THE HALFTIME SPEECH

It's halftime in the Buccaneers' locker room, and the team captain _____ [name] is standing in the front of the room to give a speech. "The first half was _____ [adjective], but we need to play even better now! Raise your _____ [noun] if you're ready to give _____ [number] percent out there!" Everyone's _____ was raised. "Great! Now we must _____ [verb] the gameplan and unleash our secret weapon. Coach _____ [name] came up with a _____ [adjective] play this week - the _____ [adverb] _____ [adjective] option. With a play like that, we're sure to win by _____ [number] points!"

The team huddled up, ready to start the second half.

"_____ [noun] on three! One, two, three _____ [same noun as last]!"
