READY FOR ACTION

Jaguars open preseason against defending Super Bowl Champion Kansas City Chiefs

By: J.P. Shadrick

Chris Kim, 2024

JACKSONVILLE -- This has been an offseason of frustration, reflection, rebuilding and solidifying.

The frustration comes from the way the 2024 season ended, the reflection from the Jaguars staff figuring out why it happened, the rebuilding with changes on the coaching staff and addition of personnel and the solidifying from locking down high draft pick players to long-term extensions.

With the business of the offseason now in the rearview, it's time to return to football and the drive toward the AFC South division title and a run at the Lombardi Trophy.

TRAINING CAMP OFFENSE

Quarterback Trevor Lawrence leads a team looking to "prove it" again, after missing the playoffs a season ago.

"It's two-fold because that means you probably didn't do as much as you wanted to do the year before, but I think it's always fun being on this side of it where you want to prove everybody wrong and you have a lot of people doubting you," Lawrence said.

"Maybe there's not as many expectations from the outside. At the end of the day, you've still got to go perform."

Limiting turnovers for quarterback Trevor Lawrence has been an offseason focus.

"See what you can get away with now," Head Coach Doug Pederson said. "See what type of throws you can make. Can I make that tight window throw? If it gets knocked down, if it gets picked, OK, great, that's fine, good for the defense, but then it just reinforces certain things from a quarterback's perspective."

Wide receiver Christian Kirk is back from an abdominal injury that ended his 2023 season in early December. Tight end Evan Engram put up huge numbers again last season, as did running back Travis Etienne Jr. Having all three together for a third season in the offense can only help continuity.

"When we get in these competitive situations against our defense, as competitive as it can be, you see Trevor kind of pull out different tools within the offense and those guys don't flinch at all, particularly Christian (Kirk) and Evan (Engram)," offensive coordinator Press Taylor said. "Then it helps to add an experienced guy like Gabe (Davis) that kind of understands what that looks like," Taylor said. "Then a smart guy like Brian (Thomas Jr.) being able to get in that situation now. We're just trying to kind of overexpose them to everything."

On the offensive line, after missing eight games last season due to a suspension and injury, Cam Robinson is back at left tackle. Left guard Ezra Cleveland is back and fully healthy after limited time on the field after joining the Jaguars midseason. Veteran right guard Brandon Scherff battled through injuries at the back end of 2023, while right tackle Anton Harrison played well and improved as the season went along.

The biggest offseason acquisition on the o-line: center Mitch Morse, entering his 10th NFL season. After nine seasons with the Chiefs and Bills, Morse likes what he has seen from the offensive line early in padded practices but understands that the line must learn to work with the depth of the unit as changes are likely as the season goes along.

"I don't know if it's fair to put a specific timeline on, 'This is when you have to have something,'" Morse said. "Rarely are you going to have those five work together from the start of camp through the end of February or whenever your season ends, right? So, for us, we have to understand that in games people might go down. So, it actually is nice right now to have the confidence working with other dudes."

TRAINING CAMP DEFENSE

It's a whole new feel on the defensive side of the ball as coordinator Ryan Nielsen takes over and brings in a 4-3 base defense that will play aggressively in the secondary.

With all the changes, there must be buy-in from the assistant coaches and the players, something they have seen on a daily basis this offseason.

"The players have been really receptive: new fundamentals, techniques, scheme-type things," defensive coordinator Ryan Nielsen said. "When they're bought in and they really like what you're doing and teaching them things like that, then what you're seeing on the field every day is, 'Okay, what's next, what else can I learn?'"

The 4-3 defensive scheme means more hand-in-the-ground snaps for defensive ends Josh Hines-Allen and Travon Walker.

"The defense that we're in now is, I feel like it fits me great," Walker said. "We're playing straightforward, and I feel like with me playing with my hand in the dirt, I feel a lot more explosive. I feel like I can just play ball now.”

The Jaguars need nose tackle DaVon Hamilton to return to form after a preseason back injury last year kept him on the sidelines most of season. The Jaguars added 10th year defensive end Arik Armstead from the San Francisco 49ers in free agency, but he has not seen the field yet in training camp while recovering from a meniscus tear late in 2023. Pederson said this week that he expects Armstead to be ready for Week 1 of the regular season.

Linebacker Foye Oluokun signed a contract extension this offseason and continues to call the plays and lead the way on defense. Linebacker Devin Lloyd is entering his third NFL season and is trying to take the next step, and that includes snaps as the middle linebacker.

“He’s (Lloyd) playing more free, more fast recently,” Nielsen said. “We talked about the scheme, we’re going to eventually slow down the installation part. One of our things was throw a ton at the players early, really stress them mentally and in the camp. Then get the installation in and the basis of what we do—80, 90 percent of the stuff—and then let them play for the rest of the camp.”

Oluokun moves to weakside linebacker, a role he had early in his career in Atlanta.

“I played the Will (weakside) my first few years in the league, switched to the Mike (middle) when (former Atlanta Falcons defensive coordinator) Dean Pees became my coordinator,” Oluokun said. “I’m definitely confident in either one they put me at. I want to do what’s best for the team at this point in my career.”

The secondary has some familiar faces: cornerback Tyson Campbell and safety Andre Cisco, who enters his contract season in year four, plus contributors Antonio Johnson, Andrew Wingard and Daniel Thomas at safety. The addition of veteran cornerback Ronald Darby and safety Darnell Savage will bring an injection of experience to the defensive backs.

TRAINING CAMP SPECIAL TEAMS

The Jaguars return punter Logan Cooke and Pro Bowl long snapper Ross Maticcik, and then added kicker Cam Little in the sixth round of the 2024 NFL Draft.

Another wrinkle in 2024: the new dynamic kickoff in the NFL. Farwell said that they’ve continued to learn new ideas around the kickoff and return strategies they could employ as the offseason continued.

“Yeah, I think it was a lot of unknown,” Farwell said. “So early on, there was a little bit of stress of making sure I was going down the right path.

“I think this is obviously a new play, but in football in general, there’s going to be some different wrinkles and as a coach, we’re always trying to anticipate what we’re going to see and prepare our guys and try to stay ahead of it.”

Do you have any game day rituals?

We go to early church at 9 AM, proudly displaying our Jaguar gear. Chuck wears his Jaguar shoes and socks most games. Tailgate in Lot P with subs or head inside for stadium food.

What's your favorite part of game day?

Enjoying the game with family, including our grandchildren. Tailgating or eating pre-game, and the camaraderie with all the 904 fans! Taking grandkids into the indoor Flex Field to run, take pictures, cheer and get ready for a Jags win! Celebrating walking out of the stadium when we win.

What's your go-to food item at EverBank Field?

Chicken tenders and of course ice cream during the third quarter.

What do you gain from attending a game instead of watching it on TV?

The sights and sounds of being in the stadium, having the opportunity to focus on different players, watching coaching in real time from both teams.

What would you tell someone who is considering purchasing season tickets?

Jacksonville is proud to have the Jaguars! This is a tremendous opportunity to support something that brings the entire community together, and for four hours, just focus on fun and enjoying the best in our city. The memories! Our family has seen 4 generations with our tickets: Chuck's mom early on when the Jags arrived, us with our children, and now with grandchildren - it's priceless!

Hope starts at one of the best children's hospitals in the country. A place with world-class specialists and cutting-edge treatments. Hope begins with children like Malachi, Mila, Carson and the thousands of children a year who depend on Wolfson Children's Hospital for lifesaving care. But as a not-for-profit organization, hope also begins with you. By supporting Wolfson Children's, you can make a difference in a child's life. Learn more at WolfsonChildrens.com/Give.
