IF YOU HAVEN'T HERD

AN ELWAY CONNECTION

Steve Buechele played baseball for three seasons at Stanford, where he roomed with baseball teammate and future Pro Football Hall of Fame quarterback John Elway.

Elway retired as a player the year Shane was born, so Shane never saw him play. Elway and Steve Buechele have maintained their friendship. Earlier this month, when the Rangers were in Denver to play the Rockies, Buechele reached out to Broncos GM Elway and arranged for Rangers manager Jeff Banister and the Rangers' coaches to spend time at the Broncos' complex. Elway's connection to Steve Buechele is the reason Shane wore No. 7 at Arlington Lamar. Last spring he wore No. 16 at Texas (because, of course, 1-plus-6 equals 7). He had on numerous occasions asked coach Charlie Strong about getting No. 7, but didn't find out Strong had granted his wish until he entered the locker room before his smashing Sunday night debut against Notre Dame.

To say Elway has mentored Shane in any way, however, would not be accurate. They have met only once, at the funeral of Steve Buechele's father in 2008. "Shane's always admired John, looked up to John," Steve Buechele said. "And I think he wanted to be like that, that kind of quarterback."

Apparently, most members of the Buechele family have a strong allegiance to the Broncos. "I definitely cheered for John when I was younger," said Garrett Buechele, 26, Shane's oldest sibling. "But I'm a Cowboys fan. They stuck with their Denver side and I'm a Cowboys guy." (Brad Townsend, DallasNews.com, August 20, 2016)

PERSONAL

His last name is pronounced BOO-shell. Son of Steve and Nancy Buechele. Has two brothers, Garrett and Tanner, and two sisters, Jordan and Amber. Father, Steve, spent 11 seasons in Major League Baseball and currently works for the Texas Rangers.
