ARIZONA CARDINALS NOTE CARDS

Year of the first meeting between the Cardinals and Packers. On Thursday, it will have been exactly 99 years, 11 months and 9 days since the teams first met in what is the NFL's second-oldest rivalry (behind only Cards-Bears). The first meeting took place on 11/20/1921 at Normal Park in Chicago.

MURRAY AND RODGERS - ROUND 1

The Thursday Night Football contest between the Cardinals and Packers will feature the first-ever head-to-head matchup between Cardinals QB Kyler Murray and Packers QB Aaron Rodgers - two of the three QBs in the NFC named to the Pro Bowl in 2020.

"He's probably my favorite quarterback to watch – his swag, the way he plays the game, what he's done in his career," Murray said of facing Rodgers for the first time. "I admire his game a lot. First time playing against him, first time being able to meet him. It's pretty cool, I'm looking forward to it."

Both QBs are having outstanding seasons in 2021. They enter Thursday's game with their respective teams atop the NFC standings and have the NFL's two longest active winning streaks.
