ARIZONA CARDINALS NOTE CARDS

100 Career regular season games for WR Devin Duvernay after he plays on Sunday. The 7th-year WR/return specialist has returned 149 kickoffs for 3,791 yards (25.4 avg.) and two TDs while adding 1,363 punt return yards on 119 attempts (11.5 avg.) in his career. He has also caught 113 passes for 1,060 yards and five TDs.

2.5 Sacks for LB Josh Sweat in his last game vs. the Chiefs (Philadelphia's Super Bowl LIX victory over Kansas City to cap the 2024 season). That represents his highest single-game total in 140 career games played (regular season & postseason).

770 Career rushing attempts for RB Tyler Allgeier without a fumble, the longest active streak in the NFL. He has also appeared in 77 consecutive games dating back to 2022, the longest active streak among NFL RBs.

2,934 Days since the Cardinals last played in Kansas City. That game took place on 11/11/18. The Chiefs have played the Cardinals in Arizona four times (2022 regular season; 2021, 2023 and 2025 preseason) since the teams last met in Kansas City.

MILESTONE WATCH

WITH A WIN...

- Arizona would have its first-ever road victory against the Chiefs. The Cardinals are 0-5-1 all-time playing in Kansas City.
- The Cardinals would earn their 4th win of 2026, exceeding their win total from all of last season (3).

TE TREY McBRIDE

- With 2 receptions, McBride (427) would pass WR Larry Fitzgerald (426) for the most receptions in franchise history in a player's first five seasons.
- With 2 catches, McBride would become the 5th tight end in NFL history with at least 80 receptions in four consecutive seasons, joining Travis Kelce (10 from 2016-25), Jason Witten (6 from 2007-12), Todd Christensen (4 from 1983-86) and Jimmy Graham (4 from 2011-2014).
- With 5+ receptions, McBride would have 5+ catches in each of his last 17 road games. That would extend the longest such streak by a TE in NFL history. Previously, Travis Kelce (10 games in 2019-20) and McBride (10 games in 2023-24) were tied for the longest streak.
- With 6 catches, McBride (84) would pass Hall of Fame WR Larry Fitzgerald (83 in 2015) for the most receptions in franchise history through the first 11 games of a season.
- With 7 receptions, McBride (85) would pass Zach Ertz (84 in 2018) for the most receptions in NFL history by a TE in his team's first 11 games of a season.

S BUDDA BAKER

- With 10+ tackles, Baker would reach double-digit tackles for the 4th time this season and for the 39th time in his career. He would also have 10+ tackles in each of his last two games vs. the Chiefs (13 vs. KC in Week 1 of 2022).
- With an INT, he would become become the first player in Cardinals history with 1,000+ tackles, 10+ INTs and 10.0+ sacks in his career.

LB ZAVEN COLLINS

- With 1.0 sack, Collins would have 4.0 sacks in 2026. That would represent the second-highest single season total of his career (5.0 in 2024). It would also give Collins 3.0 sacks in his last four games.

LB JOSH SWEAT

- With 1.0 sack, Sweat would become just the sixth player in franchise history with 16.0+ sacks in their first 28 games with the team. He would also have 3.5 sacks in his last two games vs. the Chiefs (including postseason).

RB TYLER ALLGEIER

- With 100+ rushing yards, Allgeier would have his fifth career game eclipsing the century mark on the ground and his second in the last four games. He would also have more 100-yard rushing performances in the last four games (2) than he had in his final three seasons (2023-25) in Atlanta combined (1).

CB DENZEL BURKE

- With 1+ pass defensed, Burke would join Dominque Rodgers-Cromartie (24 in 2008-09), Patrick Peterson (17 in 2011-12) and Byron Murphy (13 in 2019-20) as the only players in franchise history to have a pass breakup in at least 13 games through their first two seasons.

K CHAD RYLAND

- With 3 FGs, Ryland (25) would join Neil Rackers (32 in 2005) and Zane Gonzalez (26 in 2019) as the only players in franchise history with 25+ made FGs through the first 11 games of a season. Ryland would also tie his FG output from all of last season (25 in 17 games).

DL L.J. COLLIER

- With 1.0 sack, Collier would have a sack in back-to-back games for just the second time in his career (Games 11-12 in 2024 with Arizona). It would also give him 3.0 sacks in his last four games.

BIRDS' EYE VIEW

Since being named the Cardinals "Mike" linebacker at the start of the 2025 season, LB Mack Wilson Sr. has made 18 starts and totaled 136 tackles (66 solo), seven tackles for loss, eight passes defensed, an interception and two forced fumbles.

Through 10 games this season, Wilson leads the Cardinals with 72 tackles to go along with four tackles for loss, a pass defensed and a forced fumble.

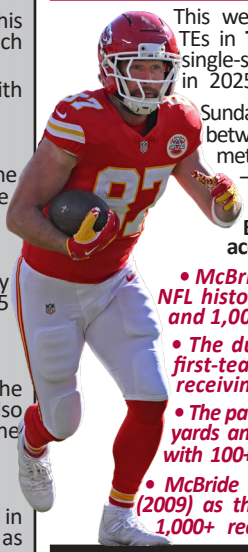

Last week vs. the Rams, Wilson finished with a season-high 10 tackles. It was his second game with 10+ tackles as a member of the Cardinals and first since Week 3 at San Francisco last season (12).

In Week 8 vs. Dallas, he registered 8 tackles, including two for a loss, and a QB hit and became the first Cardinals inside linebacker to record 8+ tackles, including 2+ for a loss, since Jordan Hicks had 12 tackles and 2 TFLs on 12/5/21 @ Chi.

With 10 tackles this week, Wilson (82) would surpass his career-high of 81 tackles set in 2019 with Cleveland.

With S Andrew Wingard and LB Jordan Burch landing on IR this week, Arizona now has 16 players on injured lists (IR/PUP), tied for the most in the NFL. In the last four weeks, the Cardinals have placed 6 starters on IR. Among the players currently on IR are 3 of the Cardinals top 4 picks in the 2026 NFL Draft: RB Jeremiyah Love (1st Rnd), OL Chase Bisontis (2nd Rnd) and DL Kaleb Proctor (4th Rnd).

This week's matchup features two of the NFL's premier TEs in Trey McBride and Travis Kelce, who own the NFL single-season TE records for receptions (McBride – 126 in 2025) and receiving yards (Kelce – 1,416 in 2020).

Sunday's game will mark the first head-to-head meeting between McBride and Kelce. The Cardinals and Chiefs last met in the 2022 regular season opener when McBride – then a rookie – was inactive before making his NFL debut the following week at Las Vegas.

Below is a look at some of the accomplishments of the two standout TEs...

- McBride (2) and Kelce (3) are the only TEs in NFL history with multiple seasons of 100+ receptions and 1,000+ receiving yards.
- The duo has combined for 13 Pro Bowl selections, five first-team All-Pro selections, nine seasons with 1,000+ receiving yards and five seasons with 100+ receptions.
- The pair has a combined 1,540 receptions for 17,624 receiving yards and 106 TDs in their careers, while totaling 48 games with 100+ receiving yards and 22 games with 10+ receptions.
- McBride (2025) joined Kelce (2018, '20, '22) & Dallas Clark (2009) as the only TEs in NFL history w/ 100+ receptions, 1,000+ receiving yards & 10+ TDs in a single season.

BECK VS. THE BEST

For the second straight week rookie QB Carson Beck will go head-to-head with an MVP and Super Bowl-winning QB. After facing 2025 NFL MVP Matthew Stafford in his NFL debut last week, Beck will now take on Chiefs two-time MVP and three-time Super Bowl winner Patrick Mahomes.

He will become the first rookie QB in NFL history to have his first two career starts come vs. QBs who have won both a Super Bowl and NFL MVP honors.

Beck will also be facing one of the NFL's top defenses for the second straight week. He went up against the Rams #6 ranked defense last week and faces the Chiefs #8 ranked unit on Sunday.
