IF YOU HAVEN'T HERD

"THAT KID ON THE OUTSIDE LOOKING IN"

"I know how it feels to be that kid on the outside looking in, to not be wanted, to not be with your real family, to have others look out for you and to live that double life where you go to school every day and act like things are normal but when you get home it's back to reality," he said. "Those were rough times for me."

Davis' youth was spent in San Francisco. His father and mother were both in and out of incarceration. He and his siblings bounced from the homes and residences of family members and acquaintances. By the time he was 8, he was part of California's foster care system. There was even a time when a godmother agreed to take two of Davis' siblings under her wing—but not Davis, because of a strained relationship with Davis' father. Davis found himself in a shelter where he vividly remembers the realization that he had nowhere to go. He was homeless.

"I don't think I'd be the man I am today without those experiences. It just made me look at the bigger picture of life," Davis said. "There's always a lot of people going through way worse things than me." (Chad Bishop, VUCommodores.com, September 2, 2021)
