IF YOU HAVEN'T HERD

MY FIRST BUFFALO WINTER

With a snow storm raging through Western New York prior the Bills Wild Card playoff game vs. Pittsburgh, David Edwards set out to go pick up his wife, Karoline, and newborn daughter, Margot, from the hospital. Those plans changed when white-out conditions forced Edwards to drive into and get stuck in a snowbank near Highmark Stadium. "I drove straight into a plowed snowbank on the left side of the road," Edwards told USA TODAY Sports "I was like, 'Holy, crap.'"

In desperate need of help, Edwards called Bills vice president of security, Chris Clark, who connected him with Dennis Miller from Miller's Collision and Auto, Inc. Miller was quick to rescue Edwards. "Business as usual. Just trying to help out people. That's what we do," Miller told USA TODAY Sports.

"He was a huge lifesaver for us," Edwards said. After being rescued from the snowbank and running through his options, Edwards and Miller set-out for the hospital.

Miller's help did not end there as shortly after getting Edwards to the hospital, he returned with his payload to help escort Edwards and his family back to their home. "Without the payload, (they) never would have made it through there," Miller said. "With that precious cargo in the car, I had to make sure I had to get (them) home."

"Can't say how grateful or appreciative I am for him doing that for us," Edwards said.
