CARROLL ROSENBLOOM, President

It was back in 1953 that Baltimorean Carroll Rosenbloom returned the Colts franchise to his home city. After an unfortunate National Football League debut in 1950 the Colts shuffled out of Baltimore — their return hardly anticipated by even the most optimistic pro grid followers. After an unsuccessful two years in New York and Dallas, however, the franchise was turned over to Baltimore and Rosenbloom. The football-hungry fans reacted by purchasing 15,755 season tickets — a most impressive total at the time. With the enthusiastic and energetic Rosenbloom calling the shots the Colts started to move — in several directions. On the field they gained the respect of all opposition quickly and were title contenders within five years. In their sixth and seventh seasons — 1958 and 1959 — they captured world championships. In the former year their dramatic "sudden-death" win over New York for the title rocketed them to a peak of popularity that they have managed to retain over the years. In the stands the accomplishments of Carroll's Colts have been even more phenomenal — with season ticket sales being shut off at 50,000 plus each of the past four years and complete sellouts being recorded for each of the team's last 22 home games.

"This is certainly an unpredictable game," said the club's president and sole owner, "but I know we'll be getting that championship back in Baltimore very soon. In the past three years we've won a Western Conference title and two straight Playoff Bowl games, but our fans deserve the 'big one' — and we'll get it for them. The value of their support cannot be underestimated."

Actually, Rosenbloom himself remains very much a fan, with every game producing its share of joy and despair. The former University of Pennsylvania halfback explodes in victory, but he'll most often suffer defeat in silence. A master of many businesses and projects, he still regards the Colts as his pets. He'll be at training camp and attend regular season practices and he never misses a game — even pre-season — either at home or on the road. He's also been increasingly active in league matters — serving with distinction on the NFL—AFL merger committee.

HARRY HULMES,

general manager

The man who directs the daily operations of the Colts is general manager Harry Hulmes, who advanced to the post only last spring following the death of Joe Campanella.

Harry has been a key man in the organization since 1958, serving first as business manager and later as publicity director. In both positions, he displayed boundless energy combined with a thorough knowledge of his duties.

A native of Philadelphia, Harry is a 1952 graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. He came to Baltimore in 1954 to serve two years as assistant business manager with the Orioles prior to accepting a position as sports publicity director at Bucknell University.

He joined the Colts in March of 1958 as business manager and in October of 1961 became the club's publicity director.

After fourteen years of energetic service as the Colts' general manager, Don Kellett retired at the end of last season to a more leisurely life at his new home in Florida.

During his tenure with the Colts, Don established himself as one of pro football's top executives not only as he accomplished the task of getting Baltimore's franchise off the ground in the early years, but his part in the growth of the game across the country.

An important cog in the operation of the Colts is William D. Macmillan, noted Baltimore attorney, who is a vice-president and legal counsel for the club. In addition to his advice in legal matters to the Colts, he assisted in the National Football League's defense against anti-trust charges in 1961.

Another key man is J. Duval Farrar, who has been associated with Carroll Rosenbloom's enterprises since 1951. He is serving his sixth year as the Colts' secretary-treasurer and is on the club's Board of Directors.

THE COLTS' COACHES

DON SHULA, Head Coach

The last three seasons for Don Shula have been as frustrating as they could possibly have been for any coach. After directing the Colts to five victories in their last six games in 1963 for a final mark of 8-6 in his first year as field boss, the young general made three successive serious runs at the NFL Championship, only to be denied each December. His 1964 eleven reeled off that many wins in a row to capture Western Conference honors. Cleveland, however, prevailed in the title contest. And Shula was hailed as "coach of the year."

Late-season deficiencies in the Baltimore attack—the result of battered and aching air arms—sidetracked the Colts down the stretch in both 1965 and 1966. They were breezing along in first place with a 9-1-1 log two years ago when injuries stripped them of their first two quarterbacks. A remarkable coaching job by Shula and his staff, and extraordinary hustle by his patched-up forces, enabled the Colts to battle into a playoff with Green Bay for the Western crown. The Packers triumphed, 13-10, in a "sudden-death" overtime session—then made it two championships in succession last autumn when they shook loose from a 7-2 deadlock with the Colts in a race to the wire. John Unitas' ailing shoulder made the Colts' attack an unpredictable venture. Shula, though, kept his warriors whacking away until the end, concluding the campaign with a second straight Playoff Bowl conquest in Miami.

Through four seasons of regular NFL combat the indomitable Baltimore skipper posted a stellar 39-16-1 record, plus a 17-2-1 pre-season slate that includes wins in the last 12 games—but the regrets linger... "We've just got to stay healthy," said the 37-year-old Shula, "and keep producing points at the same rate for 14 games."

The belligerent ex-defensive back of seven NFL seasons was hired to fire up the Colts in 1963, and he's done just that—inspiring his players and his assistants to give the job 100% at all times.

Losses come hard to Shula, who'd been employed as an assistant coach with Virginia, Kentucky and the Detroit Lions, before assuming command in Baltimore—where he'd played for four years. He's definitely not figuring on losing in 1967.

From Painesville, Ohio—and a former outstanding halfback at John Carroll University—Don now resides in Timonium, Md. with wife Dorothy and children David, Donna, Sharon Lee, Ann Marie and Michael.

The Assistants

DON McCAFFERTY, Offensive Backfield Coach

After serving as offensive end coach and game scout from 1959 through 1962, big Mac took over the offensive backfield when Don Shula came on as head coach. During the games he dons the phones in the press box. His coaching approach is quietly efficient and backed by playing experience as an end at Ohio State and with the Fort Bragg Army team and the New York Giants. Following his retirement as a player he worked for a year with the Cleveland Recreation Department and for ten years as an assistant coach at Kent State. The former Cleveland resident lives now in Timonium, Md. with wife June and children Jaclyn, Donnie, Billy and Lisa.

JOHN SANDUSKY, Offensive Line Coach

In 1959 John the giant wrapped up a two-year stint as an assistant coach at Villanova, his alma mater, and accepted Weeb Ewbank's offer to direct the Colts' defensive. He was retained on the Baltimore staff following Don Shula's appointment as head coach in 1963—but he was re-assigned to work with the offensive line, a position he still fills with distinction. While the games are in progress John mans the phones on the field. As a six-season standout with the Cleveland Browns' perennial Eastern Conference champions he gained a solid reputation for his play at offensive tackle. He wound up his playing career with the Green Bay Packers in 1956. A Philadelphia product, he makes his home in Baltimore with wife Ruth and children Jack, Jim, Joe, Gerry and Ruth Ann.

Arnsparger

BILL ARNSPARGER, Defensive Line Coach

A one-time tackle and then offensive line coach at Miami (Ohio) University, Bill relieved playing coach Gino Marchetti of his duties as defensive line instructor after the 1963 season. He's done a fine job since that time drilling his front-line horses and handling the defensive phone chores from the press box on game days. After Miami and before coming to Baltimore Bill had assisted with the lines at Ohio State, Kentucky—where he worked with Don Shula—and Tulane. The unassuming, hard toiling redhead now resides in Timonium, Md. with wife Betty Jane and son David.

DICK BIELSKI, Offensive End Coach

No sooner had Baltimore native Bielski concluded his playing career as a Colt tight end after the 1963 campaign than he was signed by the club as a tutor for the receivers. And until Ed Rutledge relieved him of the assignment last fall he also turned in complete and accurate scouting reports on the Colts' opposition. The former Maryland fullback broke in at that post with Philadelphia in 1955—and before they sent him to Dallas the Eagles had converted him to end. The Colts obtained him from the Cowboys. As a pro Dick caught 107 passes for 1,305 yards and 12 touchdowns. He also kicked 58 extra points and 26 field goals and tallied a total of 208 points. He lives in Timonium, Md. with wife Jo and children Debbie, Rickey, Randy and Jody.

CHUCK NOLL, Defensive Backfield Coach

After excelling as a guard and linebacker with his hometown Cleveland Browns from 1953 thru 1959, Chuck jumped into his initial coaching job with the American Football League's Chargers the very next year. After distinguishing himself as a defensive director he left San Diego to replace the departing Charlie Winner as the guiding genius of Baltimore's defensive secondary—including the linebackers—in 1966. He'd been a strong enough guard and tackle at Dayton University to rate a spot in that school's Hall of Fame. Noll, who mans the phones on the sidelines while the battle rages on the field, makes his home in Towson, Md. with wife Marianne and son Chris.

UPTON BELL, Director of Player Personnel

A native of Philadelphia, Upton joined the Colts in 1961 and worked in the ticket office until the summer of 1963, when he moved into the personnel department as top aide to Keith Molesworth.

When Molesworth, who had served thirteen years as a superb gridiron talent hunter for the Colts, died in early 1966, Bell succeeded him.

Upton, son of Bert Bell, former National Football League commissioner, attended Malvern Prep and LaSalle College in Philadelphia.

When he's not scouting college games and practices, participating in draft meetings or signing players, Upton can usually be found playing basketball, his favorite pastime outside of football.

ED RUTLEDGE, Chief Scout

A former end at Western Kentucky and a successful high school and college coach, Ed draws the job of scouting the Colts' opponents and assisting Bell in corraling collegiate personnel.

Prior to coming to the Colts in the spring of 1966, Ed was working with the scouting group, CEPO, in which the Hosses are involved.

Rutledge was head coach at Danville (Ky.) H. S., where his teams won 25 straight games and at Paducah-Tilghman High School, also in Kentucky. He later spent six years at the University of Kentucky, where at various times he coached the offensive and defensive backs and the freshmen under head coach Blanton Collier. Colt coach Don Shula was a fellow assistant at Kentucky in 1959.

THEY KEEP THE COLTS KICKING

ED BLOCK, Trainer

This should be something of a comeback year for good-natured Eddie. He was knocked out of commission by a heart attack just before the start of training camp in 1966—but he wasn't too far away to offer valuable advice from time to time throughout the season. Now he's anxious to get back on the sidelines. In past years he's spent the off-season as assistant chief of physical therapy at Kernan's Hospital for Crippled Children in Baltimore and as research specialist for the Martin Marietta Company, with an emphasis on physical conditioning in manned space flight. Block, who thoroughly enjoys his task of waking all hands each morning at training camp, is a St. Louis product who earned undergraduate and masters degrees in physical education from the University of Missouri and received a doctor of education degree and a physical therapy certificate from Columbia University. He'd served as trainer and physical education instructor at Washington University in St. Louis before joining the Colts in 1954.

DICK SPASSOFF, Assistant Trainer

When Eddie Block was disabled last summer Dick assumed his duties without a hitch, running the training room at camp and continuing to direct the operation through the regular season, with valuable aid daily from son John and from Bill Neill, director of physical therapy at Kernan's Hospital, on a part-time basis. The Colts displayed their depth off the field as well as on last year—and are prepared to do so again in 1967 should an emergency arise. The Spassoff humor and philosophy are very much a part of the Colts' make-up, and have been since he joined the organization in 1957. The former Bulgarian olympic fencer and gymnast is something of a confirmed optimist where injuries are concerned and he spares no effort to make his quick recoveries materialize. He's earned a B.S. degree in health and physical education and a M.A. degree in clinical psychology while attending George Williams College in Chicago, Wittenberg and Columbia. Dick, who's been employed by various large hotels in past off-seasons introduced the Sauna bath to Baltimore—the Colts having benefited from its therapeutic effects since 1962. His latest project has been weighted shoes and they, too, have been gaining in popularity.

FRED SCHUBACH, Equipment Manager

Of all the Colts' employees, none has been on the job as long as the tireless Schubach. He took over his equipment manager's post in 1953 and in one way or another he's succeeded in improving his performance with each year. His knowledge of equipment and his ability to improvise under game pressure are unsurpassed. Fred's been able to save many valuable minutes for playing personnel with his swift, sure work on the sidelines. The one-time pro baseball catcher broke into the NFL with the Philadelphia Eagles, absorbing all he could from his father—one of the best equipment managers in the business with the Eagles. During the past winter Fred was given new off-season responsibilities—assisting in the personnel department. He also retained his old duties as head coach and booking agent for the Colts' basketball team.

THE COLTS BAND

STRIKES UP!

Colts' marching band's 20-year-old bass drum has been awarded niche in Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio.

Setting the stage for every NFL contest in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium, the Colts' Marching Band has become an integral part of the drama and excitement that is stirred up seven Sundays every autumn. This strictly volunteer outfit numbers approximately 130 members and it rehearses through most of the year—since it participates in several outside parades. During the season the Band performs before every home game and entertains throughout two half-time intermissions. Whenever travel permits the Band will also make one road trip in a season.

Organized in 1947, along with the Colts' All-America Conference entry, the Band continued in operation while Baltimore was without a pro football franchise in 1951-52. The officers for the Band in its 21st year are: Dick Taylor, president; Harry Auman, vice-president; David Cook, treasurer; Bill Miller, secretary; Sam Skolnik, public relations; and as representatives on the executive board—Lawson Kratz, Dick Westermeyer, Sherry Wertz, Roberta Wertz and Rosemary Lansinger.

SUMMER IN WESTMINSTER

When the Colts began to check into training camp on July 16th, it marked the 15th consecutive year that the team had prepped for the NFL campaign at Western Maryland College in Westminster, Md. It has been an ideal location for the Colts—and for their football-famished fans, who annually flock to the campus for first hand impressions of the new squad. The school is less than an hour's drive from Baltimore. The Colts have at their disposal the finest in accommodations and training facilities. And the Western Maryland College personnel, including Dr. Lowell S. Ensor, president; Dick Clower, director of athletics; Ronnie Jones, head football coach; and Byron Rice, commissary chief; spare no efforts to keep the Colts functioning in high gear.

THE COLTS ASSOCIATES

Comprised of a maximum of 25 active members, the Associates have helped the Colts in many ways since their formation in 1947. Besides generally making their services available to the organization the Associates have aided Colt players in obtaining homes and jobs and they cooperate with the club in the running off of the annual Family Day outing at the Colts' training camp and the Intra-Squad Game in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium—with additional assistance by Buddies, Inc., a citizens' committee. Thirteen previous Colt Nite contests have attracted more than 500,000 spectators—for the benefit of Baltimore Police Boys' Clubs. This year's scrap is set for July 29th. The Associates' officers for 1967 are: Bob Cooper, chairman; Hungerford LaMotte, vice-chairman; Bob Bolin, secretary-treasurer.

AND THE COLTS CORRALS

The Colts Corrals, in their eleventh year, continue to grow, having expanded to 14 during the past year. They are more active than ever before—making road trips, honoring players, raising money for various charities and generally promoting professional football in the Baltimore area. The members of the Corrals are enthusiastic Colts rooters who devote their energies to the pro grid sport on a twelve-months-a-year basis. They represent all types of jobs and professions and they're all Colts crazy—and greatly appreciated by the Baltimore club. The Corrals' presidents for 1967 are: No. 1, Howard Dickson; No. 2, John Young; No. 3, Jack Walsh; No. 4, George Cook, Jr.; No. 5, Richard Grannas; No. 6, Gilbert Durken; No. 7, Mel Greenwald; No. 8, James Aires; No. 9, Donald Louey; No. 10, Lou Block; No. 11, Bob Lins; No. 12, Dave Fisher; No. 13, Robert Winegrad; No. 14, James Gambacorta; No. 954, Henry Taylor (penitentiary).

The Colts suffered a severe setback last February when Joe Campanella, a former player who had returned to his old team only a few months before as its general manager and vice-president, died unexpectedly of a heart attack.

One of the "original Colts" who arrived when Baltimore obtained its franchise back in 1953, Joe left a lucrative business position last year to return to a front office post in the game he loved. Only 36 years old, Joe brought with him a keen enthusiasm for his duties and a genuine affection for all he met.

The Colts humbly express their deep gratitude to the friends and acquaintances of Joe Campanella who conveyed their sympathy through the Colts office.

COLTS DEFENSE WORN BUT WONDERFUL IN '66

In last season's opening game Green Bay's Lee Roy Caffey and Bob Jeter swiped Baltimore passes and streaked for scores as the Packers prevailed, 24-3. The pair of thefts overcame a 3-0 Baltimore advantage and immediately followed an heroic defensive effort by the Colts as Lou Michaels blocked a Don Chandler field goal attempt from the eight-yard line. No one was aware of it at the time but the pattern had been set for the 1966 Colts.

It was a year of gallant stands and bruising combat by the Blue defense. The overworked unit was spearheaded by halfbacks Lenny Lyles and Bob Boyd and end Ordell Braase, each of whom earned recognition of one kind or another at the close of the campaign. In only one other season since 1958—when only 12 games were played—had the Colts yielded so few points, 226. In 1964 they were nicked for only 225.

Only Green Bay and Chicago were able to register more than two touchdowns against Baltimore—and in addition to the Packers accounting for two of their three via interceptions, the Bears tallied one of their three by running a Colts fumble into the end zone. Baltimore's defense also picked up three six-pointers during the year on two interceptions and one fumble recovery.

An erratic Colts attack that turned the ball over to the opposition 40 times via 27 stolen aerals and 13 fumbles kept the defense either "ready" or "active" through long stretches of various contests. Twenty of the give-aways were committed during the course of the five defeats. For the year the foes reeled off 885 offensive plays to Baltimore's 819, but though hammered hard and often the Colts' defense never split its seams.

There was a minimum number of injuries in 1966 with the most serious losses being linebacker Steve Stonebreaker and tackle Andy Stynchula of the defensive brigade—missing ten and six games, respectively, with knee injuries. The key to the entire campaign, however, could have been the shoulder ailment that struck quarterback John Unitas while the Colts were boosting their record to 7-2 at Atlanta. Thereafter the Colts could win only two of five decisions as they dropped out of a first place tie with the Packers. The sub-par air arm took its toll of the Baltimore offense, but a sudden return to form in the San Francisco finale gained the Colts a second successive post-season trip to Miami, Fla. for the Playoff Bowl. The Colts' last TD of the long campaign, by Tom Matte with 14 seconds left to play, netted them a 20-14 Bowl victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

A summary of the 1966 action:

Saturday, Sept. 10 Packers 24, Colts 3 48,650 Away

This was a patented Green Bay success, with the Wisconsin wizards once again playing to the hilt their favorite role of opportunists. Trailing 3-0 with only three minutes remaining in the first half, the alert Packers picked off a couple of John Unitas tosses and ran them 52 and 46 yards—by Lee Roy Caffey and Bob Jeter, respectively—within a two-minute period for the touchdowns that settled the issue. The strong Green Bay defense throttled the Colts throughout the second half.

Sunday, Sept. 18 Colts 38, Vikings 23 47,426 Away

The Colts were slow to get their offense rolling in Minnesota spotting the Vikings a 16-0 second quarter advantage. Baltimore forged in front, 17-16, on Unitas' 40-yard TD strike to Raymond Berry in the third period and tallied its clinching six-pointer midway through the final quarter when linebacker Mike Curtis recovered a Tommy Mason fumble in the end zone. Mason led the game's rushers with 94 yards, including a 52-yard scoring dash, while Unitas' four touchdown pitches included the 213th of his pro career—a NFL record. John Mackey paced the catchers with six for 143 yards and two touchdowns.

Sunday, Sept. 25 Colts 36, 49ers 14 56,715 Home

A rugged and deceptive Baltimore defense was a major factor in this contest. Frequent blitzing and fakes by linebackers and safetymen who shot up into the gaps on the line succeeded in rattling San Francisco quarterback John Brodie, who was dumped five times for total loss of 38 yards and intercepted once. The Colts battled back from an early 7-0 deficit and were in complete command by halftime, 16-7. Fullback Tony Lorick powered the Colts' attack with 110 yards on 18 carries, while Mackey contributed a 57-yard scoring reception. Lou Michaels booted five field goals to set a Colt record.

Sunday, Oct. 9 Bears 27, Colts 17 47,452 Away

Linebacker Joe Fortunato, galloping 24 yards to paydirt with a Unitas fumble, and halfback Bennie McRae with two timely interceptions and 53 yards in returns, keyed a destructive Chicago defense that yielded only a 79-yard throw-run TD maneuver that featured the mighty Mackey. The battering Bears chewed up 219 yards via 52 hauls on the ground—with the remarkable Gale Sayers ripping off scoring jaunts of 30 and seven yards en route to a 106-yard production. The Colts lagged 20-3 before they reached the end zone.

Sunday, Oct. 16 Colts 45, Lions 14 60,238 Home

The Colts vaulted into a 24-0 first half lead, then coasted home—disrupted only by rookie quarterback Karl Sweetan's record-smashing 99-yard scoring shot to flanker Pat Studstill. An on-target Unitas connected on 18 of 27 pegs for 218 yards and four touchdowns, including a 51-yarder to the devastating Mackey. Filling in for injured left side linebackers Steve Stonebreaker and Jack Burkett, Curtis inflicted heavy damage on the Detroit attack and was presented the game ball by his Baltimore teammates.

Sunday, Oct. 23 Colts 20, Vikings 17 60,238 Home

This bitterly-waged struggle wasn't settled until the final whistle halted a Minnesota drive on the Colts' 25-yard line. The Vikings' late surge was fired by quarterback Fran Tarkenton, who completed 23 of 36 throws for 231 yards and two touchdowns and carried the ball seven times for 49 yards. His Baltimore counterpart, Unitas, clicked on 17 of 28 heaves for 214 yards, packed the ball a yard for a touchdown via a lateral from Lorick and passed 13 yards to Berry for the decisive score. The high-voltage conflict also produced a fight that resulted in the ejection from the field of Minnesota's Earsall Mackbee and Baltimore's Jimmy Orr.

Sunday, Oct. 30 Colts 17, Rams 3 57,898 Away

A Roman Gabriel-to-Dick Bass screen pass gained 40 yards but cost L. A. possession of the ball when Lenny Lyles flopped on Bass' fumble on the Colts' 11-yard line. On the next play, Baltimore's first on offense, Unitas gunned the ball to a wide-open Mackey for 89 yards and the touchdown that provided the Colts with enough points for victory. Mackey also pulled down a 17-yard scoring strike. The Rams led in first downs, 21-13, and notched more offensive play than Baltimore, 81-58—but the Colts intercepted three passes and recovered three fumbles.

Sunday, Nov. 6 Colts 37, Redskins 10 60,238 Home

In their most boisterous offensive outburst of the season the Colts accumulated 520 yards and 28 first downs, with Unitas hitting on 22 of 31 throws for 342 yards and three touchdowns. Berry and Orr each accounted for 131 yards on ten and five receptions, while Tom Matte caught five losses for 94 yards and added 54 yards via 13 carries. A standout in defeat was Redskins quarterback Sonny Jurgensen, who completed 21 of 32 aerials for 320 yards and a TD. Andy Stynchula was a first-time starter at defensive tackle for Baltimore but suffered a torn knee ligament and was sidelined for the rest of the season.

Sunday, Nov. 13 Colts 19, Falcons 7 58,850 Away

Surprisingly tough resistance by the league's newest entry and a sub-par offensive performance by Baltimore. Despite intercepting five passes and recovering two fumbles the Colts could count only one touchdown. They gained a total of only 200 yards as the Falcons benefited from a brilliant linebacking job by rookie Tommy Nobis. The winners didn't realize it at the time but this was the beginning of an offensive tail-spin that they didn't reverse until the season's final game. The key to the decline was an injury to Unitas' right shoulder that was sustained in this game.

Sunday, Nov. 20 Lions 20, Colts 14 52,383 Away

An horrendous experience for the entire Baltimore squad and for Unitas in particular. After his first two throws of the second half had been intercepted to boost his game total to five, the ailing Johnny U was replaced by Gary Cuozzo. Aided by Mackey's magnificent 64-yard scoring jaunt with a short flip, Cuozzo helped the Colts chop the Lions' 17-0 lead down to three points, but a last-minute drive for victory ran out of gas on Detroit's 43-yard line. The Lions' big play on the attack was a 49-yard Sweetan-to-Studstill TD toss.

Sunday, Nov. 27 Rams 23, Colts 7 60,238 Home

This defensive struggle was completely dominated by the Rams' ferocious front line of Dave Jones, Merlin Olsen, Rosey Grier and Lamar Lundy. Their violent efforts contributed to the Colts being limited to a net of 140 yards. The Colts' quarterbacks, starter Cuozzo and reliefer Unitas, were dumped six times for a combined loss of 57 yards and had two passes intercepted—Clancy Williams returning one of them 32 yards for a TD. The L. A. defense also stifled the Colts with a mere seven first downs, nine completions in 32 throws, and checked them without a score until less than three minutes remained. Bass paced the Rams' attackers with 126 yards via 30 hauls.

Sunday, Dec. 4 Colts 21, Bears 16 60,238 Home

A last-ditch surge of 68 yards was spearheaded by Unitas and climaxed by Berry's spectacular leaping catch of Johnny's 23-yard TD shot with 40 seconds left. A 52-yard streak into the end zone with an interception by Alvin Haymond had provided Baltimore with its first score, but then the Bears overcame a 14-7 deficit as Rudy Bukich connected on 22 of 38 pitches for 236 yards and Mike Ditka snared seven of the passes for 95 yards. A tenacious Colts defense choked off the mercurial Sayers with 38 yards on 16 carries.

Saturday, Dec. 10 Packers 14, Colts 10 60,238 Home

A familiar formula paid off for the Packers as they intercepted four passes—setting up their first touchdown with one—and recovered Unitas' fumble on their ten-yard line with a minute to play. Elijah Pitts tallied both Green Bay touchdowns on a 42-yard pass from Bart Starr and a two-yard burst through the line. Zeke Bratkowski quarterbacked the Packers throughout a second half downpour and directed the decisive ten-play, 80-yard TD drive in the last period. The Colts outgained the champs, 283-242 yards, and were led offensively by Jerry Hill's 88 yards on trips.

Sunday, Dec. 18 Colts 30, 49ers 14 40,005 Away

In a startling transformation the Colts unleashed a blistering air barrage against a San Francisco team that had been on the rise and gunning for second place. Unitas was on target on 20 of his 30 throws for 339 yards and four scores. Jimmy Orr's four receptions accounted for 108 yards, including a 61-yard TD hook-up. There were 30 seconds still to play when the officials called the game because the crowd had stormed onto the field. The premature ending stopped the 49ers on the Colts' five-yard line after they'd advanced 85 yards.

Sunday, Jan. 8 Colts 20, Eagles 14 58,088 Miami, Fla.

Only 14 seconds remained when Tom Matte plunged a yard for the touchdown that swung the decision. It culminated a 35-yard Colts drive that immediately followed Jerry Logan's interception of a Jack Concannon aerial. Until that time the Colts had been stymied by a strong Philadelphia defense. Matte was the game's top ground-gainer with 74 yards on 16 carries but the Eagles' Izzy Lang—12 cracks at the line for 54 yards—was named the "Most Valuable Player" in Baltimore's second successive Playoff Bowl triumph.

NEW STARS MAY EMERGE IN 1967

A number of elder statesmen remain the key men, but a steady influx of newcomers provide the Colts with high hopes of continuing their winning ways, and more important, a good chance to bring back a title to Baltimore. Offensive ineffectiveness at times caused the Hosses, for the second year in a row, to just miss a Western Division crown, with Green Bay again reaping the dividends.

John Unitas, plagued by shoulder miseries last season, is healthy again and ready to trigger one of pro football's most explosive attacks when it's hitting on all cylinders. There is optimism that young Jim Ward can supply strong backup support at quarterback.

Raymond Berry, Jimmy Orr and Lenny Moore are aging receivers, but still vital to the Colt cause. Bruising John Mackey, a deep threat at tight end, leads a youth movement in the pass-catching corps that includes fleet Willie Richardson and rookie Ray Perkins. Tom Matte, Tony Lorick and Jerry Hill form a frisky trio of seasoned running backs and rapid development is expected from husky all-purpose rookie Jim Detwiler.

Up front, Dan Sullivan kicked off an offensive line rebuilding program with a fine performance in his first campaign as a starting guard last year. Sophomore Sam Ball and third-year man Glenn Ressler figure to further the process, along with a number of promising rookies, including guard Norman Davis.

Defensively, the Colts still rank with the league's best. Old campaigners like Ordell Braase, Don Shinnick and Billy Ray Smith showed no evidences of slowing down last year and youngsters like Fred Miller, Mike Curtis and Alvin Haymond earned their spurs. Andy Stynchula and Jim Welch return from injuries that crippled them part of last season to lend experienced reserve strength. And welcome newcomers include center-linebacker Bill Curry, who played for world champion Green Bay last year, and prize rookie defense lineman Bubba Smith and safetyman Rick Volk.

Like last year, the pre-season question marks pop up on the offense—but the generous blend of experience and youth that exists throughout the squad gives coach Don Shula the ingredients to form a solid attack to go with the still tough defense, a combination needed to go all the way.

The Colts' Veterans . . . 1967

GERALD ALLEN (44) Halfback 6'1" 205 Omaha

A standout running back in college, Gerald was brought to training camp last summer listed as a defensive back. But he made the squad as a halfback after impressing the coaching staff with his maneuvering in heavy traffic. He didn't get a chance to run from scrimmage, but played on the kickoff and punt return teams, taking back three kickoffs for 53 yards. A knee injury forced him off the squad in mid-season, however. Now he's back to re-claim his varsity berth. A veteran of four years Air Force service, Gerald earned Little All-America honors in 1964, the Colts drafted him eighth for 1966. Off-season: Schoolteacher. Wife: Donetta. Children: Jerry, 5; Terry, 2 . . . Born: June 26, 1941, in Canton, Ohio. Attended Massillon (Ohio) High School. Now resides: Baltimore.

SAM BALL (73) Tackle 6'4" 250 Kentucky

A knee injury cut a wide swath into Sam's rookie activity last year after being selected first by the Colts in the college draft. He spent from October 10 to December 1 on the sidelines, impeding his development as an offensive lineman. Now the big, quiet Kentuckian will resume his bid to land a starting job up front. A hard worker, Sam possesses good speed, along with his size, and Colt coaches believe he can turn into an outstanding blocker. He received All-American acclaim as a college senior, also played in the North-South Game, the Senior Bowl and for the College All-Stars against Green Bay. A top student and leader, Sam served as vice-president of Kentucky's chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Wife: Jenny Lou. Born: June 7, 1944, in Henderson, Kentucky. Attended Henderson County High School.

BOB BALDWIN (34) Fullback 6'1" 225 Clemson Activated on October 16 last year, this Baltimore native came on to do a fine job on the special teams, although he didn't get a chance to run with the ball from the fullback position, to which he was converted after coming to training camp as a free agent linebacker. RAYMOND BERRY (82) End 6'2" 190 S.M.U

Shortly after the start of training camp in 1966 Raymond suffered a thigh injury that kept him out of all but the final pre-season game. Any doubts that he could regain full stride after missing so much practice time—and at age 33—were promptly dispelled as he caught five passes in the opener with Green Bay. He started and caught passes in every game thereafter and wound up leading the team with 56 receptions. During the campaign he claimed a second NFL record as he increased his air yardage total to 9,108—while jumping his pro career receiving mark to 620 catches. His most productive afternoon was vs. Washington as he grabbed 10 throws for 131 yards and two touchdowns. The rangy Texan—whom Baltimore drafted as a future on the 20th round in 1954—still specializes in the spectacular, diving, lunging and leaping to make the clutch catch. There's still no one better at hanging on to that tough toss that means a first down. The opposition is hardly letting up on Raymond, despite his 12 arduous years in the league. He's still frequently confronted by double coverage but he's no less a threat than ever before—as he's remained in fine physical condition and continues to practice as diligently as he did during his break-in years. Still among his prized possessions are the following records: team—most passes caught (one season), 75 in 1961; most TD passes caught (one season), 14 in 1959; most yards gained receiving (one season), 1,298 in 1960; and most passes caught and most yards gained receiving (one game), 12 catches for 224 yards vs. Washington on Nov. 10, 1957 . . . team and NFL championship game—most passes caught and most yards gained receiving (one game), 12 catches for 178 yards vs. New York on Dec. 28, 1958 . . . TOM BLEICK (25) Defensive Back 6'2" 200 Georgia Tech

With seven professional games under his belt, seeing action primarily on the special teams last year, Tom returns to continue his development in the secondary. He was drafted as a future on the ninth round of the 1965 draft. After being knocked out of training camp action with an ankle injury, Tom came back to gain a berth on the squad late in September. A defensive ace at Georgia Tech, he played in the 1966 College All-Star game. Born: March 21, 1943, in Talladega, Alabama. Attended Talladega High School.

BOB BOYD (40) Def. Back 5'10½" 192 Oklahoma

Playing all the way once again on the left corner in 1966 Bobby gained All-Pro acclaim for the third straight year. He intercepted six passes and returned them 114 yards, including a 37-yard scoring dash vs. Chicago. His pro career totals of 43 interceptions and 689 yards in runbacks represent Colts records. The club's defensive captain, he's a fine leader on the field and Baltimore's player representative off the field. A rugged battler at all times, he's got that knack of producing the big play on defense—as the key tackle or simply swiping the football from the enemy. A hard, elusive ball-carrier, he was a split-T quarterback at Oklahoma who emphasized ground play. The Colts drafted him tenth in 1960 and immediately planted him at left half. He's remained there ever since . . . Off-season: Operates restaurant . . . Wife: Wanda. ORDELL BRAASE (81) Def. End 6'4" 245 South Dakota

That "finest season" that OrdeLL was on the verge of completing but was denied by a late injury in 1965 was consummated last fall. In all phases of his defensive play he was outstanding—to the extent that he was selected for the Pro Bowl squad for the first time in his ten-year NFL career. Not only was he 100% recovered from the leg injury that knocked him out of action the previous season but he didn't miss any work at all in 1966—and Baltimore's pass-rush flourished accordingly, with the enemy quarterbacks being dropped 47 times for losses totaling 401 yards. He'll be 35 this season but there's been no tendency anywhere to relegate him to an old-man's scrap heap. Strength, savvy and desire are still solid Braase qualities and he should help to keep the Colts' defense at the same level of proficiency that it maintained throughout last autumn. A 14th draft choice in 1954, he served two years in the Army before re-joining the Colts, bigger and better than ever, in 1957. He was a starter at defensive end in the 1959 championship game after learning his trade behind Gino Marchetti and Don Joyce . . . Off-season: Canada Dry-Frostie Corp. Sales . . . Wife: Janice. special teams, also saw action as a linebacker when injuries took their toll in that department. He proved to be a hardnosed tackler and he intercepted a pass against the Lions. Drafted 19th as a future in 1965, he will have a better chance in his bid to land a berth for the whole campaign this year. Last summer he was handicapped since he missed part of training camp to perform for the College All-Stars against the Green Bay Packers. Barry was a tough two-way battler as a tight end and linebacker at Florida. He grabbed nine passes in Florida's Sugar Bowl appearance against Missouri in 1966. Wife: Jean. Children: Tara Michelle, 2 . . . Born: April 17, 1943, in Boston, Mass. Attended Ann Arbor (Michigan) High School.

BILL CURRY (50) Center-Linebacker 6'2" 235 Georgia Tech

The Colts obtained Curry in the trade with New Orleans that sent quarterback Gary Cuozzo and guard Butch Allison to the Saints last winter. In his first two NFL campaigns he saw considerable service with Green Bay as a special teams operative and as a center—at which position he faced Baltimore twice in 1966. For most of last season Bill was the Packers' number one pivotman. In college he'd also worked as a linebacker and he could be utilized in that capacity by the Colts. The Packers drafted him on the 20th round as a future in 1964. Prior to joining Green Bay he played in the Coaches' All-Star Game in Buffalo, N. Y. and in the College All-Stars vs. Cleveland contest in the summer of 1965. New Orleans claimed him in last February's expansion draft. He's a very active member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. . . Off-season: Student in Emory Law School . . . Wife: Mary . . . Born: October 21, 1942, in College Park, Georgia. Attended College Park High School . . . Now resides: Atlanta, Ga.

MIKE CURTIS (32) Linebacker 6'2" 232 Duke

In last season's fifth game, vs. Detroit, Mike came off the bench in the first quarter and so dominated the defensive action from his left side linebacker post that he was voted the game ball by his teammates. And except for missing two games with bruised ribs he remained the number one man on the left corner — as a replacement for the injured Steve Stonebreaker. During training camp in 1966 he'd worked mostly on the right side after having spent his rookie pro campaign at fullback. As a runner he gained 31 yards on six carries in the Playoff Bowl vs. Dallas. He was, however, drafted first in 1965 for his linebacking ability, but he was shifted to fullback when the Colts traded Joe Don Looney to Detroit for linebacker Dennis Gaubatz. Now he's labeled as strictly a backer-up—one who can cover a lot of ground and who can and will hit with the game's hardest smackers. . . . As a Duke sophomore he'd been an All-Atlantic Coast Conference fullback. Injuries hampered his play in his last two college seasons . . . Off-season: Real estate sales . . . Born: March 27, 1944, in Rockville, Md. Attended Richard Montgomery High School. Now resides: Rockville, Md.

DENNIS GAUBATZ (53) Linebacker 6'2" 232 L.S.U.

In his second season as Baltimore's regular middle linebacker Dennis demonstrated that his impressive 1965 showing was no fluke. An aching knee forced him to sit out the 20-14 loss in Detroit, but he was in there battling through every other game, despite occasional leg and ankle pains. He concluded the campaign with a brilliant defensive display in San Francisco—including among his accomplishments a pass interception and two recovered fumbles—that earned him the game ball. A strong hitter and a capable play-caller in the Colts' defensive system, he's made fine progress since reporting to Baltimore's training camp in 1965. The Colts obtained him in a trade that sent fullback Joe Don Looney to Detroit. With the Lions Gaubatz had been a part-time starter for two years. He'd been Detroit's ninth draft choice for 1963 after starring on L.S.U. teams that won the Orange and Cotton Bowls, against Colorado and Texas, respectively, in 1962 and 1963 . . . Off-season: Sales engineer . . . Wife: Carolyn. Children: Dennis, Jr. 6; Tynia Lee, 4; James David, 2 . . . Born: February 11, 1940, in Needville, Texas. Attended West Columbia (Texas) High School . . . Now resides: Lutherville, Md.

GEORGE HAROLD (42) Defensive Back 6'3" 194 Allen

After spending a season on the taxi squad, George made the varsity last year and turned in a fine performance with the special teams and saw some action in the secondary. Drafted tenth by the Colts for the 1965 season, George is rangy and quick. He intercepted eight passes in his senior year at Allen and took back one 55 yards for a touchdown. Born: April 13, 1942, in Augusta, Georgia. Attended Lucy Craft Laney High School.

ALVIN HAYMOND (30) Def. Back 6'0" 194 Southern U.

Promoted to a starting safety berth last season, Alvin proved to be a capable full-time defensive performer without taking any luster from his derring-do as one of the league's most exciting run-back specialists. A courageous punt returner who distains the fair catch, Alvin set a league record with 41 returns in 1965 and took 40 back up field last season. He has yet to go all the way on a punt runback, though on many occasions he nearly broke away, but he did dazzle the Chicago Bears with a 52-yard interception return for a touchdown. He also had three other pass interceptions and a fumble recovery last year. He was drafted on the 18th round in 1964. Wife: Joanne. Children: Alvin, Jr., 1 . . . Born: August 31, 1942, in New Orleans, La. Now resides in New Orleans where he is attending Southern University.

JERRY HILL (45) Fullback 5'11" 217 Wyoming

A broken hand limited Jerry's activity early last season, but he rebounded with his normal devastating display of blocking and picked up 395 yards rushing on 104 attempts. A plugger who consistently can be counted on for short yardage, Jerry's real forte is jolting opposing blitzers—he's gained a reputation throughout the league as one of the best blockers in the trade. To accomplish this, he was forced to overcome an inauspicious rookie season when he suffered a twisted knee, a broken arm and a broken leg, in rapid succession after being drafted on the third round for 1961. In addition to his power running and blocking, Jerry is a valuable man on the special teams. Off-season: Forestry service. Wife: Suzanne. Children: Jamie Elizabeth, 5 . . . Born: October 12, 1939, in Torrington, Wyoming. Attended Lingle (Wyoming) High School. Now resides: Pine, Colo.

ROY HILTON (85) Defensive End 6'6" 245 Jackson State

An aggressive, mobile reserve and special teams operative, Roy continues to add bulk to his already impressive height as he seeks full development as a defensive performer in his third season as a pro. When he arrived in camp after being drafted 15th for 1965, Roy was told to fatten up and, though he found it difficult to gain weight, he has filled out considerably. A hard-hitting two-way end in college, his teammates nicknamed him "Killer." Wife: Marie. Children: Angela, 1 . . . Born: March 23, 1943, in Hazelhurst, Miss. Attended Parrish High School. Now resides: Baltimore.

FRANK LASKY (63) Offensive Guard 6'2" 265 Florida

When Frank joined the New York Giants as their second round "future" draft choice in 1964, he was regarded as an outstanding offensive line prospect. Scout Peahead Walker had referred to him as the "finest tackle in college football" when he played at Florida. But a serious muscle injury sidelined him during training camp in his rookie season and he missed most of that campaign. He bounced back to see considerable service at tackle for the Giants in 1965, but sat out last season. Wife: Jody. Children: Kelle, 3; Robert, 1. . . Born: October 4, 1941, in New York City. Now resides in Miami, Florida.

DAVID LEE (49) Punter 6'4" 215 Louisiana Tech

David Lee in his rookie season with the Colts won the NFL punting title with a 45.6 average on 49 kicks. One of his boots traveled 64 yards. Lee didn't join the Colts until near the end of training camp, but he promptly solved Baltimore's age old punting problem. He signed as a free agent for Cleveland Browns in 1965 and was a member of the Browns' reserve squad that season. He was an outstanding punter and pass receiver at Louisiana Tech where he won four letters in football . . . did all of his school's punting for four years . . . caught 19 passes for 319 yards and two TD's in 1964 . . . never attempted a field goal until his senior year when he tried two and was successful both times for 36 and 39 yards . . . was four sport star at high school . . . JERRY LOGAN (20) Def. Back 6'1" 190 West Texas State

Adding to his reputation as a quiet man who produces in the clutch, Jerry capped a fine 1966 performance by intercepting a pass in the dying minutes of the Playoff Bowl in Miami to give the Colts the opportunity to pull out a 20-14 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles. He also picked off three aerals during the regular season, boosting his four-year interception total to 12. The Colts drafted Jerry fourth for 1963 after the sreamlined Texan led the nation's collegians in scoring with 110 points in 1962. A crafty pass defender and a swift, sure tackler, Logan has been a steady performer at left safety since stepping in as a replacement for the last four games of 1963. Off-season: Ranching. Wife: Fannie Lou. Children: Jimmy Mac, 4; Sadie Lou, 1 . . . Born: August 27, 1941, in Graham, Texas. Attended Graham High School. Now resides: Graham. P R O BOWL — 1965

TONY LORICK (33) Fullback 6'1" 217 Arizona State

Possessing a good combination of power and speed, Tony led the Colts in rushing last season with 524 yards on 143 attempts, while scoring three touchdowns. Injuries have hampered Lorick since he joined the Colts as their No. 2 draft choice in 1964, but when he's healthy he's a definite threat both on line plunges and outside sweeps. The Colts have used him at halfback and also as a kickoff returner. As a college senior Tony rushed for 805 yards (7.7 ave.), was named his team's "most valuable player" and earned All-American mention. In an earlier campaign at Los Angeles J. C., he had rolled up 1,043 yards and in three years as a high school phenom he'd rushed over 3,600 yards and scored 230 points. He participated in both the East-West Shrine game and the College All-Star game in 1964. Born: May 25, 1941, in Los Angeles, Calif. Attended Fremont High School.

LENNY LYLES (43) Defensive Back 6'2" 204 Louisville

After nine seasons in professional football, Lenny finally received the recognition due him last year when he was named to play in the Pro Bowl. Playing the right corner in the deep secondary, he believes in physically punishing ball carriers, blockers and receivers with equal force, maintaining his reputation as one of the toughest defenders in the league. He's also one of the biggest and fastest. Although Lenny was Baltimore's number one draft choice in 1958, he didn't really get a chance to play defense until 1962. Prior to that he had returned 81 kickoffs for a total of 2,152 yards, about half of it during a two-year hitch with the San Francisco 49ers before returning to the Colts. He can boast of three length-of-the-field touchdown jaunts while with the Hosses. Last year was his most consistent as a defensive performer, especially since he cut down drastically on getting tagged with penalties for pass interference, which he attributes to getting better position. Off-season: Sales representative for Brown & Williamson Tobacco Company . . . Wife: Faith. Children: Leonard, Jr., 8; Mike, 6; Crist, 2 . . . Born: January 26, 1936, in Louisville, Ky. JOHN MACKEY (88) Tight End 6'2" 224 Syracuse

In his fourth season last year, John became everybody's all-pro, a tight end who threatens to go all the way on every pass he catches as well as being a devastating blocker. There were nine touchdown receptions among John's 50 catches in 1966, including long distance hauls of 51, 57, 64, 79, 83 and 89 yards. When he encountered heavy traffic, he invariably left opponents sprawled all over the area, then called on his tremendous speed, which is better than many of the league's top outside receivers, to outrun any foe still on his feet. Particularly memorable were scoring jaunts against Chicago, when he knocked over three Bears, including celebrated linebacker Dick Butkus, and went 79 yards and against Detroit, when he shrugged off a horde of Lions and roared 64 yards to paydirt. In addition to making the league all-star first eleven for the first time, he was picked to play in his third Pro Bowl game since joining the Colts as a number two draft choice in 1963. At Syracuse, John was a standout at halfback and end and starred for the East in a 25-19 victory over the West in the San Francisco Shrine Game by

TOM MATTE (41) Halfback 6'0" 214 Ohio State

Returning to his more customary halfback's role last year after his famed "instant quarterback" feat of 1965 when he became everybody's hero with his spirited fill-in job for the team's injury-riddled signal-calling department, Tom turned in a solid job of both running and pass receiving. He led Colt rushers in average yards per carry with 4.4 (381 yards on 86 attempts) and nabbed 23 passes for 307 yards and three touchdowns. He capped his season by scoring the winning touchdown for the Colts in their Playoff Bowl victory over the Philadelphia Eagles in Miami. No matter what heights Tom reaches during the rest of his pro football career, however, fans will never forget his performance at the tail end of the 1965 season. With a week's work at quarterback after both John Unitas and Gary Cuozzo were felled with injuries, he led the Colts to a 20-17 conquest of the Los Angeles Rams in the season's finale to deadlock Green Bay for first place in the Western Conference. For an encore, he nearly directed the Colts past the mighty Packers in a playoff. Though the Hosses lost, 13-10, Matte was acclaimed a national hero with his gritty play. Not finished yet, quarterback Matte tossed a pair of touchdown passes in leading his team to a 35-3 victory over Dallas in the Miami Playoff Bowl. A crafty runner, sturdy blocker and sticky-fingered receiver, Tom is ready to play anywhere on the field and has proved he can do the job anywhere. He was drafted No. 1 by the Colts in 1961 after a fine career as quarterback at Ohio State. Off-season: Real Estate. Wife: Judy. Born: June 14, 1939, in Pittsburgh. Attended Shaw High School in Cleveland, Ohio. Now resides: Glen Arm.

DALE MEMMELAAR (67) Guard 6'2" 248 Wyoming

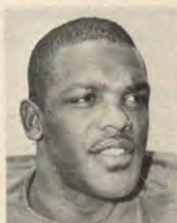

Secured by the Colts from Atlanta in a trade after the Falcons acquired him from Cleveland in the expansion draft, Dale served as a teams specialist and back-up man on the offensive line last season, his eighth as a pro. He spent two years with Cleveland as a guard-center on two straight Eastern Conference and one World Championship teams. After playing tackle and end on offense and end on defense for Wyoming, Dale was drafted on the 21st round by the Chicago Cardinals for 1959. He played as an offensive tackle for three years with the Cards, then was acquired by Dallas, where he played guard for two seasons. He was traded to the Browns for a draft choice before the 1964 campaign. Off-season: Teacher. Wife: Margaret. Children: Dale, 5; Gretchen, 2 . . . Born: January 15, 1937, in Goshen, N. Y. Attended Central High School in Goshen. Now resides: Monroe, N. Y.

LOU MICHAELS (79) Defensive End 6'2" 250 Kentucky

In continuing his prolific scoring for the Colts, burly Lou set a team record and tied an all-time NFL mark by propelling five field goals against the San Francisco 49ers last season. He also ran up a string of 103 consecutive extra points before having one blocked in the final regular season game. He finished fourth among league scorers with 98 points, including 35 field goals. Rated as one of the best placement kickers of all time, Lou also does an effective job of clogging up enemy running attacks at his left end post and aided immeasurably to the pass rush. Lou was obtained by the Colts in a trade with Pittsburgh for defensive back Marv Woodson and line-backer Bill Saul before the 1964 campaign. He had been drafted on the first round in 1958 after earning All-America honors at Kentucky and in 1961 went to Pittsburgh, where he was a regular for six seasons. He saw action only as a kicker his first season with the Colts, setting a club record of 53 conversions, then became a fixture at left end when Gino Marchetti retired. Off-season: Operates bar. Wife: Judy. Children: Edward, infant . . . Born: September 28, 1936, in Swoyersville, Pa. Attended Staunton (Va.) Military Academy. Now resides: Swoyersville.

FRED MILLER (76) Defensive Tackle 6'3" 250 Louisiana St.

A starter on the defensive line ever since donning a Colts' uniform as a rookie in 1963 after being drafted as a future in 1961, Fred ranks as one of the quickest front-liners in the league. He'll slash his way through a wall of blockers and track down his prey—the enemy quarterback—with relentless abandon. He possesses great pursuit and the ability to adjust quickly if he misses his target on his first thrust. Fred captained his college squad and played in three all-star games—the Senior Bowl, All-American Bowl and the Chicago All-Star tilt. Wife: Charlene. Children: David, 3; Danny, 1 . . . Born: August 8, 1940, in Homer, La. Attended Homer High School. Now resides: Timonium.

LENNY MOORE (24) Halfback 6'1" 198 Penn State

Embarking on his 12th season as a pro, all with the Colts, mercurial Lenny is expected to see increased action as a flanker this season, giving him a better chance to flash that broken-field wizardry for which he is famous. Last year, working mostly from his halfback post, Lenny scored three touchdowns, all rushing, while grabbing 21 passes for 259 yards. In addition, the still-lithe Mr. Moore unreeled 18 kickoff returns for 453 yards, including a 54-yard runback against the Atlanta Falcons. His three scores boosted his career touchdown mark to 109 and only Jim Brown, with 126, has more. Still an exciting runner after eleven pro campaigns, Lenny has shown over and over he's ready to play wherever he's needed. He was a combination flanker and halfback in his first five pro seasons, then moved to a full-time running back post in 1961. His scintillating career record reveals more than 11,000 yards gained rushing and receiving, which gained him All-Pro honors five times and seven appearances in the Pro Bowl game. Included among the high points of Sputnik's football story is the 20-touchdown output in 1965 and a touchdown-scoring binge of 18 games from 1963 to 1965. He was the Colts' first draft choice in 1956. Off-season: Operates a cocktail lounge. Wife: Frances Elizabeth. Children: Leslie, 9; Carol, 7; Toni, 5; Terri, 1 . . . JIMMY ORR (28) Flanker 5'11" 185 Georgia Minor leg miseries kept Jimmy from enjoying a repeat of his devastating 1965 campaign. But he was still slippery enough to pull in 37 receptions for 618 yards for three scores, including a hard-earned 61-yard TD jaunt. Though not blessed with the extra-ordinary speed normally associated with good receivers, Jimmy has the knack of getting open with his razor-sharp moves and fakes and it's a rare occasion when he drops the pigskin after getting his hands on it. In nine seasons, the little Southerner has captured 333 aerials for 6,426 yards and 55 touchdowns. He's been to the Pro Bowl twice and earned All-Pro honors in 1965. He's planning on increasing his visits to Orrsville, the plot of real estate in the right corner of the end zone he has staked for his very own, in 1967. Off-season: Stockbroker and restaurateur. JIM PARKER (77) Tackle 6'3" 273 Ohio State

This will be big Jim's 11th pro season, but he's still a tough customer in the Colts' offensive assault, whether it's keeping a burly defender from getting to the quarterback, or knocking tacklers out of the path of a ballcarrier. One of football's most renowned blockers, Jim worked at tackle again last year after spending several All-Pro seasons at guard. Jim, in fact, gained All-Pro honors and played in the Pro Bowl for eight straight seasons. He could wind up playing either position this year. Jim was an All-American and Outland Trophy winner as a linebacker at Ohio State, but took to his offensive duties like a duck to water after being drafted on the first round by the Colts for 1957. He keeps his teammates loose with his jovial outlook on life, but continues to make existence miserable for opposing defensive linemen. Off-season: Operates liquor store. Wife: Mae. NEAL PETTIES (84) End 6'2" 200 San Diego State

Atlanta selected Neal in the expansion draft, but an injury precluded the rangy receiver's making the Falcons' squad and he bounced back to the Colts early last season. Taking into account Neal's bust 'em up tactics on the special teams in two previous seasons with the Steeds, coach Don Shula activated him on October 8. Drafted 14th as a future in 1963 by the Colts, Neal was a second team Little All-America as a collegian. Wife: Mary. Children: Anthony, 5 . . . Born: September 16, 1940, in San Diego, Calif. Attended San Diego High School. Now resides: San Diego.

GLENN RESSLER (62) Center-Tackle 6'3" 250 Penn State

There is little doubt that Glenn has a bright future in pro football, but the question is where? When called upon, Glenn has done an admirable job on the offensive and defensive lines and on the special teams. A product of Pennsylvania farm country who isn't afraid of hard work, Glenn probably will be able to concentrate on interior line play on offense this season. He was listed at guard, linebacker, center and defensive tackle on the various All-America teams as a collegian and was awarded the Maxwell Trophy as "college player of the year" for 1964. Wife: Sandra . . . Born: May 21, 1943, in Danville, Pa. Attended Mahanoy (Pa.) Joint High School. Now resides: Harrisburg, Pa.

WILLIE RICHARDSON (87) Flanker 6'2" 198 Jackson State

After a fine performance in pre-season games, when he led the Colts in pass receptions, Willie caught 14 aerials during the regular season, including a pair of touchdown grabs and a 69-yard scamper against the Rams to set up another score. Willie had only one catch in 1965, but it was for a touchdown, too. In his first two seasons of pro football, he grabbed 20 passes for 246 yards. Blessed with fine hands, good moves and outstanding speed, Richardson will be battling hard to make it as a starter in his fifth campaign. As a collegian, he was nothing short of phenomenal. He was picked as a Little All-American after setting a NAIA record in 1960 with 1,229 yards on receptions. He was named the most valuable player in both the North-South Game and the All-American Bowl to climax his career. The Colts drafted him seventh for 1963. Wife: Earline. Children: Sonji, 1. Born: November 17, 1939, in Clarksdale, Miss. Attended Coleman High School in Greenville, Miss. . . . Now resides: Baltimore.

DON SHINNICK (66) Linebacker 6'0" 228 U.C.L.A.

Raring to go for his eleventh season, Don reigns as the old campaigner of the Colts' perennially tough secondary defense and he shows no signs of yielding his right linebacker's post to incoming youth. Last year, Don added three interceptions to jack his career total to 33, which is more than any other linebacker has picked off in NFL history and ranks Shinnick second to teammate Bob Boyd among active interceptors. A strong individualist and deeply devout man, Don came to the Colts from U. C. L. A., where he had played guard and fullback, as a second round draftee in 1957. The bull-necked Californian is a Christian worker in the off-season. Wife: Marsha. Children: Joel, 8; Josh, 5; Peter, 2 . . . Born: May 15, 1935, in Kansas City, Mo. Attended San Pedro (Calif.) High School. Now resides: Phoenix, Md.

BILLY RAY SMITH (74) Def. Tackle 6'4" 250 Arkansas

This boisterous defender was as ornery as ever last fall as he took on all comers, starting all but one game at defensive right tackle. For his troubles he received no more than the usual pains and bruises that are absorbed by others in the same line of work. He helped to re-establish the Colts' forward wall as one of football's best at rushing the passer. Billy Ray has always thrived on chewing up rival quarterbacks and he certainly hasn't lost the "touch". Strong and swift, he has the ability to recover from a trap and still nail the ballcarrier. Los Angeles drafted the one-time Golden Glove boxer on the third round in 1957 but traded him to Pittsburgh the following year. He had developed into one of the league's most highly regarded defensive ends when he was swapped by the Steelers to the Colts in 1961 in exchange for defensive back Jackie Simpson. In Baltimore he was promptly shifted to tackle where he's flourished ever since—sitting out the 1963 campaign in a business-enforced "retirement"...Off-season: Stockbroker for Alexander Brown Co. . . . Wife: Carol. Children: Bruce, 10; Shelly, 7; Billy, 6 . . . Born: January 27, 1935, in Augusta, Ark. Attended Laura Connor High School . . . Now resides: Westminster, Md.

ANDY STYNCHULA (83) Def. End 6'3" 250 Penn State

Just as Andy was making himself a valuable force in the Colts' defensive wall last season, he suffered a knee injury that sidelined him for the last six games and required surgery. The Colts are hopeful the repaired hinge will enable Andy to return to his previous effectiveness. Though he worked primarily at tackle last year, he'll probably see more action at end this season. Andy came to the Hosses in a trade that sent safetyman Wendell Harris to the Giants during the winter of 1966. After being drafted third by Washington for 1960, Andy played in 36 straight games for the Redskins before an injury sidelined him. He went to the Giants in 1964 in a trade that sent linebacker Sam Huff to the Redskins. Off-season: Insurance sales. Wife: Theresa. Children: Andy Michael, 6; Tammy Ann, 4... Born: January 7, 1939, in Greenwald, Pa. Attended Latrobe (Pa.) High School. Now resides: Fairfax, Va.

DAN SULLIVAN (71) Guard 6'3" 250 Boston College

Stepping into a starting role for the first time since joining the Colts as a third draft choice for 1962, Dan turned in an effective job on the left side of the offensive line last season. A dependable utility performer up front during his first four pro seasons, Sully put his apprenticeship to good use and took on the league's toughest defenders like an old pro. Also an all-out member of the special teams, the likeable Irishman is out to solidify his starting role this season. Off-season: Engineer at Bethlehem Steel Co. Wife: Lorraine. Children: Elizabeth Ann, 3; Julie Anne, 1... Born: September 1, 1939, in Boston, Mass. Attended Boston Tech High School. Now resides: Baltimore.

DICK SZYMANSKI (52) Center 6'3" 235 Notre Dame

One of the steadiest performers on the Colts' squad, Dick begins his 12th campaign in the pros after being drafted second out of Notre Dame by the Hosses in 1955. Besides being the man who gets the ball rolling, Dick is a tough, hard-hitting blocker, especially on pass protection. Though he earned Pro Bowl honors as a center in his rookie season, he hasn't always been a pivot man. He went into military service after that first season and when he returned in mid-1957, he became a linebacker. He went back to center for good in 1961 and was picked for the Pro Bowl again in 1962 and 1964. Off-season: Canada Dry-Frostie Corp., sales. Wife:

Patricia Ann. Children: Debra Ann, 6; Michael Patrick, 2 . . . Born: October 7, 1932, in Toledo, Ohio. Attended Libbey High School. Now resides: Baltimore. PRO BOWL — 1955-62-64.

JOHN UNITAS (19) Quarterback 6'1" 196 Louisville

During the course of the 1966 season John smashed NFL career records for most touchdown passes, 232, and most yards gained passing, 29,539, and collaborated with end John Mackey on an 89-yard TD pass play, the longest in Colts history. And through the first nine games he had the Colts riding in a first place tie with Green Bay with a 7-2 mark. At that point, however, game number nine in Atlanta, he sustained the shoulder injury that was to hinder his throwing for the rest of the year. It didn't prevent him from firing a 23-yard scoring strike to Raymond Berry in the final 39 seconds for a 21-16 win over Chicago, or from pitching for 339 yards and four touchdowns in a wrap-up 30-14 rout of San Francisco, or from leading his team to a 20-14 Playoff Bowl triumph over Philadelphia with 14 seconds left to play. While the arm might have lacked some of its vaunted firepower, Unitas retained the spirit and determination that characterized his quarterbacking through eleven NFL seasons. He's labored with a wide variety of injuries—to his ribs, back, elbow, fingers and knee (an operation on the right knee curtailing his 1965 campaign after 12 games)—and he's back in business in 1967, striving to regain the form that earned him All-Pro acclaim five times, three "mvp" awards in nine Pro Bowl appearances and "mvp" honors for both the 1958 and 1959 championship games. His record for throwing TD passes in 47 consecutive league contests may never be matched. He also holds the NFL mark for title game competition with 349 air yards vs. New York in 1958 . . . Pittsburgh's ninth draft pick in 1955, he finished that year with the semi-pro Bloomfield Rams, then was signed the following year as a free agent by the Colts . . . Off-season: Promotional work . . . Wife: Dorothy Jean. Children: Janice, 11; John, 10; Bob, 8; Chris, 7 . . . Born: May 7, 1933, in Pittsburgh, Pa. Attended St. Justin's High School . . . Now resides: Lutherville, Md. PRO BOWL — 1957-58-59-60-61-62-63-64. ALL-PRO — 1957-58-59-64-65.

BOB VOGEL (72) Tackle 6'5" 250 Ohio State

A four-year regular at left tackle, Bob's size, speed, toughness and intelligence added up to one of the league's top offensive linemen soon after he joined the Colts as their first draft choice in 1963. He was selected to the All-Pro team and played in the Pro Bowl game in his first two seasons and, while he was overlooked by the voters last season, was no less devastating in his blocking. Despite his rapid success in the pros, Bob still puts in extra time to polish his techniques and has been willing to impart both time and tips to rookie linemen. Off-season: Promotional work for Allied Chemical Co. . . . Wife: Andrea. Children: Heidi, 1; Lori, infant . . . Born: September 23, 1941, Columbus, Ohio. Attended Massillon (Ohio) High School. Now resides: Ruxton, Md. PRO BOWL — 1964-65. ALL-PRO 1964-65.

JIM WELCH (46) Defensive Back 6'0" 196 S.M.U.

A broken bone in his foot caused Jim to miss the first five games last season, but when he returned made his presence felt on the special teams and as a back-up man in the secondary. He aims to win back the starting job he has held several times in his seven seasons with the Colts. Though he doesn't appear to have much size, he was fullback in college and shakes up enemy runners and pass receivers with his vicious tackling. The Colts drafted Jim third for 1960. Off-season: Stockbroker for John C. Legg Co. Wife: Betty. Children: Mark Allan, 9; Laurie Anne, 8; Carlyn, 1 . . . Born: March 17, 1938, in Anson, Texas. Attended Abilene (Texas) High School. Now resides: Baldwin, Md.

BUTCH WILSON (86) End 6'2" 228 Alabama

Because he plays behind one of the best and most indestructible tight ends in football in John Mackey, Butch's chances to show his wares come few and far between. When he does get into action, however, he usually makes his presence felt. He caught only three passes last season, but two went for touchdowns. As a blocker, he draws on a background that includes being rated as the "best blocking back in the Southeastern Conference" as a senior halfback at Alabama. He's also an extra effort guy on the special teams. He caught seven passes for 86 yards and a touchdown in his rookie season with the Steeds and was limited to one reception in 1965. Off-season: Teacher. Wife: Susie Carol . . . Born: September 18, 1941, in Birmingham, Alabama. Attended Hueyrown (Ala.) High School . . . Now resides: Hueytown.

The Colts' Rookies . . . 1967

MARC ALLEN (69) Def. Tackle 6'3" 245 West Texas State

This thirteenth round draft choice was a two-way player as a sophomore at West Texas State, then landed a starting job in the defensive line for his last two seasons. Son of retired Lt. Col. Raymond Allen, Marc twice was honored by his teammates for outstanding game performances. Against New Mexico State, he blocked a field goal attempt which led to a Buff safety. Wife: Barbara. Born: April 13, 1944, in Fort Sill, Oklahoma. Attended San Antonio Jefferson High School.

DON ALLEY (80) Flanker 6'2" 200 Adams State

As a three-year starter at split end, Don led the Rocky Mountain Conference in pass receiving all three seasons and twice gained mention on the NAIA All-America squad. In the Mineral Bowl game last January, he caught 10 passes for 145 yards and was voted the game's most valuable lineman. During his three-year varsity career, Don grabbed 101 passes for more than 1,500 yards and 12 touchdowns. He was a sixteenth round draft pick of the Colts, who hope to use him at flanker. Also a fine baseball player, he was drafted two years ago by the New York Yankees and this past season hit .350 for his college team. Wife: Jerryann Ruth. Born: April 21, 1945, in Cheyenne, Wyoming. Attended Wheat Ridge (Colo.) High School.

DICK ANDERSON (65) Tackle 6'5" 245 Ohio State

The Colts signed Dick as a free agent before last year's training camp and he spent the 1966 season on the band squad, working with the varsity in practices. While his development in college was slowed by knee problems, it is hoped that Dick has improved enough to land a spot on the squad this year. Dick's hometown is Lodi, Ohio.

LEE ANDERSON (75) Defensive Tackle 6'7" 260 Bishop

A hefty giant considered somewhat as a "sleeper" when the Colts drafted him on the eighth round, Lee played three seasons for Bishop after transferring from Texas Southern. His top thrill came last year against Fort Hood when he deflected a pass, then caught it and rambled 85 yards for a touchdown. Another big day came against Dillard University when Lee, dropping back from his defensive end post on certain plays, intercepted three passes. Born: December 21, 1944, in Dallas, Texas. Attended Lincoln High School in Dallas.

CLAUDE BROWNLEE (78) Defensive End 6'4" 258 Benedict standout lineman as a collegian, he came up with a blue chip performance against Johnson C. Smith University—making 14 unassisted tackles and forcing a Smith fumble on Benedict's two-yard line in the closing seconds to preserve a 7-6 victory. Born: April 8, 1944, in Columbus, Ga.

J. B. CHRISTIAN (64) Guard 6'1" 230 Oklahoma State

After last year's Arkansas-Oklahoma State game, Arkansas All-American Loyd Phillips observed, "Christian is one of the finest blockers I've played against, and I've played against a lot of 'em, including Tommy Nobis and Lynn Thornbill." Named all-Big Eight first team tackle, Christian will try to make it in the pros as a guard. He was picked for the Coaches' All-Star tilt in Atlanta. Born: May 22, 1945, in Watonga, Oklahoma. Attended Watonga High School.

PAT CONLEY (54) Linebacker 6'3" 230 Purdue

A big, tough defensive ace who excels in wide-range coverage, Pat played 618 minutes of varsity ball, plus last year's Rose Bowl appearance, in three seasons with Boilermakers. Against Southern Methodist last year, he made 12 tackles and blocked a punt to set up the tying touchdown. He was forced out of the Wisconsin game with a shoulder separation, but not before returning an interception 35 yards. Drafted on 14th round by Colts. Born: January 28, 1945, at McKeesport, Pa.

NORMAN DAVIS (63) Guard 6'3" 250 Grambling

A husky, hard-charging guard, Norman could make a strong bid for a starting assignment in the front wall. He served as co-captain last year for Grambling, where he played both guard and tackle. A good pulling blocker on running plays, he improved greatly as a pass protector late last season. He was drafted on the third round by the Colts, who liked his reputation as a strong, tireless worker in addition to his ability. He comes from Cocoa, Florida.

JIM DETWILER (48) Halfback 6'3" 220 Michigan

After a knee injury laid him low for the 1965 season and 1966 spring practice, Jim rebounded admirably for the Wolverines last season. In addition to scoring 10 touchdowns, the husky Ohio native averaged just under five yards per carry rushing. An all-purpose back who can run, catch passes and block well, Jim was the Colts' second choice on the first round of the draft. He was a starter at left halfback in his sophomore year and that same season scored the winning touchdown against Ohio State to put Michigan into the Rose Bowl. He was all-Ohio and All American as a scholastic phenom. Wife: Kathleen . . . Born: May 20, 1945, in Bluffton, Ohio. Attended Devilbiss High School in Toledo, Ohio.

DAVE ELLIS (60) Guard 6'4" 250 No. Carolina St.

Passing up a good chance to make the varsity squad last year after a surprising showing in training camp, Dave decided to delay his pro career a year in order to get in a full term of veterinarian studies, which he plans now to pursue in the off-season. The Colts are hopeful he has retained the sharpness he showed last summer and can land an interior line berth. He has good quickness to go with his size. The Colts drafted him seventh for 1966. Born: December 27, 1943, in Arlington, Virginia. Attended Yorktown High School.

DAVE HANKEE (63) Guard 6'3" 225 Catawba

After reporting to camp as a defensive tackle last summer, Dave was shifted to offensive guard and wasn't able to adjust quickly enough to make the roster, but he was retained on the taxi squad and now is ready for another try. He underwent a knee operation late last year, but hopefully is fully recovered. The Colts signed him as a free agent. Wife: Phyllis . . . Born: March 28, 1942, in Slatington, Pa. Attended Slatington High School.

CORNELIUS JOHNSON (61) Guard 6'2" 235 Virginia Union

A versatile performer who played virtually every line position, offensively and defensively, in college, Cornelius showed scouts good quickness, speed and balance. A marine veteran, he will be tested as a guard by the Colts, who drafted him on the eighth round. Attesting to his speed is the fact that he also was a member of Virginia Union's 440-yard relay team. Wife: Clara. Born: June 12, 1943, in Richmond.

RICK KESTNER (80) End 6'1" 198 Kentucky

A sure-handed receiver who smashed Kentucky's record for catches with 42 as a junior, Rick spent last season with the Colts' taxi squad. Drafted third by the Colts for 1966, Rick is an all-out competitor who is willing to put in extra time to improve himself. His biggest day as a collegian came against a Mississippi team that held a No. 1 ranking nationally when he caught nine passes for three touchdowns to spearhead a 27-21 upset victory for the Wildcats. Wife: Sandra . . . Born: November 6, 1944, in Bluefield, W. Va. Attended Belfry (Kentucky) High School.

RON KIRKLAND (35) Halfback 6'3" 213 Nebraska

Injuries limited Ron's activity last season after starting at left halfback as a junior and doing his team's punting. He gained 522 yards rushing for a 6.6 yards per carry average, including a banner day of 147 yards against Kansas in 1965. Scouts rate him as a fine blocker and good inside runner, also cite him as a dedicated team man. Drafted on the ninth round by the Colts. Earned All-America honors in high school. Wife: Suzanne. Born: October 12, 1943, in Dothan, Alabama. Attended West Bend (Wisconsin) High School.

BOB LURTSEMA (75) Def. End 6'6" 250 Western Mich.

Back for another crack at a Colts' berth after a season on the taxi squad, during which time he also played with the Harrisburg Caps, a semi-pro team. He played one year at Western Michigan, following two seasons at Grand Rapids junior college and a year at Michigan Tech. Signed by Colts as a free agent. Wife: Aloise Ann. Children: Alisa, infant. Born: March 29, 1942, in Grand Rapids, Michigan. Attended Ottawa Hill (Mich.) High School.

PRESTON PEARSON (26) Def. Back 6'1" 190 Illinois

Though Preston didn't play football in college, the Colts drafted the Illinois basketball player on the 12th round, hoping to develop him into a defensive halfback. He lettered three times each in football, basketball and track as a prep athlete and, although Illinois coaches labeled him as the best grid prospect at the university, Preston concentrated on basketball as a collegian and was a starting guard as a senior. He attended Freeport (Ill.) High School.

RAY PERKINS (47) End 6'0" 183 Alabama

After being selected on the seventh round of the 1966 draft as a future by the Colts, rambling Ray capped a brilliant college career by catching 33 passes for 490 yards and seven touchdowns last fall. He polished up that record by snaring seven throws for 178 yards and a score in last January's Orange Bowl clash with Nebraska. A year earlier, against the same foe in the Sugar Bowl, he pulled down nine tosses for 159 yards and two six-pointers. Perkins became everybody's All-American last year after overcoming a serious head injury suffered in spring practice when he was a freshman. A protective plate was inserted in his skull. It never dimmed his desire for football. Wife: Carolyn. Children: Tony, 3 . . . Born: December 6, 1941, in Mt. Olive, Mississippi. Attended Petal (Miss.) High School.

RON PORTER (55) Linebacker 6'3" 232 Idaho

Converted into a linebacker after arriving at Idaho as a highly-touted fullback, Ron became an all-Big Sky Conference performer, team captain and an outstanding shot-putter. He was drafted on the fifth round by the Colts. A rugged, handsome lad, Porter was one of Idaho's most popular players and also was voted the team's "Inspirational Award," by his mates. In a game against the University of Washington, Ron registered 17 unassisted tackles and one pass interception. Born: July 27, 1945, in Columbus, Georgia. Attended Union High School in Yuba City, Calif.

HERMAN REID (65) Tackle 6'3" 262 St. Augustine's

The Colts selected Herman on the eleventh round for a shot at offensive tackle. At St. Augustine's, he earned all-league honors in the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association and was voted the Falcons' most valuable player in his junior year. His top game came when he was only a sophomore, when he made 15 tackles, blocked a punt and slapped down two passes that had "touchdown" written on them. Born: June 4, 1944, in Madison, Georgia. Attended George Washington Carver High School in Miami, Fla.

CORKY ROGERS (44) Flanker 6'3" 200 Georgia Tech

After a brief, impressive showing in last summer's training camp, Corky marched off to military service but now returns for a shot at a pass receiving job with the Colts. He was signed as a free agent after catching 14 passes for 166 yards and two touchdowns as a college senior. Born: December 19, 1943, in Bay City, Michigan. Attended Robert E. Lee High School in Jacksonville, Florida.

BUBBA SMITH (78) Defensive Tackle 6'7" 295 Mich. State

In trading quarterback Gary Cuozzo to New Orleans, the Colts received the opportunity to select first in the draft and they promptly plucked big Bubba, who made everybody's All-America team—as an end, tackle or middle guard. After terrorizing college quarterbacks with the force and speed of his charge, Bubba is eager to prove himself as a pass rusher in the pros. Opponents tried to steer clear of Smith's side of the line in his senior year and as a result Bubba's senior tackling statistics weren't as high as they were in his previous season. Not shown by the stats, of course, were the double-teaming of blockers aimed at him, the uncounted blockers he up-ended in front of enemy runners so teammates could make the tackle and his part in mob tackles at the line of scrimmage. Bubba landed a first team berth on the coaches' All-American as a junior and also made the all-Big Ten team that year. He helped the Spartans to an unbeaten record the past two seasons. Bubba's father, Willie Ray, was his high school football coach in Beaumont, Texas, and a younger brother, Tody, a 267-pound defensive tackle, played for the Michigan State frosh team last year. Another brother, Willie Ray, Jr., played at Iowa and Kansas and has been signed by the Colts as a free agent. Born: February 28, 1945, in Orange, Texas. Attended Pollard High School in Beaumont, Texas.

TERRY SOUTHALL (14) Quarterback 5'11½" 190 Baylor

Though he lacks size by pro standards, Terry is a strong, accurate thrower who twice led the Southwest Conference in passing and total offense. His collegiate coach, John Bridgers, called him the "best college passer and play selector in America." Terry the Pirate, or Mighty Mouse, as some college fans called him, came through with a fine stretch run after a mid-season slump as a senior, completing 95 passes in his final four games—against Texas, Texas Tech, Southern Methodist and Rice. He played in only three games his junior year due to a broken leg. Last year, he completed 173 of 337 passes for 1,986 yards and 16 touchdowns. Against S. M. U., Terry hit 29 of 50 passes for 355 yards and a pair of TD's. Drafted on the sixth round by the Colts. Wife: Beverly . . . Born: December 3, 1944, in Bakersfield, Calif. Attended Brownwood (Texas) High School.

CHARLES STUKES Defensive Back 6'3" 212 Maryland State

In Maryland State's come-from-behind 18-13 win over Southern Connecticut, Charlie intercepted two passes and returned one for a touchdown, ran from scrimmage for a score and passed for the third tally. A quarterback in college, Colts want to use his size, speed and quickness in the secondary. Nicknamed the Chesapeake Comet at Maryland State, where he also was an outstanding scorer in basketball and a .400 hitter in baseball, Charlie was plucked fourth by the Colts in the draft. Born: September 13, 1943, in Chesapeake, Va. Attended Crestwood High School.

RICK VOLK (21) Defensive Back 6'3" 195 Michigan

Converted from quarterback to the secondary during his sophomore year, he immediately became a defensive standout, helping the Wolverines to the Big Ten and Rose Bowl Championship. Rick intercepted eleven passes during his three-year college career and excelled on the special teams, returning punts for the last two seasons. He underwent a knee operation after his junior campaign, but returned for a strong performance last year. He was a consensus all-Big Ten selection and was picked by the Sporting News for All-American honors. A nephew of former Michigan All-American halfback Bob Chappius, Rick was drafted on the second round by the Colts, who especially like his size and tackling ability for a shot at a safety post. Played in the East-West game, also faced the Green Bay Packers for the College All-Stars. Wife: Charlene . . . Born: March 15, 1945, in Toledo, Ohio. Attended Wauseon (Ohio) High School.

BOB WADE (23) Defensive Back 6'2" 200 Morgan State

A three-sport star at Baltimore's Dunbar High, Bob went on to win three varsity football letters at Morgan. He played with the Bears in the Orange Blossom Classic in Florida. His top performance came in his senior year against Hampton Institute when he intercepted two passes, returning one for a 50-yard touchdown. According to scouts, he is fast, tough and aggressive. Born: December 9, 1944, in Baltimore, Md. . . . Wife: Carolyn.

JIM WARD (16) Quarterback 6'2" 195 Gettysburg

With the trade of Gary Cuozzo to New Orleans, Jim becomes the prime candidate to serve as quarterback understudy to John Unitas even though he has yet to face the charge of a pro defensive line. He has all the physical equipment, dedication and desire to do the job. The Colts drafted him on the 14th round for 1966 and he spent last season on the band squad and as sideline chart man during games. As a collegian, Jim was a three-year standout for Gettysburg, completing 97 of 198 passes for 1,420 yards and 11 touchdowns in 1965. Skilled at running with the ball, too, he scored 10 touchdowns and an extra point on 110 carries. Jim has put concentrated study into quarterbacking and now he's eager to gain the game experience that will prove he can make the grade as a big league signal-caller. Born: July 16, 1944, in Gaithersburg, Md. Attended Gaithersburg High School.

LEON WARD (51) Linebacker 6'2" 225 Oklahoma State

After lettering as a tackle in his sophomore year, Leon was shifted to linebacker, where he intercepted two passes and returned one 76 yards against Wichita as a junior. He missed the 1965 season due to knee surgery, but bounced back with a strong performance in 1966. Drafted on the third round by the Colts, he is being pegged as an outside backer-up. Picked up many linebacking tips from Oklahoma State alumnus Dale Meinert, of the St. Louis Cardinals, who tutored Leon in the spring of 1966. Born: January 4, 1945, in Enid, Oklahoma.
