An entrant may not participate in the In-App Game on more than (1) Digital Device or on more than one Application (as defined below) account during any single Individual Game Entry Period, including, without limitation, whether on an Application (as defined below) account belonging to that entrant or another user.

A. Download In-App Game Application. To play the In-App Game, an eligible participant must download (and if required, register an account on) the free "Tampa Bay Buccaneers Mobile Application" available at the Apple App Store and/or Google Play (the "Application") to the participant's Internet-enabled phone, smartphone, tablet or pad (collectively "Digital Device"). Data rates may apply when you access the Application. Limit of one (1) entry per person on one (1) Digital Device each Individual Game Entry Period.

B. Online Application Registration. Once the Application is installed on your Digital Device, click on the "Bucs Predict" promotional graphic link that will appear near the top of the Application home screen during the Individual Game Entry Period, follow the instructions to complete the required online registration form that will appear when you open the In-Game App. Then, confirm that you have read, understand and unconditionally agree to the Official Rules and the Bucs Privacy Policy by clicking on the applicable box.

C. Playing the Game. Once the Application is installed on your Digital Device and registration is completed, navigate to the "Predict" icon and click on "Enter" to enter the In-App Game for the applicable Game. Every eligible participant will receive one hundred (100) points (each, a "Game Event Point") at the start of each Game during the applicable Individual Game Entry Period. During each Game, the Provider will periodically send out questions related to Game Events. These questions may be predictive-type questions related to the current Game or in-Game play and, therefore, may expire quickly. Each question will enable eligible participants to select one of two potential answers, and questions will be categorized as either Head-to-Head (H2H) or Bonus questions. For H2H questions, eligible participants will be able to allocate Game Event Points (not to exceed the total amount of Game Event Points awarded, which shall initially be one hundred (100) toward each question. Each time you correctly answer a H2H question, you will be awarded points. The amount of points you are awarded will be impacted by the amount of game event points being allocated by all other participating players as point allocation is settled parimutuel. When you incorrectly answer, you will lose the amount of Game Event Points allocated to the particular question. In addition, you will be awarded ten (10) points for each correct answer of a H2H question while your total Game Event Points equals zero (0). Bonus questions will award all players with a fixed amount of points for each correct answer. The fixed amount of points awarded for bonus questions may vary throughout the game and will be consistent for all participating players. Incorrectly answering a bonus question will not result in any loss of points. There are no adjustments in point values for how long it takes a player to answer Bonus questions, so long as they are answered before the questions expire. The Application will automatically record Game Event Points, and your Game Event Points total for the applicable Game will appear on a '#BUCS' leaderboard within the Application as soon as the electronic records for the applicable Game are updated. At the conclusion of each Individual Game Entry Period, Kero will tabulate Game Event Points earned by each participant for each individual Game to determine the two (2) participants with the first and second highest total number of Game Event Points earned in an individual Game during the applicable Individual Game Entry Period (each, a "Top Score"). In the event of a tie or multiple ties among the top two (2) rankings for the highest total number of Game Event Points earned by participants in an individual Game during the Game's applicable Individual Game Entry Period, then the potential winner of such prize(s) (as set forth below) for that Individual Game Entry Period will be determined by the following tiebreakers out of those eligible participants who tied for the same ranking among the top two (2) scores in the following order until a winner is determined: the potential winner who received the (i) highest number of overall correct predictions during that Game; (ii) highest number of overall correct predictions over the lifetime of the Application; (iii) highest number of overall lifetime points earned by the player from their correct predictions; (iv) highest number of correctly answered

Trivia Questions; (v) highest single point total from a correct prediction; and (vi) first to the server (i.e., out of the eligible participants who tied for the same ranking, the participant who achieved the score first by server timestamp).

PLEASE NOTE THAT GAME DATES AND TIMES ARE DETERMINED IN THE SOLE DISCRETION OF THE NFL AND/OR THE BUCS, AS APPLICABLE, AND ARE SUBJECT TO CHANGE.
