:03 left in game. An unrestricted free agent signee over the offseason, Webb has spent time with the N.Y. Giants (2018), Cleveland ('17), New Orleans ('16), Tennessee ('15), Pittsburgh ('14) and Dallas ('13). Last season with the Giants, Webb's defensive backs coach was current Bengals defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo. Adding depth at safety is Clayton Fejedelem, a seventh-round pick of the Bengals in 2016 who has become a core special teams player and valuable reserve on defense. Fejedelem has played in all 54 possible games over his career (six starts), and he's led the Bengals in special teams tackles in each of his first three seasons. S Brandon Wilson, a 2017 sixth-round pick of the Bengals, has seen action in all six games this season, and has been a contributor on both defense and special teams. Wilson has nine tackles this year, and ranks tied for seventh with two forced fumbles. In addition to his work on defense, Wilson has six kickoff returns for 239 yards (39.8 avg.), including a 92-yard TD on the opening kickoff in Game 6 at Baltimore. In Game 4 at Pittsburgh, Wilson saw extended action on defense and made back-to-back tackles for losses on a third and fourth down, forcing a Steelers turnover on downs. In Game 3, Wilson forced a fumble by Bills QB Josh Allen, but it was deemed that the ball was recovered by the Bengals out of bounds. CB Tony McRae, a rotational defensive player and special teams regular, also returns in 2019. McRae has played in 22 career games for Cincinnati, and has 11 tackles on defense and 10 on special teams. New to the defensive backfield is CB Torry McTyer, who the Bengals signed from the Kansas City Chiefs' practice squad on Sept. 26. McTyer, a third-year player out of Nevada-Las Vegas, was originally a college free agent signee of the Miami Dolphins in 2017, and has previous experience playing under secondary/cornerbacks coach Daronte Jones and defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo. He received his first playing time of the season on special teams in Game 5 vs. Arizona, and had two defensive tackles in Game 6 at Baltimore. McTyer has played in 24 career games, and has 33 tackles and three passes defended.

Special teams: WR Alex Erickson has been a key contributor for the Bengals in the return game since joining the team as a CFA in 2016. Erickson, though, has seen more action at WR early this season due to injuries at that position group, and has just two kickoff returns (for 44 yards) on the year. In Game 4 at Pittsburgh — his first action returning kickoffs this season — Erickson had two returns for 44 yards, including a 25-yard return in the second quarter. Erickson also has posted 52 yards on seven punt returns this year. Last season, Erickson averaged 26.2 yards on kickoff returns, and his 1049 kickoff return yards were second-most in the NFL. Erickson also averaged a career-best 10.6 yards per punt return last season. As a rookie in 2016, Erickson posted an AFC-best 27.9-yard average on kickoff returns, the second-best mark in team history. S Brandon Wilson, a 2017 sixth-round pick out of Houston who has long been a key contributor in kick coverage (three ST tackles this season), has burst onto the scene as a kickoff returner this season. Wilson currently has six kickoff returns for 239 yards and a TD, and his 39.8 yards per return average is the highest amongst any player with four or more kickoff returns this season. In Game 6 at Baltimore, Wilson collected 142 KOR yards (47.3 avg.), the most in a single game this season, and his TD was the second-longest of the season (longest in the AFC), the first Bengals KOR TD since HB Bernard Scott 2009 and it marked the first time the Bengals opened the game with a kickoff return for a TD. Wilson got his first KOR opportunity of the season in Game 5 vs. Arizona, after Erickson left with an injury, and recorded three returns for a total of 97 yards (32.3 avg.). Eighth-year pro Randy Bullock has served as the Bengals' placekicker since midway through the 2016 season, when he joined Cincinnati on waivers from Pittsburgh. So far this season, Bullock is 10-for-10 on PATs and nine-for-11 on FG attempts, including seven for his last seven. Handling punting duties again this season is 11th-year pro Kevin Huber, the longest-tenured Bengal on the roster. Huber, a Cincinnati native (McNicholas High School), stands as the Bengals' career leader in every significant punting category, including punts (796), punting yards (35,817) gross average (45.00), net average (39.80) and inside-20 punts (275). He also shares the franchise record for longest punt (75 yards), and owns the Bengals' best career ratio for inside-20s to touchbacks (4.29-to-1; 275-64). Huber, who also serves as the holder for placekicks, has played in 169 of 171 possible games (including postseason) since joining the team as a fifth-round draft pick in 2009. LS Clark Harris, the oldest Bengal on the roster at 35, has served as the Bengals' long snapper since midway through the 2009 season. Harris has been a paragon of reliability throughout his career in Cincinnati, with no unplayable snaps in 1477 attempts as a Bengal (793 punts, 684 placekicks). In 2017, Harris became the first-ever Bengals long snapper to earn a Pro Bowl nod. Harris has also been solid in kick coverage throughout his time in Cincinnati, with 33 career special teams tackles.

The Bengals return three of their top four special teams tacklers from a year ago, including S Clayton Fejedelem, whose 13 tackles led the team in 2018. Fejedelem led the Bengals in special teams snaps in each of his first three seasons (2016-18) and led the team in special teams tackles in each of the last two seasons. Fejedelem has made a mark on special teams outside of kick coverage as well — last season, he had a blocked punt and ran for a first down on a fake punt. This year, Fejedelem has yet to make a special teams tackle, due in part to seeing less time on special teams due to an increased role on defense. CB Tony McRae, who ranked fourth on the team in special teams tackles last season, is known for his speed and has contributed heavily on punt and kick coverage this season (one ST tackle).

THE LAST BENGALS-JAGUARS MEETINGS

2014 SEASON

WEEK 9, GAME 8

Cincinnati Bengals 33, Jacksonville Jaguars 23
Sunday, Nov. 2, 2014 at Paul Brown Stadium

The Bengals rolled to leads of 19-3 in the third quarter and 26-10 in the fourth quarter, but the Jaguars, coming in at 1-7, closed to within 26-23 with 8:13 left. The Jaguars' score to close within three was set up when LB J.T. Thomas III intercepted QB Andy Dalton and returned it 10 yards to the Bengals' seven-yard line. But on the Bengals' first scrimmage play after that, rookie HB Jeremy Hill capped a day to remember by rushing 60 yards for a TD and the eventual 33-23 final margin. Hill, making his first NFL start due to an injury to HB Giovani Bernard, rushed 24 times for 154 yards and two TDs and also caught a nine-yard pass. The Bengals got hands on two Jaguars second-quarter punts — HB Rex Burkhead tipped one to help set up a FG drive, and S Taylor Mays blocked one out of the end zone for a safety. The Bengals improved to 5-2-1 and the Jaguars fell to 1-8.

2017 SEASON

WEEK 9, GAME 8

Jacksonville Jaguars 23, Cincinnati Bengals 7
Sunday, Nov. 5, 2017 at EverBank Field

Cincinnati totaled a season-low 148 net yards, including just 29 yards rushing, on a season-low total of just 37 offensive plays, while Jacksonville totaled 407 net yards, including 148 rushing, on 78 plays. The Bengals converted just one of eight third downs (12.5 percent) while the Jaguars converted 12 of 18 (66.7). Despite the obvious lopsided numbers, the Bengals were down by only six points at halftime, and just nine points after three quarters. Not until Jacksonville WR Jaydon Mickens scored on a 63-yard punt return on the second play of the fourth quarter was Cincinnati forced to resort virtually entirely to pass plays in an attempt to close the deficit. By that point, however, the Jaguars' defense, which entered the game leading the league in both net passing yards allowed and sacks, was able to shift all of its attention to shutting down the Bengals' passing game. QB Andy Dalton finished with just a 79.9 passer rating, completing 10 of 18 passes for 136 yards. Just before halftime, WR A.J. Green was ejected for fighting with Jaguars CB Jalen Ramsey, who also was disqualified. Green left the game with only one reception for six yards, and no other Bengals WR or TE ended up catching more than two passes. The Bengals fell to 3-5, and the Jaguars improved to 5-3.

2019 GAME SUMMARIES

Seattle Seahawks 21, Cincinnati Bengals 20 Sunday, Sept. 8, 2019 at CenturyLink Field

Cincinnati outgained Seattle by 196 net yards (395-161), recorded 10 more first downs (22-12) and held more than a 10-minute advantage in time of possession (35:50-24:10), but the Bengals ultimately were inefficient in converting yards into points and lost their first game under new head coach Zac Taylor. The Bengals scored just one FG in three trips inside the Seahawks' red zone in the game. And in the third quarter alone, three times Cincinnati reached Seattle's 36-yard line or farther (36, 27 and 12) and came away with no points (the drives ended on a fumble, a missed FG and a turnover on downs). Seattle, however, scored TDs on three of their four drives into Cincinnati territory overall, including two TDs on their only two trips inside the Bengals' red-zone. QB Andy Dalton had career highs in yards (418) and completions (35) in 51 attempts, tossed two long TDs to WR John Ross III, and had a 106.5 passer rating. Ross had career highs in catches (seven) and receiving yards (158), and his TDs came on passes of 55 and 33 yards. The Bengals' defense enjoyed a solid game overall, recording four sacks and holding the Seahawks, who led the NFL in rushing in 2018, to just 72 yards on the ground. Seahawks QB Russell Wilson, however, stung the Bengals with a 44-yard TD pass to WR Tyler Lockett on the first play of the fourth quarter for what ultimately were the game's winning points.

WEEK 2, GAME 2

San Francisco 49ers 41, Cincinnati Bengals 17 Sunday, Sept. 15, 2019 at Paul Brown Stadium

The game started poorly right away for Cincinnati — a penalty erased a kickoff return, followed by a sack, then by a fumble on QB-RB exchange for no gain, then a failed third-down conversion attempt, and then a punt that barely made it to midfield. And, largely, the game was all downhill from there for the Bengals. The 49ers scored TDs on three of their first four drives to jump out to a 21-7 first-half lead and never looked back. San Francisco beat the Cincinnati soundly on both sides of the ball, outgaining the Bengals in total net yards 572-316, including 259-25 rushing. There were some individual positives for Cincinnati, as WR Tyler Boyd had 10 catches for 122 yards, and WR John Ross III had four catches for 112 yards and a TD. The 49ers improved to 2-0. The Bengals fell to 0-2.

WEEK 3, GAME 3

Buffalo Bills 21, Cincinnati Bengals 17
Sunday, Sept. 22, 2019 at New Era Field

Cincinnati's offense stalled for nearly the entirety of the first two quarters en route to a 14-0 halftime deficit, and the early ineffectiveness ultimately doomed the Bengals' late efforts for a comeback win against an undefeated Buffalo team in a stadium packed with rowdy Bills fans. The Bengals, who failed to produce a first down until the two-minute warning of the first half, had just 76 total net yards at intermission. Still, when they kick-started their offense in the second half, the Bengals scored 17 unanswered points to take a 17-14 lead with just under five minutes left. The Bills, however, responded with a late seven-play, 78-yard drive, which was highlighted by a 49-yard pass from QB Josh Allen to TE Dawson Knox in which Knox stiff-armed and bulldozed his way deep into Bengals territory, and ended in a one-yard TD run by RB Frank Gore. QB Andy Dalton drove the Bengals 42 yards to the Bills' 28-yard line with 20 seconds left, but his next pass bounced off the outstretched hand of WR Auden Tate and was intercepted by Buffalo CB Tre'Davious White to seal the Bills' win. The Bengals fell to 0-3, while the Bills improved to 3-0.

WEEK 4, GAME 4

Pittsburgh Steelers 27, Cincinnati Bengals 3
Monday night, Sept. 30, 2019 at Heinz Field

A FG by K Randy Bullock gave Cincinnati a 3-0 lead after one quarter of the 100th meeting between the Bengals and Steelers, but Pittsburgh scored 27 unanswered points in the final three quarters and cruised to a dominant 27-3 win on Monday Night Football. Both teams entered the matchup 0-3, and the Steelers were without QB Ben Roethlisberger (Reserve/Injured; elbow) for the first time in a game against the Bengals since 2003. But Roethlisberger's replacement, QB Mason Rudolph, filled in admirably, completing 24 of 28 passes for 229 yards, two TDs and no INTs (124.6 passer rating). His top two targets were RBs James Conner and Jaylen Samuels, who combined for 16 catches for 140 yards and one TD receiving. Samuels also added another TD rushing. Bengals QB Andy Dalton was sacked eight times, the most in his nine-year career, and Cincinnati's offense gained just 175 total net yards. It was the eighth straight win in the series for the Steelers, who improved to 1-3. The Bengals fell to 0-4.

WEEK 5, GAME 5

Arizona Cardinals 26, Cincinnati Bengals 23 Sunday, Oct. 6, 2019 at Paul Brown Stadium

Behind 23-9 midway through the fourth quarter, the Bengals rallied to tie the game on a 42-yard TD pass from QB Andy Dalton to WR Tyler Boyd with 1:41 remaining. But Cardinals rookie QB and No. 1 overall draft pick Kyle Murray led Arizona on a six-play, 62-yard drive that ended with a Zane Gonzalez FG as time expired, and Arizona escaped Paul Brown Stadium with a 26-23 win. Despite allowing 514 total yards, including 266 rushing yards and a 7.0-yard rushing average, the Bengals' defense was stout in the red zone, keeping the game close by allowing the Cardinals just one TD on six trips inside the 20. Despite not having two of his top three receivers — John Ross and A.J. Green, both out due to injury — Dalton completed 71.1 percent of his passes (27 of 38) and leaned heavily on Boyd, who totaled 10 receptions for 123 yards and a TD. The Bengals fell to 0-5, while Arizona improved to 1-3-1.

WEEK 6, GAME 6

Baltimore Ravens 23, Cincinnati Bengals 17 Sunday, Oct. 13, 2019 at M&T Bank Stadium

Cincinnati raced to literally the fastest start in team history when S Brandon Wilson took the opening kickoff 92 yards for a score, becoming the first Bengal ever to begin a game returning a kickoff for a TD. But the Ravens answered, scoring on their first three possessions to take a 17-7 lead, and they never looked back. Baltimore, which amassed 497 total yards, leaned heavily on a ground attack that gained 269 yards on 43 rushes and earned a 19-minute edge in time of possession (39:42 to 20:18). The Ravens were led by QB Lamar Jackson, whose 152 rushing yards were the third-most ever in a game by a QB. Cincinnati's rushing offense, on the other hand, struggled to find traction and totaled just 33 yards on 14 attempts. But the game was kept close, and the visiting Bengals pulled to within six with 1:28 remaining when QB Andy Dalton capped a 12-play, 48-yard drive with his 21st career TD (a Bengals QB record). Wilson recovered the ensuing onside kick attempt, but it was ruled that the kick did not travel the required 10 yards, and the Ravens were able to run out the clock. Cincinnati fell to 0-6, while Baltimore improved to 4-2.
