TITANS VISIT CHARGERS SUNDAY IN LATE AFTERNOON KICKOFF

Tennessee Titans (7-6) at Los Angeles Chargers (7-6)

Sunday, Dec. 18, 2022 • 3:25 p.m. CST/1:25 p.m. PST • SoFi Stadium • Inglewood, Calif. • TV: CBS (WTVF-5)

NASHVILLE — The Tennessee Titans travel to Los Angeles this week to face the Chargers, pairing two playoff hopefuls with identical 7-6 records in a late Sunday afternoon matchup. Kickoff at SoFi Stadium (capacity 71,500) is scheduled for 3:25 p.m. CST/1:25 p.m. PST on Dec. 18.

The Titans will make their second visit to SoFi Stadium, but it will be their first time to play the Chargers at the venue, which opened in 2020. They defeated the Rams there on Nov. 7, 2021. It is the first clash between the Titans and Chargers franchises in Los Angeles since the Oilers visited there in 1960. The Chargers called San Diego home from 1961 to 2016.

The most recent Titans-Chargers clash at Nissan Stadium on Oct. 20, 2019 was the first start in a Titans uniform for quarterback Ryan Tannehill, as well as the first NFL game for 2019 first-round defensive tackle Jeffery Simmons. Since that week, the Titans own the league's fifth-best record at 37-19 (.661).

THE BROADCAST

The contest will be regionally televised on CBS, including Nashville affiliate WTVF NewsChannel 5. The broadcast team includes play-by-play announcer Andrew Catalon, analyst James Lofton and reporter Amanda Renner.

Fans in Nashville can stream live Titans games with the newly-launched NFL+ subscription service, which offers access to all local games and all primetime games on phones and tablets, live local and national audio for every NFL game, and more.

The Titans Radio Network and Nashville flagship 104.5 The Zone carry all Titans games across the Mid-South with the "Voice of the Titans" Mike Keith, analyst Dave McGinnis, sideline reporter Amie Wells and gameday host Rhett Bryan.

Additionally, Compass Media Networks will broadcast the game to a national radio audience. Play-by-play announcer Troy Clardy and analyst Brian Baldinger will have the call.

TITANS LOOK FOR RETURN TO THE WIN COLUMN

The Titans travel to the West Coast this week with hopes of ending their first three-game losing skid since Weeks 5-7 of the 2018 season, Mike Vrabel's first campaign as head coach. Last week they hosted the AFC South rival Jacksonville Jaguars with a chance to inch closer to their third consecutive division title. However, the Jaguars thwarted the Titans' plans, leaving Nashville with a 36-22 victory.

Running back Derrick Henry rushed for 121 yards and one touchdown on 17 attempts, and he added 34 yards on three receptions. It was his sixth 100-yard rushing game of the season, which is tied for the most in the NFL with Cleveland's Nick Chubb and Las Vegas' Josh Jacobs. Jacobs leads the NFL with 1,402 rushing yards, followed by Henry (1,199) and Chubb (1,153).

Tannehill completed a pair of touchdown passes in the loss—one to rookie tight end Chig Okonkwo and one to veteran wide receiver Nick Westbrook-Ikhine.

With four weeks remaining in the regular season, the Titans have a two-game lead in their division, ahead of the 5-8 Jaguars and 4-8-1 Indianapolis Colts. The 1-10-1 Texans have already been eliminated from contention. Following their trip to Los Angeles, the Titans host the Texans (Dec. 24) and the Dallas Cowboys (Dec. 29) before finishing the regular season with a rematch against the Jaguars in Jacksonville (Jan. 7 or 8).

THE CHARGERS

The Chargers are in their second season under head coach Brandon Staley. He was hired in 2021 after a stint as the defensive coordinator of the Los Angeles Rams. Staley has his team in second place in the AFC West behind the 10-3 Kansas City Chiefs.

The Chargers hosted the Miami Dolphins on Sunday Night Football last week. Against Miami's fourth-ranked total offense and second-ranked passing offense, the Chargers allowed only 127 net passing yards and 219 total yards, leading to a 23-17 victory.

Chargers quarterback Justin Herbert was drafted by the Chargers in the first round of the 2020 NFL Draft. His 13,056 passing yards, including 367 last week against the Dolphins, are the most in NFL history through a player's first three career seasons.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR THIS WEEK

WR TREYLON BURKS
- Can record his third consecutive individual game with a touchdown. Prior to being inactive last week, he scored on a fumble recovery in Week 12 against Cincinnati and notched his first career touchdown catch in Week 13 at Philadelphia.

S KEVIN BYARD
- With 24 career interceptions, he needs one interception to tie Michael Griffin and Ken Houston (25) for eighth place all-time for the franchise. He would tie Griffin for the most interceptions for the franchise during its "Titans era" (1999–present).

RB DERRICK HENRY
- Scheduled to play in his 100th career game (regular season).
- Will reach 8,000 career rushing yards with four more yards (7,996 currently).
- Can record his 35th career 100-yard rushing game, including regular season (32) and playoffs (three).
- Needs one touchdown of any kind (79 career) to reach 80 total career touchdowns.
- Needs 131 scrimmage yards (9,162 currently) to surpass Earl Campbell (9,292) for the third-most scrimmage yards in franchise history behind Eddie George (12, 153) and Chris Johnson (9,968).

TE AUSTIN HOOPER
- Enters the week with a streak of five consecutive games with three or more catches. A sixth straight game with three or more receptions would be the third-longest streak of his career for a single season (nine in 2018 and in 2019).

TE CHIG OKONKWO
- Needs 10 receiving yards (320 currently) to break Ben Troupe's franchise rookie tight end record of 329 receiving yards.
- Can become the second rookie tight end in franchise history with at least three touchdown catches, joining Chris Dressel (four in 1983).
- Can record his fifth reception of 30-plus yards. He would join Delanie Walker (six in 2014 and five in 2016) as the team's only tight ends since 1999 with five or more 30-yard catches in a single season.

DT JEFFERY SIMMONS
- Needs two sacks to match his career high of 8.5 sacks in a season, set in 2021.

P RYAN STONEHOUSE
- Enters the game with a streak of five consecutive games with a gross punting average of at least 50.0 yards. A sixth consecutive game would match his own NFL record set earlier this season from Week 1-7.

QB RYAN TANNEHILL
- Can record his 26th career 300-yard passing game and his 10th such performance since joining the Titans in 2019. Ten 300-yard games with the Titans would put him in a tie with Steve McNair (10) for the third-most games in franchise history.
- Can register his sixth straight game with a passer rating of at least 90.0, which would be the second-longest such streak of his career for consecuive games within a season (seven in 2019).

SERIES HISTORY

The Titans and Chargers share a long and storied history. The two teams, founding members of the American Football League, have met 47 times since 1960. The Chargers lead the series 28-18-1.

Most recently, the Titans hosted the Chargers on Oct. 20, 2019, a day when quarterback Ryan Tannehill recorded his first start for the Titans. A goal-line stand by the Titans defense in the final minute preserved the 23-20 victory, concluding when linebacker Wesley Woodyard forced a fumble and defensive tackle Jurrell Casey recovered the ball in the end zone for a touchback.

Prior to the 2019 matchup, the Titans played the franchise's first overseas game against the Chargers in London on Oct. 21, 2018. After a touchdown pass from Marcus Mariota to tight end Luke Stocker put the Titans behind by one point with 31 seconds remaining, the Titans elected to try a two-point conversion to take the lead. However, a pass from Mariota to wide receiver Taywan Taylor was tipped by safety Adrian Phillips and fell incomplete to give the Chargers a 20-19 win.

In 2016, the Chargers' final season in San Diego, the Titans visited Qualcomm Stadium a final time and suffered a 43-35 defeat.

The Titans were founded as the Houston Oilers and moved to Tennessee in 1997 before becoming the Titans in 1999. The Chargers began in Los Angeles in 1960, moved to San Diego in 1961, and moved back to Los Angeles in 2017.

On Sept. 18, 1960, the two clubs met for the Oilers' inaugural home game at Houston's Jeppesen Stadium. The Oilers won that matchup 38-28. In November of that same year, the Chargers won the rematch in Los Angeles, 24-21. The AFL's top two teams would meet once more that season—a rubber match for the first-ever AFL Championship. The Oilers were victorious at home, rejoicing in a 24-16 win that earned each member of the team an extra $1,016.42.

The following season, they met again for the AFL crown, and the Oilers again were the victors in a 10-3 final. They would clash twice more in the playoffs, first in a 17-14 Oilers win in a 1979 Divisional contest. Following the 2007 season, the Chargers hosted the Titans in a Wild Card matchup and earned their first victory in the postseason series, winning 17-6. It was part of the Chargers' eight-game winning streak against the Titans, lasting from 1993 until 2013.

The Chargers and Oilers marked another significant day on Sept. 13, 1998, when the then-Tennessee Oilers, who played their home games in Memphis in 1997, hosted their first regular season home game in Nashville in front of 41,089 fans at Vanderbilt Stadium. To their dismay, the Chargers spoiled the festivities by handing the Oilers a 13-7 defeat.

GAME RECAP

In Week 7 of the 2019 season, the Titans hosted the Los Angeles Chargers and won by a score of 23-20.

On fourth-and-eight at the Chargers 43-yard line, P Brett Kern threw an 11-yard pass to S Kevin Byard to help keep the drive alive, and ultimately led to K Cody Parkey converting a 45-yard field goal for a 3-0 lead. On the following drive, Los Angeles responded with their own field goal, as Chargers K Chase McLaughlin converted a 29-yard attempt for a 3-3 game.

In the second quarter, Chargers QB Philip Rivers led Los Angeles on a 14-play, 94-yard scoring drive. Chargers WR Keenan Allen contributed 32 yards on two catches, and Chargers RB Austin Ekeler totaled 24 total yards on the drive, as Rivers ultimately connected with Chargers RB Melvin Gordon for a one-yard score and a 10-3 lead. However, on the ensuing Tennessee drive, the Titans responded with a touchdown of their own. QB Ryan Tannehill connected with WR A.J. Brown for 42 yards on three catches, and RB Derrick Henry added 36 total yards, as the drive culminated in an eight-yard touchdown catch by WR Corey Davis and a 10-10 tie game.

Tennessee tacked on another score early in the fourth quarter, as Tannehill connected with WR Tajaé Sharpe for an 11-yard touchdown. However, the extra point attempt was no good, as the Titans took a 16-10 lead. On the following Chargers possession, Los Angeles converted a 50-yard field goal to make it a 16-13 game.

Later in the fourth quarter, Tannehill led the Titans on a seven-play, 75-yard scoring drive. With help from a 38-yard catch by Davis, Henry ran in an 11-yard touchdown to put Tennessee ahead, 23-13. Los Angeles then responded on the next possession, as Rivers hit Ekeler for a 41-yard score. The Chargers made it a one possession game, 23-20.

With 2:35 remaining to play in regulation, Tennessee turned the ball over on downs at the Chargers 49-yard line. Rivers drove Los Angeles down the field and entered the red zone, and in Titans territory Rivers threw what was initially called a 16-yard touchdown pass to Ekeler. However, the ruling on the field was overturned. Next, a defensive pass interference penalty called on CB Malcolm Butler allowed the Chargers a fresh set of downs at the one-yard line. Then, Gordon ran in what was at first called a one-yard touchdown, but the ruling on the field was reversed as Gordon did not break the plane. On his second attempt, Gordon lost possession of the ball as LB Wesley Woodyard forced a fumble. DT Jurrell Casey recovered the ball to give the Titans possession with 15 seconds remaining in the game and seal a 23-20 victory at Nissan Stadium.

Brandon Staley was named the 17th head coach in Los Angeles Chargers franchise history on Jan. 17, 2021.

Staley has six years of NFL coaching experience and played in college as a quarterback for parts of five seasons. In his first season as the Chargers head coach, Staley led the Chargers to a 9–7 record through the first 16 games of the season. However, against Las Vegas in Week 18 in a win or tie or go home situation, the Chargers fell to the Raiders 35-32 in overtime on a game-winning field goal as time expired. The Chargers missed the playoffs at 9-8. Staley's offense set single-season team records for first downs (401), passing touchdowns (38) and fewest fumbles (10). The offensive unit also scored 181 fourth-quarter points, good for the second-most in a season in NFL history. Staley called a defense that led the NFL with 11 strip-sacks and paced the AFC with 19 forced fumbles. Six Chargers were selected to the Pro Bowl, including five that were tabbed as starters.

In 2021, The first-year head coach helped develop quarterback Justin Herbert to his first Pro Bowl game as the second-year passer set numerous single-season franchise records, including completions (443), passing yards (5,014), passing touchdowns (38) and games with 300-plus passing yards (nine). He led the AFC in 2021 in each of those categories and was named AFC Offensive Player of the Week three times. Herbert became the third-youngest player to throw for 5,000 yards in a single season (23 years, 305 days) and is the only player to throw for 5,000 yards and rush for 300 yards in the same season. In the team's Sunday Night Football victory over Pittsburgh in Week 11, Herbert threw for 382 yards and ran for 90, becoming the only player ever to top 350 passing yards and 90 rushing yards in a single game.

Staley went to the University of Dayton and started two years at quarterback for the Flyers, guiding the team to a 16–5 record from 2003-04. He finished his playing career at Mercyhurst College in 2005.

LAST WEEK VS. THE JAGUARS

Week 14: Jaguars 36, Titans 22
Sunday, Dec. 11, 2022 • 12:00 p.m. CT • Nissan Stadium

In Week 14 of the 2022 season, the Titans hosted the Jaguars and fell by a score of 36-22.

Tennessee got on the board on its opening possession with a 10-play scoring drive that included first-down receptions by WRs Nick Westbrook-Ikhine and Robert Woods, as well as TE Chig Okonkwo. Ultimately, RB Derrick Henry ran in a three-yard rushing score for an early 7-0 Titans lead. Later in the first quarter, QB Ryan Tannehill was strip-sacked and the ball was recovered by Jaguars DL Dawuane Smoot, giving Jacksonville a first down at the Tennessee 20-yard line. Jaguars QB Trevor Lawrence found Jaguars TE Evan Engram for a 12-yard touchdown to capitalize on the turnover and tie the score, 7-7.

On the ensuing Titans possession, Tennessee took the lead back with a six-play scoring possession. Henry broke free for a 50-yard gain to earn a first down at the Jacksonville 25-yard line, before Tannehill found Okonkwo for a 10-yard touchdown pass, 14-7 Tennessee.

In the second quarter, Tannehill's pass was intercepted by Jaguars S Andrew Wingard and returned 13 yards to the Jacksonville 46-yard line, as Jaguars K Riley Patterson was able to tack on a 37-yard field goal, 14-10 Titans. After forcing the Titans to go three-and-out, Jacksonville added another field goal as Patterson converted a 43-yarder, 14-13 Titans. On the ensuing Titans possession, with Tennessee driving in Jacksonville territory, Tannehill tossed a 16-yard pass to Henry. However, Henry fumbled the ball and it was recovered by Jaguars OLB Josh Allen for a Jacksonville first down at their own 22-yard line. Lawrence found Jaguars WR Christian Kirk for a 23-yard pass, Engram for a 18-yard first down, and ultimately, Jaguars WR Zay Jones for a 20-yard touchdown pass as Jacksonville took a 20-14 lead into halftime.

In the third stanza, Jacksonville scored 13 points to increase their lead. First, a 72-yard drive culminated in a one-yard rushing score by Lawrence, 27-14. Then, a five-play possession resulted in a 21-yard touchdown pass from Lawrence to Engram. Jacksonville elected to go for two, but Lawrence's pass fell incomplete, 33-14 Jaguars.

Jacksonville capitalized on another Titans turnover in the fourth quarter, as a fumbled snap was recovered by Jaguars OLB Arden Key at the Tennessee 30-yard line. Patterson converted a 33-yard field goal to make it 36-14, Jacksonville. On the ensuing Titans possession, Tennessee put together a 10-yard scoring drive, aided by two first-down passes to TE Austin Hooper. The drive concluded with a two-yard touchdown pass from Tannehill to Westbrook-Ikhine, and Tennessee's two-point conversion was successful as Tannehill found Okonkwo on a pass play. The Titans inched closer to make it 36-22, but ultimately could not construct a comeback and fell at home.

The team has now used 80 players in 2022. Their 76 players entering the week were the second most in the league behind only the Arizona Cardinals' 77 players used.
- The Titans scored a touchdown on their opening possession for the sixth time this season, driving 76 yards to the end zone on 10 plays. Their six first-drive touchdowns ties for the team's second-best total since 2000, matching the 2001 team's output and trailing only the 2020 squad, which had seven such scores. Entering the week, the Titans' five opening-drive touchdowns tied for the fourth-highest total in the NFL this season.

SELECT TITANS POSTGAME QUOTES

HEAD COACH MIKE VRABEL

Are the three turnovers in the first half the tale of the game?
It is a large part of the game, but we have to be able to get some turnovers. We have to be able to find a way to get our hand on the football. We batted one early on third down. Then we batted one late and we had an interception that went through our hands that turned into a touchdown. It is very complementary. It starts with taking care of the football without question. Then we have to be able to find a way to get a stop, force them to kick a field goal, and not turn those turnovers - let those be touchdowns.

What is keeping you from disrupting the quarterback right now?
There is no secret to affecting the quarterback. You have to have some guys that go, rush, and get them. Then when we pressure, we have to be able to get there. We have to get there quicker. Then coverage is going to have to allow for an extra count or a pump or a hitch. That is where it is at. There is no secret to that.

What did the players tell you with their play out on the field today?
There was a lot of good things out there today. We moved the football. We got some stops early. I thought how we came out and played early was positive. We were not good enough with the turnovers and not good enough to start the second half defensively. We will have to get a lot of those things corrected.

On how much difficult might the path be moving forward after this loss?
It is about consistency in this league, whether you win or you lose. Unfortunately, we lost. It is about finding a level of consistency, that we show up tomorrow ready to make corrections, be honest, and try to get things fixed so that we can move forward and prepare to win a football game. That is all we do whether we win or we lose.

Was there a miscommunication between wide receiver Nick Westbrook-Ikhine and quarterback Ryan Tannehill on the interception?
It was just not a well-executed play. Clearly not a well-executed play.

Was the team distracted this week?
I felt like we actually had a good week. I thought that Friday there was energy, Saturday there was a volume around the building. I thought that the way that we started the football game and what we did was positive. We just didn't do enough there once we got into the game with the turnovers and our inability to affect the quarterback and make them earn it. All those things that we try to preach each and every week.

What made Jaguars tight end Evan Engram such a problem today?
He is a good player. We didn't do enough to affect the quarterback. We lost leverage. The screen plays in man coverage. The catch-and-runs and balls down the field.

Does this first three game losing streak since your first season as head coach say something about where this team is right now?
We will all evaluate. I was excited about coming back home and excited about playing against a division opponent. I thought we were prepared. I don't know what it says about this. We understand that there are going to be some ups and downs. We are going to have to be able to weather the storm and find out who is willing to give us that extra push here down the stretch.

Pass protection hurt you again, especially early in the game when quarterback Ryan Tannehill was sacked and fumbled. Has that been an ongoing issue for this team?
What part of that was the question? Help me out with what your question is.

Was the pass protection good enough today?
Nothing was good enough today.

Does three straight games with a fumble from running back Derrick Henry qualify as a trend?
Hopefully we can give it to him as many times as we possibly can next week.

When you are preparing during the week, do you at any point this season feel hamstrung by the personnel you have available to you? Or do you feel like you come into each game with enough guys to get the job done?
I take that approach every week. Every week that I come in there, I find a way. I just tell them, 'Find out who we have and who is available.' Everybody needs to prepare as a starter. We saw we moved a lot of guys up. A lot of guys played. We will see where it is next week and do the same exact thing.

Did you come into this game thinking that you had enough guys to win this game?
I always think that we can win a football game if we are able to do the things that we talk (about). If we are able to affect their quarterback, be able to be efficient with our passing game, get some turnovers, take care of the ball, and be in a game where, when you can stop the run and force them to throw the football, then you affect the quarterback and control the game by running it. I do. I know that is what wins in this league. As well as being good situationally, which was cool to see our guys battle back. They pressured us. We got into an extra-long situation there. I thought we were going to have a chance to score there, kick an onside kick, and see if we could have the 10 percent. All that shit that happened and went wrong, I still thought guys were rotating in there. Chris Conley, Racey McMath, guys were rolling in and out that maybe hadn't had a ton of work with that two minute. I thought that there were some things there that we can build on. Unfortunately, we just had the real long yardage after the sack.

Do you want somebody on the defensive line firing off on that kneel down at the end the way that they did?
I want our guys to protect themselves at all costs throughout the game. I don't know what happened or didn't happen. I think that they should protect themselves every time that they're out there.

Often you say you have got to coach better and you have got to play better. When does that frustration boil over? Does something else have to happen?
I don't know what would have to happen at this point in time other than me coming in there with a clearly defined vision for how the week is going to go, try to figure out who is healthy, figure out what the gameplan is, how we execute, how we practice, and how we prepare. I don't think there would be anything else. If there are, I'm open to it. I'm open to all suggestions and I mean that. I think that the consistency that has to happen with my leadership and my vision for the gameplan each and every week and what we need to do to win. Hopefully I can stay consistent and like I said, come to work tomorrow, wake up with a choice of how we are going to respond, and how we are going to walk into that building tomorrow. That starts with me. It is going to have to start there and hopefully through the assistant coaches and the players. Yeah, we are frustrated. It sucks to lose.

Do you ever get angry with them and do something that is out of character?
Yeah, I do a lot of different things each and every day. The consistency is just about the approach that we take, our attitude and our mindset. There are things that I do each and every day that are - we change practice up, we make emphasis, we do ball disruption two times a day, ball security at the beginning and the end, and we add open field tackle. There are a lot of things we do with the schedule. We had a lot of things.

Has any other team has had to deal with as many injuries as the Titans have?
I try to focus on the Tennessee Titans and whoever we are playing that week. That is what I try to focus on.

QUARTERBACK RYAN TANNEHILL

Did turning the ball over four times serve as cause for the loss?
No doubt, that is something that we know each and every week in this league. We all have got to be better and do a better job there.

Did wide receiver Nick Westbrook-Ikhine think he was blocking on the interception?
It was a pass play all the way. We just were not on the same page. I saw something and thought I could get a quick ball to him there. We just weren't on the same page.

What is the balance at a point like this between being angry and frustrated and not being emotional in terms of how you approach your work?
We have got to channel those emotions, channel the frustration, channel the anger or whatever individual emotions that each player has. We have to channel them, put them together, and come together to get back on track. This is not the way we want to play. We talk about the keys all the time in our building. We didn't really execute any of them on offense or defense today. We have to get back on track, stick together, channel that emotion and put it together in a positive way. Then find a way to win next week.

How much did falling behind on the scoreboard make you have to change the gameplan and throw it more often?
We were moving the ball effectively the whole first half. We just shot ourselves in the foot with turnovers. Each time we were kind of getting get in a groove and getting rolling it - actually two of them were down basically scoring range or in field goal range at least. We were moving and then had the turnover. We did a lot of good things in the first half. We have to take better care of the ball. When you get behind like we did early in the second half - they come out, score, we have a penalty, it put us in first-and-22, and backed us up. We were not able to gain yards there and ended up punting. Then they scored again. That put us down three scores, I believe. At that point you have to find a way to move and try to go get points.

How does this result feel given the usual success against the Jaguars?
It is not a place you want to be in. It is not a place that any of us walking into this building thought we were going to be in today. It is just the keys that we talk about all the time. If you don't take care of the ball, if you don't get turnovers or stops on the other side, if you can't score points, then you're going to lose. I don't think that there is any magic formula. We have got to do the things that we talk about and take advantage of the opportunities that we get. Now we have to channel this frustration, channel this anger, channel this emotion, put it together, stick together, and find a way to win next week.

How do you go about setting the tone for body language and attitude for this week?
No doubt, we have got to bring the energy. I thought we had great energy coming into this week. Guys were sticking together. We had a great week of practice and a great week of preparation. We had great energy going into the game and great energy in the first half, even though we had some mistakes and some turnovers. It was great energy. It wasn't for a lack of body language, energy or belief. We just had the mistakes that really cost us the game over the course of the game. We have to stick together, keep that focus, keep that energy, and keep it going. Times like these are when we find out what you're about. We have to stay the course, stick together, and find a way to win next week.

Is this still a confident team in your opinion?
I believe in those guys. I believe we have what we need to go win games. We've got to make it happen. We did some good things today and we did some things that ultimately cost us the game. We have just got to be cleaner, take advantage of the opportunities we get, believe in each other, and find a way to win.

How meaningful was it to get running back Derrick Henry going?
It was great. We did a lot of good things in the first half. We were able to move the ball the way we wanted to by doing some stuff in the passing game and by getting Derrick (Henry) rolling in the run game. He had some big runs and some efficient runs where it was muddy underneath, but he was able to fall forward and stay efficient by getting more yards. There were a lot of good things in that first half. We just have to do a better job of taking care of the ball.

What did you see on the interception?
The defensive lineman stepped up. I thought I had a quick window there to drive it to Nick Westbrook-Ikhine. He was not on the same page as me and the rest is history.

Were you taking a shot on the first play, flea-flicker, regardless as long as you had the time to throw it or it was there someplace else to go with the ball?
We were trying to get the shot deep but did not have that. We had Robert (Woods) coming across the field, but they buzzed out underneath. The guy was running with him underneath. The safety hung for a little bit in the middle. We were able to get behind him, so it made it a one-on-one on the outside. I took a shot down to Nick (Westbrook-Ikhine).

How do you rate the teams focus this week? Was the team distracted?
No. We had to deal with it, but the energy and focus were great throughout the week. We had a great week of preparation. Practice was great. Guys were locked in the meeting rooms, on the practice field, and we got a lot done. We just did some things that hurt us in this football game. We did a lot of good things, but when you turn the ball over and you don't get any back then you put yourself in a bad situation.

RUNNING BACK DERRICK HENRY

There seemed like there was a lot of good things happening out there in general from the offense in the first half, but just frustrated by the turnovers a little bit?
Yeah, those put us behind and they took advantage of it, turned the ball over. Coach (Vrabel), he said all week we need to take care of the ball, finish drives and score points. But unfortunately we didn't, and that's what happens.

What happened on that fumble that along the sidelines, a matter of not expecting that hit?
No, I was coming off a broken tackle. I didn't see him hit me and the ball came out. That's all. I've got to take care of the ball.

How do you think this team should react, how will this team react, it's the first three game losing streak in a while?
It better. Like I said, it's going to sound like a broken record with me. What can you do? I mean, come make the corrections, learn from it. Put your gameplan together to go win a game and focus on that. It's over. Was a loss. Come in tomorrow and correct. Take care of the ball, take care of the ball. All you can do to is try to make it better.

Mike (Vrabel) said last week he thought you guys were at a crossroads of the season Collectively, it didn't seem like a very good team I mean, so today were you surprised by that?
Surprised by how, what do you mean?

Well, it seemed like all of you last week were saying, 'Hey we're definitely going to come back.' This was a definitive team statement and instead you got the opposite?
I mean, I felt like we just didn't do what we needed to do to be able to win the game. And they came out and played better. And like I said, we turned the ball over and gave them opportunities and put us in a bad spot. I'm going to hold myself accountable always. I've got to take care of the ball and do my job a little bit better, and just continue to work and make each other better throughout the week and try to win the game. But right now we have lost three, we just got to stay positive if possible.

Is this team still confident, as it was say a month ago, when things were rolling?
We definitely are. I feel confident. We just got to sustain, finish games, put drives together, score points and do the things that we know how to do. Well, we just kept shooting ourselves in the foot today and that beat us.

What has to happen, is that practice, the meeting room, mindset and a combination of everything?
I think you have to have a growth mindset, come in and make the corrections, learn from the corrections and let it translate on the field. I mean, guys come in and work hard each and every day and it sucks, sucks to lose. But I know my teammates and the whole coaching staff, we know the will to want to get better and go out and get a win. And I think eventually it will happen for us. You know, you just have a little adversity right now and that's all it is. And, you know, we will just have to weather the storm, keep working and everything will happen the way that it is supposed to.

Despite kind of a rough day all around, the running game seem to have some success today that didn't happen lately. Do you think there were some adjustments being made during the week that you can allude to that and something and something positive you can take away from this game?
I think just running hard and getting what I can out of every run. Offensive line did a great job. All those guys did a great job blocking. And I thought we were able to be efficient in the run game today, but it still wasn't good enough. And, you know, they won.

What was supposed to happen on that last fumble, was it a direct snap? What went wrong there?
Yeah, it was direct snap and it got a little away from me a little bit. I should have fallen on it rather than trying to pick it up and get back up because I've got to be better. So no excuses on that, just get on the ball and just get another down.

How new of a feeling is it to you that the team feels like it's trending downward lately? You guys typically have always gotten better as the season has gone on and how frustrating and concerning is that?
I think that is leadership. Coach (Vrabel) always says, 'Culture is not built on when everything is going good.' It's built on when you're at your worst. Our culture is going to withstand when everything is going bad. I think leadership just needs to step up. I need to step up and, you know, just rally together, stay together. Like I said, we've been through adversity before. This one is definitely is tough. But all you can do is just make corrections, get better and go out there and try to win the game and work throughout the week, make each other better and continue to do those things. I know I've said that over the past couple of weeks, but, I mean, that's all there is to it.

SELECT TITANS POSTGAME QUOTES

The adversity that you guys had to deal with this week, you know, it was different, you know, with Jon Robinson. But how do you feel the focus was leading up to the game and even today?
Yeah, we were focused. We wanted to come out and get a win. We can't be worrying about what's going on outside and were focused on what was going to come out and get a win. We didn't. But, guys focused, had energy and we want to come out and do the best we can to help each other, and win.

So, when you say leadership needs to step up, how?
Stay positive because it's easy when everything is going bad to be down, and it happens every season. You go through this and that. But I think you just be positive. You continue to work. So the guys know, teammates, you know, we are still in it, do the work, everything is still in front of us. And we just got to keep getting better and have that focus mindset of what can we do to finish the season strong.

DEFENSIVE TACKLE JEFFERY SIMMONS

Do you feel like the events this week affected this team at all?
I don't feel like it did, and it shouldn't. I mean, Jon Robinson is not out there playing football for us. I mean, he made the decisions, but we are out there playing football. Like I said, defensively, we've got to stop giving up all these plays. We've got to affect the quarterback apparently better. We've got to cover better. It's as simple as that. We have got to tackle or whatever it may be. They wanted it more today than us apparently. I don't know how else to put it.

After three straight losses, is it a test of character now for you guys to get it back?
Yeah. I mean, it's going to be about our culture. Everything's going to show now. We're going to see what type of team we have. We're going to see what type of guys are in this locker room. And now, especially with the leaders, it's going to fall back on the leaders. You know what type of leadership we have through adversity. Adversity really shows who you are. We talk about it all the time, we don't want any front runners. But like I said, we have to play better in all three phases. I can control what I've got to control. But being a leader, we have got to play better on all three sides of the ball.

As a leader, what do you do to kind of make sure that everyone gets back up to speed?
I think it starts with holding everyone accountable. It's the little things starting tomorrow. We've got to be on time. It's all the little thing that go on throughout the whole week. I don't feel like we didn't have a good week of practice, but I mean, like I said, it's just the little things. The biggest thing is accountability.

WIDE RECEIVER ROBERT WOODS

I guess at this point, kind of given everything that you guys knew was on the line. You're trying to snap a two-game skid. This is a division game, and a real chance to solidify the division, and then, what happened, happened.
Yes, I would say disappointing, just because we didn't come out and play our best football. Obviously, we had a lot on the table, but more so just about winning a football game. We didn't come out and play our best. Had turnovers. Put ourselves in bad situations on many downs, and we got, how we played.

Is it kind of a check down for this team right now, with the three losses and looking to kind of find, reestablish your identity, and figure out who you guys are?
We know we are. We just have to play like it. We've got to start how we did, and just continue to play and play aggressive. Attacking the defense on every single blade of grass, whether it's lateral, vertical. Just have to put stress on the defense throughout the whole game.

You mentioned the turnovers. I mean, that's key. You can't have four turnovers in one game, and expect to win.
Yeah, exactly. Exactly. Can't turn the ball over.

You guys were back working in the red zone when you were down there. So how frustrating is that, where you had those first touchdowns in the first quarter, and then, just had that kind of a lull?
Yeah, I feel like we were out there and being able to play fast on the field. For like the second quarter, it felt like we weren't really out there. And then we get out there and don't sustain a drive. We just have to find ways to stay on the field. This offense is good once we get rolling, but we've just got to start fast, and start from first down, and in the second half, everything. We have got to come out a lot better.

WIDE RECEIVER NICK WESTBROOK-IKHINE

The kind of day, where you were throwing the ball pretty well and running pretty well. How demoralizing were all those turnovers today?
I feel like that was the (inaudible) of the game Wish we had those back, definitely. But on to the next week. We've still got a lot in front of us. But like I said, that's really the difference in the game, the turnover margin.

Your coach said last week that you guys were at a crossroads. Three straight losses. I mean, how do you guys bounce back from this, going forward?
I feel like we can say that we're lucky to still be at the same crossroad and still have a lot in front of us. Still have an option, to decide our fate. So I feel like you just get back to work, find a way to get back to what we were doing before, when we were winning games. And just look into that, and fight to get back to that. That mentality.

It was a tumultuous week. Did that, as far as you know, that have anything to do with today's performance?
I wouldn't say so. I feel like we're all professionals trying to come out here, and try to play the game to the best of our ability.

OUTSIDE LINEBACKER BUD DUPREE

About the loss today? What about the mistakes today?
Man, we've just got to play better. First, we'll grade, but we got to go and take it tomorrow, put it behind us. Continue to grind. Come close as a unit. A lot of times, a situation like this, you've got to dig hard. Keep digging until you hit some roots. That's what we have to do. Keep digging. We have to hit the root, before we bounce back up.

Is this a test of character at this point, maybe, after three straight "Ls"?
Yeah. I mean, any time adversity strikes like that, it's always taking care. So, we've got to come in and make the right decisions tomorrow. Continue the grind, and don't look back at this. Keep it in our gut. Continue to know that what happened, and for weeks in a row, we as a team, we can't let that happen again. And we've got to hold ourselves accountable.

LINEBACKER MONTY RICE

What did they do that gave you guys trouble?
We didn't affect the quarterback. They made a bunch of plays. We didn't execute our keys that we go through every week, and we lost.

How disappointing is it, knowing everything that was on the line in this game? Mike (Vrabel) talked about it being a crossroads for the team.
Disappointed, because I mean, who likes to lose? We didn't get in this sport or this business to take Ls. It's not what I'm about, this team or any of us are about it. I mean, we put a lot into it. We have to get back to work tomorrow and get back to the drawing board and take coaching and fix mistakes.

What was Mike (Vrabel)'s team message? Getting back to the drawing board, and looking ahead, just trying to find one win to get off this night?
Like you said, after the game, we just have to find a way to get a win next week. And that's what this whole week is going to be about, just getting one win.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN 2022

WHAT TO LOOK FOR – TEAM

- The Titans have had a winning record each season since 2016. The Titans went 9-7 each year from 2016 to 2019, achieved an 11-5 finish in 2020, and then earned a 12-5 mark in 2021. A seventh consecutive season above .500 would tie the franchise's all-time best streak. The only previous stretch in which the club achieved seven straight winning records was 1987 to 1993.
- The Titans can earn their fourth consecutive playoff berth. It would be the organization's first time doing so since a franchise-record seven consecutive playoff appearances from 1987 to 1993.
- The Titans can earn their third consecutive division title. The only other three-year streak of division titles in franchise annals was when the Oilers won the AFL Eastern division each season from 1960 to 1962.
- A third consecutive season with 11 or more wins would mark the first time in franchise history the team has accomplished such a streak.
- The Titans can log their fourth consecutive season with at least five road victories, which would be the longest such streak in franchise history (1978–1980 and 1998–2000).
- Entering 2022 with a record of 107-78 in regular season games at Nissan Stadium, the Titans need six wins at home to match the 113 wins the franchise had in regular season contests at the Astrodome (113-103-2). Seven home wins would give the franchise more victories at Nissan Stadium (114) than any other single venue.

HEAD COACH MIKE VRABEL

- With a winning record in 2022, Mike Vrabel would become the only head coach in franchise history to begin his tenure with at least five consecutive winning seasons. Vrabel and Jack Pardee are the organization's only head coaches with as many as three such seasons to begin their tenures.
- Can join Jeff Fisher (six) and Jack Pardee (four) as the only head coaches to lead the franchise to at least four playoff appearances.

S KEVIN BYARD

- With his first interception of 2022 (23 interceptions entering the season), he tied Zeke Moore (24) for 10th place on the all-time franchise interception list.
- Needs two interceptions in 2022 to tie Michael Griffin and Ken Houston (25) for eighth place all-time for the franchise.
- Needs three interceptions in 2022 to tie Mike Reinfeldt (26) for seventh all-time for the franchise and pass Michael Griffin (25) for the most interceptions for the franchise in its "Titans era" (1999–present).
- Can lead the team in interceptions for the fifth time, which would tie Darryll Lewis' franchise record (1994-98).
- Can become the first player to lead the team in tackles for three consecutive seasons since Keith Bulluck (2002-06).

RB DERRICK HENRY

- Needs 2,000 rushing yards to become the first player in NFL history to reach the mark in two different seasons.
- Needs 1,500 rushing yards and 15 rushing touchdowns to become the first player in NFL history to reach both marks in three different seasons.
- Needs a pair of 200-yard rushing games in 2022 to give him seven for his career, which would set the NFL record. He would surpass O.J. Simpson and Adrian Peterson, who each have six such performances.
- With his seventh total touchdown of 2022, he reached 75 to break Eddie George's career franchise record of 74 total touchdowns.
- With his ninth rushing touchdown of 2022, he reached 74 to break Earl Campbell's career franchise record of 73 rushing touchdowns.
- Entering the season with 6,797 career rushing yards, he will pass Chris Johnson (7,965) for third place on the franchise's all-time career rushing list with 1,169 rushing yards in 2022.
- With his 10th rushing touchdown in 2022, he became the fifth running back in NFL history to reach the mark in five consecutive seasons, joining LaDainian Tomlinson (nine), Adrian Peterson (seven), Shaun Alexander (five) and Michael Turner (five).

DT JEFFERY SIMMONS

- Can become the team's only player since 2000 other than Keith Bulluck (2003-05) to record at least three sacks and five passes defensed in three consecutive seasons.

QB RYAN TANNEHILL

- Can produce his seventh career season with at least 3,000 passing yards and his third career season with at least 4,000 passing yards.
- Can join Warren Moon (1987–1993) as the only starting quarterbacks in franchise history to lead the club to the playoffs in four consecutive seasons.
- Entered 2022 with an active streak of 43 consecutive starts. With a start in the season opener, he passed Steve McNair (43 consecutive starts from 2001 to 2003) for the most consecutive starts in franchise history by a quarterback.
- Needs 3,500 passing yards to tie Warren Moon (1989–1991) for the most seasons in franchise history with at least 3,500 passing yards. Tannehill reached the mark in each of the past two campaigns.
- Can join Buffalo's Josh Allen (2018–2020) as the NFL's only quarterbacks since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger with at least seven rushing touchdowns in three consecutive seasons. He became the first quarterback in franchise history with at least seven rushing touchdowns in back-to-back seasons from 2020 to 2021.
- Can join George Blanda (1960-63) as the only players in franchise history to throw at least 20 touchdown passes in four consecutive seasons.
- Can become the first player in franchise history with multiple career seasons with at least 30 touchdown passes.

WR ROBERT WOODS

- Can record his 10th consecutive season to begin his career with at least 40 receptions. He and DeAndre Hopkins are tied for the second-longest such active streak in the NFL with nine seasons, behind only Emmanuel Sanders (10).
- Needs five touchdown receptions to join Jerry Rice and Tyreek Hill as the NFL's only players since 1970 with at least 40 receiving touchdowns and five rushing touchdowns. Woods enters the campaign with 35 career touchdown catches to go along with five rushing touchdowns.

Mike Vrabel was named head coach of the Titans on Jan. 20, 2018, becoming the 19th head coach in franchise history.

In his first four seasons as head coach, Vrabel led the Titans to a 43-27 overall record and three postseason appearances. He joined Jack Pardee and Jerry Glanville as the only head coaches in team annals to preside over at least three playoff squads in their initial four seasons as head coach, and he tied Pardee (43-26) for the most total wins by a head coach in his first four seasons with the organization. The Titans won back-to-back AFC South titles in 2020 and 2021, marking the first time the organization accomplished the feat since the Oilers won the first three AFL Eastern division titles from 1960 to 1962.

Vrabel Honored as NFL's Top Coach in 2021

Vrabel was named the Associated Press NFL Coach of the Year in 2021 after directing the Titans to a 12-5 record during the regular season. The Titans won the AFC South, and they claimed the top seed in the AFC playoff field for the first time since 2008. They did so despite needing to use 91 total players during the season—the most in NFL history in a non-strike year. After the final preseason roster cuts through the end of the season, the team placed 26 different players on injured reserve and 21 different players on the reserve/COVID-19 list, plus additional practice squad players that received those designations.

The 2021 Titans ranked second in rushing defense (84.6 yards allowed per game), 12th in total defense (329.8), sixth on third down (36.7 percent), sixth in scoring defense (20.8 points per game) and ninth in sacks (43). Offensively, the Titans finished fifth in rushing (141.4 yards per game) despite missing Derrick Henry for nine games due to injury. The offense also ranked eighth on third down (43.6 percent), fifth in the red zone (63.9 percent) and first in goal-to-go efficiency (87.5 percent).

Situationally, Vrabel's teams fared well among the NFL leaders in his first four seasons as head coach. From 2018 to 2021, their .909 winning percentage (40-4) in regular season games in which they had a fourth-quarter lead ranked second in the NFL behind the New Orleans Saints (.939). In the same time period, the Titans had a .714 winning percentage in three-point games (15-6), which led the league. Vrabel's team was 5-1 in overtime games from 2018 through 2021, tying the Saints (5-1) for the most overtime wins.

From 2018 to 2021, the Titans had the NFL's second-best rushing offense, averaging 143.7 rushing yards per game. Only the Baltimore Ravens were better (173.6). On the other side of the ball, the Titans ranked seventh in rushing defense, allowing 106.2 rushing yards per contest. Also from 2018 to 2021, the Titans tied for eighth in scoring defense (22.0 opponent points per game) and tied for the eighth-best turnover margin (+13). The Titans were called for 370 penalties from 2018 through 2021, which was the sixth-fewest total in the NFL.

Titans Take the AFC South in Year 3 Under Vrabel

The Titans won the 2020 AFC South title with an 11-5 record in the regular season, claiming their best record and first division title since going 13-3 in 2008. They finished with a 5-1 record within the division and a 6-2 mark in road games, all while navigating the challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Titans led the NFL in 2020 with a plus-11 turnover differential. Their 23 takeaways ranked seventh in the NFL, while their 12 turnovers were the second-fewest in the league in 2020 and tied for the ninth-lowest number since the NFL went to a 16-game schedule in 1978.

In 2020, the Titans tied for second place in total offense (396.4 yards per game) and ranked fourth in scoring offense (30.7 points per game). They became the first team in NFL history to generate at least 2,500 rushing yards (2,690) and 3,500 net passing yards (3,653) while surrendering 25 or fewer sacks (25). Their 6,343 total yards and 381 first downs established franchise records, while their 491 points amounted to the organization's second-best total.

The 2020 Titans joined the 1997 Detroit Lions as the only teams in NFL history to feature a 2,000-yard rusher, a 3,000-yard passer and a 1,000-yard receiver. Henry led the NFL in rushing for the second consecutive season, and his 2,027 rushing yards gave him the fifth-best total in league history. Meanwhile, Ryan Tannehill passed for 3,819 yards, and his 106.5 passer rating was the fifth-best number in the NFL. A.J. Brown was named to the Pro Bowl after recording his second consecutive 1,000-yard season (1,075) and tying for fifth place in the NFL with 11 touchdown catches.

Titans to AFC Championship Game in Vrabel's Second Season

In 2019, Vrabel became the first head coach in the organization's history to win multiple playoff games within his first two seasons. The Titans won a pair of road games—at New England in the wild card round and at Baltimore in the divisional round—to advance to the 2019 AFC championship game, falling at Kansas City to the eventual Super Bowl champion Chiefs.

The Titans began the 2019 campaign with two wins in their first six games but rallied to win seven of their final 10 games in the regular season. From the time the NFL went to its current playoff format in 1990 through 2019, 345 teams went 2-4 or worse in their first six games of a season. From that group, the Titans became only the third team to advance to a conference championship game, joining the 2002 Titans (2-4) and the 1996 Jacksonville Jaguars (2-4).

The 2019 Titans ranked in the NFL's top 10 in scoring margin (eighth, +71), turnover margin (sixth, +6), offensive yards per play (fourth, 6.12), rushing offense (third, 138.9 yards per game), red zone efficiency (first, 75.6 percent), total touchdowns (tied for third, 54) and third-down defense (eighth, 36.3 percent).

In his first season as head coach, Vrabel directed the Titans to a 9-7 record. His nine wins tied for the fourth-highest total in franchise history by a first-year head coach.

With only 82 penalties enforced against the Titans in 2018, Vrabel's team led the NFL and set a franchise record (16-game season) for fewest penalties in a season. The 2018 Titans also placed third in points allowed (18.9 per game), eighth in total defense (333.4 yards per game), sixth in passing defense (216.9), second in red zone defense (44.7 percent touchdown rate) and seventh in rushing offense (126.4) in the league rankings.

Background as a Player and Coach

Vrabel arrived in Tennessee with 18 years of NFL experience, including four seasons as a coach and 14 seasons as a player. His distinguished playing career included three Super Bowl wins (2001, 2003 and 2004), one Pro Bowl selection (2007) and an All-Pro honor (2007). Vrabel played in 206 NFL games and totaled 57 sacks, 496 tackles, 11 interceptions, 20 forced fumbles, nine fumble recoveries and 10 touchdown receptions. Additionally, his teams advanced to the playoffs eight times (20 postseason games), with Vrabel recording eight postseason sacks and two postseason touchdown receptions.

Vrabel joined the Titans after four seasons with the Houston Texans, spending the first three seasons (2014-16) coaching linebackers and one year (2017) as the team's defensive coordinator. During his time in Houston, the Texans built one of the best defenses in the NFL and experienced tremendous success as a team – earning two division titles (2015, 2016).

Between 2014-16, the Texans defense ranked third in the NFL in yards allowed per game (319.9) and net passing yards (218.4). Houston also ranked first in third-down defense (33.6), fourth in opponent completion percentage (59.5) and sixth in points allowed per game (19.8). The 2016 defense ranked number one in the NFL, for the first time in franchise history, in yards allowed (301.3).

In 2017, his first year as a defensive coordinator, the Texans finished the campaign with 19 players on injured reserve. Despite the injuries, Vrabel led the defense to the fifth-best third-down percentage in the NFL and a franchise-record 3.97 yards per carry by opponents. Houston also had 18 different players record at least half a sack last year and 26 players tally at least one tackle for loss.

Vrabel spent his career playing and coaching with accomplished leaders, including Bill Belichick, Bill Cowher, Romeo Crennel, Urban Meyer, Bill O'Brien and Todd Haley.

As the Texans linebackers coach from 2014-16, Vrabel developed several players into top-notch performers, including Jadeveon Clowney (Pro Bowl, 2016), Whitney Mercilus, Benardrick McKinney (second-team All-Pro, 2016) and Brian Cushing. The 2015 Texans defense had the top third-down defense in the NFL (28.5 percent), which was the lowest percentage in franchise history and the lowest by any NFL team since the 2003 Titans (27.7 percent). The 2015 defense also set a franchise mark for sacks in a season with 45 - 22.5 coming from Vrabel's linebacking corps.

Prior to joining the NFL coaching ranks, Vrabel transitioned immediately from an NFL player to college coach. He started as the linebacker coach at Ohio State in 2011 and coached the defensive line from 2012–2013. The 2012 Buckeyes finished the season undefeated at 12-0. He also was named Big Ten Recruiter of the Year by ESPN.com in 2012.

Vrabel was selected by the Pittsburgh Steelers in the third round (91st overall) of the 1997 NFL Draft, after his playing career at Ohio State, where he earned All-America honors and Big Ten Conference Defensive Lineman of the Year in both 1995 and 1996.

A native of Akron, Ohio, Vrabel attended Walsh Jesuit High School. He and his wife, Jennifer, have two sons: Tyler and Carter.

MOST WINS IN FIRST FOUR SEASONS

When the Titans defeated the Houston Texans on Jan. 9, 2022, Mike Vrabel won his 43rd game, including postseason, since taking over as Titans head coach in 2018. In doing so, he tied Jack Pardee for the most total wins by a head coach in his first four seasons with the organization. In Pardee's first four seasons as head coach from 1990 through 1993, the Oilers were 43-26, including playoffs.

Vrabel, Pardee and Jerry Glanville (1986–1989) are the only head coaches in team annals to preside over at least three playoff squads in their initial four seasons. ## NISSAN STADIUM

In 2015, the Titans and Nissan North America announced the formation of a 20-year, exclusive naming-rights partnership that rebranded Nashville's downtown stadium as Nissan Stadium.

Nissan Stadium hosts all Titans home football games, Tennessee State University football games, the Music City Bowl, the CMA Music Festival and numerous other events.

The procurement of naming rights to Nissan Stadium fit the automotive company's 'Fewer, Bigger, Better' marketing strategy, which has included ongoing sponsorships of NBC's 'The Voice,' the Heisman House college football program and a major advertising presence in this year's Super Bowl. Nissan is also now the official automotive partner of the Tennessee Titans.

Nissan's ever-growing footprint in Tennessee includes vehicle and powertrain manufacturing facilities in Smyrna and Decherd respectively, along with its North American headquarters in Franklin.

The Nissan Smyrna Plant began operations in 1983 and employs more than 8,400 people. In 2014, the Smyrna plant assembled more than 648,000 vehicles, making it the highest volume automotive assembly plant in North America. Nissan also has a major manufacturing presence in Canton, Miss., along with research and development groups in California, Arizona and Michigan. In total, the company employs more than 22,000 employees in the U.S.

One component of the Titans-Nissan partnership is assisting charitable organizations throughout Middle Tennessee in an array of community outreach programs. A centerpiece of this is the annual "Taste of Titans" charitable event, for which Nissan serves as presenting sponsor. During the course of a 20-year relationship, a total of more than $1 million resulting from these annual events is anticipated to be distributed to local non-profit organizations.

Nissan Stadium is a city-owned venue that has housed the Titans since 1999. The naming rights agreement includes the opportunity for Nissan branding on the exterior of the stadium, as well as stadium signage and other unique displays inside the stadium. LP Building Products held the naming rights to the stadium from 2006 until the Nissan partnership was established in 2015.

Quarterback Ryan Tannehill is in his 11th NFL season and his fourth campaign with the Titans in 2021.

In his first three seasons in Tennessee, Tannehill built a 30-13 record as a starting quarterback and led the team to the postseason three times, becoming the franchise's first starting quarterback since Warren Moon (1987 to 1993) to direct his team to the playoffs in at least three consecutive seasons. After appearing in the AFC championship game as a wild card team in 2019, the Titans won consecutive division titles in 2020 and 2021, a first for the franchise since the Oilers took the first three AFL Eastern Division titles from 1960 to 1962. Tannehill's 30 wins were the most by any starting quarterback in franchise history in the player's first three seasons with the organization, surpassing the 28 by George Blanda from 1960 to 1962.

Tannehill started every game from Week 7 of the 2019 campaign through the end of 2021. His 43 consecutive starts in the regular season tied Steve McNair (2001-03) for the most in franchise history by a starting quarterback. During that time, Tannehill's 102.3 passer rating ranked sixth in the NFL. Also, Tannehill's 13 total game-winning drives in that span ranked second in the NFL behind only Raiders quarterback Derek Carr's 14.

In 2021, he placed third on the franchise's single-season passing charts in attempts (531), completions (357) and completion percentage (67.2), and he ranked fourth with 3,734 passing yards. He became the only quarterback other than Moon (1989–1991) to record multiple seasons with at least 3,500 passing yards with the franchise. Additionally, he rushed for 270 yards, and his seven rushing touchdowns ranked second among NFL signal callers behind Jalen Hurts' 10. Tannehill was the first quarterback in franchise annals with at least seven rushing touchdowns in back-to-back seasons.

After receiving a multi-year contract extension during the 2020 offseason, Tannehill responded with 16 starts for the first time since 2015 and produced one of the best seasons of any quarterback in franchise history. A Titans team captain for the first time, his statistics finished in the top five of several of the organization's single-season record lists, including 40 total touchdowns (first), a 106.5 passer rating (second), 3,819 passing yards (third), 33 touchdown passes (tied for second), 65.5 completion percentage (fourth) and 7.9 yards per attempt (tied for fifth). Tannehill became the fourth player in NFL history with a passer rating of at least 106.0 in consecutive seasons, joining Drew Brees (2018-20), Russell Wilson (2018-19) and Aaron Rodgers (2011-12).

Also in 2020, Tannehill and Buffalo's Josh Allen became the fourth and fifth quarterbacks in NFL history with at least 3,800 passing yards, 33 passing touchdowns and seven rushing touchdowns in the same season. Only Cam Newton (2015), Daunte Culpepper (2000) and Steve Young (1994) had done so previously.

In 2019, Tannehill set single-season franchise records and led the NFL with a 117.5 passer rating and a passing average of 9.6 yards per attempt. His passer rating was the fourth-highest figure in NFL history among qualifiers. Additionally, he set a club record and placed third in the NFL with a 70.3 completion percentage.

Tannehill was named AFC Offensive Player of the Month for December 2019 and was named to his first career Pro Bowl. He also won the Associated Press Comeback Player of the Year Award.

Originally a first-round selection (eighth overall) by the Miami Dolphins in the 2012 NFL Draft, Tannehill was acquired by the Titans in a trade with the Dolphins on March 15, 2019. The Titans sent a 2019 seventh-round pick and a 2020 fourth-round selection to Miami in exchange for Tannehill and a 2019 sixth-rounder.

Over his seven seasons in Miami, he started 88 games, threw for 20,434 yards and 123 touchdowns, and rushed for 1,210 yards and six scores. When he left Miami, he ranked second in franchise history behind Chad Pennington in both career completion percentage (62.8) and career passer rating (87.0). He authored 13 game-winning drives for the Dolphins.

From 2012 through 2015, Tannehill's passing yardage total—15,460 yards—was the third highest mark in NFL history for a player's first four seasons, behind only Peyton Manning and Dan Marino. Tannehill's two 4,000-yard passing seasons (2015 and 2014) were the only ones recorded by a Dolphins quarterback other than Marino (six times). The Dolphins reached the playoffs in 2016, breaking an eight-year postseason drought.

A native of Big Spring, Texas, Tannehill attended Texas A&M, where he earned honorable mention All-America honors as a senior. He played both quarterback and wide receiver, passing for 5,450 yards and 42 touchdowns and adding 112 receptions for 1,596 yards and 10 scores.

With the victory, he set the record for the most wins by a Titans/Oilers starting quarterback in the first four seasons of a player's career with the organization (35 wins in the regular season and 37 including playoffs), surpassing George Blanda (34 regular season, 36 total). Tannehill completed both touchdown passes to Nick Westbrook-Ikhine, connecting on a nine-yard score in the second quarter and a 63-yarder on a flea-flicker in the third quarter. It was his longest completion since a 75-yard touchdown pass against Detroit on Dec. 20, 2020. He recorded his fourth consecutive start with no interceptions, which tied for the longest streak of his career in a single season (three times, last in 2016).

➢ At Green Bay (11/17), completed 22 of 27 passes for 333 yards with two touchdowns and one interception for a passer rating of 127.3. He reached 1,500 passing attempts as a member of the Titans (1,507), which is the number needed to qualify in the team record books for career passer rating and completion percentage marks, and he moved into first place in both categories.

➢ Against Cincinnati (11/27), completed 22 of 34 passes for 291 yards with a passer rating of 91.7. He added nine yards on two rushing attempts to give him 300 combined passing and rushing yards. In the first quarter, he completed a 25-yard pass to Nick Westbrook-Ikhine. In the second quarter, he was credited with a 69-yard pass on a screen play to Derrick Henry. In franchise history, no quarterback prior to Tannehill had ever produced four consecutive starts with a passer rating of 130 or better (minimum 10 attempts per game). Marcus Mariota (2016) was the most recent of six Titans/Oilers signal callers to do so for three games before Tannehill.

Green Bay's Aaron Rodgers (2011) and Dallas' Tony Romo (2014) are the only other quarterbacks to accomplish the feat.

In franchise history, former Oilers quarterback Chris Chandler previously had the most season games with a 130-plus passer rating, with four in 1995.

#22 • RB DERRICK HENRY

6-3, 247, 7th Year, Alabama
Click for complete bio

Running back Derrick Henry is in his seventh NFL season in 2022. He was selected by the Titans with the 45th overall pick in the second round of the 2016 NFL Draft.

From his rookie season through 2021, Henry ranked second in the NFL with 6,797 rushing yards, trailing only Dallas Cowboys running back Ezekiel Elliott (7,386). Henry's 65 rushing touchdowns led the league over the same period. In franchise history, Henry finished 2021 ranked fourth in career rushing yards behind Eddie George (10,009), Earl Campbell (8,574) and Chris Johnson (7,965), and his rushing touchdowns were second behind only Campbell (73).

In 2021, Henry's season was affected by a foot injury that caused him to be placed on injured reserve for the final nine games of the regular season. Prior to the injury, he was leading the NFL with 937 rushing yards and 10 rushing touchdowns, numbers that still ranked ninth and tied for sixth, respectively, at the conclusion of the regular season. He returned to start in the team's divisional playoff contest and rushed for 62 yards and one score.

Henry was honored in 2021 with his first career nomination for the NFL's Walter Payton Man of the Year Award.

In 2020, Henry was named the Associated Press NFL Offensive Player of the Year after an historic campaign in which he totaled 378 rushing attempts for 2,027 yards and 17 touchdowns. His rushing yardage total established a new franchise record and led the NFL. As the eighth player in NFL annals to hit the 2,000-yard mark, his 2,027 yards finished fifth on the all-time single-season rushing charts. He was recognized with his second consecutive Pro Bowl, named first-team Associated Press All-Pro, and won the FedEx Ground Player of the Year Award for the second consecutive year.

Henry was a first-time team captain in 2020. He started all 16 regular season games for the first time and became the first player since LaDainian Tomlinson (2006-07) to lead the NFL in rushing yards in consecutive years. He was the first player in more than 50 years to lead the league in rushing yards, attempts and rushing touchdowns in consecutive seasons and the fifth player ever to do so. The most recent prior to him was Cleveland's Leroy Kelly from 1967 to 1968.

Henry's 17 rushing touchdowns in 2020 set a career high and finished as the second-best total in franchise history behind Campbell's 19 rushing touchdowns in 1979.

In 2019, Henry was named to his first Pro Bowl and added second-team Associated Press All-Pro honors after leading the NFL in rushing. In 15 games, he totaled 1,540 yards on 303 carries (5.1 avg.), joining Billy Cannon (AFL, 1961), Campbell (1978-80) and Johnson (2009) as the only running backs in franchise history to lead their respective leagues in rushing. At the time, Henry's single-season total ranked fourth in franchise annals behind Johnson's 2009 total (2,006) and Campbell's 1979 (1,697) and 1980 (1,934) performances.

With 16 rushing touchdowns in 2019, Henry tied for the NFL lead (Aaron Jones). Adding his two receiving touchdowns, his 18 total touchdowns were third in the NFL and tied for second in franchise annals (19 by Campbell in 1979; 18 by Bill Groman in 1961).

Henry's performance late in the 2019 season was instrumental in the team's run to the AFC championship game. Over the final six games of the regular season plus three playoff appearances, Henry registered seven 100-yard games. During a three-game stretch (Dec. 29 at Houston, Jan. 4 at New England and Jan. 11 at Baltimore), he became the first player in NFL history to rush for at least 180 yards in three consecutive regular season and/or postseason games.

Henry authored his first career 1,000-yard season in 2018 and the 28th 1,000-yard rushing season in franchise history, totaling 1,059 yards and 12 touchdowns on 215 carries—all then-career highs.

His 2018 rushing yardage ranked second in the AFC to Joe Mixon's 1,168 yards, and he finished seventh in the NFL. Henry's 12 rushing touchdowns tied James Connor for third place in the NFL behind Todd Gurley (17) and Alvin Kamara (14).

Henry was named AFC Offensive Player of the Month for December 2018. His 625 rushing yards in the month were the most by any NFL player in any month during the season.

Against the Jacksonville Jaguars on Dec. 6, 2018, Henry recorded one of the greatest single games in franchise history in front of a national television audience. He broke Johnson's single-game franchise record (228) with 238 rushing yards, including a 99-yard touchdown run—one of his four touchdowns in the contest. He joined Tony Dorsett as the only two players in NFL history to rush for a 99-yard score.

In 2017, Henry shared time in the Titans backfield with DeMarco Murray. Henry led the team with 744 rushing yards on 176 carries, and he added 11 receptions for 136 yards and a touchdown. His five rushing touchdowns tied for second on the club.

As a rookie in 2016, Henry played in 15 games with one start, splitting reps in the backfield with Murray. He carried the ball 110 times for 490 yards and five touchdowns and added 137 yards on 13 receptions. Henry became the third rookie for the franchise in the "Titans era" to score at least five touchdowns in a season, joining Vince Young (seven rushing touchdowns in 2006) and Johnson (nine rushing and one receiving in 2008).

The Heisman Trophy winner played three seasons (2013–2015) at the University of Alabama, where he set numerous school and SEC records while helping his team win a National Championship in 2015. He played in 39 games and totaled 602 carries for 3,591 yards and 42 rushing touchdowns and added 285 yards on 17 career receptions with three receiving scores. During Alabama's victory over Clemson in the 2016 College Football Playoff National Championship, he broke Shaun Alexander's record for most career rushing yards in Alabama history.

In his final collegiate season, Henry rushed for an Alabama and Southeastern Conference record 2,219 yards, which led the nation and ranked fifth in FBS history. He recorded 100-yard rushing games 10 times and had four 200-yard games during the season. His 28 rushing touchdowns were a national best and an SEC record, snapping Tim Tebow and Tre Mason's old mark of 23. Henry's 238 rushing yards set a new franchise record, breaking Chris Johnson's mark of 228 yards against the Jaguars on Nov. 1, 2009. It was the highest single-game rushing total in the NFL in 2018 and the league's highest total since Doug Martin's 251 rushing yards for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers against the Oakland Raiders on Nov. 4, 2012.

Henry later broke his own record with 250 rushing yard at Houston on Jan. 3, 2021 to take possession of five of the top eight single-game rushing totals in team annals.

In the second quarter, Henry took a handoff from Marcus Mariota inside his own one-yard line and raced 99 yards for a touchdown. It was the second 99-yard run in NFL history, tying Tony Dorsett's record-setting touchdown run for the Dallas Cowboys against the Minnesota Vikings on Jan. 3, 1983. It was also the team record, topping Johnson's 94-yard touchdown run against the New York Jets on Dec. 17, 2012. The only other runs in franchise history of at least 90 yards were Johnson's 91-yard rush against the Houston Texans on Sept. 20, 2009 and a 91-yarder by Sid Blanks against the Jets on Dec. 13, 1964.

Henry's 99-yard touchdown run tied for the longest scrimmage play in NFL history. It was the 15th such play, including his and Dorsett's runs and 13 passing plays. The last 99-yard scrimmage play before Henry's was New York Giants wide receiver Victor Cruz's 99-yard reception from Eli Manning against the New York Jets on Dec. 24, 2011.

He tied the franchise record and became the third player in franchise history to rush for four touchdowns in a game, joining Earl Campbell (against Miami on Nov. 20, 1978) and Lorenzo White (against Cleveland on Dec. 9, 1990).

Henry became the first to accomplish the feat in fewer than 20 carries (17).
- He matched former Titans running back Chris Johnson as the only players in NFL history with a rushing touchdown of at least 90 yards and a rushing touchdown of at least 50 yards in the same game. Johnson accomplished the feat against the Houston Texans on Sept. 20, 2009.

On Dec. 12, 2019, Jones was named the Titans nominee for the Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year Award. Considered one of the league's most prestigious honors, the award recognizes an NFL player for outstanding community service activities off the field, as well as excellence on the field.

On Nov. 3, 2019, Jones' streak of 120 consecutive games played and 88 consecutive starts came to an end when he was deactivated with a concussion. At the time, Jones' consecutive games streak tied Kansas City's Mitchell Schwartz for the longest active streak in the NFL among offensive linemen, and his starting streak ranked first in the NFL among all centers.

Jones started all 16 games at center in 2018, registering a start in every contest for the fifth consecutive season, dating back to his third year in Houston (2014).

In his first year in Tennessee, Jones played a key role in an offensive turnaround. He was a key cog in helping the Titans finish 11th overall in offense, third in rushing and tied for seventh in fewest sacks allowed.

Jones was originally selected by the Houston Texans in the fourth round (99th overall) of the 2012 NFL Draft. Over the following four seasons, he started contests at center and both guard spots. He was a starter on two playoff teams in Houston (2012 and 2015).

In 2015, Jones started every game at center, extending his streak of consecutive regular season games played to 64, which was the second-longest active streak among NFL centers at the conclusion of the season.

A native of Centreville, Ala., Jones attended the University of Georgia, where his 49 total starts ranked third in school annals. He was a two-time All-SEC selection by the league's coaches and was named to Georgia's Team of the Decade. As a senior (2011), the team captain earned All-SEC first-team honors.

Tackle Taylor Lewan is in his ninth NFL season in 2022. He was selected by the Titans with the 11th overall pick of the 2014 NFL Draft.

Lewan was placed on injured reserve on Sept. 24, 2022, two games into the season.

In 2021, Lewan returned from a season-ending injury in 2020 to start in 13 games. He helped the Titans finish fifth in the NFL in rushing (141.4 rushing yards per game), marking the fifth time during his career in Tennessee that the offense ranked in the top five in rushing.

During the franchise's "Titans era," beginning in 1999, Lewan's 98 starts at the conclusion of 2021 ranked ninth for the club. Among Titans offensive linemen, only Michael Roos (148), Benji Olson (139), David Stewart (116) and Brad Hopkins (101) had more starts than Lewan from 1999 through 2021.

Lewan's 2020 season was cut short after he was placed on injured reserve on Oct. 19, 2020, one day after suffering a knee injury against the Houston Texans. He started each of the team's first five games of the season.

In 2019, Lewan registered 12 starts during the regular season, anchoring an offensive line that helped running back Derrick Henry win the NFL's rushing title (1,540 yards). He started all three playoff games, including the AFC Championship Game.

Lewan was named to the Pro Bowl for the third consecutive season in 2018. He played and started in 15 of the team's 16 games at left tackle, marking his fourth consecutive season with at least 15 starts.

In 2017, Lewan became the team's first offensive lineman to make multiple Pro Bowls since center Kevin Mawae from 2008–2009. Lewan started all 16 games for the second consecutive season in 2017 and added starts in both postseason contests.

In 2016, Lewan started all 16 games for the first time. The left tackle was the anchor a line that helped the Titans finish 11th overall in offense, third in rushing and tied for seventh in fewest sacks allowed.

In 2015, Lewan started the first 15 games of the season at left tackle before missing the finale with a concussion.

As a rookie in 2014, Lewan played in 11 games with six starts before suffering an ankle injury. He played as a reserve for the first five games and then started in six consecutive contests before the injury caused him to be inactive the final five weeks. For his efforts, Lewan was named to the Pro Football Writers of America All-Rookie Team.

In four seasons at Michigan, Lewan appeared in 50 games with 48 starts at left tackle. He started the final 41 games of his career and was named the Big Ten Conference Offensive Lineman of the Year in 2012 and 2013. As a senior in 2013, he started all 13 games at left tackle for the third consecutive season and was named second-team Associated Press All-American.

At the 2014 NFL Scouting Combine, he ran the 40-yard dash in 4.87 seconds, beating all other offensive linemen in his class and clocking the fourth-fastest time among offensive linemen in the last five years (2010-14). He also ranked among the top offensive linemen at the 2014 combine in the broad jump (first at nine feet, nine inches), vertical jump (tied for third at 30.5 inches) and three-cone drill (fourth at 7.39 seconds).

A native of Cave Creek, Ariz., Lewan became the first offensive tackle selected by the Titans/Oilers in the first round since tackle Brad Hopkins (13th overall) in 1993.

Defensive lineman Jeffery Simmons is in his fourth NFL season in 2022. He was selected by the Titans in the first round (19th overall) of the 2019 NFL Draft.

Before the start of the 2021 season, Simmons was named a team captain for the first time in his career, and he went on to become one of six players on the roster to start all 17 games. He was named to his first career Pro Bowl and added Associated Press second-team All-Pro honors after setting career highs in several categories, including sacks (8.5), tackles (54), quarterback pressures (58), tackles for loss (12) and passes defensed (six). He led the squad in pressures and placed third in sacks. Among all defensive tackles in the NFL, his 8.5 sacks ranked sixth. In the divisional playoffs, he set a franchise postseason record with three sacks.

In 2020, Simmons appeared and started in 15 games. With three defensive fumble recoveries, he tied Chase Young for the most in the NFL in 2020 and was the first Titans defender with three fumble recoveries in a season since 2005, when linebacker Brad Kassell accomplished the feat. Simmons ranked second on the team with 19 quarterback pressures and added 49 tackles, three sacks, three tackles for loss, five passes defensed and one forced fumble. In the franchise's "Titans era" (since 1999), he became the first player to post at least three fumble recoveries, three sacks and five passes defensed in the same season. As a junior in 2018, Simmons was named second-team All-American after totaling 63 tackles, 17 tackles for loss and two sacks. His 17 tackles for loss led the team, ranked fourth in the SEC and were the third-most in single-season school history.

Safety Kevin Byard is in his seventh NFL season in 2022. He was selected by the Titans in the third round (64th overall) of the 2016 NFL Draft.

Byard is one of the team's most accomplished defenders and is among the NFL's most successful safeties in recent years. He finished the 2021 campaign as a three-time team captain, two-time Pro Bowl selection and a two-time Associated Press first-team All-Pro. Since entering the league, he has been a part of six consecutive winning seasons and four playoff berths.

Byard did not miss a game from 2016 through 2021, totaling 97 games in the regular season and seven postseason games. At the conclusion of 2021, his 88 consecutive starts in the regular season was the leading current streak among all Titans players, ranked first in the NFL among defenders, and was the sixth-longest active streak among all players.

Over a five-year period from 2017 through 2021, Byard led all safeties with 23 interceptions. The only players with more interceptions in that time were cornerbacks Xavien Howard (27) and J.C. Jackson (25). His interception total was 11th on the franchise's all-time list and sixth among all Titans/Oilers safeties.

In 2021, Byard was announced as a starter to his second career Pro Bowl and earned first-team Associated Press All-Pro honors for the second time in his career. He joined Bruce Matthews (1999–2000) and Albert Haynesworth (2007–2008) as the franchise's only players in its "Titans era" (since 1999) to earn multiple first-team AP All-Pro honors.

Byard led the Titans in 2021 with five interceptions and 88 tackles, becoming the franchise's first player to lead the team in tackles and interceptions in the same season since the team began tracking individual tackle statistics in 1974. It was his second consecutive season to lead the club in tackles and the fourth time in his career he was the interceptions leader. Additionally, his 13 passes defensed ranked second on the team and made up the highest total among NFL safeties. He also was credited with one sack, two quarterback pressures, one tackle for loss, two forced fumbles, one fumble recovery and his first two career touchdowns—one on a fumble return and one on an interception return. He was the first Titans player with two defensive touchdowns in the same season since linebacker Zach Brown in 2012.

In 2020, Byard was a defensive team captain for the second consecutive season and the team's Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year nominee. His 111 tackles led the team and established a career high. Additionally, he registered one interception, seven passes defensed, two quarterback pressures, one tackle for loss and one forced fumble. In one playoff game he produced five tackles, one pass defensed and a quarterback pressure.

From 2017 through 2019, no NFL player had more interceptions than Byard, who had 17. His 2019 totals included a team-leading five interceptions, 10 passes defensed, 91 tackles, one quarterback pressure and two tackles for loss. In three postseason games, he added 20 tackles and one interception.

In 2018, Byard finished with a team-leading four interceptions, 10 passes defensed, 96 tackles and two sacks. He also completed a touchdown pass on a memorable fake punt to help defeat the Houston Texans (Sept. 16).

Byard experienced a breakthrough second-year season in 2017. He was named to the Pro Bowl and earned first-team Associated Press All-Pro honors after tying Detroit's Darius Slay for the NFL lead with eight interceptions. He added a pair of fumble recoveries to pace the league with 10 total takeaways.

As a rookie in 2016, Byard played in every game, starting the final seven contests at free safety. His 63 tackles were the most by a Titans rookie safety since Tank Williams' 69 tackles in 2002. He also ranked second on the squad with 10 special teams tackles.

During a four-year career at Middle Tennessee State University, he appeared in 49 games and notched 46 starts at safety while becoming one of the most prolific defenders in school history. He set school records with 19 career interceptions, 377 interception return yards and four interception returns for touchdowns, and he finished sixth in MTSU history with 312 career tackles. In total, he had a hand in 25 turnovers (19 interceptions, five forced fumbles and one fumble recovery) during his career and added 17 career passes defensed and five tackles for loss. He was twice named first-team All-Conference USA.

As a senior in 2015, Byard appeared in 12 games with nine starts as a permanent team captain and was named first-team All-Conference USA for the second consecutive year. He ranked fourth on the team with 66 tackles and led the squad with four interceptions and six additional pass breakups.

FIELD MEDIA VESTS

All members of the media with field access during the game must wear a media vest. Still and video photographers will be issued tan vests, while team-affiliated video photographers (coaches' shows, etc.) will be issued gray vests. Additionally, media with in-game field access will be issued an armband. All vests and armbands must be obtained prior to each game at the check-in table. All vests must be returned at the conclusion of the game to Titans personnel or a designated vest receptacle.

NISSAN STADIUM PRESS BOX INTERNET ACCESS

Wireless internet access is available free of charge in the Nissan Stadium press box. The login information will be available upon arrival in the press box. A limited number of ethernet lines also are available. Accessing the wireless network works the same in the Nissan Stadium press box as it does in most areas with free connectivity. Titans staff may be able to assist in a limited manner, but you should first contact your company's I.T. department with any questions.

Interviews with Titans players are not permitted on the field following the game. The press conference will begin approximately 10 minutes following the conclusion of the game and will be held in the interview room across from the Titans locker room. Key players also will be brought to the interview room. Simultaneously, the locker room will open to credentialed media members with a working function. # MIKE VRABEL TRANSCRIPT

HEAD COACH MIKE VRABEL PRESS CONFERENCE TRANSCRIPT
Monday, December 12, 2022

(on the challenge of holding onto the division lead)
The challenge is just getting back to eliminating bad football. We leave too many opportunities to do good things and we have to eliminate bad football, whether it is turnovers, whether it is those turnovers and sudden change, affecting the quarterback, not being able to affect their quarterback, or not being good at the end of the half situationally. Just those things where we have to be - whether they're not lined up but we're not ready to go. That would be another instance. There are a lot of those things. That is the challenge. It is not looking ahead to how many games we have left. It is making sure that we eliminate bad football, and we find ways to go out there and play complementary. Which we've done, but certainly have not done here recently.

(on what type of character he wants the team to display through adversity)
We all have a choice. We have a power to choose how we walk in here. I've said that in how we approach this. I would like all of us to make sure that we're doing our part to fix the things that have to be fixed, to recognize the good things, to eliminate or fix the bad things, and then rid ourselves of the things that get you beat, which are turnovers, mistakes, and just the things that happened yesterday like not playing complimentary.

(on if bad football can be cleaned up through reps on the practice field)
I hope so, but you get to a point now where you're late in the season. Guys are beat up. How much can you realistically practice? How many reps can you practice? How many bodies are you practicing with? I hope that it is a combination of both. I hope that it is a combination of taking the meetings, taking the walkthrough corrections and using the ones that we have in speed and practice and hitting them. There were a lot of things that showed up in the game that we fixed throughout the week. Then unfortunately there were things that we didn't and we weren't able to hit it or use it to our advantage.

(on how he gauges the overall health of the team through information tracking and his own judgement)
You try to view the health of the team through each individual player, what they look like and what they feel like. Everybody is beat up this time of year. We have to try to do everything that we can do physically to get their bodies back. They have to do their part as well and then manage practice accordingly.

(on if defensive tackle Jeffery Simmons' ankle injury is limiting him)
He is not at 100 percent. That is something that we have had to manage. I appreciate his willingness to help us and manage it and get through doing everything that he possibly can to get to the games.

(on if defensive lineman Denico Autry is close to returning)
I hope so. I hope he is. We could use everybody.

(on if he ever comes into meetings angry and lights players up or if he refrains from doing so)
My job is to make sure that we're pointing out those things. There is a couple of different ways to go about doing it. I've done it a multitude of ways. I've done it differently. Sometimes the things I say somehow in a twisted warped way may make me feel better. I don't if that makes the situation better. I've tried to balance that. I really believe that I have. What you see is what you get. I'm always going to try to be honest with them. I'm always going to try to point out the things. I do believe that my tone as the head coach of this football team is important. Trying to come in here today after a loss, after three losses where we're at, it is still important to make sure that we're all held accountable and that we're doing things that are positive. Also the outlook has to be positive as well.

(on if that 'twisted warped way' ever has a degree of venting to it)
I don't want to go in there and vent. I want to go in there and make sure that there's a clear vision of what we have to do, find out who we have available, and get them ready for the football game. That's it.

(on if he rationalizes this loss as he has the previous losses)
No. It is pretty easy to see if you just follow the keys and understand the turnovers, the inability to affect the quarterback, and our inability to get into a rhythm. We answered back in the first half offensively. We did not in the second half. Then by the time we got back on track offensively it was just too little too late. There were some good things in the in the run game. There were some good things in the red zone. I thought we had a good flow. To start the game we went on a drive, we complemented each other, and the plays complemented one another. There's not a whole lot to rationalize. It is just the reality of when you do those things in this league, you have no chance to win.

(on if tight end Chig Okonkwo's play yesterday was similar to what he envisioned when he drafted him)
There were some good things. The statistics probably clouds some of the overall play. There were some mistakes that I felt like he made. There was some production which was good. There was some corrections that he made. The execution in the red zone. There were just some other things that didn't really help.

(on how unique Chig Okonkwo's ability to stay on his feet and keep moving with defenders on him is)
He has good play strength with the football in his hand. He went in there and ran behind him some. He worked some of the other run schemes. He plays on the punt team. We're asking him to do a lot but it is just some of the other details that have to get cleaned up. There were some really cool finishes and pile pushes in there. The 22nd play where guys are into it and tuned in later in the game. Dennis (Daley) is down there running in there trying to push the pile. On a pass he was the first one out of a stack. There was a lot of good things from that regard. Just the overall execution and the flow of the game wasn't good enough.

(on if the failures on offense coming out of halftime are due to failed adjustments)
We had some egregious penalties and mistakes. It is first-and-22, we give up a sack and on a third-and-27 we don't block for a screen that nobody is going to convert, but hopefully we can help the punt team and get the screen started. Then we can use our punter to maybe change field position.

(on why the second half offensive struggles have persisted this season)
We are evaluating everything. It is execution. It is our ability to coach them and make sure that the details are fixed. It is just not one thing.

(on if linebacker Dylan Cole's disappointment in his own play is the reaction he wants to see)
Yeah, it means a lot to everybody. It means a lot to Dylan (Cole). He has got to play better. We will try to make those corrections and see where we go next week.

(on wide receiver Treylon Burks' status this week)
We will see where Treylon (Burks) is. I'm not going to comment on anybody that is in the protocol. That is not my job. My job is to tell them to be honest with the doctor, the trainer, and to check in on him to see how he is feeling. It is not my position to predict whether we will get him back at practice.

(on wide receiver Racey McMath's season debut)

I thought that he put a lot of work in mentally in his time away. From an assignment standpoint it was good. He was probably knocking some of the rust off on special teams. I think physically he came out OK.

(on if he reminds players like Dylan Cole they are still on top of the division and control their own destiny when they are frustrated)
Yeah, but we have to play better. We have to eliminate the bad football and remind them that he wasn't the only one. Nobody did anything that was good enough consistently enough for us to win.

(on why they didn't run the ball as much in the second half after the success in the first half)
The way that the game went, we tried to on the one possession get a play to Chig (Okonkwo) when he went eight yards behind the line of scrimmage which wasn't what we wanted it to do. We tried to get a catch and run and then that led to a three-and-out. Then in the second half with the way that the game went, we could not - it was tough to commit to Derrick (Henry) in the run game.

(on if there is a challenge to maintain positivity and confidence after the message from ownership last week)
I don't think we have any other choice. That is what we have to do is figure out who we have and get them ready to go play a game. We have to take care of the football, try to have some ball production on defense. It has been a long time since we've created a turnover, hit anybody hard enough to knock the ball loose, intercepted or tipped it up in the air and caught it.

(on what challenges the Los Angeles Chargers pose)
They throw the football. They're going to commit to it. They have a young quarterback with a live arm and good skill players. We will have to worry about the Chargers. We have to fix and correct some mistakes here today.

(on how running back Dontrell Hilliard is doing)
He is doing much better. Thank you. I don't think he will be available this week. We will continue to monitor him. I've seen him today. He is doing good, which is the most important thing.

(on how difficult it is this time of year to plug and play players)
If they come in on Wednesday and have a couple of days to prepare, learn the gameplan, and figure out adjustments and checks. Like John Reid last week, Tarrell Basham, or anybody else that's going to come in this week. That's the job that we have to try to get them ready to go.

(on the impact that sod and choice of footwear has played on the ability of players to stay upright recently)
Need shoes that work. We are not changing the sod. We have 18 pairs of cleats in there that everybody can wear. The shoes will work. Stay on your feet.

(on how come players slip)
I don't know why.

(on if they will bring in another quarterback this week)
We will take a look at it.

(on how running back Julius Chestnut performed with an increased role)
He did some good things on the kickoff for us last week. He had the kickoff returns for us this week. He hit it up in there and got us a decent average. We will work him into the punt team. I think Julius (Chestnut) is going to try to do everything he can if the opportunity presents itself this week. We've liked Julius (Chestnut) since he got here. He is very willing, very conscientious, and a great teammate.

TITANS-GIANTS: GAME SUMMARY

Week 1: Titans 20, Giants 21
Sunday, Sept. 11, 2022 • 3:25 p.m. CT • Nissan Stadium

In Week 1 of the 2022 season, the Titans hosted the New York Giants and fell by a score of 21-20. Despite limiting the Giants to two third-down conversions on 10 attempts and racking up five sacks in the contest, Tennessee was unable to mount a late-game comeback.

The Titans got on the board on their opening possession with a five-play scoring drive that was jumpstarted by a 46-yard punt return by WR Kyle Philips. Tennessee began the possession at the Giants' 45-yard line, and QB Ryan Tannehill connected with WR Treylon Burks for a 20-yard pass before connecting with RB Dontrell Hilliard for a seven-yard score. Tennessee took an early 7-0 lead.

In the second quarter the Titans extended their lead. Tannehill tossed first-down passes to TE Geoff Swaim, Hilliard and WR Nick Westbrook-Ikhine, which put K Randy Bullock in position to successfully make a 46-yard field goal, 10-0 Titans. On the ensuing New York possession, Giants QB Daniel Jones was strip-sacked by DT Jeffery Simmons, and the ball was recovered by OLB Bud Dupree at the Giants' 42-yard line. Tennessee capitalized on the turnover with a 23-yard field goal, 13-0 Titans.

New York got on the board in the third quarter with help from Giants RB Saquon Barkley who contributed a 68-yard rush to flip field position. Ultimately, Barkley ran a four-yard touchdown into the end zone, but the extra point snap was botched and recovered by Tennessee, 13-6 Titans.

Later in the third quarter, New York tied the score 13-13 as Jones connected with Giants WR Sterling Shepard for a 65-yard touchdown. However, Tennessee responded on the ensuing possession with a 75-yard scoring drive. Aided by a 20-yard catch by Philips and a 27-yard gain by Burks, Tannehill was able to connect with Hilliard for a 23-yard score and a 20-13 Titans advantage.

New York took the lead in the fourth quarter as a 73-yard scoring drive culminated in a one-yard touchdown pass from Jones to Giants FB Chris Myarick. New York elected to go for two, and the conversion attempt was successful as Jones connected with Barkley on a shovel pass for a 21-20 lead with just over a minute remaining in regulation.

Tennessee rallied to attempt a game-winning score, taking the ball down into Giants territory, but Bullock's field goal attempt sailed wide left as the Titans fell at home.

Sunday, Oct. 2, 2022 • 1:00 p.m. ET • Lucas Oil Stadium

In Week 4 of the 2022 season, the Titans traveled to Indianapolis for their first of two matchups with the Colts in a four-week span and won by a score of 24-17. The victory marked Tennessee's fourth consecutive win at Lucas Oil Stadium, and the club's ninth consecutive divisional road win.

On Indianapolis' opening possession, facing a third-and-15, Colts QB Matt Ryan was strip sacked by DL Denico Autry and the ball was recovered by OLB Bud Dupree at the Indianapolis 32-yard line. The Titans quickly capitalized on the turnover as RB Derrick Henry contributed 14 rushing yards, and QB Ryan Tannehill added a nine-yard gain, before Tannehill tossed a seven-yard touchdown to WR Robert Woods, 7-0 Titans.

After forcing Indianapolis to punt on their ensuing possession, the Titans added another touchdown to double the lead. Tannehill tossed a 22-yard pass to Henry and a 23-yard strike to TE Chig Okonkwo before Henry took the handoff and raced into the end zone for a 19-yard touchdown, 14-0 Titans.

Indianapolis got on the board in the second quarter as an 11-play drive culminated in a 27-yard field goal by Colts K Chase McLaughlin, 14-3 Titans. However, Tennessee added two more scores on back-to-back possessions to increase the lead to 24-3. First, K Randy Bullock converted a 44-yard field goal try to make it 17-3. Next, after DT Teair Tart intercepted Ryan to give the ball back to the Tennessee offense at the Indianapolis 28-yard line, Tannehill threw an eight-yard touchdown dart to Okonkwo, 24-3.

TITANS-COMMANDERS: GAME SUMMARY

Week 5: Titans 21, Commanders 17
Sunday, Oct. 9, 2022 • 1:00 p.m. ET • FedEx Field

In Week 5 of the 2022 season, the Titans traveled to FedEx Field and beat the Commanders by a score of 21-17. The offense, led by RB Derrick Henry's 102 rushing yards and two touchdowns, scored touchdowns on all three of its red zone possessions. The defense stifled Washington, allowing just one third-down conversion on 11 attempts, and LB David Long Jr. sealed the victory with a game-winning interception.

Tennessee got on the board in the first quarter with a 52-yard scoring drive. QB Ryan Tannehill connected with Henry for a 24-yard pass that provided a first down at the Washington 13-yard line, and on the ensuing play, Tannehill tossed a 13-yard touchdown pass to RB Dontrell Hilliard, 7-0 Titans. On Washington's following possession, Commanders QB Carson Wentz found Commanders WR Curtis Samuel for a 32-yard gain to enter Tennessee territory, but Washington was forced to settle for a 50-yard field goal, 7-3 Titans.

In the second quarter, Washington took the lead on a one-play scoring drive as Wentz tossed a 75-yard touchdown pass to Commanders WR Dyami Brown for a 10-7 score. However, Tennessee responded later in the second stanza with an 81-yard scoring drive to take the lead back. Tannehill tossed first-down passes to Hilliard and WR Robert Woods to move the chains, as the possession culminated in a one-yard rushing score by Henry. Tennessee took a 14-10 lead heading into halftime.

The third quarter saw two more lead changes as both teams scored touchdowns. First, Wentz guided his team on an 80-yard scoring possession that culminated in a 30-yard touchdown toss to Brown, 17-14 Commanders. Tennessee immediately responded, as Tannehill found WR Nick Westbrook-Ikhine for a 61-yard pass that flipped field position and gave the Titans a first down at the 12-yard line. TE Austin Hooper contributed a seven-yard catch for a first-and-goal at the two-yard line, as ultimately Henry ran in a one-yard rushing score for a 21-17 Tennessee advantage.

Down by four points and in search of a touchdown in the fourth quarter, Washington began driving at their own 11-yard line and marched their way down to the Tennessee two-yard line. With nine seconds remaining in regulation, facing a third-and-goal at the two, Wentz's pass was intercepted by Long Jr. to end the threat of a Commanders comeback. The pick sealed a Titans' road victory and gave Tennessee a three-game win streak heading into the Bye Week.

TITANS-COLTS: GAME SUMMARY

Week 7: Titans 19, Colts 10
Sunday, Oct. 23, 2022 • 12:00 p.m. CT • Nissan Stadium

In Week 7 of the 2022 season, the Titans hosted the Colts and won by a score of 19-10, completing a season sweep of Indianapolis and extending Tennessee's season win streak to four games. The Titans defense stifled the Colts, shutting Indianapolis out in the first half of the game, securing three takeaways, and surrendering just 292 total yards.

Tennessee jumped out to a 13-0 lead in the first half and never relinquished it. In the first half, QB Ryan Tannehill guided the team on an 11-play scoring drive that saw a 27-yard first-down pass to WR Cody Hollister, a 13-yard first down ball to WR Robert Woods, and an eight-yard first-down rush by Tannehill. Ultimately, K Randy Bullock was able to convert a 27-yard field goal for a 3-0 lead in the first stanza.

In the second quarter, with Indianapolis driving and in Tennessee territory, Colts QB Matt Ryan threw an interception to DB Andrew Adams who returned the ball for a 76-yard touchdown. The pick six gave the Titans a 10-0 lead.

On the ensuing Indianapolis possession with the Colts again driving and in Tennessee territory, Ryan threw another interception to LB David Long Jr., who returned the ball four yards to give the Titans possession at their own 38-yard line. RB Derrick Henry accounted for four carries for 30 yards before Bullock converted his second field goal try, a 28-yarder to make it 13-0 heading into halftime.

Indianapolis got on the board in the third quarter after constructing a 58-yard scoring drive. Ryan connected with Colts WRs Parris Campbell and Michael Pittman Jr. for first downs, as well as Colts RB Nyheim Hines for a first-and-goal at the six-yard line. Ultimately, Ryan connected with Campbell for a four-yard touchdown to make it 13-7, Titans.

However, the Titans responded with a score of their own. The 55-yard scoring drive was aided by TE Austin Hooper who had two first-down catches for a total of 37 yards on the possession. The drive culminated in a 38-yard field goal by Bullock, 16-7 Titans.

Later in the fourth stanza, both teams tacked on an additional field goal to boost the score to 19-10. On the Colts' final possession, with under five minutes remaining in regulation, Ryan connected with Pittman for what would have been a nine-yard first down. However, after an initial ruling of an incomplete pass, the Titans challenged the call and won as the ruling was reversed to award the Titans their third forced turnover of the day. CB Terrance Mitchell forced Pittman to fumble the ball, and S Amani Hooker recovered it for Tennessee, as the team was then able to run the clock out and secure the win.

TITANS-CHIEFS: GAME SUMMARY

Week 9: Titans 17, Chiefs 20 (OT)

Sunday, Nov. 6, 2022 • 7:20 p.m. CT • GEHA Field at Arrowhead Stadium

In Week 9 of the 2022 season, the Titans traveled to Kansas City for a Sunday Night Football matchup with the Chiefs and fell in overtime by a score of 20-17.

Kansas City got on the board first and built a 9-0 lead on two scoring drives. First, on their opening possession, a 15-play drive culminated in Chiefs K Harrison Butker kicking a 23-yard field goal to make it 3-0 Kansas City. In the second quarter, Chiefs QB Patrick Mahomes engineered a 79-yard scoring drive that included a 23-yard pass to Chiefs TE Travis Kelce and a 31-yard completion to Chiefs WR Justin Watson. The drive resulted in a six-yard touchdown pass from Mahomes to Chiefs WR Mecole Hardman, but the extra point attempt was no good, 9-0 Chiefs.

The Titans then responded in the second quarter, taking the lead on two touchdowns by RB Derrick Henry. First, QB Malik Willis commanded a 74-yard scoring drive that included a 16-yard first-down pass to TE Austin Hooper, a 17-yard rush by Willis, and a 24-yard gain by Henry. Ultimately, facing a third-and-one at the four-yard line, Henry took the direct snap and found the end zone for a rushing score, 9-7 Chiefs.

After forcing Kansas City to punt on the ensuing possession, the Titans doubled up on Henry rushing scores with a five-play possession. First, Henry took the handoff and raced 56 yards for a field-flipping gain that gave Tennessee a first down at the Chiefs' 23-yard line. Willis found Hooper for an 18-yard pass that gave the Titans a first-and-goal at the two-yard line, as the drive culminated in a one-yard rushing touchdown by Henry to make it 14-9 heading into halftime.

On the Chiefs' opening possession of the second half, Mahomes threw an interception to CB Roger McCreary who returned the ball four yards to give Tennessee a first down at the Kansas City 34-yard line. The Titans capitalized on the turnover as K Randy Bullock converted a 44-yard field goal, 17-9 Titans.

In the fourth quarter with Kansas City trailing by eight points, the Chiefs offense began a game-tying drive at their own seven-yard line. Mahomes rushed for a 20-yard gain in addition to completing first-down passes to four different players to move the chains. Ultimately, Mahomes found the end zone on a 14-yard rushing score to make it 17-15, Titans. Kansas City elected to go for a two-point conversion to tie the game. Mahomes' initial attempt failed as the pass went incomplete, but offsetting penalties gave Kansas City another try. On the second two-point conversion attempt, Mahomes' pass again went incomplete, but DB Joshua Kalu was called for holding on the play as Kansas City was given a third chance. On the Chiefs' third try, Mahomes ran into the end zone for a successful game-tying two-point conversion, 17-17.

With the score still tied as regulation ended, the game headed to overtime. Kansas City won the coin toss and began the extra period with the ball. The Tennessee defense held the Chiefs to a field goal, as Butker converted a go-ahead 28-yarder, 20-17 Chiefs. However, the Titans were unable to construct a scoring drive on their next possession and fell to Kansas City in overtime.

TITANS-BRONCOS: GAME SUMMARY

Week 10: Titans 17, Broncos 10
Sunday, Nov. 13, 2022 • 12:00 p.m. CT • Nissan Stadium

In Week 10 of the 2022 season, the Titans hosted the Broncos and won by a score of 17-10. The defense recorded six sacks, the highest total during Head Coach Mike Vrabel's tenure, and allowed Denver to convert only four of their 17 third-down attempts (23.5 percent). Tennessee did not allow the Broncos to run a single red zone play.

Denver got on the board first and pulled ahead to a 10-0 lead. First, Broncos QB Russell Wilson led his team on an 80-yard scoring drive that resulted in a 66-yard touchdown pass to Broncos WR Jalen Virgil, 7-0.

Later in the second quarter, Denver constructed a nine-play scoring drive that included a 17-yard first-down pass from Wilson to Broncos WR Courtland Sutton. Ultimately, Denver was forced to settle for a field goal as Broncos K Brandon McManus converted a 39-yard attempt for a 10-0 lead.

However, the Titans put together a scoring drive of their own on the ensuing possession. QB Ryan Tannehill connected with WRs Robert Woods and Nick Westbrook-Ikhine for first-down passes and added an 11-yard first-down rush to move the sticks. The drive culminated in a nine-yard touchdown pass from Tannehill to Westbrook-Ikhine to cut Denver's lead to 10-7 heading into halftime.

Tennessee took the lead in the third quarter and never relinquished it. First, a three-play, 80-yard scoring drive saw the Titans pull ahead. RB Derrick Henry rushed for two yards, WR Treylon Burks caught a 15-yard ball, and then Tannehill hit Westbrook-Ikhine on a flea flicker for a 63-yard touchdown as Tennessee took a 14-10 lead.

In the fourth quarter, the Titans tacked on another score as a 10-play scoring possession culminated in a 35-yard field goal by K Randy Bullock, 17-10. The Tennessee defense shut out the Broncos in the second half, allowing the Titans to preserve the lead and seal a win at home.

TITANS-PACKERS: GAME SUMMARY

Week 11: Titans 27, Packers 17
Thursday, Nov. 17, 2022 • 7:15 p.m. CT • Lambeau Field

In Week 11 of the 2022 season, the Titans traveled to Green Bay for a primetime matchup against the Packers and won by a score of 27-17. The defense limited the Packers to just 56 rushing yards on 19 attempts (2.9 yards per carry), marking the eighth consecutive game in which the Titans defense did not allow the opposing offense to reach 100 rushing yards. Meanwhile, the Titans offense produced its highest totals of the season in first downs (21), third-down percentage (58.3), total net yards (408), total plays (64) and net passing yards (320).

Tennessee jumped out to an early lead with an 83-yard opening possession score. QB Ryan Tannehill found WR Treylon Burks for a 43-yard pass to move into Packers territory, as the drive ultimately concluded in a 14-yard touchdown pass from Tannehill to RB Dontrell Hilliard, 7-0 Titans. Tennessee never relinquished the lead.

Green Bay responded later in the first quarter with a touchdown drive of their own. Packers QB Aaron Rodgers constructed a 78-yard scoring march that culminated in a 14-yard touchdown pass to Packers WR Christian Watson. However DL Denico Autry blocked the extra point attempt, preserving a 7-6 Titans lead.

In the second quarter, the Titans doubled their points with a second touchdown. With a drive that began at the Packers 41-yard line, WR Robert Woods contributed three catches for 22 yards to move the chains. RB Derrick Henry then took the handoff and raced into the end zone for a four-yard touchdown, 14-6 Titans.

Green Bay started the second half with a scoring drive to narrow Tennessee's lead. Rodgers connected with Packers WRs Randall Cobb and Allen Lazard for first downs, but ultimately the Titans defensed kept Green Bay out of the end zone and forced them to settle for a field goal. Packers K Mason Crosby converted a 39-yard kick, 14-9 Titans.

On the ensuing possession, Tennessee registered its third touchdown of the day on a 91-yard scoring drive. Tannehill linked up with TE Chig Okonkwo for a 31-yard play, and then with Henry for a 42-yard screen pass. On second down at the Green Bay three-yard line, Henry took the direct snap and tossed a three-yard touchdown pass to TE Austin Hooper. However, K Josh Lambo's extra point attempt was no good, 20-9 Titans.

Green Bay then responded with a scoring drive of their own as Rodgers tossed a 28-yard pass to Cobb en route to capping a 69-yard scoring possession with an eight-yard touchdown throw to Watson. Green Bay elected to go for two and was successful as Rodgers found Packers RB Aaron Jones on a jet sweep, 20-17 Titans.

With Tennessee's lead shrinking to just three points, the Titans took the field and strung together a quick five-play possession that increased the lead back to a two-score game. Tannehill tossed a 32-yard pass to Woods before ultimately connecting with Hooper for a 16-yard score, 27-17. The Titans were able to preserve the lead throughout the fourth quarter by not surrendering any points to Green Bay. After a 51-yard pass from Tannehill to Burks late in the stanza, Tennessee was able to kneel down inside the two-minute warning and seal a primetime road win.

LAST WEEK'S GAME CLIPS

TITANS DROP THIRD STRAIGHT – A 36-22 LOSS TO THE JAGUARS

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEETITANS.COM
DECEMBER 11, 2022

NASHVILLE – The Titans lost their third straight game on Sunday – this one a sloppy, 36-22 loss to the Jaguars.

Titans running back Derrick Henry ran for 121 yards in the contest.

But on this day, the Titans didn't do much else right.

The Titans turned the ball over four times in the game, including three times in the first half, which led to 17 points.

"Nothing was good enough today," Titans coach Mike Vrabel said. "Yeah, we're frustrated. It sucks to lose."

The Jaguars scored 29 straight points at one point in the contest before a Tennessee touchdown in the fourth quarter.

But by then, it was too little, too late.

While the Jaguars were harassing Titans quarterback Ryan Tannehill, who was sacked four times, the Titans defense couldn't get to Jaguars quarterback Trevor Lawrence, who wasn't sacked while throwing for 368 yards and three touchdowns.

After starting the season 7-3, the Titans dropped to 7-6 with the loss.

"It is frustrating," Titans defensive lineman Jeffery Simmons said. "I hate losing. So, we have to find a way to win a game. The key word is accountability – we have to hold each other to a higher standard. When you walk into the building, the body language, the demeanor, everything, it matters.

"We have to be better as a whole, as a team."

Things looked good early at Nissan Stadium.

Henry scored on a three-yard touchdown on the opening drive, giving the team an early 7-0 lead. The run capped a 10-play, 76-yard drive, and it featured first down completions to Nick Westbrook-Ikhine, Robert Woods and Chig Okonkwo.

The Titans then forced a three-and-out on Jacksonville's opening drive.

But a fumble by Tannehill, as he was being sacked, gave the Jaguars the ball at the Tennessee 20-yard line. Three plays later, Lawrence connected with tight end Evan Engram on a 12-yard touchdown pass to make it 7-7 with 6:01 left in the first quarter.

It was a sign of things to come.

The Titans reclaimed the lead 14-7 on a 10-yard touchdown pass from Tannehill to Okonkwo, which capped a six-play, 75-yard drive.

Then, the Titans turned it over again, this time on a Tannehill interception, and the Jaguars cashed it in for three more points to make it 14-10 with 8:52 left in the second quarter. A second field goal by Jaguars kicker Riley Patterson made it 14-13 with 3:10 left in the first quarter.

A Henry fumble gave the ball back to the Jaguars, and they cashed it in for another touchdown – a 20-yard strike from Lawrence to Zay Jones with 11 seconds left – to take a 20-14 lead at halftime.

The Jaguars extended their lead to 27-14 after taking their opening possession of the second half and driving straight down the field for a touchdown, scoring on a one-yard run by Lawrence.

After a 21-yard touchdown pass from Lawrence to tight end Evan Engram, it was 33-14 Jaguars over the Titans with 3:07 left.

The Titans' fourth turnover of the game – a direct snap to Henry, who couldn't handle it – led to another Jacksonville field goal and made it 36-14 with 10:52 left.

A two-yard touchdown pass from Tannehill to Nick Westbrook-Ikhine – and then a two-point conversion pass from Tannehill to Okonkwo -- with 7:15 left made it 36-22.

The Titans return to action next Sunday in Los Angeles against the Chargers.

"I think we are trending in the wrong direction," safety Kevin Byard said. "But at the end of the day, I am not going to sit here and pout around. I am just going to go in the building tomorrow, watch the film. It is all about how we respond at this point – pouting and pointing fingers is not going to do anything. We still have four games left, and we have to find a way to start winning ball games."

SIX THINGS THAT STOOD OUT FOR THE TITANS IN SUNDAY'S LOSS TO THE JAGUARS

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEETITANS.COM
DECEMBER 11, 2022

NASHVILLE – The Titans lost to the Jaguars 36-22 on Sunday at Nissan Stadium.

Here's a look at six things that stood out from the contest:

Turnovers

The Titans came out with some energy, and they started out fast. But things started to unravel after some sloppy play, and turnovers. Quarterback Ryan Tannehill fumbled after being sacked. Tannehill then threw an interception on what looked to be miscommunication with receiver Nick Westbrook-Ikhine. Running back Derrick Henry lost the ball when he took a big hit, and then saw the football escape his grasp later on a direct snap. The three first half turnovers led to 17 points, and it put the Titans on the road to trouble. "It (was) a large part of the game," Titans head coach Mike Vrabel said of the turnovers. "But we have to be able to get some turnovers. We have to be able to get our hand on the football. … It starts with taking care of the football, without question."

Shaky Defense

The Titans couldn't stop the Jaguars when they turned it over, and they had trouble slowing them down all day. Jaguars quarterback Trevor Lawrence completed 30-of-42 passes for 368 yards and three touchdowns, with a passer rating of 121.9 The Titans didn't sack him once, and the defense was credited with just one quarterback hit (Mario Edwards). The Jaguars racked up 22 first downs and 364 yards of offense. "You watched the game," defensive lineman Jeffery Simmons said. "We have to be better. Sometimes the quarterback gets the ball out quick, and we can't get sacks. We had a couple of batted balls. … Of course we want 10 sacks a game, but it doesn't happen if he's getting the ball out quick."

Chig Okonkwo

Titans tight end Chig Okonkwo continues to make good things happen when he gets the ball in his hands. Okonkwo had a team-high six catches (on six targets) for 45 yards, and he scored on a 10-yard touchdown as he helicoptered into the end zone after taking a big hit at the goal line. Okonkwo also made a nifty catch on a two-point conversion when he secured the ball with one hand – and his facemask. Okonkwo keeps getting better, and the Titans need to find ways to utilize him. He's clearly one of the team's best offensive weapons, something he's proven even more over the past two weeks.

Raw Emotion

There were plenty of emotions in the Titans locker room after the game. Players seemed frustrated, and upset, following the franchise's first three-game losing streak since the 2018 season. Linebacker Dylan Cole seemed to really take thinks personally. Tears streamed down his face as he talked about his performance, and the loss. "I know personally, I sucked," Cole said before pausing. "I sucked today. I have to embrace it, learn from it, and improve. We put a lot of work in, and to put stuff out there like that, it doesn't justify the work that we put in, and it hurts. … All we can do is improve, and get back on the winning train, and learn. … We have to stick together. I know people outside are going to be talking, and they are going to have some criticism. We'll get better. We'll get a win and we're going to turn this thing around."

Derrick Henry's Day

Early on, it looked like it would be another big day for Henry against his hometown team. Henry had 96 rushing yards after the first quarter, including a 50-yard run, and a three-yard touchdown run. But Henry finished the day with just 121 rushing yards, and his carries were limited down the stretch because the Titans were playing catch up. Plus, Henry also lost two fumbles, which he beat himself up for after the game. "We have to get better," Henry said. "It sounds like a broken record. … We have to come in, make the corrections, learn from it. We need to take care of the ball; I have to take care of the ball. I hold myself accountable always – I have to take care of the job and do my job better."

Protection Probs

Tannehill's first fumble of the day came when he was sacked by Jaguars outside linebacker Travon Walker, who blew past right tackle Dennis Daley. Tannehill has now been sacked 10 times in the last two games, and 29 times on the season. The Titans aren't built to throw the ball 38 times while playing from behind, and that's the scenario they were faced with on Sunday. This, in part, is why opposing defenses have been able to tee off on the Titans quarterback in recent weeks. Still, if the Titans are going to get back on track and have success, protection needs to be better moving forward.

TENNESSEE TITANS WERE AT A CROSSROAD. SO WHY'D THEY GO WRONG WAY VS. JAGUARS?

BY NICK SUSS
THE TENNESSEAN
DECEMBER 11, 2022

One week ago, after a blowout loss to the Philadelphia Eagles, Tennessee Titans coach Mike Vrabel described his team as "at a crossroads." But in Sunday's 36-22 loss versus the Jacksonville Jaguars, the Titans took their first steps in the wrong direction.

"Coach always says culture's not built on when things are going good," running back Derrick Henry said. "It's what our culture is going to withstand when everything's going bad. I think leadership needs to step up. I need to step up. Rally together. Stay together."

The Titans (7-6) have lost three games in a row for the first time since 2018, Vrabel's first year in Nashville. They've lost back-to-back home games for the fourth time in Vrabel's tenure and allowed 30-plus points in back-to-back games for the fifth time in Vrabel's tenure. The only other time the Titans lost back-to-back games in December under Vrabel's watch was in 2019, and the Titans had won five straight December games against AFC South foes before Sunday.

Vrabel wanted the Eagles loss to be a turning point, a reckoning of sorts that led to the kind of December run this team has grown accustomed to. It wasn't. Instead of getting bludgeoned by a superior team as they did in Philadelphia, the Titans stumbled their way through an ugly loss to the mediocre Jaguars (5-8). The Titans offense lost four turnovers, the defense allowed 368 passing yards with no sacks or takeaways and the team was outgained 154 yards to negative-19 in the third quarter.

It's one thing to have weaknesses exposed by the Eagles, which has the best record in football. It's another to show glimpses of strengths against a team you'd beaten eight straight times at home and still lose by two scores.

"We moved the football. We got some stops early. I thought how we came out and played early was positive," Vrabel said. "Not good enough with the turnovers. Not good enough to start the second half defensively. So we'll have to get a lot of those things corrected."

Defensive tackle Jeffery Simmons said the buzzword this week needs to be "accountability." He believes he and his teammates need to hold themselves to a higher standard. He wants body language and demeanor to be better. Safety Amani Hooker said accountability means belief in how much an individual can help the unit. Outside linebacker Bud Dupree says it means everybody working in unison to correct their own mistakes. Henry said it's about staying positive, take the long view about a season that's far from over despite the losing streak.

"We're still in it," Henry said. "Everything's still in front of us. We've just got to keep getting better. Have that focused mindset of wanting to end the season strong."

The Titans still hold a two-game lead over the Jaguars in the AFC South. A playoff berth isn't guaranteed, but three wins or two wins and at least one loss by the Jaguars and Indianapolis Colts can clinch one. Even after Sunday's loss, FiveThirtyEight's odds still give the Titans an 87% chance of making the postseason and an 85% chance of hosting a playoff game.

Henry wants his teammates to keep that long view, even if the sting of the three-game losing streak is hard to escape.

"It's frustrating. I hate losing. It sucks," Simmons said. "We have to find a way to win the game."

"We've been down before," Hooker added. "We were 2-4 one year and we went to the AFC Championship. I know it was some years ago. But we've got fight. We believe in the coaching staff and what we preach here, so we're not giving up. We're going to go out here next week and not give up the fight."

THIS LOSS FALLS ON AMY ADAMS STRUNK, EVEN IF TENNESSEE TITANS AREN'T SAYING SO

BY GENTRY ESTES
THE TENNESSEAN
DECEMBER 12, 2022

If I knew how to fix the slumping Tennessee Titans, I'd go ahead and apply for the general manager job.

They have an opening, if you hadn't heard.

And I don't know how you wouldn't have heard, so long as you have at least a passing interest.

Tuesday's firing of general manager Jon Robinson by Titans owner Amy Adams Strunk was national news. It was so stunning that the rest of the league had to assume there was more to it than job performance, because how do you fire someone who'd never had a losing season? Inside the Titans' locker room, it wasn't much different. "I was shocked like everybody else," said running back Derrick Henry.

Those shocked Titans, however, had to turn around and go play the Jacksonville Jaguars on Sunday.

Guess what? It didn't go well. The Jaguars pulled within two games of the Titans in the AFC South standings with a 36-22 victory at Nissan Stadium.

To a man, from coach Mike Vrabel to multiple players, the Titans insisted that Robinson's firing had nothing to do with Sunday's defeat.

"And it shouldn't," defensive lineman Jeffery Simmons said. "I mean, Jon Robinson is not out there playing football for us."

"Obviously, we had to deal with it," quarterback Ryan Tannehill added. "But I think the energy was great. The focus was great throughout the week. We had a great week of preparation."

A proud team isn't going to blame the owner for its own poor performance. But to say one didn't have anything to do with the other, I don't buy it.

Titans owner Amy Adams Strunk signs autographs as the team gets ready to face the Jacksonville Jaguars at Nissan Stadium Sunday, Dec. 11, 2022, in Nashville, Tenn.

I can't. This move was more than just clearing out an office. It was taking action against the man responsible for building the team and hiring those players.

In firing Robinson, Adams Strunk confirmed that she doesn't think those players are collectively good enough to challenge for a Super Bowl this season.

As obvious as such a conclusion might have seemed to you, me or most others, it wasn't to the Titans themselves. Those guys believed. It was simply routine for this gutsy team that fights and claws and relishes proving its many doubters wrong and has for years.

The Titans' seven victories – close calls, most of them – were a 2022 take on an old theme. They were evidence of a still-tenacious belief that they knew something others did not. That they were tough enough to overcome what everyone thought of them. Call it an edge. Call it mojo. Whatever it was, it was unique to them. When they had little else, they at least had that.

Now, I'm no longer so sure they do.

The Titans that lost to the Jaguars on Sunday weren't the same team that swept the Colts and beat the Packers in Lambeau or gamely fought the Chiefs and Bengals to a near-stalemate before falling in the end. Even in blowouts to the Bills or Eagles, you could cite the other side's overwhelming talent more than anything else.

This bunch Sunday, though? These Titans looked like losers. They lost like losers. They gave away a winnable division game despite being able to do exactly what they strive to do on the ground every Sunday and hadn't lately. Henry had nearly 100 yards in the first quarter. The Titans, because of that, should have been comfortable at halftime. They weren't because of their own turnovers.

And then when it started to snowball on them after halftime, they folded in a fashion that Vrabel's teams have seldom ever done.

"We have to hold each other to a higher standard," Simmons said. "When you walk into this building, your body language, your demeanor, everything, it matters. Even when we turn over the ball, you've got to come off the field with a better body language. Defense, we're going to attack the field no matter what. But we see guys dropping their heads at the same time, that's not a good look."

A desperate late rally was too late, and in a sense, it just proved that this game against the 4-8 … sorry, 5-8 … Jaguars should have never gotten away as it did.

I go back to the timing of Robinson's firing, because how can you not?

As I've written, I agreed with Adams Strunk's decision. It's the timing that I didn't understand, and the timing, I believe, is what cost the Titans on Sunday.

Adams Strunk told the Associated Press on Friday that she had already decided to fire Robinson before the loss in Philadelphia to A.J. Brown and the Eagles.

"Once I made the decision," Adams Strunk told the AP. "I was like, 'I can't sit on it. I've got to go ahead and do it to be fair to Jon.' … It just didn't seem like the right thing to do to drag this along."

Fair enough.

But when the owner fires the GM midseason, the clear inference is that she's giving up and waiving a white flag on the season, which can feel a bit premature when that team has a winning record, playoff aspirations and five games remaining on its schedule.

When you do that, when you tell your own players before a season ends that you don't think they are good enough, you shouldn't be surprised to see them become exactly that.

SIFTING THROUGH THE ASHES OF TENNESSEE TITANS' UGLY HOME LOSS TO JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS

BY GENTRY ESTES
THE TENNESSEAN
DECEMBER 11, 2022

Five observations from the Tennessee Titans' 36-22 loss to the Jacksonville Jaguars on Sunday afternoon at Nissan Stadium:

How it all fell apart for Tennessee Titans

An alarming late-season losing streak has reached three for the AFC South-leading Titans. Let's start the unpacking here: The Titans' defense is not what it was earlier in the season. That is a big problem for a team that had been successfully leaning on that defense to make up for a subpar offense.

Injuries are part of the regression, no doubt. The Titans haven't been the same since defensive lineman Denico Autry was hurt against the Packers. The absences of cornerback Kristian Fulton and linebacker David Long Jr. were felt Sunday, too, against a Jaguars offense that learned something from the Eagles' win over Tennessee the previous week: Don't even try to test the Titans' stellar run defense, because a good quarterback can pass it on them.

And Jacksonville's Trevor Lawrence is a good QB.

Lawrence threw for 368 yards and three touchdowns on 30-of-42 passing and seemed to get better and more confident as the Jaguars went on a 29-0 run after trailing 14-7 in the first quarter. Tight end Evan Engram, in particular, killed the Titans.

There wasn't much the defense did well as the game got away after halftime. Which made it like the rest of the team.

These Titans were barely good enough to eke out victories when the defense was playing well. When the defense isn't play well, the Titans aren't good enough to beat a weak Jacksonville team that entered Nissan Stadium with a 4-8 record.

All those turnovers

To start and finish, the Titans' offense actually was a good bit better in this game. But critical miscues made that irrelevant. A first-half offensive revival – most notably for Derrick Henry and the run game – was nullified by turnovers that resulted in a six-point halftime deficit. Three turnovers in the first half, and then a fourth turnover came from a direct snap to Henry that went awry in the fourth quarter, harming the Titans' bid to rally in the final moments.

Too many mistakes. Can't do that and hope to win, obviously.

Turnover No. 1 was a strip-sack caused by shoddy pass protection by Chig Okonkwo and Dennis Daley against rookie Travon Walker, the first overall pick in the NFL Draft. No. 2 was an interception seemingly caused by Ryan Tannehill and Nick Westbrook-Ikhine not being on the same page. No. 3 was a bit unlucky – Henry getting spun around near the sideline and fumbling when hit defenseless – but all three self-inflicted miscues proved costly, leading to 17 Jaguars points before halftime.

And the turnovers were especially deflating Sunday for a struggling Titans offense that was finally getting some momentum back on the ground.

A lone bright spot

Henry does love playing against AFC South competition and especially his hometown team. As usual, the Jaguars struggled with Henry from the start. His 119 rushing yards in the first half were more than he had totaled in each of the previous five games.

Getting Henry going was easily the most positive development of the afternoon for the Titans, who routinely used a sixth offensive lineman – Le'Raven Clark – to try to fix their problems running the ball of late. Henry got loose several times, including a 50-yard run in the first half.

Overall, the Titans entered halftime with 230 yards, which had them on pace for their best offensive output of any game this season. But again, they trailed 20-14 because of the turnovers. And then the Jaguars, who deferred after winning the opening kickoff, marched 72 yards on 12 plays for a TD to open the third quarter. The Titans had to start throwing from there, leaving Henry with 121 rushing yards for the afternoon.

You too, special teams

The kicking game doesn't get a pass. And actually, it's hard to remember the last time the Titans didn't come out of a game shaking their heads about something with the special teams. In this game, it was the continued inability to cleanly field a punt without a near-disaster. The Jags also had a kickoff return TD called back by penalty.

Yeah, it was a long week

Goes without saying that the Titans dealt with a massive distraction this past week. Amy Adams Strunk's midseason firing of general manager Jon Robinson alone doesn't explain such a poor performance Sunday. It clearly didn't help, though.

Now 7-6 and on a three-game losing streak for the first time since 2018, the Titans are still in a comfortable position. They still have a cushion in the AFC South. But they're trending downhill sharply and there's not much relief in sight.

TENNESSEE TITANS EMBARRASSED IN BLOWOUT LOSS TO JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS AFTER JON ROBINSON FIRING

BY NICK SUSS
THE TENNESSEAN
DECEMBER 11, 2022

The Tennessee Titans played like a team that hasn't had a general manager for five months, not five days, on Sunday.

In their first game since firing GM Jon Robinson, the Titans floundered in an embarrassing 36-22 loss to the Jacksonville Jaguars at Nissan Stadium, marking the Jaguars' first win in Nashville since 2013 and handing the Titans (7-6) their first three-game losing streak since 2018. With the loss, the Titans are no longer unbeaten in AFC South games this season but still hold a two-game lead in the division.

Jaguars quarterback Trevor Lawrence carved his way through the Titans' defense, throwing three touchdowns and running for another. He set a career high with 368 passing yards. The Titans offense looked poised to keep up with Lawrence early, with running back Derrick Henry rushing for 96 yards in the first quarter and quarterback Ryan Tannehill fitting pass after pass into tight windows. But four turnovers, three in the first half, sunk all offensive progress and the defense crumbled with the more opportunities the Jaguars (5-8) got.

Henry finished with 121 rushing yards, his sixth 100-yard game of the season. Tannehill threw for 254 yards and two scores, guiding the Titans downfield twice in the fourth quarter and nearly cutting the deficit to one score before a turnover on downs just before the two-minute warning.

The turnover battle

The Titans' offense worked in the first half. Henry had 119 rushing yards. Tannehill was 12-for-16 passing with 120 yards. The offense averaged more than seven yards per play and only punted once. The Titans had more yards in one half against the Jaguars than they did all game the previous week in the loss to the Philadelphia Eagles.

But all those gains were offset by three costly turnovers through two quarters. Tannehill was strip-sacked in the first quarter, threw an interception in the second quarter and Henry fumbled after a second-quarter reception near the red zone. Those three turnovers turned into 17 Jaguars points. Instead of capitalizing on their best offensive half in weeks, the Titans went into halftime trailing 20-14.

Defensive injuries loom large

As has been the case all season, another Titans opponent abandoned the run early in favor of throwing against a Titans defense that's been on the field for more pass plays than any other unit in the NFL. Lawrence had good reason to challenge the Titans' secondary, though. Starting cornerbacks Kristian Fulton and Tre Avery missed Sunday's game, as did inside linebacker David Long Jr.

Long's absence played a big role as the Jaguars sliced the Titans over the middle with tight end Evan Engram, who caught 11 passes for 162 yards and two touchdowns. Cornerbacks Roger McCreary and Terrance Mitchell did a better job of guarding the Jaguars' outside receivers, but Lawrence benefitted once from McCreary's misfortune, completing a touchdown to Zay Jones right before halftime on a tipped pass that ricocheted off McCreary's hands.

How the game was lost

The Titans led and had the ball with three minutes left in the first half, but let the game slip away in the minutes that followed. Henry fumbled in plus territory, giving the Jaguars the ball to drive for Jones' touchdown. The Jags got the ball first in the second half and went 79 yards for a touchdown. The Titans lost 20 yards on a three-and-out after the Jaguars touchdown, then the Jaguars drove for another touchdown after the punt. The next Titans drive? Three plays, no yards, another punt.

Jacksonville sustained long drives with a dominant, accurate passing attack and destroyed the Titans' offensive goodwill with an active pass rush. After Henry's fumble, the Jaguars outscored the Titans 23-8.

What's next?

The Titans travel to SoFi Stadium in Los Angeles to battle the Los Angeles Chargers next Sunday (3:25 p.m., CBS).

TENNESSEE TITANS GRADES VS. JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS: UNPACKING A BLOWOUT LOSS

BY NICK SUSS
THE TENNESSEAN
DECEMBER 11, 2022

The Tennessee Titans turned a promising start into one of their ugliest losses Sunday.

The Titans lost 36-22 to the Jacksonville Jaguars at Nissan Stadium, losing a third-straight game for the first time since coach Mike Vrabel's first season in 2018. The Jaguars (5-8) scored 29 unanswered points after the first quarter and into the fourth quarter, capitalizing on four Titans turnovers and taking away all opportunities for the Titans to lean on running back Derrick Henry, who finished with 121 yards rushing but had 96 yards in the first quarter alone.

This is the first time the Titans (7-6) have allowed 30 or more points in back-to-back games since Weeks 1 and 2 of the 2021 season and the first game the Titans turned the ball over four or more times since Week 2 against the Buffalo Bills.

Here is The Tennessean's report card for the Titans' ugly loss to the Jaguars.

Offense: C+

When the offense wasn't turning the ball over, good things happened. Henry cruised to 100 yards in the first half. Quarterback Ryan Tannehill was precise and accurate when he had time and led two composed fourth-quarter drives to make things interesting. But three lost fumbles and an interception on a miscommunication between Tannehill and receiver Nick Westbrook-Ikhine destroyed all the Titans' progress. Pass protection was an issue again, leading to a lost fumble in the first quarter and two derailed drives in the third quarter that led the Jaguars extend their lead.

Take away five or six bad plays and this was one of the Titans' best offensive performances all season. But that's not how football works, unfortunately for offensive coordinator Todd Downing and his bunch.

Defense: D

Jaguars quarterback Trevor Lawrence and tight end Evan Engram both had career days. The Titans didn't sack Lawrence and failed to record a takeaway for the fourth straight game. The Titans' elite run defense stats are becoming misleading, as the Jaguars are the latest in the parade of Titans opponents who show no interest in running the ball when there's so much success to be had throwing. With cornerbacks Kristian Fulton, Tre Avery, Elijah Molden and Caleb Farley all injured or on injured reserve, this was quadruply true Sunday.

Special teams: C+

This could've been a lot worse; the Jaguars had a 93-yard kickoff return touchdown called back because of a holding penalty. Sticking with plays that counted, the special teams were mostly fine, even with injuries to C.J. Board, Hassan Haskins and Dontrell Hilliard limiting what the Titans could do in the return game.

Coaching: C

It's hard to evaluate how much of this loss needs to be credited to coaching. Turnovers and injuries aren't coaching issues, but the inability to generate a pass rush and the difficulty capitalizing on a rushing attack that was working might be. Even considering some conservative play-calling in third quarter, this feels like more of a players' loss than a coaching loss.

Overall: D+

This is a loss unlike any the Titans have ceded this season. The other five were all to would-be playoff teams, and three of them were by eight points. This was a blowout loss at the hands of a division foe with a losing record that's had the No. 1 pick in the draft back-to-back offseasons. This probably wasn't the Titans' worst loss of the year by quality, but it might've been their worst loss in context.

TENNESSEE TITANS' GREATEST STRENGTH BECAME A WEAKNESS — AND THAT'S WHY THEY'RE LOSING

BY NICK SUSS
THE TENNESSEAN
DECEMBER 11, 2022

There might only be one way to expose the flaws in the Tennessee Titans' defense, but a whole lot of teams have figured out how to do it.

The Titans were drubbed 36-22 by the Jacksonville Jaguars on Sunday. The Titans (7-6) allowed the Jaguars (5-8) to throw for 368 yards and three touchdowns, adding egg to the face of a defensive unit that's surrendered the NFL's second-most passing yards per game.

Sure, the Titans' third-ranked run defense held the Jaguars to 60 yards, but the Jags were the latest in the long list of Titans opponents who abandoned the run in favor of the pass. Jacksonville rushed 25 times compared to 42 pass attempts from quarterback Trevor Lawrence.

"We know that we do a great job of stopping the run," Titans safety Amani Hooker said. "The only way they're going to have opportunities is to throw it on us. We've got to make sure that we don't give up big plays."

The problem is the Titans are allowing big plays. Over the course of the Titans' first three-game losing streak since 2018, Lawrence, Eagles quarterback Jalen Hurts and Bengals quarterback Joe Burrow have gashed the Titans for 39 completions that gained 10+ yards and 18 completions that gained 20+ yards.

Over the losing streak, the Titans defense only has three sacks and hasn't forced a turnover. For a defense that recorded 22 sacks and 10 takeaways from Oct. 2 through Nov. 13, it is a huge departure from expectation.

"The quarterback's not going to sit back there and let you hit him all day," linebacker Bud Dupree said. "They're going to have checkdowns. They're going to have quick throws and quick reads, and that first read they're going to try to go to it each and every time. Knowing that and being able to identify that, we have to come in here with a different mindset that we've got to win faster."

It's harder to win faster when the Titans defense has to win with less. Consider this:

The Titans' starting 11 on defense Sunday was: Jeffery Simmons, Teair Tart, Mario Edwards and Dupree on the defensive line; Dylan Cole and Monty Rice at linebacker; and Roger McCreary, Terrance Mitchell, Kevin Byard, Andrew Adams and Hooker in the secondary.

Here's a potential Titans starting 11 using defenders who couldn't play Sunday: Harold Landry, Da'Shawn Hand and Denico Autry on the defensive line; David Long, Zach Cunningham and Chance Campbell at linebacker; and some combination of Kristian Fulton, Tre Avery, Elijah Molden, Caleb Farley, Lonnie Johnson, A.J. Moore and Chris Jackson in the secondary.

Landry and Autry are the Titans' best pass rushers. Long and Cunningham are the Titans' top options at linebacker. Fulton, Avery and Molden are starting-caliber corners. On top of that, Simmons has played through an ankle injury since October and Dupree has been on-and-off the injury report this season.

"It's hard to jell together when guys keep getting hurt throughout the process," Dupree said. "I'll come in, play a couple weeks, get hurt, come back in, go back out. David, Kristian, Denico, Harold, it's hard to gel."

Despite all this, Titans coach Mike Vrabel still says he's confident in his team's ability to win in its current state.

"I always think that we can win a football game if we are able to do the things that we talk about," Vrabel said. "If we're able to affect their quarterback and be able to be efficient with our passing game, get some turnovers, take care of the ball and be in a game where when you can stop the run and force them to throw the football then you affect the quarterback and then control the game by running it. I know that that's what wins in this league."

Let's go down that checklist:

The Titans aren't affecting quarterbacks. The defensive line is batting down passes but not hitting quarterbacks.

The Titans have mostly been efficient passing. Quarterback Ryan Tannehill is completing 65% of his passes with three touchdowns and one interception in the losing streak.

The Titans aren't forcing turnovers; none since the Denver game on Nov. 13.

The Titans had only turned the ball over twice in five games before giving it up four times against Jacksonville.

Sunday was the first time the Titans ran for more than 100 yards in a game since Nov. 6.

If that's how you win, it's pretty easy to see why the Titans are losing. Basing things on where Vrabel began and ended his spiel, it seems correcting these issues starts with improving in coverage so defenders have enough time to get to affect the quarterback.

"There's no secret to how you affect the quarterback," Vrabel said. "You've got to have guys who go and rush and get him. When we pressure, we have to be able to get there. We have to get there quicker. Coverage is going to have to allow for an extra count or pump or hitch. That's where it's at. There's no secret to that."

CROSSROADS CONTINUE AS DEPLETED TITANS CAN'T HANDLE JAGUARS

BY PAUL KUHARSKY
PAULKUHARSKY.COM
DECEMBER 11, 2022

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Amy Adams Strunk declared her dissatisfaction with the Titans' roster on Tuesday in a statement explaining why she fired Jon Robinson.

Sunday that roster, depleted again by persistent injuries, showed all the reasons to be dissatisfied with it, embarrassing itself in a 36-22 loss to the Jaguars. They had not won in Nashville since 2013 but left with longshot hopes of catching Tennessee in the AFC South still alight, and a rematch slated for Jan. 7 or 8 in Jacksonville as the regular season finale.

The Titans turned the ball over four times, which produced 20 points for their guests. A team that is usually well coached and that typically plays with unquestioned effort appeared lost and directionless at times.

The team lost Mike Vrabel's fifth, sixth and seventh games as their coach in 2018. They had not lost three in a row again until now. Last week he told his players they were at a crossroads and had tough decisions to make. Nothing about how they played said they'd decided anything good.

"We just have a little adversity right now," Derrick Henry said, minimizing the damage. "And that's all it is. We've just got to weather the storm, keep working and everything will happen the way it's supposed to."

The Titans have had great success the last few years and perhaps they've come to expect that's how it's supposed to happen.

Through 13 weeks, Tennessee had beaten bad teams and lost to good ones. Now it's boosted the Jaguars to 5-8, fallen to 7-6 and stalled what still seems an inevitable clinching of the AFC South which comes with a top 4 seed and a home game in the playoffs.

It's also continuing to make itself a team that wild card entries in the playoff field would love to come to visit.

Henry topped had 14 carries for 119 yards and a TD in the first half and Jacksonville appeared to be his usual good medicine. But the revival for a struggling line that had a lot to do with an ineffective back ended there.

Henry had three carries for 2 yards after intermission. Most memorable and significant were his two lost fumbles that accounted for half the giveaways.

The team's top offensive player has now fumbled three times in the team's last three games while Jeffery Simmons isn't playing with the same explosion or chase, in part because of an ankle injury that severely limits his practice time, in part because Denico Autry (knee) has not been around for two-plus games.

Simmons repeated what his position coach, Terrell Williams, said on Thursday: That it's somewhat silly for outsiders to suggest he's not playing at the same level. It feels like denial and may unintentionally be hurting the team as it talks a lot about accountability.

"I'm not playing on one leg, I'm not frustrated at all, I'm going out there playing ball," he said. "Watch the game, even the last couple of games. I keep hearing of this 'His production's down.'

"They are sliding to me every time. So I'm not a selfish guy, I'm not complaining about it, I'm going to go out there and play my game. If they are going to slide to me, that's going to open up opportunities for other guys. I don't care about production, I care about winning."

The thing is, his production is tied to the Titans winning.

And surely teams were sliding to him when he banged into signal-callers for 3.5 sacks and 18 QB pressures in a four-game stretch earlier this season. In the last three, he's had zero sacks. He had no QB pressures against Cincinnati and Philadelphia. The stat for this game won't come out until Monday, but press box statisticians gave him no tackles, no hits and two passes defensed.

Overall, the Titans have three sacks in three games after not getting to Trevor Lawrence and while he may have gotten rid of the ball quickly, the front simply failed to affect him enough.

He hit on seven passes of 20 or more yards. He threw for 368 yards and three touchdowns for a 121.9 passer rating, his second-best of the season.

When the Titans rolled to seven wins in eight games the defense got the explosive plays under control. Now in three losses they've given up a total of 20 pass plays of 20 yards or more totaling 522 yards (26.1 average) and five touchdowns.

Much of it is tied to the absence of Denico Autry, who left the Green Bay game with a knee injury and has missed the three games since. We knew he was an immensely valuable and versatile piece of the defensive front, but it's become even more apparent without him on the field.

The lack of pressure has allowed Joe Burrow, Jalen Hurts and now Lawrence to hurt them badly.

Lawrence targeted Evan Engram 15 times and he pulled in 11 passes for 162 yards and two touchdowns, the most yardage a single opponent has caught against them this season. He was tackled by players from defensive tackle (Simmons) to outside linebacker to safety to cornerback.

It's not just Autry. Also missing were Kristian Fulton and Tre Avery from the defensive backfield; Treylon Burks the most dangerous receiver; David Long the impactful guy in the middle of the defense.

For the home team, the answer to the crossroad question was hardly the collective positive for which Vrabel hoped.

"We expected to go win," Byard said. "I feel like if we had won the game then that would have been a good answer. But we lost the game so obviously it was a bad answer. …This is something that doesn't normally happen here in this building, especially losing games late in the season when we are trying to get to the playoffs.

"We'll find out, though, we'll find out what we're made of, the type of guys that we've got in this locker room."

At the crossroads, still. With time, still. All thanks to the Titans' occupancy in the AFC South.

REXRODE TITANS HEAR THEY STINK FROM OWNERSHIP GO PLAY LIKE IT AGAINST JAGUARS

BY JOE REXRODE
THE ATHLETIC
DECEMBER 11, 2022

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Titans controlling owner Amy Adams Strunk fired general manager Jon Robinson on Tuesday, to the disbelief of the NFL at large. In-season GM firings aren't typical, and if you can find one involving a first-place team since the days when general managers also sold tickets and popcorn, please send a link.

Then Strunk decided she would let coach Mike Vrabel deal with all the questions on the matter rather than field any herself. Strunk reconsidered and gave Associated Press reporter Teresa Walker a one-on-one interview Friday, and on the question of timing, she said this:

"Honestly, I had made the decision. It was time to move forward. There was no reason to, like, go six, seven, eight weeks, however long we remain in the season. It was not fair to Jon. It was not fair to the team. It just seemed the right thing. It gives us plenty of opportunity now to identify future candidates that we're gonna interview, to get to watch the internal candidates. I'm just not that person that's gonna sit on a decision like that."

OK. The decision was made. Be fair to Robinson. Identify candidates. And … help the team?

It was not fair to the team.

So it was not fair to the team, the team that has had a commanding AFC South lead for weeks, to let it continue doing its job without having to hear, indirectly but quite clearly, from ownership that it isn't good enough — so not good enough that the guy who picked these players must be fired. It was not fair to these players and coaches to let them keep their focus strictly on scheming and practicing football so they can produce better football on Sundays.

It was fairer to make them all answer questions about Robinson's firing, about how they found out and how shocking it was and what he meant to them and what kind of distraction this might be for them. That's an interesting definition of "fair."

In response to all this, the Titans came out Sunday at Nissan Stadium, turned the ball over four times, gave up 29 consecutive points and took a 36-22 beating from the Jacksonville Jaguars. After hearing that vote of no confidence from ownership, they heard a lot of well-earned boos from fans who did not come close to filling the place and then left it nearly empty before the clock hit zero.

The Titans then dismissed, across the board, the idea that the bizarre days leading up to Sunday had anything to do with Sunday. That might be true. Also, if Strunk signed your checks, you'd no doubt say the same.

Rexrode: Titans' firing of Jon Robinson leaves a lot of questions for Amy Adams Strunk

“I personally don’t think the performance we put out today had anything to do with any distractions we dealt with this week,” Titans safety Kevin Byard said.

“I felt like we actually had a good week,” Vrabel said. “I thought that Friday there was energy, Saturday there was a volume around the building. I thought that the way that we started the football game and what we did (early) was positive. We just didn’t do enough there once we got into the game with the turnovers and our inability to affect the quarterback and make them earn it.”

There was, as defensive lineman Naquan Jones pointed out, a message from Robinson to the team, delivered by Vrabel on Wednesday after Robinson and Vrabel had a Tuesday phone conversation in the wake of the firing.

“He basically said: ‘Don’t let the media or anybody turn this into a distraction. Just go win a game,’” Jones said of Robinson. “And I feel like that’s what we did. We locked in. We didn’t let that become a distraction for us. If anything, guys wanted to do everything they could to play and not even focus too much on that at all.”

It’s good to know Robinson got a shot in at the media on his way out. And hey, it is true that if media members weren’t asking questions about all this stuff, it would be a lot easier for the Titans to push it aside. But this is what happens when an organization creates its own massive story when there doesn’t need to be one.

And just to be clear on that, this is what Strunk told the AP about the urgency in finding Robinson’s replacement: “I’m willing to wait. If there’s someone in the Super Bowl that I want to interview, we’re gonna wait. We’re gonna identify that person, and you know what? If it’s in February, so be it.”

That makes sense. It makes it sound more like Strunk wants a strong GM as a replacement than for Vrabel to have final say on personnel and a GM who does the busy work for him, and that would be the way to go. Checks, balances and nothing that does too much to take away from a job everyone knows Vrabel does well.

Also, if it plays out that way, we will look back on Dec. 6 and ask again: Why was it necessary to fire Robinson on that day?

We’ll probably be looking back on a team that was one-and-done in the playoffs as well, a team with a roster that has been going in the wrong direction. But Sunday opened the door on an all-timer of a disaster. Trevor Lawrence and the Jaguars (5-8) actually have a shot now to play the Titans (7-6) at home in the regular-season finale with the AFC South on the line.

This would require the Titans, who are at the Chargers and home against the Texans and Cowboys in the meantime, to lose at least one of those games while the Jaguars (Cowboys, at Jets, at Texans) win at least two of those games. Even if the Titans lose all three and the Jaguars win all three, that Jan. 8 game in Jacksonville will be for the division, as long as the 4-8-1 Colts lose one more game along the way.

And yes, it’s absurd to be talking AFC South scenarios after the Titans were in such control to take it for an unprecedented third consecutive time. But that’s what happens when you lose three straight for the first time since Vrabel’s debut season of 2018. He’s right that the Titans came out playing like a team motivated to get back on track, but a Derrick Henry fumble with the Titans up 14-13 and driving for more was the play that swung the game.

That started Lawrence on a run of three consecutive touchdown drives to blow open the game. Henry had 96 yards in a monster first quarter but just 25 the rest of the way. The Titans got Ryan Tannehill sacked four more times and hit another nine, and their injury-infected defense managed a single hit and no sacks on Lawrence.

NFL Week 14 takeaways: 49ers on a roll with Brock Purdy; Lions roaring, Giants crumbling

Tannehill was stripped and lost a fumble on one of those sacks, he threw a pick on a miscommunication with Nick Westbrook-Ikhine, and Henry was credited with another fumble on a goofy play call by offensive coordinator Todd Downing — Tannehill faking a high snap over his head, but it went a bit too low for Henry to catch — with the Titans down big and needing to pass and preserve time.

This is not a good football team in its current state.

“I think we’re trending in the opposite direction,” Byard said when asked about how this team has played some of its best ball in December in recent years. “That’s clear based on the performance we’ve put out there in the past three weeks. But at the end of the day, I’m not about to sit here and pout around. I’m not gonna give any of that type of energy to it. I’m just gonna go in the building tomorrow, watch the film, stand on it. You know what I’m saying? Stand on the performance we just put out here. And it’s all about how we respond at this point.”

That’s the hard part about Sunday for the Titans. It requires a response.

Had the Titans found a way to beat a team that just lost 40-14 to the Lions, they would have a month to get healthy and get their stuff together for the playoffs. Jeff Simmons and his tender ankle? Rest him. Denico Autry, out with a knee injury that has removed the teeth from the defense? Don’t rush him. Kristian Fulton, David Long Jr., Treylon Burks and any of the others missing from the lineup and making it perilously thin and undeniably weak? Make sure before calling on them.

Now the Titans have to bring whatever they can bring to the field each week, perhaps all the way until the end. That doesn't bode well for January success. Of course, to be fair, that isn't really expected of them anyway. Certainly not from the top of the organization.

LAWRENCE THROWS 3 TDS, JAGS END SKID IN BEATING TITANS 36-22

BY TERESA M. WALKER
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
DECEMBER 11, 2022

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Visiting Music City has been nothing but misery and agony for the Jacksonville Jaguars for too many years.

On Sunday, the Jaguars made sure the Tennessee Titans felt that pain while keeping their AFC South hopes alive with four games remaining.

Trevor Lawrence threw for a career-high 368 yards and three touchdowns and also ran for a score and the Jaguars routed the division-leading Titans 36-22 Sunday for their first victory in Nashville since 2013.

The Jaguars (5-8) snapped a five-game skid against their oldest division rival with just their second victory in this series in 11 games. Doug Pederson also became the first Jacksonville coach to win in Nashville since Gus Bradley on Nov. 10, 2013, something the first-year Jags coach made sure his team knew about.

"Obviously on the road, against a great football team here in Nashville where we obviously haven't done well means a lot," Pederson said. "Means a lot to myself, to the organization, to the Khans to be able to do that and then for the players to really play well."

Jacksonville had four sacks and turned four turnovers into 20 points — three for 17 points in the first half. The Jaguars scored 29 straight points in winning two of their past three.

Pederson called those early turnovers a tone-setter.

"The offense was able to capitalize off of that and put points on the board, and you know, it's just huge," Pederson said.

Lawrence had a big game despite practicing only in a limited fashion Friday with an injured big left toe. The No. 1 overall pick in the 2021 draft waved bye at Titans fans before high-fiving Jaguars fans as he left the field.

"It's been a while since we won here, and that ended today so it's exciting," Lawrence said. "Just the start of what we hope to do to finish this season out and what we're going to have to give ourselves a shot to make a run in the playoffs."

Jaguars tight end Evan Engram had a career day with 15 targets and 162 yards receiving on 11 catches with two TD receptions.

The Titans (7-6) lost their third straight to match their longest skid since coach Mike Vrabel's opening season in 2018.

Their rally was too little and too late. Ryan Tannehill threw a TD pass to Nick Westbrook-Ikhine and converting a 2-point conversion pass to Chig Okonkwo that he pinned with one hand against his face mask with 7:15 to pull within 36-22.

The Titans turned it over on downs with 1:59 left, allowing the Jaguars to run out the clock.

"Nothing was good enough today," Vrabel said.

This loss follows Titans owner Amy Adams Strunk firing general manager Jon Robinson over roster issues and injuries that had Tennessee playing 77 players after setting an NFL record with 91 different players last season. The Titans were without three defensive starters for this game.

Tennessee lost despite Derrick Henry shaking off some frustration by running for more yards in the first quarter than he had in any of the Titans' past four games. Henry had 96 yards, including a 50-yarder, in the first quarter. He had 119 yards by halftime only to finish with 121.

The Titans led 7-0 when Jaguars linebacker Travon Walker, the No. 1 pick overall, sacked Tannehill and stripped him of the ball on Tennessee's second possession. Dawuane Smoot recovered, and Lawrence found Engram for a 12-yard TD pass tying it at 7.

Jaguars safety Andrew Wingard, who hurt a shoulder on the opening drive, picked off Tannehill's pass intended for Westbrook-Ikhine with the Titans receiver blocking and not looking for the ball. That set up the first of Riley Patterson's three field goals.

Jacksonville linebacker Shaquille Quarterman hit Henry at the end of a 16-yard catch-and-run, popping the ball right into teammate Josh Allen's hands at the Jacksonville 22.

Lawrence capped a 78-yard drive by hitting Zay Jones on a 20-yard TD pass, and the receiver got his toes in at the right edge of the end zone that went through Titans rookie cornerback Roger McCreary's hands with 11 seconds left in the first half giving Jacksonville its first lead of the game.

"The whole first half, just shot ourselves in the foot with turnovers," Tannehill said.

The Jaguars put the game away with a dominating third quarter.

They held the ball for more than 10 minutes and outgained Tennessee 146 to minus-8. Lawrence ran for a 1-yard TD and later hit Engram with a 21-yard TD pass.

BOO TIME

The Titans went three-and-out on both of their possessions in the third quarter, and fans booed heavily. It got worse as the Titans tried a wildcat snap in the opening minute of the fourth. The snap to Henry was low with Tannehill faking on the play, and Arden Key recovered for the Jaguars for Patterson's third field goal.

INJURIES

Titans running back and special teams player Dontrell Hilliard was carted off with a neck injury in the second quarter and did not return. Titans safety Amani Hooker went into the medical tent at the end of the third but returned.

UP NEXT

The Jaguars return home to host Dallas.

Tennessee visits the Los Angeles Chargers.

TITANS UNABLE TO OVERCOME 4 TURNOVERS IN LOSS TO JAGUARS

BY TERESA M. WALKER
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
DECEMBER 11, 2022

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Derrick Henry had his best game in weeks by the end of the first quarter, and the Tennessee Titans led 14-7.

Then the ball and the game slipped through their fingers — literally — as the Titans turned the ball over three times before halftime and four overall Sunday in an embarrassing 36-22 loss to the Jacksonville Jaguars.

“We just kept shooting ourselves in the foot today," said two-time NFL rushing champ Derrick Henry who had 96 yards rushing after 15 minutes only to finish with 121 yards.

Ryan Tannehill echoed the same theme: “The whole first half, just shot ourselves in the foot with turnovers."

The four turnovers matched a season high from Tennessee's Week 2 loss at Buffalo, though Sunday's mistakes hurt worse with the Titans (7-6) having a chance to eliminate the Jaguars (5-8) from contention for the AFC South title. The Jaguars converted those turnovers into 20 points.

The Titans remain atop the division, looking for a third straight title in a chase that will be tougher a week after coach Mike Vrabel said this team was at a crossroads to determine how this season would end. Owner Amy Adams Strunk fired general manager Jon Robinson on Tuesday.

Defensive tackle Jeffery Simmons said he thinks the Titans are still at that crossroads of needing to find a way to win and stick together.

“People have to do their jobs, and we have to hold each other accountable, and the same thing with the coaches. Coaches coach and we play,” Simmons said.

The turnovers started on the Titans' second possession after Henry capped their opening drive with a 3-yard run and the 76th touchdown of his career in his 99th game. That tied Priest Holmes for the sixth-most rushing TDs by a player in his first 100 games in the Super Bowl era.

Jaguars linebacker Travon Walker, the No. 1 pick overall in April's draft, sacked Tannehill and stripped him of the ball. Tannehill capped Tennessee's next drive with a 10-yard TD pass to rookie Chig Okonkwo.

Then the Titans quarterback, who had been intercepted only once over the previous seven games, thought he saw a chance at a quick pass to wide receiver Nick Westbrook-Ikhine. The receiver was busy blocking, and Jaguars safety Andrew Wingard picked off the pass.

The Titans still led 14-13 when Henry, having the best season of his career catching the ball, followed a 21-yard run with a catch he took 16 yards. Then he got popped by Shaquille Quarterman, sending the ball into the arms of Jaguars linebacker Josh Allen.

Henry, who had only two fumbles coming into this game, then got credited for the fourth and final turnover to open the Titans' first drive in the fourth quarter. Ready for a direct snap with Tannehill nearby, center Ben Jones had a low snap that Henry couldn't grab before Arden Key snagged it for the Jaguars.

“I got to be better," Henry said. "No excuse on that. Just fall on the ball and play another down.”

The Titans have either clinched a playoff berth or the AFC South in the regular-season finale each of the past three seasons. This time, they wrap up the regular season with a trip to Jacksonville.

First, they have to snap out of the first three-game skid since coach Mike Vrabel's debut season in 2018. That skid came in October, and those Titans finished 9-7 and missed the playoffs, losing the season finale.

“We are going to have to be able to weather the storm and find out who is willing to give us that extra push here down the stretch,” Vrabel said.

TITANS STILL FIRMLY IN CONTROL OF PLAYOFF FATE

BY JOHN GLENNON
SI.COM

DECEMBER 11, 2022

NASHVILLE – The Tennessee Titans missed a golden opportunity to make life easier for themselves when they lost to Jacksonville on Sunday.

Even after the 36-22 defeat at Nissan Stadium, however, they are in an excellent position to win the AFC South, which would mean a postseason berth and a home playoff game.

Tennessee still has the inside track to win the AFC South. In fact, the New York Times' playoff simulator gives the Titans (7-6) an 89 percent chance of a first-place finish, followed by the Jaguars (5-8) at nine percent and the Colts (4-8-1) at one percent.

One obvious way to clinch the division is to win three of the four remaining games – at the Chargers, home against Houston and Dallas, and at Jacksonville. That would get the Titans to 10-7. No one else in the division can win more than nine games.

Even if Tennessee loses its next three, it still can finish first with a victory over Jacksonville in the final week of the regular season.

How so? Three more losses would drop the Titans to 7-9. If the Jags win their next three, they'd be 8-8. A Tennessee win over Jacksonville would leave both teams at 8-9, but the Titans would win the tiebreaker (division record) and earn the automatic playoff berth.

In that case, the only other thing that would need to happen is for Indianapolis to lose at least once in the final four weeks.

Other scenarios will present themselves based on other AFC South results over the coming weeks.

Of course, had Tennessee defeated Jacksonville, the Jaguars would have been eliminated from the division race, and things would seem much less dramatic for the Titans.

That would have set up a scenario in which the Titans could have clinched the division crown before they played their next game. A loss by Indianapolis next Saturday at Minnesota would have allowed the Titans to take the field next Sunday in Los Angeles already knowing they were AFC South champs.

Even if the Colts kept winning down the stretch, Tennessee would have needed just one victory its last four.

That likely would have allowed some players to rest over down the stretch, helping them get healthier for the postseason.

Bottom line?

Sunday's loss certainly wasn't a step in the right direction for a Titans team "at a crossroads," as Mike Vrabel described the situation last week.

But the team still has the opportunity to control its own postseason destiny – and a very good chance at winning the AFC South for a third straight time.

"I feel like we can say that we're lucky to still be at the same crossroad and still have a lot in front of us," wide receiver Nick Westbrook-Ikhine said. "Still have an option to decide our fate. So I feel like you just get back to work, find a way to get back to what we were doing before, when we were winning games. And just look into that, and fight to get back to that, that mentality."

QUOTEBOOK: JAGUARS FINALLY WIN AT NISSAN STADIUM

BY DAVID BOCLAIR
SI.COM
DECEMBER 11, 2022

NASHVILLE – To put into perspective what happened Sunday, consider this: In 2014 and 2015, when the Tennessee Titans finished tied for the NFL's worst record in consecutive seasons and won five games total, they did not lose at home to the Jacksonville Jaguars.

They Titans had won eight straight at Nissan Stadium against that particular AFC South foe, and most of the recent encounters were not close.

That streak is over, though, courtesy of a 36-22 defeat in a game the Titans led early. Turnovers had a lot to do with the outcome, which spoiled Tennessee's bid to sweep its intra-division games. At the start of the day, the Titans were one of five teams that were undefeated in their respective divisions. Now there are three.

Here is a roundup of what Jaguars players and coach Doug Pederson had to say about the reversal of fortune and how they did it.

On Jacksonville's first victory at Nissan Stadium since 2013 …

• Tight end Evan Engram: "We had a nice little history lesson this week on the history between these two teams. Man, where we are in our season and what we kind of have to do this last stretch of games, this one was big. We kind of got a glimpse of that (Saturday) night and some motivation. And we came out and we were ready."

• Coach Doug Pederson: "As far as the victory, obviously on the road against a great football team here in Nashville, where we obviously haven't done well means a lot. Means a lot to myself, the organization, to the Khans to be able to do that."

• Outside linebacker Josh Allen: "I've never done it. I've never done it in my career here. I know we're building something special, we talked about this. We know that this was one of the things that we had to do to get to where we need to be."

• Quarterback Trevor Lawrence: "It was one of those … days where we made those plays. Good, great teams do that. I think that is where we are heading and I just excited."

On Jaguars tight end Evan Engram (11 receptions, 162 yards, two touchdowns) …

• Wide receiver Zay Jones: "Evan Engram? Lights out."

• Pederson: "He's always part of the gameplan. You just never know who's going to have the hot hand at times and he knew he had it there and played tough and made some outstanding catches, made some outstanding plays, and played well (Sunday)."

• Engram: "I mean, the way I prepare, the way I work, and the way we work, anybody could have a day. We've seen the talent that we have in that room have days like that. And (Sunday) was just, God allowed it to be 17's day and it was a lot of fun."

On limiting Derrick Henry to two rushing yards in the second half (he had 119 in the first half) …

• Pederson: "I've been on the other side where we're behind and then next thing you know, you got to put the ball in the air and it kind of takes a guy like Derrick Henry out, not out of the game, but, you know, minimizes his opportunities."

On the difference in turnovers, which were plus-4 in favor of Jacksonville …

• Jones: "The turnovers we got (Sunday)? Incredible."

• Outside linebacker Travon Walker: "We definitely stepped up to the challenge. We knew we had to come in and play great ball, wanted to give our offense good field position. So that was one of the main things that we were all harping on all week."

• Allen: "When you get one, you just wait on the next one because you know they're going to come. They come in bunches. If we got one sack, you get two sacks, they come in bunches. You get one turnover, you get another one pretty quick, and they come in bunches. Every time they made a mistake, we were there to capitalize on it."

• Pederson: "Any time you create turnovers early and it just sets tone. Offense was able to capitalize off of that and put points on the board. It's huge and that's something we talk about every week, try to create takeaways and defense did a nice job of that (Sunday)."

THREE STRAIGHT LOSSES TO TEST TITANS' RESOLVE

BY DAVID BOCLAIR
SI.COM
DECEMBER 11, 2022

NASHVILLE – This is not the first time with Mike Vrabel in charge that the Tennessee Titans have lost three straight games.

This is something different, though.

A 36-22 loss to the Jacksonville Jaguars at Nissan Stadium on Sunday has the Titans reeling in a way they have not been since the disastrous 2015 season. Granted, the current bunch is a long way from that one, which finished tied for the NFL's worst record at 3-13. Yet it's also a far cry from where it was a month ago when it had stacked seven victories in eight games and seemed well-positioned for a third straight AFC South title.

Tennessee (7-6) still has a winning record and remains two games up on the Jaguars (5-8) with four to play. However, this bunch has lost a handle on its formula for success as evidenced by the fact that it was minus-4 on turnovers and – after an early 14-7 lead – allowed the Jaguars to score 29 straight points.

"I mean, who likes to lose?" linebacker Monty Rice said. "We didn't get in this sport or this business to take Ls. It's not what I'm about, this team or any of us are about it. I mean, we put a lot into it. We have to get back to work (Monday) and get back to the drawing board and take coaching and fix mistakes"

Vrabel, now in his fifth season, often says that it is important for a team to play its best late in the year. That is not happening with these Titans.

The three-game slide is their first since 2018, Vrabel's first season. Then (Weeks 5-7), two of the three losses were by a single point. Tennessee fell 13-12 to Buffalo and 20-19 against the Los Angeles Chargers, the latter because of a failed all-or-nothing two-point conversion attempt with 31 seconds to play. Opponents did not score more than 21 points in any of those contests.

This skid started innocently enough with a hard-fought 20-16 defeat against the Cincinnati Bengals, currently one of the NFL's hottest teams. Then came a 35-10 loss at Philadelphia and the stunning reversal of fortune against Jacksonville, which had not win here since 2013.

Tennessee now has been outscored 91-48 in the three defeats. By comparison, opponents scored a combined 123 points in eight games from Week 3 through 11.

The last time the Titans allowed 35 points or more in consecutive contests was the final two weeks of 2020 – and one of those was a victory (41-38 over the Houston Texans).

"We kind of talk about – at this point of the year – where there are teams that are getting better trying to get to this playoff push, and some teams aren't," safety Kevin Byard said. "I think we're trending in the opposite direction. That's clear based upon the performance we put out there the last three weeks.

“At the end of the day, I’m not about to sit here and pout around. I’m not going to give any of that type of energy to it. I’m just going to … stand on it, stand on the performance we put out here. It’s all about how we respond at this point.”

In 2018, the Titans responded with four straight victories, which set the stage for a showdown against Indianapolis for the last AFC playoff spot in the final game of the season.

The Colts won that day, but Tennessee has not missed out on the postseason since and has shown real resolve. Each subsequent season has included at least one win streak of four games or more and losses have not been compiled with more losses – until now.

“I was excited about coming back home and excited about playing against a division opponent,” Vrabel said. “I thought we were prepared. I don't know what it says about this. We understand that there are going to be some ups and downs. We are going to have to be able to weather the storm and find out who is willing to give us that extra push here down the stretch.

“… It is about consistency in this league, whether you win or you lose. Unfortunately, we lost. It is about finding a level of consistency, that we show up (Monday) ready to make corrections, be honest, and try to get things fixed so that we can move forward and prepare to win a football game. That is all we do whether we win or we lose.”

FIVE TAKEAWAYS FROM LOSS TO JAGUARS

SI.COM
DECEMBER 11, 2022

NASHVILLE – One of the league’s most successful regular-season teams over the last half decade, the Tennessee Titans will wake up with an unfamiliar feeling on Monday – losers of three straight games.

A 36-22 loss to the Jacksonville Jaguars on Sunday gave the Titans their first three-game losing streak since Oct. of 2018 when they fell to Buffalo, Baltimore and the Los Angeles Chargers in succession.

“Not a place you want to be in, yeah, not a place that anybody of us walking into this building thought that we were going to be in today,” Titans quarterback Ryan Tannehill said. “You don’t take care of the ball, you don’t get turnovers on the other side, don’t get stops, can’t stop points, you’re going to lose.

“Channel this frustration, channel this anger, channel this emotion. Put it together, stick together and find a way to win next week.”

Added defensive lineman Jeffery Simmons: “It’s going to be about our culture. Everything’s going to show now. We’re going to see what type of team we have.”

Here are five takeaways from the Titans’ loss to the Jags:

Turnovers hurt – on both sides of the ball

Anyone who watched could see that turnovers played a massive difference in the game.

The Titans’ offense turned the ball over four times – twice on Derrick Henry fumbles – and the Jaguars’ offense turned those turnovers into 20 points.

But let’s not let the defense off the hook.

Sunday’s game marked the fourth straight game that unit has not come up with an interception or fumble recovery. The Titans haven’t picked off a pass in four straight games, and they haven’t recovered an opponent’s fumble in seven straight games.

The last takeaway for the Titans’ defense came Nov. 13, when Terrance Mitchell picked off a desperation toss by Denver’s Russell Wilson in the closing seconds of that Tennessee victory.

The frustration was apparent on Jacksonville’s third touchdown of the first half. Cornerback Roger McCreary barely deflected quarterback Trevor Lawrence’s pass, and the ball went directly into the arms of Jaguars receiver Zay Jones for the score.

“We have to be able to get some turnovers,” coach Mike Vrabel said. “We have to be able to find a way to get our hand on the football. We batted one early on third down and then we batted one late, and then we had an interception that went through our hands that turned into a touchdown.”

Defense didn’t stop the bleeding

As referenced, the Titans tripped all over themselves in the first half against the Jaguars, turning the ball over three times – once on a Tannehill strip sack, next on a Tannehill interception and yet again on a Henry fumble following a reception.

It’s hard for any team to overcome that type of play by its offense.

But the Titans might have been in the game longer had their defense done better with sudden-change stops following those turnovers.

On the Titans’ first turnover, the defense surrendered a touchdown on a three-play drive that took just 45 seconds.

On the second turnover, the Titans’ defense did stall Jacksonville’s offense a bit, forcing the Jaguars to kick a field goal, one that still left Tennessee with a 14-10 lead.

But there was no excuse for the Titans’ defense when it took the field following the third turnover.

On the ensuing possession, the Jaguars drove 78 yards on six plays, scoring the go-ahead touchdown with just 11 seconds left in the first half.

Jacksonville scored 17 points off turnovers in the first half, 20 points off turnovers in the game.

“We turned over the ball, true enough,” Simmons said. “But we talk about sudden change. We have to be better, especially when we turn over the ball. We have to at least try to go out there and (only give up) a field goal. But we didn’t do that. I think that’s where it starts, finding a way to get the drive stopped to kick field goals.”

Where’s the heat?

Remember when the Titans’ defensive calling card was harassing opposing quarterbacks – usually without need of a blitz?

In the Titans’ win over Denver on Nov. 13, they nearly broke Wilson into pieces, sacking him six times and hitting him 18 times.

Since then? It’s been a different story, as was illustrated Sunday when the Titans totaled zero sacks and just one quarterback hit against Lawrence.

That means over the past four weeks, the Titans have a combined 11 quarterback hits and four sacks against the Packers, Bengals, Eagles and Jaguars.

Part of the problem, of course, is that defensive lineman Denico Autry was injured in the loss to the Packers and has missed the past three games.

Another issue is that Simmons is clearly hampered by his ankle injury.

In his first six games – including the game he initially hurt the ankle against Indianapolis – Simmons totaled 24 tackles, 4.5 sacks and 24 quarterback pressures. In his last six games, Simmons has 17 tackles (zero against Jacksonville), two sacks and eight quarterback pressures. He did knock down two passes against the Jaguars.

The bottom line is that the Titans have allowed opposing quarterbacks to get way too comfortable in the pocket. Lawrence, for example, completed 30-of-42 passes for 368 yards and three touchdowns.

“There’s no secret to affecting the quarterback,” Vrabel said. “You got to have some guys that go and rush and get him. When we pressure, we have to be able to get there. We have to get there quicker and then coverage is going to have to allow for an extra count or a pump or a hitch. But that’s where it’s at. There’s no secret to that.”

A new challenger in the AFC South?

The Titans had won five straight games against Jacksonville, nine of 10 overall, and had beaten the Jaguars eight straight times at Nissan Stadium.

That’s a pretty long stretch of dominance over one team.

In addition, the Titans had become the bullies of the AFC South over the past three seasons, running up a 13-2 division record since the start of the 2020 season.

One game doesn’t necessarily signify a trend in the opposite direction, but the Jaguars certainly delivered a punch in the mouth to the two-time AFC South champions.

Jacksonville piled up 428 yards of total offense, scored on five straight possessions at one point – outscoring the Titans 26-0 during that stretch -- and held the Titans to eight points in the second half.

A Tennessee victory would have eliminated the Jaguars from contending for the division title, but Jacksonville (5-8-0) now has a little bit of life.

The Titans’ last four games are at the Los Angeles Chargers, home against Houston, home against Dallas and at the Jaguars. The Jaguars’ last four games are home against Dallas, at the New York Jets, at Houston and hosting the Titans (7-6-0).

It still seems highly unlikely the Titans would manage to lose control of the division, but if nothing else, the Jaguars served notice on Sunday they are no longer pushovers.

Rushing resurgence wasted

Heading into Sunday’s game, Henry and the Titans’ running game were going through significant struggles.

Since Henry’s 56-yard run in the second quarter against Kansas City on Nov. 6, Henry had gone 86 carries – over four games -- without a run of more than 10 yards. His totals in his four games before Sunday were 86 carries for 235 yards, an average of 2.7 yards per carry.

But Henry broke out in a big way during the first half against Jacksonville, carrying 14 times for 119 yards – a total that included a 50-yard run.

Unfortunately for Henry and the Titans, they couldn’t stick to their ground-and-pound in the second half, not after the Jaguars took 7:07 off the clock on their initial third-quarter drive, eventually scoring a touchdown and opening a 27-14 lead. Jacksonville later went up 33-14.

With the Titans needing to go to the air to overcome a three-touchdown deficit, Henry was limited to three carries for two yards in the second half – finishing with 17 carries for 121 yards.

“We were moving the ball effectively the whole first half,” Tannehill said. “Just shot ourselves in the foot with turnovers. Each time we were kind of getting in the groove, getting rolling … and then had the turnovers.

16 TREYLON BURKS

WIDE RECEIVER • 6'2" • 225 LBS • COLLEGE: ARKANSAS
ACQUIRED: 1ST ROUND - 2022
NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): ROOKIE • HOMETOWN: WARREN, ARK.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 8/4 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans selected Treylon Burks in the first round (18th overall) of the 2022 NFL Draft. The 6-foot-2-inch, 225-pounder brings a rare combination of size, speed and sure hands. The Arkansas product is a powerful runner with the ball in his hands, and he can be used all over the offensive formation as well as in the return game. In three college seasons (2019-21), he became the sixth all-time leading receiver in Razorbacks history (146 receptions for 2,399 yards) and tied for the fifth-most touchdown catches in school annals (18). He was drafted with the highest pick of any Arkansas player since Darren McFadden was taken fourth overall in 2008, and he was the first Arkansas wide receiver to be selected in the first round since Matt Jones was taken 21st overall by Jacksonville in 2006.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:
• As a junior at Arkansas in 2021, Burks was named first-team All-SEC after totaling 66 receptions (seventh in the SEC) for 1,104 yards (fourth) and 11 touchdowns (fourth). His 92.0 receiving yards per game ranked third in the SEC behind only Jameson Williams (104.8) and Wan'Dale Robinson (102.6).

PRO: Since the Titans selected Kevin Byard with the first pick of the third round in the 2016 NFL Draft, he has established himself as one of the premier safeties in the NFL and one of the best at his position in franchise history. During his first six seasons, he contributed to six consecutive winning seasons and did not miss a single game. He finished the 2021 campaign as a three-time team captain, two-time Pro Bowl selection and a two-time Associated Press first-team All-Pro. His interception total was 11th on the franchise's all-time list and sixth among all Titans/Oilers safeties. From 2017 through 2021, Byard led all NFL safeties and ranked third among all players with 23 interceptions. The 5-foot-11-inch, 212-pound defender is a product of Middle Tennessee State University, where he earned a reputation as a sideline-to-sideline, ball-hawking safety who plays with tremendous intelligence and effort.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2021, Byard was announced as a starter to his second career Pro Bowl and earned first-team Associated Press All-Pro honors for the second time in his career. He joined Bruce Matthews (1999–2000) and Albert Haynesworth (2007–2008) as the franchise's only players in its "Titans era" (since 1999) to earn multiple first-team AP All-Pro honors.
• At the conclusion of 2021, Byard's 88 consecutive starts in the regular season was the leading current streak among all Titans players, ranked first in the NFL among defenders, and was the sixth-longest active streak among all players.
• Byard led the Titans in 2021 with five interceptions and 88 tackles, becoming the franchise's first player to lead the team in tackles and interceptions in the same season since the team began tracking individual tackle statistics in 1974. It was his second consecutive season to lead the club in tackles and the fourth time in his career he was the interceptions leader. Additionally, his 13 passes defensed made up the highest total among NFL safeties.
• He scored his first two career touchdowns in 2021—one on a fumble return and one on an interception return—to become the first Titans player with two defensive touchdowns in the same season since linebacker Zach Brown in 2012.
• In 2020, Byard was named the team's Walter Payton Man of the Year for his work in the community.
• Byard led the team and set a career-high in 2020 with 111 tackles.
• From 2017 through 2019, Byard led the NFL with 17 interceptions.
• In 2019, Byard led the team in interceptions (five) for the third consecutive season, while starting every contest for the third consecutive season.
• In 2018, Byard led the team with four interceptions and ranked third on the team with 96 tackles and 10 passes defensed.
• In 2017, Byard was named to the Pro Bowl and earned first-team Associated Press All-Pro honors after tying Detroit's Darius Slay for the NFL lead with eight interceptions. He added a pair of fumble recoveries to pace the league with 10 total takeaways.
• His eight interceptions in 2017 tied for seventh in franchise history and made up the highest total by any franchise player since Oilers cornerback Richard Johnson picked off eight passes in 1990.
• In 2016, Byard saw action in all 16 games with seven starts and compiled 63 tackles, a sack, five tackles for loss, three quarterback pressures, four passes defensed and 10 special teams tackles. His seven starts were the most by a Titans rookie safety since Michael Griffin (10) in 2007.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• In May 2022, Martin Luther King Jr. High School in Lithonia, Ga., renamed its updated athletic facilities in Byard's honor. Byard graduated from the school in 2011.
• Along with his wife, Clarke, Byard has made a profound impact in the Nashville community through the Byard Family Legacy Fund. With the mission to "provide ALL families and individuals in our community with hope, making sure everyone who needs it gets a second chance," the organization annually holds a back-to-school program, Thanksgiving dinner, Christmas fundraiser and football camp. It also changes lives through the "Grace Grant," which provides funds to individuals or organizations who need a second chance.
• In 2021, the Byard Family Legacy Fund used its "Grace Grant" to renovate the Davidson County Department of Children's Services' Safe Room. The room is designed to help reduce trauma for children who come into custody for child abuse and/or child neglect.
• In April 2022, Byard served as the honorary chair for the Rally Foundation for Childhood Cancer Research's annual event called "Rally On the Runway," which helped raise more than $556,000 to fund research and aid families with children fighting cancer.
• In July 2020, Byard was named the official spokesperson for the United Way of Greater Nashville. His first order of business was to participate in the organization's virtual Stuff the Bus school supply drive.
• In August 2020, Byard assisted his wife, Clarke, in the unintentional home birth of their son, Kevin Leon Byard IV. After realizing they were not going to be able to make it to the hospital and their doula needing 30 minutes to get to their home, Byard sprung into action with instructions from the doula. The first: "Let's try and get her in the bathtub." But by this time, his son's head was already visible. The doula told him, "Tell her to start pushing. The baby is coming." Byard recalled: "His face was pointing upward, so I could see his face was real purple. I was nervous about that, so she told me to support his head." In less than 15 minutes, he was holding Kevin IV in his arms. "Once he got his head out, his shoulders and everything just kind of slipped out, and I kind of caught him in my arms. He waited about five seconds, coughed about two or three times, and started crying."
• Byard credits his mother, the late Artina Stanley, for much of his success. Following a divorce when Byard was in ninth grade, his mother moved with the children from Philadelphia to Atlanta. Although it was a financial struggle, Stanley worked long hours to make sure her children received what they needed. Byard claims he and his older brother "had to grow up really fast" as they helped their mother with taking care of the younger kids in the family. In May 2020, Byard was able to accomplish a goal of helping to purchase his mother a new home. She passed away in June 2022.
• The Titans had an inside track in their scouting of Byard. Titans general manager Jon Robinson received glowing reports on Byard from his friend and MTSU recruiting coordinator Steve Ellis. When Robinson was a linebackers coach at Nicholls State, Ellis was one of his pupils, and the two remained close through the years. Additionally, Patrick Callaway, college scout for the Titans, was Byard's high school teammate.
• Byard says his football role models are Ed Reed, Brian Dawkins and Troy Polamalu.
• Byard has aspirations to travel the world, and his bucket list includes setting foot on every continent.

38 DAVONTAE HARRIS

CORNERBACK • 5'11" • 205 LBS • COLLEGE: ILLINOIS STATE
ACQUIRED: FREE AGENT - 2022 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 5/1
HOMETOWN: WICHITA, KAN.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 39/9 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans signed Davontae (duh-VAHN-tay) Harris to the team's practice squad during Week 11 of the 2022 season. The 5-foot-11-inch, 205-pounder has appeared in 36 career games with nine starts for the Cincinnati Bengals (2018), Denver Broncos (2019-20), Baltimore Ravens (2020), Los Angeles Chargers (2021) and San Francisco 49ers (2021). His career totals include 49 tackles, four passes defensed, one forced fumble and 10 special teams stops. The Wichita, Kan., native was originally selected by the Bengals as a fifth-round pick (151st overall) in the 2018 NFL Draft.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Entering his senior season at Wichita South High School, Harris was a top athlete and highly sought-after football recruit, with several Power Five schools showing interest. But early in his senior season, Harris took a cleat to the stomach while attempting a tackle. At first, he didn't think the damage was severe, but later that night he was taken to the hospital and rushed into emergency surgery. He had ruptured his intestine in two places, and it was so severe that doctors told him if he hadn't come to the hospital that night, he could have died. Needless to say, his high school football career ended abruptly, and interest from those Power Five schools suddenly disappeared. Even Harris thought his playing days could be over. But Illinois State stuck with him. Harris joined ISU on scholarship in 2013 and took a redshirt season before returning to game action for the first time in 2014. He would go on to play in 49 career games for the Redbirds and earn All-American recognition, before being selected in the fifth round of the 2018 NFL Draft.

60 BEN JONES

CENTER • 6'3" • 308 LBS • COLLEGE: GEORGIA
ACQUIRED: UNRESTRICTED FREE AGENT (HOU) - 2016
NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 11/7 • HOMETOWN: BRENT, ALA.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 171/150 (PLAYOFFS: 10/10)

Captain: 2019, 2022

Community Man of the Year: 2019

PRO: The Titans signed Ben Jones early in the 2016 free agency period to bring veteran leadership and experience to the center position. Since then he has been one of the steadiest and most dependable players on the team. The 6-foot-3-inch, 308-pounder was originally selected by the Houston Texans in the fourth round (99th overall) of the 2012 NFL Draft. From 2012 through 2021, Jones appeared in 160 of 161 possible regular season games, including starts in all but one game during his first six seasons in Tennessee. From 2016 through 2021, the Titans averaged 137.7 rushing yards per game, posting the second-highest average in the NFL behind only the Baltimore Ravens (150.6). The University of Georgia product is a versatile player, having started contests at center and both guard spots in his first four seasons with the Texans.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• Jones has started games at center, left guard and right guard during his NFL career and has opened holes for an 1,000-yard rusher in six different seasons.
• From 2016 through 2021, Jones was one of only eight offensive linemen to start at least 96 of a possible 97 games.
• Jones started all 17 games in 2021 and helped the Titans finish fifth in the NFL in rushing (141.4 rushing yards per game), marking the fifth time in his first six seasons in Tennessee that he helped the offense rank in the top five in rushing. The Titans joined the Dallas Cowboys and Indianapolis Colts as the only teams in those six seasons to produce four individual 1,000-yard rushing seasons—three by Derrick Henry and one by DeMarco Murray.
• In 2020, Jones started every game at center and was a part of an offense that tied for the second-overall ranking in the NFL (396.4 yards per game), finished second in rushing (168.1), and allowed the sixth-fewest sacks (25). He helped pave the way for Derrick Henry to produce the NFL's eighth all-time 2,000-yard rushing season (2,027).
• In 2019, Jones started 15 games at center and helped Derrick Henry lead the NFL with 1,540 rushing yards.
• In Week 9 of the 2019 season, Jones missed the first game of his eight-year NFL career when he was inactive due to injury. It ended his streak of 120 consecutive games played and 88 consecutive starts. At the time, Jones' consecutive games streak tied Kansas City's Mitchell Schwartz for the longest active streak in the NFL among offensive linemen, and his starting streak ranked first in the NFL among all centers.
• Jones made a career-high three postseason starts in 2019.
• In 2018, Jones started all 16 games at center, registering five consecutive seasons with a start in every contest (2014-15 with Houston).
• Jones appeared in his 100th career game in Week 4 of the 2018 season.
• In 2016, Jones centered all 16 games in his first campaign with the Titans and was a part of an offensive front that blocked for the NFL's third-ranked rushing attack which averaged 136.7 rush yards per game.
• In 2015, Jones transitioned to his natural position of center and started all 16 games and the playoff contest for the Texans.
• In 2014, Jones started all 16 contests at left guard.
• As a rookie in 2012, Jones started the final 10 games of the season at right guard and was named the Texans Rookie of the Year.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Jones switched from jersey #61 to #60 prior to his senior season at Georgia, to honor his father, Steve, a former collegiate star, who was killed in a helicopter crash when he was 10 years old.
• Jones' pregame ritual consists of walking barefoot on the field "to get a feel for the turf." The routine began before one game with his brother in high school and after enjoying success that night, it has continued ever since.
• When he was 10 years old, Jones suffered a blow to the head with a baseball bat. The impact caused a blood clot to develop on his brain and fractured his skull. The injury kept him out of all athletic activity for a year, proving to be a challenging time for an active and athletic boy. Although it was a tough period in his life, Ben says this time turned him into the man he is today. As soon as he was cleared for activities, Jones threw himself into being the best athlete he could be.
• In 2017, Jones established The Jones Mission Fund at The Community Foundation to provide at-risk youth with opportunities they might otherwise not have through grants, additional resources and educational opportunities.
• During the offseason, Jones and his wife host the annual Ben Jones Celebrity Clay Shoot. The event has raised more than $400,000 benefitting The Jones Mission Fund.
• Jones hosts a free Friday Night Lights youth football camp in his native Alabama every June.
• Jones sponsors a trip to a Titans game each fall for the seniors of his high school's football team in Alabama. The experience includes round trip transportation from his hometown, tickets, a private tailgate, swag bags, and a meet-and-greet with a tour of the Titans practice facility after the game with Jones.
• Jones' brother, Clay, played baseball for the University of Alabama and then was drafted by the Detroit Tigers.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• A native of Brent, Ala., Jones was originally selected by the Houston Texans in the fourth round (99th overall) of the 2012 NFL Draft.
• Signed by the Titans as an unrestricted free agent on March 10, 2016.

NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 4/4 • HOMETOWN: MACON, MISS.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 53/51 (PLAYOFFS: 5/2)

Captain: 2021, 2022 Pro Bowl: 2021

PRO: The Titans selected Jeffery Simmons with the 19th overall pick in the 2019 NFL Draft. By the end of his third season, he was a team captain, a Pro Bowl selection and a second-team All-Pro honoree—all prior to his 25th birthday. From 2019 to 2021, he appeared in 41 total games (39 starts), including starts in all 17 games in 2021. The 6-foot-4, 305-pound defensive lineman provides a rare blend of size, power and quickness, making him a disruptive force in the middle of the defense. He was a first-team All-SEC selection as a sophomore and junior at Mississippi State, adding second-team All-American honors as a junior. Following his junior season, he declared for the NFL Draft.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2021, Simmons was named a team captain for the first time in his career, and he went on to become one of six players on the roster to start all 17 games. He was named to his first career Pro Bowl and added Associated Press second-team All-Pro honors after setting career highs in several categories, including sacks (8.5), tackles (54), quarterback pressures (58), tackles for loss (12) and passes defensed (six). Among all defensive tackles in the NFL, his 8.5 sacks ranked sixth.
• Simmons was one of only five NFL players to produce at least 50 tackles, eight sacks and six passes defensed in 2021, joining Maxx Crosby, Cameron Jordan, Cameron Heyward and T.J. Watt. Simmons and Heyward were the only interior defensive linemen in the league to accomplish the feat.
• In a divisional playoff game against Cincinnati on Jan. 22, 2022, he set a franchise postseason record with three sacks.
• In 2020, Simmons started 15 games at defensive tackle for the Titans and tied for the NFL lead with three defensive fumble recoveries. He also ranked second on the team with three sacks and 20 quarterback pressures.
• As a rookie in 2019, Simmons totaled 40 tackles, two sacks, two tackles for loss, 14 quarterback pressures and one pass defensed in nine games (seven starts). He added four tackles, three quarterback pressures and a fumble recovery in three playoff contests.
• As a junior in 2018, Simmons was named first team All-SEC and second team All-American after totaling 63 tackles, 17 tackles for loss and two sacks. His 17 tackles for loss led the team, ranked fourth in the SEC and were the third-most in single-season school history.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• In July 2022, the official ribbon cutting was held at the Jeffery B. Simmons Field House at Noxubee County High School in Macon, Miss. Simmons donated more than $50,000 to upgrade his former high school's athletic facilities. During the same week, he donated $75,000 to Starkville (Miss.) Parks and Recreation to be used for a new turf field at the Starkville Sportsplex. The field was also named in his honor.
• During college, Simmons was a two-time member of the SEC Academic Honor Roll.
• Simmons' brother, Dylan Bradley, played football at Southern Miss and then spent time with the Minnesota Vikings. His uncle, Jason Hatcher, played 10 total seasons with the Dallas Cowboys and Washington Football Team.
• Away from football, Simmons enjoys fishing and spending time outdoors.
• Simmons holds an annual youth football camp in Mississippi.

4 RYAN STONEHOUSE

PUNTER • 5'10" • 193 LBS • COLLEGE: COLORADO STATE
ACQUIRED: FREE AGENT - 2022 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): ROOKIE
HOMETOWN: LA VERNE, CALIF.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 13/0 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans signed Ryan Stonehouse as an undrafted free agent following the 2022 NFL Draft to add competition to the punting position. The 5-foot-10-inch, 193-pounder put together an impressive training camp performance, unseating the incumbent Brett Kern, who had been the club's punter since 2009. Stonehouse appeared in 53 games over five seasons at Colorado State (2017-21) and is the NCAA career record holder for gross punt average (47.8). The La Verne, Calif., native's career totals include 244 punts for 11,656 yards (47.8 avg), including a long of 81 yards, and he tallied 90 punts placed inside the 20-yard line and 106 punts of 50+ yards. Stonehouse became the first player in Colorado State history to log 11,000 punting yards in a career.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:
• In 2021, Stonehouse set the NCAA career punt average record by concluding his career at 47.8 average yards per attempt.
• As a graduate in 2021, Stonehouse logged a career-long punt of 81 yards and was a semi-finalist for the Ray Guy Award, given to the nation's best collegiate punter.
• Stonehouse earned All-Mountain West honors all five seasons at Colorado State: second team (2021), first team (2018-20), and honorable mention All-Mountain West (2017).

TITANS TIDBITS:
• Stonehouse comes from a lineage of punters. His father, Paul, was an All-American punter for Stanford. His uncle, John Stonehouse was an All-American punter at Southern California and was signed by the New York Giants as a rookie free agent in 1996. His uncle, Jeff Banks, was a punter at Washington State. His younger cousin, Jack, is a punter at Missouri.
• Stonehouse's father, Paul, and uncle, John, used to teach punting at their camp, The Kicking Game, and through private lessons. The camp's website houses testimonials from coaches Bill Walsh, John Robinson, Paul Pasqualoni and Mike Price.
• Uncle, Jeff Banks, is the assistant head coach/tight ends coach/special teams coordinator at Texas.
• As a craftsman, Stonehouse built an outdoor kitchen in his home, that is owned by his grandmother, and it is complete with two different cooking areas, a sink, granite countertops, it is made out of wood and brick and is even wired for lighting.
• During COVID, Stonehouse purchased an old Ford van for $750 and is converting it into a vehicle that could potentially serve as a home, expecting to flip it and sell it for profit.
• Stonehouse is passionate about fostering dogs. Prior to the start of COVID, he had organized a camp at Colorado state with all profits intended to benefit "The Good Dog Rescue," an organization that aims to save dogs from high kill shelters and place them in foster homes.
• A native Californian, Stonehouse can surf.

93 TEAIR TART

DEFENSIVE TACKLE • 6'2" • 304 LBS
COLLEGE: FLORIDA INTERNATIONAL • ACQUIRED: FREE AGENT - 2020
NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 3/3 • HOMETOWN: PHILADELPHIA, PA.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 31/24 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans signed Teair Tart (first name pronounced "tee-AIR") as a rookie free agent following the 2020 NFL Draft. In his first two NFL seasons, he participated in 18 games with 11 starts. Prior to entering the NFL, the 6-foot-2-inch, 304-pounder appeared in 23 games with 10 starts over two seasons at Florida International (2018-19), where he totaled 51 tackles, 19.0 tackles for loss, six sacks, one pass defensed, five quarterback pressures and two forced fumbles.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Tart traveled an unlikely road to the NFL. He played two years of high school basketball in his hometown of Philadelphia, Pa., at Palmer Leadership Learning Partners Charter School—a school that did not have a football program. Prior to his junior year, West Philadelphia High School's defensive coordinator, Karl Patrick, saw Tart playing in a basketball tournament and eventually convinced him to transfer and begin playing football for the first time in his life. Two years later, Tart continued his football career at ASA College in New York but left six games into his first season after an older brother, Rasheed Spencer, was tragically killed in a motorcycle accident. Time passed, and Tart headed to Valley Forge (Pa.) Military Academy, followed by stops at East Mississippi Community College and Ellsworth (Iowa) Community College before finding a home for his final two collegiate campaigns at Florida International.
• Tart is the second youngest of 11 children in his family.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Philadelphia, Pa., native was signed by the Titans as a rookie free agent on May 7, 2020.
• Waived by the Titans on Sept. 5, 2020 and signed to the practice squad a day later.
• Signed by the Titans to their active roster from the practice squad on Nov. 7, 2020.

SEASON RECAPS:

2022 (13/13): Tied for third on the team with five passes defensed. Has led or tied for the team lead in passes defensed three times in 2022 (vs. LV, at IND, at WAS).
• Against N.Y. Giants (9/11), started at nose tackle and posted two tackles with two quarterback pressures.
• At Buffalo (9/19), started at nose tackle and collected a tackle for loss and a quarterback pressure. Stonewalled Devin Singletary for a five-yard loss on a rush off left guard in the second quarter.
• Against Las Vegas (9/25), started at nose tackle and notched a tackle, a quarterback pressure and a pass defensed. Batted down a pass intended to Davante Adams late in the fourth quarter.

OUTSIDE LINEBACKER • 6'4" • 259 LBS • COLLEGE: PITTSBURGH
ACQUIRED: 4TH ROUND - 2021 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 2/2
HOMETOWN: FORT LAUDERDALE, FLA.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 14/2 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans selected Rashad Weaver in the fourth round of the 2021 NFL Draft. The 6-foot-4-inch, 259-pound defender missed the majority of his rookie campaign after suffering a season-ending injury in the third game of the season. The University of Pittsburgh product is capable of causing disruption in both the run and pass game, and displays a high motor and good length at the position. The Fort Lauderdale, Fla., native was a consensus All-American, a Bednarik Award semifinalist, and earned first-team All-ACC honors as a senior with the Panthers in 2020 after totaling 35 tackles, 14.5 tackles for loss, 7.5 sacks, 12 quarterback pressures, three forced fumbles and a fumble recovery in nine games.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2020, Weaver was named a consensus All-American after garnering first-team All-America honors from four of the NCAA's recognized selectors: Associated Press, American Football Coaches Association, Football Writers Association of America and Walter Camp Football Foundation. He was the 52nd consensus All-American in school history and the first Pitt defensive player to earn that distinction since Aaron Donald in 2013.
• As a senior in 2020, Weaver was a Bednarik Award semifinalist, earned All-ACC honors, and was awarded first-team All-America recognition by CBS Sports, ESPN, Phil Steele and Pro Football Focus after tallying 35 tackles, 14.5 tackles for loss, 7.5 sacks, three forced fumbles and a fumble recovery in nine games.
• In 2018, Weaver led Pitt in sacks (6.5), tackles for loss (14), and fumble recoveries (three). He tied for the ACC lead and ranked sixth nationally in fumble recoveries.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Prior to being drafted by the Titans, Weaver was introduced to future teammate and fellow pass rusher Bud Dupree. The pair share a financial advisor and were able to form a relationship in Arizona while training at the same facility and discussed ACL recovery.
• Weaver lists rehabbing a torn ACL during the pandemic as the biggest challenge he has had to overcome in his football career. He worked on 'staying focused even not knowing if there was going to be a season and even just finding locations to do my rehab work when everything shut down.'
• He was a member of Pitt's prestigious Blue & Gold Society, an undergraduate organization composed of top students who serve as ambassadors for the university and Pitt Alumni Association.
• Prior to the NFL Draft, Weaver trained in the martial art of Krav Maga.
• Weaver's grandmother has battled multiple sclerosis since he was in a middle school.
• While at Pitt, Weaver participated in the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society's Race to Anyplace Fundraiser with the same girl, Lili, for three consecutive years. Weaver and Lili struck up a friendship and are frequently in touch.
• Weaver and his best friend started a clothing line called Dreams to Reality which can be found on Instagram @d2r.shop.
• Weaver grew up in Indiana but moved to Florida prior to his sophomore year of high school. He wore No. 17 because he played quarterback and wanted a number right before Peyton Manning's No. 18. Weaver circled back to No. 17 in college, and 'I thought it was a cool number for an edge rusher.'

TENNESSEE TITANS

DENICO AUTRY

AS TENNESSEE TITANS' DENICO AUTRY RETURNS TO INDY, DON'T FORGET THE SMALL TOWN THAT MADE HIM

BY BEN ARTHUR
THE TENNESSEAN
OCTOBER 29, 2021

Denico Autry made Patrick Mahomes feel him.

Facing a third-and-long deep in Tennessee Titans territory late in the third quarter last Sunday, and looking at a 24-point deficit, the Chiefs needed a touchdown to keep any hope of a comeback alive. But Autry ruined the chance. Mahomes dropped back and Autry, beating rookie right guard Trey Smith on the inside, wrapped him up for a sack before he could step up in the pocket.

Autry wasn't done, either.

In the fourth quarter, Kansas City was again deep in Tennessee territory, facing a third-and-long. And Autry again sacked Mahomes, wrapping him by the legs.

It was the punctuation to a thorough beating of the 2018 MVP by the Titans' pass rush.

At the heart of it was Autry.

"That was the number one key (against Kansas City), put pressure on the quarterback," Autry said postgame.

The 6-foot-5, 285-pound Autry, one of the Titans' marquee free-agent signings to fix a defense had been one of the league's worst, has been as advertised for Tennessee (5-2) entering its Week 8 showdown Sunday (noon CT, CBS) against Autry's former team: the rival Indianapolis Colts (3-4).

Autry leads the Titans in quarterback knockdowns (7) and ranks second in sacks (3.5), tackles for loss (5), hurries (8) and pressures (19).

He had his best game of the season in the signature victory over the Chiefs, with a team-leading two sacks and four quarterback hits.

"We're asking him to do some things and learn terminology and now you can see him kind of hit his comfort zone," said Titans defensive line coach Terrell Williams.

Autry's early years

Autry grew up an hour east of Charlotte in Albemarle, North Carolina, a small town of about 16,000 people. He lived in the neighborhood of Amhurst on the southeast part of town, a violent area during Autry's youth. There were drugs and gang violence. Gunshots were common at night.

Autry's mother, LaSonya, kept him off the streets. His football coaches at Albemarle High School and volunteer policemen who worked with the program kept an eye on him, too.

Anytime Autry – and his teammates – did anything outside of the house, they knew about it within 15 minutes. If Autry was hanging out on the corner at night, they'd pick him up and take him to get a burger. Whatever it took to keep him out of trouble.

"He probably had every opportunity in the world to go down the wrong road. And he ended up making right turns all the time," recalled Baxter Morris, Autry's football coach in high school. "You had to keep an eye because there was a lot of influence out there that they could fall victim to. He never did. He was always pretty much in the straight and narrow. He was never in trouble in school.

"He pulled back away from even some people that he always considered his friends in elementary school, middle school and stuff. He just didn't run with them in high school because some of them didn't make it. Some of them went the other way."

Sports kept Autry busy.

In addition to football, he played basketball and ran track all four years of high school. At 6-foot-5 and around 220 pounds, Autry did the 300-meter hurdles and 400-meter races in track. He had hands so big he could palm a basketball in both hands and wave them around. On the gridiron, he played defensive end, tight end, receiver and played on special teams.

"He could fly," recalled Morris. "He was a rocket ship."

Autry drew inspiration to commit to football from the Albemarle community.

"It's a big football town," said Autry. "Watching the guys before me coming up and seeing how they were doing things, where they were going to school. It made me want to be like those guys and go farther."

Versatility helps Autry

Autry's versatility translated as he climbed the football ranks.

Autry is officially listed as a defensive lineman for the Titans, but he plays outside linebacker too. He rushes inside and out. He can win with "multiple different moves," according to coach Mike Vrabel.

The 31-year-old veteran has averaged half a sack per game since 2018.

"It wasn't a hard decision for us to find a way for him to fit into our game," said outside linebackers coach Ryan Crow. "He showed up and we knew kind of knew what he was."

The Titans produced a stinker in their Week 4 loss to the Jets, but Autry gave them a chance to win in overtime, when he pushed Zach Wilson out of bounds on third-and-goal, forcing a field goal and giving the offense the ball back. In the Week 6 thriller against the Bills, it was Autry's hit on Josh Allen in the second quarter that led to a momentum-changing interception by safety Kevin Byard.

The Titans' four-man front of Autry, Jeffery Simmons, Harold Landry and a healthier Bud Dupree has flashed brilliance the last couple weeks.

"I think he's a big, long body in there who's able to get some push in the middle of the pocket," said defensive coordinator Shane Bowen. "You're not seeing quarterbacks being able to step up a lot. A lot of the sacks are happening pretty deep, right? So guys aren't really able to step up, which kind of bodes well for us.

"Then he's athletic for a big dude. He's quick, he's able to get on edges. He's got some quick twitch to him, where he's able to work side to side and find ways off of blockers late in the down to get to the quarterback."

Facing the Colts, his old team

Autry won't forget the Colts let him walk.

That's what he made clear at his Titans introductory press conference in March. The soft-spoken Autry recorded 20 sacks in three seasons with Indianapolis (2018-20), including a team-high nine in 2018.

"That makes it real personal," Autry said at the time. "They knew what they had. It is what it is."

Autry on Sunday will face the Colts for the second time this season, but for the first time Indianapolis, a critical game for the Titans to gain separation in the AFC South standings.

Vrabel acknowledged that players going up against their former team can be emotional games, but expressed confidence in Autry's ability to deliver.

"I trust that Denico and everybody else for that matter, I think everybody is going to be pretty tuned up whether they played for the Colts previously or not," said Vrabel. "Denico has done everything we have asked him to do, and I am excited to watch him prepare this week and ultimately play on Sunday."

Perform is what he's always done.

Autry had poor grades coming out of high school, but he attended East Mississippi Community College, where he was an NJCAA All-American and helped lead the school to a state and national title at the JUCO level.

He went undrafted out of Mississippi State, but he's had a productive NFL career, with 34 sacks and 55 tackles for loss across seven seasons and counting with the Raiders, Colts and Titans.

Tennessee appreciates Autry's approach to the game.

"He's a business guy," said Crow. "He brings his lunch pail. Goes really, really hard. If he needs to lead, he'll lead.

"That's what guys look up to: guys who've done it and can lead by example, but also speak up when they have to."

BREWER, AARON

THE TITANS NEW NOT AWFUL OFFENSIVE LINE AND THE BACK FLIP THAT HELPED REBUILD IT

BY JOE REXRODE
THE ATHLETIC
SEPTEMBER 8, 2022

Just five teams gave up fewer than the 25 sacks the Titans allowed in 2020. Just six teams gave up more than the 47 they allowed in 2021. And just about everyone who thinks this team won't make the postseason in 2022 points to that troubled group up front.

The Titans were sacked 8.79 percent of the time they dropped back last season, which also ranked 26th in the NFL, and that's right around where you'll find them in your favorite football site's preseason offensive line rankings for 2022. Pick an advanced stat, any advanced stat — how about an average of 2.59 seconds to throw in 2021, per TruMedia, which ranked 30th in the NFL? — and the conclusion is the same. The Titans addressed this issue by swapping out a veteran for a rookie at right tackle and one of the best run blockers in the game for an undersized, undrafted 2020 free agent out of Texas State at left guard.

That last point is the external assessment of Aaron Brewer, anyway. Internally, he's part of the case for a better offensive line in 2022, a surprisingly effective offense, the avoidance of the plummet most of the NFL seems to expect from the Titans after they earned the AFC's No. 1 seed last season. Left guard play may not be top of mind for fans when Tennessee hosts the Giants in Sunday's season opener, but it's a big deal. And this is the first opportunity for Brewer to really start validating the murmurs that have been coming out of Titans headquarters for a while.

As tough as anyone we've got …

Incredible quickness …

He and Taylor Lewan are going to be lethal together …

This guy's our center of the future …

I don't care how big he is …

For as long as Brewer starts in the NFL, be it a fraction of this season or the next 10 with some Pro Bowls sprinkled in, that's going to come up. He's listed at 6-foot-1, 295, or 21 pounds more than when the Titans signed him after the 2020 draft. It almost kept him out of the NFL. It made him consider trying to be a tight end in the NFL. It almost cost him an opportunity to play in the FBS. It kept Power 5 programs from paying any mind to him amid all the superstars at Dallas Skyline High. And if it wasn't for an eye-popping stunt he performed as a high school senior shortly before signing day in 2016, he probably wouldn't be a Tennessee Titan today.

Brewer was committed to Sam Houston State, an FCS program that will transition to FBS starting in 2023. He was known for his athletic feats, including the ability to pull off a standing back flip — impressive for anyone that size, let alone someone that size in full pads. One of Brewer's teammates took a video of him doing a flip. Brewer shared it on social media.

"I wasn't even thinking about doing anything like that, but I did it, I posted it and it just blew up," Brewer said. "Like 30 minutes later, Texas State called."

Texas State offensive line coach Adrian Mayes, in particular. He had been on the job a few days, hired by new head coach Everett Withers. Withers was brought in after a successful head coaching tenure at James Madison, which followed up his stint as Urban Meyer's co-defensive coordinator at Ohio State — sharing that title with Luke Fickell, working closely with defensive line coach Mike Vrabel.

Withers' staff had missed some official visit weekends and was scrambling to put together any kind of 2016 recruiting class. The flip wasn't the only endorsement of Brewer. Withers interviewed a student intern at Sam Houston State named Clayton Barnes for an offensive intern position with the Bobcats and asked if any of the committed Sam Houston State players might be worth a look. Barnes mentioned Brewer right away — very athletic, undersized, but also under-recruited because an injury caused him to miss the camp circuit in the summer before his senior season. Texas State got Brewer in on the last weekend for official visits before signing day.

"He did a back flip for us in the end zone," said John "Stretch" Streicher, then Withers' director of football operations and now the Titans' football development coordinator.

And pretty much from the start, Brewer was one of Texas State's best players. He started at all five offensive line positions in his four-year career — he was far better-suited to work on the interior, but he also happened to be the Bobcats' best tackle.

"Nasty disposition, phenomenal athlete, can bend, can move, can run, it was really shocking he was available to us at Texas State," said Withers, who is now chief of staff for Temple head coach Stan Drayton, another member of that Ohio State staff under Meyer. "His explosive power is as good as any big man I've ever been around. And he was just one of those guys — there wasn't a defensive lineman in the country he thought could whup his ass. Playing Arkansas, Houston, didn't matter, his competitive spirit was unquestionable. I'm trying to remember how many times I watched the tape and he actually just got beat."

Withers was fired after three seasons with a 7-28 record, though

Brewer credited him in those three years with doing exactly what a coach is supposed to do from an individual development standpoint.

“His mentality and his foundation on everything he had done and been through, it was really good for me as a young man,” Brewer said of Withers. “He helped me grow as a man and as a player in every aspect of the game. That respect, that discipline he taught me, that has taken me very far.”

When it was time to find out how far that might be in football, Brewer knew he probably wouldn’t be chosen in the 2020 NFL Draft. He had three opportunities as an undrafted free agent. The Titans, Patriots and Falcons had done homework on him and wanted to sign him.

“Stretch having been there with Everett and those coaches that we knew, it was a no-brainer really for us, to try to add him to our roster after the draft,” Vrabel said of Brewer.

The Titans and Patriots were interested in Brewer as an interior offensive lineman. The Falcons told him they wanted to look at him as a tight end after he ran a 4.79 at the Texas State pro day. And this admittedly intrigued him.

“I was real close to going there,” Brewer said of the Falcons, whose new tight end coach at the time, Ben Steele, told Brewer he thought he could make the transition to that position.

And this is where Streicher — whom Vrabel had hired away from Texas State when he got the Titans job in 2018 — gave the Titans an edge.

“Stretch’s relationship with Aaron was key,” Titans GM Jon Robinson told The Athletic. “That always helps when the draft is over and you’re in the recruiting process of trying to get guys to come here. In this case, it was advantageous to us.”

Streicher talked up the organization, the opportunity at hand and Vrabel — whom Brewer now says reminds him a lot of Withers as a head coach. Streicher also told Brewer he believed offensive line was his best bet in the NFL and that perhaps he could be a starting center in the league someday.

So the Titans got him. Withers texted Vrabel this message: “You’ve got yourself a tough son of a bitch.”

“Yeah, we think he’s our kind of guy,” Vrabel texted back.

Now the Titans will find out how much that means.

“In terms of the projection of where we thought he could be, I will say that when he first got here his actual play strength was better than I gave him credit for,” Robinson said. “Once he grips a guy, he has the ability to control him. You never know what trajectory, what path a player will take. But he was a guy who really took to heart all the things we thought were important from a technique standpoint. He’s worked on them. He’s a good teammate. He’s smart, all of that.”

Brewer, 24, has seen action in 24 games in his first two seasons, including six starts — three at left guard and three at right guard. He has acquitted himself well as a quality backup. That alone makes the finding and landing of him in the spring of 2020 a success. And the possibility that he could eventually succeed Ben Jones at center, whenever the 33-year-old Jones decides to hang it up, means this could be one of the memorable recruitments of Robinson’s tenure.

“When he lines up at center, you get a different look,” Titans defensive tackle Naquan Jones said of Brewer. “He’s able to put a lot of different things into his game, add a new speed aspect. He’s very quick off the ball, very good leverage, and he just makes sure everything is polished as far as technique and fundamentals. Being so quick off the ball, being so powerful with it, he’s not one of those guys you can just bull rush, just because he has a very strong lower body. It forces you to come off the ball and think quick, because he’s gonna get on you pretty fast.”

But the question right now is what Brewer can be to the 2022 team, trying for its third straight AFC South title, at left guard. He’s replacing an elite NFL run blocker, the 6-5, 325-pound Rodger Saffold, which is like a scatback replacing Derrick Henry. For as bad as the Titans were at pass blocking last season, they continued to mash in the run-blocking department, even when Henry wasn’t running the ball.

The preseason is a time for accolades, especially for new players or new starters whose play can’t yet contradict such accolades. Brewer has received plenty, including from the compliment-stingy Vrabel, who called him “tougher than a $2 steak.”

“That’s exactly what he is,” Lewan said of the new guy to his right, after three strong seasons of partnering with Saffold. “The guy comes to practice every single day, gives 100 percent effort and goes. He and Rodger have a lot of similarities in their game. Obviously their sizes are different, but Brew does a lot of great things, and I’m excited to play next to him.”

Brewer is also bendy like one would assume a steak at that price would be, Ben Jones saying of him: “He’s by far our most athletic guy. He’s special.”

“He’s a dog,” said Titans inside linebacker David Long Jr., another undersized find who has ascended to starting status for the Titans. “He has that mentality.”

Perhaps the strongest endorsement comes from the star player who battled Brewer all through camp. Jeffery Simmons and Saffold had some legendary encounters in preseasons past, some of them resulting in lost tempers. That wasn’t the dynamic with Simmons and Brewer, but heated competition was a daily sight. Folks in the organization who paid close attention were impressed by Brewer's ability to hang. Including Simmons.

"Their mindset is the same," Simmons said of Brewer and Saffold. "And when I say that, I really mean it. He has that mindset like a bigger guy, no matter how small he is. We had some great battles this camp. He got me some days, especially one-on-one blocking. And I got him some days. That's just props to him. He came each and every day to want to get better. I'd beat him and he'd say, 'Jeff, I want another rep.' That's what we look for from guys on our team, guys who want to compete."

He'll get his chance now, each week in this league, after encountering no serious threat to his starting position in camp. Brewer has done mostly good things with the Titans, but he has not yet been through a full-season rotation of dominant defensive tackles in this league nor worked to keep his weight up and his health strong amid that weekly grind. If he is what the Titans think he is, a brighter outlook for this offense line can at least be argued.

Rookie and third-round pick Nicholas Petit-Frere will still be a question at starting right tackle, but David Quessenberry gave up 11 sacks at that spot last season, per Pro Football Focus, the most among offensive tackles. Right guard Nate Davis has declared better health and expectations of a return to his 2020 form. Ben Jones keeps on trucking and leading the offense. Lewan is coming off a healthy offseason of work, not an offseason of ACL rehabilitation like a year ago, and he and Brewer can both move like few offensive linemen.

"We both have a lot of the same skill traits — both athletic, both twitchy — so us working together and putting it together, it's poetry," Brewer said. "It's gonna work every time. This whole camp, getting together and getting on the same page, when it's on all cylinders, it's teach tape."

It may not be must-see TV for Titans fans. But it's important. And if the Titans happen to score a touchdown or two Sunday, that's when fans should find No. 55. He said he is still completing the trick that got him noticed, with ease, in full pads.

"You might see something," Brewer said. "And you might be a little surprised."

TITANS KICKER RANDY BULLOCK NAMED AFC SPECIAL TEAMS PLAYER OF THE WEEK

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEETITANS.COM
OCTOBER 25, 2022

NASHVILLE – Titans kicker Randy Bullock has been named AFC Special Teams Player of the Week for Week 7.

The NFL made the news official on Wednesday morning, when the weekly award winners were announced on NFL Network's Good Morning Football.

Bullock had a big day on Sunday in the team's 19-10 win over the Colts.

Bullock made all four of his kicks against the Colts, from 27, 28, 38 and 48 yards. Bullock's 48-yard field goal with 4:47 left in the contest gave the Titans a two-score lead, and it put the Colts in desperation mode. Bullock also made his only extra point in the contest, and three of his six kickoffs resulted in touchbacks.

This marks the third-career Special Teams Player of the Week award for Bullock and first this season:

2014: Week 16 (with Houston)

2021: Week 8 (with Tennessee)

2022: Week 7 (with Tennessee)

Bullock becomes the fifth kicker in franchise history to earn the honor multiple times, joining Rob Bironas, Al Del Greco, Joe Nedney and Ryan Succop.

On the season, Bullock has made 8-of-9 field goals, and 13-of-13 extra points.

The Titans return to action on Sunday against the Texans in Houston.

HOW FATHER'S DEATH PREPARED KICKER RANDY BULLOCK TO SEIZE HIS TENNESSEE TITANS MOMENT

BY BEN ARTHUR
THE TENNESSEAN
SEPTEMBER 24, 2021

When Tennessee Titans kicker Randy Bullock jogged onto the field during overtime in Seattle, with the chance to lift his new team to a dramatic victory over the Seahawks, Rhett Bullock saw the look.

Watching the TV broadcast, Rhett noticed his younger brother had the demeanor he'd always shown in pressure moments: an emotionless expression with a calm disposition.

So when Randy drilled the winning 36-yard field goal in his Titans debut, capping Tennessee's improbable comeback and silencing a raucous Seahawks home crowd, Rhett wasn't surprised.

"He thrives in those situations," Rhett told The Tennessean. "If there's one thing you can count on with Randy, it's that he has a really high level of accountability and is going to make sure that he's prepared for those situations."

Randy Bullock was signed to the Titans' practice squad Sept. 11 and promoted to the active roster three days later.

In a week's time, and with the stakes highest, he became a hero for a franchise that has endured a kicking rollercoaster the past three seasons. For now, he's the kicker entering Sunday's AFC South showdown against the Colts (noon, CBS).

Father's death

There's no pressure on the football field that's too great for Bullock.

It's because of what he went through as a teenager.

In 2004, when Bullock was 14, he went on a hunting trip in South Texas with Rhett and their father, Richard. The brothers were separated from their dad on the hunt, and planned to catch up with him midday for lunch.

They never got that lunch. Richard died suddenly from a heart attack.

It was two days before Christmas.

"What I went through with my dad changed my perspective and outlook on a lot of things in life," Bullock told The Tennessean. "But most importantly, it taught me that I can handle and overcome anything the game of football or life could ever throw at me. I developed the ability to attack adversity head on."

Richard would shag balls for Bullock when he was young. Bullock had taken an interest in kicking, and so did his dad. They bonded on the practice field.

"It was kind of my way out, my way of drowning everything out and kind of trying to avoid the situation," Bullock said of kicking after his father's death. "I was so consumed in kicking and working that I was kind of able to live a somewhat normal life, I guess."

Richard pushed a sense of accountability into his sons, Rhett said, and that has carried over into Bullock's demeanor on the field.

Bullock is described as quiet and sincere, but he has intensity and self-discipline too. When he attended Klein High School outside Houston, he'd work on his kicking accuracy by placing the ball on the sideline, out of bounds, and try to kick it through the uprights at sharp angles. He'd go from the goal line every 5 yards up the 15-yard line, making a handful of attempts at each spot on both sides of the field.

At Texas A&M, where he won the Lou Groza Award in 2011 as the nation's top kicker, Bullock juggled a demanding football schedule with the school's top-rated petroleum engineering curriculum. Bullock's roommate in college for two years, Rhett wouldn't see his brother joke around when he got home in the evening. Bullock was diligent with his school work knowing he had 5 a.m. workouts the next morning.

"He was never acting silly or goofy as a high school kid," recalled Stan LaBay, who was Bullock's coach at Klein High School. "He was a serious kid all the time. He always had that little smile about him. He just had tremendous concentration. That's what I really liked about him. He was always focused; he was in the game; and he was consistent. You never had to worry about whether he was gonna be ready to play or not.

"I don't ever remember him not being prepared."

Titans' kicking carousel

The Titans have played nine placekickers since the start of 2019, including Bullock.

Sam Ficken was Tennessee's starting kicker to begin 2021, but he landed on injured reserve with a groin injury the day before the season opener. His replacement, Michael Badgley, missed a field goal and a PAT in the opener and was released the next day.

Next in line was the 31-year-old Bullock.

"Seeing that smile on his face after he makes the game-winning kick, just really happy for the guy because he's been through a lot," Titans special teams coach Craig Aukerman said.

There are no guarantees for Bullock, as is often the case for kickers in the NFL. Ficken can return from IR next week, and Aukerman said the team will go "day by day" in assessing the competition.

Bullock, a 2012 fifth-round pick out of Texas A&M, has kicked for five other teams in 10 NFL seasons: the Texans (2012-15), Jets (2015), Giants (2016), Steelers (2016) and Bengals (2017-20). He's made 83.1% of his field goals. He's set to kick for the Titans again Sunday against the Colts.

“It was just an awesome way of starting my career here,” Bullock said Sunday. “I’m really thankful for the opportunity, I’m glad that it ended the way it did, but more than anything we got a win.”

Similar to Seattle last week, Rhett recalled how his brother was thrown into a tough situation in Pittsburgh a few years ago. Bullock kicked for the Steelers in Week 12 of the 2016 season, one day after signing with the team. He made all three of his field goals and his lone extra point to help Pittsburgh to a victory over the Giants.

Bullock doesn’t just embrace those kinds of moments.

He loves them.

"It's part of the fun, part of the adrenaline rush," Bullock said. "If you're not looking forward to that moment, you probably shouldn't be in the game to begin with."

TREYLON BURKS

REXRODE: THE TREYLON BURKS GAME, AT PACKERS' EXPENSE, CHANGES THE TITANS' OUTLOOK

BY JOE REXRODE
THE ATHLETIC
NOVEMBER 17, 2022

GREEN BAY, Wis. — The team with the highest rate of offensive three-and-outs this season lined up against the team with the highest rate of defensive three-and-outs this season, so you kind of knew where this was going.

Third-and-7. Third play from scrimmage. Rocking, freezing, prime-time Lambeau Field. A Titans offense that struggles to get open nearly as much as it struggles to protect. A Packers defense that is most comfortable in obvious passing situations. By the numbers (per NFL Inside Edge), a Titans offense that had gone three plays and out an NFL-high 31.1 percent of the time entering Thursday, and a Packers defense that had elicited that outcome an NFL-high 31.8 percent of the time.

The numbers on the play, on the first drive of the Titans' 27-17 win to get to 7-3 on the season, were like this: five-man protection, four Packers rushing, five potential targets for Ryan Tannehill, Packers playing man-to-man against all of them with one safety deep for a Cover 1 look. Four of the five would-be pass catchers were covered well. One was not.

And he was the story of this night for the Titans, even with Derrick Henry throwing a touchdown on a jump pass and Aaron Rodgers reverting to his fall of frustration and Titans defensive pillar Denico Autry being carted off in the third quarter with what looked like a serious knee injury.

Actually, that last development only intensifies the urgency the Titans are feeling to get Treylon Burks going.

This Titans defense has been very good overall, excellent at times, remarkable at others, and the plug-and-play vibes are strong. But that can only go so far. I'm almost certain of it. You can't lose Harold Landry for the season and have real doubts if Bud Dupree is going to be a consistent factor and then lose Autry and have enough to keep dominating opponents up front.

(Oh and by the way, Amani Hooker was out with a shoulder, Elijah Molden with a groin, Zach Cunningham is on IR with an elbow, Kristian Fulton reinjured his hamstring and had to leave, and Teair Tart got nicked up too. Plug and play is going to involve security guards at the Titans' St. Thomas Sports Park headquarters before long).

This had the makings of a great defense. Like, all-time great in the annals of this franchise, right on par with the championship-level teams of two decades ago, which were known more for Steve McNair and Eddie George but were largely driven by stops. If Autry isn't out for an extended period and Dupree is going to have any kind of season, maybe it still can be. It will be good, that's of little doubt. This team will rely on it and on Henry, and those two things will make the Titans — who are not in any kind of race to win a third straight AFC South title — an unsavory opponent for someone in January.

But you have to pass the ball with some degree of competence to win the games that matter most. You have to have someone explosive outside to be able to pass the ball. That guy plays in Philadelphia now, and recently sent out a tweet mocking the current set of Titans receivers for their inability to get open. It was petty, but it wasn't inaccurate.

It's been clear for most of this season that the guy taken with the first-round pick the Titans got to send A.J. Brown to Philly was going to be the only hope for the Titans to recoup any of that explosiveness. It hasn't been clear whether or not Burks can actually get to the point of providing it. Until now.

So let's go to the play. Third-and-7, first possession, a destined three-and-out to start things off. Trips to the left, Burks lined up in between starting receivers Robert Woods and Nick Westbrook-Ikhine. Austin Hooper and Dontrell Hilliard running patterns on the right side of the formation. Woods with a short out. Westbrook-Ikhine going deeper for a crossing pattern. And Burks bearing down with speed on cornerback Keisean Nixon.

"He was just sitting there walling me, flat-footing me," Burks said of a post pattern that saw him gain separation in the middle of the field. "(Receivers) coach Rob (Moore) teaches if they're flat-footing, push to their outside shoulder and win with speed. So that's what I did."

Tannehill wanted Burks all the way.

"The back-side safety played low and gave us some space there across the field," Tannehill said of Rudy Ford. "A good opportunity once the back-side safety played low."

Tannehill actually got the protection to deliver the ball. And then he delivered a perfect ball for a 43-yard gain, foreshadowing his best night of the season and Burks' "arrival," if that's what we want to call this.

"I mean, this is me," Burks said in the victorious locker room, amid many shrugs and insistence that he's simply going to work and making the plays when they come his way.

This is how the No. 18 overall pick out of Arkansas has handled everything, though. When he couldn't practice for stretches of the spring, his asthma more of a factor because he wasn't in peak shape, he was measured and matter-of-fact about it. He showed glimpses of his ability in the first four weeks, before turf toe got him and sent him to IR.

It's no coincidence that in the breakout game of his young career — seven catches, 111 yards — Tannehill had his best game (22-for-27, 333 yards, two touchdowns) and the Titans topped 400 yards and reached 27 points for the first time this season. Burks wasn't making a big deal of it, and Mike Vrabel no doubt approves of that. But it was a big deal.

Henry (28 carries, 87 yards) wore the hardhat as usual, but he was plowing away in a mine with very little space. Woods, Henry and Chig Okonkwo all had chunk plays as receivers, and Hooper caught two touchdown passes (one from Henry). A lot went right in the passing game, including protection, other than on a few plays that saw Tannehill hammered.

Burks is the thing that went rightest, because he's the guy who can actually take this thing to a different place.

"Treylon has to have that for us," Vrabel said.

"I think his confidence is growing, which is huge," Tannehill said.

"I think you see that hunger in him … he's got that mindset, he wants to be great," Henry said.

"Even just talking to him, being around the building, he was always locked in, being in meetings and things like that," Titans safety Kevin Byard said of what he saw from Burks while Burks was on IR. "I'm just happy to see him be able to get out there and have the game he had today. I just hope he continues to keep building because we're gonna need him down the stretch, man. He's gonna be a big-time player for us."

Thursday doesn't mean Burks is about to finish his rookie season the way Brown did. It doesn't mean he's about to start stacking 100-yard games. It does mean this offense can have a different look, can make defenses pay more dearly for throwing every available body at Henry when he starts looking for cutback lanes on those outside zone plays.

And it means Burks is learning. Remember, just four days earlier in his return from IR, he ran a wrong route and batted away a pass that wasn't intended for him. Vrabel said he made some mistakes in the condensed preparation for the Packers, but that he and Moore worked on it and cleaned up the mistakes, setting the stage for him to perform as he did.

"They were corrected, and that's the most important thing to me," Vrabel said.

Burks was targeted a team-high eight times and had another target wiped away by a defensive penalty. One of those targets saw Tannehill's lone mistake, a fourth-quarter interception that kept the Packers alive, barely. Burks' last opportunity was a surprise. The Titans had the game won with a first down and 2:04 to play. Knowing the next play would stop the clock at the two-minute warning anyway, they called a deep shot to Burks — which, if caught, would mean victory formation to finish the game.

Asked if he was surprised that play was called in that moment, Burks smiled and said: "I'm not gonna lie, a little bit. When he said it in the huddle, I was like 'Oh yeah.'"

This time Burks outran the great Jaire Alexander. Tannehill threw another perfect ball. Burks hauled it in, 51 yards. Victory formation time.

"Treylon made the play," Tannehill said. "You love to see it."

And now there's a little more reason to buy this team as a January factor, provided it can get enough of its top players to January intact. First, they get much of the rest of November off before confronting some demons. The Bengals, interceptors of three Tannehill playoff passes last season, visit on Nov. 27. Then it's on to Philly to confront Brown in person.

The Titans earned the break to prepare for those opportunities by improving to 10-2 under Vrabel on short rest. This was not lost on them in the victorious locker room. They've won seven of eight, and the one loss was an eye-opening display of competitiveness before falling in overtime at Kansas City with backup Malik Willis at quarterback.

"Obviously it starts with Mike Vrabel just setting the tone, talking to the team about, 'This is gonna be about physical recovery but mental performance as well,'" Byard said of the short-week approach. "We didn't have a lot of practice as far as speed reps, but the preparation was on point. In meeting rooms, guys were answering questions, guys were watching a ton of film away from the building. And that's where it starts, man. Like I've said, I think this team is very special. This team wants to win ballgames. As long as we continue to keep going up, we'll be playing football in January and February."

If the most talented player on their offense not named Henry keeps showing up, they can keep going up.

FIRST-ROUND PICK TREYLON BURKS GETS OUT OF THE STARTING GATE IN STYLE ON DAY 1 OF TITANS CAMP

BY JIM WYATT

JULY 27, 2022

NASHVILLE — Treylon Burks knows it's a marathon, not a sprint.

But the first-round pick sure did get out of the starting gate well on the first day of Titans training camp.

On the second play of the initial 7-on-7 period, Burks raced past defensive back Kristian Fulton before making a diving catch on a deep ball thrown by quarterback Ryan Tannehill.

It was a nice start on a day Burks also finished in style.

"I feel a lot different, and I feel a lot healthier," Burks said after practice. "It just makes me feel good that I can come out here and play a role, and be a part of this team."

Burks, who was the subject of a lot of chatter this offseason because of issues with his asthma, and conditioning, said he's been working out and taking better care of his body since the end of the team's offseason program in June.

On Wednesday, he said he's probably lost 5-6 pounds in recent weeks.

Burks said he feels like the running he's done of late helped him with his conditioning, and his asthma.

"Putting myself in situations where I knew my asthma would flare up," Burks said, "and just be able to push through it. … Honestly, I just (need to) keep conditioning where I don't feel it no more, making sure I am taking my inhaler before practice, after practice, just staying on top of everything."

Burks acknowledged he could have done a better job with handling some things after being selected by the Titans with the 18th overall pick.

Burks was limited in the OTAs, and then held out of the minicamp.

"I would say yes," Burks said. "That's just being accountable, and I should have taken a better attack on that. Now that I am, I can tell a big difference."

After his diving catch early, Burks caught two more passes Wednesday, one on a well-timed throw from Tannehill before a bullet in the middle of the field on a ball thrown by Logan Woodside.

"It's nice to have Treylon out there," Tannehill said. "He has a long way to go, but him making plays like (he did today) does a lot for building confidence for a quarterback, for myself, and just knowing what you are going to get over there. If he wins consistently and makes plays like that for me down the field, it gives you a lot of confidence to go his direction."

Burks, who is wearing his old college number (16) in Tennessee, caught 66 passes for 1,104 yards and 11 touchdowns for the Razorbacks in 2021 to earn first-team All-SEC honors.

In 2020, Burks led the Razorbacks with 51 catches, 820 yards (16.1 ypc) and seven touchdowns.

In the NFL, he wants to do his part with the Titans.

"I am just playing my role," Burks said. "I am just going to attack every opportunity that I get, and I am going to attack it to the best of my ability. There's still things that I can improve on. I just want to improve and make our team better as well."

MTSU TO RETIRE TITANS SAFETY KEVIN BYARD'S JERSEY

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEETITANS.COM
AUGUST 4, 2022

NASHVILLE – Titans safety Kevin Byard had a good day in Thursday's practice – he knocked away three balls in an early 1-on-1 period before later intercepting quarterback Ryan Tannehill.

Things got even better after practice.

After Byard wrapped up a press conference, MTSU officials surprised him by walking out of Ascension Saint Thomas Sports Park and announcing the team's plans to retire his No. 20 jersey at the school.

"Honestly, this jersey is fire," Byard said with a smile. "What an honor. Just going back to those days at MTSU. … I played with a lot of great players at MTSU, a lot of great coaches. I couldn't have done it on my own. A lot of people I want to thank – all the coaches, players, staff, trainers, people in our student enhancement center that helped me. I am just honored, and I am so grateful. I'm really at a loss for words.

"I know my mother would be very proud of me in this moment right now."

Byard's jersey will be retired on Sept. 30 during a ceremony at the Blue Raiders' home game versus UTSA, President Sidney A. McPhee and Director of Athletics Chris Massaro announced on Thursday. MTSU coach Rick Stockstill gave Byard a big hug at the ceremony.

Byard will join Teddy Morris as the only other player in MTSU football history to have his number retired. Morris' No. 14 was retired in 1965.

"I want you to know that we are all very, very proud of you," McPhee told Byard. "You represent us well, and you represent this state well. Congratulations."

A four-year starter for the Blue Raiders from 2012-15, Byard ended his career as the program's all-time leader in interceptions (19), interception return yards (377), interception return touchdowns (4) and is one of just nine players in school history with 300 or more tackles. A team captain, Byard forced or gained 25 turnovers (19 INT, 5 FF, 1 FR) in 49 career games played.

Byard was selected in the third round in the 2016 NFL Draft by the Titans. He's coming off his second Pro Bowl season with the team. Byard was named the team's Walter Payton Man of the Year winner in 2020 for his work in the community.

"I remember I told Jon Robinson when they were evaluating Kevin before the draft," said Stockstill, referring to the Titans General Manager. "I told him: Kevin came in as a professional, and he did everything right off the field, and he had an incredible work ethic. He was extremely focused on his goals, what he wanted to accomplish not only as a student, not only as a football player, but as a man. He came in as a professional and he worked hard. … I always appreciated how hard he worked."

'I KNOW SHE'S PROUD OF ME': TENNESSEE TITANS' KEVIN BYARD OPENS UP ABOUT LOSS OF MOTHER

BY BEN ARTHUR
THE TENNESSEAN
JULY 27, 2022

Tennessee Titans All-Pro safety Kevin Byard acknowledged Wednesday that he still feels shock over the loss of his mother, Artina Stanley, during the offseason.

Byard left mandatory practices early last month to be with Stanley, who Byard said passed away the following week.

The star safety opened up about his emotions after the first day of training camp Wednesday, saying he's trying to approach every day with gratitude.

"Some days are good, some days are tough," Byard said. "But at the end of the day, I feel like what I've learned throughout this process is that you really never know. This thing came out from left field. Just trying to wake up every single morning with gratitude – gratitude that I have another day to come in this building and be around the guys. My routine has kind of helped me. I wouldn't say keep my mind off of it – during idle times is when it's really tough – but I have a great circle around me that has really kept me up. I've had a lot of people reach out – hundreds of people reach out – to me and just try to keep me up."

"You never know when it will be your day," Byard continued. "You never know when an injury may end everything or your life, period. It's crazy because I feel like everyone who's been through these situations will always tell you, 'really love on your loved ones. Make sure you're calling people every day to tell them you love them,' and that's just something I'm trying to preach and do for myself. Call my family. Check on my siblings. But like I said, it's definitely been tough just being vulnerable, but I feel like I'm in a good head space today, or just period, but it could be different (Thursday), honestly."

Byard said Stanley meant "everything" to him.

When Byard's parents divorced at 14, he moved from his native Philadelphia to Atlanta with his mother and six siblings.

"Just her work ethic every single day," Byard said. "Raising seven kids, (mostly) on her own, is tough for anyone, especially my mom. But she just took it in stride with the utmost character and everything and that's how I learned. Who I am today is because of her and I owe everything to her."

"One thing I understand too – just thinking spiritually – my mom is with me every single day," he continued. "It might sound weird, but I talk to my mom a lot and I can just hear her voice pretty much say, 'just keep your foot on the gas.' That's what I'm going to keep doing every single day."

Byard added that he's going to dedicate each day to Stanley.

"Dedicate this year (to her) because the life I've been able to build for myself and my family is the life that she wanted and the life that she wanted for herself," he said. "So I have to keep that in mind every single day because I know my mom was proud of me. ... Proud of her kids. All her kids are being successful and doing their own thing."

"That's something that I can take on for the rest of my life: that my mom was proud of me and that's obviously helped me throughout this whole process."

FOR KEVIN BYARD, THE TENNESSEE TITANS WERE A LAUNCH PAD TO HIS TRUEST CALLING — CHANGING LIVES

BY BEN ARTHUR
THE TENNESSEAN
OCTOBER 8, 2021

On the afternoon of Aug. 1, Tennessee Titans safety Kevin Byard stood in front of a small gathering of TV cameras and reporters.

Training camp had started, and it was his first day off after four straight days of practicing in the sweltering heat and humidity of Nashville's summer. It was time to relax. But he knew this day was coming. So he dashed over from Saint Thomas Sports Park, after off-day treatment and a morning workout.

Sporting a checkered blue button up with dark blue slacks, and flanked by his family — his wife, Clarke, and their two young children, Kevin IV and Eliana Rose — Byard spoke of unveiling a months-long project: the renovated Davidson County Department of Children's Safe Room, which is for reducing the trauma of children who've come into state custody through abuse and neglect. The Byards were holding a ribbon-cutting ceremony for the event. They renovated the South Nashville space through their non-profit, The Byard Family Legacy Fund.

This was a special moment for the NFL veteran. He had family members who'd been in the foster case system.

He knew what a semblance of security could do for a child.

"God has just extended so much grace to me and my wife and my family. We only feel right to try and do the same," Byard said on that August afternoon. "The thing we wanted to do is try and make these kids feel comfortable."

Byard has made giving back his mission. One of the Tennessee Titans' defensive leaders on the field, Byard's philanthropic endeavors have focused on the underprivileged — and he has gotten noticed for it. In July, he was awarded the key to the city of Murfreesboro. In August, he and his wife received a Certificate of Appreciation from Tennessee Gov. Bill Lee. The safe room they renovated was named after them.

He's a staple in the community of Nashville and Murfreesboro, where he attended Middle Tennessee State University. "I think the biggest thing you can do is get to the youth, talk to the kids and be around the kids because they have so much," Byard told The Tennessean. "That's the future. You can't change a lot of things, but talking to the youth can change the world."

'He's like your best friend' Jason Spray beamed talking about Byard. During a break at the Byard's second annual football camp in Murfreesboro, Spray pointed out the focus of the Titans safety. How he was sweating with the kids on that hot July afternoon, throwing the football during drills. How he hopped in a cart to make sure he hit every group of campers spread out on the field at Middle Tennessee Christian School. How he was wearing exactly what the kids were wearing — running shorts, a pair of tennis shoes and the camp T-shirt. How he bent low with smaller kids to give them eye-to-eye contact.

The morning before, it was Byard helping Spray unload heavy boxes filled with the camp supplies out of the back of a truck. Two years ago, during his first camp, it was the same deal. Him and Byard. "He's not wearing a Louis (Vuitton) bag or trying to be anything," said Spray, Byard's trainer and former strength coach at MTSU. "He's just being Kevin today. To me, that's important. And I think that's important to him. I think it's important (to) him for those kids to see him that way: 'I'm just a guy and I just work hard. I was you. You could do the same thing.' To me, that was always the appeal. He's not some superhuman guy."

Tiffany Andrus brought her two young boys to Byard's camp. Byard is the favorite player of one of her sons. During 2019, when the NFL draft was in Nashville, she took that son to a meet and greet with Byard. They got there on time. The line was stopped before they reached the front. They didn't get to meet Byard. The son cried.

Through Twitter, Byard found out what happened. He sent Andrus a direct message.

"Send me the jersey," he wrote.

The jersey was returned to her in the mail within a week, signed by Byard.

"I was shocked," said Andrus. "I thought it was fake.

"He gets (mentioned on Twitter) all the time. He could have ignored that."

Alonzo Rhodes, a Physical Education teacher at John Early Middle School, was working with Metro Parks & Recreation in 2019 when Byard picked his community center to give back to for an NFL draft party. The kids, many of whom came from single-parent households, received Dick's Sporting Goods gift cards. For the watch party, they went to the Chick-fil-A on Church Street, which provided food. There were Xbox consoles and PlayStations for each child. Other Titans players stopped by, too.

It was a "red carpet for the kids," Rhodes explained.

"He was doing this before people even started taking notice and bringing cameras out," said Rhodes, who attended Byard's backpack giveaway event in July. “His personality is genuine. He’s like your best friend. You know that feeling you get when you know your best friend is looking out for you? He ain’t gotta say nothing, he ain’t gotta do nothing. But you know if you ever need him or anything like that, he would be there to support. That’s the feeling I get when he’s in the community. He’s playing actively with the kids. He’s engaging. He’s speaking to the children. It’s nothing doctored up.

“This is from the heart.”

The Byard Family Legacy Fund

Byard has had nothing.

He lived in homes with no electricity. At 14, he had to be father figure to five younger siblings when his parents divorced and he moved from Philadelphia to Atlanta with his mother. Football was his source of security.

Byard knows generational-changing money, too. He’s a millionaire in the NFL now, one of Titans’ highest-paid players. He signed his five-year extension with Tennessee worth $70.5 million in 2019, making him – at the time – the highest-paid safety in league history.

He has seen both sides of the spectrum.

It’s why he gives back.

“I'm obviously successful now, but at the same time, I feel like I gravitate toward people that aren't always in the best place in life,” said Byard. “I understand that me speaking to them can do a lot for (those in need). Just having this platform, it's a powerful thing and I don't think a lot of people really realize that or recognize it.”

From his platform, Byard has worked with “The Casey Fund,” a foundation founded by ex-teammate, Titans great Jurrell Casey, that supports at-risk youth and formerly incarcerated individuals. He has worked with Rally on the Runway to support childhood cancer research. He has worked with Habitat for Humanity.

But in 2019, he was doing a meet-and-greet event in Nashville. He was taking pictures with kids. A parent talked to him, saying how much he appreciated the work he was doing in the community.

How can I get you some money? he was asked.

“First of all, I never just had anybody tell me they wanted to give me money out of nowhere,” said Byard. “That kind of was a lightbulb that was like, ‘Man, we might need to have to make something official.”

Soon after, Byard and his wife founded the Byard Family Legacy Fund. Its mission: Providing second chances for families and individuals who need it. The fund has four core events: an annual Thanksgiving dinner, Christmas dinner, a back-to-school event and the football camp.

Kevin and Clarke split up responsibilities, with Clarke taking a more pronounced role during the NFL season. If Kevin can’t speak at an event, he’ll record videos around his Titans schedule.

The Byards renovated the Davidson County Department of Children’s Safe Room through their foundation’s “Gift of Grace” grant, which is awarded four times a year to individuals and/or organizations in need.

“We really want to reach out into the heart of the communities that we live in,” said Clarke. “Sometimes, you just need that little mustard seed to continue to grow into who you’re supposed to be. We’re hoping to really impact people’s lives in that way, just to make those little small changes to where that gives them a message to keep going and keep believing in themselves.”

It’s Aug. 1, and the ribbon of the renovated safe room has been cut. The big unveiling was done. Shatina Marshall settled down in her new office.

An employee of the Tennessee Department of Children’s Services, Marshall is one of the supervisors of the space. She’s the one who reached out to the Byards through their foundation. It started with Byard speaking at the graduation celebration for the foster kids moving on from high school earlier in the year. He couldn’t be there physically, but he sent in a pre-recorded video.

The relationship grew from there. The Byards wanted to impact the lives of children in a more intimate way. Marshall had the space for it. They collaborated in the months-long endeavor.

With the help of sponsors, the Byards gave the safe room new floors, fresh paint and a new kitchen, furniture and appliances. A teen space and a children's area was added. Functionality for the children, not just aesthetics, were central to the renovation.

It was Marshall’s idea to rename the space after the Byards. She appreciated how approachable they were. How hands-on they were throughout the process.

“It’s going to change these kids’ lives,” said Marshall. “I can’t wait for tomorrow when I can open these doors to the kids and they can see what it’s going to be now.”

DEPARTMENT OF CHILDREN'S SERVICES 'SAFE ROOM' DEDICATED TO TITANS SAFETY KEVIN BYARD AND HIS WIFE ON SUNDAY

TENNESSEE TITANS
AUGUST 1, 2021

NASHVILLE – Titans safety Kevin Byard and his wife Clarke unveiled the renovated facility housing the Davidson County Department of Children's Services' Safe Room on Sunday.

The Safe Room is a dedicated space designed to help reduce the trauma for children who come into custody for child abuse and/or child neglect. Through a full cosmetic renovation this is now a safe space for the youth seeking refuge and gives them some sense of comfort.

"God has extended so much grace to me and my wife and my family," Byard said. "We only feel right to try and do the same. I give 100 percent credit to my wife. … She ended up visiting this facility, and she had a vision, and wanted to be able to help out the community as much as possible. With me personally, I've had family that's been in the foster system, so this is near and dear to me as well."

The Davidson County Foster System is the recipient of the Byard Family Legacy Fund's annual "Gift of Grace" Grant.

"The Byard Family Legacy Fund actually has a grant called the "Grace Grant" and we model that after God's grace," Clarke Byard said. "We leave it open for individuals or for organizations … that are in need of a little grace, a little extra help to push forward with what they are trying to accomplish."

The mission of the Byard Family Legacy Fund is not only to provide a sanctuary for families, but believes everyone deserves a second chance.

Byard, a father of two who is the second oldest of seven children, grew up without a father in his home. Byard has said his family worked hard to make ends meet growing up.

Byard, who played in college at MTSU, and his wife Clarke were on hand with their two children at Sunday's ribbon cutting.

"I want to give my personal thanks to Clarke and Kevin Byard for what they have done for the children in our custody," DCS Commissioner Jennifer Nichols said. "Kids are taken in at all times, day and night, and during that transition period, it's probably some of the most dramatic hours for them.

"The Byards have provided this home-like environment for them to stay in during those hours, and I can't imagine anything that is more important than the legacy this family is creating."

On Sunday, the Byards were presented a Certificate of Appreciation signed by Tennessee Governor Bill Lee.

Also, the Safe Room was dedicated the Byards, and the plaque will be hung inside the "Byard Family Safety Room."

"We all have a story – I have been through some rough times in my life as well," Byard said. "My path to where I am now definitely wasn't straight. … The thing we wanted to do (with the Safe Room) is to make sure these kids feel comfortable."

BYARD NAMED TITANS' WALTER PAYTON MAN OF THE YEAR

FORMER BLUE RAIDER RECOGNIZED FOR SOCIAL ACTIVISM, COMMUNITY WORK

BY MICHAEL GALLAGHER
NASHVILLE POST
OCTOBER 30, 2020

Middle Tennessee sports fans have long known what kind of player and person Tennessee Titans safety Kevin Byard is.

On Thursday, Titans head coach Mike Vrabel was as close to giddy as local reporters have probably ever seen him when the third-year coach announced Byard as the Titans 2020 Walter Payton Man of the Year.

"I wanted to tell everybody how happy I was to tell the team about Kevin Byard being the Walter Payton recipient for the Titans," he said. "That is a special honor. That's something that I know that our guys hold in high regard just to the service that they do and the care for others, so just excited to be able to tell the team that and then honor Kevin (Byard) in front of the team. So, I wanted to share that with you guys as well."

Byard is one of 32 finalists for the Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year award, which is given annually to recognize an NFL player for "commitment to philanthropy and community impact."

Byard was recognized by the NFL Players Association back in September as the first Community MVP of the season after he hosted a pair of events where he helped pack and distribute over 300 kits to distribute that included backpacks of school supplies and other various items for distance learning kids.

Additionally, the 27-year-old All Pro has been one of the Titans' biggest catalysts for speaking out on racism, social justice and police brutality this year. Byard was also one of many Titans players out on the streets in March helping the city of Nashville with its tornado relief efforts.

"This honor is no shock to anyone around Middle Tennessee," said Rick Stockstill, Byard's former MTSU head coach. "Kevin is a great man, a great husband, and a great player who always works hard in the community helping others. There's not a better leader or teammate than Kevin Byard. We love him dearly and wish him nothing but success."

Byard helped deliver his son back in August at his home in Nashville and also recently bought his mother a house back in May, stating it was "a pipe dream that only few are able to accomplish."

As the Titans nomination, Byard will receive up to $50,000 donated to a charity of his choice by the NFL Foundation and Nationwide. Should he win the NFL award, he will receive $250,000 donated to a charity of his choice. The winner will be announced during the Super Bowl in February 2021.

No member of the Titans has ever won the award and quarterback Warren Moon is the only player in franchise history to ever win, doing so in 1989. Baltimore Ravens defensive end Calais Campbell won the award last year when he was with the Jacksonville Jaguars.

"I think that's the total package that we're striving for, that all of us are striving for, to have some balance in our families, in our personal life, in our professional life, and then also what we're able to do to impact other people around the community and I know that's something that Kevin has done a lot of," Vrabel added.

SUPER DAD: TITANS SAFETY KEVIN BYARD EXPLAINS HOW HE DELIVERED HIS OWN SON AT FAMILY'S HOME

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEE TITANS
SEPTEMBER 16, 2020

NASHVILLE – Kevin Byard has made some clutch plays during the course of his playing career.

In the season opener at Denver, in fact, his forced fumble led to an early Titans touchdown.

But the 27-year-old made the play of his life last month when he delivered his own son, Kevin Leon Byard IV.

Yes, it's true. And on Wednesday, Byard went into great detail about how it happened while on a video conference call with reporters.

"It's one of those deals where we just couldn't make it to the hospital," Byard started off. "Obviously we weren't planning on having the baby at the house."

Byard said his wife, Clarke, started having mild contractions on the evening of August 23. Around 10:30 p.m., Byard's wife woke up and things escalated quickly. Then, she started having more severe contractions while on the bathroom floor. The child was due on August 24th.

"I kind of got up, I wasn't really panicking, but I scrambling to get some clothes on, helping her try to get dressed," Byard recalled. "Her mom was downstairs, so I called her up."

Byard then got the car ready, as Clarke Byard started moving around. Byard called the doula and said, "meet us at the hospital." But with things changing, it became, "meet us at the house."

With the doula on the speakerphone, the Byards provided updates. With the doula being 30 minutes away from the Byard's home, she provided instructions. The first: "Let's try and get her in the bathtub."

But by this time, Byard said his son's "head was already poking out." At this point, Byard said his wife was on her hands and knees.

"The (doula) said, "Tell her to start pushing, the baby is coming," Byard recalled. "His face was pointing upward, so I could see his face was real purple. I was nervous about that, so the doula told me to support his head."

About 10 or 15 minutes later, there was serious action.

"Once he got his head out, his shoulders and everything just kind of slipped out," Byard said. "And I kind of caught him in my arms. He waited about five seconds, he coughed about two or three times, and started crying."

Byard's wife remained on the floor, and an ambulance was called.

"We ended up getting the placenta out, cut the umbilical cord, and we headed to the hospital," Byard said. "All of this happened from 10:30 to 11:05. It was like a 30-minute period. Things kind of went fast."

Byard and his wife also have a one-year-old daughter, Eliana.

A former MTSU star and team captain who has recorded 17 interceptions in his NFL career, Byard knows he has a moment he'll never forget.

"That was probably the most memorable thing me and my wife have ever been through in our relationship other than getting married," Byard said. "That's a story I am going to tell my son for the rest of our days."

DYLAN COLE

DYLAN COLE EARNING ROLE ON TITANS DEFENSE

BY TERRY MCCORMICK
TITANINSIDER.COM
OCTOBER 19, 2022

When you start to look at examples of the Tennessee Titans successful culture in the face of all sorts of adversity and injuries, one of the poster children for that model is inside linebacker Dylan Cole.

Cole, signed off the street last year in the Titans unfathomable season of running through 91 players, is now poised to make his third straight start at inside linebacker after making his way up the ranks with time on the practice squad and toiling on special teams, waiting for the chance for a bigger role.

When Zach Cunningham injured his elbow making a tackle against the Las Vegas Raiders in week four, Cole's opportunity came. And while it took a little time in that game to get into the flow, Cole answered the call at the most important time, breaking up a two-point conversion pass that would have potentially tied the game in the final seconds.

The next week Cole started in Cunningham's spot against the Colts and wound up with seven tackles, including five solo stops, while still performing much of his special teams duties as well. A

“I think I've done a decent job. There's always room for improvement. I think my understanding of the defense and what they want out of the linebackers has definitely gone up. It's just understanding our scheme and how we want to do things, and just being more comfortable with more reps as I go, that's always huge,” Cole said.

Cole spent 2017-20 with the Houston Texans, where Titans head coach Mike Vrabel was his position coach and defensive coordinator for a while. So that certainly didn't hurt him when he was on the street in 2021, and the Titans were looking for players. He was signed to the practice squad on Oct. 13, only to be released two weeks later, then brought back on Nov. 6 and then elevated to the active roster on Nov. 16 after being promoted for game duty in two consecutive weeks.

Cole remained with the Titans for the rest of the season and made the roster primarily for his special teams ability this summer. But when Cunningham went down, Cole was ready and has seized upon the chance to be a starter for the first time in his NFL career. The start against Indianapolis in the first meeting three weeks ago was his first NFL start at linebacker.

“I think that's our culture. Our culture is to grind it out, prepare like you're a starter and then when the opportunity comes, then take advantage of it,” Cole said. “(Vrabel) preaches make plays, and if you make plays on special teams, you're going to get more opportunities. So that's what I try to do. Anytime I get an opportunity, whether it's special teams or defense, I'm trying to make the best of it and continue to make plays.”

“There were some good plays, and things we've got to correct, but I think he's improved and continued to be a core special teams player for us as well,” Vrabel said.

Cole seems to be following the model of how to go from underdog and long shot to earning added playing time.

“You move up the ranks by taking advantage of your opportunities and practicing well and knowing what to do when you get in there and earning confidence from your teammates and your coaches and ultimately your performance on the field,” Vrabel said.

Injury update

are inside linebackers. Cunningham remains out with his elbow injury, and Joe Jones continues to miss time with a knee issue.

Fullback Tory Carter was in the non-contact yellow jersey on Wednesday.

NEWCOMER HAS BEEN THERE, DONE THAT

BY JOHN GLENNON
SI.COM
OCTOBER 1, 2022

NASHVILLE – The Tennessee Titans will be without the services of a player who once led the NFL in tackles this Sunday in Indianapolis.

One man who might help replace him? Another player who once led the league in tackles.

Coach Mike Vrabel ruled out starting inside linebacker Zach Cunningham for Sunday's game against the Indianapolis Colts. Cunningham sustained an elbow injury last Sunday against Las Vegas.

It's another blow for the Titans, as Cunningham has averaged six tackles in the seven games he's played for Tennessee. He posted an NFL-best 164 tackles in 2020, his last full season with the Houston Texans.

The player most likely to step into Cunningham's starting role is Dylan Cole, who saw 27 snaps against Las Vegas and deflected a Raiders two-point conversion attempt that could have tied the game with a little more than a minute to play.

But the Titans also elevated inside linebacker Joe Schobert, who was signed to the practice squad on Wednesday. A six-year veteran, he adds valuable NFL experience to a group that includes Cole, David Long and Joe Jones.

It's fair to say the 28-year-old Schobert isn't your traditional practice-squad player. He's started 80 games and totaled 661 tackles, 11 sacks, 10 interceptions and forced fumbles. Schobert led the NFL with 144 tackles while playing for Cleveland in 2017, earning a trip to the Pro Bowl in the process.

"He has played a lot of football," Vrabel said. "He has played a lot of football at inside linebacker. He is an instinctive player and we'll see where he is at the end of the week and how he can help us, just like everybody else that we ask to prepare like they're going to be a starter this week."

The obvious question: Why was Schobert unsigned almost a month into the 2022 season, after starting 15 games for Pittsburgh last year and totaling 112 tackles? The Wisconsin native has, after all, racked up more than 100 tackles in each of the past five seasons.

"It was a weird offseason," Schobert said. "There wasn't a whole lot of action (at inside linebacker). There was a lot of other guys at my position – like Dont'a Hightower, just one other name – who've been just kind of sitting, waiting for the phone to ring and get an opportunity to get back in the building and go. It was strange, but I'm happy to be here now."

The Denver Broncos gave Schobert a brief look during training camp, signing him on Aug. 15 and releasing him Aug. 23 after he played in one preseason game. He made two tackles.

He didn't play or practice again until this past week, meaning one of Schobert's challenges will simply be working himself into game condition as quickly as possible.

"You can't replace football with any real exercise because there's the whole physical taxing out there," Schobert said. "It's a whole different football game, but I've stayed in as good a shape as I can.

"I live out in Colorado, so I'm training in altitude, so it's a little harder to breathe out there. Maybe that will help, coming back and playing some football, but we'll see."

four seasons for the Browns, one in Jacksonville and one in Pittsburgh. He believes the experience he's gained in different systems should help him adapt quickly to the Titans.

"I'm a man of many (teams), but thankfully there's not too many different schematics in the NFL," Schobert said. "It's just different verbiage – the language you have to learn – and guys have been good here. … (The Titans' system) isn't exactly similar to things I've played in the past, but it's close enough."

Said defensive coordinator Shane Bowen: "Anytime you've got a vet that's played a lot of football, I think it's good for the room, good for the unit. Just the knowledge he can kind of share with those other guys is always valuable. I think the transition is probably a little easier for guys like that."

Schobert said it's been an unusual experience for him not to be playing football so far this season.

He's ready to once again prove his value – whether it's this Sunday or down the line.

"I feel like I'm somebody you can count on to be in the right spot, do their job and then make the plays that come to them," Schobert said. "I'm not going to be a liability in any sense, from off the field to on the field to being in meetings. I'm going to be there and I'm going to do the right things."

THE UPSIDE-DOWN LIFE OF THE TENNESSEE TITANS' ALL-PRO LONG-SNAPPER

BY DAVID FLEMING
ESPN
JANUARY 20, 2022

LONG-SNAPPING HAS been described as the most specialized, and most ignored, position in all of sports. And in the strange, upside-down world of the long-snapper, the better you are at your job, the more anonymous you become. Case in point: Although they are a critical component in punting, extra points and field goals in a league where field position and scoring is at an all-time premium (especially during the playoffs), long-snappers didn't have their own official spot on the All-Pro team until last year. That inaugural All-Pro honor went to the Tennessee Titans' Morgan Cox. After 11 years, four Pro Bowls and several historic field goals in Baltimore, the Tennessee native joined the Titans in 2021 as a free agent. Not that it upped his Q rating at all. "The motto with long-snapping is you want to go unnoticed, otherwise you're not doing your job correctly," says Cox. "I want people to forget my name because I've done my job so well, the ball's just there and they just expect that it's just going to be there all the time. So I take pride in going unnoticed. I've always said that I could probably walk through the stadium concourse in my helmet and jersey and pads and everybody would be like, 'Why are you wearing number 46?'"

Still, few people in the history of the game have better insight into this weird but fascinating position and all the extreme mental and physical challenges that come with it. (For starters: they're, um, inverted.) Which is why, leading up to the No. 1-seeded Titans divisional-round playoff game against the Bengals, ESPN Daily sat down with Cox to learn, well, everything, about the strange art and science of long-snapping.

HAVING A MOMENT: Few of us had any clue about how uniquely skilled and valuable these players were until Covid-19 sidelined a handful of starting long-snappers and the Colts, Cowboys, Bucs, Bengals and others had to scramble to find qualified replacements. Heck, this season, even the uber tight-lipped Bill Belichick gave an eloquent and passionate nine-minute answer when asked during a press conference about the importance and evolution of long-snappers. (Nine minutes!) A few years ago, Belichick confessed that securing a backup long-snapper was what allowed him to sleep well at night. The love of long-snapping runs in the family, apparently. Bill's son Steve, a defensive coach with the Patriots, was a walk-on long-snapper at Rutgers.

No one appreciates long-snappers more than backup long-snappers, though. In 2010, Cox blew out his ACL against the Browns but decided to stay in the game to snap, especially after seeing how petrified Ravens running back Willis McGahee was at the prospect of filling in for him. "After I hurt my knee, he came up to me on the sideline and he was like, 'Hey man, are you good? Are you good? Are you going to be able to snap?'" says Cox, who tore his other ACL in 2014. "He was freaking out that he might have to go in and snap." The premium on scoring and the shrinking margin of victory in the NFL (this season the Titans outscored opponents by an average of only 3.8 points per game) has made extra points and field goals, and thus, long-snappers, even more like lawyers and umbrellas: no one really appreciates them until they don't have one.

IN GOOD HANDS: Cox is so obsessed with his hands and his grip that even during the off-season he doesn't like to use hand moisturizer. Seriously. "I can't really use a hand lotion because I hate the feeling of not being like ready to snap a ball at any given time," he says. "Even if it's like, you know, March or April and I know there's no game, for whatever reason I have to get my hands back to where I could snap a ball, like right away. It's just like a mental oddity that I have that I need to be ready to snap at all times." Likewise, Cox is very particular about his grip on the ball and before the game will even let the referee know how he wants the ball placed so the inflation valve will be in the center of his right palm. Much like a quarterback, Cox's ring finger always goes across the second seam. He uses his left hand mostly as a guide, but just his fingertips and with his palm well off the ball, "almost like the way you'd hold a waiter's tray."

Cox thinks of his snapping motion as a pendulum, because the most simplified, streamlined kinetic movements are the easiest to replicate under the most stressful situations. "At the bottom of the pendulum is the fastest, most efficient time to let go of the ball," he says. "And I'm always trying to think of the nose of the ball, because wherever I point the nose of the ball is where the ball is going to go." And like a great free throw shooter, for Cox the follow-through is critical to good form. When a snap goes well, his thumbs will be pointing straight up in the air and the backs of his hands will almost be touching.

THERE WILL BE MATH: After 12 years in the NFL, Cox has long-snapping down to a science. On field goals he only has 0.7 to 0.75 seconds to get the ball into the holder's hands. (A human eye blink takes 0.4 seconds.) And when the ball arrives the laces need to be at 12 o'clock, which is long-snapper lingo for straight up in the air so that when the ball is placed on the ground the seams are directly toward the goal posts. (Laces at 6 o'clock, pointing back at the kicker, are "a disaster," Cox says, because if they catch on a kicker's foot it drastically changes the direction of the ball.) In all, the field goal unit has between 1.2 and 1.3 seconds to get the kick off. So, to get the ball to the holder on time and in the right position, Cox knows that he must snap it at 35 mph with exactly 3½ rotations and with no target deviation. (Even having to reach a little for the snap can push the timing well past 1.3 seconds.)

Because weather, humidity and altitude affect the spin of the ball, pre-snap Cox slightly adjusts the distance between himself and the holder to ensure 3.5 rotations. (This must be what Cox's former coach, John Harbaugh, meant when he said the long-snapper has "relentless attention to detail.") So it makes sense that Cox isn't a believer in the cliché that playoff football is a game of inches. "It's more like millimeters," he says, "a blade of grass, that's the difference in games a lot of times, that little amount of space."

THE UPSIDE-DOWN WORLD: George Malcom Stratton was an American psychologist who pioneered the study of perception in the early 20th century by outfitting subjects with special glasses that turned everything they saw upside down. Stratton found that after some initial disorientation, in time the subjects' brain and vision adjusted to everything being upside down and they were able to function normally while theoretically upside down. Essentially, that's what happens with NFL long-snappers: like astronauts, gymnasts and Shaun White, they've been inverted so long it becomes normal.

"I've never thought about it, to be honest with you," says Cox. "Like, why is my holder hanging off the side of the Earth? It's just one of those things you get used to over the years." The only thing Cox worries about is being inverted too long, which is why he always waits to get the cue from his holder before starting his snap sequence. "You don't want all the blood to rush to your head," he says. "If I go down too early and grab the ball, I can literally feel my head filling with blood. I've been down there for 20 or 30 seconds before and I'm still able to snap it, but it's not ideal. You're thinking more about: 'How long have I been upside down?' Rather than, 'This is where the ball needs to go.'"

K BALLS: As if long-snapping wasn't hard enough, teams use specially prepared "K balls" that are extremely slick and typically inflated to the max (13.5 PSI) for added distance. NFL rules allow teams 45 minutes before games to prepare kicking balls in order to smooth out the tacky bumps in the leather of the regular game balls that quarterbacks and other playmakers prefer because of the added grip. It's usually done by a member of the equipment staff using a wet towel and a brush with coarse horsehair bristles and then marking the ball with a "K." With a smoother surface the balls are better for kickers but considerably harder for long-snappers and holders to handle, especially in bad weather. (Just ask Tony Romo.)

"Talk about getting into the weeds on stuff," says Cox. "Quarterback balls typically have all these dimples that are much more raised and even pronounced. Kicker balls are almost the exact opposite. And there's a certain technique on how teams prep kicker balls. They'll basically grind down all of those dimples. You talk about an art form. There's guys that are really well known for being able to work a kicking ball in. But what it does, it doesn't exactly lend itself to throwing the ball."

FOOTBALL FIDGIT SPINNERS: Even during a busy game, Cox is likely to go 20 minutes or more between snaps. In the playoffs, that's a long time to be standing in the freezing cold thinking about how there are up to 100 million people watching as you put the team's fate in your hands. Think of it this way: While leading the Chiefs to a win in Super Bowl LIV, Patrick Mahomes threw two interceptions and no one batted an eye. But if the Chiefs' long-snapper had two wild snaps in the Super Bowl he'd be a meme right now.

In long-snapping, being able to handle that kind of pressure is almost as important as technique and training. That's why so many long-snappers become great at ball tricks. Cox can spin it like a basketball on his finger, bounce it off the ground and back into his hand and he's been working on the Aaron Rodgers' classic arm flip and catch. "It's just about passing the time and doing something with my hands, rather than just sitting with my thoughts," says Cox. "The most you can stay out of your head the better. When I was in college, the snapper ahead of me told me that I could never be a long-snapper if I couldn't learn to spin the ball on my hand."

OH YEAH, YOU ALSO HAVE TO TACKLE: As if performing one of football's most specialized and thankless tasks weren't enough -- again, inverted and with zero room for error -- long-snappers are also expected to contribute downfield on punt coverage. The first punt Cox covered in college (at Tennessee) was a touchdown return by Cal's DeSean Jackson. "I didn't get within 10 yards of him," Cox admits. Over the course of his pro career, though, Cox has averaged about one tackle a year, which is downright respectable.

Cox is something of a legend among long-snappers for his 2012 posterization of Cleveland All-Pro kick returner Josh Cribbs, a picture-perfect, open-field tackle that appeared to knock the ball and Cribbs' helmet loose. There's just one tiny catch. "The way everything funneled, I just happened to be in the alley where he was running through," Cox says. "And, just like you practice in Pop Warner, I duck my shoulder and wrapped him up. I get up and I see that his helmet is knocked off, the ball's loose and we had jumped on it. And I'm like, 'Wow, but there's no way I did that.'" Indeed. Cox hit Cribbs low and didn't realize that at the exact same time his teammate, Ravens linebacker Dannell Ellerbe, delivered the hit up high that removed both the ball and the helmet from Cribbs' possession. "But in the newspaper the next day, the front page of the sports was me tackling Josh Cribbs and his helmet starting to fly off," says Cox. "Someday I'm going to show my grandkids that picture and be like,

'Look what the old man used to do back in the day.'"

NEW TITANS LONG SNAPPER MORGAN COX, A FOUR-TIME PRO BOWLER, EXCITED ABOUT RETURN TO TENNESSEE

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEE TITANS
MARCH 18, 2021

NASHVILLE – Morgan Cox is coming back to Tennessee, to join the Titans.

Cox, who played 11 seasons as the long snapper for the Baltimore Ravens, on Thursday agreed to terms on a one-year deal with the Titans.

A Collierville native who played at Evangelical Christian School and the University of Tennessee, Cox is regarded as one of the best long snappers in the NFL.

"It was a huge attraction for me," Cox said of returning to the state. "Getting to play high school ball in Memphis and college ball in Knoxville, it just seems fitting for me to come here. I am really excited. My phone has been blowing up ever since the news hit. I have been invested in the Titans for many years now – I remember when they came to town and they were playing in the Liberty Bowl back in the day and I came to games when I was in high school.

"I love this organization. This was an easy "yes" for me. As soon as I learned that they were interested, I was ecstatic just on that. And to get the news that we had finalized it was beyond. … I am joining a great team already, and I am excited to see how I can help improve it."

Cox is a four-time Pro Bowler, and when the league added long snapper to this year's All-Pro ballot, Cox became the first honoree.

Cox, 34, joined the Ravens in 2010 as an undrafted rookie from Tennessee. He was released by the team earlier this offseason.

Cox has played in 165 games in his NFL career. Cox was a walk-on at the University of Tennessee before earning a scholarship prior to the 2008 season. He was the starting long snapper for Tennessee for the 2007, 2008, and 2009 seasons and he earned Academic All-SEC honors from 2006–2009.

With the Titans, he'll snap to Titans punter Brett Kern on punts, but the team's kicker for 2021 remains unclear.

Cox and Kern talked on FaceTime after Cox agreed to the deal, and they've already made plans to work on their chemistry together. Cox made the drive from Memphis to Nashville on Thursday to sign his new deal.

"I am excited to work with Brett," Cox said. "I've worked with him at the Pro Bowl, and I have already planned it out in my mind and stuff. So, I am excited to get together and get to work … and I am excited about being in Tennessee and where we could go. I think the sky is the limit."

ZACH CUNNINGHAM

AS ZACH CUNNINGHAM EMBARKS ON HIS TENNESSEE TITANS CAREER, WHAT HIS HIGH SCHOOL COACH WANTS YOU TO KNOW

BY BEN ARTHUR
THE TENNESSEAN
DECEMBER 24, 2021

Matt Glover remembers the play that sent Zach Cunningham's recruiting into the stratosphere.

It was Week 8 of the Tennessee Titans linebacker's senior year at Pinson Valley High School in Alabama. The other team ran the triple option out of the I-formation.

It tried to, at least.

Cunningham tackled the fullback, the quarterback and the pitch man. All on the same play.

Tennessee offered him at halftime of the game. Most of the SEC followed suit. Other Power 5 programs like Miami and Oregon hoped in the fray, too.

Cunningham had entered his senior year with just one offer, from UAB.

"He blew up," Glover, Cunningham's high school coach, recalled. "It was like overnight."

As Cunningham embarks on his career with the Titans, Glover spoke to The Tennessean about what he remembers about the NFL's 2020 tackles leader from his high school days.

Glover's responses have been shortened and edited for clarity:

The Tennessean: What first comes to your mind when you think about Zach Cunningham?

Glover: "Quiet. He was always quiet in high school. Never talked much. Just did his job.

"We ran a 3-4 (defense) and the linebacker beside him was the vocal guy. … He had to make all the calls because Zach just wouldn't talk."

The Tennessean: Was he a four-year varsity player for you?

Glover: "Yes. … I use Zach all the time as an example to kids about (how) you never know as a freshman what a kid is gonna turn out to (be). … If you told me Zach Cunningham would've been playing college football and then play in the NFL as a freshman (in high school), I would've called you a liar. He grew and got taller and just got a lot better.

"He was actually a running back when I got him as a freshman. He was tall and lanky, so we moved him to linebacker."

The Tennessean: Why would you have been shocked if someone told you he was going to end up in the NFL?

Glover: "I think he wanted to be a running back. And I think he really didn't want to be a linebacker, so I don't know if he really bought into the change in positions because he'd always been a running back.

"I think he played a little bit of running back as a freshman. And then when he got to his sophomore year, that's when we really moved him to linebacker. We started him at outside linebacker. He played outside linebacker his 10th grade year and then teams started running away from him, so we moved him to our inside linebacker (position) his junior year and senior year, that way he could go sideline to sideline."

The Tennessean: How would you describe what his game was like in his early days as a linebacker?

Glover: "Zach is very explosive. He's got a very good gift. He's long and he's a lot faster than you thought he was because he saw he was so long. … He was just a football player. Sometimes, you put a football player in any position and they're gonna thrive in it. And that's kind of what Zach was.

"He was pretty much I think the star running back in junior high and then he got to ninth grade and he wasn't really that guy. Moved to a different position and he just thrived there. He probably could've played safety, tight end. Any place and he would have been just as good."

The Tennessean: Zach is leaner than your prototypical NFL inside linebacker. Has he always been that way?

Glover: "I remember his junior year, Coach (Nick) Saban coming in. We had a receiver that everybody was looking at. He was a top receiver in the nation type. I kept telling (Saban), 'I got a kid here. He's skinny, but he's got (six) brothers and sisters. He can't eat like he needs to, but I think he's going to be really, really good.' So he looked at him … (his recruiter) was like, 'Coach, the only thing about Zach, we just don't know if he can put weight on his frame.' They didn't think he could put the weight on. I want to say when he graduated high school, he didn't weigh 165 pounds or 170 pounds.

"UAB offered him going into his senior year. … He did not get another offer until Week 8 of his senior year. And then he absolutely blew up.

"We were playing a team that ran an I-formation triple option. Zach, on one play, tackled the fullback, quarterback and the pitch (man) for about a four-yard (loss). So he tackled all three of them. Once he did that, he blew up, man. It was like overnight.

"I think his final (schools) were Auburn, Oregon and Vanderbilt. At that time, Auburn was actually going through a coaching change. (Gene) Chizik just got fired and (Gus) Malzahn was coming in. They offered Zach, and I think Zach liked Auburn. … Right there at the end, Coach Malzahn called and said they were holding the last linebacker scholarship for another kid. Zach's scholarship offer wasn't valid until that kid didn't come. And that's when he signed with Vanderbilt, which was a good decision.

“But he’s always been skinny. Always.”

The Tennessean: So Zach started blowing up after the massive tackle on the triple-option play?

Glover: “I remember Coach (Derrick) Ansley at halftime walking by. He looked at me. He said, ‘Tell (Cunningham) he’s got an offer (from Tennessee). I’ll be back Monday.’

“I knew the kid could play. Everyone knew he could play. It was just, you look at him and he’s a 6-3, 6-4, 165-pound MIKE linebacker. If you catch him between the lines, he was going to tackle you. He could run, was long, had great length. He had great power and explosion. He knew leverage real well. I think that’s what makes him such a great tackler.

"I mean, every high school coach we played against (talked about him). They still talk about Zach being the best defensive football player they’ve ever coached against. … He was just a tackling machine and people finally started noticing. Once they started noticing, it was crazy. It was just one after another after another after another. They just kept coming in and coming in.

"I remember being on the phone with a coach from Miami and they were flying up; I think it was the last day before the dead period to see Zach. I said, ‘Coach, he’s committed to Vandy. He’s pretty solid.’ He says, ‘Coach, we’re flying up anyway. We got to have him.’ It was really crazy.”

The Tennessean: Anything else?

Glover: “Going into his senior year, his cleats were messed up for practice one day. They tore up. We had a contract with Nike. So I asked him, ‘Zach, what size shoe do you wear, son? I’m gonna send (the torn up shoes) in and get you a new pair of shoes. He said, ‘Coach, I wear 14.’

"I get his shoes. I call the Nike rep. I say, ‘I need a pair of 14s.’ I send (the old ones) in. So I look at them, put them in the box in the back. I looked and they were a size 12. So he played his whole junior year in a size 12 shoe when he wore size 14.

"He didn’t complain. He never said anything. It’s just the way he was. He just did his job.”

BUD DUPREE

TENNESSEE TITANS' NFL FREE-AGENT SIGNINGS 2021: BUD DUPREE SHOULD HELP PASS RUSH

BY TURRON DAVENPORT
ESPN.COM
MARCH 15, 2021

NFL free agency is off and running, and we're keeping track of every major signing, trade and release of the 2021 offseason, with analysis from our NFL Nation reporters and grades from our experts. The new league year begins March 17 at 4 p.m. ET, which means free-agent signings can be made official after that. The first round of the 2021 NFL draft begins April 29 on ESPN.

The Titans have multiple roster needs that have to be addressed. Finding an impact pass-rusher tops the Titans' defensive needs list. Adding a game-changing defensive end/outside linebacker will likely take up most of their cap space that Tennessee has to work with.

The Titans could also use some help at the cornerback position, specifically at nickel. Wide receiver and tight end are the biggest needs for the Titans' offense. They'll need to find a kicker as well. Filling out the roster with limited cap space and 20 players that are set to become free agents won't be an easy task.

Here's a breakdown of every 2021 NFL free-agent signing by the Tennessee Titans, and how each will impact the upcoming season:

Bud Dupree, linebacker

The Titans have agreed to a deal with linebacker Bud Dupree, the former Steeler told ESPN's Jeremy Fowler on Monday. The deal will pay Dupree more than $16 million per year.

What it means: The Titans get much-needed pass-rush help by signing Dupree who had eight sacks in 11 games last season. Dupree had 11.5 sacks in 2019. The 6-foot-4, 269-pound outside linebacker complement's Harold Landry who is more of a speed rusher coming from the opposite side. Dupree's 24 tackles for loss over the last two seasons show he's capable of making plays behind the line of scrimmage which should help set up more third-and-long situations to allow the pass rush to go after the quarterback. The Titans allowed opposing offenses to convert on 51.8% of their third-down opportunities. That should change this season.

What's the risk: Dupree is coming off a torn ACL that occurred in Week 12 against the Baltimore Ravens. He told Fowler in early March he plans to be a full participant in an NFL training camp based on positive feedback from his doctors. The injury is a reason to be concerned, especially for a player that relies on his explosiveness to get a jump on the snap and rush the passer. The other thing to consider is whether or not Dupree will be successful without T.J. Watt on the opposite side. Dupree only posted 4.5 sacks in 2016 before Watt arrived.

Veteran Denico Autry has 30.5 sacks and 202 tackles in 96 games over seven seasons. Jeffrey Brown/Icon Sportswire

Denico Autry, defensive lineman

Autry agreed to a three-year deal with the Titans.

What it means: The Titans needed to add to their pass rush after struggling to sack the quarterback last season (19 sacks, ranked 30th). Titans GM Jon Robinson found a disruptive interior defender in Autry, who had 7.5 sacks last season with the Colts as a complement to DeForrest Buckner (9.5 sacks). Tennessee hopes to create a similarly disruptive tandem with Autry and third-year defensive lineman Jeffery Simmons. Autry created an additional five sacks last season and was double-teamed on 57.8% of his interior pass rushes. Now that the Titans have the interior rush solidified, they can turn their attention to an impact defender who can rush the passer off the edge.

What's the risk: There really aren't any risks. At 30 years old, Autry had his second-best season last year with the Colts and that was next to Buckner. The Titans are banking on Autry's ability to be successful without Buckner as his running mate. It's not out of the question as Autry led the Colts with nine sacks in 2018. He finished with 3.5 sacks the year before Buckner arrived in Indianapolis. Autry will be 33 years old by the time his contract with the Titans expires.

Kendall Lamm, offensive tackle

What it means: Lamm gives the Titans a reserve tackle that can back up starters Taylor Lewan and Dennis Kelly. Tennessee will likely lose veteran tackle Ty Sambrailo to free agency so signing Lamm who is a year younger is a good move. Lamm comes to the Titans from the Browns who employ a similar zone-blocking scheme. Just for good measure, Lamm caught a one-yard pass for a touchdown for the Browns in their Week 13 win over the Titans last season. Under Mike Vrabel, the Titans have used numerous tackle-eligible plays that have resulted in offensive linemen catching touchdowns. Lamm could follow in the lines of Kelly and reserve tackle David Quessenberry.

What's the risk: There really aren't any risks to this deal. At 28-years-old, Lamm is a veteran tackle that can fill in if called upon. His $8.5 million salary over two years is a bargain for a reserve offensive lineman.

EDGE RUSHER BUD DUPREE ALL SMILES AFTER FIRST PRACTICE WITH TITANS

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEE TITANS
AUGUST 6, 2021

NASHVILLE – In the grand scheme of things, it was just one practice.

But for Titans edge rusher Bud Dupree, it was a start.

"Everybody said: Welcome back," Dupree said after his first practice with the Titans on Friday. "(My teammates are) excited, just like I am excited. I haven't played football since December, so it is exciting for me just to be able to do the things I am doing right now. It is fun. I love this game, and I am excited to be on the Titans."

Dupree, signed back in March, practiced for the first time – on the team's eighth practice of training camp – after being taken off the team's Physically Unable to Perform list earlier in the day.

Decked out in No.48, with red socks, red gloves, and a red sleeve on his right arm, Dupree went through individual drills, and he worked in other periods as well. Dupree said coaches and trainers are deciding on how much he does as he works his way back from the torn ACL he suffered last season while with the Steelers.

It was a different look for Dupree, who wore black and gold with the Steelers since being drafted in the first round of the 2015 NFL Draft.

"It' different, but it's fun," said Dupree, who started 66 games and he posted 39.5 sacks, 231 tackles, 54 tackles for loss, an interception return for a touchdown and 65 quarterback hits in six seasons in Pittsburgh. "Change of color doesn't mean anything. You just have to go out there and embrace your new atmosphere, embrace your new team and put everything else behind you."

Dupree, 28, recorded eight sacks in 11 games in 2020 before suffering the season-ending knee injury and he also posted 31 tackles, 8 tackles for loss and 15 quarterback hits.

Dupree posted a career-high 11.5 sacks in 2019 with 17 quarterback hits and 16 tackles for loss. Dupree's 19.5 sacks over the past two seasons rank eighth and his six strip sacks rank fourth in the NFL since 2019.

During the offseason, Dupree rehabbed in both Arizona and Atlanta, and also in Nashville. The Titans placed him on PUP at the start of camp, and he's spent the past 10 days working inside and outside at Saint Thomas Sports Park with trainers, while attending meetings.

As Dupree edges closer to being 100 percent, he knows the biggest question centering him now is: Will he be ready for Week 1?

"God willing, I am," Dupree said with a smile. "I am working hard to be able to be in a position to play whenever they need me to play. If they want me to play Week 1, if they want me to play Week 2, if they want me to play Week 3, 4, or 5, it doesn't matter. But I know mentally and physically I am going to be ready.

"So I am just going to put everything on them to allow me to know when I'll be suiting up."

TITANS CORNERBACK KRISTIAN FULTON FULFILLS NFL DREAM JUST 2 WEEKS AFTER GRANDFATHER DIES DUE TO COVID-19

BY ERIK BACHARACH
THE TENNESSEAN
APRIL 25, 2020

Kristian Fulton was surrounded by family at his New Orleans home Friday night when he finally heard his name called in the 2020 NFL Draft.

One of his biggest fans, though, was missing as the Titans selected the former LSU cornerback in the second round.

Louis Fulton Jr., Fulton's grandfather, died two weeks ago because of COVID-19. So while Fulton saw his NFL dreams come to fruition Friday, it wasn't easy.

"Definitely was (difficult)," Fulton said on a conference call with reporters after being drafted. "There's a lot going on right now, just dealing with everything that's going on.

"It's crazy. I had just talked to him a few days before and he was telling me how he was still watching some of my old games that was coming on TV, and he was always watching and was always excited just to see me succeed. It definitely was tough for me."

Fulton, a 6-foot, 197-pounder, gives the Titans secondary a much-needed jolt. Known for his penchant for disrupting passes, the sticky cornerback was a second-team All-SEC performer in 2019. He had a red flag on his resume — Fulton was suspended for the 2017 season after tampering with an NCAA drug test — but a thorough vetting process left the Titans with no doubt that he had matured from the experience and was a high-character prospect.

Titans general manager Jon Robinson said he felt fortunate that Fulton was still available when the Titans were on the clock with the 61st overall pick.

When the Titans finally swiped him off the draft board, Fulton said he felt his grandfather's support.

"I know he was looking tonight and he's going to be with me along the way," Fulton said. "Me and my family, we're getting through, it's tough getting through it."

FOOTBALL FASHION AND FOOTWEAR HOW TITANS KRISTIAN FULTON BUILT A BRAND IN NASHVILLE

BY TURRON DAVENPORT
ESPN
JULY 16, 2021

NASHVILLE, Tenn. -- Although Tennessee Titans defensive back Kristian Fulton is entering his second season in the NFL, he is facing a different kind of rookie season this year. Kristian, 22, and his older brother Keith, 25, recently opened an urban wear boutique in Nashville called The Trenches.

"We came up with ideas and our goals, so when we had the opportunity we could make something happen. Once I knew I was going to the NFL and got the chance to make some money, that's really when it started to come about," Kristian said.

Kristian was drafted in the second round of the 2020 NFL draft (61st overall) and signed his four-year, $5.3 million rookie contract soon after. He played sporadically as a rookie, but finished with an interception and a sack. His season was limited due to a knee injury and being placed in COVID-19 protocol. He figures to be a key part of the secondary this season at right corner and as the nickel corner.

Kristian was destined to play in the NFL from his days at Archbishop Rummel High School in Metairie, Louisiana, where he was named New Orleans Defensive Player of the Year as a junior. The Fulton brothers played on the same high school team and shared dreams of playing in the pros.

"I expected to play football when I was younger. We played on the same high school team and won two championships. I played running back in college at four schools, chasing the dream of getting to that next level," Keith said.

Keith started with a scholarship to Mississippi College. He transferred to Southeastern Louisiana, then to Grossmont College before finishing his final two years at LSU.

While at LSU, as it became clear his NFL dreams wouldn't be realized, Keith made the decision to shift his focus to the management side of sports. He also developed a love for art, which would eventually grow into an idea for the layout of the boutique. Keith was intrigued by the prices he saw collectors paying for art. Being from New Orleans, a place where artists abound, made his interest even stronger.

Now that interest is on display, by way of the featured artists whose works rotate on a monthly basis inside the boutique. The decision to showcase artists offered the opportunity to become an investor while helping those who might otherwise not have a chance to sell their paintings.

"I see a lot of galleries here in Nashville, but not everyone is able to get into them. I thought it would be cool to showcase local artists and Black artists around the country. It was cool to give them a shot to sell their product," Keith said.

The Trenches features a unique blend of fashion, footwear and art.

"It all comes together. Clothes, music, art, it's layered," Keith added. "We tied it all together into one."

"There were a lot of [local brands] that we thought could do it big if they had the opportunity. Now, we want to give them a chance," says Kristian Fulton. Felice Brightman II

Their mother, Michelle Fulton, had similar business aspirations and is happy to see her sons make it a reality.

"I tell them how proud I am of them, because back when I was in college, my dream was to own my own business. A dream of mine has become a dream come true for them and it makes my heart full."

None of the clothing brands in The Trenches are mainstream names. Instead, the boutique features rising designers from New Orleans and other cities across the country.

"Everybody falls into the trend of high-end luxury brands. Growing up, we couldn't afford that, so we supported the local brands. There were a lot of them that we thought could do it big if they had the opportunity. Now, we want to give them a chance," Kristian noted.

There are typically four or five different brands featured in the store on a rolling basis. Kristian mentioned the "Fulton Kounty" clothing line as one of his favorites.

"That's a smooth design to come up with. Fulton Kounty, that's like a jail. That's how I'm going to lock everybody up," Kristian said, referring to his coverage skills on the football field.

The sneakers make up another part of the boutique's unique formula; the Fulton brothers didn't always have access to the latest and greatest sneaker releases. Keith recalled a time when he wanted to get the LeBron James Galaxy 9 sneakers, but couldn't get his hands on them.

"That's really the main thing. Giving other people the opportunity to have the chance to get some kicks they might not be able to get at the main stores," Kristian said.

According to Keith, it's really difficult to get a hold of new sneaker releases because of hoarders who buy up the supply. But the connections that he has developed and the doors that have opened because Kristian is an NFL player help the brothers get access to rare sneakers, like Nike's Kobe Mambas, various Jordans and more.

When it comes to the Fulton brothers' passion for shoes, the apple didn't fall too far from the tree.

"I am a shoe fanatic," Michelle said, "I start with the shoes and then I'll find the clothes to match. In their late-high-school to early college days, I began to notice their style take shape. It started with lots of different style tennis shoes. I'd tell them they reminded me of myself. I'd say to them, 'You are definitely my child,' because when they pack for a trip they have a separate suitcase for their shoes."

The Trenches isn't just a boutique for the Fulton brothers. It's a way to connect to the community.

As Kristian's business manager, Keith traveled to Nashville right after Kristian was selected in the draft, so he could network.

"I was thinking of different ways where he [Kristian] could introduce himself to the community in Nashville as a businessman, not just an athlete. I thought about the idea as a way that we can give back to the community," Keith said. "There's a lot of intimate but also family-oriented spots in New Orleans that we would go hang out at. There weren't too many places that had those spots that we are used to. We wanted to bring that here."

They've been able to bring the New Orleans vibe to Nashville through free seafood boils and other events that were hosted at the boutique, which is located on historic Buchanan Street in North Nashville.

The location is not a coincidence. They initially looked at storefronts downtown near the Broadway strip, only to find that they were too expensive. That's when Keith turned his attention to Buchanan Street.

"It's been a very popular area in the Black community in Nashville. We learned that quickly when we got here with the Black-owned businesses they have. We felt like it was the perfect location for us to keep it in the trenches, close to the community," Keith said.

The Fulton brothers' passions for fashion and art come through in the store's selection and layout. Felice Brightman II

The storefront sits directly on Buchanan Street next to a thriving Black-owned kitchen and lounge, and across the street from a flourishing Black-owned pizza shop. Naming the boutique "The Trenches" goes perfectly with the culture they came from.

"We feel like everybody is either actually from the trenches or they want to be from the trenches. It's a popular thing in our generation coming up. That's how we gravitated to the name. It's relatable," Kristian said.

For Kristian, a big part of being relatable is actually being present in the store. He wants his customers to have access to him to talk about fashion, football, footwear or anything else that will help provide a unique shopping experience.

Opening The Trenches wasn't easy, especially during the coronavirus pandemic. Despite being a sports management major at LSU, Keith didn't have any business experience. He had to rely on his research and some help from mentors.

They opened the boutique on Saturday, March 20 of this year only to close the following Wednesday because they sold all of their products. Now the shelves are always stocked and the boutique is prospering.

"Our saying is, 'The real always prevail.' There was a lot that we went through and there's a lot that people go through, too," Keith explained. "I feel like everybody -- well, most people -- can feel our story, where we came from and what we are trying to do. For us to make it out, we want to inspire everybody."

TENNESSEE TITANS' KRISTIAN FULTON IS CHANGING HIS DIET AND DOING PILATES — ALL TO GAIN A COMPETITIVE EDGE

BY BEN ARTHUR
THE TENNESSEAN
MAY 12, 2022

Tennessee Titans cornerback Kristian Fulton said he has changed his diet this offseason.

The former second-round pick has talked to several standout defensive backs across the NFL – fellow LSU alums and All-Pros Patrick Peterson, Tyrann Mathieu and Tre'Davious White among them – and his college position coach, Corey Raymond, for tips on getting through a 17-game season.

He has also taken up Pilates.

After an injury-riddled rookie season, Fulton became a productive starter, with 40 tackles, 14 passes defended and two interceptions in 2021. But he missed four games last season due to injury after being limited to six games in 2020.

"Can't eat ribs," Fulton said last week of his diet. "Basically, pork, I'm trying to cut that out. Having meal prep. Having someone make my meals for me instead of just going to buy food every day of the week. Stuff like that. I'm still learning on it. (I) just got a nutritionist, so I'll talk with him."

Fulton added that he hopes that Titans coaches trust him to shadow top receivers more in 2022.

With Jackrabbit Jenkins no longer on the roster, Fulton will enter next season as Tennessee's No. 1 cornerback.

"Playing smarter, playing faster, being more physical," Fulton said of what's next for him in Year 3. "I want to be around the ball more all year, however I can do that."

Fulton also shared his thoughts on Roger McCreary, whom the Titans selected 35th overall in last month's draft. The former Auburn star adds competitive depth to a cornerback room that features three other players selected in the first three rounds since 2020: Fulton, Caleb Farley and Elijah Molden.

"I like his skillset," Fulton said of McCreary. "I like the way he plays the game. I feel like he's got good feet at the line. He's patient, makes a lot of plays on the ball. I'm excited to see what he can do for our secondary to make us better."

TITANS SELECT MICHIGAN RB HASSAN HASKINS IN THE FOURTH ROUND (PICK 131) OF SATURDAY'S NFL DRAFT

BY JIM WYATT

APRIL 30, 2022

NASHVILLE – The Titans selected Michigan running back Hassan Haskins in the fourth round of Saturday's NFL Draft.

Haskins was taken with the 131st overall pick.

"I just feel like I am a powerful back, but I have everything in the tool bag," Haskins said. "I run angry. I am just a powerful, aggressive runner."

In 2021, Haskins ran for 1,327 yards and 20 touchdowns for the Wolverines. He racked up a career-best 169 rushing yards on 28 carries and tied a Michigan record with five rushing TDs against Ohio State (Nov.27).

During his career at Michigan, Haskins (6-1, 220) appeared in 37 career and carried the ball 452 times for 2,324 yards and scored 30 rushing touchdowns. He only had only 26 negative rushing yards his entire career. He also had 10 career 100-yard rushing games and did not fumble in 452 rushing attempts.

Haskins became the 24th running back in school history to surpass 2,000 rushing yards. He also caught 24 passes for 171 yards in his career.

He led all running backs at the NFL Combine with 27 bench press reps.

Haskins said he's looking forward to working with Titans running back Derrick Henry.

"It is a blessing," Haskins said. "He is one of the best. I am going to learn, and get better with him. I feel like it's going to be a good combination."

DERRICK HENRY SETS FRANCHISE TD RECORD

BY DAVID BOCLAIR

OCTOBER 31, 2022

Derrick Henry is now the Tennessee Titans' touchdown king.

The two-time NFL rushing champion became the team's all-time leader in touchdowns when he ran it in untouched from one yard with 6:31 to play in the second quarter of Sunday's 17-14 victory over the Houston Texans at NRG Stadium.

It was the 75th touchdown of his career and broke a tie with Eddie George, who scored 74 from 1996-03. Henry entered the game one shy of George's record and tied with Earl Campbell for second all-time.

Henry needed 93 games to break the record. George played 128 for the franchise from 1996-03, and Campbell appeared in 91 contests from 1978-84.

Player Years Total TDs Rush-Rec.-Ret.

Derrick Henry

2016-present

72-3-0

Eddie George

1996-03

74

64-10-0

Chris Johnson

2008-13

58

50-8-0

Charlie Hennigan

1960-66

0-51-0

The record-breaker was Henry's second rushing touchdown of the contest. It marked the second time this season and the 19th time in his career he scored multiple rushing touchdowns in a single game.

He has two or more rushing touchdowns in four straight against the Texans, which makes him the first player in NFL history to do that against a single opponent. In all, he has 11 career rushing touchdowns against Houston. Only Jacksonville, with 14, has allowed Henry to cross the goal line more often.

He matched George with a 29-yard touchdown run with 4:20 to play in the second quarter. That run, which gave Tennessee a 7-3 lead, also got him over 100 rushing yards for the fourth straight game (he had 12 carries for 105 yards at the time).

In all, he has 11 career rushing touchdowns against Houston. Only Jacksonville, with 14, has allowed Henry to cross the goal line more often.

Henry has scored at least once in five of the last six games.

A week earlier against Indianapolis, he missed an opportunity to equal another franchise record that he already shared with Campbell (1979, 1983) and DeMarco Murray (2016). Henry scored a rushing touchdown in five straight during the 2019 and 2020 seasons, both of which ended with him as the league's leader in rushing yards, but stopped at four in a row when the offense failed to score any touchdowns against the Colts.

Henry's second touchdown was the 75th of his career, breaking a tie with George atop the leaderboard. He came into the day with 73, tied with Hall of Famer Earl Campbell for second in franchise history.

Campbell played for the Houston Oilers from 1978-84. George played with the Titans and Oilers from 1996-2003. Henry has played for the Titans since 2016. His score Sunday was his sixth of the season. He had more than 100 yards in the first half.

HENRY JOINS MLS OWNERSHIP GROUP

BY DAVID BOCLAIR
SI.COM
APRIL 26, 2022

NASHVILLE – Derrick Henry is ready to tackle another form of football – from a completely different perspective.

The Tennessee Titans running back was one of three high-profile individuals who became minority owners in Nashville SC, that team announced Tuesday. Nashville SC is a Major League Soccer franchise that began play in 2020.

Henry joined actor/producer Reese Witherspoon and technology investor Jim Toth as part of the ownership group. According to the team, the two-time rushing champion is the fourth NFL player involved in ownership of an MLS franchise.

"As a kid growing up in Florida, I imagined being a professional sports owner and the opportunity to do that with a Major League Soccer club is truly a dream come true," Henry said via a release from the team. "My investment in Nashville SC is way more than financial, it's truly an investment in the city of Nashville. The chance to be part of a club like Nashville SC, especially after seeing what they are accomplishing in the community, was an opportunity I did not want to miss."

In its first two seasons, Nashville SC shared Nissan Stadium with the Titans while construction of its own soccer-specific venue was built. That facility, Geodis Park, opens Sunday when Nashville SC hosts the Philadelphia Union. All 30,000 seats for that game have been sold.

Nashville played its first eight matches of the current season on the road and went 3-3-2, good for eighth place in the Western Conference. Philadelphia (5-1-2) is currently in first place in the Eastern Conference.

"We meant it when we said we were doing this in Nashville, with Nashville and for Nashville," principal owner John Ingram said. "Having Derrick, Reese and Jim join our group signals our commitment to being a club that is going to do things at the highest level and with the best Nashville has to offer."

TITANS RB DERRICK HENRY APPLAUDS PREP STAR KAYLEB WAGNER, WHO BROKE HIS SINGLE-GAME RUSHING RECORD

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEE TITANS
SEPTEMBER 23, 2021

NASHVILLE – Back in high school, Titans running back Derrick Henry once rushed for 502 yards in a single game, setting a record many probably thought would never be broken.

This past Friday night, however, Baker High School (Fla.) junior running back Kayleb Wagner broke Henry's single-game rushing record by totaling 535 yards and six touchdowns.

In the process, he earned props from Henry.

"I think it is incredible," Henry said on Thursday. "I thought it was really cool. I got to talk to him a little bit on Instagram and hopefully he breaks some more. That was really cool, definitely an inspiration to me and I am sure he is an inspiration to his team and everybody over there in that community. It was definitely cool to see and hopefully I can do something for him these upcoming weeks. I love to see it."

Making Wagner's record-breaking performance even more impressive is the fact he was born without a left hand.

On Thursday, Henry said he gave Wagner words of encouragement.

"I just told him to keep going, keep working hard, keep God first, break some more records," Henry said. "I have been trying to talk to him to see what I can do for him. It is a cool situation. He was outrunning guys, guys weren't touching him, it was really cool. Records are meant to be broken and I hope he breaks some more."

Henry, who played at Yulee High just outside of Jacksonville, broke the 51-year-old national high school rushing record with 12,124 yards after compiling 4,261 rushing yards as a senior.

Henry a Heisman Trophy winner at Alabama who has led the NFL in rushing the past two seasons, said he wasn't shocked his single-game record was broken.

"Florida boys are different," Henry said with a smile, "so I knew somebody would come around and break it eventually."

DERRICK HENRY REWARDS TITANS' OFFENSIVE LINEMEN FOR 2,000-YARD SEASON WITH SPECIAL GIFT

BY TURRON DAVENPORT
ESPN.COM
MARCH 16, 2021

NASHVILLE, Tenn. -- Tennessee Titans running back Derrick Henry last season became the eighth player in NFL history to reach the 2,000-yard mark, finishing with 2,027 yards -- the fifth-highest total.

While Henry's feat has been recognized -- winning the 2021 Offensive Player of the Year award -- the fifth-year running back won't hesitate to give credit to his offensive line. That's why King Henry gave each offensive lineman a gold rope chain with a medallion that includes a crown at the top along with "2K" in diamonds.

The medallion also has each player's name engraved on the back with Henry's rushing total.

The jewelry is the latest in a line of gestures Henry has made to show his appreciation for the guys up front. Henry gifted each of his offensive linemen a Rolex of their choice after they helped him clinch the NFL's rushing title in 2019.

Then, Henry made sure they were taken care of at Christmas when he had arcade-style Pac-Man games sent to each lineman. In Henry's mind, it's only right to take care of his linemen because they take care of him.

"Like we always say, block longer than the guy with the ball, and those guys did a great job. I just had to go out there and do my job and those guys are physical," Henry said of the offensive linemen after rushing for 250 yards in the regular-season finale against the Houston Texans.

"Those guys are tight. They stick together. They help one another. They communicate. They work hard. They want to be great each and every day. I wouldn't want nobody else blocking for me but the guys up front. I couldn't do it without them."

DERRICK HENRY BECOMES TITANS SECOND 2,000-YARD RUSHER

THE TITANS RUNNING BACK BECOMES THE EIGHTH PLAYER IN NFL HISTORY TO REACH THE MILESTONE.

BY MICHAEL HOGAN
SPORTS ILLUSTRATED
JANUARY 3, 2021

A few weeks ago, a 2,000-yard season was just a possibility for Derrick Henry. In fact, he was a little behind pace.

But for the Tennessee Titans running back, nothing should come as a surprise. Certainly not another massive performance against a team he has dominated in recent seasons, the Houston Texans.

To become the eighth player in league history to reach 2,000 rushing yards in a single season Sunday, Henry needed 223 yards. And he got every last one of them and then some.

Henry entered one of the most exclusive clubs in football and all of sports, the 2,000-yard club, with a six-yard run on his 28th carry of the contest. It came with 7:46 to play.

Henry finished with 250 yards on 34 carries (both career-highs) as the Titans outlasted the Texans 41-38 to finish first in the AFC South for the first time since 2008. His final total of 2,027 yards is the fifth-highest single-season total in NFL history.

“I am very thankful for those guys [on the offensive line],” Henry said. “I told those guys in the locker room, every single one of them, how thankful I was for them. I wouldn’t want anybody else blocking for me. I couldn’t do it without them.”

Henry makes the Titans the first NFL franchise to have two 2,000-yard rushers. Chris Johnson earned his ‘CJ2K’ nickname when he rushed for 2,006 yards in 2009. Johnson gave his reaction on Twitter, saying “2 2k’s!!!!

The 2015 Heisman Trophy winner at Alabama becomes the first running back to reach the milestone since Adrian Peterson did it with the Minnesota Vikings in 2012.

“I keep saying it’s a really cool moment, a really cool thing,” right tackle Dennis Kelly said. “That’s something when you’re older, when you’re done playing, you’re able to talk to your kids, that’s something you can look back and be like, ‘I did that.’ Instantly, there’s this bond that we all accomplished this together.

From the start of Sunday’s contest, the two-time rushing champion had the looks of a man on a mission. Henry had more than 100 yards rushing by halftime, including a 52-yard touchdown run in the second quarter. He added a six-yard touchdown in the third quarter. He surpassed 200 rushing yards for the game on the Titans’ second offensive series of the third quarter. At the start of the fourth quarter, he was 18 yards away from 2,000.

Henry said that he knew somebody had been keeping track of his progress toward 2,000 yards throughout the game. Quarterback Ryan Tannehill, who had the greatest statistical season of any Titans quarterback, said he didn’t have much of a clue about how close Henry was getting. He is happy to have been a part of it, though.

“I enjoy, like I said, every opportunity I get to go out and play on Sundays or Saturdays,” Tannehill said of the day. “You know, it's something that when you go through what I went through over the past couple years, you appreciate it a little bit more. So, to be able to get into the playoffs for a second time, win the division, it's definitely a moment I'll look back on and really appreciate.”

In the process of gaining the final yards to reach 2,000, Henry had one mistake that clearly did just enough to bother him to the point where he was not all smiles after a massive performance in a memorable victory.

He lost his second fumble of the season late in the third quarter -- a rare mishap from a player who almost never coughs up the football. The Texans scored a touchdown plays to close the Titans’ lead to three, 31-28.

“You know, after rushing 2,000 yards, but I'm serious, right now I'm just pissed off at myself for the mishaps that I had,” he said.

While Henry wouldn’t acknowledge much about his season, it has been historic.

He is the 10th player since 1953 to be the league’s rushing champion in consecutive seasons, and the other nine are members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Four of the previous 2,000-yard rushers also have a spot in Canton, Ohio.

In leading the league this season, Henry had seven 100-yard performances and three others with more than 200 yards. He is the first player to have three 200-yard rushing performances in a season since 2016 and fifth overall since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger. Only a handful of running backs have had one 200-yard rushing game since 2018.

Henry now has five career 200-yard rushing performances, and three of them have come in his last three games against Houston. He is the first player in league history to have that many against a single opponent.

A player who notoriously takes zero credit for his accolades and commends his teammates for just about everything he accomplishes, Henry might as well start writing his Hall of Fame speech.

He will have a lot of people to thank.

“I'm just thankful for my teammates,” he said. “Thankful for all of them, you know, week in and week out, you know, them doing their job. Just the unselfishness that they have for my success, I'm very thankful.”

But for now, reflection is something that will have to wait until this season is actually over.

“Regardless of if I got it, I did it or I didn't,” he said. “I wasn't pressing for it. I just wanted to be able to win the game as a team and make it to the playoffs in the division.”

TITANS RB DERRICK HENRY DONATES $10,000 TO NASHVILLE FIREFIGHTER WHO LOST HOME IN FIRE

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEE TITANS
MARCH 1, 2021

NASHVILLE – His 2020 season over, Derrick Henry was in already offseason workout mode a few weeks back, preparing for what's ahead.

But the Titans running back stopped in his tracks when he saw a heartbreaking story on his Twitter feed, and he wanted to do something to help.

The beneficiary: Nashville firefighter Jeremy Taylor, a Titans season ticket member and father of four daughters who lost his new home to a large fire recently.

Taylor was surprised at his fire station last week with $15,000 donation -- $10,000 from Henry's 'Two All' Foundation, along with a $5,000 contribution from Campbell's Chunky Soup.

The good deed was prompted by Henry, who took a screenshot of the Twitter post on the story and asked a member of the Titans organization how he could help.

"I saw the tweet and I was just touched by it, losing a home is such a tragic occurrence," Henry said. "Not only did I see the tweet but I saw that he was a Titans fan and also a first responder. Nashville has been through so much as a community – the tornado, the pandemic going on, and then the Christmas bombing. I just wanted to be able to help someone in need and someone who has been helping everyone else throughout this pandemic."

Taylor and his family were not in their new home at the time of the early morning explosion and fire on January 30, but they'd moved all their belonging into the White Bluff residence and were preparing to move in after finishing a checklist at the home they'd recently sold.

Taylor, his wife Lauren and their daughters, ages 13, 12, 11, and 8, lost everything in the fire.

"I thank God we weren't home, and nobody got hurt," Taylor said.

Taylor said it's been an emotional time. He's been buoyed by the support of friends, and fellow firefighters.

Then came the act of kindness from Henry, and Campbell's.

When Taylor got to work last Wednesday, he got a big surprise. After watching a video message from Henry, who explained why he wanted to help, Taylor also received a signed No.22 jersey from the NFL's Offensive Player of the Year in 2020. Titans cheerleaders and others from the organization were on hand for the check presentation.

"I am blessed, very blessed," Taylor said. "(This) has definitely been a blessing to my family. I am very overwhelmed. I don't know what to say."

Henry said he was more than willing to help.

"I was just touched by what I had seen about Jeremy and his family on Twitter, and just wanted to do anything I could to help them," Henry said. "I'm very thankful to be able to have Campbell's come in as well to try to help Jeremy and his family. Just touched by his family and wanted to help Jeremy in his own time of need."

TITANS' DERRICK HENRY HONORS VICTIMS OF RACIAL INJUSTICE BY WEARING THEIR NAMES ON HIS SUIT

BY ERIK BACHARACH
THE TENNESSEAN
SEPTEMBER 14, 2020

Derrick Henry continues to raise the bar with his travel attire, but his outfit this time was much more than a fashion statement.

Henry on Sunday honored victims of racial injustice by wearing their names on his suit. As the Titans arrived in Denver ahead of Titans-Broncos on "Monday Night Football" (9:20 p.m., ESPN), Henry exited the team plane wearing the suit. The Titans posted photos of it on their official Twitter handle with the caption: "It takes all of us."

Henry led the league in rushing last season with 1,540 yards and was a first-time Pro Bowler. In July, the team re-signed him to a four-year, $50 million deal.

The Titans were one of a handful of NFL teams to cancel practice on Aug. 27 in the wake of the police shooting of Jacob Blake in Kenosha, Wisconsin, which occurred a few days earlier.

Titans' Derrick Henry wears a suit honoring victims of racial injustice by wearing their names on his suit as he arrives for the team's first game against the Denver Broncos.

It remains to be seen whether Titans players will peacefully protest during Monday night's national anthem, as several NFL players around the league did Sunday. Titans coach Mike Vrabel said that any protests would come as a decision by his players. Defensive lineman and team captain DaQuan Jones said Friday that the team was still discussing what they might do ahead of Monday night's kickoff.

"I think our players will do what they feel comfortable doing, and we will support that," Vrabel said on Friday. "We always have those conversations. It's about respect and it's about listening.

TITANS RB DONTRELL HILLIARD AIMS TO CARVE OUT A ROLE FOR HIMSELF IN 2022

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEETITANS.COM
JUNE 10, 2022

NASHVILLE – Dontrell Hilliard didn't arrive with a lot of fanfare in 2021, and when he re-signed with the team earlier this offseason, it didn't create lot of buzz either.

But the Titans running back, who provided a valuable boost in Derrick Henry's absence the second half of last year, has gone about his business quietly this offseason while getting a lot of chances to improve.

And in 2022, Hilliard hopes he can help the team again.

"I just want to be me, and carve out my role," Hilliard said after an OTA this week. "I want to show the team that I can be that guy that they can depend on and trust and leave it all up to the coaches and the team."

Hilliard, who initially joined the Titans in October 2021, re-signed with the team earlier this offseason and he's taken part in all of the team's offseason program.

With Henry not present at the voluntary workouts, Hilliard has gotten a lot of work in the team's OTAs alongside veterans running backs Jordan Wilkins and Trenton Cannon, and rookies Hassan Haskins and Julius Chestnut.

"Every day we come out and fight," Hilliard said, "and come out and show that love and competitiveness to make us better."

In 2021, Hilliard impressed with his opportunities while working in tandem with D'Onta Foreman, who signed with the Panthers earlier this offseason.

In eight games for the Titans in 2021, Hilliard carried the ball 56 times for 350 yards (6.3-yard average) and two touchdowns. Hilliard also had 19 catches for 87 yards, with a long of 28 yards.

Hilliard's best game in 2021 came against the Patriots, when he carried the ball 12 times for 131 yards, including a 68-yard touchdown run.

Hillard, who played in college at Tulane, spent time with the Browns (2018-2020) and Texans (2020) before joining the Titans.

Over his career, Hilliard has accounted for 447 rushing yards and four touchdowns on 78 carries, also registering 41 receptions for 286 yards. As a returner, he has a 23.0-yard average on 43 kickoff returns.

Now, he's working to find a role once again.

"It's a lot of time, and you have to go out and take advantage of it," Hilliard said of the offseason program. "I feel blessed to have the opportunity, and by having the time you get more chances and more opportunities to go out and learn the playbook and the details that you need to perform your best."

BYARD SAYS HOOKER HAS FOLLOWED PROPER PATH TO LEADERSHIP

BY MICHAEL HOGAN
SI.COM
JUNE 3, 2021

Amani Hooker figures to make a bigger impact in more than one way this season.

First, the Tennessee Titans safety figures to be a full-time starter for the first time in his career after the team released veteran Kenny Vaccaro as part of a secondary overhaul in March.

He also hopes to be more of a leader for the defensive unit.

And nobody knows how to properly establish leadership than the man he will be playing beside in the defensive backfield this season, Kevin Byard, who has been a team captain in each of the past two seasons.

In order to become a good leader, Byard said, one must first be a good follower. And Hooker has done that well over his first two NFL seasons.

“I think Amani has been a great follower since he’s been here,” Byard said. “Watching me and (Vaccaro), or just watching any of the veteran guys and learning from them, learning how to be a pro.”

A third-round pick out of Middle Tennessee State in 2016, that’s exactly how Byard became one of the Titans’ most prominent voices in the locker room, for both on and off-field matters.

The Pro Bowler and All-Pro observed and learned from the likes of defensive back Jason McCourty and linebacker Brian Orapko.

Not only would Byard listen to what veterans had to say on a daily basis, but he paid close attention to the smallest of details. In the NFL, of course, doing the “little things” matters most.

“One thing that I did when I first got into the league was I looked at the parking lot,” Byard said. “When I got there in the morning, I was looking at cars ... what car is here early in the morning? Okay, this guy here. I was asking Jason, ‘Hey, what time are you getting here in the morning? Why are you coming here so early?’ They were getting rehab or doing the little things.”

A fourth-round pick out of Iowa in 2019, Hooker’s ascension to a more significant role on the defense started last season. His snaps with the defense increased, and when Vaccaro missed three games due to a lingering concussion, Hooker was called upon to start.

He finished tied for the team lead in interceptions with four and second in passes defended eight while also making 51 total tackles. All of those marks are career-highs.

Entering the 2021 season, Hooker is in a position to evolve as a leader for many reasons. Many younger players will fill the secondary after numerous moves in free agency and the NFL Draft.

But most importantly, he’s taken after many veterans over his first two seasons, including Byard.

“He’s into that role where he’s out there playing, he’s out there being more vocal, making calls and checks. That’s the start of it,” Byard said. “Going out there being sure of yourself, knowing what you need to do. When you assure yourself and know what you need to do, you can coach another guy up. I think he’s been doing pretty great at that.

“I think we’re going to be pretty good running mates this year.”

SIX THINGS TO KNOW ABOUT TE AUSTIN HOOPER, WHO HAS AGREED TO TERMS ON A ONE-YEAR DEAL WITH THE TITANS

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEETITANS.COM
MARCH 21, 2022

NASHVILLE – The Titans on Monday officially agreed to terms on a one-year deal with former Browns tight end Austin Hooper.

Here's a look at six things to know about Hooper and the Titans:

(1)- Hooper was a third-round pick (81st overall) of the Atlanta Falcons in the 2016 NFL Draft. With the Falcons, Hooper was named to the Pro Bowl in 2018 and 2019. He had his best season in 2019, when he caught 75 passes for 787 yards and six touchdowns. In 2018 and 2019, Hooper combined for 146 receptions over the two seasons, a total that ranked fourth among NFL tight ends during that span.

(2)- Hooper became a free agent in 2020, and he signed with the Browns. Hooper caught 46 passes for 435 yards and four touchdowns with the Browns in 2020, and he caught 38 passes for 345 yards and three touchdowns in 2020. Hooper was released by the Browns earlier this month, which made him a free agent.

(3)- In five NFL seasons, Hooper has played in 88 games, and he's tallied 298 catches for 3,024 yards (10.2-yard average), with 23 touchdowns. He has 31 catches of 20-plus yards in his career, along with four catches of 40-plus yads.

(4)- With the Titans, Hooper joins veteran tight end Geoff Swaim, who was signed earlier this month in free agency, on the roster. The Titans also have tight ends Tommy Hudson, Austin Fort, Ryan Izzo and Briley Moore on the roster. Meanwhile, tight ends Anthony Firkser and MyCole Pruitt are unrestricted free agents.

(5)- Hooper played collegiately at Stanford. Hooper played in all 13 games as a redshirt freshman in 2014, and he finished season with 40 receptions for 499 yards and two touchdowns. In 2015, Hooper had 34 receptions for 438 yards for six touchdowns. He was a finalist for the John Mackey Award and a first-team All-Pac-12 selection.

(6)- Hooper, who went to De La Salle High School in Concord, California, helped the school win three state titles from 2012-12. His father played football at San Diego State, and his uncle played at Stanford. Also, Hooper's brother, Justin, played baseball at UCLA and was selected by the Royals in the 14th round of the 2019 MLB Draft.

WHAT TIGHT END AUSTIN HOOPER SAID ABOUT FINDING HIS ROLE IN THE TENNESSEE TITANS' OFFENSE

BY EMMA HEALY
THE TENNESSEAN
AUGUST 2, 2022

Tennessee Titans tight end Austin Hooper has NFL experience lining up both in the slot and out wide, as well as in a three-point stance.

After signing a one-year, $6 million contract in March, he's bringing that versatility to a Titans offense that likes to employ multiple tight ends.

"I'm just trying to find my role in this team, whatever it is," Hooper said after the sixth day of training camp on Tuesday. "I'm just going to go out there and play tight end in whatever spot they ask me to.

"My job is to study every position we have, so if they need me, I can be put in any position."

Hooper played the last two seasons with the Cleveland Browns, where around 25% of his snaps came out wide or in the slot. Before that, he played four seasons with the Atlanta Falcons, becoming a two-time Pro Bowler. There, Hooper lined up in the slot or out wide half the time.

"I've proven I can do whatever is asked of me," Hooper said. "My job is just to be a tight end, earn my role here to the best of my ability and be a good teammate."

As part of his role as a veteran in the tight end room, Hooper has helped get rookie Chig Okonkwo adjusted to the NFL. Okonkwo's willingness to work hard during training camp has stood out to Hooper.

"He's a really athletic, hungry, young player," Hooper said. "It's not lost on me that a part of my role here is to help him out to the best of my ability, and that's something I embrace."

Despite six NFL seasons, Hooper is still adjusting to a new quarterback and to the Titans' offense, so he's taking as many reps as possible in training camp.

Even when he's not involved in a drill, Hooper is often off to the side, catching extra passes and observing quarterback Ryan Tannehill's mechanics from afar.

"Chemistry is just repetitions over time," Hooper said.

CENTER BEN JONES DOESN'T CAMOUFLAGE HIS FEELINGS – HE'S HAPPY TO BE BACK WITH THE TITANS

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEETITANS.COM
MARCH 18, 2022

NASHVILLE – Titans center Ben Jones signed a lucrative new contract on Friday before strolling down the hallways at Saint Thomas Sports Park for an afternoon press conference.

His attire for the special occasion? A camouflage jacket with a "Burkes Mechanical & Electrical" patch on the front, and a ball cap.

It was perfect.

"It's actually where my brother works – it's a Christmas gift," a smiling Jones said of the jacket. "My uncle owns the company (in Bibb County, Ala.). I don't like spending money.

"Free, free, free," Jones, smiling even bigger, said as he pointed to the clothing on his body, from his hat to his jacket to his shoes. "I don't spend money on clothes."

The Titans awarded Jones with a nice multi-year contract earlier this week, ensuring he'll remain in the middle of the line for the team in 2022, and potentially beyond.

On Friday, Jones discussed why it was so important to remain with the team.

"I am very excited," Jones said. "I want to finish my career here. … The guys, the coaches, the people in this building, from equipment guys to trainers to coaches and staff, everybody treats you a certain way – (people) are amazing. … I have been here, I love it. I am ready to finish it here and go win a championship."

A 10-year veteran, Jones has spent the past six seasons with the Titans. Jones said he received some interest from other teams, but he wanted to stay in Tennessee.

It's where he's been since 2016. Jones knows plenty has changed since he first arrived.

In 2017, Ben and his wife, Alex, established The Jones Mission Fund at The Community Foundation, which supports at-risk youth by providing grant funding, educational opportunities and additional resources to area nonprofits working to enhance the lives of children in Middle Tennessee and beyond.

"When I came here, it was just me and my wife, and now we have two kids," Jones said. "You are raising a family, looking at schools and everything like that. We love Nashville, we love the city. We are happy to be here.

"… We are so blessed to get this contract, and this contract is for us to help other people with it. It's not about us and our family, it's how many lives we can help here in Nashville and back in my hometown. We are going to try and do as much as possible for other people with this (contract)."

One thing that hasn't changed – and won't – is the center's toughness.

Jones has missed just one start for the Titans since arriving in 2016, after playing his first four NFL seasons with the Texans. Jones has started 96 of a possible 97 games since joining the Titans.

From 2012 through 2021, the University of Georgia product appeared in 160 of 161 possible regular season games, including starts in all but one contest. During his six seasons with the Titans (2016- 21), he was one of only eight offensive linemen to start at least 96 of a possible 97 games. He finished the 2021 campaign with an active streak of 40 consecutive starts, ranking third among centers.

Jones, whose father was killed in a helicopter crash when Ben was just 10 years old, said his mother instilled toughness in him at a young age not only as his mother, but as his coach in sports.

"I love playing the game," Jones said. "It's not just about the money or anything like that. I love winning, and I want to be out there with my teammates. If I am not out there, I feel like I am letting them down. So if I can play, if I can go out there and get up, I am going to play."

HOW BIBB COUNTY FOOTBALL GOT $10,000 FROM BEN JONES AND TENNESSEE TITANS

BY BECKY HOPF
THE TUSCALOOSA NEWS
DECEMBER 24, 2021

They boarded a chartered bus in the small Alabama town of Centreville on Dec. 12 and headed to the big city: Nashville, Tennessee.

It was going to be an exciting but sentimental journey, a last moment together for the seniors and coaches on the Bibb County football team, a trip to an NFL game, complements of the Tennessee Titans and starting center, former Choctaws star Ben Jones.

"We love the trip. It's something our seniors and the coaches look forward to each year," said Choctaws coach Matt Geohagan. "Ben and the Titans take such good care of us."

COVID-19 canceled last year's trip. The 2021 trip, because of continued pandemic safety precautions, canceled some of the things previous seniors enjoyed. Still, the day was going to be memorable: special guests of the Titans, a pre-game meal inside the stadium, Titans' swag like sunglasses, ear warmers, key chains, flags and towels — and, the highlight, meeting up with Jones after the game.

All that was pre-planned. What wasn't expected was what they took back home.

Jones and the Titans Foundation surprised the team with a check for $10,000.

"We had no idea that that was going to happen. Ben and the Titans Foundation totally surprised us with that," Geohagan said. "When I got here, Ben stepped in and helped with funding for buying things like helmets and cleats for the kids. He pours back into our community. This donation will really help us. We have a lot of equipment needs that we have to do every year, whether it's practice gear, shoulder pads, helmets. I have to replace some jerseys every year. There are so many things that you have to pay for every year just to keep the program running and to make sure the kids have the best and the safest equipment."

Before COVID, the trip included going on the sidelines pregame and a tour, led by Jones, of the Titans' facility.

"I've known Ben my whole life. We went to the same church," said Choctaws defensive back Steven Cash. "He's just a great family guy. He loves family. Loves people. Loves God. All the seniors look forward to this every year."

Cash had been to two NFL games before. Offensive lineman Preston Young had also attended an NFL game, an Atlanta Falcons game about eight years ago. But this game, a 20-0 win by Tennessee against Jacksonville, was different.

"It was fun just being with the seniors and the coaches again," Cash said.

"It's fun getting to watch and see all the different types of fans, being around Ben," Young said. "Ben is like a cousin to me. I've known him since like seventh grade when he came for a football camp and I was helping with it. He's a very laid back guy He loves family. He's very easy to get along with. Ben shows us that no matter where you're from you can do big things."

Jones was team captain and an all-state two-way lineman at Bibb County. He went on to start at center, beginning as a freshman, at Georgia and earned All-SEC honors. He was an ESPN All-American his senior year in 2011.

Jones was drafted by Houston in the fourth round of the 2012 NFL Draft and has been a starter for the Titans since 2016.

Each summer he hosts a free football camp at Bibb County, bringing in some of his NFL player friends. Bibb County's players have grown up either attending camp or helping out.

Tennessee Titans center Ben Jones lines up during an NFL game against the Cleveland Browns. Jones, a former Bibb County High School player, will be in Centreville in June to conduct a free football camp for kids age 8-14. [Associated Press]

"Anytime he's home for a break, he makes a point to come by the field house," Geohagan said. "Ben's very easy to approach. Our players have a whole lot of respect for him. They realize how great a player he is and how hard he works. Our whole community feels that way about Ben. He's a phenomenal person. He truly pours back into our community, especially our football program."

Geohagan said Jones has not only been a positive influence on the young men who come through Bibb County's program but some have even adapted a pre-game ritual Jones started in high school. He walks barefoot on the field before each game.

"I don't know where Ben got that, but it is true that he does that. Last year I used to see Baylor Hughey, who graduated, walk the field barefoot. This year I've seen Bo Burkes do the same thing," said Geohagan.

"This trip is really special, to see the opportunities that our kids are afforded, to be able to do this. Preston and Steven have been able to go to an NFL game before but there are many of our kids who have never been to an NFL game and may never get the opportunity again. It's really special for all of us."

TITANS CENTER BEN JONES OVERCAME TRAUMATIC CHILDHOOD

BY JOHN GLENNON
TITANS ONLINE
JUNE 22, 2016

In just three months, center Ben Jones has established himself as one of the livelier personalities on the Titans.

He's shared shocking stories about eating cockroaches and, yes, drinking his own urine on dares by previous NFL teammates, not to mention one about ripping the dreadlocks off a college opponent and tying them to his ceiling fan.

It's easy to believe the affable Alabama native, who's been known to break up monotonous practices with a joke as he and teammates are lining up for a play, hasn't suffered much in his 26 years.

But that's far from the case.

Jones' childhood and formative years were marked by a near-death experience, as well as the unexpected deaths of his father and a close friend. The combination of the events made Jones wonder why he'd been singled out to suffer, and caused him to question his own faith as well.

"Especially when you're young, you're like, 'Why is all this happening to me? What is going on?' '' the 6-foot-3, 308-pounder said during Titans minicamp.

Mom was 'a real rock'

A tortuous stretch of months for Jones began just a few months after his 10th birthday in 1999, when his father, Steve, died in a helicopter crash.

Steve Jones did timber work of all kinds, everything from planting trees to helping them grow and eventually cutting them down. He was aboard a helicopter that was spraying pesticide on Alabama pines when the chopper's fuel system malfunctioned. The crash killed Jones and the pilot.

Since then, Ben Jones has worn the No. 60 when it was available. It was the number his father wore playing high school football in Thomasville, Ga.

But it was Jones' mother, Vickie Jones, who became a bigger part of her son's life, even stepping into the role of Little League coach her husband had held.

"It was tough because I really relied on my Dad," Ben Jones said. "But my mom just stepped in and was a real rock. She was the discipline in the house. If I didn't do my running throughout the year, she'd wake me up at night and be like, `Hey, run to the mailbox and back,' and that's about a mile and a half on the farm.

"She stayed on us just like my Dad was doing. She pushed me to be who I am today."

'I still have screws in my head'

Only months after the passing of his father, Jones was battling for his own life.

Attending a high school baseball game, Jones was walking from his seat behind home plate toward the outfield seats, where his mother was watching the contest. But as he came around the corner of the dugout, Jones ran straight into the warm-up swing of a player, the bat thumping his uncovered skull.

Jones passed a doctor's concussion test afterward, so it looked like he might be OK. But his condition spiraled downward.

"I started throwing up because there was a blood clot was pressing on my brain, making me sick," Jones said. "It was very bad. I had to have emergency surgery to get rid of the blood clot on the brain. They went ahead and opened my head up and drained the blood clots out."

Jones remained in intensive care for a couple of days before leaving the hospital with some everlasting mementos.

"I still have screws in my head," he said, "so I guess you could say I might have a couple screws loose."

In order to make sure he didn't suffer any more damage, Jones had to wear a batting helmet to school for a year.

"I was the kid in class with the helmet on, the kid going to (recreation) with a helmet on," Jones said. "Fortunately, I was a pretty big kid, so nobody was going to say much to me."

'I just didn't understand'

Jones had to sit out a season of youth football because of the brain surgery, but by the time high school rolled around, he was back on the field, playing on the same team with his older brother, Clay.

But tragedy sought Jones out again during his junior year, when one of his best friends was killed in a four-wheeler accident. Jones was not present when it occurred.

Faith had been important to Jones growing up, but he found it hard to reconcile it with the events of his life to that point.

"I just didn't understand," he said. "Why is this all getting taken from me at such a young age? But stuff happens and at some point you realize, 'Hey, there's more in life like this.' So you have to grow up early."

The older brother of Jones' friend, a youth minister, spoke at the funeral and delivered a message that resonated.

"He said there's a reason (this death) happened, and I want somebody to get saved because of it," Jones said. "I feel like it helped a lot of people really turn their life around."

Since getting drafted by the Texans in 2012, Jones said he and his wife regularly attend religious retreats with other professional athletes, many of whom have lost parents, children or friends. He said they have all come to rely on team chaplains, spouses and family members to help them deal with hard times.

But Jones said his mother, who still works the 300-acre farm the family has had since he was young, has had the greatest influence.

“Everything is a learning point and you reach out to different people,” Jones said. “But my mom, really, she never cracked. Just seeing a God-fearing woman like her showed us an example every day on how to live that Christian life.”

TITANS CENTER BEN JONES' POWER IS STILL OUT, SO RYAN TANNEHILL IS LENDING A HAND

BY ERIK BACHARACH
THE TENNESSEAN
MAY 7, 2020

As of Thursday morning, 7,000 Nashville Electric Service customers were still without power after a damaging wind storm Sunday evening caused widespread outages.

Ben Jones was one of them.

The Titans center, like thousands of other Nashvillians, had been "roughing it out" for three days before his quarterback, Ryan Tannehill, lended a hand.

"I have a great teammate who is not staying in Nashville right now, so we are staying at his house," Jones said on a Zoom call with reporters on Thursday. "Tannehill came in clutch for us because it got a little cold (Wednesday)."

More than 130,000 customers in the Nashville area had their electricity knocked out by the storms, which brought straight-line winds up to 70 miles per hour. Decosta Jenkins, the president and CEO of Nashville Electric Service, said the storms "caused the largest number of power outages in my 29-year career at NES."

Jones said he felt fortunate to have a teammate like Tannehill, who is riding out the COVID-19 pandemic with his family in South Florida, where he spent his first six NFL seasons as a member of the Miami Dolphins.

Earlier this offseason, Tannehill signed a four-year, $118 million extension with the Titans after a career year in 2019 in which he was named to his first Pro Bowl and led the Titans to the AFC title game.

For Jones, it's one more unusual obstacle in an offseason full of them.

With team facilities closed due to the pandemic, the NFL offseason has gone entirely virtual. Jones is adjusting accordingly.

"I do a Zoom workout every morning at 5:30 — I try to get in (the weight room and work out before our kids get up," he said. "We have four guys in there, with a trainer in there, so I'm going through a program. And mainly I'm trying to be innovative with how to run, because you don't have a field like you normally have. So, I have a Peloton bike that I use a couple of times a week. I bought a sled that I am pushing in the yard. I am running sprints on the driveway, through the neighborhood. I try to get up early and do it so I don't have a whole bunch of people out there watching me."

With a 5-foot-11, 227-pound frame, Long has had his size questioned more than once.

AP All-Big 12 Team Football

"I'm going to give it to you straight — I've been hearing that since I've been playing football, and I've always came out on the upper end of that situation," Long said on a conference call Saturday. "So I feel like hearing that or going up against that, that gives me a little fire. So that's why I play bigger than what's on paper."

Titans coach Mike Vrabel said Long's size wasn't at all a deterrent, even citing Jayon Brown's frame — 6-foot, 226 pounds — as proof that you don't need to be huge to be a successful inside linebacker.

"The guy is an instinctive football player," Vrabel said of Long. "He loves football. He has proved to be a good special teams player. The size of linebackers has really diminished over the past 10 years. Most recently it is what is playing in college football. The more that offenses become spread out, the more that college defenses recruit athletic, quick, smaller backs. We are very comfortable with where we are with Jayon Brown and his development as a linebacker. I would say that David would probably fit similar to Jayon's size. As long as you give the guy, the player, enough tools in his tool box to play with his skillset and then try to develop some other things around it, I think that is always something that we are trying to do."

Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year

Long was the Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year as a junior this past season. He started all 12 games and led WVU with 111 tackles, 19 for loss, seven sacks, four pass breakups and forced one fumble.

"Just a really productive player," Titans general manager Jon Robinson said.

He was also prolific as an underclassman, racking up 141 tackles, 21 tackles for a loss and six sacks between his freshman and sophomore seasons.

Father was a heavyweight boxer

Where'd Long get his toughness from?

"I would say how I was raised," Long said. "My mom and pops never took no bull from their kids. They always wanted us to be better than average."

David Long Sr. was a former pro boxer who went 15-5-2 as a heavyweight. He got in the ring with Deontay Wilder before being knocked out by the future world champ.

"I was around probably in his later years. I don't remember his prime," Long said. "I was probably a little baby still, but the fights I do remember, he was getting a little older. I definitely was around when he was roughing up a few guys."

Long said he considered boxing when he was younger, but "I just had more love for football and basketball," he said. "But that was my offseason training. I did a lot of that boxing because it's a lot of work, full-body workouts and stuff."

TITANS LB DAVID LONG JR. PLANS TO BE MORE OF A VOCAL LEADER IN YEAR 4

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEETITANS.COM
JUNE 8, 2022

NASHVILLE – Titans linebacker David Long Jr. likes to let his play speak for him.

And, over the past three seasons, he's made more noise each year in the NFL.

Heading into Year 4, Long wants to be more of a vocal leader as well.

"It's really not my nature," Long said. "As far as talking goes, I am more on the quiet side. But you can't be quiet on the field, especially as a linebacker, as a leader on the defense. So that's a step in my game I am trying to improve in, whether it's on the sideline talking to the rookies or on the field, knowing what everybody's job is and trying to communicate."

Being around for all of the team's offseason program – including all six OTAs so far – has allowed Long to establish himself even more.

It's one of the reasons he loves working out with the team during the voluntary offseason program.

"This time right here is where we build relationships, especially with the rookies or any new guys that we've picked up. This is the grind right here," Long said. "The rookies come in and learn what we're about. I'm here, and I've been here, so I can give the pointers that I have. Right now, it's about stacking the days and getting better each day."

Long has been stacking some good seasons since arriving with the Titans as a sixth-round draft pick out of West Virginia in the 2019 NFL Draft.

In 2021, Long finished third on the Titans with 75 tackles despite missing seven games. It followed up his 2020 season when he played in 14 games, with five starts, and totaled 50 tackles. Long primarily played on special teams in 2019, but he earned the trust of the coaching staff to earn significant playing time in the team's three playoff games that season, including a start at Baltimore in the Divisional Round.

Now, Long wants to take the next step.

"I feel like I am still growing into the player I want to be," Long said. "I think I have gotten better every year since I've been here. … I am more of a vet now in the room, so it was important for me to be here to show that I am grinding.

"Now I know a lot (more than I did as a young player). It's about fine-tuning the fundamentals, and what else I can involve in my craft, whether it's blitzes or whatever that might me. Finding ways to get better, or finding ways to rally my teammates to do the same thing."

A 5-foot-11, 227-pounder, Long said he's working on every part of his game.

In addition to wanting to communicate better, he wants to be a better in every facet of his game, from blitzing to tackling to covering to how he drops in coverage and more.

He has an answer for anyone who might sell him short.

"I've been hearing the undersized stuff since high school, but it never changed the way I played," Long said. "It really revved me up, as far as that dog mentality. It is like, 'I am going to show you how big, or how little, you think I am.' That is just being me."

ROGER MCCREARY

TENNESSEE TITANS ARE GUSHING ABOUT ROGER MCCREARY - AND I DON'T BLAME THEM

BY GENTRY ESTES
THE TENNESSEAN
AUGUST 20, 2022

Tennessee Titans receiver Kyle Philips has seen enough of cornerback Roger McCreary in training camp to use veteran words like “technician” and “physical” when asked about him. Heck, he even called him "great."

“You wouldn’t guess he’s a rookie,” Philips said.

Fellow cornerback Caleb Farley used the “G” word, too, as in McCreary is "a great corner." Farley marveled at McCreary’s quick feet.

You can tell coach Mike Vrabel respects McCreary, too. He has continued to praise the cornerback's competitiveness and coachability, two terms of endearment for someone in Vrabel’s shoes.

“They may catch a couple on him,” Vrabel said, “but he’s going to keep competing.”

However the cornerback rotation shakes out for the Titans this season, it’s becoming a safer bet that McCreary is going to be part of it.

During Saturday’s preseason victory over the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, McCreary played multiple positions in the secondary, as has been the case in practices. He was a top-two cornerback opposite Kristian Fulton. Then when the Titans went to three DBs to match the offense, Farley came in to play the boundary and McCreary shifted to the slot.

Thus the Titans are trusting the former Auburn standout to learn two positions in a complicated defense in order to shift between them on a snap-by-snap basis.

Not bad for a rookie who hadn’t experienced NFL game action until Saturday.

“It is a little difficult,” said McCreary, who missed the Titans’ first preseason game with a minor injury. “It’s something different for me, but it’s something that I love. I love that I’m getting challenged. I love that this is new for me. This is great. Whatever position they want me to play, I’m there to help.”

Entering training camp, cornerback was one of the largest question marks on the Titans’ roster. While that is still the case, McCreary’s capable arrival has helped ease concerns – helping change the perception of a position group that is full of young talent.

The Titans worked up to that. They rebuilt their cornerback room the old-fashioned way – through the first two days of the draft. You’ve got a recent first-round pick in Farley, a recent second-rounder in Kristian Fulton and a recent third-rounder in Elijah Molden.

That trio was in place heading into this year’s draft, but general manager Jon Robinson added McCreary, using a high second-round pick that was a byproduct of the A.J. Brown trade. It's still early, but early reviews ... well ... you saw them above. They're great.

McCreary appears to have been a solid decision, even as he was a little bit of a leap of faith at the time.

For all the kind words about McCreary during an impressive first training camp in the NFL, you won’t hear him described as a prototypical cornerback for pro ball.

That’s because he’s not. He is 5-foot-11.

“‘He’s got short arms,’” said McCreary, repeating a line he has clearly heard before. “I’m sticky, though. I’ll be in situations, and I’ll be tight on my receivers. That’s exactly how I was in college. That’s exactly what I’m trying to do now in the league.”

McCreary hasn’t looked overwhelmed in the NFL. He hasn’t sounded overwhelmed.

And if you ask him, he’ll tell you that he hasn’t been overwhelmed by the transition from Auburn. Because the Tigers play in the SEC.

“I wouldn’t say it’s a huge leap,” McCreary said. “It’s really how the SEC is. It’s just a different mindset in the league now. … In the league, everybody is great. How can you separate yourself? You really have to pay attention to small details in the league, because everybody is talented. It’s crazy.”

“I’m not scared,” he added. “I’m ready for the challenge no matter what.”

As Philips said, you wouldn’t guess he’s a rookie.

NFL DRAFT 2022: WHAT AUBURN CORNERBACK ROGER MCCREARY BRINGS TO THE TENNESSEE TITANS

BY DAVID UBBEN
THE ATHLETIC
APRIL 29, 2022

Roger McCreary had plenty of options when Auburn elected to move on from Gus Malzahn and hired Bryan Harsin to replace him.

McCreary could have moved on, too. He was a first-year starter who proved he could compete in college football's toughest conference. But he stayed. And he did a lot more than compete. He closed the season as an All-American.

Last season, opposing offenses targeted him 75 times but only completed 34 passes in 13 games against him, according to Pro Football Focus.

He arrived at Auburn as a three-star recruit, barely inside the top 1,000 prospects in the Class of 2018. He left Auburn as the player the Tigers turned to when they needed to lock down opposing receivers like Ja'Marr Chase, Devonta Smith and John Metchie III.

McCreary went from overlooked to indispensable. Auburn named him the team's defensive MVP after the season.

"I just wanted to prove everybody wrong. That was my mindset — just prove everybody wrong and dominate the No. 1 receiver," McCreary said. "That was my mindset the whole time with a chip on my shoulder."

Nobody will be overlooking him anymore.

McCreary allowed catches on just 45.3 percent of targets in 2021. Among the 147 cornerbacks who faced at least 50 targets last season, that was the eighth-lowest rate in the FBS. Opposing quarterbacks also had a passing efficiency of just 93.9 when targeting McCreary. That was the seventh-lowest mark in the FBS in 2021.

Dane Brugler on Roger McCreary (No. 7 cornerback, No. 55 overall prospect in The Beast)

McCreary lacks ideal length, but he is a quick-reaction athlete with the ball skills and competitive mentality to face off against NFL receivers. He offers inside/outside versatility and should compete for a starting role as an NFL rookie.

Superlative

Don't test McCreary in man press coverage. No one is more disruptive. He's built to thrive in a scheme that will use him there most often. Last year, he forced 14 incompletions in press coverage. No other cornerback in the country had more than nine.

Best moment

McCreary has one of the shortest sets of arms of any cornerback in this draft at 28-7/8", but he is able to overcome that. Check out this one:

What you may have missed

He has a game weekend ritual that ended up becoming one of Auburn's pregame traditions. The night before every game, he eats a family recipe for baked beans topped with sugar. He even had some waiting for him at home after his pro day.

But it became so ingrained as his pregame custom that Auburn began serving that at every Friday night team meal before games. His teammate, Smoke Monday, managed to capture the ritual on film and posted it on TikTok.

ELIJAH MOLDEN

TITANS ROOKIE ELIJAH MOLDEN'S GOAL? PROVE HIS NFL VETERAN DAD'S HARD WORK PAID OFF

TURRON DAVENPORT
ESPN
JUNE 20, 2021

NASHVILLE, Tenn. -- Elijah Molden was still in high school when then-University of Washington defensive coordinator Jimmy Lake started teaching him the Huskies' scheme. Lake received a call from Molden's mother, Christin, saying the young defensive back had sketched out pictures of the defense he had learned and covered his bedroom wall with them like posters.

"This guy means business," Lake thought to himself.

That's the impression Elijah, who was taken by the Tennessee Titans in the third round of the 2021 NFL draft, often leaves on those when talking about football. After all, playing cornerback is the family business. His father, Alex, was selected by the New Orleans Saints with the 11th pick in the 1996 draft and went on to play eight seasons with the San Diego Chargers and Detroit Lions.

"It wasn't like, 'You're going to get to the NFL or else.' But it was kind of just assumed that I would get here," Elijah said.

Elijah's path to the NFL was created in part by a great understanding of football passed along from his dad, who spent countless hours breaking down film and coaching his son from a young age.

Growing up Molden

Elijah is the second oldest of Alex and Christin's eight children. Each of them was given a development plan. It started with gymnastics to learn balance. Then they transitioned to soccer to work on foot quickness and changing speeds.

After that, the Molden kids were allowed to play whatever they wanted -- not just football.

"Just because Daddy played doesn't mean you have to," Alex told his children. "But if you do, I got the playbook."

Elijah's love for football was sparked early when he was able to go into the Chargers' locker room with his dad. He got to hang out with greats such as running back LaDainian Tomlinson, linebacker Junior Seau and safety Rodney Harrison.

Watching his father run out of the tunnel before games to blaring hype music made Elijah want to follow in Alex's footsteps.

"There wasn't a day where I woke up and didn't want to be a football player," Elijah said.

He started asking detailed questions about football in the fourth grade. Alex wasn't surprised because he could see Elijah's passion and competitive spirit growing.

The next year, Alex and Christin allowed Elijah to play tackle football a year earlier than they had planned because Elijah needed that physical aspect of the game. His speed and strength stood out.

"I would get giddy," Alex said. "[Elijah] was using stiff-arms, blowing kids up. He was having so much fun. When he put on the pads, it was just like me when I played. It gave him so much freedom."

Breaking down film with Dad

Elijah initially wanted to play running back because he loved Adrian Peterson. But Alex encouraged him to play defensive back once he got to the eighth grade, knowing he could begin to share his knowledge and experience.

"I had to approach him," Elijah said of Alex. "He'd never just show me. He was hands-off until I showed him I wanted to know."

Alex wanted his son to think like an eight-year NFL veteran rather than an eighth-grader. Unlike typical fans, the two didn't take in a football game in a few hours. Watching games turned into a four- or five-hour session.

"I would pause it after a big play and ask him if he knew why it happened," Alex said of their film study. "I'd explain to him what the DB's read was. You have to learn the reads and the keys. I would break things down like route patterns.

"When [opposing offenses] get to the 50-yard line, what are you thinking? I'm telling him, 'They're going to take their shot.' When you get 3-on-1, what are you thinking depending on what receiver is on the field side? They're trying to isolate. That really helped with football IQ, having him watch film and break down what the receiver or offensive coordinator was thinking. It's all about tendencies."

This is where the foundation of Elijah's football knowledge was built, which impressed the Titans in pre-draft interviews.

"I think he's been raised well. He was just really intelligent," GM Jon Robinson said after the Titans selected Elijah in the draft. "He knew about our football team. He had prepared for the interview by watching our football team. He spoke highly of how we played and the effort and the finish with which we play."

How Elijah ended up in Lake's hands

Alex got to coach Elijah as his position coach at West Linn High School in Oregon. One of his proudest memories came when Elijah was only 14 and locked down an opposing team's wide receiver who had been offered a scholarship to Arizona. When Elijah was a freshman, he got his own scholarship offer from Oregon, his father's alma mater, after attending one of the school's football camps.

Other offers followed.

When he was a junior, Elijah was offered a chance to visit the University of Washington and watch spring ball on an unofficial visit. Alex didn't think the long drive to the Seattle area was worth it -- especially since the school was a Pac-12 rival of Oregon's. So Elijah and his mother took the three-hour drive without him.

They were blown away by the campus and the program, so they arranged another visit, with Alex this time. Everything changed for Alex after he met Lake. Suddenly, the idea of turning over the keys to Elijah's success to his alma mater's rival wasn't such a bad idea.

"[Lake] broke down film, and the attention to detail was on another level," Alex said. "Also, the success he had with defensive backs made me realize this was the perfect breeding ground. He coached in the NFL. That set off bells with me. Yeah, I would have loved for [Elijah] to be a Duck, but it was a perfect scenario for him to go there."

Lake, who coached defensive backs in the NFL for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (2006-07, 2010-11) and Detroit (2008), sold them on Washington's track record with defensive backs, such as NFL first-rounders Kevin King and Desmond Trufant.

"There was already proof in how we developed those guys, how they moved on and were successful in the NFL," Lake said. "Alex knew a lot of the guys that I had coached in the NFL and those guys being All-Pros, one of which was a future Hall of Famer in Ronde Barber, so he respected the process."

Lake, who's now the head coach at Washington, said Elijah was one of his favorite recruits to watch on film. He loved Elijah's physical ability and leadership, noting how the team would "sway with however Elijah was playing."

Elijah's inquisitive side came out as well. He asked detailed questions about the Huskies' techniques and scheme. Lake was impressed that Elijah wanted to know what everyone around him was doing in addition to what his own duties were.

"He prides himself on learning every detail of the defense," Lake said. "You could see that he was a football junkie. When you got him on the phone, you could tell that he had a passion for playing."

Another Molden's NFL journey begins

Elijah developed into a top NFL prospect, finishing with 153 tackles (seven for a loss), five interceptions, 19 passes defended and four forced fumbles in 36 games at Washington.

"With what I taught him and what Coach Lake taught him at UW, he was seeing things at a totally different rate of speed," Alex said.

NFL scouts saw Elijah as one of the best nickel defenders in the 2021 draft class.

ESPN NFL analyst Louis Riddick jokingly referred to Elijah as the "Jedi of the slot" because of how well he played the nickel position.

"It's Luke Skywalker-type stuff. He can see all of these things, but there's never any panic," Riddick said. "There's a lot of chaos around him, but he's in control. That to me signifies a guy who's really dialed in to the game at another level. He comes from great bloodlines, and that stuff transfers. He'll quickly adapt to the pro game."

Making it to the NFL was always Elijah's goal, but the rookie said he isn't satisfied. For him, it's time to make sure all of the hard work his father poured into him pays off.

Elijah's message to his dad for Father's Day shows how much all of the lessons mean to him.

"Thank you for letting me live out my dreams and always giving me advice, keeping things in perspective," Elijah said. "When I step on the field, I can do what I do because of you, and when I'm off the field too. I appreciate that, and I love you!"

BY STAFF REPORTS
ASSOCIATED PRESS
NOVEMBER 26, 2021

Titans rookie cornerback Elijah Molden frequently talks to his father, Alex, a first-round pick by New Orleans in the 1996 draft, about football for advice.

When it comes to making a trip to a new stadium on the road like Gillette Stadium in Foxborough on Sunday, that's not the type of scouting information the rookie wants from his father.

"I mean, there's really only a handful of teams where he didn't play," Molden said.

His father played 98 games over seven seasons, the first five in New Orleans, two in San Diego and two games his final season with Detroit. His son did notice his father playing against the Patriots on TV recently.

"I think we were watching, you know, Tom Brady's new documentary, and I saw 25 for the Chargers on that," the rookie cornerback said. "They were getting torched. But yeah, I think that he's played almost everywhere."

Elijah Molden, the 100th pick overall in April out of Washington, has started four of his 11 games this season. He also has a pick-6 in Tennessee's win over Indianapolis.

CHIG OKONKWO'S CREW: TITANS REMIND HIM OF HOME, REFLECT NFL'S AFRICA PUSH

BY JOE REXRODE
THE ATHLETIC
AUGUST 22, 2022

Titans rookie tight end Chigoziem Okonkwo got the football bug in second grade, his first year of playing and the first year he realized he could make some money off it.

So obsessed was young Okonkwo with the sport that he made sure it was on any TV he was around in his hometown of Powder Springs, Ga. He read whatever he could read, memorized every stat, every player, every bit of analysis he could find. He so impressed his classmates at the lunch table that he started charging them $1 apiece — or an ice cream cup, their choice — for his commentary. They paid it, until the principal found out, halted the operation and called Okonkwo's parents.

"I told (the principal) it would never happen again," Okonkwo's mother, Isioma, recalled of a conversation from 15 years ago. "But I was so proud of that boy. He came home and thought he was in trouble, but I said, 'That's a very, very good thought, that is our culture, and maybe some time in the future you can bring that out. For now, allow your friends to come listen to you talk about the football for free.'"

Entrepreneurship is a staple of the Igbo people of Nigeria, Isioma said, and that's the first thing that came to mind for her and her husband, Charlton, when they heard of their youngest child's exploits. Nigerian culture is something they talked about throughout the raising of Okonkwo and his two older sisters. It is something Okonkwo became more aware of at 15 when his father tragically passed away of a heart attack while out to dinner with his mother. And it is something he celebrates daily now.

Saturday, a night that saw Okonkwo catch a touchdown pass from Malik Willis in a 13-3 preseason win over Tampa Bay at Nissan Stadium, could be the last time a group of Titans who have bonded over their shared heritage are all in uniform together. Tuesday is another roster cut day, to get it down to 80. The Titans waived four players Monday, so one more must go. Okonkwo and four Nigerian teammates have very different stories and football trajectories.

Okonkwo, a promising fourth-round tight end out of Maryland, will be on the team and potentially a handy addition to the passing game. Ola Adeniyi, born in Nigeria, raised mostly in Houston and a Nashville revelation last season, should again provide quality outside linebacker depth. David Anenih, born in Dallas to parents who had recently moved from Nigeria, has been a pass-rushing standout in two preseason games, and the rookie looks like a practice squad candidate at least. Rookie tight end Thomas Odukoya, born in Amsterdam to a Dutch mother and Nigerian father, can occupy that practice squad without costing the Titans a spot — that's the advantage of the NFL's International Player Pathway program, which got Odukoya to Nashville.

"But I feel like I've got to come out every day and prove I deserve that spot," said the 6-foot-6, 253-pound Odukoya, who dominated club football in the Netherlands, sent highlight tapes to coaches all over the United States, played for two junior colleges and finally found success at Eastern Michigan.

The guy to watch Tuesday is defensive tackle Sam Okuayinonu. "Sam O.," as they call him around Titans camp, is a popular figure around the team. He's close with Okonkwo, his Maryland teammate, and that relationship is part of why Okuayinonu signed with the Titans after going undrafted. He was a captain at Maryland and he's doing all he can to add his name to an NFL trend and pursuit — the league is pouring resources into outreach efforts in Africa. Last season it reported more than 100 players on active rosters who were either born in Africa or whose parents were born in Africa.

Okuayinonu also is quite undersized for an NFL defensive tackle at 6-1, 269, and based on his opportunities and play in camp he's an active roster long shot, a practice squad hopeful and a Tuesday cut candidate. Ask Okonkwo about Okuayinonu and he'll tell you he's "an inspiration to me" and someone who shouldn't be underestimated. He's certainly been through more than most, seeing things as a young child that no one should have to see.

Born in Monrovia, Liberia, to a Liberian mother and Nigerian father, Okuayinonu was raised there by his mother, Clara, and was attending her college graduation party as a 5-year-old in 2003 when gunfire turned the celebration into chaos. The Second Liberian Civil War, which had been raging since 1999, had reached the doorstep of Monrovia. He ended up separated from his mother, fleeing with his aunt and cousin.

"The gunfire was so heavy, we couldn't turn around," said Okuayinonu, who ended up south of a primary bridge near the city, hiding in an uncle's house, protected from becoming a child soldier but not from seeing dead bodies floating in the water or starving people resorting to cannibalism.

He found out his mother was still alive when her first shipment of food — delivered by clandestine kayak — arrived. They could not speak or communicate for months, until the August 2003 ceasefire resulted in the reopening of the bridge and thousands of people streaming across to find their loved ones. That's a memory seared into Okuayinonu's brain.

"An incredible moment, a blessing," he said. "My mom's my everything. I got to reunite with her, and a lot of kids didn't get that privilege."

They moved together a few years later to Lowell, Mass., where some of their family members had already relocated. That's where he fell in love with American football. That's how it usually goes for kids from other parts of the world with a sport that dominates American culture but does not have the global pull of sports such as soccer or basketball, and that's what the NFL wants to change. That's how it went for Chic Ejiasi, too.

Ejiasi was born in Houston to parents who had recently emigrated from Nigeria. The family moved a few years later to Iowa, where Ejiasi's parents worked as nurses and he became an Iowa Hawkeyes enthusiast. He eventually walked on to Kirk Ferentz's program, lettering all four seasons as a defensive back and contributing to Big Ten championship teams in 2002 and 2004. He graduated with a health and sports studies degree in 2005, tried coaching briefly but ultimately returned as the program's first director of player development — helping players transition from high school to college, helping them excel in college, helping them find internships and employment.

The Titans hired him away from Iowa in 2016 to be their director of player engagement. He has been with the franchise since and he and his wife, Ellie, have a 2-year-old son named Obi — officially Miles Obioma, Obioma translating to "kind hearted." Ejiasi's job is much the same, helping Titans transition to this life. He loves serving and seeing young professionals benefit from and give to their community. He might be having as much fun during this preseason camp as he's had in this job.

"Taking over the league," Ejiasi said with a smile of the increase of African players in the league and with the Titans, which has meant in recent weeks a lot of sharing of stories, conversations about culture and even discovering others on the team with African heritage — such as receiver Nick Westbrook-Ikhine and safety Josh Kalu.

"It's like we kind of all have that understanding of how we grew up," Ejiasi said, and they all have strong feelings on how that culture led them here.

Ejiasi: "For me it was, we were very academically focused in our family. All about giving our best and trying and being the best we could be, especially academically."

Anenih: "I would say it's a pretty big difference from American culture. In terms of how to live, maturity. Like my parents, they've done a really good job of teaching me how to live and good habits to have. … Respect. Respect for your elders, that's probably the biggest thing I would say."

Adeniyi: "We see our elderly, we respect them. We respect everybody we come around. Coaches, custodians, cafeteria ladies. That's what it is."

Okuayinonu: "To me it's like there's a little bit more pressure to go harder, knowing the sacrifices my mom made to make this possible for me."

Odukoya: "Obviously there's the genetic component of being big and strong, and I'm proud of that, but I also think Nigerians are known for their hard work and work ethic, which you need in the NFL. That shared culture, we definitely take pride in that."

Okonkwo: "Relentless hard work. That's the only way you're going to get anything in life."

Okonkwo also realized he had misperceptions of Nigeria until he visited for the first time. This was in 2017, three years after the tragic passing of his father, to visit extended family and celebrate the life of his father with them.

"People obviously have a negative perception of Africa. They think it's like dirt, everything is poor. That's not the case. It's literally like anywhere else," Okonkwo said. "If you see my uncles' houses over there, they're bigger than multi-million dollar houses here. That's a big thing I took away, the perception and reality. Everything isn't dirt and poverty."

Okonkwo would like to go back soon to get involved in outreach efforts, NFL-devised or otherwise. Adeniyi is committed to doing so next offseason, as part of NFL Africa. Former Giants star defensive end Osi Umenyiora, who was born in London to Nigerian parents, brought the idea to NFL commissioner Roger Goodell years ago and led in June in Ghana an event called NFL Africa: The Touchdown.

It included a combine-like development camp, a flag football clinic and fan events. The idea is to find and develop talent but also to increase international exposure to the game. The Philadelphia Eagles, for example, are marketing in Ghana as part of an effort to create regional fandom for various teams in different parts of the continent. This had to make business sense for the league to happen. The NFL reports 85 foreign-born players took at least one snap in the 2021 season — compared with 62 in 2014 — and that Nigeria, Canada and Australia are driving the growth.

But for Umenyiora and others with African roots who took part and will continue to take part, it's personal and about providing opportunities. The NFL isn't the only pathway for football to change a life. College football can open many more doors for kids with ability. Foreign-born FBS players more than doubled from 2014 to 2020, from 162 to 325. Roman Oben, the NFL's vice president of football development and the first Cameroon-born player drafted into the NFL, said he got emotional on the trip to Ghana.

"The school kids, the genuine passion and excitement they had, the appreciation, it takes you back," said Oben, a 12-year offensive tackle who won a Super Bowl with the Bucs. "It makes you think about where you came from."

And sometimes that's best explained with a story. Second-grade Okonkwo was surprised that day he came home from school and his parents weren't mad about his entrepreneurial efforts. A couple years later, he came home proudly showing them a 93 he got on a math test.

"A 93?" Isioma Okonkwo said to her son. "Did somebody get 100? Why weren't you the one who got 100?"

NICHOLAS PETIT-FRERE'S BETTER PUNCH A KEY TO HIS PROGRESS FOR TITANS

BY PAUL KUHARSKY
PAULKUHARSKY.COM
AUGUST 8, 2022

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – When the Titans landed third-round target Nicholas Petit-Frere on schedule, 69th overall, the reviews said he came into the league with great feet but in need of work on his hands.

Petit FrereThe well-spoken, 6-foot-5, 319-pound offensive tackle has made great gains in that department. He's now three practices into his turn as the starting right tackle after watching 2021 second-rounder Dillon Radunz start off at the front of the line.

NPF got off to a rousing start Friday in a 2-minute drill, handling Harold Landry a few times and DeMarcus Walker in another chance in very physical fashion.

He said he's made a great deal of progress with his hands since he arrived in Nashville.

"That's something that coach (Mike) Vrabel and coach (Keith) Carter have talked about, that we need to have great violence in our punches, that's what we teach here," Petit-Frere said. "So that's something I don't just work on on the field, I work on that off the field and in the weight room as well. Hopefully, that's been paying off, hopefully that's been showing and I can keep improving."

Inside, Petit-Frere and plenty of players work on The Difference.

"While coaching at Ohio State, you only got to work with the guys so much with whatever the rules were back in 2010 or 2011," Vrabel said. "So, we tried to come up with something – Anthony Schlegel came up with something that you could put on a weight room rack for blow delivery. It's been a product that we've used since he came up with it.

"We talked about trying to put something together and he's really made it a passion to try to promote that. We think it's important. It's just an apparatus they can use in a weight room with a pad and a spring-loaded device that allows players to punch, use their hands, make sure that they're inside, and that they're tight."

"We work on our strikes and punches and it shows us how good our speed and accuracy are," Petit-Frere said. "Outside I do the same thing, work on punches, the speed and accuracy of them, try to get to my landmarks and things like that."

Carter has been pleased with his rookie's progress.

Taylor Lewan has been complimentary of the team's newest tackle, pointing to the Dustin Hoffman character "Rainman" as a reference point.

"He's super intellectual, he does kind of give off that vibe," Lewan said. "Smart, he keeps to himself, he asks good questions, he knows the playbook pretty well for a rookie. From a maturity standpoint, he seems much more developed than I was at that point, but the same goes for Dillon."

While NPF has flipped with Radunz at right tackle, Aaron Brewer remains in place as the starter at left guard, where Jamarco Jones was slated to be his top competition.

One running theory among media watching practice is that perhaps if Petit-Frere can pull away and the Titans think Radunz may be one of their best five linemen, he can be moved into a left guard competition with Brewer.

The team has been awfully high on Brewer, however. So we'll see. There are three games and still over a month before the season opener. I won't dismiss any possibility yet.

"It's about getting as many reps as you can, as many competitive reps as you can, because that's when you build great habits," Petit-Frere said.

As for the Rainman reference... NFP said he'd never watched the movie so he wouldn't say anything to it but that he might queue it up and get back to us.

"Every single one of us is intellectual, there is a reason why we are here," he said. "There is a reason why Vrabel thought we'd be great people here, great players. You need to be smart to be on this offensive line, You also need to be violent and physical."

HOW TITANS ROOKIE WR EARNED THE NICKNAME 'THE PROFESSOR'

BY MICHAEL GALLAGHER
THE NASHVILLE POST
AUGUST 15, 2022

Thirteen practices into his rookie season, and Tennessee Titans receiver Kyle Philips has already earned a reputation for being deceptively difficult to cover.

But Philips' uncanny ability to seemingly always have the right answer during team meetings has also earned him a nickname from the Titans coaching staff.

"He's a bit of a know-it-all, but that's why I call him 'The Professor' because there's nothing he doesn't know," Titans wide receivers coach Rob Moore said on Monday. "His passion for the game shows up a lot. When you talk to him about it, he really does have a good mind for the game. You can make adjustments [for him] in a quick moment, and he can adjust to it."

Added Philips: "It definitely makes me feel good. But it also puts a little bit of a target on my back. He'll throw some trick questions out there to try and catch me. When he does, he doesn't let me live it down. So, it goes both ways."

From terminology to route running, Philips spends most of his free time breaking down film — of himself, of his teammates and of any receiver who happens to have a highlight reel on YouTube.

"I started [studying receivers] in middle school," Philips admitted, adding he will watch a video on YouTube and say to himself, "I want to try and add that to my game."

Although Tennessee's WR group is relatively young and inexperienced, Robert Woods notwithstanding, Philips disclosed there is plenty to learn from the group of fellow pass catchers.

The Titans have a solid mix of physical, speed and possession receivers. That eclectic mix of size, quickness, strength, route running and elusiveness is what Philips credits for helping him round out his skillset.

"I study every receiver I can," Philips said. "Just being out here, I'd say [I study] a lot of Robert Woods, Mason Kinsey and Nick Westbrook-Ikhine. I like to take an aspect of every little bit of their game — with Robert just how good he is with his hands, Nick his releases, and Mason just how explosive he is in and out of his cuts."

PHILIPS FITS IN, STANDS OUT AS SLOT RECEIVER

BY JOHN GLENNON
SI.COM
AUGUST 19, 2022

NASHVILLE – It was over in the blink of an eye.

In a one-on-one drill that started at the 5-yard line, Tennessee Titans slot receiver Kyle Philips faked right and cut left. With Tampa Bay safety Logan Ryan on his back in coverage, Philips then executed a two-step, 180-degree turn. The quickness of the move left Ryan sliding to the turf as he tried to mirror, leaving Philips wide open for a touchdown catch.

It's never wise to make too much of one practice moment. One-on-one drills, after all, do favor the receivers. In addition, the 31-year-old Ryan is entering his 10th season in the league.

Still, Philips' wicked reverse pivot against Ryan was just one of many highlight moments for the 2022 fifth-round draft pick in Thursday's practice against the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

He was especially noticeable during the one-on-one and two-on-two sessions in the red zone, consistently finding ways to get open – despite the limited space available when plays began at the 5-yard line.

"I feel like that's Kyle's game," Titans wide receiver Robert Woods said. "He wants to have you close, work in tight spaces. He's real shifty and quick. I think almost like the less space for Kyle, the better it is."

Philips stood out in one of the two-minute drills as well.

Quarterback Ryan Tannehill targeted the former UCLA standout with three straight passes. The first was complete near the right sideline and the second at the left sideline – the latter pass stopping the clock with 24 seconds remaining. On the following play, Tannehill went deeper downfield to Philips, who failed to make a contested catch.

Coach Mike Vrabel was impressed enough by Philips' ability to get open that he offered some unique praise.

"He's quick, man," Vrabel said. "He goes rabbit hunting with a hammer. He certainly just is able to get in and out of cuts, man coverage. (Tannehill) trusts him. He's able to change speeds and then put his foot in the ground and redirect."

Philips could help fill a big hole in the Titans' offense if he is able to produce early this year.

The Titans parted ways with their two most targeted slot receivers from the 2021 season. A.J. Brown caught 27-of-42 passes when lined up in the slot, for 317 yards and a touchdown, per Pro Football Focus. Chester Rogers caught 27-of-36 passes when lined up in the slot, for 246 yards and a touchdown.

Nick Westbrook-Ikhine was very efficient working from the slot last season, catching 20-of-26 targets for 266 yards and a touchdown.

Both Westbrook-Ikhine and Woods can play that spot, but both are more likely to line up outside – especially if it takes a while for rookie receiver Treylon Burks to be fully incorporated into the offense.

Hence the opportunity for Philips.

What's his secret for consistently getting open, especially in tight quarters? Philips was quick Thursday to credit those around him.

"I would say I have a lot of good teammates," Philips said. "Our players work together in order for me to get open. Other receivers have to do their job, and they couldn't have executed more perfectly. So I mean, really, they got me open. It wasn't too much of me."

Still, Philips acknowledged the challenge of creating separation near the goal line – and the importance of doing it when the quarterback is ready to throw.

"There's not a whole lot of space, so you've just got to be physical," Philips said. "And it's all about timing with your quarterback. You've got to get open at the right time. You can't get open early because next thing you know, that hole kind of closes up."

VETERANS DAY REMINDS TITANS OL DILLON RADUNZ OF HOME, AND FOR THE RESPECT HE HAS FOR THE MILITARY

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEETITANS.COM
NOVEMBER 11, 2022

NASHVILLE – As a youngster growing up in Minnesota, Dillon Radunz always had the utmost respect for the military.

On Veterans Day, the significance hits home even more.

Radunz's stepfather, Scott Searcy, served in Desert Storm as a military mechanic for the Army.

"It means a lot," Radunz said. "Growing up with a stepfather like that, and just the respect that we have for him. As kids, we would always go to the Veterans Hospital, and we'd do the pancake breakfast and serve the veterans. It was a huge part of our lives growing up, and knowing he was a part of it. The discipline, and the respect we've always had for him, and that he bestowed upon us. It was a huge part of us growing up."

Radunz lost his father, Jeff, when he was just 12 years old.

A second-round draft pick of the Titans in 2021 who has played in 19 games in his first two NFL seasons, including three starts on the offensive line, Radunz said his stepfather played a big role in his life.

Radunz said his stepfather doesn't talk a lot about his experiences in the Army, but the impact it's made on his life is clear.

This weekend, the Titans will celebrate the NFL's Salute to Service weekend. It's part of the league's year-round effort to honor, empower and connect with our nation's service members, veterans and their families. Salute to Service is highlighted during games in Weeks 9-11 and in other special events around the league, as fans and the NFL's 32 clubs demonstrate their gratitude for the sacrifices made by our military community.

Radunz is among a number of Titans with military ties.

Receiver Racey McMath's dad, James, served in the Army. Safety Amani Hooker's cousin, Brandon Hooker, served in the Navy and linebacker David Long has two cousins who have either served or are in the military.

"He talked about his travels, where he was – he was in Germany and Saudi Arabia," Radunz said of stepfather. "After my dad passed away, (my stepfather) helped me with a lot of things. Learning those life tools from him was huge.

"Veterans Day, Memorial Day, anything that involved the military, we are always trying to support him through that. I've always had so much respect for those who serve or have served."

TITANS DRAFT PICK DILLON RADUNZ FINDS MOTIVATION IN MEMORIES OF LATE FATHER, FOOTBALL COACH

BY JOHN GLENNON
BROADWAY SPORTS MEDIA
MAY 26, 2021

The tears began to flow within seconds of the Titans' call to Dillon Radunz on draft night.

In that sense, it mirrored the experience of top NFL prospects and their families all across the country, where pent-up joy and relief poured out when the big moment arrived.

But mixed in with the elation at the Radunz household in Becker, Minn., was also a sadness, an understanding there was a hole in the family gathering. This was not new, of course, as Jeff Radunz – Dillon's father – had died following a battle with alcoholism more than a decade ago.

Still, how could his presence not be felt at a time like this?

It was Jeff Radunz, a former college player himself, who moved the family to Becker when his kids were young, in large part because he wanted his boys – Dillon and younger brother Nick – to grow up in a strong, tight-knit football community.

It was Jeff Radunz who coached Dillon's sixth-grade football team, a video of Jeff beaming following his son's big pancake block still a part of family legend.

And of course, it was Jeff Radunz whose death inspired the tattoos on Dillon's right arm, a pair of angel wings to represent his father, along with the serenity prayer commonly associated with Alcoholics Anonymous.

So, yes, the announcement that Dillon Radunz had taken a giant step forward in his football career – chosen in the second round by the Titans with the 53rd overall pick– broke the tenuous hold the family had managed to keep on its feelings.

"There were tears across the board for everybody," said Dillon's mother, Kathy Radunz, her voice breaking as she recalled the moment. "Dillon and his brother have formed a bond since their dad died that is literally unbreakable. So to watch those two crying and talking about their dad within moments of receiving the phone call was just, uh, it was really hard. It was really hard.

"But Dillon always said his dad has the best seat in the house now. He gets to watch everything."

I'll make you proud

The relationship the family – which also includes Dillon's older sister, Danielle — shared with Jeff Radunz was a complicated one, as is almost always the case when dealing with those suffering from addiction.

He was always a big supporter of the kids and their athletic endeavors, but Radunz said his late father was an alcoholic "as far back as I can remember." What might have made matters even more challenging is that Radunz described Jeff as "a functional alcoholic," meaning the outside world didn't often see the symptoms his family did.

"We still did everything together and all that kind of stuff," Radunz said. "So it wasn't too crippling. He did go to rehab a few times."

Kathy Radunz, however, said the situation was especially stressful on her kids at a young age, as the family tried to support Jeff – living through a lot of emotional ups and downs. She noted that Dillon was old enough to understand the significance of the problem.

"There's not a lot of gray area with Dillon," Kathy Radunz said. "If he believes something's right, it's right, and if he believes something's wrong, it's wrong. Not to say he can't change his mind.

"But with his father, it was like, `This is not right. This is not how you should be doing this. This is not what a father should be doing.' So that caused some struggles."

Kathy Radunz is thankful, though, that through some frank and difficult conversations, father and oldest son better understood one another before Jeff's death.

"They were able to talk about it and really work through some things," Kathy Radunz said. "I thank the Lord every single day for that. But it was tough."

Jeff Radunz passed on Aug. 10, 2010, the cause of death "an alcohol-related injury" that didn't involve a car crash, per the family. One month later, 12 year-old Dillon signed the online guestbook next to his father's obituary:

"Thank you for the gifts u gave 🙂 I'll make u proud."

Imagining him there helping me

The loss of a parent at a young age can send a child spinning in all kinds of directions, but Kathy Radunz was determined not to let Dillon falter.

As the oldest son, he felt he should in some ways take on his father's role, serving as a source of strength and protection for the family. Kathy Radunz kept it simple for her seventh-grader, telling Dillon just to focus on maintaining his good grades and competing in three sports – football, basketball and track.

"I hope I did a good job of making sure he knew he didn't have to take on that role," Kathy Radunz said, "and allowed him to – after a while – just be a kid again."

Added Dillon: "She was kind of the rock to it all … So as a kid, I was kind of like, I'm just going to try to have fun and try to see where I can go with this, use it as a motivation tool instead of something to bring me down."

It wouldn't be long before other father figures stepped up to help the young Radunz.

One was Jeff Radunz's brother, Uncle Mike to Dillon. Another was Dillon's Becker High math teacher, who also happened to coach him in basketball and track. A third was legendary Becker football coach Dwight Lundeen, who's earned a reputation of churning out quality young men as well as title after title during his 53-year tenure.

Lundeen found himself equally impressed with the emotional make-up and the tremendous athleticism of Radunz, who started on both sides of the ball – a 6-6, 270-pound offensive tackle and defensive end – on back-to-back state championship teams during his junior and senior seasons.

"It was a situation where he could have been angry at the world and frustrated with taking on so much responsibility so early," Lundeen said. "But he was just a very mature young man. He was very grounded in his family. He balanced his academics and his life extremely well, stayed on top of everything."

It was also clear to Lundeen that Radunz's late father was still very much on the son's mind, an invisible presence Dillon sought to please.

"There's no doubt it was difficult for a young man not to have that father image there," Lundeen said. "But he would always say, `Dad is watching.' We said, `You bet he is. He was a great Becker football fan.' He just felt like he was honoring his father, and I think that helped him to focus and to play well."

It was in Radunz's sophomore season that he first taped a picture of his father inside his football helmet. Somehow the image stayed intact for three years, defeating the forces of sweat and weather.

Radunz also began a pre-game ritual he's continued ever since, taking a knee – and a moment to himself – to connect with Jeff.

"I just try to picture him up in the stands," Radunz said. "I've got an old video of him coaching me. So I'm just imagining him being able to be there helping me. It's just something that reminds me of my roots, where I came from."

Helping people with addictions

Radunz's football career at North Dakota State didn't gain immediate traction, as he took a redshirt year in 2016 and then tore his ACL just 15 snaps into the 2017 season.

The unfortunate circumstances did allow Radunz more time to spend on his academics, a significant silver lining since he had chosen a challenging path of studies: Industrial engineering and management.

About a year-and-a-half into that major, Radunz considered switching to Psychology, telling his mother he wanted "to be able to help people who've gone through stuff like we've gone through." Radunz ultimately stuck with his first choice, but the urge to use his own personal experiences to benefit others remained a strong one.

In fact, Radunz recently helped initiate a $1,000-per-year scholarship fund at Becker High, the only requirement that entrants would be limited to students who'd lost a parent or guardian – as he lost his father to alcoholism.

"That's something I'm super passionate about – just helping people with addictions, being able to talk to people through it," Radunz said. "Because I grew up with it."

Once Radunz eventually got on the field, meanwhile, he quickly made an impact at North Dakota State, whether it was protecting quarterback Trey Lance – the third overall pick of the 2021 draft – or blocking for a Bison running game that totaled a school-record 4,601 yards in 2019. North Dakota State won three straight Football Championship Subdivision championships from 2017-19.

And despite Radunz's lesser-known FCS profile, he was the first player extended an invite to play in the 2021 Senior Bowl.

"One of the mottos at North Dakota State is 'Raise to Maturity,' and I think Dillon had that maturity as a young kid," said Vanderbilt offensive line coach A.J. Blazek, who held the same position at North Dakota State during Dillon's last two seasons.

"He does talk about his dad. That's a driving force for him. He knows that's a motivator. It's really important to make his dad proud in what he does."

Remembering my dad

Only three days after playing in North Dakota State's only football game last year – the Bison's season cut short by COVID-19 – Radunz packed a suitcase or two and flew to California, where he spent months training under former NFL Pro Bowl tackle Joe Staley.

Preparing for the Senior Bowl was especially important for a prospect like Radunz, who had to show NFL scouts – as well as himself – he had what it took to compete with high-level players from Football Bowl Subdivision powers.

"We're all human, so, yeah, there was some nervousness there, especially when people tell you constantly, repeatedly that you're not from that level so it's going to be a change," Radunz said. "But I knew there was a plan in place. I knew I had enough confidence in my game to just go out there and do what I did."

Things couldn't have gone much better for Radunz, who was named the Senior Bowl's practice player of the week. He not only led his National team to victory in the game, but celebrated by dumping a water container – full of Reese's peanut-butter cups – on Miami Dolphins coach Brian Flores afterward.

Radunz's performance in Mobile, Ala., sealed his value in the eyes of NFL teams like the Titans, setting the stage for the NFL Draft.

On night two of the big event, Radunz gathered family and friends in Becker, awaiting the phone call that would change his life. Among those present of course was Uncle Mike, the man who'd done so much to fill the void in Radunz's life over the years. In Jeff Radunz's absence, it was Uncle Mike who often served as Radunz's coach, took him hunting, taught him the lessons he needed to learn.

So it didn't take long after announcing his destination that Radunz turned to his Uncle Mike, the two reveling in the news – wishing Jeff Radunz was there to enjoy it with them, but confident he was still somewhere watching with a smile.

"Between us, we hugged it out," Radunz said. "(My uncle) was crying, and he's not normally a guy who cries a lot. So it was just a special moment that we shared together.

"We were remembering my dad – and his brother. Just being able to share that was an awesome thing."

JEFFERY SIMMONS

WHY THE TITANS' JEFFERY SIMMONS MAY BE THE BEST DEFENSIVE TACKLE THIS SIDE OF AARON DONALD

BY DAN POMPEI
THE ATHLETIC
NOVEMBER 2, 2022

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — In arguably the biggest game of his life, Jeffery Simmons made a spectacle of himself.

Against the Bengals in an AFC divisional playoff game in January, the Titans defensive lineman sacked Joe Burrow three times, hit him three more and made three tackles for a loss.

He insulted those who stood in his way like a politician at a debate — loudly and boldly.

On his massive arms were tight compression sleeves the color of Cayenne peppers.

Everything about Simmons said, "Notice me."

But he's not being noticed. At least not the way he should be.

In his fourth season, Simmons has been oddly underappreciated.

He has been to one Pro Bowl — as an alternate. He made it because the Chiefs' Chris Jones backed out. Simmons was behind Jones, the Colts' DeForest Buckner and the Steelers' Cam Heyward in AFC voting. the Commanders' Jonathan Allen, the Packers' Kenny Clark and the Rams' Aaron Donald made it in the NFC.

In the NFL Network's top 100 players, Simmons came in at 54th — behind No. 2 Donald, No. 39 Jones and No. 42 Heyward.

And then there is his paycheck. Simmons' $3.1 million average salary per year (he's making $2.2 million in base this year) ranks 98th among defensive linemen.

He has found it more challenging to control opinions about him than to control offensive linemen assigned to block him.

His response? Focus on those offensive linemen.

The shadow Donald casts over other defensive linemen is like the shadow of one of the winged beasts in the HBO series "House of the Dragon." Some — such as the esteemed Peter King of NBC Sports — have said Donald is one of the best defenders in history at any position.

Perhaps it should not be a surprise that the best regular-season game of Simmons' career came with Donald on the other side of the field in a 28-16 Titans victory over the Rams last season. Simmons had three sacks in the game.

Simmons, however, believes his play merits recognition on a level with Donald's.

"I want to be in that talk that Jeffery Simmons is a dominant player up there with Aaron Donald because quite frankly when it comes down to defensive linemen, it's like he's the only one in this league based on what you see on the internet," Simmons says. "I feel like I'm dominating."

Three weeks after Simmons beat up Burrow, Donald had his shot against the Bengals quarterback in the Super Bowl. Donald won the game's most valuable player award with a performance that included as many quarterback hits as Simmons had against the Bengals and one fewer sack and tackle for loss.

Simmons' 5 1/2 sacks this year is 1 1/2 more sacks than Donald has. The only interior player with more sacks is Quinnen Williams of the Jets, who has six. Simmons has a pressure rate of 13.2 percent compared with Donald's 12.5 percent, according to TrueMedia. With 10 quarterback hits, Simmons has three more than Donald. Simmons had 31 pressures compared with 27 for Donald, and Simmons also has one more hurry.

Pro Football Focus rates Simmons as the second-best overall interior defensive lineman with at least 100 snaps. Jones is first and Donald is third.

Since he went to Mississippi State as a five-star recruit, Simmons has been working with his uncle Jason Hatcher, who played defensive end in the NFL for 10 years.

"In my opinion, (Simmons is) the best in the game," Hatcher says. "I know Aaron Donald is up there, but no one is playing the game like Jeffery Simmons. There is no NFL defensive lineman who is engaging with blocks, getting off, turning and running with linebackers and making plays downfield. That's what separates him from any other defensive lineman."

Simmons and Donald play the same position but have entirely different styles and bodies. At 6-foot-4, 309 pounds, Simmons — one of those players who is encouraged to step off the bus first at enemy stadiums — has three inches and nearly 30 pounds on Donald.

"Both are excellent at what they do, but I don't see a lot of similarities in play style," Titans coach Mike Vrabel says. "Jeff takes on a lot more blocks. Aaron is a quicker player."'

Says Hatcher: "A.D. wants to make you miss. Jeff don't want to make you miss. He wants to make a brawl with you every frickin' down. I know if I was an offensive lineman, I'd rather go against A.D. in a minute. It's a street fight with Jeff, and I'm gonna have to go to a chiropractor after that game because I'm gonna be hurting."

Simmons is capable of thrusting a 324-pound guard into a running back to get a tackle for a loss of 3 yards, as he did Sunday against the Texans.

JEFFERY SIMMONS

Colts guard Quenton Nelson knows Simmons better than he would like.

“He’s one of the strongest, if not the strongest, D-tackles I’ve gone against,” Nelson says, according to ESPN’s Stephen Holder. “And he’s not one-dimensional. He can hit you with the pass rush or in the run game.”

Simmons has positional versatility. He usually plays three-technique in a four-man front and five-technique in a three-man front, but he has played every position on the line.

His position coach, Terrell Williams, considers Simmons one of the few interior defenders in the NFL who excels against both the run and the pass.

Like Donald, Simmons draws an inordinate amount of attention from offensive linemen. Williams estimates Simmons has two blockers on him on more than 60 percent of his snaps, and the percentage is much higher when it’s a clear passing situation.

Two blockers do not necessarily neutralize Simmons, however. At times he’s like a horror movie zombie who pops up when he should be buried and forgotten about.

On back-to-back plays in the second quarter of the Titans’ October victory against the Commanders, Simmons sprinted about 40 yards to tackle wide receiver Terry McLaurin after a couple of missed tackles, then dashed about 30 yards to sack Carson Wentz near the sideline.

“(Donald is) a great player, gets hella sacks, disruptive player,” Simmons says. “But when it comes down to the way I play the game, it’s different from everyone else. My effort, I haven’t seen another defensive lineman chase screens down or chase a receiver 30 yards down the field. That’s where I take pride in separating myself from the guys in this league. Other people don’t see that. They just see the number of sacks. But what if you get double-teamed? What if the ball is run away from you?”

Hustle plays like the two against the Commanders show Simmons’ passion for football, which has been evident for a long time. As a fifth grader, he volunteered to be the water boy for the local high school team just so he could hang around. He committed to the job so thoroughly that the coach put him in charge of the other water boys.

Simmons had a career-high 8 1/2 sacks last year. This season, he’s on track to have 13. Part of his improvement has been credited to Hatcher, who has added an element of finesse to his powerful style.

Simmons beats up opponents with his hands and arms. And with his words, too.

“If he hits you hard, he’s gonna let you know he did,” Titans linebacker David Long says. “Or if we whipping up on ’em, he’s gonna let you know that as well.”

During a Colts-Titans game this season, Simmons told Nelson, “Maybe they should have waited to pay you.”

Simmons acknowledges he talks as much smack as anyone. It is a form of recreation to him. He says it does not preclude him from respecting opponents, especially Nelson, and he considers none of it personal.

Simmons also talks trash to teammates. He and Titans outside linebacker Denico Autry have a running wager. Whoever has the best game statistically collects $2,000 from the other.

“We are pushing each other,” Simmons says. “I know what gets him going, and he knows what gets me going.”

Simmons even goes back and forth with his head coach. Vrabel teases Simmons about wearing red sleeves and calls him “Kitty Cat.” When Vrabel tells Simmons he was an old-school player who lasted 14 years, Simmons tells him no one cares about ancient history.

All of it endears Simmons to his team. The 25-year-old has been voted a captain by his teammates this year and last.

Simmons certainly leads with actions. Williams considers Simmons an “elite worker.” He’s earned that designation not just in games, but in practices, workouts, meetings and study sessions. Boredom can diminish players with high-end ability, but Simmons has not become disinterested in the mundane details of his game like pad level, footwork and hand placement. After a recent game in which Simmons had a sack, he asked Hatcher to look at video clips of six of his plays that he was dissatisfied with.

He takes notes in meetings on his personal iPad, so they are stored in his cloud and available on his mobile phone. This way, it’s easy to review them wherever he is.

Simmons also leads with words.

Before the Titans head to their locker room at the end of every pregame warmup, safety Kevin Byard gathers the team and delivers a message. Then Simmons says a few more words, wrapping it up with a spirited back and forth.

Simmons: “Awright?”

Team: “Awright!”

Simmons: “Awright?”

Team: “Awright!”

During a recent practice, Titans defensive lineman Teair Tart fumed after a play didn’t go his way. Simmons pulled him away from the fray, calmed him down and spoke to him about it the way a coach would.

“Whether it’s in the weight room or conditioning or practice standards, Jeff is not afraid to say things that are on his mind,” Vrabel says. “I respect that about him. And part of that is he holds himself accountable to the same standard."

The Titans were 0-2 when Simmons texted Vrabel with a request: Could he and the other captains have a few minutes alone with the other players? Vrabel agreed, and Simmons presided over a meeting in which he and the other captains spoke of what it would take to reverse their course. He told them they needed to be on time and pay attention to the little things. They had to go full tilt longer than their opponents. They had to remember what they were supposed to embody as a team. And then he told them all was not lost.

Since then, they have won five in a row.

It is no wonder Vrabel says the Titans want as many Jeffery Simmons as they can find.

The issue soon will be how much they are willing to pay for one.

Simmons' contract is up after the season. Donald set the bar for defensive linemen when he signed a three-year, $95 million deal with the Rams in the offseason — that's an average of $31.6 million per season, making him the highest-paid player in the NFL who doesn't play quarterback.

Simmons says the Titans discussed his future with him in the offseason.

"It was, 'We want you to be here, but we don't know exactly when we'll be able to pay you,'" he says. "The Titans were like, 'We don't know if we're going to be able to offer you what you think you are worth. We want to pay you, but we don't know where it's going to come from.' That's basically what it was, not an offer."

Initially, Simmons didn't use an agent and relied on Hatcher and others for guidance. He then started his own agency, Walking Business, which employs a certified contract adviser in Paul DeRousselle.

At one point in the summer, Simmons decided against reporting to training camp, but he ultimately decided to play out his contract.

"What I'm making this year, some guys who just got in here are making," he says. "When you are talking about D-line, you have to think about the No. 1 guy in the league, Aaron Donald. I'm making $2 million. He's making $30 million. I asked myself, 'Do I want to go risk that?'"

Simmons relishes his organization's mom-and-pop feel. He is bonded with Vrabel and Williams. He enjoys neighborly Nashville, where he's never more than a few blocks from an amazing plate of smoked meat. He plans to host football camps for kids there, as he does in Mississippi.

He would like to be a Titan for life.

But he knows that on his own team, his role is second fiddle to the player they call King, Derrick Henry. And in his city, he will never have star power like some who sing songs about whiskey and heartbreak.

If he played where the NFL rules?

"If Jeff was with the Dallas Cowboys, you wouldn't hear about A.D. no more," Hatcher says. "You'd hear about Jeffery Simmons. But he loves Tennessee and he's not up for the hype. He just wants to be great in his eyes."

Simmons is driving to Ascension Saint Thomas Sports Park, where the Titans practice, in his Ford F-350 truck. He is not listening to rap, country or sports talk.

His radio is tuned to gospel channels on Pandora that play Le'Andrea Johnson, Tasha Cobbs Leonard, Kirk Franklin and others singing powerfully about testimony, joy and trust.

Simmons' mother, Brenda Bradley, raised her five children on her own. She often worked two jobs, and Simmons sometimes didn't see her from 5 a.m., when she left, until 9:30 p.m., when she returned.

When he was in grade school, the family house went up in flames. He remembers his older brother Dylan rushing in and out, trying to bring the others to safety. The family moved five times during his childhood.

As a 17-year-old, Simmons says he tried to break up a fight between a woman and his sister Ashley Bradley. A video that was widely distributed shows him striking the woman numerous times. He pleaded no contest to simple assault and paid fines and restitution for the woman's medical bills.

A vertical scar of about five inches marks the center of Simmons' left knee. In 2019, he tore his ACL during an agility drill. His timing could not have been worse, as Simmons expected to be a top-10 pick in the NFL draft two months later. He fell to the Titans at No. 19.

"When I think about where I came from, my mom busting her tail, everything adds up," he says. "I was never in trouble growing up. That incident with my sister, I took full ownership of that. I still to this day think about it. I still feel sorry for that lady. Then I tear my ACL? What was God trying to tell me?"

After prayer — more prayer than ever, Simmons had his answer.

"What I kept getting out of it was control what you can control," he says. "Keep trusting in him."

So the gospel songs play and Simmons prepares for the day ahead in the best way he knows.

And if people don't notice Jeffery Simmons? Well, he can't control that.

IT'S BIGGER THAN FOOTBALL': TITANS' JEFFERY SIMMONS SPENDS WEEK GIVING BACK IN MISSISSIPPI

BY STEFAN KRAJISNIK
THE TENNESSEEAN - MISSISSIPPI CLARION LEDGER
JULY 9, 2022

STARKVILLE – Before he was an All-Pro and All-SEC defensive tackle, Tennessee Titans star Jeffery Simmons was a manager for his high school football team.

Simmons was in middle school but served as a varsity football manager when he walked through the weight room at Noxubee County High School and saw the rusty weights and bent bars.

It's a sight that stuck with him, particularly as he saw opponents such as West Point with better equipment to help build a "winning culture."

So Simmons made a promise. He wasn't a 6-foot-4, 300-pound menace yet, but his potential had always been apparent as a five-star prospect. Once he made it to the NFL, Simmons said, he'd ensure future Noxubee County athletes had access to better equipment.

The former Mississippi State standout fulfilled the promise Thursday as he stood outside newly named and renovated Jeffery B. Simmons Field House. The only thing more eye-popping than the shiny oversized scissors used in the ribbon cutting was his neon yellow shorts suit.

"I cannot really show my appreciation for Noxubee County enough," Simmons said.

Simmons' time in high school wasn't always as successful as his football career. As a senior in 2016, he was found guilty of malicious mischief and pleaded no contest to a simple assault charge. It came after he was helping break up a fight between his sister and another woman. Simmons was shown on video striking the woman before walking away.

Simmons said the donations and work he does for his high school are not an attempt to cover up for what happened.

"I moved on from all that," Simmons said. "I don't even talk about it anymore. I don't live in the past. My thing is, what I'm doing now is to make sure my name, my brand — the Jeffery Simmons brand — will leave a legacy not just for me but for my kids and their future.

"That's my biggest thing. I have nephews, nieces. What can I do to make sure they're good in their future and make sure they don't have to live off that – live off something that happened 20 years ago, 30 years ago."

NCHS athletics director Karen Dixon — who has known Simmons since he was in her fourth-grade class — says once the school was informed of Simmons' plan with the weight room, it was their idea to name the field house after him.

The unveiling in Macon, Mississippi, was only the start of an eventful week back home for Simmons. He made the short trek Friday to Starkville, where he signed a $75,000 check for Starkville Parks and Recreation toward a new turf field at the Starkville Sportsplex.

The field was also named in his honor and was used through the weekend for his third annual youth camp.

"It's bigger than football," Simmons said Saturday. "It's not all about just these young kids seeing us play on Thursdays, Monday nights and Sundays. These kids matter. The town of Starkville matters. The town of Macon matters."

Tennessee Titans defensive lineman Jeffery Simmons reacts after a play in the first half against the Cincinnati Bengals at Nissan Stadium.

Simmons was joined at his camp by NFL players Elgton Jenkins, Tyre Phillips, J.T. Gray and Gerri Green, among others. The group remains tight-knit as their careers have shifted away from Mississippi, and Simmons says there is never hesitation when they ask each other to help with events such as youth camps.

Mississippi State quarterback Will Rogers also received an invitation from Simmons. He remembers the angst of being a kid at a youth camp with successful football players around. Now he notes the commitment that comes with being on the adult side.

"They're pros, for sure," Rogers said. "The way they conduct themselves — not only on the field but also coming back and doing things like this for the community. Helping people that don't have as much … It's humbling to see and definitely something I'm going to learn from."

SIMMONS GOES HOME TO GIVE BACK

BY MICHAEL HOGAN
SI.COM
MARCH 2, 2021

Much like everybody else, a rare burst of winter weather that put a vast majority of southern states on pause two weeks ago took Jeffery Simmons by surprise.

Snowy and icy storms created much work remained for first responders, electric workers and others. In Noxubee County, Mississippi, where the Tennessee Titans defensive tackle starred in high school, those essential employees worked long days to restore services to the communities impacted.

Simmons, who has been doing offseason training in Dallas, Texas, did not hesitate to return to an area that still means so much to him. Last Friday at the Noxubee County Civic Center in Macon, Simmons provided meals and signed T-shirts to law enforcement and electric workers.

“I'm just grateful to be in a position to be able to show my appreciation to these guys," Simmons told The Dispatch, a newspaper that serves Starkville and Columbus, Mississippi, areas. "...Their job's as important as anybody else's job. I just wanted these guys to see that and feel that I really appreciate them and care about them and the job they're doing.”

A first-round pick by the Titans in the 2019, Simmons said he still has two aunts who live in the Macon area. Their power, however, remained throughout the storms. Just because he has family in the area, though, is not why he returned.

Simmons wanted to show community members that no matter how much fame he achieves, he will always remember where he came from. That mission was accomplished.

Jaron Andrews, an electric worker in the Noxubee area, brought his 17-year-old daughter, Anna Beth, to Simmons’ event. The two became fans during Simmons’ three-year career at Mississippi State University. His presence and generosity so clearly had a positive impact on them and many others.

"It's good to see somebody come in here and re-invest their time in the community," Jaron Andrews told the paper. "I like to see that as a parent of children who are growing up in the community."

Now a leader on the Titans’ defense and in the locker room overall, Simmons has played 24 games with 22 starts over the course of his two seasons with the Titans. He has registered five sacks, 81 tackles, seven tackles for a loss of yards and three fumble recoveries in all.

Many things, though, are bigger than football.

"I take pride in doing this. I take pride in just being able to show people that I don't have a 'hot head' as people say," Simmons said. "I just want to show people that no matter how far in life I go, I'm always going to remember Noxubee County. I'm always going to give back."

SIMMONS 'ADDICTED' TO DISRUPTIVE PLAYS

BY DAVID BOCLAIR
SI.COM
NOVEMBER 11, 2021

NASHVILLE – As rave reviews poured in for his performance in Sunday's game against the Los Angeles Rams, Jeffery Simmons spoke to an uncle who asked a question.

"Are you addicted or are you hungover," Simmons recalled Thursday.

The point of the query was clear. Either his play in Week 9 was a one-time thing that is not likely to be repeated often or it raised the standard for what is expected of the Tennessee Titans' third-year defensive lineman. And make no mistake, much already was expected of a player selected in the first-round of the 2019 NFL Draft who made an impact in the first game he played.

With a career-high three sacks and four quarterback pressures Sunday, Simmons played arguably the best game of his NFL career to date. He became the first Tennessee player since 2008 with at least three sacks in a game, and he got them all in the first half, when Tennessee built a 21-3 lead. He also forced an interception when he nearly sacked Rams quarterback Matthew Stafford near the goal line.

The 6-foot-4, 305-pound defensive tackle did all of that in a prime-time contest against a team many analysts considered the league's best through the first eight weeks of the season. And he did it as Tennessee's offense adjusted to the fact that it did not – and will not for some time – have its best player, running back Derrick Henry. Tennessee ultimately dispatched Los Angeles 28-16.

"(Simmons) will always raise the standards or expectations," coach Mike Vrabel said Monday. "He is such a great guy to be around. Love seeing him every morning. We would miss him if we came to work, and he wasn't here one day. Just his attitude, his demeanor, his leadership and obviously the production."

Simmons currently leads the Titans with 40 quarterback pressures, is second with five and a half sacks and is third with 11 quarterback hits. He already has set personal single-season bests for sacks, quarterback pressures and tackles for loss (seven). He also is on pace a career-high in tackles.

Only three other interior defensive linemen across the NFL have more than five sacks.

"You see the technique and things, like it's visible, it's on film," defensive coordinator Shane Bowen said. "Showing him, 'Dude, you're tough to handle. If you play with technique, it's going to be hard for anyone to block you.' It's just continuing to build that consistency with the technique play in and play out.

"He can go without technique, and he survives, and he finds ways."

That was apparent right from the start.

The Titans, of course, famously selected Simmons with the 19th overall pick in 2019 even though he had reconstructive knee surgery roughly two months earlier to repair an injury sustained during pre-draft training. He was not healthy enough to play until late October of his rookie year but jumped into the lineup without the benefit of any offseason, training camp or preseason work and only a modicum on practice time.

In his debut, against the Los Angeles Chargers, Simmons made six tackles, had one sack and was a significant contributor to a game-saving goal-line stand in the fourth quarter. In 2020, he tied for the NFL lead with three fumble recoveries and was in the conversation for a Pro Bowl berth.

"I want to keep climbing that ladder to be the best player I can be," Simmons said. "I want to be one of the greats to play this game. So, each and every day, each and every game, each and every practice I want to keep improving.

"I'm going to try – not to be perfect but dang near – to keep having disruptive games."

It's almost as if it is becoming an obsession … or something else.

"How can I keep stacking these plays?" Simmons said. "How can I be addicted to making more big plays and keep having big games and just help my team win games?

"I told (my uncle) I want to be addicted to it."

SLIMMER, HEALTHY SIMMONS COULD ELEVATE TITANS D-LINE

SECOND-YEAR DT DROPPED 15 POUNDS DURING OFFSEASON TRAINING

BY MICHAEL GALLAGHER
NASHVILLE POST
AUGUST 12, 2020

The Tennessee Titans didn't have 2019 first-round pick Jeffery Simmons for seven games last year.

Now, the 23-year-old defensive tackle is one year removed from ACL surgery and finally fully healthy, which could make all the difference for the Titans defensive line heading into the new season.

"[With] an ACL injury or meniscus injury, it's a lot to get back to," Simmons said. "Some people say they're not themselves for a year or two. But when I went back and watched film, I knew that wasn't me. I know what type of guy I am…There was a lot of stuff that I didn't see on film that I know I could do, especially this upcoming year. Stuff that I've been working on.

"I had an injury for sure, but at the same time that's the whole point of this year here — to see how much I can grow from that this past year. [The coaches] are going to put me in a great position to see how much I can get better from last year."

Simmons was a solid contributor last season in the nine games he played. He finished his rookie season with 32 tackles, four tackles for loss, two sacks, two quarterback hits and a pass defensed.

His stats weren't too far off from those of Pro Bowl defensive tackle Jurrell Casey, who was traded to the Denver Broncos during the offseason. Casey had 44 tackles, five tackles for loss, five sacks and 10 QB hits last year. Had the Titans been able to keep both in 2020, they would have presumably had one of the top interior line groups in the NFL.

Now, Simmons is being relied on to replace Casey's production while allowing a younger player such as DaQuan Jones, Jack Crawford and rookie Larrell Murchison an opportunity to make an instant impact this year.

"Of course, Jurrell was a big loss for us," Simmons said. "He was a great leader on and off the field, especially in the community. When he came to the building, he was just a first-class leader. But at the same time, I don't feel like it's any pressure on me, personally. I'm a leader myself. I like to lead.

Added HC Mike Vrabel: "We're excited about the group that we have moving forward…I think they're well-coached. I think Big T (Terrell Williams) does a great job coaching them and Zak (Kuhr) has helped him out."

Simmons has been using the unconventional offseason to shed some weight with the goal to be a leaner, quicker version of himself during training camp.

The 6-foot-4 second-year lineman is currently listed at 304 pounds on the Titans official website. He played much of last year around 320 and has really emphasized easing the amount of weight his surgically repaired knee has to carry.

"My goal was to especially cut down the fat on my body," Simmons said. "I'm not sure exactly where I was at first, but I feel like I've made a big change with my body weight. My knee made a lot of progression from when I first started playing to the end of the season. But at the end, I knew that I needed to do a little more strengthening and just maintenance stuff after the end of the season. Still now, I'm trying to stay on top of it, make sure that I'm just ready to have this team win games. So my body is feeling great; my knee is feeling great."

Simmons attributed a simple diet change and a disciplined attitude toward improving his health for helping him drop the 15 pounds he's already lost.

"When you're trying to lose fat, ... you have to be in the right mental (state) to be able to be disciplined in what you eat. At one point, I was cutting off what time I ate at night. Take a lot of responsibility of yourself in trying to maintain a routine that you have. Of course, I changed up my diet a little bit."

A slimmer, quicker Simmons may be just what the Titans need to elevate their defensive line from good to great.

TITANS PUNTER RYAN STONEHOUSE NAMED AFC SPECIAL TEAMS PLAYER OF THE WEEK

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEETITANS.COM
NOVEMBER 15, 2022

NASHVILLE – Titans punter Ryan Stonehouse has been named AFC Special Teams Player of the Week for his performance against the Broncos.

Stonehouse punted eight times for a 54.0-yard gross average and a 47.3-yard net average with three punts placed inside the 10 against the Broncos.

Stonehouse pinned the Broncos inside their own 10-yard line three times in the first quarter of Sunday's 17-10 win, first on the four-yard line with a 64-yard punt. Later, Stonehouse saw his punt downed on the six-yard line with a 38-yard punt before having his punt downed on the eight-yard line with a 42-yard punt.

Stonehouse booted a 74-yard punt in the second quarter, his longest punt through nine NFL games. It was the Titans' longest punt since Brett Kern's 74-yarder against Cincinnati on Nov. 12, 2017.

Stonehouse, who signed with the team as an undrafted free agent out of Colorado State, was named AFC Special Teams Player of the Month in October after averaging 51.7 yards on 20 punts, with a long of 66 yards.

This is Stonehouse's first-career Special Teams Player of the Week award and, per the NFL, he becomes the first-ever Tennessee rookie punter to earn the honor.

Stonehouse also becomes the first player from Colorado State to ever win Special Teams Player of the Week.

The Titans return to action on Thursday night in Green Bay against the Packers.

MARCH 14, 2022

NASHVILLE – The Titans have agreed to terms with tight end Geoff Swaim on a one-year contract extension.

A durable and rugged veteran, Swaim started 16 regular season games for the Titans in 2021, when he recorded a career-high 31 catches for 210 yards and three touchdowns.

Since joining the Titans in 2020, Swaim has totaled 40 catches for 293 yards and four scores in 26 games, with 24 starts.

Swaim played his first four seasons with the Cowboys (2015-2018) before playing a season with the Jaguars (2019).

In seven NFL seasons, Swaim has played in 69 games, with 44 starts, and he's recorded 88 catches for 694 yards and five touchdowns.

Two other tight ends on the team's roster in 2021 – Anthony Firkser and MyCole Pruitt – are scheduled to become free agents when the new league year begins on Wednesday.

HAS TENNESSEE TITANS' RYAN TANNEHILL FINALLY FOUND HIS MOJO? 'I FEEL LIKE I NEVER LOST IT'

BY BEN ARTHUR
THE TENNESSEAN
JANUARY 12, 2022

There has been an uptick in Tennessee Titans quarterback Ryan Tannehill's production the last few games.

Does he have his mojo back?

"Contrary to popular belief, I feel like I never lost it," Tannehill said Wednesday.

After turnover struggles for most of 2021, Tannehill's play was significantly cleaner and more effective the final few weeks of the regular season. He completed at least 71% of his passes in each of the last four games, a span he threw seven touchdowns to just one interception. His passer rating has been well over 100 in the Titans' three-game winning streak: 106.8 vs. the 49ers; 127.1 vs. the Dolphins; and a season-high 138.9 vs. the Texans.

In last Sunday's victory at Houston, which clinched the AFC's No. 1 seed and a first-round playoff bye for the Titans (12-5), Tannehill tied a career high with four touchdown passes and had one of his most spectacular plays of the season: escaping a sack in the final period to fire a 36-yard pass to receiver Nick Westbrook-Ikhine, which spurred the game-clinching scoring drive.

Tannehill's play the last few weeks has offered a reminder of his play from 2019-20, when he was one of the league's most efficient passers. In 2019, when he was named AP Comeback Player of the Year, he led the league in yards gained per pass attempt, yards gained per pass completion and passer rating.

"I felt good all season and I think we've done some good things here the last fews weeks to catch our stride a little bit," Tannehill said. "Excited about the momentum we've kind of gained over the past few weeks. Hopefully, we can build on it as we move forward."

The Titans quarterback has benefited the health and improvement of the offensive supporting cast.

Star receivers A.J. Brown and Julio Jones, who have played just eight games together this season, have played in two of the last three. Tight end Anthony Firkser, who had a disappointing start to the season, has become a bigger part of the passing game. And the offensive line has pass protected better, giving Tannehill more time in the pocket. Tannehill was sacked 47 times, but just twice in the last two games. Sunday's game vs. the Texans marked the first game all season Tennessee had five starting offensive linemen play 100% of the snaps.

"We've been fighting that the whole year, just having guys in and out of the lineup," Tannehill said. "Finally, we've started to get some guys healthy. Get some guys back. Get some consistency with guys playing multiple games in a row, kind of finding our groove there. It's been huge for us as we've come down this stretch and I believe we're going to take advantage of it this week to have some time to continue to get healthy and get ready to go for next week."

Amid Tannehill's struggles to start the season, Titans coaches and players praised his leadership and steadiness. It's why they've never lost confidence in him.

"I've definitely never doubted him, nor will I," offensive coordinator Todd Downing said Tuesday. "I think Ryan has been just a great example of just staying steady in his business-like approach to things. We believe that will pay off and continue to propel us where we want to go."

Quarterbacks are viewed historically by their performance in the playoffs. For the Titans, that journey will begin in the divisional round Jan. 22 or 23.

Will Tannehill's success late into the season be carried over into the postseason?

"You want to play your best football late in the season and into the playoffs," Tannehill said. "The reason we play this game is to go win a championship. It's the reason I play. I'm chasing after it, year after year, day after day. Trying to do everything I can to not skip steps in getting there.

"We have an opportunity here and we don't want to look past it, don't want to miss any steps along the way and do everything we can to go win it."

DON'T LET THE SMILE FOOL YOU, TANNEHILL A SERIOUS COMPETITOR

BY IAN KAYANJA
SPORTS ILLUSTRATED
JANUARY 5, 2021

Don't be fooled by quarterback Ryan Tannehill's even-keeled demeanor.

He's one of the fiercest competitors on any football field. Or so says his position coach.

"Make no mistake, he is ultra-competitive," Tennessee Titans quarterback coach Pat O'Hara said Tuesday. "Don't ever excuse his calm demeanor on the outside from being a fierce competitor. That is something about him that is very evident to me and his teammates."

Tannehill's competitive streak was on full display Sunday against the Houston Texans. With a division title at stake, he threw for 216 yards and tallied three touchdowns, two rushing and one passing.

With the game on the line, he connected with wide receiver A.J. Brown on a 51-yard pass that set up Sam Sloman's game-winning field goal as times expired.

"(It's) his calm demeanor on the outside and being a fierce competitor," O'Hara said. "He maintains that even-keel demeanor and that helps him in pressure situations like (Sunday)."

Tannehill is no stranger to the big moment. The events of this season leading up to the matchup with the Texans prepared him for his latest fourth-quarter flurry.

In the just-completed regular season, he led the NFL with five fourth-quarter comebacks and six game-winning drives in the fourth-quarter or overtime. In games decided by one possession, the Titans went 7-2.

The only Tennessee quarterback who has approached that level of late-game production was Vince Young. As a rookie in 2006, he led four fourth-quarter comebacks and five game-winning drives, both of which led the NFL that season.

Dating back to when Tannehill first took over as the starter, the Titans are 11-3 in games decided by one possession.

He's a closer. And much like a star relief pitcher in baseball, Tannehill looks forward to the high stakes moment where he can get his team out of a tight jam.

"I think it's fun," Tannehill said. "I get to do what I dreamed of doing as a kid. I love going out there on a Sunday and competing with guys that I love playing with. I love the competition of it

"... I love the game, all of it."

Tannehill's success can be attributed to his ability to avoid the emotional roller coaster that some ride throughout a game. He remains focused on the current task at hand, staying competitive.

And because of that, the Titans found ways to win in close games, in which the outcomes could have varied drastically.

"At the end of games, it's maintaining that calm demeanor, while also being ultra-competitive," O'Hara said.

With Tannehill under center last year, the Titans offense found a new life.

That unit went from being shut out by the Denver Broncos on Oct. 13, 2019 to scoring at least 20 points in the next 10 games and more than 30 in five of the final seven. That momentum carried over into the 2020 NFL season, which saw Tannehill throw for 3,819 yards and a career-high 33 touchdowns.

Tannehill and the Titans finished second in the NFL in average yards per game (396.4) and fourth in points per game average (30.7).

He's found freedom within Arthur Smith's system, and he's been seen smiling more on the field because of it.

"I've loved playing the game," Tannehill said. "I think about what I went through (with) injury, and then through what I went last year, I think I've grown a bigger appreciation for enjoying the moment."

A quarterback who isn't afraid of the big moments is a tremendous advantage in the NFL playoffs. Tannehill's late-game record proves that he can rise to the occasion, courtesy of an outsized competitive streak.

TANNEHILL'S EYES OPENED TO SOCIAL INJUSTICE THROUGH FORMER TEAMMATE

BY MICHAEL GALLAGHER
NASHVILLE POST
JUNE 11, 2020

Tennessee Titans safety Kevin Byard said last week that one of the biggest solutions to helping fix the racial divide and social injustice in society is through education.

Byard's teammate, quarterback Ryan Tannehill, took his words to heart, using his platform to speak out against social injustice and point to the importance of education as a tool to battle racial intolerance.

"Education is a big part of it," Tannehill said. "Educating people, white people, who don't deal with it [and] to the reality of the situation. Just leveling the playing field. There's a lot of legislature that's going to have to get changed.

"I think the first step is awareness and education ... on the systematic injustices that have been going on for a long, long time. Once we can have that education, the awareness, then we can all kind of work together toward finding that equality that I'd hope we all want."

Tannehill made a post on his Twitter account on May 27 addressing the murder of George Floyd, stating everyone deserves to feel safe and protected in their communities.

Tannehill also said that he wished he would have taken the Black Lives Matter movement more seriously a lot sooner, but his eyes were opened a lot through former 49ers quarterback Colin Kaepernick taking a knee during the national anthem and several conversations with former Miami Dolphins teammate Kenny Stills.

"Do I wish I would have known more and been more supportive back in 2016? Yes, 100 percent, but we all make mistakes," Tannehill continued. "We all have to live and learn and experience to grow, and I feel like I've done a lot of growing over the past four or five years…I hope to use what I've learned, just continue to educate myself, continue to learn and continue to try to push for change and make a difference.

"I think my conversations with Kenny (Stills) and just coming to realize what he's gone through in his life — getting ripped out of a car with his dad and everything stripped out of the car for no reason, weren't even speeding, left on the side of the road, they were traveling, all their clothes and everything, bags strung out on the side of the road. Things like that where it's like, I can't imagine being put in that situation and having to deal with that. You hear stories like that and then he gave me a bunch of resources, books that were written…Then I just started digging more and more into it as time went on. You go from kind of being naïve to the situation because of the [white] privilege, and my eyes kind of got opened to it. It was really kind of a shock for me…I think my views have definitely changed."

While the NFL and the greater society still have a long way to go in addressing racial equality, Tannehill's openness to have the difficult discussions and willingness to take the time to educate himself on such issues have earned him even more respect from his teammates.

"I respect Ryan (Tannehill) to the fullest," Byard said. "That's one thing about me, I don't look at guys as race. Ryan and his family, his wife, have treated my family with nothing but love and I respect him just for the man he is. The fact that he's speaking and using his voice to uplift others, black, white, or different ... it speaks volumes for his character. I will always treat him based upon that."

BENGALS COACH HELPED TANNEHILL BECOME THE PLAYER HE IS TODAY

BY MIKE HOGAN
SPORTS ILLUSTRATED
OCTOBER 31, 2020

Familiarity is a storyline every week in the NFL. Some, however, are bigger stories than others.

That is the case for Tennessee Titans quarterback Ryan Tannehill and Cincinnati Bengals head coach Zac Taylor this week.

The veteran quarterback and the second-year head coach have eight years of experience together, and it all started when both were just trying to find their way in 2008. Tannehill was Texas A&M's backup quarterback. Taylor, a former quarterback who had a short-lived NFL career, was just starting his coaching career as an offensive assistant of Texas A&M.

The pair spent four years together in College Station followed by four more years with the Miami Dolphins (2012-2015).

Sunday, they will square off against each other for the first time.

"I learned a ton of football from Zac [Taylor]," Tannehill said. "I have so much respect for him, the way he coaches the game, his work ethic, and just how he puts so much time and effort into preparing me each and every week. I definitely learned a lot of football from (Taylor) and am appreciative of all he did for me."

When the Dolphins drafted Tannehill with the eighth overall pick in 2012, so much was familiar for Tannehill. Taylor was his assistant quarterbacks coach, and former Texas A&M head coach Mike Sherman was then the Dolphins' offensive coordinator.

Taylor said it helped Tannehill transition smoothly to life as a starting quarterback in the NFL.

"Certainly, for a rookie to come in and already know everything about the offense from day one helped him right away," Taylor said on Thursday. "He very well may have won the job anyway had it been a new offense, but of course his familiarity with the offense from day one helped him instruct some of the veteran players on some of the nuances of the offense."

Tannehill had a mostly up-and-down stint in Miami. The Dolphins were nothing more than a mediocre football team, and the quarterback dealt with a handful of injuries that held him back.

However, he had his best statistical seasons in Miami in 2015, when Taylor was on the offensive staff as a quarterbacks coach and as the interim offensive coordinator for five games. Tannehill threw for more than 4,000 yards twice (2014, 2015) and at least 20 touchdowns while completing more than 60 percent of his passes in three of those four seasons.

The Dolphins decided to revamp their coaching staff at the conclusion of the 2015 campaign. In a way, that also marked the beginning of the end for Tannehill's time in Miami. He started the 2016 season out hot but sustained a torn ACL in Week 14 and missed the remainder of that season and the Dolphins' Wild Card playoff game. He again tore his ACL in training camp before the 2017 season and missed the entire season.

He appeared in just 11 games in 2018, and the Dolphins traded him to the Tennessee Titans in exchange for draft picks.

With the Titans, of course, Tannehill has revived his career. After taking over as starter in Week 6 of the 2019 season, Tannehill led the Titans to seven wins in 10 games en route to the postseason and the AFC Championship game against the Kansas City Chiefs.

He earned his first trip to the Pro Bowl, was named Comeback Player of the Year honors and then in the offseason signed a four-year contract extension.

Tannehill's success story has spilled over into this season. Through the first six games, Tannehill has been one of the top quarterbacks in the league, completing 139 passes on 203 attempts for 1,590 yards and 15 touchdowns, which is tied for second among all quarterbacks.

None of what has transpired has surprised Taylor, who said Tannehill is "the perfect quarterback for the Tennessee Titans."

"Very happy for him. He's a great human being, great teammate, very coachable, very hard on himself," Taylor said. "There is not a lot of weakness to his game. He's got a lot of strength, and you can just see his confidence right now. The team really believes in him."

And on Sunday, Taylor will try to defeat the player he has built such a strong relationship with for the first time in his career.

"He poses a very difficult challenge for us," Taylor said. "Not only do they have a great running game, great receivers, but they have a quarterback who is playing at one of the highest levels in the league right now. He's really impressive."

DEMARCUS WALKER

WORK ETHIC HAS D-LINEMAN SAILING THROUGH CAMP

BY JOHN GLENNON
SI.COM
AUGUST 2, 2022

NASHVILLE – DeMarcus Walker says he gets his work ethic from his father, a longshoreman in Jacksonville, Fla.,

Dale Walker is what's known as a ship-chaser, according to his son, someone who helps load and unload the huge boats carrying cargo – like cars and military equipment -- to and from the busy port city on the the Atlantic Ocean.

"Everyone always talked to me about how he was the hardest worker there," Walker said Tuesday. "Then when I lived with him for six years (from age 12 to 18), I saw it with my own two eyes and observed it."

What he learned then might help explain the strong impression Walker has made in less than three months.

The 6-foot-4, 280-pound defensive lineman signed with the Tennessee Titans on May 12. Though he spent less time in the offseason program most of his teammates, Walker was named an offseason award winner along with fullback Tory Carter, cornerback Caleb Farley, wide receiver Dez Fitzpatrick, safety Amani Hooker and right tackle Dillon Radunz.

"He worked hard, brought energy, got here early and stayed late," coach Mike Vrabel said. "Sometimes after practice or running, the (weightlifting) isn't intense. He was able to bring an intensity level to that … He showed the effort and daily consistency and improved in the techniques that we were coaching each day with."

Said Walker: "I was shocked. I was definitely shocked ... But I'm a hard worker. I get that from my dad."

A second-round pick of the Denver Broncos in 2017, Walker has a more impressive pedigree than many of the depth linemen the Titans added during the offseason.

Over the last three seasons – the first two in Denver, last year in Houston – Walker has totaled 10.5 sacks, 12 tackles for loss and 17 quarterback hits. He played 456 defensive snaps for the Texans in 2021, posting a career-high 31 tackles in 13 games.

Those kinds of numbers made Walker an interesting, under-the-radar free-agent target for Indianapolis. Tennessee and general manager Jon Robinson eventually won him over.

"It was a thought process," Walker said of his decision, "and I got to give J-Rob his props because J-Rob was definitely like `Hey, call me.' We stayed on the phone and talked, and I was flat-ass honest with him, and he was honest with me back. He did a few things and just took a leap of faith to get me here."

The intrigue surrounding Walker has only grown since the start of training camp last week.

He's earned reps high in the depth chart, for instance, an opportunity to show what he can do against some of the Titans' top offensive linemen.

"You've got to capitalize and respond (to those chances)," Walker said. "I'm just thankful they believe in me, and I've got to get better every single day, fine-tuning my craft and feeding off everyone's energy."

Added defensive coordinator Shane Bowen: "I've been very pleased with him. He's a pro. He comes in here and works … I think he has a pass-rush ability for us, and he can do some different things across the line of scrimmage in base defense."

It also seems noteworthy that during parts of individual drills, Walker and Pro Bowler Jeffery Simmons have worked with one another, locking up as they practice their pass-rush moves.

"His effort, that's what we build our team around," Simmons said. "The way he runs to the ball, the way he carries himself, especially when it's time for team period. … He's one of the guys I know we'll be able to count on when it's time."

Then there are the extra reps Walker takes both before and after practice, even with the hot Nashville sun beating down at St. Thomas Sports Park.

Sometimes he works on power moves. Sometimes on his finesse game. After Tuesday's practice, in which Walker's defensive unit stayed on the field for eight straight plays during one drill, he still felt the need to do some extra conditioning afterward.

"With my calling and being a football player, I'm so blessed, and why not put all my energy into it?" Walker said. "Being the first one on the field and the last one off is not just something for show. It's just that I really love my job. I really have high goals for myself and high aspirations. That's something that I pride myself on."

It won't be long, Walker said, before his father joins him Nashville.

That will mark quite a change from Dale Walker's younger days around Jacksonville, when he survived a rough upbringing. One of his brothers was killed, and two others have also passed away.

"With his upbringing and being in the streets," Walker said of his father, "he definitely beat all the odds."

When Dale Walker eventually watches his son practice and play for the Titans, he won't need a specific jersey number to identify him.

The work ethic will make him stand out – as it already has.

AS HE FIGHTS FOR SNAPS, TITANS' DEMARCUS WALKER USES A POP-UP DUMMY ON HIS BALCONY

BY PAUL KUHARSKY

OCTOBER 6, 2022

NASHVILLE. Tenn. – When DeMarcus Walker does his homework, he steps out onto a patch of turf on the balcony of his townhouse and squares off against the same sort of tackling dummy he works against on the Titans' practice field.

DeMarcus Walker

DeMarcus Walker slides down the sort of tackling dummy he has at his townhouse

Working at a walkthrough pace, he'll translate the video he just watched of the offensive linemen he will face in the upcoming game into the moves he intends to employ to get past them.

This hand here on that arm, this shoulder dipping. It's the extra work that's had some in the building classify one of the team's offseason MVPs who's not yet produced much as maniacal about his craft.

He lives with his girlfriend who understands his dedication to his work – with how he's chosen to "decorate" the section of the balcony and what he's doing out there.

"I work on a lot of different things up there," he said. "Obviously, not having the type of success I want in the league, it can be very mind-boggling, but the people who know my story, I'm able to put my cleats on, go out and compete every single day."

Walker was a second-round pick out of Florida State by the Broncos in 2017. After four seasons, he played 2021 in Houston, where he formed a close bond with his position coach, Bobby King. King came to the Titans as inside linebackers coach and offered a big recommendation that the Titans bring Walker over.

The Texans gave him the blocking dummy, which he brought with him from Houston to the Nashville area.

Walker played 16 snaps in the opener, then 31 in Buffalo and 33 against the Raiders. But he was not very productive and in the win in Indianapolis, he was down to 10.

Because the Titans played so little base defense, there were not a lot of snaps for Walker, Naquan Jones or Kevin Strong.

But it seems clear he's trending down right now. Sam Okuayinonu was just signed from the practice squad to the 53-man roster and he will pose a real threat to Walker's snaps and chance to work.

Still, Walker is a model Titan in the work ethic department. He will do all he can to regain a snap share where he gets a chance to produce in the way his offseason and training camp suggested he can.

"I feel like I'm just scratching the surface," Walker said.

During training camp he regularly stayed after practices for extra work, giving himself a period of conditioning or time to work on finesse moves or power. Now, he's got to be more responsive to how his body feels after a game and needs to recover, but he still does what he can.

The focus with the blocking dummy is on those offensive linemen, how they are set up, and what he will do to counter it.

"Muscle memory, here's how I am attacking them that week," he said.

Newcomer Mario Edwards played with Walker at Florida State.

Like Jeffery Simmons, he was impressed that Walker has the blocking bag on the balcony.

"I've not heard anyone do it to that extent, not with the bag," he said. "I do it kind of like on air. Actually getting the bag, that's taking another step. That's good, that's real good. His girlfriend may get a little jealous, she may want some more time with him. But I like that he using that bag.

"The bag does deserve a name. I'm going to talk to him about that."

WHY RASHAD WEAVER COULD BE TITANS' ULTIMATE X-FACTOR

BY MICHAEL GALLAGHER
THE NASHVILLE POST
AUGUST 23, 2022

Tennessee Titans edge rusher Rashad Weaver is no stranger to being called a preseason darling.

After all, Weaver was a standout of the 2021 preseason and was expected to be a factor in Tennessee's revamped pass rush before breaking his fibula last September.

But in Saturday's 13-3 preseason win over the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, in which Weaver finished with two quarterback hits, a sack, a tackle for loss, a pass defended and a fumble recovery, the 24-year-old outside linebacker showed more of the same promise that he did this time last year.

"It was good to be back at Nissan, good to do that in front of the fans," Weaver said. "It was my first game at Nissan since getting hurt, so it was something I was looking forward to and just going out there, playing how I play, making things happen and doing what the defense asks of me."

Arguably Weaver's best play came on a 2nd-and-9 play late in the first half. Exploding off the edge, he pushed Tampa right tackle Fred Johnson back a good five yards before turning the corner and bringing down QB Kyle Trask. Even more impressive was that Johnson was holding Weaver the whole time but couldn't slow him down.

"Nothing comes easy in football, starting from college all the way to the NFL," Weaver continued. "As an outside linebacker/defensive end, you've thought about making sacks and rushing the passer. Most guys don't get that home run pass rush move where they just get a clean sack. You know, it's about being relentless and continuing to run after the ball."

Weaver made another heads up play in the final two minutes of the first half when he again blew past Johnson and hit Trask's arm mid-throw. The result was a batted ball that fell right into the hands of Titans' linebacker Joe Jones, who returned the interception 38 yards and helped set up Tennessee's only touchdown drive of the game.

"He started working in some new moves," Titans head coach Mike Vrabel said. "Some new pass rush moves and trying to do some things off of what he was doing earlier. It was good to see that it's not just the same move over and over again."

Led by Harold Landry (12 sacks), Denico Autry (9 sacks) and Jeffery Simmons (8.5 sacks), the Titans finished tied for the ninth-best pass rush last season. The team's 43 sacks were more than double the 19 they had in 2020.

Now, Tennessee has the added benefit of rotating in a healthy Bud Dupree, who was limited to 11 games with three sacks in 2021 while recovering from a torn ACL, and Weaver, who played just 12 defensive snaps as a rookie.

If Weaver, a 2020 consensus All-American at Pittsburgh, can match the kind of production he had in college — 109 tackles, 34 tackles for loss, 17 sacks, five forced fumbles, four fumble recoveries in three seasons — the Titans could potentially have a top-five pass rush unit in 2022.

"It's preseason, so you always know the competition will be stiffer once you get into the regular season," Weaver added. "But it was a good showing [Saturday], and we'll keep building off of it."

WESTBROOK-IKHINE SETS CAREER RECORD WITH SECOND TD TO GIVE TITANS LEAD OVER BRONCOS

BY TURRON DAVENPORT
ESPN
NOVEMBER 14, 2022

NASHVILLE, Tenn. -- The Tennessee Titans found a way to get a much needed big play when wide receiver Nick Westbrook-Ikhine caught a pass from Ryan Tannehill for a 63-yard touchdown Sunday at Nissan Stadium. The Titans took a 14-10 lead on the play over the Broncos.

In the third quarter, Titans offensive coordinator Todd Downing dialed up a flea-flicker and Westbrook-Ikhine faked like he was blocking before dashing down the field. Westbrook-Ikhine then cut back toward the middle of the field and raced to the end zone for the touchdown.

The touchdown was Westbrook-Ikhine's second score of the day. He caught a 9-yard pass for a touchdown in the second quarter. Westbrook-Ikhiine's 119 yards and two touchdowns were both single-game career highs.

The 100-yard receiving performance by Westbrook-Ikhine is the first time a Titans receiver surpassed the 100-yard mark in a game this season. He only had caught one touchdown pass entering this week.

THIS RECEIVER TOOK A DIFFERENT ROUTE

BY DAVID BOCLAIR
SI.COM
JANUARY 19, 2022

NASHVILLE – Nick Westbrook-Ikhine readily admits it. He had a Plan B.

His first choice was to play football for a living, but he was not convinced it would happen. It did not help that he was not selected in the 2020 NFL Draft following a productive career at Indiana University.

"There was a time I was interviewing for jobs while finishing up my senior year at IU where [I thought] I just have to have that backup," he said. "You never know what is going to happen. But I knew I was going to have an opportunity and just figured I would make the best of what I have. That's really all I could ask for – to have this opportunity."

To say that he has made the most of it would be an understatement.

There were 35 wide receivers selected in the 2020 NFL Draft, and the Titans did not take any of them. Instead, franchise officials covered their bases with four undrafted players at that spot (they did not sign more than two at any other position). Krisitian Wilkerson (Southeast Missouri State) has appeared in four games with the New England Patriots, and Mason Kinsey (Berry College) made his NFL debut with the Titans this season but has not seen the field since. Kyle Williams (Arizona State) has never played in a game.

Westbrook-Ikhine, on the other hand, has played 30 out of a possible 33 games and has progressed from a special teams performer to a role player on offense to his current role as a significant contributor in the passing game. He was the Titans' second-leading receiver this season with 38 receptions for 476 yards and four touchdowns. In the three games A.J. Brown spent on injured reserve, it was Westbrook-Ikhine who played more snaps than any of the team's other wide receivers.

Only 19 of wide receivers drafted in 2020 have caught more passes through their first two seasons than Westbrook-Ikhine, who has 41 for 509 yards and four touchdowns. Just 14 have more touchdown passes.

"There's definitely times I'm sitting at the house and I kind of realize the position I'm at and the blessing I have to be on this team (and) have a role – a solid role – on this team," Westbrook-Ikhine said. "Yeah, I'm definitely proud of what I've been able to accomplish."

That road from obscurity to importance makes Westbrook-Ikhine the exception Saturday when the Titans host the Cincinnati Bengals in a matchup that features a handful of sure-things – or as close to it as you can get.

Combined, the offenses include two wide receivers who were top 10 overall picks – Tennessee's Julio Jones (sixth, 2011) and Cincinnati's Ja'Marr Chase (fifth, 2021) – and three others who were second-round selections – Tennessee's A.J. Brown (2019) and Cincinnati's Tee Higgins (2020) and Tyler Boyd (2016).

All of them have lived up to expectations. Jones, Brown and Boyd have multiple 1,000-yard seasons to their credit, and Jones is one of the NFL's all-time leading receivers. Higgins topped 1,000 receiving yards for the first time this year, and Chase set an NFL rookie record with 1,455 this season.

Westbrook-Ikhine won't be mentioned in the same breath as any of them anytime soon, but – in the most literal sense – he absolutely is in their league.

"We have always had confidence in (Westbrook-Ikhine)," coach Mike Vrabel said. "I think he has developed. … He blocks for us. He plays on special teams. He knows multiple positions. Those types of players are very valuable to a team."

Even if they are not obvious choices from the outset.

Or, if they question whether they belong every now and then. Westbrook-Ikhine, for example, admits to occasional insecurity about his career choice.

"I feel like that's just a natural human thing," he said. "Doubt creeps in at times. I feel like it kind of shows its head when you play poorly because there's doubt in your mind. I just have to kind of roll with those punches and realize what God put me on this earth to do – this gift and talent he gave me – and try to use it to the best of my ability."

AFTER MAKING STRIDES IN 2021, TITANS WR NICK WESTBROOK-IKHINE WORKING TO BE EVEN BETTER IN 2022

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEETITANS.COM
MAY 4, 2022

NASHVILLE – Nick Westbrook-Ikhine's 2021 season was one of growth.

The Titans receiver became more comfortable as a route runner and a pass catcher, and he was more productive than he'd ever been. Surrounded by veterans, he learned the game even more, and it showed on Sundays.

Heading into 2022, Westbrook-Ikhine wants to do even more.

And, based on all the changes around him, he may need to do more.

"It is going to be different," Westbrook-Ikhine said on Tuesday. "I feel like I was very much still in a learning role the last couple of years, and now I am going to embrace this new opportunity."

Earlier this offseason, the Titans released veteran Julio Jones, and to date the team hasn't re-signed veteran Chester Rogers. Then last week, the team traded receiver A.J. Brown to the Eagles.

Needless to say, the room looks a lot different now.

Among the new additions: Veteran Robert Woods, formerly of the Rams, signed with the team in free agency, and over the weekend the team drafted receivers Treylon Burns (Arkansas) and Kyle Phillips (UCLA).

Westbrook-Ikhine said he's already learned a few things from Woods, and he's more than willing to help the newcomers.

His biggest focus, of course, is improving his own game.

"Being consistent, but being more explosive, working on getting yards after catch, making contested catches, getting separation," Westbrook-Ikhine said of what he's working on this offseason. "Just being a complete receiver overall and most importantly continuing to gain that trust with Ryan (Tannehill) going into the season."

Westbrook-Ikhine, who joined the team as an undrafted free agent from Indiana in 2020, caught 38 passes in 2021, which ranked second on the team behind only Brown (63). He was also second on the team in receiving yards (476), and he finished second on the team in touchdown catches (4) as well.

Westbrook-Ikhine had two touchdown grabs in two games against the Colts, one touchdown against the Patriots, and another against the Texans. He had a 100-yard game in November against Houston.

Yet when he looks back at 2021, he recalled what he needs to do to get better. In 2020, Westbrook-Ikhine had just three catches for 33 yards, so his production took a big leap in Year 2.

"Being a more complete receiver, making those big-time plays that we need," Westbrook-Ikhine said of his mission for 2022. "I can look back (at last year) and think of a couple of plays that come to mind where if I make that play, the game has a totally different outcome. The first one that comes to mind is the Steelers game, catch that go ball and run under it and don't trip and fall and go score and that's a whole different ball game. Having that mentality of understanding what's needed and what I want to bring to the table this year."

On Tuesday, Westbrook-Ikhine recalled past times during his football career when he was in a position similar to the scenario he's now in with the Titans.

And, once again, he's ready to step up.

"I feel like I have been in this situation before," he said. "It's kind of funny, this kind of same cycle happened before in high school where I didn't really do much my freshman year, we had a dog at receiver my sophomore year, and then he transferred and it was like, 'Alright, you have you step up.' In college it was a similar thing, I didn't really play much my freshman year, sophomore year we had a dude, he got hurt, and I had to step up.

"So I have been in that situation before so I kind of embrace it now, knowing I have done it before and it gives me that extra confidence."

WHO IS MALIK WILLIS? WHAT TO KNOW ABOUT TITANS ROOKIE QB AHEAD OF FIRST START

BY STAFF REPORTS
THE ATHLETIC
OCTOBER 29, 2022

The Tennessee Titans will be without durable starting quarterback Ryan Tannehill for the first time in 49 games on Sunday when they face the Houston Texans on the road.

Rookie Malik Willis will make his first NFL start as Tannehill deals with an ankle injury and illness. The veteran — who started the last 11 regular-season games in 2019, all 16 regular-season games in 2020 and 17 in 2021, and Tennessee's five playoff games during his tenure — will not travel with the team.

Willis previously played in Tennessee's blowout loss to the Buffalo Bills in Week 2 (including one snap last week when Tannehill got hurt), going 1-for-4 for six yards and adding 16 on the ground.

Here's what you need to know about the Titans' rookie.

How did Willis end up with the Titans?

Willis, 23, was drafted by Tennessee in the third round of the 2022 NFL Draft at No. 86 overall. He was the third quarterback taken in the 2022 draft class behind Kenny Pickett and Desmond Ridder.

Where did Willis play in college?

After transferring from Auburn, Willis graduated from Liberty University and became the ninth player in program history drafted into the NFL. He accounted for 65.9 percent of the team's offense in his final season and led the Flames to their third straight bowl win as MVP of the LendingTree Bowl. Willis saw playing time in 15 games across his first two college seasons (2017 and 2018) with the Tigers.

He racked up 5,176 passing yards (48 touchdowns) with 18 interceptions and 2,131 rushing yards (29 touchdowns) over four seasons.

Scouting report on Willis entering the NFL

Dane Brugler, NFL Draft writer prior to 2022 draft: With his escapability and body strength, the backfield was Willis' playground, but he struggles to recognize pressures and takes too many sacks (he was equally responsible for Liberty finishing No. 1 in the FBS with 51 sacks allowed in 2021). Willis needs time to mature his anticipation, vision and placement, but he has the potential to be a dynamic NFL playmaker because of his natural athleticism, arm talent and intangibles. He will likely need a redshirt year before seriously competing for an NFL starting role.

What to expect from Willis on Sunday vs. Houston

Joe Rexrode, Titans writer: This will be a fascinating glimpse at the progress of Willis, who looked exactly like a project in the preseason. He has a massive arm and is a speedy runner, but consistent accuracy and pre-snap diagnosis are both areas that need a lot of work. He did make some big plays in the preseason, though, and Titans OC Todd Downing figures to lean heavily on some of the read-option stuff that he occasionally sprinkles in with Tannehill. Think Patriots last year in that windy game against the Bills, just without the weather.

WHAT TO KNOW ABOUT MALIK WILLIS, TENNESSEE TITANS QB PICK IN 2022 NFL DRAFT

BY MIKEY DILULLO
THE TENNESSEAN
APRIL 29, 2022

The Tennessee Titans may have their quarterback of the future after selecting Liberty's Malik Willis in the third round with the No. 86 overall pick Friday in the 2022 NFL Draft.

Willis once was projected to be a first-round pick.

Here's what to know about Malik Willis:

Transfer from Auburn

Coming out of high school, Willis signed with Auburn to play college football. However, he played sparingly in two seasons for the Tigers, leading to his decision to transfer to Liberty.

Rushing prowess

Willis was able to succeed with both his arm and his legs. During his first season at Liberty in 2020, he rushed for 944 yards and 14 touchdowns, and followed that up with 878 yards and 13 TDs rushing in 2021.

Big-game performances

At Liberty, Willis led the Flames to two bowl wins. The first came in the 2020 Cure Bowl when he won MVP in a 37-34 win over Coastal Carolina. One year later, he led Liberty to a win over Eastern Michigan in the LendingTree Bowl, 56-20. He was named MVP of that bowl as well.

WITH A BIG SMILE, TITANS ROOKIE QB MALIK WILLIS DOING HIS BEST TO TACKLE NFL CHALLENGES ONE DAY AT A TIME

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESEETITANS.COM
AUGUST 21, 2022

NASHVILLE – Malik Willis flashes a smile as fast as he slings the football.

The Titans rookie quarterback, who has started the team's first two preseason games, is all about having a good time.

"It's always fun when we get to play football," Willis said on Saturday night. "It's always fun."

Willis, drafted in the third round of the 2022 NFL Draft, is doing his best to convince the team's decision-makers he's worthy of the No.2 job behind starter Ryan Tannehill.

Along the way, Willis is tackling a lot of firsts – first start, first touchdown run, first touchdown pass.

Willis knows he's been far from perfect, but he's doing his best not to stress about it all.

"At this point, I just wake up every day and thank God that I get to do what I do," Willis said after the team's win over the Buccaneers. "I'm just super excited to go to work tomorrow. Go work out and watch the film, correct it. … I get to watch it with Coach (Vrabel). We can talk about the good, the bad, and it's just focusing on how we can fix it. It's over with now. It's in the books."

In two preseason games, Willis has completed 13-of-28 passes for 187 yards and a touchdown. His completion percentage is 46.4, his passer rating 80.5. Willis has been sacked five times while playing just over a half in each game. He's also racked up 80 rushing yards and a touchdown on 10 carries.

Titans head coach Mike Vrabel said he's seen improvement from Willis, who has been guilty of being impatient at times because of his willingness to leave the pocket and run.

Willis, who has been quick to criticize himself, knows it's something he must improve.

"It's not about feeling comfortable," Willis said. "It's about making it a big point to stay in the pocket when I can. And not just because I'm athletic or I can get out when I want to, just to get out sometimes. And it is understanding when not to. And that's the biggest thing. That's why I'm a little disappointed in myself for, I think I got out a little bit too much. But it's a growing process. It's my second preseason game. I'm not going to be too hard on myself in that regard. So, I'm just excited and blessed that I get opportunity next week."

Next week for Willis and the Titans is work against the Arizona Cardinals.

The two teams are scheduled to hold joint practices on Wednesday and Thursday of this week before preseason game No.3 on Saturday at Nissan Stadium.

Willis knows he's improved, but he's far from satisfied.

"Thinking about it, I think (Week 2 was) a little bit better than Week One. I got a few checkdowns that I got and I stayed in there and just got it out quickly, but not by much," he said. "I think this is something I just need to focus on and continue to just find that in between from when I need to play, make a play, don't just climb in the pocket and help my O-line out.

"When I have a clean pocket, when people are open downfield, I need to make that throw. I need to stay in there and do whatever I need to do in order to just not ask so much of protection and also save my body more than anything. And those times when I did, I do need to make a play when nobody's open, when there's pressure in the pocket and it's right now and just being able to react. It's just finding the balance between those two."

Willis said he's receiving constant encouragement from those around him, even if he's received some tough love.

Everyone is aware he's just getting started.

"I'm probably a little bit more critical than my coaches, but they always balance me out," Willis said. "So I'm not overly critical because at the end of the day, nobody's perfect. Everybody's going to make mistakes. And especially being young, they try to help me see the glass half full.

"(Coach told me) 'Don't worry about being perfect,' because that's what I was doing. 'Don't worry about being perfect, just go out there and let it rip and have fun. You've been blessed with a lot of ability, so just go have fun and continue to learn."

WHY ROBERT WOODS IS THE DIFFERENCE MAKER THE TITANS OFFENSE NEEDS

MICHAEL GALLAGHER
THE NASHVILLE POST
AUGUST 19, 2022

When the Tennessee Titans traded for Robert Woods in March, it was expected that the 30-year-old wideout would play Robin to AJ Brown's Batman in the Titans' passing offense this season.

Fast forward one month; Brown is in Philadelphia, the place he reportedly wanted to be all along, while Woods, who's working his way back from a torn ACL, is Tennessee's new No. 1 receiver by default.

Presumably learning from Taylor Lewan and Bud Dupree, the Titans have brought Woods along leisurely. In fact, Woods even admitted in May that he thought Tennessee's trainers were holding him back.

But as the Titans held joint practices with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers on Wednesday and Thursday at Saint Thomas Sports Park, Woods appeared to be running without restriction and participating in 1-on-1 and team drills without any difficulty.

"He comes in and has a presence about him," Titans quarterback Ryan Tannehill said. "He's done it for a long time, I respect him and he's a really good dude. As we grow our relationship on the field, just getting used to what he does well and he's so smooth. That's one thing I noticed almost immediately is he's so smooth. He's able to transition really well and it looks like he's going 100 percent but he's not. For a quarterback, that makes it easy to throw the ball to him."

Added Woods: "I feel good. It feels natural going out there running routes. Really, I just feel like I'm playing pass-and-catch with Ryan out there right now.

"… I'm starting to get going and find my matchups and really just work my technique in those situations, go in there, going against a different [team], so just trying to be a little bit faster, a little bit more quicker when I get those chances."

If Woods is close to or at his best by Week 1, the Titans' passing attack may not suffer as big of a drop-off as many have predicted.

Prior to Woods' injury last season, he excelled as a focal point of the Los Angeles Rams offense. He put up back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons in 2018 and 2019 and ranked in the top 17 among all receivers in targets, receptions and yards both years. He had three straight seasons with 86 or more receptions from 2018-2020, and he ranked 13th and 15th in receptions and targets, respectively, in 2020.

Woods also adds value in areas that don't typically show up on the stat sheet.

He's as sure-handed as they come with a drop rate of just 2.9 percent over the last four years. For comparison, Tennessee's top three leading receivers have had a drop rate of 3.1 percent or higher each of the last two seasons.

Woods is also one of the top red-zone threats in the NFL. He's had double-digit red-zone targets every year since 2016, and despite playing in just 9 games, Woods still tied for 29th in red-zone targets and 26th in red-zone receptions last season. Since 2017, Woods has caught 37 of his 53 red-zone targets (70 percent) for 232 yards and 17 touchdowns.

However, Woods' value to the Titans can't be measured simply with pure statistics.

He's the Titans' only receiver over the age of 28, and just the second WR over the age of 25. Rookies Treylon Burks (22), Kyle Philips (23) and Reggie Roberson (23), plus Cody Hollister (28), Nick Westbrook-Ikhine (25), Terry Godwin (25), Dez Fitzpatrick (24), Racey McMath (23) and Mason Kinsey (23), have just 58 receptions, 656 yards and five touchdowns between them.

Woods is only receiver on Tennessee's roster with more than 42 career receptions and at least one 1,000-yard season, and he adds leadership and a veteran presence to one of the youngest and least experienced receiver rooms in the NFL.

"[Woods'] leadership has been great," Vrabel said. "His consistency each and every day, being able to work through things, talk through things, provide [receivers coach] Rob [Moore] with an extension of a coach. It's been great to have him."

TITANS WR ROBERT WOODS ALREADY HAS SEVERAL REASONS TO SMILE

BY JIM WYATT
TENNESSEETITANS.COM
JUNE 3, 2022

NASHVILLE – Robert Woods was born and raised in Los Angeles, in the middle of the hustle and bustle of one of the country's biggest cities.

After playing in college at USC, he spent four seasons in Buffalo, only to return to his hometown to join the Rams.

Now, at his third NFL stop, Woods finds himself in Nashville, with the Titans.

And so far, things have been better than he expected in more ways than one.

"Nashville is way better than I expected," Woods said with a smile. "I thought I was really going to a country town that was not going to have anything. But it really has a lot to offer, whether it's food, entertainment, obviously a lot of music. I know I am from L.A., but I love experiencing different cultures, having a different experience than fast-pace living, L.A. lifestyle.

"So, I have been loving Nashville, getting acclimated with it, the guys. Everybody has been welcoming, not just the team but really around in public."

Woods has also been a pleasant surprise on the field in OTAs, taking part in on-field workouts – albeit limited and with a brace – roughly six months after tearing his left ACL.

In some periods, Woods slides a yellow pullover jersey over his No.2 Titans jersey, signifying he's not all the way back.

But Woods said it's all part of a process, and he's keeping the big picture in mind.

"Obviously, we want to do everything that is correct to make sure no injuries come back," Woods said. "But now it is more: Let's get back to the elite level of playing.

"Really, I am just trying to get back to playing at a high level. Being able to be out here and do what I am doing is really impressing me, being able to run on the side and seeing certain speeds that I am hitting, being able to trust my knee with some cuts. … I think I am really good, on pace. Being able to do some training on my own (is good), and really just being confident with where I'm at and being prepared and being ready. Obviously, we don't know how long it is going to take and what could come up, but I'll say right now we're all on pace and doing good to be ready. I am just trying to be my best me and be ready when I can and whenever they need me on the field, being able to be at my best when I'm out there."

A two-time captain with the Rams who totaled 367 receptions for 4,626 yards and 23 touchdowns in 68 games in five seasons in Los Angeles, Woods is also learning a new quarterback, and teammates.

He said his chemistry with Titans quarterback Ryan Tannehill is building.

"Ryan is a really good leader, being able to talk not only out here on the football field, but talk in the meetings rooms, in between plays," Woods said. "I think that is one of the biggest things you expect from a quarterback and a leader – (Ryan) is always leading … and he is throwing in his two cents on what he expects from his receivers and what he sees and how he wants to throw the ball. So being able to pick his brain and have that conversation in between plays, in between reps, in between meetings, I think that is really good because the more you know about him, the more you know what he is thinking, and you are able to play fast and have that anticipation on the field."

Acquired in a trade with the Rams earlier this offseason, Woods is expected to play a big role for the Titans in 2022.

In his NFL career, Woods has played in 125 career games, with 115 starts, in nine NFL seasons with the Rams (2017-2021) and Bills (2013-2016). He's recorded 570 catches for 7,077 yards and 35 touchdowns in his playing career and he also has 74 career rushing attempts for 507 yards and five touchdowns.

As Woods builds confidence with his health and the team in the offseason work, he knows things will only improve.

"It feels good to be out there with the guys, learning this offense and building chemistry with Ryan, our other receivers, and really just everybody in the huddle," Woods said. "Just to be back playing football again, I guess easing back into it. It feels good to be on the grass and to be out there with the guys."

TITANS/OILERS HALL OF FAME

In recognition of the 40th season of the Houston Oilers/Tennessee Titans organization in 1999, the team's late owner K.S. "Bud" Adams, Jr. created an official team Hall of Fame, featuring players and staff from the past, while creating a special place for Titans stars of the future to be recognized. Through 2021, 17 individuals were named to the franchise's Hall of Fame. During the 2021 season, the franchise added former head coaches Bum Phillips and Jeff Fisher and former general manager Floyd Reese to the Hall of Fame.

FRANCHISE PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAMERS

GEORGE BLANDA
QUARTERBACK/KICKER • 6'2" • 215 lbs • COLLEGE: KENTUCKY
NFL SEASONS: 26 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 7 (1960-66)
HOMETOWN: YOUNGWOOD, PA. • BORN: SEPT. 27, 1927
GAMES PLAYED: 340 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 1981

George Blanda, who came out of retirement with the emergence of the American Football League in 1960, was the offensive catalyst for the explosive Oiler squads of the early 1960s. He played quarterback and handled the placekicking chores in Columbia blue for seven of his NFL-record 26 seasons in the league. Blanda was the team's leading passer and scorer in each of those seven seasons and still owns franchise records for most extra points (299), most touchdown passes in a season (36) and most touchdown passes in a game (7). He is also third in points scored with 596. The 36 scoring tosses stood as an NFL record for an astounding 23 years. Blanda's NFL career records included most games (340), most points (2,002) and most extra points (943). He also passed for 236 touchdowns. Blanda captained the Oilers to two consecutive AFL titles in 1960 and 1961, earning AFL Player of the Year honors in 1961. Blanda's career was divided into three distinct parts, 10 years with the Chicago Bears, seven seasons with the Houston Oilers and nine years with the Oakland Raiders. In 1970, he became the oldest quarterback to play in a title game. He was just a month shy of his 49th birthday when he retired before the 1976 season. Blanda passed away at age 83 on Sept. 27, 2010.

KEN HOUSTON
SAFETY • 6'3" • 197 lbs • COLLEGE: PRAIRIE VIEW A&M
NFL SEASONS: 14 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 6 (1967-72)
HOMETOWN: LUFKIN, TEXAS • BORN: NOV. 12, 1944
GAMES PLAYED: 196 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 1986

Considered one of the best safeties in football history, Ken Houston picked off 49 passes (898 yards), recovered 21 fumbles and scored 12 touchdowns over his 14-season NFL career, earning Pro Bowl honors 12 consecutive times (1968-69 AFL, 1970-79 NFL). Houston returned an NFL-record nine interceptions for a touchdown in his six seasons as an Oiler. Four of those scores came in 1971, tying an NFL record. He returned two in one game against San Diego in the 1971 season finale, which also ties an NFL mark. His other three touchdowns came on a punt return, a fumble return and a blocked field goal return. Houston also holds the Oilers record for most career interception return yards with 650. With a long, fluid stride, Houston had excellent speed and quickness. His 6-3, 197-pound frame made him an ideal pass defender. Yet his lean, muscular body helped him to become a punishing tackler. Originally a ninth-round draft choice out of Prairie View A&M, Houston earned a starter's role by the third game of his rookie season. Two weeks later in a game against the New York Jets, he scored two touchdowns, one on a 71-yard blocked field goal attempt, and the other on a 43-yard interception return. After excelling for six years with the Oilers, Ken was traded to the Redskins for five veteran players in 1973. The Redskins once referred to Houston as "pro football's most underrated superstar," but his capabilities were widely recognized. He won all-league acclaim with the Oilers in 1969 and 1971, and then was either All-Pro or All-NFC with the Redskins every year from 1973 to 1979. He was selected for either the AFL All-Star game or the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl 12 straight seasons from 1968 through 1979. He played in 183 consecutive games before suffering a broken arm against the New York Giants Nov. 25, 1979.

EARL CAMPBELL
RUNNING BACK • 5'11" • 232 lbs • COLLEGE: TEXAS
NFL SEASONS: 8 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 7 (1978-84)
HOMETOWN: TYLER, TEXAS • BORN: MARCH 29, 1955
GAMES PLAYED: 115 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 1991

Earl Campbell, a 5-11, 232-pound ball-carrying dynamo from the University of Texas, joined the Houston Oilers as the first player taken in the 1978 National Football League Draft. The first player to earn All-Southwest Conference honors four years, Campbell was a consensus All-America and the Heisman Trophy winner in 1977. Campbell took the NFL by storm from the outset. In 1978, he was named the NFL's Most Valuable Player, All-Pro, and Rookie of the Year. He won the league rushing championship with a club-record 1,450 yards and was named to the AFC Pro Bowl squad. It was more of the same the next two years with NFL rushing titles, MVP honors, and consensus All-Pro acclaim each season. He followed his rookie campaign with 1,697 yards in 1979, but his finest year came in 1980 when he rushed for 1,934 yards, which at the time was second only to 0. J. Simpson's 2,003 yards gained in 1973. That year, Campbell gained over 200 yards in four games. In 1981, he won his fourth straight AFC rushing title with 1,376 yards. A sensational runner, Campbell was picked for the Pro Bowl five of his first six NFL seasons (1978-81, 1983). In his eight-year career, which finished in New Orleans, Campbell rushed 2,187 times for 9,407 yards, and 74 touchdowns, retiring as the NFL's seventh all-time leading rusher. He also gained 806 yards on 121 receptions to bring his career combined net yards total to 10,213. He set Oilers records for most career yards (8,574), most career attempts (1,979), most touchdown runs (73) and most consecutive games with a rushing touchdown (5). His most famous performance came in a Monday night game against Miami in his rookie season. That night, he rushed for 199 yards and four touchdowns to lead the Oilers to a spectacular 35-30 victory. In spite of the constant pounding he took from opposing defenders, Earl missed only six games out of 115 because of injuries. Midway into his seventh season, he was traded by the Oilers to the New Orleans Saints for a first-round draft pick. He played a season and a half with the Saints before retiring after the 1985 campaign. Campbell is one of just four people officially designated a Texas Legend by the Texas State Legislature. The others are Davy Crockett, Sam Houston and Stephen F. Austin. Campbell was the only designee of the 20th century.

CHARLIE JOINER
WIDE RECEIVER • 5'11" • 188 lbs • COLLEGE: GRAMBLING
NFL SEASONS: 18 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 4 (1969-72)
HOMETOWN: MANY, LA. • BORN: OCT. 14, 1947
GAMES PLAYED: 239 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 1996

Charlie Joiner played 18 seasons in the NFL, including his first four with the Houston Oilers. One of the league's most prolific receivers, he amassed 750 career receptions for 12,146 yards and 65 touchdowns, ranking as the league's leading receiver of all-time when he retired at the age of 39 in 1986. His 18 seasons played were longer than any other wide receiver in history at the time of his retirement. The Oilers originally targeted Joiner for the defensive backfield when they picked the 5-11, 180-pounder from Grambling in the fourth round of the 1969 AFL-NFL Draft. Joiner played briefly on defense and the kickoff return team but soon became established as a premier pass catcher. Joiner caught 82 of his 750 career passes as an Oiler, totaling 1,480 yards and 12 touchdowns. He paced the squad with 681 yards and seven touchdown grabs in 1971. In his fourth season in 1972, Houston sent him to the Cincinnati Bengals in a four-player swap. Four years later in 1976, he was traded to San Diego. With the Chargers, Joiner blossomed into super-stardom. He and quarterback Dan Fouts formed a lethal pass-catch team that accounted for the preponderance of his 586 receptions as a Charger. During his 11 years in San Diego, Joiner caught 50 or more passes seven times and had 70 or more receptions three seasons. Injuries cut into his playing time at the beginning, but in a 193-game span over his final 13 seasons, Joiner missed only one game. He was an All-NFL pick in 1980 and a Pro Bowl choice three times. In the 1980 AFC title game, he led the Chargers with six receptions for 130 yards and two touchdowns. Blessed with excellent speed and tantalizing moves, Joiner averaged 16.2 yards per catch and accounted for 12,146 yards and 65 touchdowns. When he was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1996, Joiner ranked fifth in receptions and sixth in receiving yardage on the NFL's all-time list. Joiner was once described by San Francisco 49ers coaching great Bill Walsh as "the most intelligent, the smartest, the most calculating receiver the game has ever known."

FRANCHISE PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAMERS

MIKE MUNCHAK
GUARD • 6'3" • 281 lbs • COLLEGE: PENN STATE
NFL SEASONS: 12 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 12 (1982-93)
HOMETOWN: SCRANTON, PA. • BORN: MARCH 5, 1960
GAMES PLAYED: 159 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 2001

Mike Munchak was the eighth player overall and the first offensive lineman chosen in the 1982 National Football League draft. Selected by the Oilers, the former Penn State standout was an immediate success with the Houston club, earning the starting left guard spot in his first training camp. The 6-3, 281-pound lineman wasted little time establishing himself as one of the premier guards in the NFL. In 1984, in just his third year in the league, he was named to the first of seven All-AFC teams. That same year he received the first of nine Pro Bowl invitations. Not coincidentally, the Oilers' on-the-field successes increased as Munchak's development and experience increased. From their dismal 1-8 record in the strike-shortened 1982 season, the Oilers improved nearly every year that Munchak played. Along the way, the team advanced to the playoffs seven consecutive years (1987-1993) and captured the 1991 and 1993 AFC Central Divisional crowns. Munchak was a devastating blocker and considered the key to an offensive line that kept the Oilers at or near the top of the NFL's offensive statistical categories. In 1988 he led the Oilers' offensive line that gave up just 24 quarterback sacks which was third in the NFL. It was also the fewest sacks allowed by the team in 10 seasons. The following season the offensive line held opponents to no sacks in six games. In 1991, the Oilers offensive line finished second in the AFC and fourth in the NFL in the fewest quarterback sacks allowed. Behind the Munchak-led line, Houston led the NFL in total offense in 1990 and passing offense in 1990 and 1991. The Oilers finished second in points scored in 1990 and second in total offense in 1991. Equally effective as a run blocker, Munchak led the Oilers offensive charge in 1993 as the team finished fourth in the NFL in both average gain per rushing play (4.4) and average gain per offensive play (5.3). Although he suffered from chronic knee problems, Munchak played in 159 regular season games. His 12 seasons with the Oilers tied him for second longest in the franchise's history at the time of his retirement. He became the first player inducted into the Hall of Fame who played his entire career with the Oilers. Long-time teammate Bruce Matthews presented Munchak for induction.

ELVIN BETHEA
DEFENSIVE END • 6'2" • 260 lbs • COLLEGE: NORTH CAROLINA A&T
NFL SEASONS: 16 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 16 (1968-83)
HOMETOWN: TRENTON, N.J. • BORN: MARCH 1, 1946
GAMES PLAYED: 210 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 2003

Defensive end Elvin Bethea, an eight-time Pro Bowl selection during his outstanding career with the Houston Oilers, was named to the five-man class of the 2003 Pro Football Hall of Fame that included running back Marcus Allen, guard Joe DeLamielleure, wide receiver James Lofton, and coach Hank Stram. A third-round draft pick in 1968 (77th player overall) Bethea played in 210 games over 16 seasons, never missing a game until breaking his arm on Nov. 13, 1977. He was considered a "steal" in a draft class that produced three future Hall of Fame players in Larry Csonka, Art Shell, and Ron Yary. When he retired, he held three team records relating to career service: most seasons (16), most career regular season games played (210), and most consecutive regular season games played (135). Having led the team in sacks in six seasons, Bethea's unofficial 105-career sack total still ranks first in franchise history, including his team-best 17 sacks in 1973. He recorded four sacks and a fumble recovery in his best single game performance against San Diego in 1976. He played in eight playoff games and posted 691 career tackles. Bethea also played in eight Pro Bowls (1970, 1972-1976, 1979, 1980) and earned All-Pro second-team honors in 1973, 1975, 1978, and 1979. More than just a pass rusher, Bethea was also effective against the run. Eventhough 1974 was the first year such statistics were compiled by the Oilers, his 691 career tackles, are still among the best in franchise history, even excluding the first six years of his career. "When people ask me who the best guy I ever played against was I always tell them Elvin Bethea and Lyle Alzado because both of them were complete ballplayers," said Art Shell, Hall of Fame member of the Oakland Raiders. "Elvin was one of the quickest guys I've ever been around. We always had to double-team him. There were times when I was supposed to block him when he would get by me so quick. And then Gene Upshaw was supposed to pick him up and he also got by him so quick that we would get back to the huddle and Upshaw would say, 'Did you see that?' and I'd say, 'Yeah, I saw that. He just beat the heck out of me too!' Elvin was just a great player."

WARREN MOON
QUARTERBACK • 6'3" • 212 lbs • COLLEGE: WASHINGTON
NFL SEASONS: 17 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 10 (1984-93)
HOMETOWN: LOS ANGELES, CALIF. • BORN: NOVEMBER 18, 1956
GAMES PLAYED: 208 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 2006

Warren Moon, the fourth leading passer in NFL history, was inducted into the 2006 class of the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Moon played 10 years (1984-93) with the Oilers/Titans organization and holds the franchise records for passing yards (33,685) and touchdowns (196), while leading the Oilers to seven consecutive playoff appearances from 1987-93. During a 17-year NFL career, Moon played for the Houston Oilers, Minnesota Vikings, Seattle Seahawks and Kansas City Chiefs and amassed 49,325 passing yards, 291 touchdowns and 102 wins. He earned nine Pro Bowl invitations (tied for the most by a quarterback with John Elway and Dan Marino), posted nine 3,000 yard seasons, 49 300-yard games and led his team to nine playoff appearances. His eight consecutive playoff berths matched a feat accomplished by Terry Bradshaw and Joe Montana. At the time of his retirement, he held the single-season passing yardage record for three different franchises: Oilers (4,367 in 1991), Vikings (4,364 in 1994) and Seahawks (3,678 in 1997). Moon tallied many accomplishments during his Oiler career. His finest season came in 1990, throwing for 4,689 yards (363 for 584) and 33 touchdowns in only 15 games. He earned AP NFL Offensive Player of the Year for his efforts and his third of nine Pro Bowl invitations. Against Kansas City in 1990, Moon threw for 527 yards, which ranks as the second highest single-game total in NFL history (Norm Van Brocklin, 554 yards in 1951). In 1991, he surpassed the previous season's yardage total with 4,690 yards and became just the third player (Marino, Fouts) in NFL history to produce consecutive 4,000 yard passing seasons. Moon joined the Oilers and the NFL in 1984, after six seasons in the Canadian Football League, where he led his team to five Grey Cups (League Champions). In the CFL, Moon threw for 21,228 yards and 144 touchdowns. Moon was driven to play in the CFL after drawing little interest from the NFL as a starting quarterback following his senior season at the University of Washington. Moon became the first African-American quarterback to be inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame and his legacy as a minority quarterback cannot be underestimated. At the time of his arrival in the NFL only two black quarterbacks had been significant starters for their NFL teams (Shack Harris, Rams; Doug Williams, Tampa Bay).

BRUCE MATTHEWS
GUARD/TACKLE/CENTER • 6'5" • 305 lbs • COLLEGE: USC
NFL SEASONS: 19 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 19 (1983-2001)
HOMETOWN: ARCADIA, CALIF. • BORN: AUGUST 8, 1961
GAMES PLAYED: 296 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 2007

Arguably one of the best offensive linemen to ever play the game, Bruce Matthews became the first Tennessee Titan to be inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame. At the time of his retirement, Matthews played in more NFL games (296) than any non-kicker in the league's history. Longevity and durability were his hallmarks, but that coupled with his unparalleled play, earning a league record 14 consecutive Pro Bowl (9 at guard and 6 at center) selections (tied with Merlin Olsen) and seven times named AP All-Pro, made him one of the all-time greats. He rose to the challenges presented to him in starting at every position on the offensive line during his NFL career (87 C, 99 LG, 67 RG, 22 RT, 17 LT). He becomes the first Hall of Fame offensive lineman to play significant time at all five offensive line positions. A constant for the Oilers/Titans franchise, Matthews started in a team record 229 consecutive games (streak started at Indianapolis, Nov. 29, 1987) and never missed a game because of injury. His 19 seasons also are a team record and he ranks second in NFL history for years with one team behind Jackie Slater, who spent 20 seasons with the Rams. Matthews and G Randall McDaniel (Vikings) were the only two NFL players to play in every game during the decade of the 90's. Matthews was a part of nearly one-half of the franchise's first 42-years of history and helped the team win 146 games, make the playoffs nine times, earn the only three AFC Central titles in team history, earn an AFC Championship and the franchise's only Super Bowl appearance. He blocked for 15 quarterbacks and 27 running backs, including five different 1,000-yard rushers (Earl Campbell, Mike Rozier, Lorenzo White, Gary Brown and Eddie George). During his career, he played in offenses that produced nine 1,000-yard rushing seasons and eight 3,000-yard passers. Additionally, he played in 42 different stadiums during his NFL career. During his career, Matthews blocked on a line that helped produce 65 100-yard rushing performances and 48 300-yard passing performances. Originally drafted by the Houston Oilers in the first round (ninth overall) of the 1983 NFL Draft, Matthews earned All-America honors at the University of Southern California. Matthews and his brother, Clay, each played 19 NFL seasons and the duo set an NFL record for games played by a pair of brothers with 574 games. Clay Matthews played in 278 games during his NFL career. Matthews had his number 74 jersey retired by the team and was inducted into the organization's Hall of Fame during a December, 2002 ceremony. CURLEY CULP

FRANCHISE PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAMERS

DEFENSIVE TACKLE • 6'2" • 265 lbs • COLLEGE: ARIZONA STATE
NFL SEASONS: 14 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 7 (1974-1980)
HOMETOWN: YUMA, ARIZ. • BORN: MARCH 10, 1946
GAMES PLAYED: 179 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 2013

Curley Culp was voted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2013. A six-time Pro Bowl selection, Culp played in 179 games during his NFL career with the Kansas City Chiefs (1968-1974), Houston Oilers (1974-1980) and Detroit Lions (1980-81). He was considered the prototypical nose tackle and helped pioneer the 3-4 defense. Hailing from Arizona State, where he was an All-American in both football and wrestling, Culp was selected in the second round of the 1968 NFL Draft by the Denver Broncos, who intended to use him as an offensive guard. However, his brief stint in Denver ended when he was traded to the Chiefs, who inserted him permanently on the defensive side. In 1969, the Chiefs won Super Bowl IV, and Culp was an instrumental member of one of the league's top defenses. He helped the Chiefs defeat the Oakland Raiders in the AFL Championship Game and the Minnesota Vikings in the Super Bowl. In 1974, during his seventh campaign in Kansas City, Culp was traded to the Oilers along with a first-round draft pick (used to select Robert Brazile) in exchange for John Matuszak. The move paid almost immediate dividends for the Oilers, who previously suffered through 1-13 records in both 1972 and 1973. In 1975, Culp's first full season in Houston, he helped the Oilers to a record of 10-4, the first winning mark for the club in eight years. With Culp anchoring the defense, the Oilers finished with the AFC's top-ranked run defense (third in the NFL). Individually, Culp produced arguably the finest season of his career, recording 11.5 sacks and earning NFL Defensive Player honors by the Newspaper Enterprise Association. Culp continued as a leader of the Oilers defense that culminated in back-to-back appearances in the AFC championship games in 1978 and 1979. He was named to one AFL All-Star Game and five Pro Bowls during his career. Culp also was picked as a first-team All-Pro in 1975 and a second-team selection in 1971, 1977, 1978, and 1979. He was selected first- or second-team All-AFC five times. "Curley Culp was perhaps the strongest man I ever lined up against," said Raiders Hall of Fame center Jim Otto. Culp used his strong wrestling background to create havoc for opposing guards and centers. He was the 1968 NCAA heavyweight wrestling champion and was named to the U.S. Olympic wrestling team that year. Culp joined a 2013 Hall of Fame class that included offensive linemen Larry Allen and Jonathan Ogden, wide receiver Cris Carter, coach Bill Parcells, linebacker Dave Robinson and defensive lineman Warren Sapp.

ROBERT BRAZILE

LINEBACKER • 6'4" • 241 lbs • COLLEGE: JACKSON STATE

HOMETOWN: MOBILE, ALA. • BORN: FEB. 7, 1953
GAMES PLAYED: 147 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 2018

Robert Brazile was voted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2018. As a rookie in 1975, he made an instant impact as he helped Houston notch the franchise's first winning season in eight years with a 10-4 record. He went on to win Defensive Rookie of the Year in 1975. With his speed, strength, tackling and coverage ability, Brazile helped revolutionize the outside linebacker position in a 3-4 defense. Nicknamed 'Dr. Doom,' Brazile started all 147 regular season games during his career and made seven postseason starts, including back-to-back AFC Championship Games (1978-79). He recorded nine tackles and one fumble recovery in the 1978 AFC Championship game. He was elected to seven career Pro Bowls and named All-Pro for five consecutive seasons (1976-80). Brazile registered a career-best 185 tackles in 1978 on his way to helping the Oilers secure three consecutive 10-win seasons and three consecutive playoff berths (1987-80). His career statistics include 13 interceptions, 14 fumble recoveries and 6.5 sacks in both 1976 and 1980. Brazile was named to the NFL's All-Decade Team of the 1970s.

KEVIN MAWAE

CENTER • 6'4" • 289 lbs • COLLEGE: LOUISIANA STATE
NFL SEASONS: 16 • YEARS WITH TITANS: 4 (2005-09)
HOMETOWN: LEEVILLE, LA. • BORN: JAN. 23, 1971
GAMES PLAYED: 241 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 2019

Kevin Mawae was elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame Class of 2019 and became the first established Titan without connections to the Houston Oilers to receive the honor. He played four seasons (2006-09) in Tennessee. Mawae entered the NFL as a second-round pick of the Seattle Seahawks in the 1994 NFL Draft. He began his career at right guard before being moved to center at the start of the 1996 season and remained at that position for the rest of his NFL career. After four seasons (1994-97) in the Northwest, the Louisiana State product signed a free agent deal with the New York Jets in 1998. In his first season in New York, Mawae helped running back Curtis Martin rush for a Jets franchise record eight 100-yard rushing games en route to 1,287-yard season. In 1999, he was named to his first of eight Pro Bowls and paved the way for Martin's then franchise-record 1,464 rushing yards. The 6-foot-4-inch, 289-pounder played in an astounding 177 consecutive games before a serious triceps injury ended his 2005 campaign after six games. Mawae signed a free agent deal with the Titans in 2006. In his first season with Tennessee, he made an immediate impact and was a part of an offense that ranked third in the AFC and fifth in the NFL in rushing with 2,214 yards. Three seasons later, he helped Chris Johnson amass a franchise-best 2,006 rushing yards, becoming just the sixth player all-time to accomplish the feat. In 241 career games over 16 seasons, Mawae was extremely durable and known for his toughness in the trenches. He was a first-team, all-decade center for the 2000s and blocked for a 1,000-yard rusher in 13 of his 16 seasons. Running backs Chris Warren (1,545 yards in 1994), Martin (1,697 in 2004), LenDale White (1,110 in 2007) and Johnson (2,006 in 2009) had the highest season rushing totals of their careers with Mawae on the line. He played 90 games in which there was a 100-yard rusher, the most by any offensive lineman in NFL history.

RETIRED JERSEY NUMBERS

In the history of the Oilers/Titans franchise, only eight players have had the distinction of having their jersey number retired — Jim Norton (No. 43), Elvin Bethea (No. 65), Earl Campbell (No. 34), Mike Munchak (No. 63), Bruce Matthews (No. 74), Warren Moon (No. 1), Eddie George (No. 27) and Steve McNair (No. 9).

Jim Norton played nine seasons for the Oilers (1960-68) as a safety and as a punter, establishing team records at both positions. As a rookie from the University of Idaho, Norton was a member of the Oilers' 1960 AFL Championship team. A four-time league all-star, he holds the club record for most interceptions in a career with 45. Also an accomplished punter, Norton was tops in club history with 519 career punts for a 42.3-yard career average and a long kick of 79 yards (11/22/64 vs. Kansas City).

Elvin Bethea joined the Oilers in 1968 after an outstanding career at North Carolina A&T. He started at defensive end in the 1968 season opener and didn't miss a game until breaking his arm in November 1977. That streak of 135 consecutive games played stands third in team history. An eight-time Pro Bowler (1970, 1972-76, 1978-80), Bethea ranks second for most seasons played (16, 1968-83), while his 210 games played (1968-83) also stands second behind Bruce Matthews. Bethea led the team in sacks six times, including a career-best mark of 17 in 1973. The Oilers honored him with an "Elvin Bethea Appreciation Night" on Aug. 4, 1983. He became the sixth player in franchise history to be inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame on Aug. 3, 2003.

Earl Campbell, the franchise's second leading rusher and a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, was honored by having his number retired at ceremonies on Aug. 13, 1987. He set a single-season club record with a league-leading 1,450 yards his rookie season. Campbell followed that performance with 1,697 yards in 1979 and an astounding 1,934 yards in 1980. Both those totals led the NFL and the latter was second only to O.J. Simpson's 2,003 yards in 1973. Campbell was selected to five Pro Bowls (1978-81, 1983) and retired as the NFL's seventh all-time leading rusher (9,407). He ranks second in franchise history in career rushing yards (8,574) and attempts (1,979), first in touchdown runs (73) and first in most consecutive games with a rushing touchdown (5).

Mike Munchak joined the Oilers as a first-round draft pick in 1982 out of Penn State. He was the first offensive lineman selected in the draft and the eighth overall selection. Munchak won the starting left guard position as a rookie and went on to play in 12 campaigns (1982-93) and 159 games (156 starts) for the Oilers. He is tied for third on the team's all-time list for seasons played and ranks fifth in games played. Munchak became a fixture on an offensive line that helped the Oilers to seven consecutive playoff appearances (1987-93). One of the premier guards in the National Football League, Munchak was selected to NFL's "Team of the Decade" for the 1980s and was chosen in 1989 to Oilers' 30th Anniversary "Dream Team." He ranks second in club annals with nine Pro Bowl selections, seven as a starter. Munchak announced his retirement on July 21, 1994, and on the same day, K.S. "Bud" Adams, Jr,. announced that jersey No. 63 would be retired on "Mike Munchak Appreciation Day" on Nov. 6, 1994.

Bruce Matthews played in more games (296) than any non-kicker in NFL history. Longevity and durability were his hallmark. And that, coupled with his unparalleled play, in which he tied a league record with 14 Pro Bowl selections (tied with Merlin Olsen) and earned All-Pro honors six times, made him one of the all-time greats. He rose to the challenges presented to him in playing every position on the offensive line during his NFL career (87 at center, 99 at left guard, 67 at right guard, 22 at right tackle, and 17 at left tackle). His number was retired during a halftime ceremony in Nashville on Dec. 8, 2002.

Warren Moon, the fourth leading passer in NFL history at the time his number was retired, played 10 years (1984-93) with the organization and holds the franchise records for passing yards (33,685) and touchdowns (196), while leading the Oilers to seven consecutive playoff appearances from 1987-93. Moon's finest season came in 1990, throwing for 4,689 yards (363-for-584) and 33 touchdowns in only 15 games and becoming the third player in NFL history to produce consecutive 4,000-yard passing seasons. He earned AP NFL Offensive Player of the Year for his efforts and his third Pro Bowl berth. His jersey was retired in a halftime ceremony in Nashville on Oct. 1, 2006.

Eddie George became the organization's all-time leading rusher as well as its all-time scrimmage yards leader in eight seasons with the team. His 10,009 rushing yards from 1996–2003 ranked second in the NFL (Curtis Martin), while his 12,153 scrimmage yards in the same time frame were third (Marshall Faulk, Martin). His accolades included four Pro Bowl selections (1997–2000), AP All-Pro honors (2000) and the AP Rookie of the Year Award (1996). George also set franchise standards for career rushing attempts (2,733), career touchdowns (74), 1,000-yard rushing seasons (seven), seasons as the team's leading rusher (eight) and career playoff rushing yards (776). During his time with the Titans he amassed 36 100-yard rushing performances (second to Earl Campbell's 39), resulting in a 30-6 record in those contests. He established an NFL mark with 130 consecutive starts by a running back to begin a career—a total which ranked second in NFL history for consecutive starts by a running back at any point. His jersey was retired in a halftime ceremony in Nashville on Sept. 15, 2019.

Steve McNair played 11 seasons with the organization (1995–2005), becoming its second all-time leading passer (27,141 yards) and recording the most wins as a starting quarterback (76). At the time his jersey was retired, he trailed only Warren Moon on the franchise's all-time passing yards list and also ranked second for the organization in completions (2,305), completion percentage (59.5) and passer rating (83.3). He ranked third in touchdown passes (156). His 3,439 rushing yards and 36 touchdown runs were the most in team history by a quarterback. McNair earned three of his four career Pro Bowl berths with the Titans (2000, 2003 and 2005), and in 2003, he shared Associated Press NFL Most Valuable Player honors with Peyton Manning after leading the league with a 100.4 rating. He became the first African-American quarterback to win MVP honors. McNair was the third player in the history of the NFL to pass for 30,000 yards and rushed for 3,500 yards, along with Fran Tarkenton and Steve Young. Only Brett Favre and Manning started more combined NFL regular season and postseason games than McNair (134) from the time he became a full-time starter in 1997 through 2005. He was selected with the third overall draft pick in 1995. His jersey was retired in a halftime ceremony in Nashville on Sept. 15, 2019.

THE "FOOLISH CLUB"

In 1959, after numerous failed attempts to enter the NFL as owners through expansion or purchase (Chicago Cardinals), Lamar Hunt and K.S. "Bud" Adams, Jr. agree that forming a new league is a viable option to NFL ownership. They would recruit a number of other future owners, who like themselves were looking to enter the world of football ownership, but had been rebuffed. The eight original teams, which would later be dubbed the "Foolish Club" for taking on the NFL were: Dallas (Hunt), Houston (Adams), Denver (Bob Howsam), New York (Harry Wismer), Los Angeles (Barron Hilton), Buffalo (Ralph Wilson), Boston (William Sullivan) and Oakland (Wayne Valley). Minneapolis was set to become one of the original AFL teams, but they were replaced by Oakland when the NFL awarded an expansion franchise to the Minneapolis market in 1960.

All eight teams agreed to contribute $25,000 to create a league office, which was headed by the first AFL commissioner, Joe Foss. The AFL held their first draft on Nov. 22, 1959 and began play in the fall of 1960 with games televised on ABC.

EARLY DOMINANCE & AFL SUPREMACY

With a mix of cast-off players from other professional leagues (QB George Blanda, C Bob Schmidt, T Al Jamison), pro football rookies (RB Billy Cannon, G Bob Talamini) and local college players who never entered the NFL (WR Charles Hennigan, DT Orville Trask), the Oilers quickly became the dominant team in the newly formed American Football League. In each of the league's first three years, the Oilers advanced to the AFL title game, winning the first two league championships (1960 and 1961). Amazingly, the Oilers reached each of those title games under three different coaches: Lou Rymkus (1960), Wally Lemm (1961) and Frank "Pop" Ivy (1962).

The fiery Rymkus led the inaugural Oilers to the Eastern Division title with a 10-4 mark. They met the Western Division winner Los Angeles Chargers at Jeppesen Stadium in Houston to crown the first AFL champion. The two teams split their two matchups during the regular season. The Oilers took a one-point lead into the fourth quarter and then Blanda hit Cannon for an 88-yard score early in the fourth quarter to end the scoring, 24-16. Blanda tallied 301 passing yards and three touchdowns in the game.

After the Oilers opened the 1961 season 1-3-1, head coach Lou Rymkus was replaced by Wally Lemm, who had been on the 1960 staff but left for private business prior to the 1961 season. The Oilers would win nine consecutive games under Lemm to end the regular season with a 10-3-1 mark and first place in the Eastern Division. The 1961 AFL Championship game was a defensive struggle as the Oilers defeated the San Diego Chargers 10-3 in San Diego.

After leading the Oilers to a second title, the St. Louis Cardinals hired Wally Lemm as their head coach for the 1962 season. The Oilers tabbed Frank "Pop" Ivy to lead the team in 1962. The team again won the Eastern Division with an 11-3 record and faced the Dallas Texans at Jeppesen Stadium for the 1962 AFL title. Dallas raced out to a 17-0 halftime lead, but the Oilers mounted a second half rally to knot the scored at 17 with five minutes remaining in the game. The game would go to overtime and was eventually decided in double overtime (6th quarter) with a Dallas 25-yard field goal.

OILERS' AFL SUMMARY

In the 10-year history of the AFL from 1960-69, the Oilers amassed a 70-66-5 record, reached the AFL title game four times (1960, '61, '62, '67) and won two AFL titles (1960 and 1961). They had some of the greats of the game, including QB George Blanda, WR Charlie Hennigan, G Bob Talamini, CB Ken Houston and DE Elvin Bethea. Four decades removed from their playing days, these names still sit atop several catagories throughout the franchise record book: Blanda threw a franchise-best 36 touchdowns in 1961, Hennigan caught a franchise-best 101 balls in 1964, Houston returned nine interceptions for touchdowns during his Oilers career, and Bethea (unofficially) totaled 105 sacks during his career. ### BUM PHILLIPS

If ever there was a coach made for a team and a team that embodied their coach, it was the marriage between O.A. "Bum" Phillips and the Houston Oilers. A native of Orange, Texas, Phillips spent the majority of his first 15 years in coaching in the Texas high school ranks before moving up the ladder as a defensive coordinator in the college and pro level. He would join the Oilers as a defensive coordinator in 1974 and was named head coach in 1975, where he would remain through the 1980 season. Known for strolling the sidelines in his cowboy hat and boots, he was the face of the Oilers for six seasons (59-38 record) and saw the birth of the "Luv Ya Blue" era. In 1978, he led the Oilers back to the playoffs for the first time in 11 years with their march to the AFC Championship. The Oilers would again reach the AFC Championship game in 1979 and wild card round in 1980. Phillips was let go by the Oilers following the 1980 season.

LUV YA BLUE!

With Oiler fever in full bloom following the march to the AFC Championship game in the 1978 season, the team looked to tap into the frenzy with a marketing campaign that captured that team spirit. The result was the "Luv Ya Blue!" phrase that would sweep the area and be forever remembered with the 1979 and 1980 seasons. The phrase was trademarked by the team and became as popular as regular Oilers merchandise. The campaign included a song which was written and sung by Mack Hayes, a local musician and was performed before each game at the Astrodome during those seasons.

In February of 1984, the Oilers won a recruiting battle for a five-time Canadian Football League champion quarterback named Warren Moon and by doing so, changed the future of the franchise. Houston had a leg up on the competition with the hiring of Hugh Campbell, who coached Moon for five seasons in Canada, just a month earlier. Moon would play 10 seasons for the Oilers and lead them to the playoffs in each of his final seven seasons (1987-93) with the team and earn six Pro Bowl invitations. Moon established many of the franchise's passing records, including career passing yards (33,685), career touchdowns (196), single season passing yards (4,690 in 1991), passing yards in a game (527 at KC in 1990) and career 300-yard passing games (38). His quick release, decision-making and mobility made him a perfect fit for the Oilers high-octane passing offense. Moon's reign at quarterback for the Oilers came to end with the advent of the salary cap prior to the 1994 season. Most of the Oilers' high-priced talent was released or traded away to comply with the new NFL structure, including Moon, who was traded to Minnesota in April 1994. In 2006, Moon became the first African-American quarterback to be inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

The record belongs to the Rams' Norm Van Brocklin, who threw for 554 yards against the New York Yanks on September 28, 1951. Moon had an opportunity to break the record but declined to do so based on the Oilers' comfortable lead. Almost overshadowed by Moon's effort was WR Haywood Jeffires catching nine balls for 245 yards (including an 87-yard TD), which marked the second best receiving day in Oiler history. Charles Hennigan had 272 receiving yards versus the Patriots on October 13, 1961.

RUN 'N SHOOT

Born in the 1970's under the offensive master "Mouse" Davis, the "Run 'N Shoot" offense and its concepts started to enter the NFL in the late 1980's. The Houston Oilers were one of the first teams to run the pass oriented offense that featured one running back and four wide receivers. The Oilers hired June Jones, a Mouse Davis disciple, in 1987 as quarterback coach and he integrated some of the "Run 'N Shoot" concepts into offense. Jones left following the 1988 season to join Wayne Fontes in Detroit. Kevin Gilbride, who also had worked with Davis, took over in 1989 and continued to mold the offense. With Jack Pardee's arrival as head coach in 1990, the Oilers offense became a full-time "Run 'N Shoot" offense, where in previous years it was only used in passing situations. During a three-year stretch (1990-92), the Oilers ranked first in the NFL in passing yards (avg. 4,485 passing yards per season) and second in total yards (avg. 5,954 yards per season). They set a then-franchise record for points scored in 1990 with 405. Warren Moon drove the offense and under his leadership the offense took flight and his receiving corps of Drew Hill, Haywood Jeffires, Ernest Givens and Curtis Duncan totaled unbelievable numbers as they tortured NFL defenses. Head coach Jack Pardee was relieved of his duties 10 games into the 1994 season and with that came the death of the "Run 'N Shoot" offense. New head coach Jeff Fisher moved the offense back to a conventional approach in 1995.

December 30 – Led by backup QB Cody Carlson, who played for the injured Warren Moon (dislocated thumb), the Oilers earn a Wild Card playoff berth by defeating the Pittsburgh Steelers 34-14 in the Astrodome. ## McNAIR AND GEORGE

First round draft picks in consecutive years, QB Steve McNair (drafted in 1995) and RB Eddie George (drafted in 1996) became the centerpieces of a team that advanced to the playoffs in four of five years (1999, 2000, 2002, 2003). From 1997, McNair's first season as a starter, until Eddie George's final season as a Titan in 2003, the two combined to pull the franchise to new heights, including the team's first Super Bowl appearance (XXXIV).

The duo started in the same backfield 107 times during their seven seasons together and posted a 67-40 record (.626 winning percentage) in those games, and 5-4 in postseason. The 2003 season would be memorable for both as McNair was named Co-MVP of the NFL, becoming only the franchise's second player to garner the honor (Campbell in 1979) and George became the franchise's all-time leading rusher, passing Earl Campbell and becoming only the 17th running back to reach 10,000 career rushing yards.

Each player personified toughness with legendary stories told of McNair returning from injuries to lead his team to victory and George never missing a start in his eight year franchise career - 128 games - which represented the most consecutive starts in NFL history for a running back to start a career.

On June 12, 2019, Titans controlling owner Amy Adams Strunk announced that McNair's No. 9 jersey and George's No. 27 jersey would be retired by the club.

HOUSTON OILERS TO TENNESSEE TITANS

After trying unsuccessfully for many years to construct a deal with the city of Houston for a new football or multi-use stadium, Oilers owner K.S. "Bud" Adams, Jr. decided that moving his franchise to another city might be the only solution left to keep the team financially competitive. In the spring of 1995, research was completed and several cities were identified as desirable for relocation and at the top of the list was Nashville, Tenn.

In the summer of 1995, Adams contacted Nashville's mayor, Phil Bredesen, to see if the city would be interested in having the team relocate to the region. A 70-day exclusive negotiating period was agreed to and in November the two had signed a relocation agreement that would bring the Oilers to Nashville. In April of 1996, the NFL approved the team's relocation and on May 7th, the voters of Davidson County approved a referendum on using public funding for the new downtown stadium.

Dec. 15, 1996 would mark the Oilers final home game at the Astrodome in Houston – a 21-13 loss to Cincinnati in front of 15,131 fans. In May of 1997, the team reached a settlement with the Astrodome that let them escape the final year of the contract and allowing the team to play the 1997 season in Tennessee.

With the new stadium in Nashville still two years from completion, the team decided to play at Memphis' Liberty Bowl until the stadium was complete. The Tennessee Oilers opened their inaugural season in the state of Tennessee with a 24-21 overtime win over the Oakland Raiders at the Liberty Bowl in front only 30,000 fans.

The Oilers struggled with low attendance throughout the 1997 season and by March of 1998, the Oilers reached an agreement to play the 1998 season at Vanderbilt Stadium in Nashville. Crowds at Vanderbilt Stadium were an improvement from the previous year, but the team could only muster a 3-5 home mark. During the 1998 season, Adams announced the Oilers name would be retired and the team would be renamed the Titans as they entered their new stadium for the 1999 season.

In April of 1999, the team unveiled their new Titans uniforms and in August the team played its first game at Nissan Stadium (named Adelphia Coliseum at the time. The 1999 season ended with the franchise's first Super Bowl berth in the team's 40-year history. A total of 20 players endured the entire odyssey of playing in Houston in 1996, Memphis in 1997, Vanderbilt in 1998 and LP Field in 1999.

HOME SWEET HOME

The newly-named Tennessee Titans opened their new stadium, Adelphia Coliseum (eventually to be named Nissan Stadium) with the regular season opener on Sept. 12, 1999 against the Cincinnati Bengals. The back and forth game would end with the Titans hanging on for a 36-35 win. The win would start a historic streak of 12 consecutive wins to open the new stadium. The 12 consecutive wins were the most in the modern era for a new stadium (Texas Stadium, 9 wins in 1971) and one short of the all-time record by the Buffalo Americans in 1920. The Titans first loss in their new home would come against the Baltimore Ravens on Nov. 12, 2000. The winning streak actually began in the spring of 1998, when a devastating tornado ripped through Nashville, but only gave a glancing blow to the under construction stadium and sparing it from destruction.
