HOUSTON TEXANS (3-11) vs. LOS ANGELES CHARGERS (8-6)

GAME PREVIEW

The Houston Texans (3-11) return home to host the Los Angeles Chargers (8-6) at NRG Stadium in Week 16. The game will mark the eighth regular-season meeting between the two franchises, with the Chargers holding a 5-2 series advantage.

In Week 15, the Texans secured a 30-16 win over the Jacksonville Jaguars thanks in part to a dominant performance on special teams. Houston DB Tremon Smith rattled off a 98-yard kickoff return touchdown in the first quarter, marking the first score of his NFL career and the team's first kick return touchdown in nearly 12 seasons. K Ka'imi Fairbairn finished the game with a season-high 12 points, connecting on field goals of 52, 51 and 25 yards and converting all three of his point-after attempts. DB Tavierre Thomas and rookie LB Garrett Wallow led the Texans defense with 11 tackles apiece, marking single-game career highs for both players. WR Brandin Cooks paced the offense with seven receptions for 102 yards and two touchdowns, including a 43-yard catch-and-run score to seal the win in the fourth quarter.

The Texans will play their final road game of the season in Week 17 when they travel to play the San Francisco 49ers at Levi's Stadium. The Chargers will meet the Denver Broncos for their last home contest of the 2021 season.

LONG RANGE LEADER

In Week 14, K Ka'imi Fairbairn connected on a 61-yard field goal, a career-long and franchise-long. Fairbairn also reached 500 career points, joining Kris Brown (767 points) as the only players to score 500-plus points as a Texan and became the 49th player since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger to reach 500 points in 74 career games or less. Fairbairn hit a 53-yard field goal in Week 7 at Arizona to move past Brown for the most 50-plus yard field goals in Texans history. Fairbairn needed just over half as many games as Brown to set the record.

Since the 2000 season, only five NFL players have kicked more 50-plus yard field goals in their first 75 career games than Fairbairn.

After watching the tape, did anything stand out to you during the game that you liked?

"The two things that we did that we haven't done this year is that we scored on our opening drive and then we end up getting points in the second half off of that opening drive. I thought that was a positive that I hadn't thought about at that time. Going back and looking at it again other than the one mishap with Davis (Mills) taking care of the ball, our entire offense football team took care of the ball and did a nice job."

Was TE Brevin Jordan active in case of an emergency?

"Well we thought he would be able to play with that hand and it wasn't as good as we thought it would be. He was having trouble with it. If we could have used him more, we would have used him more. It was a matter of him not being able what he needed to do."

Why hasn't TE Brevin Jordan played on special teams?

"Just learning. That's him having to learn what you do on offense. He obviously started having a big role there. Special teams is a little bit different. I am talking things happen so fast. You got to be able to be an offensive guy and a defensive guy when you are playing special teams and we just didn't feel he was ready to do that. We are just kind of easing him into that point and I believe in time he is going to be a good special teams player for us."

Do you expect DB Justin Reid or any of the guys on the COVID list to play this week?

"I don't have an update right now. I think later on in the day we will know a little bit more about it and by Wednesday, we'll have a pretty good idea about those guys as far as their tests and getting consecutive negative tests. With Justin, it's just a matter of the where is he at right now with his concussion."

What did you see from Special Teams Coordinator Frank Ross in designing the Tremon Smith kickoff return touchdown?

"We've been very good, and we've been a man or two away from breaking him earlier where one guy didn't quite get him up in the wedge where we needed to get him, one guy here and one guy there. Yesterday they got him up in that wedge and everybody had a hat on a hat. We talk about having a hat on a hat and you don't really have to have him blocked, you just kind of have to have your body on him. Yesterday on that particular one, they got him through there and he was coming through there so fast and so hard. He wanted it so bad. He had been so close a couple of times before. Once he got up in that wedge and there was like three or four guys there ready to tackle him and he just ran right through those guys. He could see it. He felt it because he had gotten clean further down the field than he had gotten in any of our other kickoff returns. He knew that was the opportunity to do it and he took advantage of it."

Darrell Bevell said last week they were going to re-emphasize the run with James Robinson. Yesterday you guys allowed the fourth fewest yards rushing this season, considering many guys you had out how do you account for playing run defense so well?

"We knew going in that they were going to feature him (James Robinson) and he is very good player. He actually had some pretty good runs against us yesterday, but he didn't have those breakout runs that he had before, but it was a big emphasis. We knew that their offense was going to go through him and if they got the running game going, that would have taken a lot of pressure off of Trevor (Lawrence) and we made an emphasis on that. The big thing was we had our guys playing the gaps the way they needed to, better so in the run game than in the pass game. We weren't as good up front in our pass lanes than we were in our run lanes but that was an emphasis."

Do you have an update on the guys on the COVID list?

"Really won't have an update until later on with those guys. We're still day to day with it with the way protocols are right now with the guys having to test and getting two consecutive tests. Guys getting that done today and then tomorrow and Wednesday we will have a little better of an understanding on where we are with that. We are just taking it day by day right now"

What are some of the things you've learned the most in the game management meetings with General Manager Nick Caserio and Senior Football Advisor Romeo Crennel?

"We don't just do that with Romeo and Nick. We do it with a couple of scouts, Rohit (Magalayapalli) and Frank (Edgerly). Those guys give us scenarios of other teams. We watch video of other team scenarios that could possibly happen or the things that happened last week that could possibly happen to us. We go over those and say, 'If we were in that situation, what would we do?' Sometimes we agree and sometimes we disagree on that. With those guys, it's all about those analytic numbers and I get it, I do get it but in the end, it goes back to my gut feeling on some of that stuff. I heard them talking about John (Harbaugh) going for the two points in the last two ball games and not getting it, I get it. I don't know what I would have done in that particular situation if that was us because of the situation of the game. I do know this being old school from the way I was brought up, with overtime I am probably going to tie the game and take my chances."

What role does Passing Game Coordinator/Quarterbacks Coach Pep Hamilton have in QB Davis Mills' development? What is the relationship between Pep Hamilton and Davis Mills and how much time do they spend together during the week?

"A lot of time and it's not just Pep, it's also Tim (Kelly). Tim, Pep, Davis and Tyrod (Taylor) our quarterbacks, spend a lot of time together making sure they are on the same page. Pep making sure fundamentally that he (Davis Mills) is doing things he needs to do to improve. He and Tim will go over the game plan daily with them, all in a room together discussing what we are going to do and things that we like to do and what they feel they are comfortable with. It's a combination of them working together and they are doing a good job. He (Davis Mills) is improving weekly, getting it done because other than the bad throw decision to make that throw which he shouldn't have made. I thought too that later on in the game, in the second half where we stalled a little bit, I thought he missed a couple of throws that he should have made that would have kept drives alive. But he is improving, he's getting there. He doesn't make the same mistakes twice and we just got to continue to bring him on."

Can you talk about the value of WR Brandin Cooks and his leadership in the locker room?

"Earlier in the year, we know obviously when Mark Ingram was here, one of the reasons he was here was because of that. When he left, the guy that went right to the top of that list was Brandin Cooks. He's so important in understanding, this guy has been with three other teams that have been very successful. He knows how it's supposed to go. He's been in good locker rooms. When things weren't right in the locker room, he's someone I could always lean on to know that he's part of my leadership council, where 'What do we need to do to make sure things are going right?' He's been right on with everything that I feel like he knows that I want to get done here. We're on the same page with that. He's a guy that our players trust, and not only just because of the kind of player he is, but the kind of person he is."

What are the conversations like with General Manager Nick Caserio and Senior Football Advisor Romeo Crennel during the game?

"Just like I go back to the two-minute situation when we're in it. I immediately went on a line with Nick (Caserio), and obviously he and Romeo (Crennel) talked about it, and he says, 'Okay, our timeouts now, how do we need to use these timeouts?' And then immediately, 'Okay, depending on what happens on this play, we need to call it. If this doesn't happen then don't call a timeout.' So, all those things are discussed before we ever get to that point. We're usually a play ahead of that. When it happens, then I've got to be ready to make that decision. That's usually with all those kinds of decisions. I go back again to the New England game, I can remember just like it was yesterday that the conversation went, 'let them score.' I heard the conversation, and then all of a sudden it didn't compute to me at that time. All of a sudden now from that point on I've learned to be ahead of those things. When you're ahead of those things like that, you're much better to make those decisions. (It does) not mean you're going to make the right decision, but when you make that decision, you're pretty sure about making that decision. When you make those decisions, those players know. They know immediately whether you're going for it on fourth down. A lot of times when we get in a third down situation, third-and-two or whatnot, I tell Tim (Kelly), 'You got two downs.' I want him to make the decision knowing that you've got two downs to get this first down. Nobody knows that but he and I. The point is, being able to have those things ahead of time allows us and allows our play callers to be able to do the things that they need to do."

RB David Johnson didn't play in the second half. Did he get injured, or was it just the flow of the game?

"That's just the flow of the game. He's got a role, he's got a big role with us. It was just the way the flow of the game went. It was just one of those things that sometimes that happens. But his role was just as big as it's ever been, and it will be that way."

Have you seen QB Davis Mills improve physically, and have his mechanics changed since he got here?

"What's happened to him is he's gotten stronger. He's gotten stronger in the weight room and he becomes more durable with that. He had issues in college of durability. Our strength and conditioning people, Mike Eubanks and his staff, have done a great job of making sure that he more or less, it's not so much getting his arm stronger, it's more about getting his body ready and able to take the punishment that you've got to take to play in that position, and he's done a really good job of that. As far as the mechanics and stuff with Pep (Hamilton), Pep's as good as there is in understanding how to throw the ball, how to be a passer instead of a thrower. They've worked well together in doing that. But he's gotten stronger, which is the big thing."

What are General Manager Nick Caserio and Senior Football Advisor Romeo Crennel like in the Saturday morning conversations you have?

"The good thing about that is we don't always agree on things. They see things differently. To me, having Romeo (Crennel)'s perspective of things has really been good for me. Obviously, with Nick (Caserio) with all the experience he's had in New England going through this and being a part of that, we get to have some really good, hard conversations about what we would do and what you think we should do. In the end, I've got to make a decision based on those conversations we had, the things that we've seen, and then what my gut tells me to do. Now, some of those decisions, it's cut and dry. This is what you've got to do in this particular situation. But those fourth downs, whether to kick it or not kick it, those kinds of things become gut decisions that I've just got to make depending on the flow of the game."

What did you see from P Cameron Johnston on Sunday?

"Under those conditions he did an excellent job. Not only just he, but he and Ka'imi (Fairbairn) both, with the conditions they had to kick in, to be able to have the success that they had and to be able to have the field position, which we won during this ballgame, was a big part of what Cam (Cameron Johnston) did and our coverage teams. Again, it's so important, too, that I go back to those field goals that Ka'imi had, those are not easy field goals. Those field goals if we miss them puts them in pretty good field position. We just felt like in that time he kicked well in warmups, he felt good about things, and when he made those things it was a big lift for us. With Cam putting the ball down there, we actually had them backed up there a couple of times. He put a punt down there and a guy picked it up on the one-yard line and ended up getting out about 40 yards, which we should have had him backed way up there. That was a great punt, but he's been doing that all year long. Both of those two guys have been good weapons for us, especially in changing field position and getting points."

What is it about General Manager Nick Caserio's background that gives him the insight in the conversations that you have?

"There's nothing that has happened in this league that we've talked about that he hasn't gone through or that myself hadn't gone through. With different perspectives on what we would've done if we were in that particular situation, or if he was in the situation that I was in, just being able to bounce off each other those situations and real life situations, things that have actually happened. Not only the good things but the mistakes that we've made along the way during those things. Just being able to have that experience and knowing that there's really nothing that's going to happen in a ballgame that we haven't seen before or that he hasn't seen before, and then we basically decide what's best for us during that particular situation to do and make those decisions, and that's been very helpful for me."

Have there been any moments when General Manager Nick Caserio's opinion has surprised you?

"No, not at all. Before we ever get to the game, we've talked about those situations and we kind of know when it comes up what's going to happen. If there's any kind of disagreement or whatnot before, I call a timeout and make sure we're on the same page with those kinds of decisions and make sure we do the right thing in those critical type situations."
