FALCONS-JAGUARS HISTORY

The Falcons come to TIAA Bank Field in the regular season for only the fourth time in history | By: J.P. Shadrick

Kam Nedd/©2021

JACKSONVILLE – The Jacksonville Jaguars welcome the Atlanta Falcons to TIAA Bank Field in Week 12.

The teams are familiar preseason foes, as the Falcons are the team the Jaguars have played the most all-time in preseason games. The Jaguars lead in the preseason series all-time, 9-6.

The teams have faced each other only seven times in the regular season all-time. The Falcons lead the all-time regular season series over the Jaguars 4-3 and have won three straight in the regular season series (2011, 2015, 2019).

Here's a look back at the three Jaguars wins in the regular season series:

December 22, 1996 – Jaguars 19, Falcons 17

The first win over the Falcons is to this day one of the most meaningful and impactful wins in Jaguars history.

Through 12 weeks of the season, the Jaguars had dropped to a disappointing 4-7 record and seemed to be out of the playoff race. The Jags then reeled off four straight wins to improve to 8-7 but still needed to knock off the Falcons on the final regular season weekend to earn a playoff berth.

The Jaguars took an early 7-0 lead on a Mark Brunell 11-yard touchdown run midway through the first quarter. Falcons kicker Morten Andersen made a 46-yard field goal early in the second quarter to cut the Jags lead to 7-3.

The Jaguars offense continued to move the ball on the Falcons defense, but three times stalled and settled for Mike Hollis field goals of 23, 26 and 22 yards to open a 16-3 lead. The scoring drives were 12 plays, 13 plays and 13 plays respectively.

Late in the third quarter the Falcons found the end zone for the first time with quarterback Bobby Hebert hitting Eric Metcalf on a 4-yard touchdown pass, cutting the Jags' lead to 16-10.

Early in the fourth quarter, Hollis hit his fourth field goal of the day, this from 42 yards, to extend the Jaguars' lead to 19-10.

Falcons fullback Craig "Ironhead" Heyward found paydirt with 5:39 to play in the fourth quarter, cutting the Jaguars' lead to 19-17. On the ensuing possession, the Jaguars offense went three-and-out, and the Falcons got the ball with 3:57 to play.

Atlanta marched 10 plays, including two third-down conversions, to bleed the clock and get to the Jaguars' 13-yard line with eight seconds remaining.

One of the NFL's all-time best kickers, Andersen had made 59 consecutive field goals from 30 yards or closer.

Andersen set up for a 30-yard field goal try, but his plant foot slipped and the kick missed wide left, sending over 71,000 at Alltel Stadium into a frenzy and sending the Jaguars to the playoffs in only their second season of existence.

"It was a blessing," Brunell said. "I was standing there, and I thought, 'There's no way Morten Andersen misses this kick.' Then it went wide.

"It's the best feeling I've ever had on a football field."

November 7, 1999 – Jaguars 30, Falcons 7

The Jaguars entered the Week 9 game at the Georgia Dome in Atlanta with a 6-1 record and had reeled off four straight double-digit wins after the Week 3 20-19 loss to the Titans.

The Jags led 17-7 at halftime and pulled away in the second half for a 30-7 win over the Falcons.

Quarterback Mark Brunell was 14 of 27 passing for 203 yards and three touchdowns, with one each to Jimmy Smith, Keenan McCardell and Damon Jones. Running back Fred Taylor ran for 124 yards on 27 carries.

The Jaguars defense held the Falcons to 182 total yards, including 42 yards rushing, and had four takeaways – three of those in the first half. The Jaguars intercepted two different Falcons quarterbacks a total of three times and the Falcons also lost a fumble. The Jaguars defense recorded nine sacks on the day.

Linebacker Kevin Hardy led the defensive charge with a team-best seven tackles and two sacks. Donovan Darius, Lonnie Marts and Tony Brackens came down with interceptions.

With the win, the Jaguars moved to 7-1 and continued to build momentum toward another playoff run.

September 16, 2007 – Jaguars 13, Falcons 7

In Week 2 of the 2007 season the Jaguars welcomed the Falcons and their first-year Head Coach Bobby Petrino to Jacksonville Municipal Stadium.

Neither team put on much of a show.

The Jaguars took a 3-0 lead early in the second quarter on a 35-yard field goal from John Carney. The Falcons offense punted on its first three possessions, missed a field goal and then finally found paydirt when running back Warrick Dunn scored from four yards out in the final seconds of the second quarter, opening a 7-3 Falcons lead at halftime.

It took a fourth-quarter rally to get the Jaguars over the top.

David Garrard hit Reggie Williams with a 14-yard touchdown pass early in the fourth quarter to give the Jaguars the lead at 10-7. A Carney 27-yard field goal with 3:39 to play opened a 13-7 advantage.

The Jaguars defense smothered the Falcons, especially in the second half. The Falcons had only three second-half possessions and held the ball for only 9:41 of game time after halftime. Their drive results: missed field goal, punt, punt.

Falcons quarterback Joey Harrington was sacked seven times, including two from Jaguars linebacker Mike Peterson.

The win evened the Jaguars' record at 1-1 and was the start of four straight wins for the Jaguars, giving the Jaguars early momentum toward another playoff run.

HISTORICALLY SPEAKING: JAGUARS-FALCONS, MORTEN'S MISS

JACKSONVILLE – Three days before Christmas 1996 the Jaguars had only one present in mind:

The playoffs.

Since starting the franchise's second season a woeful 4-7, the Jags had rebounded. Thanks to a four-game winning streak, they needed only to beat the 3-12 Atlanta Falcons in Jacksonville in the regular-season finale to make the postseason.

It didn't seem an audacious ask. The Falcons were near the bottom of the NFL in every statistical category and were hours from leaving the season behind, and headed for a couple of months away from football. How dialed in could they be?

It appeared it might even be an easy day when Jaguars quarterback Mark Brunell connected with wide receiver Jimmy Smith for 14 yards, wide receiver Willie Jackson for 13 yards and wide receiver Keenan McCardell for 17 yards early. Running back Natrone Means mixed in 22 rushing yards and Brunell gave the Jaguars a 7-0 lead with an 11-yard scramble for a touchdown.

Half the first quarter was already gone.

Things began to unravel, however – and the Jaguars' high-octane offense was stuck in neutral. They went three and out on their next two drives and settled for two second-quarter field goals after long, sustained clock-eating drives came up short.

It was only 13-3 at the half and though the Falcons weren't playing great, it was nerve-racking for the home crowd who expected to see a fifth consecutive win in commanding fashion.

Senior correspondent Brian Sexton examines Jaguars-Falcons from a historical perspective ...

Another 13-play drive to open the third quarter stalled at the Falcons six-yard line and another Mike Hollis field goal extended the lead to 16-3. It didn't feel nearly enough.

That feeling was compounded on the next series. Falcons quarterback Bobby Herbert came out swinging and moved the Atlanta offense from its 28-yard line to the Jaguars 4. On third down from there, he found the speedy Eric Metcalf alone in the middle of the end zone, having gotten past safety Robert Massey.

Now, it was 16-10 – and the Falcons had a glimmer of hope. Perhaps they could head into the offseason with a win – and enjoy the beach and the golf course a bit more.

Brunell orchestrated a fourth consecutive drive with at least ten plays – and for the fourth consecutive drive settled for a field goal when his pass for McCardell was batted away.

Up 19-10, the Jaguars suddenly didn't have an answer for the Falcons. Running backs Jamal Anderson and Craig Heyward beat into the middle of the defense, pounding runs of six yards on the first three plays of the series. Hebert was masterful with crisp passes to wide receivers Bert Emmanuel and Terrance Mathis. Before you knew it, the Falcons were in the end zone thanks to a powerful surge by Hayward on first and goal from the two-yard line.

It was 19-17 in Jacksonville and the Falcons were soaring after back-to-back touchdown drives. You could almost see the momentum walk across the field from the Jaguars' sidelines to that of the Falcons.

Five minutes and 39 seconds stood between the Jaguars and their playoff dreams. Brunell took over at his own 25-yard line and sailed a pass to Smith too high. Brunell, wary of throwing an interception, ran for the first down. Falcons linebacker Clay Matthews, in his 19th NFL season, made sure he didn't get it.

Suddenly, the incredible run through December – the passion built in Jacksonville as the Jaguars pounded out win after win in pursuit of the playoffs – was on the line.

Anderson put the Falcons on his back: one yard, four yards, 14 yards. Heyward pounded out runs of six and seven yards and the Falcons were in position to win the game as they milked the clock and set up their future Hall of Fame kicker for an easy chip-shot field goal.

Morten Anderson had connected on 51 consecutive field goals from 30-yards or less. The playoffs were all bit gone.

There was a tangible sense of loss hanging in the air over Jacksonville Municipal Stadium where a capacity crowd expected to take an early Christmas present home with them.

Anderson trotted out, lined up and swung for the goal post. Defensive linemen Jeff Lageman and Clyde Simmons and Don Davey reached for the sky, hoping to tip the ball or push it off course. None did.

The ball sailed towards the uprights, the playoffs looked lost and then the ball turned ever so slightly and went just outside the left upright.

Morten missed! The Jaguars were going to the playoffs and an improbable season that would have more unexpected moments was still on the holiday table in Jacksonville.

It is and will probably remain one of the biggest moments in Jaguars history.

HR PLAY OF THE WEEK

Robyn's client is a small business with a junior leadership team that experienced unexpected growth recently. They've been struggling to hire, coach, and support employees. Robyn worked with the leadership team to help them agree on business goals and address employee relations issues. She also worked with each manager to address specific challenges and development areas. This enabled the leadership team to align their focus and goals, improve their people management skills, and communicate more openly. As a result, they've seen a decrease in turnover, an improvement in morale, and a positive shift in their business.

The Jacksonville Jaguars have nominated LB Myles Jack for the NFL's 2021 Salute to Service Award. The Salute to Service Award presented by USAA recognizes NFL players, coaches, personnel, and alumni who demonstrate an exemplary commitment to honoring and supporting the military and veteran communities. Finalists are scheduled to be announced in January, and the recipient will be recognized at NFL Honors, a prime time awards special to air nationally the week of Super Bowl LVI.

Originally drafted by the Jaguars in the second round of the 2016 draft, Jack has dedicated much of his NFL career contributing to the NFL's Salute to Service efforts.

In 2019, Jack embarked on a weeklong tour to South Korea with the USO as an extension of the NFL's Salute to Service initiative. A collaborative effort between the USO and NFL, the tour was aimed to salute and honor those who protect and defend our freedoms abroad. While in South Korea, Jack met and visited with several military units, spending time with service members and their families and in turn was given a unique, in-depth perspective of the daily life of the men and women who defend our freedom tirelessly around the clock.

Jack also chose to recognize the USO through the NFL's My Cause My Cleats campaign. Jack said this about his decision to represent the USO on his cleats: "I traveled to South Korea earlier this year as a part of a weeklong NFL USO tour and had the opportunity to spend time with our U.S. troops stationed overseas. Being that far away from your family for a long time is difficult, and they do it with such pride for our country. My cleats are dedicated to their sacrifices. The work the USO is doing to celebrate and honor these selfless individuals is worthy of our support."

More recently, Jack has attended Pros vs. GI Joe, an event where the Jaguars invite 25 active-duty military members to interact with players through video game challenges. Jack has also participated in the Stars and Strikes bowling event to spend time with and support 200 military members and their families for a free night of bowling at Naval Station Mayport in Jacksonville.

In 2021, The Myles Jack Foundation provided Jaguars swag for military families, including 250-plus children at the 1st Annual Jaguars Trunk or Treat event. The event provided children an evening of trick-or-treating in a fun and safe environment. The sixth-year linebacker also previously hosted a free movie night for 150-plus military families and children.

Jack takes great pride in honoring the military as his great uncle, John Marshall Valrie, proudly served our country during the Vietnam War while on the USS Seattle, enlisting in the Navy at the age of 18.
