Los Angeles Chargers Select Harris and Caldwell on Day 2 of NFL Draft

The Los Angeles Chargers continued the 2025 NFL Draft with two selections on Friday — Mississippi wide receiver Tre Harris (55th overall) and Oregon defensive lineman Jamaree Caldwell (86th overall).

Harris capped his Mississippi career in 2024 by leading the team in receptions (60) and receiving yards (1,030), while ranking second in receiving touchdowns (seven). He was a second-team All-America selection by The Associated Press and a consensus All-Southeastern Conference selection after averaging 128.8 yards in his eight games played, the highest receiving yards per game average in the country in 2024. Five of Harris' 10 career 100-yard receiving performances came last season, helping the Rebels to a 10-3 record.

The Lafayette, La., native started 19-of-20 games played over two seasons at Mississippi (2023-24), totaling 2,015 yards and 15 touchdowns on 114 catches (17.7 avg.). He posted 100.8 receiving yards per game over his Rebels career, becoming just the second player in SEC history to do so. Harris transferred to Ole Miss after three years at Louisiana Tech (2020-22). He was a first-team All-Conference USA in his final season for the Bulldogs, catching 66 passes for 954 yards (14.5 avg.) and 10 touchdowns.

Caldwell earned honorable mention All-Big Ten recognition for Oregon in 2024, starting all 14 games for the Ducks. He was a key contributor to an Oregon defense that ranked No. 15 in the nation by allowing 315.9 yards per game. The 6-1, 340-pound defensive lineman set a career high last season with 29 tackles (16 solo), adding 4.5 tackles for loss, three pass breakups and a forced fumble. Caldwell is ninth Oregon Duck drafted by the Bolts.

Prior to his 2024 season at Oregon, Caldwell played two years at Houston (2022-23). In 20 games for the Cougars, he totaled 38 tackles (28 solo), 12 tackles for loss, 8.5 sacks, a forced fumble and blocked two kicks. Caldwell set a career high in 2023 at Houston with 6.5 sacks, ranking No. 5 in the Big 12 that season. The Newberry, S.C., native also spent time at Independence (Kan.) Community College in 2021, appearing in four games and totaling seven tackles (four solo), three tackles for loss and a half-sack.
