WEEK 15

VS

ARIZONA
CARDINALS

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 20, 2020

WITH A WIN...

- Arizona would have eight wins in 2020, matching their win total from the previous two seasons (2018-19) combined (8).
- The Cardinals would earn their second (2014) season sweep of the NFC East since leaving the division in 2002.
- Arizona would improve to 5-2 in its last seven games against the Eagles and would run its home winning streak vs. Philly to four games (five including playoffs).

MILESTONES WITHIN REACH...

WR LARRY FITZGERALD

- With a reception Fitzgerald would have at least one catch in 255 consecutive games, extending the second-longest streak in NFL history (Jerry Rice - 274).
- With five receptions Fitzgerald would reach 50 catches for the 17th consecutive season, the longest streak in NFL history. Tony Gonzalez (16; 1998-2013) and Fitzgerald are currently tied for the longest streak. Fitzgerald would join Jerry Rice (17) as the only players in history with at least 17 seasons of 50+ catches.
- With a TD reception Fitzgerald would have 12 TD catches in 10 career games vs. the Eagles, including postseason. In NFL history only Bobby Mitchell (14 in 22 games) and Charley Taylor (14 in 20 games) would have more career TD receptions vs. Philadelphia.

QB KYLER MURRAY

- With 1 rushing TD Murray would have 11 rushing TDs in 2020. The only QBs in NFL history with more in a season would be Cam Newton (14 in 2011) and Steve Grogan (12 in 1976). He would also join Newton (40 TD passes; 22 TD runs between 2011-12) as the only players in NFL history with 40+ passing TDs and 15+ rushing TDs in their first two seasons.
- With both a rushing and passing TD Murray would establish an NFL record for most games with a passing and rushing TD in a season (9).
- With 2 passing TDs Murray would join Cam Newton (35 TD passes; 10 TD runs in 2015) as the only players in NFL history with 25+ passing TDs and 10+ rushing TDs in a season.
- With 3 TDs (rushing or passing) Murray would have 60 total career TDs. He would join Dan Marino (70) and Cam Newton (62) as the only players in NFL history with 60+ TDs (passing & rushing) in their first two NFL seasons.

WR DEANDRE HOPKINS

- With 6 receptions Hopkins would reach 100 catches in 2020. It would mark his fourth career 100-catch campaign, and third in the last four years. In NFL history only Antonio Brown (6), Brandon Marshall (6), Larry Fitzgerald (5), Andre Johnson (5) and Wes Welker (5) would have more seasons with 100+ catches.

RB KENYAN DRAKE

- With 1 rushing TD Drake (10) would join Kyler Murray (10) as just the second RB/QB combo in NFL history to each have 10+ rushing TDs in a season: Vikings QB Daunte Culpepper (10) and RB Moe Williams (11). It would mark just the fifth time in NFL history a team had multiple players (any position) with 10+ rushing TDs in a single season.
- With 1 rushing TD Drake would have at least one rushing TD in five consecutive games, tying the longest streak in franchise history.

LB HAASON REDDICK

- With 1.0 sack Reddick would have 6.0 sacks in the last two games. That would be the most in franchise history in any two-game span. Reddick would become the 11th player in team history with at least 11.0 sacks in a season.

LB DENNIS GARDECK

- With 1.0 sack Gardeck - who signed with AZ as a rookie free agent in 2018 - would have 6.0 sacks in 2020. That would be the most in franchise history by a player who entered the league undrafted (Olsen Pierre, 5.5 in 2017).

REDDICK NAMED PLAYER OF THE WEEK

LB Haason Reddick was named the "NFC Defensive Player of the Week" for his performance in last Sunday's 26-7 win over the Giants.

It was Reddick's first career "Defensive Player of the Week" selection and the fifth Cardinals "Player of the Week" award this season, the most the team has had since 2015 (six).

Against the Giants, Reddick set a franchise single-game record with 5.0 sacks while also finishing the game with five tackles and three forced fumbles. He became the first NFL player with at least 5.0 sacks and three forced fumbles in a game since Green Bay's Vonnie Holliday had 5.0 sacks and three forced fumbles in 2002.

DEEP ROOTS IN CAMDEN AND PHILADELPHIA

For the second time in his four-year NFL career Reddick is set to play the Eagles, a team the Camden, NJ native grew up watching from across the Delaware River.

Following a record-breaking senior season at Temple, Reddick was selected by the Cardinals 13th overall in the 2017 NFL Draft, which took place in Philadelphia. Just a few days before hearing his name called in the first round, Reddick received Camden's key to the city during a ceremony aboard the Battleship New Jersey.

He first played the Eagles as a rookie in 2017 when the Cardinals traveled to Lincoln Financial Field where played his last home game as a Temple Owl just 316 days earlier. His second meeting with Philly comes one week after breaking the Cardinals franchise single-game record with 5.0 sacks against the Giants at MetLife Stadium, just 95 miles from Camden.

Originally a walk-on CB at Temple, Reddick started all 14 games in his final season with the Owls (2016) and totaled 65 tackles, 22.5 tackles for loss, 10.5 sacks, an INT, three forced fumbles and a fumble recovery. His 22.5 tackles for loss led all players in the FBS and also set an AAC single-season record.

A PRESSURE-FILLED AFFAIR

Both QBs in Sunday's matchup - AZ's Kyler Murray and Philly's Jalen Hurts - will be under heavy pressure when they step on the field at State Farm Stadium. The Cardinals (#6) and Eagles (#2) defenses both rank in the top-10 in sacks in 2020.

NFL Leaders - Team Sacks (2020)

Rnk	Team	Sacks
1	Pittsburgh	45.0
2	Philadelphia	43.0
3	L.A. Rams	42.0
4t	Washington	40.0
4t	Tampa Bay	40.0
6	Arizona	37.0

And it won't just be one particular player the QBs have to keep an eye on - as the Cardinals (16) and Eagles (14) have a combined 30 players with at least one sack this season. The teams have a combined 17 players with multiple sacks.

THE TURNOVER TURNAROUND

The Cardinals defense had three takeaways (all fumble recoveries) in the win over the Giants last Sunday. A unit that ranked tied for 27th in the NFL with just three takeaways through the first five weeks has now recorded 15 takeaways (9 INT; 6 FR) over the last eight games. That is tied for third in the NFL dating back to Week 6.
