PUGH NAMED AZ SALUTE TO SERVICE NOMINEE

On Friday (11/4), G Justin Pugh was announced as the Cardinals 2022 Salute To Service nominee. It is the second time (2020) Pugh has earned the honor during his time in Arizona.

Pugh's brother, Michael Gavaghan, has served 20 years in the Air Force, where he currently serves as a Loadmaster - and supporting the military and first responders has long been an important cause for Pugh.

As part of the NFL's "My Cause, My Cleats" campaign the past five years, he has partnered with Merging Vets and Players (MVP), a program that was designed to address the challenge of transitioning from the battlefield to home by creating an environment where veterans and athletes can share their strength and experience. MVP was created by Fox News NFL Insider and Unbreakable Performance Center founder Jay Glazer and former Green Beret Nate Boyer. Pugh has long supported the organization. Most recently, in September of this year, he helped host an MVP event at the Cardinals training facility. The goal of the MVP events is to bring together combat veterans and former pro athletes for peer-to-peer support. The group discusses the mental health challenges they've faced at home and the different ways that they can overcome those challenges.
