YOUTH FOOTBALL

The New York Jets are committed to growing the game of football, removing barriers of access, and improving safety through a comprehensive outreach program designed to provide opportunities for underserved communities to play football.

The Jets have led the charge for girls flag football, annually supporting over 7,000 athletes across seven states, two continents, and three countries since 2011.

We believe that girls deserve the opportunity to play football and experience everything the greatest game in the world has to offer. Today, the Jets support flag football at every level of competition, ensuring girls and women of all ages have a clear, accessible, and affordable pathway to the sport.

THE TIMELINE

2011: Supported the creation of the Public Schools Athletic League (PSAL) in New York City with an annual $50,000 donation.

2012: Girls Flag became an official varsity sport in the PSAL.

2021: Launched the first-ever high school girls flag football league in New Jersey with eight schools.

BETTY WOLD JOHNSON FOUNDATION

FOUNDATION

The Betty Wold Johnson Foundation is dedicated to honoring the enduring legacy of Betty Wold Johnson — a visionary philanthropist and beloved matriarch of the Johnson family. Guided by her deep compassion, humility, and unwavering belief in the dignity of every individual, the Foundation supports initiatives that uplift communities and foster lasting impact across education, public service, arts, and sports.

Rooted in Betty Wold Johnson's lifelong commitment to civic responsibility, the Foundation champions access to essential resources such as food, shelter, education, and employment. It invests in innovative programs, scientific research, and cultural institutions that enrich the spirit and strengthen the fabric of society.

From her historic $11 million gift to the New Jersey Performing Arts Center — the largest individual donation in its history — to her steadfast support of the Liberty Science Center, McCarter Theatre, Princeton Hospital, and the Lupus Research Alliance, Ms. Johnson's philanthropy was as bold as it was personal. Her legacy is one of generosity, grace, and a belief that every life is worthy of dignity and opportunity.

The Foundation continues her work with thoughtful stewardship, cost-effective giving, and a commitment to reaching the greatest number of people with every dollar donated.

LUPUS RESEARCH ALLIANCE

The New York Jets organization is deeply committed to supporting the Lupus Research Alliance, a non-profit co-founded by Robert Wood Johnson IV – a member of the founding family of Johnson & Johnson, and chairman of the New York Jets. Putting people with lupus at the center of all it does, the Lupus Research Alliance drives the discovery and development of next-generation lupus diagnostics and curative treatments through innovative research and collaborations.

Lupus is a chronic, complex autoimmune disease that affects millions of people worldwide. In lupus, the immune system, meant to defend against infections, produces autoantibodies that mistake the body's own cells as foreign, causing other immune cells to attack organs such as the kidneys, brain, heart, lungs, and skin, as well as blood and joints.

The Lupus Research Alliance is the largest non-governmental, non-profit funder of lupus research worldwide. The organization aims to transform treatment by funding the most innovative lupus research, fostering scientific talent, and driving discovery toward better diagnostics, improved treatments and, ultimately, a cure for lupus. Because the Lupus Research Alliance's Board of Directors funds all administrative and fundraising costs, 100% of all donations go to support lupus research programs.

NFL INITIATIVES

SALUTE TO SERVICE: Through the NFL's Salute to Service initiative, the Jets honor and support military members, veterans, and first responders through game-day recognition, community programming, and charitable contributions. In partnership with TicketMaster, the team also supports Soldiers to Sidelines, hosting coaching seminars for 100+ virtual participants and 30+ in-person attendees annually.

The Jets have hosted 36 flag football games for the Armed Forces played across five continents, with games being hosted on based in nine countries (Afghanistan, Iraq, Turkey, Japan, Kuwait, Djibouti, Germany, the UK, and the US).

CRUCIAL CATCH: Through the NFL's Crucial Catch campaign, the Jets and Atlantic Health support pediatric cancer research and care, annually recognizing patients from the Atlantic Health Goryeb Children's Hospital.

With 250+ pediatricians and 100+ specialists, Atlantic Health Goryeb Children's Hospital serves as New Jersey's leading pediatric cancer center. Jets players visit patients at the Children's Hospital on off days throughout the season.

INSPIRE CHANGE: Through Inspire Change, the Jets annually support five partner organizations focused on expanding opportunity and reducing barriers. Supported by ownership, players, coaches, and staff, the Jets engage in mentorship and community programming to advance impact across key priority areas.

Partner Organizations: All Stars Project, Innocence Project, New York Urban League, STOMP Out Bullying, and Year Up.

TEAM AWARDS

WALTER PAYTON MAN OF THE YEAR

Since 1970, the NFL has awarded the Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year award to recognize a player's off-the-field community service, as well as his playing excellence. The Jets award winner will receive $40,000 to donate to the 501(c)(3) organization of his choice. The team's recipient is eligible to win the national Walter Payton Man of the Year Award and be recognized at a press conference during Super Bowl Week. The national winner will receive $500,000 to donate to the 501(c)(3) organization of his choice. The Jets have had two national winners, Marty Lyons in 1984 and Boomer Esiason in 1995.

MARTY LYONS COMMUNITY SERVICE AWARD

Named after 2013 Ring of Honor inductee, Marty Lyons, the Marty Lyons Award is presented each year to a New York Jets player that gives from the heart through charity and community involvement (as voted by Jets staff). Lyons played the entirety of his 12-year NFL career with the New York Jets as a member of the feared "Sack Exchange." In 1984, Lyons was named the National Football League's Man of the Year and in 1990 the New York Jets renamed their Outstanding Community Service Award because of Lyons' commitment to the community.

PLAYER SPOTLIGHT

UNITED WAY

Since 1973, United Way, the NFL and the New York Jets have had the most visible and longest-running charitable collaboration of its kind. Every year, thanks to community service projects and public service announcements, millions of Americans learn about United Way's vital work and the volunteer spirit of the NFL.

Their community outreach efforts include the Hometown Huddle, an annual hands-on volunteer fitness zone project with Jets Rookies and the Jets Women's Organization, the Gridiron Gala, New York City's premier charity event since 1994 which now raises more than $2 million annually.

HOMETOWN HERO

Each May, the United Way recognizes and honors a Hometown Hero at the Gala from the New York Jets who has made outstanding contributions to community service.

Ths year's honoree was defensive lineman Harrison Phillips. Through his nonprofit organization, Harrison's Playmakers, Phillips helps children with intellectual disabilities with a goal to foster self-esteem in their young lives and employ a pay-it-forward mentality with volunteerism in the community and other acts of kindness. Since being acquired via trade (2025), Phillips has embedded himself in the community, always seeking out volunteer opportunities across a range of initiatives.

"As an athlete in high school, I normally sat and had lunch with the "cool kids". Arriving to eat late one day, I sat with a group of others who had developmental differences and I had so much fun experiencing the joy and happiness they exhibited despite their special need. It hit me that because of their disability, they often times were left out of mainstream activities and those of us without special needs were missing out on the happiness I experienced that day. From then on, I was committed to find a way to create mainstream opportunities we could share together."

– Harrison Phillips

ATLANTIC HEALTH JETS TRAINING CENTER

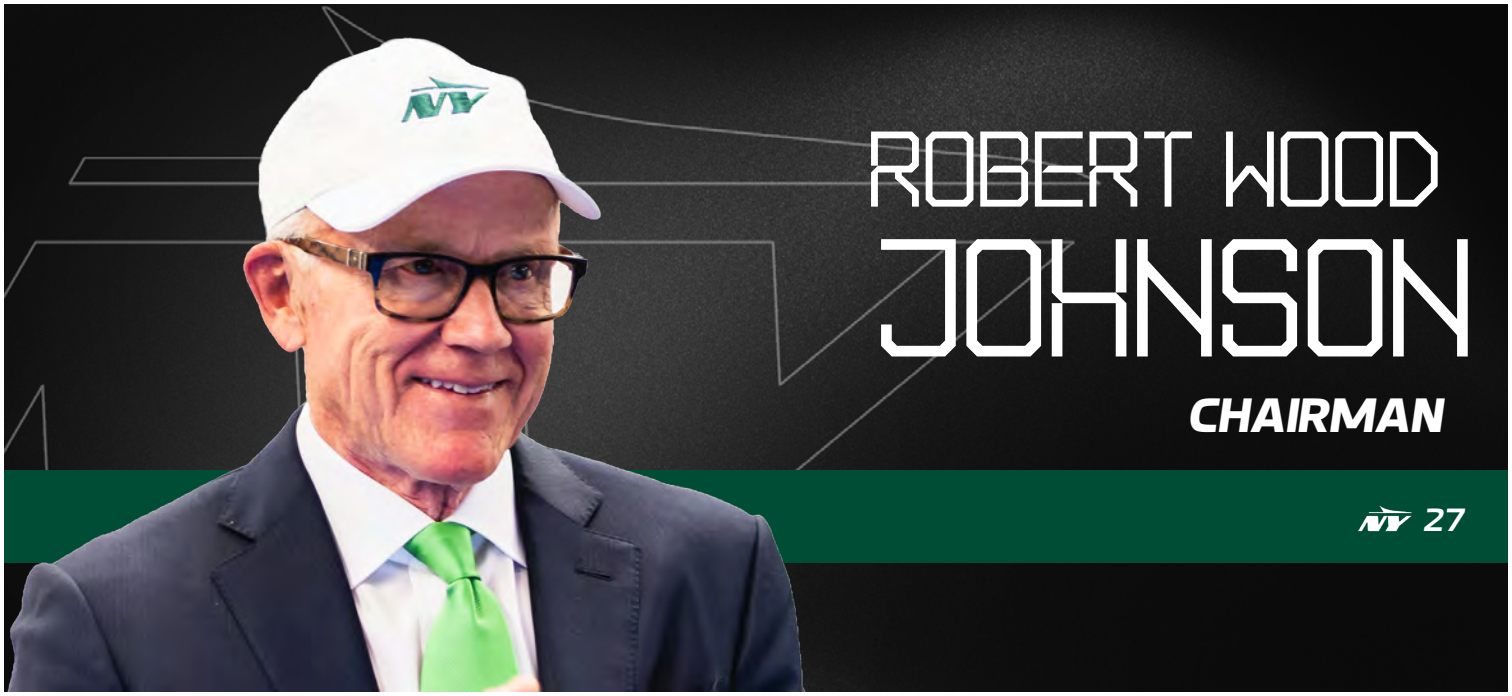
Located at ONE JETS DRIVE in Florham Park, NJ, the Atlantic Health Jets Training Center has been the headquarters of the Jets since its official ribbon cutting on September 2, 2008. Designed by Skidmore Owings + Merrill, the 224,000 square-foot complex sits on nearly 100 acres of open space and provides players, coaches, and staff with a state-of-the-art facility to learn, practice, and work within 30 minutes of both MetLife Stadium and Newark Liberty International Airport.

Prior to the opening of the Atlantic Health Jets Training Center, the team's operations were split between two locations. Located on the campus of Hofstra University, Weeb Ewbank Hall housed the players, coaches, and football support staff, while the business operations staff were located in New York City.

Equipped with open-concept workstations and state-of-the-art technology, the Atlantic Health Jets Training Center helped create an efficient and collaborative work environment and was a major factor in the team being recognized as one of Inc. Magazine's Top Small Company Workplaces and an NJBIZ Best Place to Work.

With a relationship that began in 2006, the New York Jets and Atlantic Health entered into a naming-rights partnership for the new facility in 2007. The long-standing partnership continues today.

EXECUTIVE STAFF



Robert Wood Johnson, a member of the founding family of Johnson & Johnson, has built a distinguished career as a philanthropist, businessman, civic leader, and diplomat.

Since acquiring the New York Jets in 2000, he has guided the organization with a steadfast commitment to excellence, innovation, and sustained growth. Under his leadership, the Jets have invested in world-class facilities, modern technology, and organizational resources that reflect a long-term vision for success. Major enhancements to the Atlantic Health Jets Training Center and the expansion of the player performance center underscore his dedication to creating an environment where players and staff can thrive.

Johnson also helped bring MetLife Stadium to life, establishing one of the premier sports venues in the world and a defining milestone in the Jets' history. His leadership has helped strengthen the organization's presence on the field, in the community, and across the broader sports landscape.

Beyond football, Johnson served as U.S. Ambassador to the United Kingdom, where he advanced the enduring partnership between the United States and the United Kingdom through diplomacy, collaboration, and leadership. He also led the Embassy's transition to its new headquarters in Nine Elms, demonstrating the same strategic vision that has defined his career.

Philanthropy has remained central to Johnson's life's work. Through the New York Jets Foundation, the Betty Wold Johnson Foundation, and the Lupus Research Alliance, he has championed initiatives that support girls flag football, environmental conservation, education, public health, veterans, and lupus research. His founding of the Lupus Research Alliance reflects a deep and lasting commitment to advancing medical progress and improving lives.

Johnson has also been a steadfast supporter of veterans and service members through the Betty Wold Johnson Foundation and the Jets' partnership with Tunnel to Towers, helping to provide significant support to those who have served our country. He has played a pioneering role in the growth of women's and girls' flag football, helping expand opportunities at the youth, high school, collegiate, and international levels. Through his directorship at the Betty Wold Johnson Foundation, he has also supported environmental conservation efforts that strengthen communities and protect natural resources for the future.

Johnson's civic and philanthropic leadership extends across many institutions, including past roles at the Wildlife Conservation Society, the National September 11 Memorial & Museum, the Peregrine Fund, and the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. He also serves as a partner and director of Crystal Palace and remains active on several NFL committees.

"I had the opportunity to go in there and speak with him about my vision on how I see the coaching staff, my vision on how I see the team, and Woody's answer is always, 'What can I do to help you? What can I do to help you be successful?' And I feel fortunate to be in a position to have an owner that operates that way. Man, he's there to support, he's always been a support, and the only thing I can speak for is myself and my relationship with him, and it's been outstanding. The only thing he's doing is supporting it and I feel fortunate to have an owner like that."

-Head Coach Aaron Glenn, 2.24.26

"I think one of the greatest owners in the business, Woody Johnson, he's shown what he invests in this team and what he invests in this city..."

- Demario Davis, 4.21.26

"... you talk about and you strategize about having a winning commitment, and he has that, and that's all I need to know...I trust him with everything I have."

- Head Coach Aaron Glenn, 1.27.25

"Every successful team has alignment with it's leaderships, and it starts at the top, with ownership. It includes the Head Coach, and the GM, and the President to build a world class organization, and we have that here with the Jets, and you guys will see it. Getting to know Mr. Johnson and Christopher (Johnson) throughout this process, it's clear that the Jets ownership is fiercely competitive, cares deeply about the players and the fans, and is committed to winning."

- General Manager Darren Mougey, 1.27.25

Christopher Johnson has overseen pivotal changes within the organization and has been a key part of the New York Jets leadership since 2000.

Most recently, Johnson played an instrumental role in the search process that led to the hires of Head Coach Aaron Glenn and General Manager Darren Mougey.

Johnson is well respected and has built strong relationships with people throughout the NFL. In 2020, during the global pandemic and social unrest, Johnson addressed the team and discussed how they all, Johnson, coaches, executives, and players, could use their powerful platform to influence positive change. He proudly stood with the players and worked with them on initiatives promoting more inclusivity. These efforts continue today.

Johnson currently serves as an active member of the NFL's Media Owned and Operated committee.

He is active in various educational endeavors and local philanthropy, supporting a range of initiatives, including charter school construction, youth sports and the encouragement of public discourse and exchange of ideas through debating societies.

Hymie Elhai (pronounced HI-me EL-hi) enters his eighth season as president of the New York Jets after his appointment in 2019. He began his career with the organization as an intern in 2000, steadily rising through the ranks and holding a variety of leadership roles with the team. The 2026 season marks his 27th year with the club.

Entrusted by Chairman Robert Wood Johnson, Elhai oversees all team business operations and works in lockstep with football leadership to ensure alignment across the organization. Under his stewardship, the Jets have experienced significant growth across key areas of the business, including sponsorship, sales, content, fan engagement, and international expansion.

That success has been recognized throughout the industry. The organization has earned numerous honors, including an NJBIZ Best Places to Work designation. Over the past seven years, the Jets have received 152 New York Emmy Award nominations, more than any professional sports team in the region. Most recently, the team earned three Cynopsis Sports awards: Best Brand Sponsorship for its partnership with Parmigiano Reggiano, Best Expansion of Team Marketing Outside North America, and Best Marketing Campaign for its "Gotham City Football" Rivalries uniform. The organization also received a Front Office Sports Most Impactful Award for expanding opportunities in girls flag football.

Just as importantly, Elhai has remained focused on strengthening the connection between the team and its fans, prioritizing new touchpoints and personalized interactions to create a more dynamic and accessible experience. This offseason, he led a series of initiatives aimed at enhancing the season ticket member experience through Flight Club, the team's year-round membership platform. Enhancements included expanded discount offerings at MetLife Stadium and hosting this year's Draft Party in the heart of New York City, creating a more immersive and accessible environment against the backdrop of the Brooklyn Bridge.

In carrying out Johnson's vision of providing a first-class environment for players and staff, Elhai has overseen significant investments in the Atlantic Health Jets Training Center, including a fully renovated locker room and expanded player amenities. This offseason, the organization began construction on a reimagined player performance center designed to enhance player development, performance, and recovery.

These efforts reflect a broader vision for the organization under Elhai's leadership. Through steady planning and strategic alignment, he has helped shape the foundation for sustained success as a winning and innovative franchise, on and off the field. His commitment to innovation has also driven widespread organizational adoption of artificial intelligence to enhance efficiency and support business growth.

Beyond team operations, Elhai also plays a key role in the oversight of MetLife Stadium, in partnership with the New York Giants. The venue serves as the home of the Jets and hosts premier events, including the 2026 FIFA World Cup Final. He played a key role in the building's naming rights deal, a 25-year agreement established in 2011. During his tenure, MetLife Stadium has been named the "Highest Grossing Stadium of the Year" nine times by Billboard, the most of any venue worldwide since its opening in 2010.

Elhai has also played a key role in shaping the Jets' brand and identity, overseeing major initiatives such as the organization's 2024 rebrand and the launch of the team's "Gotham City Football" Rivalries uniform. The rebrand introduced three versions of the "Legacy Collection" uniforms and updated primary and secondary logos, reflecting a commitment to innovation while honoring the franchise's history.

Prior to his appointment as president, Elhai served as the club's senior vice president, business affairs and general counsel, where he was responsible for all legal aspects of the team, including sponsorship, licensing, event, digital media, production and broadcasting agreements, and all employment related matters. He also helped football administration with all planning initiatives.

A Sports Business Journal Forty Under 40 honoree, Elhai received the Distinguished Alumni Award from Rutgers School of Law at their Alumni Recognition Gala in October 2021. He currently serves as a member of the NFL's CBA player benefits plans committee.

A New Jersey native, Elhai earned his bachelor's degree from Johns Hopkins University and his JD from Rutgers Law School.

PERSONNEL STAFF

Darren Mougey (pronounced: MOO-GEE) enters his second season as the general manager of the New York Jets after he was officially hired on January 25, 2025. Mougey has over a decade of NFL personnel experience after rising from scouting intern to assistant general manager with the Denver Broncos in just 10 seasons.

"Darren is a trusted NFL executive who has experience working with an impressive collection of football leaders," said Jets Chairman Robert Wood Johnson at the time of the announcement. "He is a proven talent evaluator who impressed us with his vision for this team. His partnership with Coach Glenn will revitalize this organization. I am proud of the thorough search we undertook and that it led us to the two best individuals to lead our football team going forward."

Since being hired, Mougey has diligently worked to construct the roster in his and Coach Glenn's shared vision. Over 90% of the roster has been drafted, signed, re-signed, extended, or acquired via trade by Mougey since last January (2025). Already, he's made 19 trades with 15 different teams, highlighted by the acquisition of three first round picks, a second round pick, and wide receiver Adonai Mitchell through the trades of cornerback Sauce Gardner and defensive lineman Quinnen Williams in his first season as general manager.

The Jets have acquired 19 draft picks since Mougey took office, giving up 20 in the process, with 13 of those 20 falling in the sixth or seventh round. In just his second draft on the job, Mougey became the third general manager in franchise history to draft three players in the first round of the same draft, a feat that has only happened twice before in 2000 and 2022. In his own two drafts, Mougey has already added four first and two second round prospects in Armand Membou, David Bailey, Kenyon Sadiq, Omar Cooper Jr., Mason Taylor, and D'Angelo Ponds, while maintaining three first round picks and a second round pick in the 2027 NFL Draft.

"Obviously, the draft capital we have, the cap space, and just being here now a year with AG, working with AG, the staff, getting to learn the staff, getting to learn the players, getting to learn this division, I feel more confident today than ever moving forward with what we have going," said Mougey.

Mougey's draft selections have paid early dividends for the team. In just his first season, Membou, Mougey's first-ever draft selection, was named to the PFWA All-Rookie team after he started every game and allowed one or less pressure in nine of his 17 starts, the most among all rookie tackles on the year and tied for the second-most by a tackle drafted in the last five years. Despite missing the final four games due to injury, tight end Mason Taylor finished his rookie campaign with the second-most receptions by a Jets tight end since the merger (44), while his 369 yards were the fourth-most.

Early in his tenure, Mougey has been proactive in re-signing and extending homegrown talent. Last summer, he signed wide receiver Garrett Wilson to a long-term extension and most recently followed with running back Breece Hall and offensive guard Joe Tippmann, underscoring his priority of rewarding players who exemplify what it means to be a Jet. In between, Mougey extended tight end Jeremy Ruckert and secured offensive lineman Josh Myers before he reached the open market. He began that approach by re-signing linebacker Jamien Sherwood prior to the start of his first legal tampering period on the job.

In addition to retaining his own, Mougey has explored every avenue to improve the roster. This offseason, he acquired five-time Pro Bowl safety Minkah Fitzpatrick from Miami, two-time Pro Bowl quarterback Geno Smith from Las Vegas, and defensive lineman T'Vondre Sweat from Tennessee. Mougey also added veteran leadership in free agency, highlighted by five-time All-Pro and three-time Walter Payton Man of the Year nominee linebacker Demario Davis, who is just 11 games shy of joining the top 100 list for the most games played in NFL history. Within the first week of the new league year, Mougey added a combined 70 years of NFL experience to the locker room, building on a young foundation that continues to take shape.

"When it comes to executing, man, (Mougey) does a really good job of executing the plan, the vision of what we're trying to build. I like every part of that, I do," said Head Coach Aaron Glenn.

Mougey's front office journey started in 2012 as a scouting intern, as he climbed the ranks to assistant general manager (2022-24). For the Broncos, he held six different roles within the personnel department for three different owners/chief executives, two different general managers, and six different head coaches. Notably, he worked as an area scout in 2015 when the Broncos won Super Bowl 50. In his 13 seasons with the club, Mougey was part of four AFC West titles (2012-15), two AFC Championships (2013, '15), and one Super Bowl (2015).

In his most recent role as assistant general manager (2022-24) for the Broncos, Mougey assisted General Manager George Paton in all personnel decisions, and before that as the director of player personnel (2021), he oversaw the day-to-day operations of the pro and college scouting departments. From 2021-24, the Broncos had nine All-Pro seasons by six different players, with five of them (Zach Allen, Nik Bonnito, Quinn Meinerz, Marvin Mims, and Patrick Surtain II) having been drafted or signed in that span.

As Denver snapped an eight-year postseason drought in 2024, Mougey helped acquire all but four of the 26 players that started at least five games for the Broncos in his four years as director of player personnel and assistant general manager.

Of those 26 players, 13 were drafted or signed as undrafted free agents, with seven of the 13 selected in rounds four through seven, or signing after not being selected. The Broncos had only two first-round picks between 2021-24, selecting All-Pro cornerback Surtain II (2021) and starting quarterback Bo Nix (2024).

Among his key pro defensive acquisitions, defensive lineman Allen registered a single-season best in sacks (8.5) in 2024 after signing in 2023, while safety Brandon Jones logged a single-season high in interceptions (three) in 2024 after signing in the same offseason.

A former player himself, Mougey was a quarterback and wide receiver at San Diego State (2004-08). A quarterback his first three seasons, he threw for 615 yards and two touchdowns, sharing a quarterback room in 2004 with Vikings Head Coach Kevin O'Connell. He spent his final two seasons with the Aztecs at wide receiver, where he caught 66 passes for 805 yards and six touchdowns.

Prior to joining the Jets, James got his start in professional football as a film analyst with the Cleveland Browns. Before launching his career in football, he spent two years as an investment banking analyst at Credit Suisse out of college, where he earned his Series 79 and SIE.

James earned his bachelor's degree from Colby College with a double major in economics and psychology. He played four seasons of football at Colby and was a member of several clubs, including the Cure the Cloud club for Alzheimer's awareness and Playground Pals, a mentorship program for young children in the local community.

In his first season with the Jets, Morris worked with a pro personnel department that acquired key contributors via trade, including defensive lineman Jowon Briggs and Harrison Phillips, cornerback Jarvis Brownlee Jr., wide receiver Adonai Mitchell, and later safety Minkah Fitzpatrick and quarterback Geno Smith in the offseason. Outside of player acquisitions, the group also helped the team add three first and one second round pick via trade.

This offseason (2026), Morris was also part of a personnel staff that delivered three first round picks for just the third time in franchise history, with the selections of EDGE David Bailey, tight end Kenyon Sadiq, and wide receiver Omar Cooper Jr.

While obtaining his degrees, Morris served as a player personnel/recruiting specialist with the Alabama football program under head coach Nick Saban, helping the program win two national championships (2015 and '17) and three SEC championships (2014, '15, and '18).

Thomas Witty, now in his sixth season with the New York Jets, enters his second season as a pro scout. Most recently, Witty served as a player personnel assistant for two seasons (2023-24), after starting with the organization as a player personnel intern (2021-22).

In his role, Witty assists the pro personnel department by providing player evaluations, monitoring daily transactions across the league, and contributing to the weekly advance reports for the coaching staff. In his first year on the job (2025), Witty was part of a pro personnel department that acquired key contributors via trade, including defensive lineman Jowon Briggs and Harrison Phillips, cornerback Jarvis Brownlee Jr., wide receiver Adonai Mitchell, and later safety Minkah Fitzpatrick and quarterback Geno Smith in the offseason. Outside of player acquisitions, the group also helped the team add three first and one second round pick via trade.

Notably, Witty played a key role in identifying Briggs, who, after being acquired via trade during training camp, went on to post a 12.6% pressure rate as an interior pass rusher, the fifth highest among all players with 250+ pass rush snaps from the interior, joining a top five that featured two current and former Pro Bowlers and All-Pro's.

"One of our young scouts, Thomas Witty, identified Briggsy, brought him to our attention. We watched a ton of DT's," said General Manager Darren Mougey. "And another one of our scouts identified him as a criteria player, Donovan Doyle, actually. So, he hit a few benchmarks for us, and lucky enough for us, Cleveland had some good depth, so we were able to acquire Briggs and I think he's been positive for us and he's got some developing and growth still to come, but he's been a positive spot, one of the guys we're glad to add."

This offseason (2026), Witty was part of a personnel staff that delivered three first round picks for just the third time in franchise history, with the selections of EDGE David Bailey, tight end Kenyon Sadiq, and wide receiver Omar Cooper Jr.

He got his start in the NFL as a training camp operations intern with the Indianapolis Colts (2019).

Witty and his wife, Elizabeth, currently reside in New Jersey.

In his role, Yustin assists the pro personnel department by providing player evaluations, monitoring daily transactions across the league, and contributing to the weekly advance reports for the coaching staff, in addition to scouting college prospects. Notably, Yustin played a role in the acquisition of punter Austin McNamara and wide receiver Isaiah Williams during the 2025 league year, with both contributing to a league-best 62.18 special teams expected points added (EPA), the highest mark by any team over the last 10 seasons.

This offseason (2026), Yustin was part of a personnel staff that delivered three first round picks for just the third time in franchise history, with the selections of EDGE David Bailey, tight end Kenyon Sadiq, and wide receiver Omar Cooper Jr.

Prior to joining the Jets, Yustin spent three seasons at the University of Florida, where he was promoted three different times. He got his start with the Gators as a recruiting assistant, before being elevated to a college personnel assistant, and finally to a college personnel coordinator. Yustin earned his master of science in sports administration, with a specialization in sports law, from Florida while working with the football program.

Before Florida, Yustin got his first full-time role in football with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadien Football League (CFL), where he was again promoted three times in a three-year span. He spent his first year as a scouting assistant, before assuming the role of a US regional scout in charge of the west coast. He finished his time with the Tiger-Cats as the team's manager of player personnel.

Yustin earned his bachelor's degree in political science from Western University, graduating with an honors specialization for his major. While pursuing his degree, he served on the football staff as a video assistant for three years, before spending his final year as a defensive student assistant, helping the program win their seventh Vanier Cup in school history, and their first in 23 years.

While at Western, Yustin spent three years interning with the Toronto Argonauts of the CFL, where he was notably a part of the team's 2017 Grey Cup Championship.

A Toronto native, Yustin now resides in Morristown, New Jersey.

Donovan Doyle, now in his second season with the New York Jets, enters his first season full-time as the club's Scouting Strategy Coordinator. Doyle initially joined the Jets as a Seasonal Intern, Personnel Operations, before his promotion following the 2026 NFL Draft. In his role, Doyle will continue to work with both the College and Pro Departments.

In his first draft with the team (2026), Doyle was part of a personnel staff that delivered three first round picks for just the third time in franchise history, with the selections of edge rusher David Bailey, tight end Kenyon Sadiq, and wide receiver Omar Cooper Jr. He also worked with the pro department in his first season in New York, as the group helped acquire key contributors via trade, including defensive lineman Harrison Phillips and Jowon Briggs, cornerback Jarvis Brownlee Jr., wide receiver Adonai Mitchell, and later safety Minkah Fitzpatrick and quarterback Geno Smith in the offseason. Outside of player acquisitions, Doyle was part of a pro department that helped the team add three first and one second round pick via trade.

Notably, Doyle played a large role in identifying Briggs, who, after being acquired via trade during training camp, went on to post a 12.6% pressure rate as an interior pass rusher, the fifth highest among all players with 250+ pass rush snaps from the interior, joining a top five that featured two current and former Pro Bowlers and All-Pro's.

"Another one of our scouts identified (Briggs) as a criteria player, Donovan Doyle, actually," said General Manager Darren Mougey. "So, he hit a few benchmarks for us, and lucky enough for us, Cleveland had some good depth, so we were able to acquire Briggs and I think he's been positive for us and he's got some developing and growth still to come, but he's been a positive spot, one of the guys we're glad to add."

A native of Iowa City, IA, Doyle was a two-time varsity captain in wrestling and one-time varsity captain in football at Iowa City West High School. Doyle went on to wrestle at Harvard University, where he earned his bachelor's degree in economics.

Doyle's father, Chris, was the Director of Strength and Conditioning for the University of Iowa football team for over two decades. His older brother, Declan, is currently the Offensive Coordinator for the Baltimore Ravens, while his younger brother, Dillon, is a Defensive Quality Control Coach for the Indianapolis Colts.

COACHING STAFF

AARON GLENN enters his second season as the head coach of the New York Jets, re-joining the team 31 years after he was selected in the first round of the 1994 NFL Draft. 2026 marks Glenn's 29th year in the NFL, highlighted by 15 as a player (eight with the Jets), two as a scout (both with the Jets), and now 12 as a coach.

"This place is special for me," Glenn said after being hired. "From the time I was drafted and practiced on Long Island, to the time I came back as a scout in New Jersey, this organization has always felt like home. There is nothing better than having my start here as a player, here as a scout, and now here as a head coach."

Working closely with General Manager Darren Mougey to lead the organization at the highest level, the two are aligned in their vision and approach, sharing the common goal of building a winning organization built on sustained success.

In his first season back with the team (2025), Glenn oversaw one of the youngest rosters in football, recording a league-high 10,123 snaps by first- and second-year players. On the final roster, 24 of 53 players (45.3%) started the 2025 season on the practice squad or with another team. A testament to Glenn's emphasis on player development, 15 of the final 53 players (28.3%) on the final roster were originally signed to, or spent time on, the practice squad prior to being signed to the active roster.

Despite the youth and change through Glenn's first year, the Jets decreased their penalties per game average to 6.47 after leading the league in each of the prior two seasons (2023-24). The team's decrease (-1.59) in penalties per game from 2024 represented the third-largest in the league, in addition to decreasing their 15-yard penalty count by the fifth-largest margin.

The Jets were a top-10 third-down defense for the first time since 2018, forcing three-and-out punts at a top-10 rate as well. On offense, the Jets notched a top-10 rushing unit for the first time since 2015, and averaged 4.6 yards per carry, the third-highest mark by a Jets offense in franchise history. The offensive line saw the same five starters every week, the first unit across the league since 2023 to start every game together, and the first Jets unit to accomplish the feat since 2012.

The special teams unit posted the highest Expected Points Added (EPA) in the league (62.18)—the highest EPA by a Jets unit this century and the third-highest by any team in the last 10 seasons. They produced top 10 ranks in several categories, including leading the league in kickoff return average (29.9), field goal percentage (96.6%), and extra point percentage (100.0%). They became the first Jets team since 2007 to score four touchdowns on special teams, tied for the league lead.

Resiliency has been a calling card of Glenn's career, never skipping a step – as a player, scout, or coach. He started in junior college before an All-American career at Texas A&M. As a first-round pick with the Jets in 1994, he was part of a team that won 10 total games over his first three seasons. His next five, the Jets never had a losing record, making the postseason twice, including the AFC Championship Game in 1998.

When he wanted to get into coaching, he called his former head coach, Bill Parcells, who said, "You're not going to coach yet. First, I want you to scout. I think you have a chance to be a head coach with your personality. But in order to be a head coach, you have to understand the personnel part of football."

As prescribed, he started his scouting career, joining the Jets as a pro scout (2012) for a year before going on the road as an area scout (2013). The 2013 Jets draft produced five eventual NFL starters, including two future Pro Bowl selections in Geno Smith and Sheldon Richardson, the 2013 Defensive Rookie of the Year.

As a coach, he began as an assistant defensive backs coach with Cleveland (2014-15), before becoming a defensive backs coach in New Orleans (2016-20), and finally a defensive coordinator for Detroit (2021-24). He is one of only two active NFL head coaches to have been drafted by and played for the team they coach, joining Houston Head Coach DeMeco Ryans.

As defensive coordinator with the Lions (2021-24), Glenn's unit improved every season. After a 3-13-1 season in his first year (2021), Detroit won 36 games between 2022-24, the fourth most in the league, including a league-best 27 in his final two seasons (2023-24).

In his final year (2024), Glenn's defense finished in the top 10 in scoring defense and takeaways. A strong complement to the offense, Detroit led the league with a +13.1 point per game differential–the fifth-highest margin by any team in the last 25 NFL seasons. The Lions finished fifth in the NFL in rushing defense (1,672) and fourth in percentage of rushing first downs allowed (23.3%), while allowing the lowest opposing passer rating (82.0), and second lowest completion percentage allowed (61.1%). Detroit finished with the lowest third-down conversion rate allowed (32.4%), despite placing a number of key defensive players on injured reserve throughout the season, including five Week One starters.

Through his commitment to their development and success, Glenn elevated his players to reach individual accolades and milestones during his time in Detroit. Safety Kerby Joseph was named first-team All-Pro (2024) after leading the NFL in interceptions (nine), safety Brian Branch earned his first Pro Bowl honor (2024) after he recorded the most forced incompletions among safeties (12) and finished tied for fifth in passes defensed (16), and defensive lineman Aidan Hutchinson earned Pro Bowl honors (2023) after recording 11.5 sacks and 83 pressures, the fifth-most in the NFL.

As the defensive backs coach for the Saints (2016-20), Glenn developed key defensive playmakers in the secondary: Marcus Williams, Vonn Bell, C.J. Gardner-Johnson, and Marshon Lattimore, who was named Defensive Rookie of the Year (2017) and was selected to three Pro Bowls in his first four seasons. In his final season in New Orleans (2020), the defense finished fourth in the NFL in yards allowed per game (310.9) and fifth in points allowed per game (21.1). Additionally, New Orleans finished tied for first in the league in interceptions (18) and tied for the third-most takeaways (26).

In his first season coaching in the league (2014), Glenn, the assistant secondary coach with Cleveland, worked with a secondary unit that earned three Pro Bowl selections. It marked the first time the franchise sent three defensive backs to the Pro Bowl in a single season. That year, the Browns led the NFL in opponent passer rating allowed (74.1), completion percentage allowed (57.1%), and passes defensed (99).

During his brief retirement from football, Glenn owned eight restaurants in the Houston area, before returning to the game he loves in 2012 as the general manager of the Houston Stallions of the Lone Star Football League, an indoor league in Texas.

A three-time Pro Bowl selection himself, Glenn entered the league as the 12th overall selection in the 1994 NFL Draft by the Jets. In his 15-year career (the first eight with the Jets), he played 205 games (176 starts) for five different teams and posted 41 interceptions, six of which he returned for touchdowns. Those 41 interceptions are still a top 20 total since 1994. He is one of just four cornerbacks in Jets history to play 100+ games for the team, joining James Hasty, Ray Mickens, and Darrelle Revis. His 24 interceptions with the Jets are tied for the fourth-most in franchise history.

A Humble, TX native, Glenn was a four-year letterwinner in football, basketball, and track at Nimitz (TX) HS, before going on to Navarro College in Corsicana, TX and then Texas A&M. A 1993 graduate with a degree in business management, Glenn was a two-time All-American and the Aggies' all-time leader in passes defensed in a season (20), season punt-return average (19.9), and punt return yards in a game (131). He was selected to the Texas A&M Athletic Hall of Fame in 2000.

Glenn and his wife, Devaney, have a son, Aaron II, and two daughters, Tristen and Rheagen. One of 11 children, he and his brother, Jason–a six-year NFL linebacker–spent a season as teammates on the Jets (2001).

CHRIS BANJO

SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATOR

4 NY 2 Houston, TX SMU

Chris Banjo enters his second season with the New York Jets as the special teams coordinator. Following a 10-year NFL playing career that ended after the 2022 season, Banjo is now in his fourth season as a coach after spending two seasons as a special teams assistant with Denver (2023–24).

Just three seasons removed from his playing career, and in his first season as a coordinator (2025), Banjo led one of the top special teams units in football, posting the highest special teams Expected Points Added (EPA) in the league (62.18)—the highest EPA by a Jets unit this century and the third-highest by any team in the last 10 seasons.

"Just ultimate buy in with this group," Banjo said last season. "Ultimate buy in and belief. And I said this before, but the combination of buy in and belief, I think it's a hell of a combination."

That combination allowed the Jets to improve in nearly every special teams metric, finishing the season with top 10 rankings in 10 major special teams categories, including leading the league in kickoff return average (29.9), field goal percentage (96.6%), extra point percentage (100.0%), and special teams touchdowns (four).

2025 Curtis Martin Team MVP wide receiver/return specialist Isaiah Williams and running back/return specialist Kene Nwangwu each had career seasons in the return game for Banjo last season. Williams became just the third player in franchise history to record multiple punt return touchdowns in a season, while Nwangwu ranked second in the NFL with a 33.6-yard kickoff return average, including a 99-yard kickoff return touchdown—his league-leading fifth since entering the NFL in 2021.

Those three kick return touchdowns, combined with a blocked field goal return score from EDGE Will McDonald IV, gave the Jets four special teams touchdowns, the most by the franchise since 2007. Since 2016, only six other special teams coordinators (nine occurrences) have led units with at least three special teams touchdowns, with Banjo the only one to accomplish the feat in his first season at the helm.

Under Banjo in 2025, first-year punter Austin McNamara posted a 43.2 net average, the highest ever by a Jets punter in a season, while kicker Nick Folk, an 18-year veteran, missed just one field goal, becoming the first kicker in the Super Bowl era to lead the league in field goal percentage for three consecutive seasons. Overall, the team's 98.04% combined rate on field goal and extra point attempts was the highest in franchise history.

Prior to joining the Jets, Banjo served as a special teams assistant with Denver (2023-24), where he worked with long-time Jets Special Teams Coordinator Mike Westhoff. In 2024, wide receiver/return specialist Marvin Mims Jr. led the league in yards per punt return (15.7), and earned first-team All-Pro and Pro Bowl honors. Additionally, kicker Wil Lutz recorded the fourth-best field goal percentage (91.2%) in the NFL among all kickers with at least 30 attempts. As a unit, the Broncos finished with top 10 ranks in yards per punt return, field goal percentage, and opponent yards per punt return.

In his first season with Denver (2023), Banjo's special teams unit ranked at the top in multiple categories, with top 10 finishes in punt return average, punt return average against, kickoff return average, and kickoff return average against.

A safety and special teams standout for 10 seasons in the NFL (2013-22) with Green Bay, New Orleans, and Arizona, he appeared in 131 regular season games after entering the league as an undrafted free agent. He finished his career with 85 defensive tackles, three interceptions, eight passes defensed, one forced fumble, and two fumble recoveries. His 58 career special teams tackles ranked in the top 20 among all players over that 10-season span.

With New Orleans (2017-18), Banjo overlapped with Head Coach Aaron Glenn, then his position coach, as part of a team that won consecutive division titles and advanced to the NFC Championship game (2018).

A graduate of SMU, Banjo played in 51 games (47 starts) for the Mustangs (2008-11), and recorded 321 tackles, four interceptions, 17 passes defensed, three forced fumbles, and three fumble recoveries. He earned second-team All-Conference USA honors as a junior (2010) and honorable mention All-Conference USA following his senior season (2011).

A native of Houston, TX, Banjo and his wife, Jasmine, have two sons, Christopher Jr., and Cairo, and one daughter, Celine.

Named defensive coordinator in January 2026, Brian Duker joins the New York Jets with 10 seasons of coaching experience in the NFL, including the last two seasons in Miami as the pass game coordinator/secondary coach (2024-25). Duker reunites with Head Coach Aaron Glenn, who he coached with in both Cleveland (2015) and Detroit (2021-23).

"During our time in Detroit, Brian consistently demonstrated a high football acumen and an aggressive approach to defense," Glenn said. "I'm confident that his energy and knowledge of the game will help elevate our players and push this team forward."

Part of top 10 defenses four different times in Baltimore (2018-20) and Miami (2024), Duker has helped 10 different players reach the Pro Bowl since 2018 while also working with six players that were selected to the PFWA All-Rookie team. Throughout his decade-long coaching career in the league, Duker has worked with eight active NFL head coaches, including time on staff with at least two different active head coaches in every season coached between 2015-23.

In Miami (2024), Duker helped the unit finish fourth in total defense, holding opponents to an average of 314.4 yards per game–their lowest mark in 15 seasons–in addition to the sixth-lowest third down conversion rate allowed (35.9%) that season. Under Duker, the secondary limited opposing passers to a 63.8% completion percentage and an 88.7 passer rating, both top 10 marks in the league.

Before arriving in Miami, Duker spent three seasons in Detroit serving in various roles under Glenn, then the defensive coordinator. He got his start with the Lions as a defensive assistant (2021), before being promoted to safeties coach (2022), and then defensive backs coach (2023), contributing to a turnaround that delivered the Lions a division title en route to a conference championship appearance (2023), both their first in 30 years.

As the defensive backs coach in Detroit (2023), the Lions allowed the 10th lowest completion percentage, finishing the season with 76 passes defensed, the 10th most. Duker led a defensive backs room that saw three different players each register at least three interceptions.

Duker also played a major role in the development of the Lions young talent, as safeties Kerby Joseph and Brian Branch registered four and three interceptions respectively as rookies (2022 and 2023), despite neither player being selected in the first round. In their final season with Duker (2023), the duo became one of only two safety tandems in the league with 70+ tackles and three+ interceptions each.

Prior to Detroit, Duker spent three seasons in Baltimore, where he served as a defensive staff assistant/coaching analyst (2018) and then a defensive coaching analyst (2019-20). Baltimore ranked top 10 in total defense in all three seasons.

Duker got his start in the NFL as a defensive intern with Cleveland (2015) and Glenn, then the Browns assistant secondary coach, before a year as a defensive analyst with San Francisco (2016).

A student assistant at his alma mater, Towson (2007-10), he began his coaching career at Bryant as a graduate assistant (2011), where he earned his MBA, followed by two seasons at Missouri as a graduate assistant (2013) and as a defensive quality control coach (2014). He helped the Tigers win the SEC East and advance to the SEC Championship in back-to-back seasons, totaling 23 wins, the most in a two-year stretch in program history, in addition to wins in the Cotton Bowl (2014) and Citrus Bowl (2015).

A Maryland native, Duker earned his bachelor's degree from Towson. He and his wife, CJ, have two sons.

After being named as the offensive coordinator in February 2026, Frank Reich enters his first year coaching with the New York Jets, reuniting with the franchise 30 years after playing for the team (1996). Reich brings more than three decades of NFL experience, including six seasons as a head coach, with a coaching career that spans 20 years following a 14-year career as a quarterback in the NFL.

"Frank has a rare combination of experience, creativity, and calm under pressure," Head Coach Aaron Glenn said. "He's lived this game from every angle — as a quarterback in this league and as a coach who's led offenses at the highest level. He is unique in his ability to see the game for what it is right now and adapt when appropriate. Frank understands offense and how to utilize the strengths of players. I am looking forward to how he will help this team have success."

A Super Bowl champion (LII) and veteran of six Super Bowls (four as a player, two as a coach), Reich's championship pedigree began as a player with Buffalo, continuing most recently as the offensive coordinator in Philadelphia (2017). Reich returns to the NFL after a season at Stanford University (2025) as the interim head coach.

With Stanford (2025), Reich led the Cardinal to their most wins since 2020, producing the program's first year-over-year improvement in more than 10 seasons. Under his leadership, multiple Stanford players earned All-ACC honors for the first time in their careers, including a pair of second-team selections.

Reich served as the head coach of the Indianapolis Colts for five seasons (2018-22), followed by one season with the Carolina Panthers (2023). During his tenure in Indianapolis, Reich guided the Colts to a 40-33-1 record, finishing three of his five seasons with a winning record and advancing to the postseason twice. In that span, the Colts ranked in the top half of the league in scoring and total offense three times, despite starting nine quarterbacks over that span, including a different Week One starter each season.

In his first four seasons with the Colts (2018-21), the offense averaged 24.6 points per game, the ninth most in the league, and were one of only four teams to average 25.0+ points per game in at least three seasons. Notably, Reich produced a 1,000-yard running back three times.

In 2018, his first season as a head coach, Reich led the Colts to the postseason for the first time since 2014, ending the season on a nine-game winning streak after starting the year 1-5, just the third team in NFL history to make the postseason after a 1-5 start. He helped quarterback Andrew Luck earn NFL Comeback Player of the Year honors and guard Quenton Nelson earn AP All-Pro honors as a rookie.

Over those two years, the offense ranked in the top 10 in both points per game (25.8) and yards per game (351.6).

In their Super Bowl season (2017), the Eagles offense ranked third in the league in scoring (28.6) and seventh in total offense (365.8). Despite losing MVP-candidate quarterback Carson Wentz to a season ending injury in Week 14, Reich's offense averaged 442.7 yards per game in the postseason, producing the highest offensive scoring output in a Super Bowl this century (41).

Reich was elevated to offensive coordinator in San Diego (2014-15), after spending one season as the Chargers quarterbacks coach (2013). In 2015, Reich led a top 10 offense, with quarterback Philip Rivers posting one of the best statistical seasons of his career, throwing for a career-high 4,792 yards and leading the league with 437 completions.

Before arriving in San Diego, Reich served as the wide receivers coach for the Arizona Cardinals (2012), where he helped first-ballot Hall of Fame wide receiver Larry Fitzgerald earn his seventh career Pro Bowl selection, and aided in the development of rookie WR Michael Floyd, who finished the season ranked inside the top 10 among rookie receivers in multiple statistical categories.

Reich's coaching career began in 2006 with Indianapolis as a coaching intern before being elevated to an offensive coaching staff assistant (2008). He later served as quarterbacks coach (2009-10) and wide receivers coach (2011). The Colts won four division titles and clinched the playoffs in every season during Reich's initial stint with the team, appearing in the Super Bowl twice (2006 and 2009), with a win in Super Bowl XLI.

A quarterback in the NFL for 14 seasons (1985–98), Reich spent the first 10 seasons of his career in Buffalo (1985-94), where he reached four consecutive Super Bowls (1991-94). Notably, as a backup in 1992, Reich engineered the largest postseason comeback in NFL history, a 32-point rally against the Houston Oilers in the Wild Card Round where he threw four second-half touchdowns.

Having also spent time with Carolina, the Jets, and Detroit over his 14-year playing career, Reich appeared in 118 games (20 starts), and recorded 6,075 passing yards and 40 touchdowns. In his lone season with the Jets (1996), Reich started seven games, a single-season best, and was teammates with Glenn.

A native of Freeport, NY, Reich and his wife, Linda, have three daughters: Lia, Aviry, and Hannah.

Bauer first joined the Michigan Panthers staff as their defensive line coach in the final season of the USFL (2023). In the first season following the USFL and XFL merger to form the UFL (2024), Bauer was promoted to defensive coordinator/defensive line coach, helping the Panthers to consecutive postseason appearances, advancing to the 2025 UFL Championship Game.

Under Bauer's leadership, the Panthers became the only team in the league to allow 81.0 or fewer rushing yards per game in consecutive seasons, including a league-low 80.9 in his final season with the team (2025). Additionally, the Panthers defense allowed 177 points in both seasons, ranking in the top half of the league each year. In just his first season in the role (2024), the Panthers registered 30.0 sacks, the second-most in the league.

Bauer returned to his alma mater Towson, where he spent five seasons (2018-22) serving in various roles on defense. He joined the program as the linebackers coach/recruiting coordinator (2018-20), before elevating his responsibilities to include defensive run game coordinator/defensive line coach/recruiting coordinator (2021-22). BEN BOLLING

LINEBACKERS

6 | 1 | Knightdale, NC | Campbell

Joining the staff in February 2026 as the linebackers coach, Ben Bolling brings 10 seasons of coaching experience to the New York Jets, the last five in the NFL with Houston, where he was a part of a pair of top six ranked total defenses each of the last two seasons, including the league's number one ranked defense in 2025.

As the assistant linebackers coach in Houston (2025), Bolling was part of a staff that generated the NFL's top-ranked total defense, limiting opposing offenses to 277.2 yards per game–the third-lowest average allowed by any team over the last five seasons (since 2021). The defense also posted top three ranks in points allowed per game, interceptions, opponent passer rating, and opponent completion percentage. Inside linebacker Azeez Al-Shaair earned his first Pro Bowl nod after leading the team with 103 tackles, a career-high nine passes defensed, two interceptions, one forced fumble, and one fumble recovery.

Bolling began his NFL career with Houston as a defensive assistant (2021-24). In 2024, the Texans ranked sixth in total defense (315.0), limiting opponent passers to a league-low 58.8% completion percentage and finishing the year with 49.0 sacks, the then most in franchise history. He helped linebacker Henry To'oTo'o record single-season bests in every category, leading the team with 104 tackles.

In 2023, Bolling helped contribute to a significant year-over-year transformation for the Texans defense, allowing the sixth-fewest rushing yards per game (96.6) after ranking last in the same category the season prior, in addition to posting the second-most tackles for loss in the league (105).

In his first two seasons in Houston (2021-22), the Texans generated 47 takeaways, tied for the seventh most in the league in that span. He was part of a 2022 defense that saw rookie safety Jalen Pitre register a team-high 147 tackles, the sixth most by a rookie since 1991.

Before joining the staff in Houston, Bolling spent five seasons serving in various roles at his alma mater, Campbell (2016-20), culminating as the wide receivers coach/offensive recruiting coordinator (2019-20). In just his first year in the role (2019), Bolling guided two underclassmen receivers to all-conference honors, with the tandem combining for over 1,000 yards and 13 touchdowns.

Bolling spent his first three seasons at Campbell on the defensive side, spending his first season as a defensive quality control coach (2016) before being elevated to safeties coach (2017-18). In Bolling's final season coaching safeties (2018), Campbell led the FCS in passing yards allowed (122.5), in addition to posting top 25 ranks in defensive pass efficiency, red zone defense, scoring defense, and total defense. Campbell also established a program-record 19 takeaways in just his first season coaching safeties (2017).

A wide receiver at Campbell (2012-15), Bolling finished his college career as the program's all-time leader in receptions (100) and receiving yards (1,329), also tying the record for receiving touchdowns (eight). He graduated in 2015 with a degree in exercise and sports science, and is also a Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist (CSCS) from the National Strength and Conditioning Association.

CAMERON DAVIS

ASSISTANT DEFENSIVE LINE/OLBs

5 NY 2 | Oakland, CA | Cal State East Bay

Cameron Davis enters his second season with the New York Jets as the assistant defensive line/outside linebackers coach, adding outside linebacker responsibilities in 2026. Davis joined Aaron Glenn's staff in February 2025 after serving in the same role for three seasons with the Detroit Lions (2022–24) and spending nearly a decade at the collegiate level (2013–21).

Last season (2025), Davis was part of a defensive staff that produced the Jets' first top 10 third down defense since 2018. Under his guidance, EDGE Will McDonald IV recorded a team high 8.0 sacks, becoming just the fifth Jet to post at least 8.0 in consecutive seasons since 1982, highlighted by his 4.0 sacks and nine pressures in Week 10, only the sixth player in the past decade to do so.

Davis got his start in the NFL with Glenn and Detroit (2022-24), as the Lions won 36 games, the fourth most in the NFL, and two division titles, marking the first time in franchise history the team won back-to-back division titles. In that span, the defensive line registered the second-most quarterback hits (319), third-most QB pressures (678), and allowed the fifth-lowest rushing yards per game (88.8) in the NFL.

In his first season in Detroit (2022), Davis helped defensive lineman Aidan Hutchinson earn Defensive Rookie of the Year honors, after leading all rookies with 9.5 sacks and becoming the first rookie since 1982 to register 9.0+ sacks and three interceptions.

Before his tenure with the Lions, Davis served as the defensive line coach at Lamar University (2020-21), and as a graduate assistant at the University of Kentucky (2019), where he helped two players rank atop the SEC in sacks and tackles for loss. Additionally, Davis held graduate assistant positions at Rice University (2017-18) and Texas A&M (2016).

Davis began his coaching career at Diablo Valley College (2013-14) as an assistant defensive line coach. He also gained experience as a defensive intern for the Arizona Cardinals (2014) and as a public relations intern with the Oakland Raiders (2012-13).

An Oakland, CA native, Davis holds a bachelor's degree in sociology from Cal State East Bay (2014) and a master's degree in leadership and management from the University of La Verne (2016).

KARL DUNBAR

DEFENSIVE LINE

20 NY 4 | Opelousas, LA | LSU

Entering his 20th season coaching in the NFL, Karl Dunbar returns to the Jets as the defensive line coach, having previously held the same role with the club for three seasons (2012–14). A former defensive lineman in the NFL, Dunbar has served as a defensive line coach for five different NFL franchises, first getting his start in the league with the Chicago Bears (2004).

In his first stint with the Jets (2012-14), Dunbar oversaw the "Sons of Anarchy," the nickname coined to the team's young core of defensive lineman Damon "Snacks" Harrison, Sheldon Richardson, and Muhammad Wilkerson. Harrison signed with the team as an undrafted free agent (2012), and quickly developed into a full-time starter under Dunbar, starting every game for the team for five consecutive seasons (2013-17). He also guided Richardson to Defensive Rookie of the Year honors (2013) and Wilkerson to a second-team All-Pro season (2013).

As the defensive line coach in Pittsburgh the past eight seasons (2018-25), Dunbar helped the Steelers defense register a league-leading 392.0 sacks, producing multiple All-Pro and Pro Bowl performers. Under his tutelage, defensive tackle Cam Heyward earned three first-team All-pro selections and was named to six Pro Bowls. Linebacker T.J. Watt led the league in sacks three times (2020, 2021, 2023) and tied the NFL single-season sack record at the time with 22.5 sacks in 2021. Under Dunbar's leadership, Watt was named to eight consecutive Pro Bowls, earned four first-team All-Pro selections, and was named the NFL Defensive Player of the Year (2021).

Before joining the Steelers, Dunbar worked as the defensive line coach at the University of Alabama under legendary head coach Nick Saban for two seasons (2016-17), following a season as the defensive line coach with the Buffalo Bills (2015). With the Crimson Tide, Dunbar led a 2017 defensive front that ranked first nationally in scoring defense (11.5 points per game) and fourth against the rush (94.1 yards per game), helping lead Alabama to a National Championship win over Georgia. In his first season (2016), Dunbar's defensive line topped the nation in rushing defense (63.9 yards per game) and was fourth in sacks (3.60 per game). Additionally, Dunbar developed eventual first-round pick defensive end Jonathan Allen, who earned multiple national honors, including the Nagurski Trophy and Bednarik Award as the nation's Defensive Player of the Year.

Before his first stint with the Jets, Dunbar oversaw the Minnesota defensive line for six seasons (2006-11). With the Vikings, the front helped the defense allow the fewest rushing yards in the NFL (84.8), leading the league in rushing defense for three straight seasons (2006-08), becoming the first team since the 1970 merger to rank first against the run in three consecutive years. In Dunbar's final season with Minnesota (2011), the defense tied for the NFL lead with 50.0 sacks, powered by future Hall of Famer Jared Allen's single-season best 22.0 sacks, just a half-sack shy of the then NFL single-season record.

Dunbar got his NFL coaching start in 2004 as the Chicago Bears defensive line coach before returning to his alma mater, LSU, for the 2005 season in the same capacity. Before his NFL career, Dunbar worked as the defensive line coach at Oklahoma State (2002-03), the strength and conditioning coach at LSU (2000-01), and launched his collegiate coaching career as the defensive line coach at Nicholls State (1998-99).

A second-team All-SEC defensive lineman at LSU, Dunbar was selected by the Pittsburgh Steelers in the eighth round of the 1990 NFL Draft. After a stint with the Orlando Thunder of the World League of American Football, Dunbar played three NFL seasons with the New Orleans Saints (1993) and Arizona Cardinals (1994-95), logging 27 tackles in 21 games played. He also played for the Rhein Fire in NFL Europe, following his time in the NFL.

CHRIS HARRIS

DBs/PASS GAME COORDINATOR

13 | 2 | Little Rock, AR | Louisiana-Monroe

Chris Harris enters his second season as the defensive backs/pass game coordinator with the New York Jets, having concluded last season (2025) as the team's interim defensive coordinator. Harris joined the Jets after two seasons with the Tennessee Titans, serving as the defensive pass game coordinator/cornerbacks (2023-24). For Harris, 2026 marks his 13th season coaching in the NFL.

Last season, his first with the Jets (2025), Harris was part of a defensive staff that produced the Jets' first top 10 third down defense since 2018. He helped lead one of the youngest defenses in football, ranking fifth in rookie snaps (1,983) and eighth in snaps by first and second year players (3,449), notably guiding standout performances by rookies Azareye'h Thomas and Malachi Moore. Under Harris, Thomas registered one pass defensed in every game he started, finishing the season with seven total and still holding an active streak of at least one in six consecutive games, the longest such streak to conclude the season. Moore led all rookie safeties with 95 tackles, the fourth most by a Jet this century.

Harris also guided cornerbacks Brandon Stephens and Jarvis Brownlee Jr., acquired via trade during the season, into one of the league's top tackling corner duos, with both ranking in the top 10 from Weeks 1–12 before Brownlee suffered a season ending injury. Harris was promoted to interim defensive coordinator, in addition to his duties as defensive backs/pass game coordinator, in Week 16.

During the 2024 campaign, Harris' secondary unit in Tennessee allowed 177.3 net passing yards per game, the second fewest in the NFL. He oversaw sixth-year safety Amani Hooker as he led the Titans with a career-high five interceptions, tied for sixth-most in the league.

In 2023, the Titans defense ranked first in the NFL in opponent red-zone efficiency (37.7 percent), while tying for the eighth-fewest passing touchdowns allowed (20), yielding the fifth-fewest overall opponent touchdowns (33).

While with the Commanders in 2022, Harris helped Washington finish in the top 10 in numerous categories, including third-down defense (first), total defense (third), passing yards allowed (fourth), points allowed (seventh), and red-zone efficiency (eighth).

Under Harris (2020-22), the Commanders ranked fourth in the league in total defense (323.4) and eighth in passing defense (213.1 yards allowed per game). During that time, Harris saw cornerback Kendall Fuller register 40 passes defensed, the eighth most in the league.

In 2020, Harris played a key role in a defense that allowed just 3,068 net passing yards, marking the team's best performance since 2004. He aided cornerbacks Ronald Darby and Kendall Fuller in becoming the first Washington teammates since Josh Norman and Bashaud Breeland in 2016 to each record 11 or more passes defensed in a season. Additionally, he helped Fuller register four interceptions, tied for the seventh-most in 2020.

Following his eight-year playing career, Harris started his coaching career with the team that drafted him, the Chicago Bears, as a defensive quality control coach (2013-14), working primarily with the team's safeties.

A former sixth-round selection by the Chicago Bears in the 2005 NFL Draft, Harris played safety in 101 games (88 starts) over eight seasons (2005-12). He started in Super Bowl XLI, where he intercepted a pass from Colts quarterback Peyton Manning. For his career, Harris registered 422 tackles, 16 interceptions, 13 forced fumbles, nine fumble recoveries, and 37 passes defensed. A starter for four seasons at Louisiana-Monroe (2001-04), he started all 45 games he played, totaling 14 interceptions as a safety, and was named first-team All-Sun Belt.

Originally from Little Rock, AR, Harris went on to graduate from the University of Louisiana at Monroe with a bachelor's degree in general studies (2004).

Harris has three sons, Jayce, Jaxon and Jett, and a daughter, Skylar.

STEVE HEIDEN

OFFENSIVE LINE

14 NY 2 | Rushford, MN | South Dakota State

Steve Heiden enters his second season with the New York Jets as the offensive line coach. An 11-year NFL veteran tight end, 2026 marks his 14th year coaching in the NFL after previously serving in various roles with Detroit and Arizona.

In his first season with the Jets (2025), Heiden helped guide a top-10 rushing unit, finishing the season with the most rushing yards per game by a Jets offense since 2014 (123.3) and paving the way for running back Breece Hall's first 1,000-yard season, the first by a Jets back since 2015. Behind the offensive line, the Jets averaged 4.6 yards per carry, a top-10 mark in the league and the third-best average in franchise history.

Heiden was instrumental in the development of rookie offensive lineman Armand Membou, who allowed one or fewer pressures in nine games, the most by a rookie tackle on the year and tied for the second-most over the last five seasons. Additionally Joe Tippmann, who won the center competiton in training camp, switched to right guard after an injury to Alijah Vera-Tucker and recorded seven games with one or less pressure allowed, one of only 10 right guards in the league with at least seven such games. The starting group of Olu Fashanu, John Simpson, Josh Myers, Tippmann, and Membou started all 17 games together, becoming the first NFL team to start the same offensive line combination in every game since 2023, and the first Jets team to accomplish the feat since 2012.

As the tight ends coach in two seasons with Detroit (2023-24), Heiden guided tight end Sam LaPorta to the most receptions by a tight end in their first two seasons in NFL history (146). LaPorta also became just the fourth tight end since 1970 to total 1,600+ receiving yards in his first two seasons, joining George Kittle, Rob Gronkowski, and Jimmy Graham. In 2023, LaPorta established a then-NFL record for the most receptions by a rookie tight end (86), and also set the rookie franchise records by a tight end in receiving yards and receiving touchdowns.

Heiden spent the first 10 seasons of his NFL coaching career with Arizona in a variety of roles, ultimately finishing as the tight ends coach (2019-22). He was elevated to offensive line coach for the final six games of 2022, as the line paved the way for running back James Conner to average 78.0 rushing yards per game, the fifth-highest mark in the league.

As tight ends coach in 2021, Heiden helped tight end Zach Ertz tie a then-single-season record for receptions by a Cardinals tight end, despite only playing 11 games with the team after a midseason trade.

In 2020, the Arizona offense finished in the top 10 in total offense, rushing offense, total touchdowns, and rushing touchdowns. Tight end Dan Arnold became the first Cardinals tight end to record 400+ receiving yards and four+ touchdowns in a single season in over a decade.

As an assistant in 2015, the Cardinals led the league in total offense, while ranking second in passing offense, and eighth in rushing offense. It marked the first time in franchise history the team finished with the top ranked offense in the NFL as they set single-season franchise records for points, touchdowns, yards, and first downs.

A native of Rushford, MN, Heiden played four seasons at South Dakota State (1995-98), finishing his college career eighth in program history with 112 receptions and 1,499 receiving yards. SHAWN JEFFERSON

WIDE RECEIVERS

22 NY 5 | Jacksonville, FL | Central Florida

Shawn Jefferson, now in his third season as the wide receivers coach with the New York Jets, rejoined the team in 2024 after spending two years as the assistant head coach/wide receivers coach (2019-20). Jefferson is now in his 22nd season as a coach in the NFL following a 13-year playing career as a wide receiver.

Last season (2025), Jefferson led one of the youngest wide receiver units in football, as every wide receiver on the final roster was 25 years old or younger. On pace for a career season before his injury in Week Six, wide receiver Garrett Wilson recorded 395 receiving yards and four touchdowns on 36 receptions, all top-three ranks in the AFC at the time of his injury. Besides Wilson, none of the other top-five leading receivers were on the initial 53-man roster, including midseason trade acquisitions Adonai Mitchell and John Metchie III, who both produced single-season highs in key receiving metrics under Jefferson. Mitchell recorded 24 receptions in eight games with the Jets, surpassing his rookie mark of 23 (2023), while his 301 yards were just 11 yards shy of his career best. Metchie produced single-season highs in receptions (39), receiving yards (256), and receiving touchdowns (two) in nine games working with Jefferson.

After returning to the Jets in 2024, Jefferson guided Wilson to career highs in receptions (101) and receiving yards (1,104), marking his third consecutive 1,000+ yard season, making him the first wide receiver in franchise history, and the 10th player in NFL history, to record at least 1,000 receiving yards in each of his first three seasons. Wilson's 101 receptions were the second most in franchise history behind only Brandon Marshall (109). Additionally, wide receiver Davante Adams ranked ninth in the NFL in receiving touchdowns (seven), 10th in receiving yards (854), and tied for 12th in receptions (67) after being acquired via trade prior to Week Seven. On the season, Jefferson's unit was the only one in the league to produce multiple 1,000+ yard, 75+ reception, and five+ touchdown receivers (Wilson and Adams).

With Carolina in 2023, Jefferson coached a group led by veteran wide receiver Adam Thielen, who recorded his third 1,000+ receiving yard season (first since 2018), and his second 100+ reception season. With Arizona in 2021, four players recorded 40+ receptions, 500+ receiving yards and three+ touchdowns, followed by five players recording 20+ receptions and multiple touchdowns in 2022.

In his first stint with the Jets (2019-20), Jefferson oversaw a group led by Robbie Chosen (then Robby Anderson) and Jamison Crowder, as the duo was one of just seven league-wide to each post 50+ receptions, 700+ yards and five+ touchdowns during the 2019 season. Chosen averaged 15.0 yards per catch, one of just 20 receivers in the NFL to do so, while Crowder posted a new single season best in receptions (78), leading the team with six touchdown receptions. The following season (2020), Crowder fell one yard short of recording consecutive seasons with 50+ receptions, 700+ yards, and five+ touchdowns, while the offense saw four players record 30+ receptions, 250+ yards, and three+ touchdowns.

Prior to joining the Jets, Jefferson's three seasons in Miami saw Dolphins wide receivers average 4.9 yards after the catch, the fifth-best average in the league, and account for 52 touchdowns, tied for the sixth most in the NFL. Additionally, Miami wide receivers accounted for 70.8% of the team's receptions, the second-highest percentage in the league during that span.

In two seasons with Jefferson, wide receiver Jarvis Landry made two Pro Bowl appearances, totaling 206 receptions, the third-most of any player in the League, while wide receiver Kenny Stills posted 21 touchdowns in his three seasons under Jefferson, the ninth-most in the league.

Jefferson spent three seasons (2013-15) with the Titans as wide receiver Kendall Wright finished seventh in the League with 94 receptions and posted his first 1,000-yard season in just his second year (2013). Wide receivers Nate Washington (2013-14) and Justin Hunter (2013-14) each averaged at least 16.0 yards per catch during Jefferson's time in Tennessee.

Prior to Tennessee, Jefferson spent eight seasons on the Lions staff, beginning as a coaching assistant (2005) and moving up to wide receivers coach (2008-12). During his time in Detroit, he helped wide receiver Calvin Johnson set a then NFL single-season record with 1,964 yards receiving (2012). Johnson was selected for the Pro Bowl three times and led the NFL in receiving yardage twice, finishing with season averages of 88 receptions for 1,416 yards (16.1 average) and 10 touchdowns in five years with Jefferson as his position coach.

Jefferson began his coaching career shortly after a 13-season playing career during which the former Charger (1991-95), Patriot (1996-99), Falcon (2000-02) and Lion (2003) wide receiver caught 470 passes for 7,024 yards and 29 touchdowns after entering the league as a ninth-round selection in 1991.

A Jacksonville, FL native, Jefferson played receiver for three years at Central Florida. He and his wife, Marla, have two daughters, Paige and Faith, and a son, Van, a former standout receiver at the University of Florida who currently plays for the Washington Commanders.

Last season (2025), Jette worked closely with Special Teams Coordinator Chris Banjo and Special Teams Assistant Kevin O'Dea, helping to produce one of the top units in football. The Jets posted the highest special teams Expected Points Added (EPA) in the league (62.18)—the highest EPA by a Jets unit this century, and the third highest by any team in the last 10 seasons. Additionally, the unit improved in nearly every special teams metric, finishing the season with top 10 rankings in 10 major special teams categories, including leading the league in kickoff return average (29.9), field goal percentage (96.6%), extra point percentage (100.0%), and special teams touchdowns (four).

Jette joined the Jets from the college ranks where he spent six seasons, coaching on offense, defense, and special teams. At the University of New Hampshire (2023–24), he was the cornerbacks coach before adding co-special teams coordinator responsibilities in his second year, after one season as a defensive anaylst at the University of Massachusetts (2022), his alma mater. He started his coaching career on the offensive side as the assistant quarterbacks coach at Howard (2020-22) and as the running backs coach for Wagner College (2019).

An Oak Bluffs, MA native, Jette was signed by the Green Bay Packers as an undrafted free agent (2016) following five seasons as a defensive back at UMass (2011-15). In his first season with the Jets (2025), McKissic-Luke helped guide a top 10 rushing unit, finishing the year with the most rushing yards per game by a Jets offense since 2014 (123.3). Running back Breece Hall produced the first 1,000-yard rushing season by a Jet since 2015, becoming just the eighth player in franchise history to accomplish the feat. Hall finished the year with a career-high 1,065 rushing yards, adding 350 receiving yards and five total touchdowns. Running back Isaiah Davis also posted single-season highs in all categories under McKissic-Luke, finishing the year with 236 yards on 43 carries, good for an average of 5.5 yards per rush, the fifth highest among all running backs with 40 or more carries.

Prior to joining the Jets, McKissic-Luke served as the running backs coach for Minnesota (2023-24), where he helped running back Darius Taylor rush for the fifth-most yards by a freshman in program history (799), earning consecutive All-Big Ten Honorable Mention selections. In his final season (2022), the Huskies had the number-two rushing offense in the MAC (190.4 yards per game), with both of their running backs ranking first and second in the conference in yards per rush.

McKissic-Luke spent his first three seasons at Youngstown State (2016-18) as the running backs coach before adding special teams coordinator to his duties (2019). McKissic-Luke began his career at Benedict College, where he spent five seasons coaching running backs and slot receivers. The Tigers led the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference in rushing in consecutive seasons in 2009 and 2010.

In addition to his collegiate coaching career, McKissic-Luke spent two summers (2011, 2012) with the Arizona Cardinals through the Bill Walsh Diversity Coaching Fellowship.

A graduate of Alabama A&M, McKissic-Luke finished second in career rushing yards with more than 2,000 yards in three seasons (2004-06) for the Bulldogs. During his senior year, he helped lead Alabama A&M to the 2006 Southwestern Athletic Conference crown.

In his second stint with then the Oakland Raiders, Musgrave guided quarterback Derek Carr to consecutive Pro Bowl seasons, the first two of his career, after he combined to throw 60 touchdown passes, the seventh-most in the league in that span. In his final year in Oakland (2016), Musgrave's offense ranked sixth in both yards (373.3) and points (25.6) per game, marking the franchise's first top 10 finish in both categories since 2002.

Prior to Oakland, Musgrave spent one season with the Philadelphia Eagles as their quarterbacks coach (2014). Falcons (2006-10) as the quarterbacks coach, and was notably elevated to assistant head coach in his final season (2010). With Atlanta, Musgrave oversaw the development of quarterback Matt Ryan, who was awarded Offensive Rookie of the Year after leading the Falcons to their first postseason appearence since 2004, finishing his rookie campaign with 3,440 yards and 16 touchdowns.

In his final season (2010), Musgrave helped Atlanta win 13 games, their most in a season since 1998, securing their first division title since 2004. He led Matt Ryan to top 10 ranks in both passing yards (3,705) and touchdowns (28) for the first time in his career, as well as helping Ryan post a 3.1 TD/INT ratio, the sixth-highest mark among all qualified passers.

Musgrave got his start in the NFL with the Oakland Raiders (1997), Philadelphia Eagles (1998), Carolina Panthers (1999-2000), Jacksonville Jaguars (2003-04), and Washington (2005). He spent two seasons at the collegiate level in between NFL stops, serving as the offensive coordinator/quarterbacks/tight ends coach for the University of Virginia (2001-02). With the Cavaliers, Musgrave led quarterback Matt Schaub to ACC Player of the Year recognition (2002) after he broke then conference records with 2,976 passing yards and 28 touchdowns.

A former quarterback himself, Musgrave finished his college career at Oregon as the school's all-time leader in passing and total offense, establishing 15 school records. He started all four seasons and was a three-time captain for the Ducks, leading to his induction into the University of Oregon's Hall of Fame in 2000.

Following his college career, Musgrave was selected by the Dallas Cowboys in the fourth round of the 1991 NFL Draft. He went on to play six seasons in the league with the Cowboys, San Francisco 49ers, and Denver Broncos, highlighted by a win in Super Bowl XXIX.

BRIAN NATKIN

ASSISTANT OFFENSIVE LINE

6 NY 2 | San Antonio, TX | UTEP

Brian Natkin enters his second season with the New York Jets as the team's assistant offensive line coach. A former NFL tight end, Natkin has over 20 years of coaching experience in both the NFL and collegiate levels.

In his first season with the Jets (2025), Natkin and Offensive Line Coach Steve Heiden oversaw a group that helped pave the way for a top-10 rushing unit, finishing the year with 123.3 yards per game and a 4.6 yards per carry average, both top 10 marks in the league. Natkin was also part of the development of rookie offensive lineman Armand Membou, who allowed one or fewer pressures in nine games, the most by a rookie tackle on the year and tied for the second-most over the last five seasons.

Prior to joining the Jets, Natkin served as the co-offensive coordinator and offensive line coach at Colorado State University Pueblo (2024), and as the offensive line coach at Sam Houston State (2023).

As the assistant offensive line coach for Arizona (2019-22), Natkin contributed to the development of the team's offensive line and tight ends. During his tenure with the Cardinals, the team consistently ranked in the top 10 in rushing yards and touchdowns, including 2,076 rushing yards and 23 rushing touchdowns in 2021. The offensive line also played a crucial role in the team's top 10 finishes in total offense and rushing offense in 2020.

Before his time with the Cardinals, Natkin served as the offensive line coach and run game coordinator at Hutchinson Community College (2018). In his second stint at UTEP (2012-17), he held various roles, including offensive line coach, tight ends coach, special teams coordinator, and interim offensive coordinator. Natkin helped several players earn all-conference honors, with two going on to play in the NFL.

Natkin's coaching career also includes a stint as the offensive line coach at Northern Colorado (2006) and at Midwestern State (2007-10). At Midwestern State, he helped the Mustangs achieve a combined 41-15 record and clinch the 2009 Lone Star Conference title. He also coached three Mustangs who achieved All-American status. He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, UTEP, working with the tight ends and the offensive line (2004-05).

A standout tight end at UTEP, Natkin was a three-time first-team All-WAC selection (1998-2000). In his senior year, he led all NCAA Division I tight ends with 64 catches for 787 yards, converting 46 of those receptions for first downs. His performance earned him unanimous All-American honors, in addition to being named the nation's top tight end by Sports Illustrated (2000), becoming UTEP's first-ever unanimous All-American in football.

Natkin was part of the UTEP team that won the WAC Championship in 2000 and appeared in the Humanitarian Bowl. He was named UTEP's Male Athlete of the Year for 2000-01, inducted into UTEP's Athletics Hall of Fame in 2016, and named to UTEP's Centennial Football Team. Over his college career, he recorded 172 receptions for 1,934 yards and 11 touchdowns. He concluded his college career by playing in the East-West Shrine Bowl and the Senior Bowl.

AL NETTER

ASSISTANT OFFENSIVE LINE

1 NFL 1 NY | Rohnert Park, CA | Northwestern

Al Netter enters his first season with the New York Jets as an assistant offensive line coach following three seasons at Stanford (2023–25), where he served as the offensive line coach (2025) after co-leading the unit his first two years (2023-24).

Last season (2025), Netter was promoted to offensive line coach under then interim head coach Frank Reich. He helped guide the Cardinal to their most wins since 2020, achieving the program's first year-over-year improvement in more than 10 seasons. In 2024, the offensive line allowed the fewest sacks by a Stanford offense since 2021, paving the way for the ground game to produce the most rushing yards in program history since 2017, and the highest yards per carry average since 2020.

At Yale (2018-22), Netter served in various roles on the offensive staff, first as offensive line coach (2018-19), then as run game coordinator (2020-22), and ultimately as associate head coach/co-offensive coordinator following the 2022 season. During his tenure, he helped the Bulldogs post a 27–13 record, highlighted by two conference championships (2019 & 2022).

Netter got his start in coaching as an offensive graduate assistant under Jim Harbaugh at Michigan (2015-17), where he worked primarily with the offensive line. He helped the Wolverines win 28 games over the three-year stretch, including a bowl appearance every season.

An offensive lineman himself, Netter was a four-year starter at Northwestern (2008-11), where he was a two-time captain and three-time All-Big Ten honorable mention. He started all 52 games he appeared in at Northwestern, before signing with San Francisco as an undrafted free agent (2012). Netter spent three years in the NFL, spending time on the practice squad with San Francisco and Tennessee.

Netter earned his bachelor's degree in economics from Northwestern in 2011 and his master's in sports management from Michigan in 2017. While pursuing his bachelor's, he was a three-time academic All-Big Ten honoree.

Netter and his wife, Katie, have three children, Jordyn, Westley, and Callie.

KEVIN O'DEA

SPECIAL TEAMS ASSISTANT

26 NY 4 | Williamsport, PA | Lockhaven

Kevin O'Dea enters his fourth season with the New York Jets, having returned to the organization to join Aaron Glenn's staff last February (2025). He previously coached the Jets special teams for two seasons (2008–09), highlighted by an AFC Championship Game appearance in 2009.

Last season (2025), O'Dea helped Special Teams Coordinator Chris Banjo guide a historic unit that posted the highest special teams Expected Points Added (EPA) in the league (62.18)—the highest EPA by a Jets unit this century and the third-highest by any team in the last 10 seasons. The Jets improved in nearly every special teams metric, finishing the season with top 10 rankings in 10 major special teams categories, including leading the league in kickoff return average (29.9), field goal percentage (96.6%), extra point percentage (100.0%), and special teams touchdowns (four).

O'Dea was instrumental in the development of first-year punter Austin McNamara, who set a new franchise record with a 43.2 net average. He also helped guide kicker Nick Folk to a near perfect season, as he missed only a 55-yard field goal in the rain to produce the highest combined rate on field goal and extra point attempts in Jets history (98.04%).

Entering his 26th NFL season, O'Dea has previously coached with the San Diego Chargers (defensive/special teams assistant 1994-95), Tampa Bay Buccaneers (offensive/defensive assistant, 1996-2001; special teams coordinator, 2014-15), Detroit Lions (special teams assistant 2002-03), Arizona Cardinals (special teams coordinator 2004-05), Chicago Bears (assistant special teams coach 2006-07; 2011-12), Kansas City Chiefs (assistant special teams coach 2013), and New Orleans Saints (assistant special teams 2016-18). During his NFL coaching career, O'Dea's special teams units have recorded a total of 26 touchdown returns (14 punt returns and 12 kickoff returns). O'Dea has also coached in the UFL (2010 Hartford Colonials Special Teams Coordinator) and in the collegiate ranks.

In his last year with the Saints (2018), O'Dea helped third-year kicker Will Lutz have one of his best seasons, finishing top 10 in the NFL in field goals made (28) and field goal percentage (93.3%), a career high.

In 2017, the New Orleans special teams unit improved drastically in several areas, climbing from 31st to sixth in kickoff return average (22.9) and from 29th to sixth in average starting field position after kickoff (25.6). Rookie Alvin Kamara finished with a 31.5 yard kickoff return average, the highest single-season average in franchise history and returned a kickoff 106-yards for a score in the season finale, the longest in team history.

Prior to his time with the Saints, O'Dea served as the special teams coordinator for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers for two seasons (2014-15). In 2015, he tutored a unit that ranked fourth across the NFL in punt coverage, limiting opposing teams to only 5.2 yards per return. In 2014, O'Dea oversaw a Buccaneers special teams group that was one of the best in punt coverage in the League, allowing only 5.8 yards per return, the second-lowest mark in the NFL, while forcing 26 fair catches, the fifth-most in the League.

During O'Dea's stints in Chicago from 2006-07 and from 2011-12, the Bears had one of the top special teams units in the NFL, including the 2007 team that recorded six return touchdowns (four punt, two kick), the most in a single season in NFL history.

O'Dea also helped wide receiver/return specialist Devin Hester become one of the top returners in NFL history, earning Pro Bowl and first-team All-Pro honors in 2006-07, when he recorded 12 return touchdowns (seven punt, four kick, one missed field goal), the most ever in consecutive seasons. In addition to working with Hester, O'Dea has assisted in coaching several other special teams players to Pro Bowls, including kick returner Dexter McCluster (Kansas City, 2013), special teamer Corey Graham (Chicago, 2011), running back/kick returner Leon Washington (New York Jets, 2008), special teamer Brendon Ayanbadejo (Chicago, 2006-07), kicker Robbie Gould (Chicago, 2006), kicker Neil Rackers (Arizona, 2005), kicker Martin Gramatica (Tampa Bay, 2000), punter Darren Bennett (San Diego 1995), and kicker John Carney (San Diego 1994).

Before his NFL coaching career began as an assistant with the Chargers, O'Dea spent eight years as a college assistant coach, earning his start at his alma mater of Lock Haven University where, when his playing career was cut short due to a back injury, he coached wide receivers (1986). Following his time with Lock Haven, O'Dea spent one season coaching freshman defensive backs at Cornell (1987) before working as a graduate assistant at Virginia (1989-90) and Penn State (1991), where he was promoted to assistant strength and conditioning/defensive line/linebackers coach (1992-93).

A native of Williamsport, PA, O'Dea spent four years in the United States Coast Guard (1979-83) before enrolling in Lock Haven, where he played wide receiver and defensive back, earning a bachelor's degree in fitness management. He later obtained a master's degree in education from Virginia.

O'Dea and his wife, Mary Anne, have three sons, Sean, Ryan, and Caleb.

ALFREDO ROBERTS

TIGHT ENDS

23 | 1 | Hollywood, FL | Miami

Alfredo Roberts enters his first season with the New York Jets as the team's tight ends coach, following five seasons with Pittsburgh (2021–25). A two-time National Champion and two-time Super Bowl champion, Roberts brings over 20 years of coaching experience in the NFL, following a six-year playing career with Kansas City (1988–90) and Dallas (1991–93).

In his final season with the Steelers (2025), Roberts led a tight end room that ranked second in the NFL in yards after catch (668), third in receptions (113) and fifth in receiving yards (1,093). He guided three tight ends in Pat Freiermuth, Darnell Washington, and Jonnu Smith to 200+ receiving yards each, joining the Rams as the only teams with at least three tight ends to do so.

Roberts played a pivotal role in Freiermuth's development throughout his tenure in Pittsburgh, as he became the franchise leader in receptions (220) and receiving yards (2,190) by a tight end over their first four seasons. In 2024, Freiermuth notched career-highs in all categories, totaling 653 yards, while leading the team in receptions (65) and touchdowns (seven). His 65 receptions ranked top 10 among all tight ends in the league, while his seven touchdowns were tied for the fourth-most.

Before Pittsburgh, Roberts spent four seasons with the Los Angeles Chargers (2017-20), starting out as the team's running backs coach (2017-19) before transitioning to tight ends (2020). In his lone season coaching the tight ends, Roberts guided Hunter Henry to establish a career high 60 receptions, posting his second consecutive 600+ yard season for the first time in his career.

Roberts' three-year stint as the Chargers' running backs coach marked his only time in the league working with a position group outside of tight ends. During that three-year stretch, he led one of the most productive units in football, with Melvin Gordon and Austin Ekeler combining for 6,911 scrimmage yards, the second-most by any running back tandem in the league, with both ranking among the top 15 at the position.

Prior to Los Angeles, Roberts spent one season coaching tight ends at Carmel (IND) High School (2016) after four seasons in the same role with the Indianapolis Colts (2012–15). The Colts won 41 games during that span, the seventh most in the league, reaching the postseason three straight times and winning the AFC South twice. In 2014, he led tight ends Dwayne Allen and Coby Fleener to become the first pair of tight ends in NFL history to haul in eight or more touchdowns each.

Roberts got his start in the NFL with the Jacksonville Jaguars (2003-06), Cleveland Browns (2007-08), where he coached Steve Heiden, and the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (2009-11). His first coaching job came at the collegiate level with Florida Atlantic (1999-02), where he coached tight ends and wide receivers.

A six-year NFL veteran tight end, Roberts was selected by the Chiefs in the eighth round of the 1988 NFL Draft. He spent his first three seasons in Kansas City (1988–90) before joining Dallas (1991-93), where he won back-to-back Super Bowls in his final two seasons with the Cowboys. He appeared in every game for five straight seasons, totaling 450 yards and two touchdowns on 48 receptions, before retiring due to injury.

A native of Hollywood, FL, Roberts graduated from Miami in 1988 with a bachelor's degree in criminal justice. He was a member of two National Championship teams at Miami, including the first in school history (1983).

Roberts and his wife, Angel, have twin sons, Avery and Austin, and a daughter, Alyssa.

SETH RYAN

PASS GAME COORDINATOR

10 | 1 | Summit, NJ | Clemson

Joining the New York Jets as the team's passing game coordinator in February 2026, Seth Ryan is now the third generation of the Ryan Family to coach with the Jets, joining his grandfather, Buddy, and father, Rex. Now in his 10th season coaching in the league, Ryan has served in various positions with the Los Angeles Chargers (2017-20) and Detroit Lions (2021-25).

In five seasons with Detroit (2021-25), Ryan began as the assistant wide receivers coach (2021-24), before one season as assistant tight ends coach (2025). Throughout his time in Detroit, the Lions registered their winningest five-year stretch in franchise history, generating 376.0 yards per game in that span, the second most in the league.

In his final season as the assistant wide receivers coach (2024), Ryan was part of an offensive staff that led the number-two ranked total offense (409.5), averaging a league-high 32.4 points per game, the most by any team in a season since 2018. Wide receiver Amon-Ra St. Brown earned his second consecutive first-team All-Pro honor, posting top five ranks in all receiving categories, including receptions, touchdowns, and receiving yards. Ryan also helped wide receiver Jameson Williams notch his first 1,000-yard season, posting the second-highest yards per catch mark in the league (17.3).

In 2023, Detroit advanced to the second Conference Championship game in franchise history-and first since 1991–clinching its first division title in over 30 years. St. Brown hauled in a career high 119 receptions, tied for the second-most in the league and the third-most in franchise history.

Ryan got his start in the NFL with the Los Angeles Chargers (2017-20), where he began as a coaching intern (2017-18) before being elevated to an offensive quality control coach (2019-20). In two seasons as an offensive quality control coach, Ryan helped the Chargers generate a top 10 total offense in consecutive seasons, also generating one of the best third-down conversion rates in the league both years. Quarterback Justin Herbert broke the NFL rookie record for passing touchdowns (31) and completions (396), in addition to throwing for the second-most yards by a rookie since the merger (4,336).

Ryan played wide receiver at Clemson for four seasons during one of the most dominant stretches in school history, which featured a National Championship (2016), two ACC titles (2015, 2016), and wins at the Orange Bowl (2013, 2015), Russell Athletic Bowl (2014), and the Fiesta Bowl (2016). The Tigers went 49-7 during Ryan's playing career, culminating in consecutive appearances in the National Championship and back-to-back one loss seasons.

Ryan, a Summit, NJ native, is married to his wife, Meg. His grandfather, Buddy Ryan, was the defensive line coach for the 1968 New York Jets that won Super Bowl III, and the defensive coordinator for the 1985 Chicago Bears team that won Super Bowl XX. His father, Rex Ryan, was the head coach for the Jets during back-to-back AFC Championship Game appearances. His uncle, Rob Ryan, was an NFL coach for over 20 seasons, winning multiple Super Bowls as a coach.

1 | 1 | Novato, CA | UCLA

Following two seasons at Stanford working with quarterbacks and wide receivers, Matt Sargent joined the New York Jets staff as an offensive assistant, his first position in the NFL.

A graduate assistant at Stanford (2025), Sargent, working with then-interim Head Coach Frank Reich (2025), was part of the program's first year-over-year improvement since 2015, and the most wins by a Cardinal team since 2020.

In 2024, Sargent, working with the wide receivers, helped Elic Ayomanor to the program's first All-ACC honor after he posted a career-high 63 receptions and ranked sixth in the conference with 831 receiving yards.

In his first stint as a coach, Sargent served on staff in various roles at UCLA (2020-24) while earning his bachelor's degree. He began his tenure as a student manager (2020-21), before being elevated to an offensive undergraduate assistant (2022-23). Prior to joining the staff at Stanford, he spent time as an offensive analyst in the offseason following graduation (2024). In his time at UCLA, the Bruins had three winning seasons, garnering Top 25 recognition in each.

RYAN SLOWIK

SAFETIES

17 NY 2 | Gainesville, FL | Wisconsin-Oshkosh

Ryan Slowik returns to the Jets as the team's safeties coach, rejoining the organization after serving as the assistant defensive line coach in 2015. A veteran with nearly 20 years of NFL coaching experience, Slowik has coached defensive backs, linebackers, and the defensive line in the league.

Slowik spent the previous four seasons in Miami (2022-25), joining the staff as a senior defensive assistant (2022), then as outside linebackers coach (2023), and finally defensive backs/pass game specialist (2024-25). He helped guide the Dolphins to consecutive postseason appearances in his first two years with the team (2022-23), their first back-to-back playoff trips in 20 years.

In his most recent role, Slowik worked closely with Defensive Coordinator Brian Duker, then the Dolphins pass game coordinator, helping a unit that finished fourth in total defense (2024), and allowed the sixth-lowest third-down conversion rate. The pass defense limited opposing quarterbacks to a 63.8% completion percentage and an 88.7 passer rating, both top 10 marks in the league.

In his lone season working with the outside linebackers in Miami (2023), Slowik contributed to the 10th ranked defense in the league, limiting opponents to just 318.3 yards per game, at the time, the team's lowest mark in over 10 years. The Dolphins defense set a new franchise record with 56.0 sacks, the third-most in the league, as linebacker Bradley Chubb accounted for 11.0, and added a league-high six forced fumbles.

He spent one season with the Cleveland Browns (2016) coaching outside linebackers, overlapping with Demario Davis. Under Slowik's guidance, three players from his position group, including Christian Kirksey, Davis, and Jamie Collins, led the team in tackles. Kirksey posted a career-high 143 tackles, the fifth-most in the NFL that season.

Part of a 10-win season in his first stint with the Jets (2015), Slowik was the assistant defensive line coach, as the team ranked second in rushing defense (83.4) and third in yards per carry allowed (3.6). That season, defensive lineman Muhammad Wilkerson earned his only Pro Bowl nod after he led the team with a career-high 12.0 sacks.

Before the Jets, Slowik spent six seasons with Arizona (2009-14), helping the team clinch three postseason berths. He originally started with the club as a defensive quality control coach (2009-11), before being elevated to outside linebackers (2012), and then defensive assistant/defensive backs (2013-14). Between 2012-14, the Cardinals defense recorded 82 takeaways and limited opponents to a 35.3% conversion rate on third down, both the fifth-best in the NFL over that span.

Slowik got his first NFL coaching job with the Denver Broncos (2005-08), where he served as a defensive assistant (2005-06), assistant special teams (2007), and assistant defensive backs (2008). In his first season, Denver won 13 games and advanced to the AFC Championship game, limiting opponents to just 16.1 points per game, a top-three mark in the league.

Starting in coaching at his alma mater, Wisconsin-Oshkosh (2004), Slowik served as the assistant secondary coach. Before that, he spent one season with the Green Bay Packers as a personnel intern (2003).

Slowik earned his bachelor's degree from Wisconsin-Oshkosh, where he played safety for three seasons (2001-03). He also played two seasons at Youngstown State (1999-00).

Part of a football family, Slowik's father Bob is a former NFL defensive coordinator spanning four teams – Chicago (1993-98), Cleveland (1999), Green Bay (2004), and Denver (2007-08). His brother, Bobby, is the offensive coordinator for the Miami Dolphins, where the two served on staff together last season (2025).

A Gainesville, FL native, Slowik and his wife, Valerie, have a son, Tye, and a daughter, Averie.

JUNIOR TAYLOR

ASSISTANT WIDE RECEIVERS

5 | 4 | Mesa, AZ | UCLA

Junior Taylor enters his fourth season with the New York Jets and his first as the team's assistant wide receivers coach, following three years as an offensive assistant. He originally joined the organization as part of the NFL's Bill Walsh Diversity Coaching Fellowship (2023). Taylor previously participated in the program during the summer of 2020 with the Tennessee Titans.

Last season (2025), Taylor worked closely with Wide Receivers Coach Shawn Jefferson, helping guide one of the youngest units in football, as every receiver on the final roster was 25 years old or younger. On pace for a career season before his injury in Week Six, wide receiver Garrett Wilson recorded 395 receiving yards and four touchdowns on 36 receptions, all top three ranks in the AFC at the time of his injury. On top of Wilson, Taylor helped midseason trade acquisitions Adonai Mitchell and John Metchie III produce single-season highs in key receiving metrics. Mitchell recorded 24 receptions in eight games with the Jets, surpassing his rookie mark of 23 (2023), while his 301 yards were just 11 yards shy of his career best. Metchie produced single-season highs in receptions (39), receiving yards (256), and receiving touchdowns (two) in just nine games with the Jets.

In 2024, the Jets offense produced the only pair of 1,000+ yard, 75+ reception, and five+ touchdown receivers in the NFL (Wilson and Davante Adams). That season marked Wilson's third consecutive surpassing the 1,000 yard receiving mark, making him the first wide receiver in franchise history, and the 10th player in NFL history, to record at least 1,000 receiving yards in each of his first three seasons in the league.

Prior to joining the Jets, Taylor served as Northern Arizona's wide receivers coach and passing game coordinator, spending four seasons with the program. During his time, Taylor helped his players earn All-Big Sky Conference or All-American honors, with four players ranking among Northern Arizona's top five in all-time receiving yards, including Indianapolis Colts wide receiver Coleman Owen.

Taylor began his coaching career in 2010 with Mesa (AZ) HS, serving in various roles before being named offensive coordinator (2016). He was inducted into the school's Hall of Fame in 2015 after a prolific career with the Jackrabbits.

An Arizona native, Taylor played wide receiver at UCLA for five seasons (2002-06), totaling 1,372 yards and nine touchdowns on 104 receptions, adding 116 yards and a touchdown on six carries. His 463 yards in 2004 were the second-most on the team, playing alongside future NFL players Maurice Jones-Drew and Marcedes Lewis. He earned his bachelor's degree in arts history and a minor in education from UCLA.

NATHANIEL WILLINGHAM

ASSISTANT LINEBACKERS

8 NY 5 Mountain View, CA Menlo

Nathaniel "Nat" Willingham enters his fifth season with the New York Jets, and second as the assistant linebackers coach, after spending his first two seasons as a defensive assistant (2022-23), and one year as defensive backs/nickels coach (2024).

In his first season as assistant linebackers coach (2025), Willingham helped linebacker Jamien Sherwood become just the second Jet this century to register consecutive 150+ tackle seasons. Sherwood finished the year with a team-high 154 tackles–the sixth most in the league–becoming one of only two players to finish back-to-back seasons ranked in the top 10.

Over his first three seasons with the Jets (2022-24), Willingham was part of a staff that helped the defense finish top five in total defense each season, including fourth in 2022, and third in both 2023 and 2024. As the defensive backs/nickels coach (2024), the defense held opponents to 192.6 passing yards per game, the fourth-best passing defense in the league.

Prior to joining the Jets, Willingham spent three seasons with the Denver Broncos (2019-21) as a defensive quality control coach. During his time in Denver, the Broncos became the first team since 1995 to lead the league in red zone defense in consecutive seasons (2019-20).

Before his start in the NFL, Willingham spent five seasons at the collegiate level, including four years at Stanford as a football quality control analyst (2018), defensive assistant (2016-17), and recruiting assistant (2015). Stanford posted a 40-14 record and won the Rose Bowl (2015) during Willingham's tenure with the school. He started his collegiate coaching career at Menlo College (2014) as the tight ends coach before the school eliminated the football program.

A former prep center and defensive tackle at Skyline (Sammamish, WA), Willingham began his coaching career at his high school alma mater in a variety of roles, ultimately serving as the defensive line coach (2011-12). In his three seasons coaching the varsity level, the school won a pair of state championships and posted a 37-5 record.

Willingham and his wife, Rachel, have two sons, Auggie and Emory. His father, Tyrone, a coach for over 30 years, was the head coach at Stanford (1995-2001), Notre Dame (2002-04), and the University of Washington (2005-08).

PLAYER PERFOMANCE

DR. ERIK KOREM

DIRECTOR OF PLAYER PERFORMANCE

Dr. Erik Korem enters his second season with the New York Jets as the team's director of player performance. Throughout his nearly 20-year career spanning the NFL, college football, and work with Olympic medalists, Korem has helped pioneer the use of athlete wearables while modernizing the way teams approach sports science.

Korem has played a key role in Phase II of the renovation of the Atlantic Health Jets Training Center, highlighted by the creation of a reimagined player performance center designed to support every aspect of player health, performance, and recovery. Once complete, the space will extend beyond a traditional weight room into a fully integrated performance ecosystem, expanding by 250% and maximizing on-field performance through advanced training and technology with an emphasis on injury prevention, recovery optimization, and return-to-play advancements.

Prior to joining the Jets, Korem was the CEO & Founder of AIM7, a simple and powerful app that turns wearable technology into ultra-personalized solutions for health and fitness. He developed a passion for transforming data into actionable insights to provide athletes with customized exercise and wellness recommendations that help prevent burnout, excessive fatigue, and promote rapid and sustainable fitness gains.

Korem got his start in the NFL as the Director of Sports Science for the Houston Texans, where he implemented the first sports science program in team history. Before that, he served on Coach Jimbo Fisher's staff at Florida State (2010-13), helping the Seminoles win their first ACC Championship in seven years.

Throughout his career, Korem has helped NFL, college, and Olympic athletes achieve their goals through expert guidance on performance optimization. He most notably supported eight-time Olympic medalist Veronica Campbell-Brown, who became one of just three women ever to win the 200m gold medal in back-to-back Olympics.

In 2019, he was selected as a member of the class of Presidential Leadership Scholars, a first-of-its-kind program run by the Presidential Centers of George W. Bush, Bill Clinton, George H.W. Bush, and Lyndon B. Johnson.

A former walk-on football player at Texas A&M, Korem graduated with a bachelor's degree in exercise physiology. He later earned his master's degree in exercise science from the University of Arkansas and his doctorate in exercise science from the University of Kentucky.

A Texas native, Korem and his wife, Hayle, of 16 years have three boys, Cooper, Connor, and Carter.

COREY SMITH

HEAD STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

Corey Smith enters his second season with the New York Jets as the team's head strength and conditioning coach. He has nearly 15 years of experience serving in various strength and conditioning roles at the NFL and collegiate level.

Prior to joining the Jets, Smith served as the assistant strength and conditioning coach with the Detroit Lions for two seasons (2023-24), where he overlapped with head coach Aaron Glenn. Detroit won 27 games throughout his time with the team, the most in the NFL.

Before Detroit, he spent one season at Abilene Christian University (Texas) as the team's associate athletic director for strength and conditioning. He was promoted to the position shortly after his arrival, having started with the university as the director of football strength and conditioning.

Smith joins the organization with an extensive history working in premier college football programs, including Texas Tech, Texas, Memphis, Missouri, Iowa, and Illinois State.

While in college at Illinois State, he volunteered with the athletic department's strength and conditioning program, assisting primarily with football, men's basketball, and track and field programs, all while earning his bachelor's degree. Smith later went on to earn his master's degree from the University of Memphis.

Smith is a certified strength and conditioning specialist by the National Strength and Conditioning (NSCA) and the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association (CSCCA). He is also certified in precision nutrition (PN1) and functional range conditioning (FRCms).

A native of Downers Grove, IL, Smith and his wife, Jacqueline, have two daughters, Avery and Parker.

Prior to joining the Jets, Zuffelato served as the head athletic trainer at Florida Atlantic University and spent three seasons (2003-05) working in NFL Europe.

Graduating from Central Connecticut State, Zuffelato received his bachelor's in athletic training and his master's in athletic training and kinesiology from Temple.

BEFORE THE NFL

ON WISCONSIN: After originally committing as a safety/linebacker, Allen was a three-year standout running back at Wisconsin and three-time All-Big Ten second-team selection, finishing his collegiate career with the fourth-best yard per carry mark (5.9) and ninth-most rushing yards (3,494) in school history. Allen scored 35 touchdowns in 37 games (26 starts). As a 17-year-old freshman, he recorded 100+ rushing yards in seven straight games, finishing the season with 1,268 yards and a 6.8 average, including 159 yards rushing to earn Las Vegas Bowl MVP honors.

DO-IT-ALL-ALLEN: An all-state pick on both offense (running back) and defense (safety) in his final year at Fond du Lac (WI) HS, Allen reclassified to the 2021 recruiting class. On the freshman team, he saw action at quarterback and safety, before playing cornerback for the varsity team in the playoffs, and then safety his sophomore year.

OF NOTE

GIVING BACK: This season, Allen expanded his outreach by hosting a youth football camp in Lindenhurst, NY on Long Island alongside teammate Jeremy Ruckert in Ruckert's hometown.

He previously hosted an annual Charity Softball Game on the campus of Marian University in his hometown of Fond du Lac, WI, along with a youth football camp the day prior. Proceeds benefitted the Braelon Allen Fund, the Boys & Girls Club of Fond du Lac, the Fond du Lac Family YMCA, and the Fond du Lac Junior Football League.

Allen launched the Braelon Allen Fund in 2023 to support youth sports programs, educational initiatives, and other non-profit organizations in his hometown of Fond du Lac.

STATS PACK

DYNAMIC DUO: Allen suffered a season-ending knee injury in Week Four at MIA (9/29), after recording the most rushing yards by a player before their 21st birthday since 1970 as a rookie (2024).

Prior to his season-ending injury, Allen and Breece Hall were one of only six running back tandems in the league to each average at least 4.2 yards per carry on 15+ rush attempts.

OF NOTE

BUILT ON EDUCATION: Bailey grew up in Irvine, CA, and attended Mater Dei (CA) HS, one of the nation's premier football programs, known for producing NFL talent such as Bryce Young, Amon-Ra St. Brown, and Matt Leinart. Despite the school's football pedigree, education always remained the top priority for Bailey and his family, a value instilled by parents who emphasized academic excellence above all else.

His father, Anthony, was born and raised in Jamaica before immigrating to the United States, where he built a career as a biochemist prior to retiring. His mother, Monica, who was born in Ghana, played a central role in reinforcing the importance of education from an early age.

That emphasis was consistent throughout the household. Bailey's brother, DJ, played football at Harvard, and Monica long envisioned David following a similar path by pairing high-level football with an elite education. She remained steadfast in her belief that her son should receive the highest-quality education possible, even as Mater Dei head coach Bruce Rollinson fielded pushback from college coaches across the country as he became one of the most sought after recruits.

"Literally, I've got head coaches calling and going, 'Come on Bruce, you've gotta be kidding me,'" Rollinson told The Athletic in 2026. "And I go, 'Coach, what do you want me to do?'"

Guided by his family, Bailey ultimately committed to Stanford, where he earned his bachelor's degree in science, technology, and society in just three years before transferring to Texas Tech. His family's commitment to academics continues today, as his sister, Antoinette, is currently pursuing her PhD.

ALWAYS ELITE: Bailey was a consensus four-star recruit following a standout career at Mater Dei, where he led the Monarchs to a state championship and a perfect 12–0 record as a senior. He earned Defensive Player of the Year honors from CalHiSports.com and finished his three-year varsity career with 20.5 sacks. Bailey capped his high school tenure with an appearance in the All-American Bowl, entering the game as a top 10 prospect in the state of California.

As a sophomore at Mater Dei, Bailey was teammates with current Panthers quarterback Bryce Young. He later joked with reporters after the draft that Young is the quarterback he wants to sack most: "Bryce Young, if I ever get the chance."

IN THE COMMUNITY: In tradition of being selected in the first round by the Jets, Bailey joined fellow first-round picks TE Kenyon Sadiq and WR Omar Cooper Jr. for a visit to Atlantic Health's Goryeb Children's Hospital, spending time with patients and their families. During the visit, Bailey developed a special connection with one of the patients and sent a care package featuring autographed items and Jets gear.

FAITH AND FOOTBALL: During BYU's spring practices, Bamba participated in Ramadan, a practice of his Islamic faith that abstains from food and water all day long. Bamba would wake up between 4:00-5:00 a.m. to eat a meal, then break his fast around 8:00 p.m. With the support of coaches and the team's nutritionist, Bamba was able to practice his faith while still dealing with the grueling two and a half hour practices that the spring entailed.

"What made me stick with it is just the man I'm going to become at the end of it," Bamba told the BYU Daily Universe. "I have a lot of room to grow as a man."

BEFORE THE NFL

HURRICANE BARON: A five-year defensive lineman at Tennessee (2020-23) and Miami (2024), Baron finished his collegiate career with 38 tackles for loss, 19.0 sacks, four passes defensed, two forced fumbles, and one fumble recovery returned for a touchdown. An All-ACC Honorable Mention choice in his lone season at Miami, Baron led the team in tackles for loss (11) and sacks (5.5).

LOCAL LEGEND: A Knoxville native, Baron played his high school football at The Ensworth School in Knoxville, and later at Knoxville (TN) Catholic (2019), just minutes away from the University of Tennessee, where he played his first four seasons of college football. He led Knoxville Catholic to the DII-AA quarterfinals after registering 105 tackles, 22 tackles for loss, and 9.0 sacks.

OF NOTE

BARON BROTHERS: His older brother, Woody Baron, played defensive line in the Canadian Football League (CFL) from 2018 to 2024, earning CFL West All-Star honors in 2023 and winning the Grey Cup in 2024.

POSITION SWITCH: Before transferring to Knoxville (TN) Catholic, Baron, the No. 7 prospect in Tennessee at linebacker/defensive end, volunteered to move from his traditional tight end position on offense at The Ensworth (TN) School to left tackle as a result of the school's lack of depth on the offensive line.

"It was really about trying to get another state championship back at Ensworth," Baron told The Tennessean in 2018. "I felt playing left tackle helps give us the best chance at achieving what we want to achieve."

CONNECTIONS: Baron's father, Patrick Abernathy, was an all-state linebacker in high school and played collegiately at Tennessee State, sharing the field with future Hall of Fame defensive lineman Richard Dent. After his playing career, Abernathy got into coaching, winning multiple national championships at the youth level before becoming an assistant at Brentwood Academy, where he coached future three-time first-team All-Pro and eight-time Pro Bowler Jalen Ramsey.

At Miami, Baron was guided by defensive line coach Jason Taylor, the father of teammate Mason Taylor, who was also drafted by the Jets in the same 2025 class.

"For me, [he] kind of just helped me become more of a professional at an earlier age, so I feel like I was able to develop that mental aspect of myself," Baron told reporters after being drafted by the Jets. "I'm really forever indebted to Coach Taylor and I'm just really honored to be a Jet."

BEFORE THE NFL

ALWAYS ADAPTABLE: In four seasons at Texas, Beck played in 51 games (30 starts) as a tight end, a position he transitioned to ahead of his first year as a Longhorn after being recruited as a linebacker out of high school. Beck recorded 440 yards and four touchdowns on 40 career receptions and blocked for the nation's leading rusher, D'Onta Foreman, his junior season in 2016. He capped his collegiate career off by earning first-team All-Big 12 honors in 2018.

For his community efforts, Beck was named a semifinalist for the Jason Witten Collegiate Man of the Year Award, presented annually to the FBS college football player who has demonstrated a record of leadership by exhibiting exceptional courage, integrity and sportsmanship both on and off the field.

POWER PLANT: As a linebacker at Plant (FL) HS, Beck was a four-year letterman and two-year starter who earned first-team 8A All-State honors from the Associated Press as a senior, along with first-team All-Western Conference and All-Hillsborough County recognition. He posted back-to-back standout seasons with 110 tackles as a senior and 126 as a junior, helping lead Plant to a state semifinal appearance in 2013 after being part of the program's 8A State Championship team in 2011.

OF NOTE

SALUTE TO SERVICE: In 2021, the NFL and USAA named Beck the recipient of the Salute to Service Award, which recognizes members of the NFL community for their exceptional efforts to honor and support the military. His father, Christopher Beck, is a West Point graduate, a Major Commanding General, and a Silver Star recipient.

Growing up in a military family, Beck lived in more than eight states, including Missouri, Maryland, Illinois, West Virginia, Kansas, Texas, Colorado, and Florida, as well as overseas in Germany.

"I did 11 moves before I got to college," Beck told The Athletic while he was with the Broncos in 2021. "My parents have probably done eight or nine since I've been gone. We were constantly bouncing around, getting to see the world. It was great. It was an opportunity I cherished, one that moved me to help and support the military like I am."

Beck has continued to support the military community and has been recognized for his work on multiple occasions. In 2019, he supported more than 300 military families through collaborations with organizations serving service members, veterans, and survivors. His community involvement also included volunteering at a youth PLAY 60 clinic for military children, visiting veterans in VA hospitals, and launching "Beck's Bags," an initiative that provides care packages to homeless veterans. Additionally, Beck was named to We Are The Mighty's MIGHTY25 Class of 2022, which honors individuals making a meaningful impact within the extended military community. Since 2021, Beck is one of only two NFL players to earn the recognition, alongside 49ers tight end George Kittle. The MIGHTY25 includes a distinguished group of honorees, including the 43rd President of the United States, George W. Bush.

"It's the community I grew up in and know so well," Beck also told The Athletic in 2021. "Those men and women do so much for us. The least I can do is give back to them."

MY CAUSE MY CLEATS: Beck used the NFL's My Cause My Cleats initiative in 2020 to raise awareness for America's Gold Star Families, inviting children to participate in a contest to help design his custom cleats. He had previously supported the organization through the campaign in 2019 and later auctioned his game-worn cleats to benefit the foundation.

WIZARDING WORLD OF BECK: Last season (2025), Beck joined the Ealing Fields girls flag football team on a tour of the Harry Potter Warner Brothers Studio in London prior to the team's game at Tottenham Hotspur Stadium. Ealing Fields has competed in the Jets UK flag football league since its inception in 2023 and has won three consecutive league titles, having gone on to represent the Jets at the Intercontinental Flag Championships.

MAKING IT HAPPEN: Last season (2025), Beck played a pivotal role on a Jets special teams unit that posted the highest EPA by any team over the last 10 seasons (61.18; since 2016). With Beck on the field, the Jets special teams unit posted a 49.90 EPA, the 10th highest mark in the league among all non-returners with at least 150 special teams snaps.

In his final season (2021), he was named first-team All-Big Ten after recording five interceptions, the second-most in the country and in the Big Ten, and posted a career-high 46 tackles.

OF NOTE

A PERSONAL PURPOSE: As part of the NFL's league-wide My Cause My Cleats campaign, Belton has represented the Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America's Kids with Food Allergies division since entering the league in 2022. He told Sports Illustrated in 2024 that he began suffering from food and environmental allergies when he was just a year old. His mother, Deanna, regularly used the AAFA to find safe recipes, and Belton described representing the organization on this stage as a "full-circle moment."

TAKEOFF

- Third-year defensive lineman who entered the league as a seventh-round selection by CLV (2024).
- Acquired by the New York Jets via trade (CLV) during training camp (2025).
- In 23 career games (eight starts), with CLV (2024) and the Jets (2025-present), has registered 51 tackles, 4.0 sacks, nine tackles for loss, 12 quarterback hits, 41 pressures, one forced fumble, and one fumble recovery. Spent time on the practice squad with CLV (2024).

"What is really cool is to see such a young player in this league have as high of a football IQ that he has. There's not a lot of Year Two players that I've been with - specifically defensive linemen, we're not known for our Wonderlic scores - to have as much football IQ as he does. So, when we're out there, we're able to communicate some things in a very short setting that allows us to be a little more productive in the run game. We're able to call a couple of pass rush stances, or shift the front, or call a game and be able to work off each other because he understands concepts so well. And I haven't always had that with every player that I've played with."

- Harrison Phillips (11/24/25)

BEFORE THE NFL

LEADING THE BEARCATS: A team captain and an All-Big 12 Honorable Mention in his final season at Cincinnati (2023), Briggs played three seasons with the Bearcats after spending the first two years at the University of Virginia. Over his five college seasons (2019-23), Briggs appeared in 59 games (44 starts) and registered 170 tackles, 21.5 tackles for loss, and 12.0 sacks.

ALL-AMERICAN: Briggs was selected to play in the 2019 Under Armour All-America Game after a senior season that saw him named first-team all-state honoree and the Eastern Cincinnati Conference Defensive Player of the Year at Walnut Hills (OH) HS. He was ranked as the second-best overall player from Ohio via 247Sports Composite ranking. Briggs was also a thrower on the track & field team.

OF NOTE

MUSICALLY INCLINED: Growing up in a musical household, Briggs discovered his musical inclinations early. In addition to his singing voice, he has played the recorder, piano, violin, viola, cello, stand-up bass, bass guitar, acoustic guitar, electric guitar, saxophone, flute, and harmonica.

"We had a very loud house," Briggs told the Associated Press in 2025. "It was kind of like 'Battle of the Bands.' It was a lot of fun. My sisters all sing better than I can, but if you grow up in that kind of competitive household, you find out if you can sing or not fairly quickly. So, I was able to figure out that I was decent."

A double-major in physics and music at the University of Virginia, he joined the school's University Singers and its chamber choir, which performed around Charlottesville. Briggs also was part of an a cappella group called The Hullabahoos that went to London in 2020 just before the COVID-19 pandemic and sang at schools, churches, pubs and sometimes right on the streets. He also performed the national anthem before a few Virginia basketball games, and again when he transferred to Cincinnati.

STATS PACK

PRESSURE KING: In his first season with the Jets (2025), Briggs logged 282 snaps as an interior pass rusher, where he posted a 12.6% pressure rate, the fifth highest among all players with 250+ pass rush snaps from the interior. Among all Jets with 250+ pass rush snaps from the interior since 2016, Briggs has the fourth best single-season rate behind only three Pro Bowl years from Quinnen Williams.

BEFORE THE NFL

CHAMPIONSHIP PEDIGREE: In four seasons at Oklahoma, Brown won the Big 12 four times and was part of three College Football Playoff teams. A second-team All-Big 12 selection on defense (2020), and a second-team All-Big 12 pick as a kick returner (2018), he recorded 141 tackles, 8.5 tackles for loss, 2.0 sacks, four interceptions, and 35 passes defensed, while also recording 1,207 yards on 55 kickoff returns (21.9 average).

ALL-STATE: An Oklahoma native, Brown was named to The Oklahoman's All-State first-team after recording 26 tackles, one interception, and five offensive touchdowns as a senior, helping lead Union (OK) HS to a state title.

OF NOTE

FOR MOM: During Brown's sophomore season at Oklahoma in 2018, he tragically lost his mom, Beverly Brewer, to congestive heart failure. Days later, Brown stepped on the field for the Sooners against TCU, helping lead them to a commanding 52-27 victory. Following the game, Head Coach Lincoln Riley awarded him a game ball.

"She has never pouted," Brown told The Athletic. "Never once held her head down. She handled a lot of things with grace, so I wanted to go out there and show her that I have the strength to do everything for her."

Two weeks later, Brown was tabbed a nominee for the Capital One Orange Bowl Courage Award presented by the Football Writers Association of America (FWAA), recognizing players for overcoming adversity, living through hardship or displaying courage on or off the field.

GIVING BACK: While playing for the Seattle Seahawks in 2024, Brown visited the Spokane Children's Hospital to deliver gifts to many of the patients.

BEFORE THE NFL

PRODUCTIVE TRANSFER: Brownlee began his career at Florida State where he spent three seasons before transferring to Louisville for his final two seasons. In five seasons (2019-23), he appeared in 48 games (37 starts) and recorded 174 tackles, 7.5 tackles for loss, one sack, six interceptions, 22 passes defensed, one forced fumble, and one fumble recovery.

THE EARLY DAYS: In high school, Brownlee was part of a defense that recorded five shutouts and allowed an average of 9.8 points per game. While leading Miami Carol City (FL) HS, Brownlee helped the school to a 9-3 record and the regional semifinal round of the FHSAA 6A state playoffs. He recorded a 108-yard touchdown following an interception return, something he and his coaches say was the point he started to play with the kind of swagger some coaches want out of their corners.

"I'd say it started," Brownlee said to the Miami Herald in 2018, "when I set that record on this field for that 108."

"I think that was the turning point in his career," his coach Benedict Hyppolite said. "For him to being able to take it and go 108 yards, doing the distance, a lot of people don't do that in a lifetime. That (was) the boiling point for him."

OF NOTE

BROWNLEE'S CAUSE: In 2025's My Cause My Cleats initiative, Brownlee supported the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation in honor of his late friend:

"Three years ago, I lost a close one," Brownlee said in a feature with the Jets. "We had a special relationship. We had the type of bond where she understood me and I understood her. She's been a part of this journey; she's been with me every step of the way."

"Every time I'm on the green grass or just in life in general, just waking up, there's not a second she's not on my mind or I'm not wishing she was able to experience my experiences, what I'm experiencing in the National Football League."

"I'm blessed to be able to support a cause like this or just show the world that we lose a lot of people to this cause. It's always bigger than us. It's always bigger than the player. It's always bigger than the team. It's always bigger than the organization. A lot of people don't know the reasons of why we do what we do as football players, I just want them to know that the majority of these causes and these people, this is why we do it for."

STATS PACK

TOP TACKLER: In 2025, Brownlee recorded 53 tackles, including 36 after joining the Jets. Brownlee, who was limited to nine games between TEN and the Jets, averaged 5.89 tackles per contest, the fifth highest among cornerbacks who appeared in five+ games. Among the 144 defensive backs with 50+ tackle attempts in 2025, his 94.64% tackle efficiency was the ninth highest in the league.

BEFORE THE NFL

CLIMBING THE LADDER: Camper took an unconventional path to the NFL, beginning his collegiate career at Trinity Valley Community College, where he totaled 50 receptions for 858 yards and four touchdowns over two seasons (2020-21). He transferred to Indiana in 2022 and made an immediate impact, setting a program record with 156 receiving yards in his Hoosier debut. Across two seasons at Indiana, Camper appeared in 15 games (14 starts), recording 63 receptions for 854 yards and three touchdowns while earning second-team All-Big Ten honors in 2023. Alongside four touchdown catches, his 903 receiving yards and 58 receptions both ranked among the top 10 in the Mountain West, earning him an Honorable Mention to the All-Mountain West team.

BEFORE THE NFL

LOCAL LEGEND: A Queens, NY native, Cisco played three years at Syracuse, finishing his career as the FBS leader in interceptions with 13, the fourth-most all-time in program history. Over 24 games (21 starts), he amassed 136 tackles, 29 passes defensed, two forced fumbles, and one fumble recovery, garnering All-ACC recognition twice (2018-19), ACC Defensive Rookie of the Year (2018), and Syracuse Male Rookie of the Year (2018). Cisco made an instant impact with the Orange, becoming the first true freshman in program history to earn All-American honors after he registered seven interceptions, tied for the most in the country.

OF NOTE

HOMETOWN IMPACT: Born in Queens, Cisco grew up in Valley Stream on Long Island, where he started his high school career at St. Anthony's HS, located less than 50 miles from MetLife Stadium. He finished his final two years of high school at IMG Academy, where he helped lead the program to an 8-0 record and a No. 2 ranking in the USA Today Super 25 poll (2017).

Cisco holds an annual football camp in Valley Stream, providing campers with the virtues of grit, hustle, and the game-changing lessons of sports.

"I just want to emphasize growing as a man, growing as a player, just continue to grow as a person. Your biggest challenge isn't choosing between good and bad; it's choosing between good and what's best for you," Cisco told the LI Herald in 2024.

STATS PACK

BALL HAWK: All eight of Cisco's career interceptions have come when lined up as a high safety, including his pick-six. A five-year veteran, he's one of only seven players since he entered the league (2021) with at least eight interceptions and a pick-six when lined up as a high safety.

BEFORE THE NFL

CAPTAIN CLARK: A six-year safety and former team captain who appeared in 61 games (41 starts) at Kent State (2019-22) and Fresno State (2023-24), Clark recorded 301 tackles, 6.5 tackles for loss, 2.0 sacks, five interceptions, 14 passes defensed, one forced fumble, and one fumble recovery over his career. During his junior year at Kent State in 2021, his 78 solo tackles were the fourth most in the country.

BEGINNINGS: In three seasons at Massillon Washington (OH) HS, Clark was a two-way standout at safety and wide receiver and part of a team that went 14-1 and reached the OHSAA Division II State Championship game, where he registered a team-high 15 tackles. He was named to the Northeast Inland All-District Division II Defense first-team and selected a Division II OPSWA All-Ohio Honorable Mention as a senior.

GOOD WORKS: In his final season at Fresno State, Clark was nominated for the Allstate AFCA Good Works Team and the Allstate Wuerffel Trophy, presented annually to the FBS player who best exemplifies community service, leadership, and on-field performance. His nomination reflected both his strong academic standing and sustained impact in the community.

"Giving back to youth in the community is very fulfilling to me, and one of my favorite things to do," Clark told GoBulldogs.com in 2024. "I have been very blessed with great mentors and people who gave their time and resources to me as a kid, so it is important to me to do the same and show up for the youth whenever I can."

In addition to his football accomplishments, Clark earned Academic All-Mountain West honors.

STATS PACK

Started the season on the practice squad before joining the active roster in Week 14 • Appeared in five games (four starts), including two DNPs after being elevated from the practice squad • Completed 88-of-153 passes (57.5%) for 739 yards, two touchdowns, and seven interceptions for a 55.4 passer rating • Since 2000, he was one of just seven undrafted rookie quarterbacks with four+ starts, while his four starts are the most by a Jets undrafted rookie quarterback in franchise history.

BEFORE THE NFL

ALL-TIME TIGER: A five-year quarterback at Missouri (2020-24) and three-year captain (2022-24), Cook was a two-time SEC Football Scholar-Athlete of the year and the second-winningest quarterback in program history (26-13). He set an SEC record for consecutive passes without throwing an INT (365) and appeared in 48 games (39 starts), completing 65.6% of his passes for 9,013 yards, 49 touchdowns, and 15 interceptions, adding 1,209 yards and 20 touchdowns on 362 carries. In his final collegiate season, Cook led Mizzou to 10 wins as one of only three quarterbacks in the country to throw for 10+ touchdowns and two or less interceptions. He was a three-time Bowl MVP, including the Music City Bowl, the Goodyear Cotton Bowl, and, in his first college start, the Armed Forces Bowl.

COOKING A COMEBACK: In a mid-October contest during his senior season against Auburn (2024), Cook left the game after the first series with an ailing ankle injury. After going to the hospital for an MRI and testing the ankle in Missouri's indoor practice facility, he returned to the game in the late third quarter with Missouri trailing 17-6, and led the team to a historic comeback, tossing two fourth-quarter touchdowns to give Missouri a 21-17 victory.

HOMETOWN HERO: Growing up in St. Louis, Missouri, Cook attended Chaminade (MO) Prep located just 115 miles from the University of Missouri. He played quarterback and punter at Chaminade and garnered all-state recognition as a quarterback and first-team all-conference honors as both a quarterback and punter.

Recently, Cook delivered the commencement address to the class of 2026 at Chaminade Prep:

"To find success you will have to make the hard decisions. You will have to make sacrifices."

SCHOLAR ATHLETE: Cook became just the third player ever to repeat as the SEC Football Scholar-Athlete of the Year (2023-24), joining Tim Tebow (Florida, 2008-09) and Barrett Jones (Alabama, 2011-12). In the fall of 2021, Cook was named to the SEC Academic Honor Roll.

MISSOURI TEAMMATE: In the five games he played, Cook got to play behind fellow rookie and former college teammate Armand Membou, taken seventh overall in the 2025 NFL Draft. Membou protected the right side of the offensive line at Missouri and didn't allow a single sack in their final season in 2024. "It's been cool to see him develop," Membou told Jack Bell told reporters in December 2025. "I'll just say his attention to detail. I can see it in meetings and I can see it on the practice field, him pre-practice. He's done a really good job of becoming a pro."

STATS PACK

OPPORTUNITY: Pressed into action late in the season (2025), Cook became the first Jets undrafted rookie quarterback to start since 1973 (Bill Demory), and one of only seven this century with at least four starts.

OF NOTE

HISTORIC IMPACT: Cooper, an Indiana native, emerged as quarterback Fernando Mendoza's top target during the Hoosiers' historic 2025 National Championship run. He helped transform Indiana from the winningest drought–plagued program in FBS history into a national champion, while also playing a key role in the program's first Big Ten title since 1967. Indiana earned the AP No. 1 seed for the first time and posted its first undefeated regular season at 12-0, ultimately completing a perfect 16-0 campaign with a 27-21 victory over No. 10 Miami in the National Championship game. Cooper finished the College Football Playoff with 11 receptions for 133 yards and two touchdowns.

"Growing up, nobody paid attention to Indiana football. And so I just felt like, going there, I wanted to be a part of something that could be remembered at IU, like leave the team better than when I got there," Cooper told reporters after being drafted by the Jets (2026). "So, my goal was really never the National Championship, my goal was just to have them be ranked higher than, I mean be ranked in the top 25 before I left, but the fact that we were able to do what we did, I mean that was a dream come true."

THREE-SPORT PHENOM: During Cooper's high school career at Lawrence North (IN), he was a three-sport athlete, starting in football, basketball, and track, where he competed in the long jump.

STATS PACK

ENDZONE MAGNET: Cooper hauled in a career-high 13 touchdowns in his final season at Indiana (2025), tied for the third-most in the FBS, and the second-most among all Power Four pass catchers behind his teammate, Elijah Sarratt.

BEFORE THE NFL

LASTING LEGACY: Davis played all four of his collegiate seasons at Arkansas State, where he became a two-time first-team All-Sun Belt linebacker. In his four seasons, he registered 229 tackles, including 22.5 tackles for loss, and 7.0 sacks. He was inducted into the Arkansas State Hall of Fame in 2021.

OF NOTE

MAN OF THE YEAR: As a member of the Saints, Davis was named the team's Walter Payton Man of the Year three times (2020, 2022, and 2025) in recognition of his sustained commitment to the local community and his work through the Devoted Dreamers Foundation. Alongside his wife, Tamela, Davis founded the organization to empower youth through programs centered on financial literacy, character development, and academic support.

Davis grew up in Brandon, MS, a small town just outside of Jackson, where he excelled both academically and on the football field. Despite early success, he faced significant challenges and negative influences throughout his upbringing. Those struggles came to a head in high school, when he was expelled for drugs and alcohol, and later during his freshman year of college, when he spent time in jail.

"That was a wake-up call — something that scared me straight into knowing I had to do something different," Davis told StandTogether.org. "At that moment, something greater entered inside of me. My life became about being an example to other people."

Davis went on to earn his bachelor's degree from Arkansas State University and has since become one of the league's longest-tenured players. Motivated by his own experiences, he founded Devoted Dreamers to help others overcome adversity and pursue their potential. Together, Davis and Tamela share a long-term vision of equipping the next generation of leaders with the tools to succeed spiritually, mentally, and physically.

"I want you to imagine a place where kids can discover their identities and gifts — and learn how to grow them," Davis told StandTogether.com. "A place where teaching is tailored to each child's unique learning style. Devoted Dreamers Academy is that place. We take the time to understand who the child is and how they learn, and we teach them from there."

FULL CIRCLE: Davis rejoins the Jets after spending five of his first six career seasons in New York, having been selected by the team in the third round of the 2012 NFL Draft. TAKEOFF

- Third-year running back who was selected by the New York Jets in the fifth round of the 2024 NFL Draft.
- In 33 career games for the Jets (2024-present), has totaled 410 yards and two touchdowns on 73 carries (5.6 avg.), and 261 yards and one touchdown on 30 receptions (8.7 avg.). Added a two-point conversion, 14 special teams tackles, and has returned 20 kickoffs for 555 yards (27.8 avg.).
- Since entering the league (2024), his 5.6 yards per carry average is tied with Derrick Henry for the most among all running backs with at least 70 carries.

"He's a football player in whatever you ask him to do. I actually heard this from one of our other coaches, if he messes up something, it's not because he messed up, it's more likely you coached it wrong. So, Isaiah has been really, really good for us and I'm looking forward to whatever we ask him to do for him to do it at a high level."

- Special Team Coordinator Chris Banjo (09/11/25)

BEFORE THE NFL

ALL AMERICAN: A first-team All-American (2023), two-time first-team All-Missouri Valley Football Conference selection (2022-23), and team captain at South Dakota State University, Davis won back-to-back FCS National Championships, the first in program history, finishing his college career with 4,548 rushing yards on 676 attempts, while adding 50 touchdowns. Added 487 receiving yards on 53 receptions.

HIGH SCHOOL STANDOUT: Davis led Joplin (MO) HS to the Missouri Class 6 State Championship Game during his senior season, where he rushed for 2,283 yards on 253 carries with 45 touchdowns. His standout senior campaign earned him the Missouri Gatorade Football Player of the Year Award in 2019. Throughout his high school career, Davis rushed for 4,354 yards and scored 83 touchdowns.

OF NOTE

JOPLIN STRONG: Davis and his family lost their Joplin, MO home on May 22, 2011 to EF5 tornado (winds of over 200 mph) that killed 158 people and destroyed 4,000 buildings. The family survived after Davis' father, Cedric, grabbed a mattress and threw it over Davis and his brother in the hallway.

"Thankfully my dad thought quick," Davis told the New York Post as a rookie in 2024. "What I took away from it was always having a plan and always taking care of family. We didn't think anything of it and I felt like it almost went the worst way possible. I feel like now me and my family wherever we're at situation-wise as far as the weather goes, we're always going to have a plan."

STATS PACK

RACKING UP YARDS: Among all running backs with 40+ carries in 2025, Davis' 5.5 yards per carry was the fifth highest average in the league. FLIGHT PATH

2025 • JETS

Signed to the practice squad as part of the NFL International Player Pathway (IPP) program (11/27) for the final six weeks of the season.

BEFORE THE NFL

ORIGINS: Growing up rugby-obsessed, Ekeji was at Grey College, a renowned rugby school in Bloemfontein, South Africa when he was introduced to football playing Madden with friends.

“I got thumped really badly,” Ekeji told ESPN.com in 2025. "I didn't know anything about football. Being as competitive as I am, I went back home and searched Madden, American football highlights and strategies just so I could give myself an opportunity to compete next time and win.”

Starting then, Ekeji’s passion for football grew as the rugby player considered this might be something he wanted to pursue.

"At the time, I thought: 'I live in South Africa. It's far-fetched - this dream of mine. It's probably something I can't really do. There's no pathway,'" Ekeji said. “When I got down to the Western Cape, I met my agent and he told me that he had got an email, the NFL were looking for guys - they gave certain parameters, a certain height or weight.”

"He said: 'Look; let's give it a shot if you want to.' [I said] 'Let's do it.' We did a little bit of a combine here in Stellenbosch. I sent my numbers through and then, I got invited to the first ever [camp] in Africa, which was in Ghana in June in 2022. That's when I began to see that this is something that I can really do. It's feasible and there's a pathway."

He made his Currie Cup (South Africa's premier domestic rugby union competition) debut for Western Province in 2022, and after getting injured in 2023, he began to shift his attention to football, and after he finished his honors degree in agriculture at Stellenbosch University, he continued his studies on playing football, specifically the outside linebacker and edge positions.

"In my (defensive line) room, we speak about different things - maybe old habits about rugby that we need to change when playing football or something that's similar to rugby that we need to apply when playing football."

Ekeji finished his journey as part of the NFL’s International Player Pathway program Class of 2025, signing to the Jets practice squad in November that year.

OF NOTE

TRIPLE-NATIONALITY: Ekeji was born in Lesotho to two Nigerian parents and the family later moved to Ficksburg, South Africa, with Ekeji now holding citizenship for all three nations.

BEFORE THE NFL

DECORATED LION: A semifinalist for the Lombardi Award, Fashanu was named the Rimington-Pace Big Ten Offensive Lineman of the Year, team co-MVP, the team's Dick Maginnis Memorial Award, recognizing the most outstanding offensive lineman, and earned first-team All-American honors, the first Penn State offensive lineman to be named a consensus All-American since 1995 in his final season with the Nittany Lions (2023).

PRO TEAMMATE: Three-year letterman at Gonzaga College (DC) HS, where he protected CHI QB Caleb Williams as the school won the Washington Catholic Athletic Conference (WCAC) title as a junior, with Fashanu earning first-team All-WCAC honors as a junior and senior.

OF NOTE

ALL-AMERICAN STUDENT: Despite garnering NFL attention following his junior season (2022), Fashanu decided to return to Penn State for his senior year (2023) to finish his degree in supply chain management. Midway through his final season, he was named a finalist for the prestigious William V. Campbell Trophy, which annually recognizes an individual as the absolute best in the nation for his combined academic success, football performance, and exemplary leadership. On the field, he became the 44th consensus All-American in Penn State program history, in addition to earning AP first-team All-American honors, first-team All-Big Ten, and being named the Rimington-Pace Big Ten Offensive Lineman of the Year.

"He is a person of high character who exemplifies our core values, leads by example and models what it means to be a complete Penn State student-athlete," said former Penn State head coach James Franklin in 2022.

FASHANU'S FOOTSTEPS: His parents, Anthony and Paige, both grew up in Nigeria, but met after moving to the United States. Anthony's father, and Olu's grandfather, Chief Adewale Fashanu, played a significant role in helping Nigeria gain independence in 1960, and later served as the principal press and political secretary to the first President of Nigeria, Dr. Nnamdi Azikiwe.

STATS PACK

BOOKEND: As the Jets nominee for the Ed Block 'Most Courageous Player' Award, Fashanu started all 17 games at left tackle in 2025 for the first time in his career, after playing both tackle spots and guard as a rookie (2024). Fashanu allowed only two or less pressures in 10 games last season, one of only 11 left tackles to record 10 or more such games. In Week 10 vs. CLV (11/9), Fashanu lined up against Myles Garrett, who broke the NFL single-season sack record in 2025, and allowed just one pressure, according to Next Gen Stats.

BEFORE THE NFL

ROLL TIDE: A three-year starter at Alabama (2015-17), Fitzpatrick helped the Crimson Tide win two CFP National Championships (2015 and 2017), while garnering All-American and All-SEC recognition in all three seasons. Additionally, Fitzpatrick won both the Chuck Bednarik and Jim Thrope award as a junior (2017), joining Charles Woodson and Patrick Peterson as just the third player in NCAA history to win both.

OF NOTE

LOCAL LEGEND: A New Jersey native, Fitzpatrick grew up in Old Bridge with his parents, Minkah Sr. and Melissa, and his four siblings. As he entered his freshman year at St. Peter's Prep, the family home was devastated by Hurricane Irene, the first hurricane to make direct landfall in the state in more than a century.

The family moved in with his grandparents, and Fitzpatrick quickly adopted a demanding routine, waking up at 5:30 a.m. for school before returning home after practice and meetings to help his father rebuild the house.

"He comes from a hard-working family," Fitzpatrick Sr. told AL.com in 2015. "He's not a stranger to struggling a little bit. He definitely wasn't handed what he's got. He's worked hard for it, whether it was in the classroom, on the football field or out at the job where he worked on the truck with me."

Through it all, Fitzpatrick became an all-state defensive back at St. Peters Prep, where he also starred at wide receiver. Over his three-year career, he amassed 2,784 yards and 36 touchdowns on offense, eclipsing 1,000+ yards both rushing and receiving, in addition to registering seven interceptions, two defensive touchdowns, and a kickoff return touchdown. As a senior, he led the Marauders to their first state championship in almost 10 years, winning the title at MetLife Stadium.

"Minkah, more than any player that I've ever coached, was as driven and goal-oriented and really worked 24/7 to be where he is now," his high school coach Rich Hansen told AL.com in 2019.

STATS PACK

BALL HAWK: Fitzpatrick has been one of the league's most productive takeaway artists, accounting for 34 turnover worthy plays (INT+FF+FR) since entering the league in 2018, tied with Fred Warner and Xavien Howard for the 10th most over that span. His 21 career interceptions also rank among the top 10 since 2018, while his three pick-sixes are tied for the third most.

ACCOLADES GALORE: A two-time first-team All-American and two-time Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year, Hall finished his three-year career at Iowa State as the school's second-leading rusher and first with 56 scrimmage touchdowns, two of 11 Cyclone records he finished with. He also set the FBS record with a touchdown in 24 straight games. In 36 career games (30 starts), he totaled 3,941 yards and 50 touchdowns on 718 carries (5.5 yards per), while adding 734 yards and six touchdowns on 82 receptions.

The 2021 Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year, first-team All-American selection, and Doak Walker Award finalist, he finished 10th in Heisman Trophy voting after he started all 12 games in his final season (2021) and finished with 1,472 yards and 20 touchdowns on 253 carries for a single-season best 5.8 yards per carry. That year, Hall also added single-season highs with 36 receptions for 302 yards and three touchdowns.

As a true sophomore (2020), he earned Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year honors and was a first-team All-American selection, Doak Walker Award finalist, and finished sixth in Heisman Trophy voting. Hall led the nation in rushing (1,572 yards), the third-highest single-season total in school history and scored 21 rushing touchdowns. He also became the only player in the FBS with 75+ yards and a rushing touchdown in all 12 games, and the first since LaDainian Tomlinson (2000).

ALL-METRO SELECTION: Before enrolling at Iowa State, Hall was a two-time first-team All-State and All-Metro selection representing Wichita Northwest (KS) HS. He was named Metro Player of the Year as a senior, helping the team to a runner-up finish in Class 5A with a 12-1 record. As a senior, he rushed for 2,127 yards and 29 touchdowns and caught 20 passes for 588 yards and eight touchdowns.

OF NOTE

FAMILY AFFAIR: Hall's stepfather, Jeff Smith, spent four seasons in the NFL with KC and TB, while his cousin is a four-time Pro Bowler and 1988 Offensive Player of the Year, Roger Craig, who spent 11 seasons in the league with SF, then LAA and MIN.

"(Craig) has always been there," he told the New York Post after getting drafted. "He's always there to cheer me on. He texts me after every game, he always tells me if I have a question or if I want to call, just to call or text away."

STATS PACK

OF NOTE

AN UNORTHODOX JOURNEY: Jackson endured an unconventional start to his football career despite his uncle, Dexter Jackson, being named Super Bowl XXXVII MVP with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. Jackson joined the Gadsden County High School football team ahead of his junior year without any prior playing experience. Despite entering the sport later than most, he made an immediate impact by contributing at defensive tackle, defensive end, and tight end, helping lead his team to the state semifinals. Across two seasons on the defensive line, Jackson boasted 74 tackles, 24 tackles for loss, and 6.0 sacks. He went from never playing a snap to being ranked as a three-star recruit, the 89th defensive lineman in the 2021 class, the 95th overall recruit in Florida, and with six Division I offers. After decommitting from Tennessee, Jackson attended Maryland, then Miami, and ultimately crystallized his career at Florida State, where he could be close to his mother.

BEFORE THE NFL

SUPER CYCLONE: McDonald finished his five-year career at Iowa State (2018-22) as the most accomplished pass rusher in school history, setting the record for sacks (34.0), tying the record for forced fumbles (10), and registering the second-most tackles for loss (42) in program history. His 34.0 sacks are tied for the most in Big 12 history. McDonald was a three-time first-team All-Big 12 selection and the Big 12 co-Defensive Lineman of the Year in 2021.

OF NOTE

FAMILY FIRST: McDonald began playing football as a junior in high school while balancing work and helping his family financially as his mother, Chandra Williams, battled breast cancer after her diagnosis in 2008. She was declared cancer-free in 2012. McDonald later became the first college graduate in his family after returning to Iowa State for his senior season.

During high school, his family relocated to Milwaukee after falling on hard times, but McDonald chose to remain in Waukesha to continue his football career. He lived out of his car for a period of time, often sleeping in the McDonald's parking lot where he worked late into the night.

After several months, a police officer, friendly with Waukesha head football coach Matt Harris, alerted Harris that McDonald had been living in his car. From that point on, McDonald always had a place to stay.

"He was always himself," McDonald's basketball coach, Sam Katula, told The Athletic. "He knows where he came from, he knows what it takes to be successful — and he doesn't do it for himself. He does it for other people. He is truly an extremely selfless man. He was like that when he was 15. Will, there was just something so different about him."

FOUR-SPORT ATHLETE: McDonald lettered in football, basketball, track and field, and baseball at Waukesha North (WI) HS and was named the 2018 Classic 8 Player of the Year in basketball, averaging 18.3 points and 12.8 rebounds, and was the Division I state track & field discus champion and bronze medalist in the high jump.

STATS PACK

SACK ATTACK: McDonald finished last season (2025) with 8.0 sacks, becoming just the fifth Jet since 1982, when sacks became an official NFL statistic, to register at least 8.0 in back-to-back seasons.

BEFORE THE NFL

MICHIGAN MAN: In 38 games (18 starts) over four seasons at Michigan, McGregor recorded 47 tackles, 14.5 tackles for loss, 7.0 sacks, and five passes defensed. An All-Big Ten honorable mention as a senior (2023), he started all 15 games, including the CFP National Championship Game, and registered 26 tackles, 9.0 tackles for loss, 4.5 sacks, seven quarterback hurries, three passes defensed, and one forced fumble in the Big Ten Championship and a team-high 2.0 sacks in the Rose Bowl/CFP Semifinal.

A three-year starter and two-year captain who played tight end and defensive end at Port Huron Northern (MI) HS, McGregor set the school record with 227 career tackles and helped lead the Huskies to a 6-1 record and a share of the Macomb Area Conference-Blue championship as a senior. Across his high school tenure, he was a three-time All-State and All-Conference selection, as well as being ranked the No. 2 high school football player in Michigan by 247 Sports.

OF NOTE

WOLVERINE POND: As a senior at Michigan, McGregor lived off campus with five of his Wolverine teammates. Collectively, the group decided to build a pond in their backyard, putting unique skills to good use. Everyone pitched in to dig the pond out, and his teammate and roommate, Joel Honigford, an engineering major, managed to build a waterfall once the pond was filled up. After he and his roommates added fish to the pond, McGregor decided to buy ducks:

"And then I had the idea, I don't know why, that I'm going to buy some ducks," McGregor told Michigan Insider. "If you have a pond, you need ducks, right?

Some of my buddies on the hockey team, they ended up getting ducks as well. So, now there's a little duck gang."

FOUNDATION SPOTLIGHT: Through the NFL's annual My Cause My Cleats initiative, McGregor highlighted the work of the McGregor Foundation, his own nonprofit organization dedicated to promoting youth health and well-being.

Spent training camp with CIN but was waived at final cutdowns.

BEFORE THE NFL

THE RED RAIDER: McNamara appeared in 60 career games across five seasons at Texas Tech (2019-23), finishing his college career averaging 45.91 yards per punt, the highest mark in school and Big 12 history, and tied for the 12th highest mark in FBS history since 2000 (minimum 125 punts). He became the first punter in school history to earn All-Big 12 first-team accolades three times and the first player in school history to earn Big 12 Special Teams Player of the Year honors (2023). As a junior (2021), he broke the record for yards per punt (48.2).

In high school, McNamara was named Arizona's Luis Zendejas Kicker of the Year and received first-team All-State honors after a senior season at Highland (AZ) that saw him finish with a 42.6-yard net average, 12 field goals made, and a perfect 63-of-63 on extra point attempts. He was touted the No. 1 punter recruit nationally before committing to Texas Tech.

OF NOTE

SELF-TAUGHT: McNamara played basketball and soccer while growing up in Gilbert, AZ, before turning to football in high school. Drawing on his soccer background, he focused on kicking, spending countless hours studying the position alongside his father by watching instructional videos.

"I knew kicking would come a little more natural for me," McNamara told the Associated Press in 2025. "Me and my dad, we really didn't know where to start. We just Googled how to punt, how to kick. I think we probably Googled how to kick a field goal first because my first love is actually kicking field goals. That's more fun because you score points."

McNamara handled both kicking and punting in high school, becoming an all-state punter and three-star recruit choosing Texas Tech over the likes of Arizona, Arizona State, Missouri, Nebraska, and Utah State. When his college career ended, McNamara signed with Cincinnati as an undrafted free agent, but was waived at final cutdowns, spending his would-be rookie season out of football.

He attended a free-agent combine for specialists in March of 2025 ran by renowned kicking coach Gary Zauner, hosted in Arizona, where he was noticed by Jets special teams assistant Kevin O'Dea. O'Dea was impressed as the Jets arranged a private workout, signing him immediately.

STATS PACK

MAC ATTACK: McNamara recorded one of the best seasons by a punter in franchise history in just his first in the league after being released by CIN during training camp as a rookie (2024). The former Texas Tech Red Raider, McNamara posted a 43.2 net average on 71 punts, the highest by any Jets punter in a single season since StatsPass began tracking in 1976.

TAKEOFF

- Second-year offensive lineman who was selected by the New York Jets in the first round (seventh overall) of the 2025 NFL Draft.
- In 17 career games (17 starts), all with the Jets (2025-present), has made all his starts at right tackle.
- Selected to the PFWA All-Rookie team.

FLIGHT PATH

2025 • Jets • GP|GS|DNP|IA: 17|17|0|0

Named to the PFWA All-Rookie Team after he started all 17 games at right tackle, only the second Jets rookie to start 17 games (since 2021), one of six Jets offensive linemen to start every game as a rookie, and first since D'Brickashaw Ferguson and Nick Mangold (2006) • Part of an offensive line that started all 17 games together, marking the first time a team has done so since 2023, blocking for an offense that finished top 10 in the league with 123.3 rushing yards per game and 4.6 yards per carry, including a 3.9 average against a stacked box (eight+ defenders), fourth highest in the league, and 2.0 yards per carry before contact, the highest in the league • Allowed one or less pressure (accorded to Pro Football Focus) in nine games, the most among all rookie tackles, and tied for the second-most by a rookie tackle over the last five years.

BEFORE THE NFL

TOP-TIER TIGER: A three-year offensive lineman at Missouri (2022-24), Membou earned second-team All-SEC in his final season (2024) after he allowed zero sacks on 411 pass blocking snaps, according to Pro Football Focus. In 2023, he anchored a line tabbed a semifinalist for the Joe Moore Award, recognizing the most outstanding offensive line unit in the nation. Membou finished his Tigers career with 36 career games played, making 30 starts at right tackle.

HOMETOWN HERO: At Lee's Summit North (MO) HS, Membou finished as a four-star prospect by 247sports.com and a three-star prospect by ESPN, helping to lead the school to 20 victories and three consecutive state playoff appearances, including a MSHSAA Class 6 State semifinal berth as a senior.

OF NOTE

OFF THE COMBINE CHARTS: In the 40-yard dash, Membou was clocked at 4.91 seconds, marking the fastest time by any offensive lineman at least 6-4 and 330 pounds since 2003, according to NFL Research. Membou registered a 9-7 broad jump, the best among all offensive linemen in 2025, and a 34-inch vertical, becoming one of only four offensive linemen ever to surpass a 30-inch vertical and run a sub-5.0 40-yard dash at 315-plus pounds at the combine. His Relative Athletic Score (RAS) of 9.89 was 17th out of 1,398 offensive tackles graded since 1987.

BUILT BY FAMILY: Membou's parents, Suffo and Annie Melong, immigrated to the United States from Cameroon, in part to provide greater opportunity for their son. At the time, Annie was just 22, and both parents worked multiple jobs while raising Armand in the Kansas City area.

"I come from an African country, and most Africans come here to chase the American dream," Annie told the New York Post after the 2025 NFL Draft. "So, we work hard. [Armand] always saw us working hard. He's always been a focused, hard-working kid. He always knew what he wanted to do. The NFL was his dream."

That work ethic carried over to Missouri. Just weeks before the draft, Membou's former offensive line coach, Brandon Jones, spotted the first-round prospect running the steps alone inside Memorial Stadium.

"He's extremely motivated, and I don't think that's going to change," Jones told the New York Post. "He knows what's gotten him this far and he told me, 'Coach, I've got to work even harder.' That's what makes him unique and special. That's the type of kid the Jets are getting. He doesn't care about accolades or credit or anything like that. He just really embraces the work and getting better and just wants to be a protector. He's going to make that team that much better."

STATS PACK

A CLASS OF HIS OWN: Membou was named to the PFWA All-Rookie Team last season (2025) after allowing one or fewer pressures in nine games, the most such games among all rookie tackles on the year and tied for the second-most among all rookie tackles drafted over the last five seasons (since 2021).

BEFORE THE NFL

THE AD PATH: Mitchell won back-to-back National Championships at Georgia (2021-22) before transferring to Texas (2023), in part, to be closer to his daughter, Icylinn. During his two seasons with the Bulldogs and one with the Longhorns, Mitchell caught a touchdown in each of the five College Football Playoff games in which he appeared. Overall, he finished his college career with 93 receptions for 1,405 yards (15.1 avg.) and 18 touchdowns in 35 games, including 11 touchdowns in his final college season at Texas, which led the Big 12. His standout season with the Longhorns earned him Big 12 Offensive Newcomer of the Year honors in 2023.

DECORATED ANYWHERE: In high school at Cane Ridge (TN) HS as a senior and Ridge Point (TX) HS before that, Mitchell was named 2019 Tennessean Region 5-6A Athlete of the Year and 2018 UIL Class 6A District 20 All-District Team Second-Team offense, before earning a scholarship to Georgia as one of just four non-four/five-star recruits in Georgia's 20 player 2021 class.

OF NOTE

AGAINST THE ODDS: Mitchell was diagnosed at age 16 with Type 1 diabetes, which he has to treat multiple times a day with insulin injections. Early on, he had challenges staying on track with his medication, something that had a significant effect on his mood, a common problem among diabetics.

"I was in health class, and it was a segment about diabetes," Mitchell told the New York Post in 2025. "It was always right after practice, and I was diabetic at the time and I didn't know it. So, I'm extremely tired — and I slept through the whole entire segment. I found out officially February 1, 2019. The only question I had for my doctor was, 'Am I still gonna be able to play football?'

"I feel like I've been extremely blessed, and if I don't really live out my potential, I feel like I'm doing myself a disservice and I feel like I'm doing the game a disservice."

STATS PACK

DEEP THREAT: Since entering the league (2024), Mitchell has averaged 14.55 air yards on 129 targets, the sixth-highest in the league among all receivers with at least 50 receptions. On his 13 receptions on throws of 15+ air yards, Mitchell has produced 28.3 yards per catch, 12 of his 15 career explosive catches, and a 52-yard touchdown.

BEFORE THE NFL

SMALL SCHOOL ALL-AMERICAN: Mitchell was a four-year offensive lineman who played left tackle, right tackle, and left guard over 51 games (37 starts) for Louisiana. As a senior (2021), he started 13 games and was named a Sun Belt first-team All-Conference selection in addition to a third-team All-American (Associated Press) and first-team selection from Pro Football Focus, graded as the number one tackle in the nation. He served as a key part of an offensive line that was a semi-finalist for the Joe Moore Award, which recognizes the most outstanding offensive line unit in college football, for the second-consecutive season.

OF NOTE

PERSPECTIVE: During his rookie season, Mitchell was diagnosed with Factor V Leiden, a genetic blood-clotting disorder that, in its most severe form, can be life-threatening. The condition became apparent during a Week 13 game at Minnesota, when he was forced to repeatedly retreat to the sideline for oxygen. Mitchell was sidelined for the remainder of the season but returned the following year in time for OTAs after doctors determined he had a milder form of the disorder and that it had been caught early.

A fourth-round pick in the 2022 NFL Draft, Mitchell started Week One as a rookie, becoming just the 11th Jets rookie offensive lineman to start on Kickoff Weekend since 1970. He appeared in six games as a rookie, making five starts, before his season was cut short due to the condition.

"I'm just grateful to be here," Mitchell told The Athletic in 2023. "This is so cool. It gave me a chance to take a step back from football and be grateful that I'm here, playing the game. It made me appreciate it all...I'm getting chills, man."

STATS PACK

STARTING EARLY: In 2022, Mitchell became the 11th rookie offensive lineman to start on Kickoff Weekend for the Jets since 1970. Last season, teammate Armand Membou became the 12th. Of the 12, Mitchell is one of only three to be drafted outside of the first two rounds, and one of only four to be drafted outside of round one.

BEFORE THE NFL

COLLEGE SPOTLIGHT: A five-year defensive back at Nicholls (2019-21) and Tulane (2022-23), Monroe appeared in 58 games (37 starts) and earned back-to-back first-team All-AAC nods after transferring to Tulane. In his final season (2022), the Louisiana native was recognized as an All-American honoree by HERO Sports after he posted 48 tackles, including 3.5 tackles for loss, three interceptions, 10 passes defensed, 1.0 sack, and a forced fumble. Monroe helped lead the Green Wave to a 23-5 record in his two seasons, highlighted by a win in the 2022 Cotton Bowl. He competed in the 2024 East-West Shrine Bowl and was tabbed the game's Defensive MVP.

OF NOTE

SIDELINE SPARK: Monroe is known for his infectious personality and constant energy around the locker room, frequently engaging with teammates across position groups. That enthusiasm carried over to Tulane, where he made an immediate impact after transferring from Nicholls State.

"He's a guy that I could be in a different country and hear his voice across the ocean," his Tulane quarterback, Michael Pratt, told crescentcitysports.com. "I know his voice. I hear him all practice long from the opposite side of the field. He loves to talk, a big competitor who is very passionate about the game. Definitely a fun guy to go up against."

While on the recruiting trail, Willie Fritz, then the head coach at Tulane, always asked prospects if they love the game, a question that Monroe answered emphatically.

"He definitely loves it," Fritz told crescentcitysports.com. "Loves playing the game, loves practicing, loves lifting weights, loves studying the game and brings so much genuine enthusiasm about just being a college football player."

Appeared in all 17 games (14 starts) as a rookie, one of five rookies drafted in the fourth round or later to start at least 14 games in 2025 • Recorded 95 tackles, the most among all rookie defensive backs, fourth-most among all rookies, and second most on the team • Added three tackles for loss, three passes defensed, two pressures, one forced fumble, one fumble recovery, and six tackles on special teams.

BEFORE THE NFL

ROLL TIDE: A five-year safety at Alabama (2020-24) and one of just 15 two-time permanent captains in school history, Moore earned All-SEC first-team (2024), All-SEC second-team as a freshman (2020), second-team All-American (2024), freshman All-SEC (2020), and won a National Championship (2020) and three SEC Championships (2020, 2021, 2023). He finished his career with 214 tackles, 15.5 tackles for loss, 2.5 sacks, seven interceptions, 25 passes defensed, three forced fumbles, and two fumble recoveries, including one returned for a touchdown in 66 games (45 starts).

STATE HERO: Moore, a cornerback and safety at Hewitt-Trussville (AL) HS, was recognized as the third-highest ranked prospect in Alabama, the number eight safety in the country, and was selected to play in the All-American Bowl and the Alabama-Mississippi All-Star Game following his senior season.

OF NOTE

INSPIRED BY HER: A defining relationship in Malachi Moore's life began in 2018 when he visited his mother's kindergarten classroom and met a student named Henrietta Murray. The two formed an immediate bond, sparked by Henrietta's love of Alabama football and Moore's commitment to the Crimson Tide.

Born prematurely and later diagnosed with a rare mitochondrial disease that caused progressive blindness and serious health complications, Henrietta faced daily challenges with resilience and optimism. Moore remained a consistent presence in her life, bringing her to an Alabama game as his recruiting guest, encouraging her through difficult moments, and celebrating milestones together as his career progressed from high school recruit to team captain.

As Henrietta's health declined, Moore fulfilled her request for a signed football and visited her shortly before her passing in May 2024 at the age of 11, later serving as one of her pallbearers.

Moore has often reflected on the lasting impact of their friendship, crediting Henrietta's strength and spirit as a source of motivation and perspective he carries with him every day.

"Just seeing her fight through adversity gave me a fire to keep pushing," Moore said in a feature with the SEC Network. "What I was doing was nothing compared to what she had to go through."

"She meant a lot to me. She was a great friend. I really dedicated this season to her; every game I had a pink mouthpiece, because that was her favorite color. Going into the NFL, she's going to be with me every step of the way."

STATS PACK

MOORE TACKLES: Selected by the Jets in the fourth round, Moore's 95 tackles as a rookie were the fourth most by a Jets rookie defender and the second most by a Jets rookie safety since 2000, and the most by a rookie safety last season and fourth among all rookie defenders across the league in 2025. After becoming a full time starter in Week Five, Moore registered eight games (out of 12) with seven+ tackles, including a six-game streak to end the season. Among all rookies in 2025, his eight performances were the second most.

BEFORE THE NFL

BUCKEYE BROTHERHOOD: Myers played three seasons at Ohio State (2018-20), overlapping with future Jets teammates WR Garrett Wilson and TE Jeremy Ruckert. He was named a team captain ahead of his final season in Columbus (2020) and appeared in 32 career games, making starts in his final 20 contests at center. He earned first-team All-Big Ten and second-team All-American (2020) and helped the Buckeyes win three Big Ten titles, clinching back-to-back College Football Playoff berths (2019-20) for the first time in program history.

"OH-IO": Attending Miamisburg (OH) HS, Myers helped the school to four state playoff appearances, and was a first-team Division II All-State pick as a junior and senior who finished as the No. 1 rated player in the state. He committed to Ohio State as a sophomore after initially receiving a scholarship offer from the school as a freshman.

OF NOTE

IT RUNS IN THE FAMILY: Myers' mother, Julie, his father, Brad, and his oldest brother, Zack, all played collegiate athletics at the Division I level. His mother was inducted into the Dayton Athletics Hall of Fame following a stellar career on the women's basketball team, while both his father (1984-87), and oldest brother (2013-16), played on the offensive line at the University of Kentucky.

A PERSONAL CAUSE: During last season's My Cause My Cleats initiative, Myers honored his cousin, Jansen, and the Jansen Myers Child Abuse Foundation. Jansen was a victim of child abuse and tragically passed away on August 8, 2001. The foundation works to promote child abuse awareness in the Miamisburg community and beyond through a range of outreach efforts, helping to ensure children can grow up in safe, supportive environments free from abuse.

BEHIND THE NUMBER: Myers wore No. 71 throughout his three year career at Ohio State, but during his final season in 2020, he switched to No. 50 for one game to honor his grandfather, Donnie Myers. The number paid tribute to the jersey Donnie wore while playing football at Miamisburg High School in the late 1950s.

Donnie met his wife, Beverly, in high school, and the two were married for several decades before Donnie passed away from Alzheimer's disease in 2009. Myers chose to honor his grandfather on behalf of his grandmother, Beverly, who preserved many of her husband's old football keepsakes and shared them with Josh.

"They were the type of grandparents that never missed a sporting event," Myers told Ohio State reporters in 2020. "My grandmother is 78 years old and for the last couple of years she'd watch my cousins play on Friday night for Miamisburg and then turn around and go to my game in Columbus or sometimes even on the road. She's the sweetest, kindest lady you could ever meet."

STATS PACK

ANCHOR IN THE MIDDLE: Myers ranked as one of the best centers in football last season (2025) in key metrics, allowing just a 0.4% sack rate on 607 pass block snaps, a top 10 mark in the league among all centers with 500+ pass block snaps. Notably, he allowed just 1.0 sack over his final 11 games (since Week Seven).

Additionally, Myers did not allow any pressures in four games, tied for the fourth most such games among all centers in the league.

BEFORE THE NFL

GLOBAL JOURNEY: Before moving to the United States in 2010, Okorafor was originally born in Nigeria and lived in South Africa and Botswana. Despite only moving to the U.S. when he was 13 years old, he was ranked as the seventh highest prospect in Michigan for the class of 2014 and started his final 39 games to conclude his career at Western Michigan University.

AWARD-WINNING SENIOR CAMPAIGN: After earning first-team All-MAC recognition in his junior year (2016) at Western Michigan, Okorafor racked national attention after his senior season. Starting all 12 games, he was a Phil Steele and FWAA first-team All-American and one of six semifinalists for the Outland Trophy, given to the nation's best interior lineman.

CLOSE TO HOME: A three-star recruit from Southfield (MI) HS, Okorafor turned down offers from at least seven Power Four programs to attend Western Michigan. The Broncos' proximity to home helped seal his commitment.

BEFORE THE NFL

AROUND THE WORLD: A native of Lagos, Nigeria, Onyemata immigrated to Winnipeg, Canada, on his own to attend the University of Manitoba, where he was first introduced to football during the 2012 season.

Before that point, Onyemata had played soccer growing up and had little exposure to American football. Looking to fill free time outside of class, he decided to try the sport.

“I just felt it was time to give something a try, because all I did was go to class and go back home,” Onyemata told ESPN. “I had so much free time. So I ended up just trying out for the team.”

Onyemata approached Bisons head coach Brian Dobie seeking an opportunity, and while his physical ability was immediately evident, Dobie noted he began “beyond ground zero raw,” with limited knowledge of the game. Despite that learning curve, Onyemata developed quickly into one of the top defensive linemen in Canadian university football.

Over four seasons (2012–15), he appeared in 37 games for Manitoba, recording 166 tackles, 9.5 sacks, two passes defensed, one forced fumble, and one fumble recovery. He earned back-to-back Canada West All-Star honors (2014–15), was named a 2015 All-Canadian, and received the J.P. Metras Trophy as the nation’s top down lineman. His standout career culminated in 2016, when he became the first player in program history to be selected in the NFL Draft.

"It's a pretty great story. Up here in Canada, we're literally calling it Cinderella," Dobie told ESPN.

OF NOTE

REUNION: Onyemata rejoins Demario Davis as former teammates with NO. The two defenders anchored the Saints' front seven from 2018-22, heighted by an appearance in the NFC Championship Game (2018).

“I don't want to make a preposterous statement, because I've played with a lot of guys, but he's easily top five one of the best run defenders I've ever played with,” Davis told Jets reporters. “I mean, he makes a noticeable difference in the game. And our time with the Saints, every year that he was on our roster we were in the top five on defense in the league in almost every category you look at, you can go back and check that track record.”

A LASTING CONNECTION: Following the Jets' 29-27 victory over the Atlanta Falcons on Nov. 30, 2025, Onyemata, then a Falcon, sought out Aaron Glenn at midfield to thank his former position coach for the impact he had on his life and career. Their postgame exchange reflected the mutual respect between the two and played a significant role in Onyemata's decision to reunite with Glenn in New York.

"I was gonna tell you, 10 years ago when I used to be in that meeting early and you used to talk to me, man, that changed my life. It changed my life and I appreciate you for that," Onyemata told Glenn.

STATS PACK

RUN STOP KING: Onyemata was one of the league’s best run stoppers last season (2025), posting a 13.3% run stop rate, the fifth-best mark among all defensive tackles with at least 250 snaps against the run. He joins teammate Harrison Phillips in the top five.

BEFORE THE NFL

LONGHORN POWER: A consensus All-American and first-team All-Big 12 selection (2020), Ossai appeared in 36 games (24 starts) over his career at Texas, where he recorded 165 tackles, including 30.5 tackles for loss, 11.0 sacks, five forced fumbles, five passes defensed, two interceptions, one fumble recovery, and a blocked kick. He was the Defensive MVP in the 2019 Alamo Bowl to conclude his sophomore year. During his final season with the Longhorns (2020), the Lagos native led the Big 12 and tied for third nationally with 16.0 tackles for loss. His performance earned him finalist honors for the Lott IMPACT Trophy, semifinalist recognition for the Chuck Bednarik Award, and honorable mention nods for both Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year and Defensive Lineman of the Year.

COMING TO AMERICA: Born in Lagos, Nigeria, Ossai moved to Conroe (TX), at age 10, where he was first introduced to football after seeing the sport on television. He developed quickly at Conroe Oak Ridge HS, emerging as a two sport athlete in football and basketball and earning multiple All District and All State honors. His ascent made him one of the top prospects in the state.

OF NOTE

MAJOR ASPIRATIONS: Ossai majored in arts and entertainment technology at Texas, with a minor in computer science. Outside of football, he hopes to one day establish a foundation that supports children immigrating to the United States, drawing from his own experience moving from Nigeria.

"AET (arts and entertainment technology) comes into play with app design and potentially video game development," Ossai said in a profile with the Longhorns. "There are a lot of options, and I'm really enjoying it. With a background in computer science and programming, I can take it wherever I want."

Throughout his career, Ossai has supported initiatives that positively impact youth, including the NewPath Foundation as part of the NFL's annual My Cause My Cleats campaign. NewPath supports individuals and families facing behavioral, educational, and other youth-related challenges through trauma-informed care, helping them overcome obstacles and build long-term stability.

STATS PACK

GOOD COMPANY: Ossai registered a career-high 13.2% pressure rate last season (2025), totaling 45 pressures. Since missing his entire rookie season due to injury, he has posted a pressure rate north of 11.0% in each of the past four seasons.

WINNING THROUGH DOUBLE TEAMS: Since 2024, Ossai has recorded 3.0 sacks against double teams when lined up as an edge rusher, tied for the second-most among all NFL defenders in that span.

TAKEOFF

- First-year defensive lineman who signed with the New York Jets as an undrafted free agent (2025).
- In three career games with the Jets (2025-present), has registered six tackles, one tackle for loss, and one pressure.

FLIGHT PATH

After spending the first 15 weeks on the practice squad, signed to the active roster (12/18) • Appeared in four games, including two after being elevated from the practice squad • Recorded six tackles, one tackle for loss, and a pressure • Made his NFL debut at CIN (10/26) after being elevated from the practice squad.

BEFORE THE NFL

PATIENT PAGE: Despite arriving at Clemson as a consensus four-star recruit and a national top-40 prospect by ESPN.com, Page earned his opportunity by working his way up a deep defensive line, appearing in all but one game during each of his first two seasons while developing behind future NFL talent.

“When I first got here, I had a lot of people in front of me…Bryan Bresee, Tyler Davis and Ruke Orhorhoro to name a few,” Page told ClemsonTigers.com. “Back then, I was more upset having to sit and wait my turn. But now that I’m older, I actually see that I needed to do that. I needed to sit behind those guys to learn from them and ask questions, so that I could be ready when my time came.”

Page went on to appear in 53 games (14 starts) over his four-year career, registering 59 tackles, a 0.5 sack, one interception returned for a touchdown, two passes defensed, and two fumble recoveries. As a senior captain, he was named a third-team All-ACC selection after posting single-season highs in tackles, tackles for loss, sacks, and interceptions.

A LATE BLOOMER: Page's primary sport growing up was basketball, and he did not begin playing organized football until seventh grade. Two years later, he started his high school career at James B. Dudley (NC) HS. Despite the late start, he still helped his team to a 30-10 record over his three seasons with the program and was tabbed the third-best player in North Carolina, per ESPN.

BEFORE THE NFL

MEMPHIS MACHINE: A five-year member of the Memphis football team, Parham appeared and started in all 50 games of his collegiate career. He was named a first-team All-AAC selection during his senior season after not allowing a sack in 545 pass blocking snaps and helping the Tigers offense rank 16th in the nation in passing yards per game. Over the course of his collegiate career, Parham blocked for two 1,400-yard-plus rushers in Kenneth Gainwell (1,456) and Darrell Henderson (1,909).

POSITION SWITCH: Parham played linebacker at Carrollton (GA) HS, before switching to tight end, the position he was recruited by Memphis to play. After a redshirt season at Memphis, the coaching staff helped convert Parham to the offensive line, becoming an all-conference player and starting four consecutive seasons.

OF NOTE

TRACK STAR: In 2014, Parham competed in the USATF National Junior Olympic Track & Field Championship in Humble, TX, which is also Head Coach Aaron Glenn's hometown.

In the boys 15-16 age group, Parham finished 26th in the triple jump with 12.03m, the best mark out of all competitors from his home state of Georgia.

STATS PACK

ELITE PROTECTOR: Since 2022, Parham has produced 16 games without allowing a sack while logging at least 40 pass-blocking snaps, tying for the seventh-most among guards in the NFL during that span alongside multiple first-team All-Pros and Pro Bowl selections.

BEFORE THE NFL

JUCO ROUTE: Patrick started his collegiate career at Grossmont College, earning first-team all-conference after averaging 87.6 yards per game and 18.2 yards per catch. He was also a second-team all-conference player in basketball, leading the school to the conference title game.

After his illustrious career at the junior level, Patrick played three seasons at Utah (2014-16), appearing in 22 games with 14 starts. As a senior (2016), he led the team in receptions (45), yards (711), and touchdowns (five), posting three 100-yard games.

OF NOTE

UNBREAKABLE: Patrick persevered through a tumultuous upbringing, as his father was incarcerated for 15 years, and his mother spent time in jail. His grandmother, Ruth Patrick, became his guardian, and who Patrick credits with shaping him.

After being underrecruited out of University City (CA) HS, Patrick went the JUCO route, before earning a scholarship to Utah. He entered the league as an undrafted free agent, bouncing between practice squads before appearing in all 16 games in just his second season.

From 2022-23, Patrick suffered season-ending injuries in back-to-back training camps, but still returned the following year and appeared in all but one game during the regular season, even making an appearance in the postseason with DET.

“You guys know (my) story,” Patrick told reporters after his injury. “Nothing’s ever been easy. It’s always the hard way with me for some reason but it’s something that I embrace. And it’s just another situation to make my story that much greater.”

LINKS TO LEADERSHIP: Although this is Patrick's first stint with the New York Jets, he arrives with familiarity across the organization's leadership. He spent five seasons in Denver while current Jets General Manager Darren Mougey rose through the Broncos' front office, and he played under Aaron Glenn during his lone season with the Detroit Lions, when Glenn served as the team's defensive coordinator.

"Man, legit, legit leadership qualities. He's very selfless. He's going to pour into all these guys as much as he has to make sure they understand what it takes to win. He's been a part of a program in Buffalo, when they were downtrodden, he helped bring them back up. He's been a part of Minnesota when they were just on the cusp of actually going up and he helped those guys end up having a really good season. So, he's been there, he's done that, and he's tough, he's hardnosed, he's competitive. Everything about a defensive lineman that I like, he strains, and we're fortunate, like we're fortunate to have a guy like that."

BEFORE THE NFL

RELENTLESS: An Omaha, NE native, Phillips' path to becoming an All-American defensive tackle at Stanford required both persistence and sacrifice. Despite earning all-state honors and dominating as a high school lineman, Phillips recognized he needed to compete against top-tier talent to prove himself as a national prospect.

To gain that exposure, Phillips and his family committed to traveling to camps across the Midwest, often at significant financial cost. As those opportunities added up, his family faced mounting challenges. During his freshman year of high school, his father, Paul, lost his job after more than two decades, and later faced a second layoff despite helping his next company achieve strong sales performance.

At the same time, Phillips's mother, Tammie, operated a home daycare to help support the family, with as many as 10 children in the household each day. Even with those efforts, the financial strain grew, and by Phillips' senior year, his parents were forced to give up the family's dream home.

Despite the setbacks, his parents remained committed to supporting his football aspirations, ensuring he could continue attending camps and pursuing opportunities at the next level. That support extended to a pivotal moment late in his recruitment, when his grandmother helped fund a trip to a camp of Phillips' choice. After extensive research, he selected Stanford.

After a series of flight delays and re-routes, Phillips arrived in the Bay Area at 5:30 a.m., just three hours before the camp began, yet still took the field. The trip ultimately proved transformative, as Phillips earned the exposure he had been seeking and later received a scholarship offer from head coach David Shaw.

"I was sitting on the corner of my bed and just fell backward, full-eagle spread," Phillips wrote in a first-person account published on sidearmsports.com. "I screamed, and laid there probably four or five seconds. Then I realized I was still on the phone. I sat back up and he was still talking. I remember saying, 'Yes, yes, yes, yes,' and 'thank you, thank you, thank you, thank you.' I pretty much told him, I'm coming."

DECORATED CARDINAL CAREER: Phillips' resume at Stanford extended well beyond his first-team All-Pac-12 selection and two All-Academic first-team honors. As a senior captain (2017), he earned FWAA second-team All-American and AP third-team All-American recognition, was a Bednarik Award semifinalist, a finalist for the Bobby Bowden Award and Lott IMPACT Trophy, and received the Alamo Bowl Sportsmanship Award.

OF NOTE

MAN OF THE YEAR: Phillips has been a Walter Payton Man of the Year nominee three times in his career, twice with BUF (2020-21), and once with MIN (2023). Through his nonprofit organization, Harrison's Playmakers, Phillips helps children with intellectual disabilities with a goal to foster self-esteem in their young lives and employ a pay-it-forward mentality with volunteerism in the community and other acts of kindness.

"As an athlete in high school, I normally sat and had lunch with the "cool kids." Arriving to eat late one day, I sat with a group of others who had developmental differences and I had so much fun experiencing the joy and happiness they exhibited despite their special need," Phillips told corebank.com at a fundraiser. "It hit me that because of their disability, they oftentimes were left out of mainstream activities and those of us without special needs were missing out on the happiness I experienced that day. From then on, I was committed to find a way to create mainstream opportunities we could share together. This is what our "Inclusion Revolution" is all about."

STORYBOOK ENDING: A Florida native, Ponds was underrecruited coming out of Chaminade Madonna (FL) HS, overlooked because of his size. No Florida schools recruited the Miami native, and Ponds committed to James Madison to start his collegiate career.

Before transferring to Indiana, Ponds received calls from his hometown school, the University of Miami, but ultimately decided to stick with Head Coach Curt Cignetti. In a true storybook ending, Ponds' Hoosiers defeated the Miami Hurricanes 27-21 in the 2025 CFP National Championship, the last game of his collegiate career.

"I've been proving people wrong my whole life," Ponds told reporters during Rookie Minicamp. "Like you said, I embrace it, but at this point, I feel like I'm just proving myself right, and in that process I'm proving them wrong because they didn't expect me to do it. I'm just dedicated to the process and, like I said, I'm just proving them wrong in the process."

Ponds has never let height become a factor on the football field, even when he was just four years old playing with kids three years older in Miami Gardens. His father, Angelo, instilled in him that he had to do everything that others wouldn't; fly to the ball, be first in line for every drill, study every position and know every job on the field.

"He was a dog back then and he's a dog now," Angelo Ponds told The Athletic.

ALWAYS INVOLVED: Ponds registered 54 tackles last season (2025) during the Hoosiers' National Championship campaign, the third-most among all Power Four cornerbacks.

BEFORE THE NFL

PRITCHETT'S PATH: After being told he was undersized by countless schools coming out of high school, Pritchett landed at Tuskegee University, a Division II school in Alabama. After one season, he decided to walk on at South Alabama.

“I felt like I could play at a bigger level, so I decided to walk on to South,” Pritchett told the New York Post last year in training camp (2025). “The rest is history. I went in and proved myself every day and earned a scholarship after my first year. I’ve been going ever since then.”

Despite only spending two seasons with the Jaguars, playing 33 games with 21 starts, Pritchett graduated South Alabama with the second-most receiving yards, second-most touchdown receptions, and fifth-most receptions in school history.

In his final season, he caught the third-most passes in the FBS among wide receivers (91) and became one of only eight wide receivers in the country to tally 80+ receptions and 1,000+ receiving yards. Of the eight, five were drafted within the first three rounds of the 2025 NFL Draft, including first round selections Tetairoa McMillan and Emeka Egbuka. His strong senior campaign earned him first-team All-Sun Belt recognition.

A key player in the run game, the Buckeyes finished sixth among Power Five schools with 10,536 yards rushing in his four seasons, averaging 5.3 yards per carry, the fourth best among the Power Five. As a senior (2021), he totaled single-season bests with 26 receptions for 309 yards and three touchdowns. During his collegiate career, Ruckert overlapped with Jets teammates Garrett Wilson and Josh Myers in Columbus. Ruckert garnered an honorable mention to the All-Big Ten team (2021).

NEW YORK PLAYER OF THE YEAR: A three-time Newsday All-Long Island first-team selection, he was selected as New York's Gatorade State Player of the Year and led Lindenhurst (NY) HS to their first-ever Long Island Class I title as a senior. During his senior season, Ruckert caught 61 passes for 1,094 yards and 13 touchdowns on offense and added 61 tackles with 13.0 sacks and two INTs as a defensive end/linebacker. He finished with career totals of 222 receptions for 3,133 yards and 37 TDs.

OF NOTE

SMART GUY: A three-time OSU Scholar-Athlete and Academic All-Big Ten honoree, he was the school's nominee for the National Football Foundation and College Football Hall of Fame's William V. Campbell Trophy, presented to the player with the best combination of academics, community service, and on-field performance.

GOLF GURU: This offseason (2026), Ruckert and teammate Max Mitchell flew down to Florida to cheer on New York Golf Club of the TGL, featuring Matt Fitzpatrick, Rickie Fowler, Xander Schauffele, and Cameron Young. Ruckert and Mitchell tested out the technology themselves following the match.

Later in the offseason, Ruckert and Mitchell participated in an LPGA Pro Am tournament in New Jersey, alongside professionals Esther Henseleit and Akie Iwai.

INSPIRING THE JET GENERATIONS: Growing up on Long Island, Ruckert dreamed of one day playing for the New York Jets. Now living that dream, he hosts youth football camps at a sports complex in Massapequa, hoping to inspire the next generation of local athletes pursuing the same goal.

"I grew up going to events where Jets players were and going to their practices when I was a kid and just dreaming that that could be me one day," Ruckert told Greater Lindenhurst in 2023. "Here we are now and just letting them know that it's possible and that you just have to keep your head on your shoulders, keep working and maybe one day it will be them."

BEFORE THE NFL

RELIABLE LEG: In 50 games at New Mexico, Sanders converted 25/35 field goal attempts (71.4%) and 111/112 on extra-point attempts. In 2016, his field goal percentage of 92.3% (12/13) ranked sixth in the country.

Sanders played his high school ball at Villa Park (CA) HS.

OF NOTE

MILITARY TIES FUELS SANDERS' PHILANTHROPY: Over his seven NFL seasons, Sanders has consistently supported the Wounded Warrior Project (WWP), a nonprofit organization that serves wounded, ill, and injured veterans and their families.

The cause holds special significance for Sanders, whose father and both brothers have served in the military.

In 2020 and 2021, Sanders wore custom WWP cleats as part of the NFL's My Cause My Cleats initiative, with the cleats later auctioned to benefit the organization.

WR1: Sanders is one of four kickers in NFL history to score a receiving touchdown in a game. In Week 13, 2019, against the Philadelphia Eagles, he caught a one-yard pass on fourth and goal from punter Matt Haack on a trick play called the "Mountaineer Shot."

OF NOTE

SCOTT'S SEARCH: An Omaha, NE native, Scott played both sides of the ball in high school, doubling as a linebacker and running back. After Omaha Public Schools canceled all fall sports due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Scott transferred to Skutt Catholic and averaged 114.0 rushing yards per game and 11.0 yards per carry on 62 attempts, totaling 684 yards and eight touchdowns in just six games. He also registered 31 tackles and a fumble recovery on defense.

After his stellar senior year, Scott ranked as the No. 8 player in Nebraska and was recruited by North Dakota, Northern Iowa, South Dakota, and South Dakota State, and was also offered a walk-on spot at Nebraska before committing to Wyoming.

BACK WITH ELITE ATHLETICISM: Scott entered the pre-draft process recovering from a foot injury suffered in his final collegiate game. The setback sidelined him from his offseason conditioning program and required him to wear a boot for about a month. By March, however, he was healthy enough to participate in his pro day, where he posted a 9.66 Relative Athletic Score (RAS). The mark ranks 81st among more than 2,300 running backs evaluated between 1987-2026.

"You could say there's a chip on my shoulder. I put my best foot forward to see what I could do in terms of showing my athleticism," Scott told PokesNews after his Pro Day. "And I knew I was one of the most athletic guys in this class. I wanted to express that."

OF NOTE

MAKING THE SWITCH: Sheffield played quarterback all four years at Corinth (MS) HS, where, as a senior, he threw for over 1,300 yards and 20 touchdowns, adding nearly 1,000 yards and 16 touchdowns on the ground. In a 55-21 victory in the Class 4A State Championship, he accounted for five touchdowns, throwing for 164 yards and two scores while rushing for 217 yards and three more touchdowns.

Despite the high school success, Sheffield was overlooked due to his size, and decided to make the switch to receiver, betting on himself at Northwest CC in Mississippi. After a shortened season in 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Sheffield led his team with over 1,000 yards and 10 touchdowns as a sophomore, highlighted by a 171-yard, two touchdown performance in the championship.

"Since I played QB and was shorter than most coming out of high school, I got recruited very little, leading me to take the JUCO route," Sheffield told WSUCougars.com. "From there it was just waiting for my time. Made sure that I put on a show when I stepped onto the field, and let the rest take care of itself."

After proving himself at the JUCO level, Sheffield went on to earn scholarships at Washington State, where he played with TEN quarterback Cam Ward while continuing to play at North Texas and Rutgers.

BEFORE THE NFL

WAR EAGLE: In three seasons at Auburn, then a safety for the Tigers, Sherwood registered 141 tackles, 2.5 sacks, one interception, 11 passes defensed, and three fumble recoveries in 37 games (12 starts).

HIGHLY TOUTED: Rated the No.1 prospect on the TCPalm Super 11 and an all-area defensive player of the year finalist, Sherwood finished his final season at safety for Jensen Beach (FL) HS with 71 tackles and three interceptions. As a freshman, he handled the defensive calls after two all-state senior teammates convinced the head coach to let him do it.

OF NOTE

TRANSFORMATION: Entering the league as a 216-pound safety, Sherwood, one of the Jets fifth-round picks in the 2021 NFL Draft, began his transition to NFL linebacker. After suffering an achilles injury seven weeks into his rookie season, Sherwood was tasked with studying three linebackers: Fred Warner, former teammate C.J. Mosley, and Bobby Wagner, in addition to adding weight to play linebacker.

"Honestly, without that injury, I would've never done what I needed to do to get to this point," Sherwood told ESPN.com in 2025. "Being sidelined, I got closer to God. I had time to get my body right, with rehab and stuff like that."

Beside the physical transformation needed to play linebacker in the NFL after safety in college, Sherwood, an introvert, had to transition from someone, “you couldn't get to look at you," according to his mother, Venetia Johnson, to someone prepared to speak up off the field and hold teammates accountable.

"I always knew I had leadership tendencies and leadership qualities, but I never could be one until I got out of my shell," Sherwood said to ESPN.com in 2025. "The one thing about being a leader is, you can't be afraid of what people are going to think of you, and you can't be afraid to hurt someone's feelings."

GROWING THE GAME: In March (2026), Sherwood traveled to Dublin, Ireland to support the expansion of the Jets NFL Girls Flag league, the first of its kind in the country. As part of the event, Sherwood took part in a Q&A with the participants and ran through drills with the players. Launched in 2025, participation for the league doubled year-over-year, with 16 schools and 160 participants (aged 12-15) set to play this season.

STATS PACK

TRANSFORMATION: Sherwood, in his first season as a team captain (2025), led the team with 154 tackles, marking his second consecutive 150+ tackle season. He is the only player in the league to record back-to-back 150+ tackle seasons, and only the second Jet to do so this century, joining LB C.J. Mosley (2021-23).

Overall, his 154 tackles were tied for the sixth most in the league. He’s one of only two players to finish back-to-back seasons ranked inside the top 10, joining Jordyn Brooks (MIA).

BEFORE THE NFL

MOUNTAINEER LEGEND: In four seasons at West Virginia (2009-12), Smith played in 44 games (39 starts) and finished his career with the most passing yards (11,662) and passing touchdowns (98) in school history. Additionally, as a senior (2012), Smith set the program's single season record for total yards (4,356), completions (369), and passing touchdowns (42).

Smith was inducted into the West Virginia Hall of Fame in 2022.

7 SUNDAY HEROES: Smith founded the 7 Sunday Heroes Foundation to support youth, families, and underserved communities through outreach programs, mentorship opportunities, and charitable initiatives. The foundation focuses on recognizing everyday heroes who make a positive impact in their communities while providing resources and support to those in need.

"I've had it (7 Sundays Foundation) for over 10 years now and really what it is continuing to give back to the community," Smith mentioned to Seattle media members in 2022. "For years now, we've invited people to the home games. Underprivileged kids, special needs, kids who are needing a mentor. I've always had a heart for philanthropy and my mother (and) my grandmothers are also a part of this, along with The Extended Hands, which is something that we've done back home in Miami Florida and all throughout South Florida. Every stop that I've gone, every team that I've been on, I've continued to carry that out. Just to continue to give back, be a part of the community, continue to reach out, be a helping hand, be there for people (and) trying to help out in any way I can. I'm really blessed to be in this position to be able to give back and I appreciate it."

BACK TO WHERE IT STARTED: Smith was drafted out of West Virginia University in the second round of the 2013 NFL Draft by the Jets and currently holds the franchise record for most passing yards in a rookie season with 3,046.

"Obviously, there's history being drafted by the Jets, but the first initial thought was just, man, what an honor to be considered to be the quarterback of the Jets again and to walk back into that building." Smith told reporters after the trade.

"Yeah, I can't wait, honestly. I can't wait to really just get back into the building and just, first of all, embracing my teammates and then together us embracing the fanbase in the community, and getting active in the community, and really just going out there and meeting as many people as I can, trying to help as many people as I can with my foundation." Smith told The Athletic in 2026.

A MESSAGE TO THE FANS: "Jet up. Let's Go." Smith said to reporters in 2026.

BEFORE THE NFL

MICHIGAN MAN: A Michigan native, Smith played defensive tackle for four seasons at Michigan, where he became a two-time All-Big Ten selection, in addition to the team's 2022 Defensive Player of the Year. Smith appeared in 35 games (28 starts) over his career, recording 88 tackles, a 0.5 sack, four passes defensed, one forced fumble, and one fumble recovery.

OF NOTE

THE ORGANIZER: His grandparents, Carl and June Smith were pillars of the Grand Rapids community who started a newspaper in the 1960s, The Organizer, that became a voice for the Black freedom movement and ran a Black People's Free Store where people gathered to read books, talk politics or stock up on basic necessities. Carl later worked for the Michigan Department of Civil Rights and was honored with a mural in Grand Rapids.

Though Mazi was eight-years-old when his grandfather passed, his aunt (and Carl's daughter), Kim Olushola, believes Mazi embodies many of the same things as his late grandfather.

"I believe in ancestors," Olushola told The Athletic in 2022. "Things are passed down. A lot of the qualities that my father had were passed down to Mazi. Mazi reminds me of him a lot."

His grandfather and aunt wrote pieces for the newspaper, and his mom's first cousin was Sekou Smith, a longtime NBA writer and analyst. His mother, Kenya, remembers he started speaking at one, and was writing poetry and science fiction by the time he was 13.

"I thought he would go to high school and be on the debate team," his mother, Kenya said. "I really did. But football is more fun for everybody."

BEFORE THE NFL

BETTING ON HIMSELF: Ranked a top-25 running back in the class of 2016, Stephens began his college career as a running back at UCLA (2016-18) before transferring to SMU (2019-20) to play defensive back, where his only prior experience was in high school playing seven-on-seven. He appeared in 22 games at UCLA and totaled 277 yards and one touchdown on 65 carries, adding 108 yards on 12 receptions before he transferred to SMU with only the offer of a tryout, but ultimately earned a scholarship and a starting role, tallying 23 appearances as a defensive back and compiling 74 tackles, four tackles for loss, one interception, one fumble recovery, and 22 passes defensed. He registered 10 passes defensed in his final season (2020), the most in the conference.

An all-state running back for Plano Senior (TX) HS, Stephens rushed for 1,389 and 15 touchdowns on 222 attempts as a senior, including seven 100-yard games and three 200-yard games.

OF NOTE

OFF THE FIELD: Stephens completed an internship with Dallas-area real estate agency, The Blackman Group, prior to his final season at SMU (2020).

OF NOTE

FUELED BY FAMILY: A former cornerback at Best Academy (GA), Stiggers committed to play college football at Lane College before returning home to support his family following the passing of his father. In his break from football, he worked as a car salesman, car mechanic, food delivery driver, and in a warehouse. He signed up for the Fan Controlled Football league, a new 7-on-7 indoor league, that led to an opportunity in the CFL with the Toronto Argonauts (2023), where he registered 53 tackles, five interceptions, and three tackles on special teams. Stiggers became the first player in NFL history to be drafted out of the CFL with no prior college experience:

"It's still surreal for me. I never thought I'd be here. Thankful for the opportunity that the Jets have given me to further my career," Stiggers said during rookie minicamp (2024).

- In 29 career games (28 starts), all with TEN (2024-25), has registered 85 tackles, eight tackles for loss, 3.0 sacks, one forced fumble, and one fumble recovery.
- Named to the PFWA All-Rookie Team (2024).

"Genetically, it's incredible. He's a really large human and he has pretty good feet for someone his size. I've really appreciated his willingness to try to take coaching from me; sometimes people can come in and maybe they feel like they've already got it figured out, I haven't got that from him. Oftentimes, he's pulling me to the side maybe asking some other questions or if I have some things that I see that he can improve in his game, he's really willing and receptive to hear that. You don't get that from every player that has his talent. I'm excited for what he could do this season."

-Harrison Phillips, 6.4

BEFORE THE NFL

SWEAT'S SENIOR SURGE: During his fifth and final season at Texas (2023), Sweat capped his collegiate career with an impressive collection of Big 12 and national honors, earning Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year after posting 45 tackles, eight tackles for loss, 2.0 sacks, two passes defensed, and one blocked kick. Sweat also earned the Outland Trophy as the nation's top interior lineman and was recognized as a unanimous All-American, just the fifth defensive tackle in Texas program history to earn the honor.

MAKE 'EM SWEAT: At Texas, Sweat was known for his dinner-plate sized, diamond-encrusted medallion chain that read, "MAKE 'EM SWEAT.' The chain, inspired by rapper Flavor Flav, has a back to it that's covered with photos of his mom, great uncle, grandmother, and his great-grandmother. A Texas native, Sweat has embraced that identity, admitting in a 2023 ESPN interview that he's "a mama's boy."

The chain reflects the two sides of Sweat; a physical, relentless presence on the field and a grounded, family-oriented personality off it.

"It's been fun coaching him because he's got some humor with him and you enjoy that," his defensive line coach, Bo Davis, told ESPN. "But he is serious about when it's time to go to work."

STATS PACK

RUN-STOPPING FORCE: In his rookie season with TEN, Sweat recorded 29 run stops, the most among NFL rookie defensive tackles and the second-most among all rookie defenders in 2024.

GEAUX TIGERS: A three-year tight end at LSU (2022-24), Taylor appeared in 39 games (37 starts) and broke the school record for receptions (129) and receiving yards (1,308) by a tight end, when he became the first 100-reception, 1,000-yard tight end in program history. Taylor hauled in one+ reception in 28 straight games to close out his career.

Prior to enrolling at LSU, Taylor accumulated numerous accolades at St. Thomas Aquinas (FL) HS including Miami Herald All-Broward 8A-6A first-team and 2020 7A Florida State Champion.

TAKEOFF

- Fourth-year offensive lineman who was selected by the New York Jets in the second-round of the 2023 NFL Draft.
- Signed a multi-year contract extension during Minicamp (2026).
- In 50 career games (48 starts) for the Jets (2023-present), has made starts at both right guard and center.
- Has started 44 consecutive games dating back to Week Nine of his rookie season (2023), a top 20 active streak among offensive linemen.
- Received the 2025 Selfless Warrior from the Jets coaching staff as the player that gives the most of himself for the team and the 2025 Kyle Clifton Good Guy from Jets staff that interacts with the players.
- Selected to the PFWA All-Rookie team (2023).

"For (Joe Tippmann) coming in, and he understood exactly the situation, man between (he and Josh Myers), they welcomed competition, and those are the type of guys you want on your team. They're not running from competition. He wanted to be a part of what we are building. He came in and he competed. It came down to the end, obviously Tipp won the job, and then when that happened with (Alijah Vera-Tucker), man, Tipp is so unselfish he moves over to guard, and he (Josh Myers) moves right into that spot as the center. He didn't complain or anything like that, man, he just did his job. To have guys like that on your roster, man, you're talking about a culture of the players that you want that really love ball and they don't love what ball can do for them, those are the type of guys you want to build your team with. So, I have a ton of respect for him, I love the way he goes about his business, and he's done a hell of a job for us this year."

FLIGHT PATH

Earned two team awards, the Selfless Warrior Award (coaches) and the Kyle Clifton 'Good Guy' Award (Jets staff) • After winning the center competition during training camp, moved to right guard following an injury to Alijah Vera-Tucker and started all 17 games there, his first starts at guard since his rookie season • Part of an offensive line unit who started all 17 games together, marking the first time a team has done so since 2023, blocking for an offense that finished top 10 in the league with 123.3 rushing yards per game and 4.6 yards per carry, including a 3.9 average against a stacked box (eight+ defenders), fourth highest in the league, and 2.0 yards per carry before contact, the highest in the league • Finished in the top 10, allowing a 3.3% pressure rate on non-extended dropbacks (4.0 seconds or less), while allowing one or fewer pressures in seven games, one of only 10 right guards in the league with seven+ such contests.

BEFORE THE NFL

WISCONSIN WATERFALL: In four seasons (one redshirt) at Wisconsin, including 22 starts at center over his final 23 games, Tippmann helped pave the way for the Big Ten's No. 2 rushing offense in 2021 (210.9 yards per game) and the second-leading rusher in the conference, current teammate Braelon Allen (105.7 yards per game).

MR. INDIANA: A team captain, Tippmann helped lead Bishop Dwenger (IN) to a 2018 Class 4A state championship as a senior, earning first-team all-state, Indiana's Mr. Football offensive lineman, and league MVP. He also garnered Indiana Football Coaches Association All-State Top 50 and first-team All-Summit Athletic Conference as both a junior and senior.

JETS CONNECTION: Growing up, Tippmann received guidance and coaching from fellow Fort Wayne native, Jason Fabini, a former Jets fourth-round pick. Fabini played eight of his 11 NFL seasons with the Jets, starting 114 games.

"I've always been kind of a Jets fan growing up with Coach Fabini," Tippman told NewYorkJets.com in 2023, "He coached me from fifth grade through my senior year of high school, helped me with my transition from high school to college and he's helping me now with my transition from college to the NFL."

STATS PACK

SELFLESS WARRIOR: Tippmann logged all of his 17 starts at right guard after making the move from center just days prior to Week One, earning the Selfless Warrior Award for 2025, as voted on by the coaching staff. Notably, he was also voted by Jets staff as the Kyle Clifton 'Good Guy' award winner.

Immediately following his move to right guard, Tippmann allowed just four pressures on 137 pass blocking snaps across the first four games of the season, good for the third-lowest pressure rate allowed by all right guards in that span (2.9%).

LOCAL KID: Voorhis grew up in Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, just on the other side of the New Jersey border and roughly an hour away from the Atlantic Health Jets Training Center. After signing with the Jets, Voorhis posted a childhood photo of him attending a game at MetLife Stadium in a Jets jersey with the caption, "The prophecy is fulfilled. Let's get to work."

In high school, Voorhis was part of the historic Stroudsburg vs. East Stroudsburg football rivalry, which dates back to 1944. The rivalry is steeped in tradition and has captivated the community for decades, culminating yearly in the winning team taking home the "Lil Brown Jug," which symbolizes the pride and bragging rights that come with winning.

BEFORE THE NFL

FIRST-TEAM BULLDOG: Walker began his collegiate career at Azusa Pacific University, a Division III school in California, spending two seasons there before transferring to Fresno State. After redshirting his first season with the Bulldogs, Walker went on to become a first-team All-Mountain West selection in his first season playing at the Division I level, capping off his season with Defensive MVP honors of the 2018 Mountain West Championship game. As a senior (2019), he would again earn a place on the first-team All-Mountain West team, and was additionally named to the Lott IMPACT Trophy watch list, awarded to the defensive college football player who has the biggest impact on his team, both on and off the field.

Before college, Walker was a three-sport athlete at Vacaville (CA) HS, where he played basketball and track & field, in addition playing free safety, linebacker, and running back on the football team.

BEFORE THE NFL

LEADING THE ILLINI: A two-time team captain and first-team All-Big Ten selection, Williams, who spent his first two seasons as a quarterback for the Illini, played five seasons at Illinois (2019-23). After transitioning to wide receiver, he recorded 213 receptions for 2,304 yards and 14 touchdowns, leading the team in receptions, receiving yards, and touchdowns in his first year at the position (2021).

The Missouri Gatorade Football Player of the Year in both his junior and senior seasons, Williams received offers from nearly 40 schools after he finished his final seasons at Trinity Catholic (MO) HS with 2,470 passing yards and 33 touchdowns, and 1,132 rushing yards and 11 touchdowns. He was a finalist for the 2018 Elite 11 quarterback competition, in a class that featured future NFL quarterbacks Bo Nix, Jayden Daniels, and Sam Howell.

OF NOTE

UNLIKELY MVP: Waived by the Jets following Week Four at MIA, after he fumbled the second-half kickoff and fair-caught a punt at the Jets 3, Williams had been let go by three different teams in less than two years. Before the Jets signed him off the CIN practice squad in Week Two, the former undrafted free agent had played a combined 54 snaps in eight games for DET and CIN.

"In that moment after I got cut, I knew that God still had good plans for my life," Williams said. "But if you would have told me I would be Team MVP by the end of the season, I would have probably looked at you crazy, if I'm being honest."

"My biggest thing was I'm going to come back to the practice squad, work my tail off, get better every single day, make my teammates better in every aspect. And when I do get my opportunity — if I do get another opportunity — I'm going to make the most of it."

Even without that road, Williams was an unlikely pick as the first player with a return touchdown in their Team MVP season since 2007 (Leon Washington – who would go on to be named first team All-Pro and was selected to his first Pro Bowl the following season).

Additionally, Williams was the first WR to win the award since Brandon Marshall (2015) and second since Laveranues Coles (2006), as well as one of the few players with an emphasis on return experience to win the award, as he joined RB Dick Christy (1962), RB Bruce Harper (1980), WR JoJo Townsell (1989), and Washington (2007). He was just the fifth player in franchise history to enter the league as an undrafted free agent and earn the award: S Dainard Paulson (1964), FB Clark Gaines (1976), Harper (1980), and K Pat Leahy (1990).

STATS PACK

CAREER YEAR: The 2025 Curtis Martin Team Most Valuable Player, Williams became just the third player in franchise history to record multiple punt return touchdowns in a single season last year (2025), joining Dick Christy (1961, 1962) and Santana Moss (2022). He was one of only five players to record multiple punt return touchdowns on the year.

Of the 13, his 29.9 yards per kickoff return was the second-highest, while his 14.1 yards per punt return ranked third. Over the last 10 seasons, there have been 54 occurrences of a player logging 20+ returns on both kickoff and punt, and Williams' averages again rank in the top five in both.

BEFORE THE NFL

WR-U: Wilson played three seasons at Ohio State, where he totaled 2,213 yards and 23 touchdowns on 143 receptions, which all ranked in the top 10 all-time in program history at the time he declared for the NFL Draft. The Texas native helped lead the Buckeyes to a 31-4 record during his three years in Columbus that included two appearances in the CFP semifinals, victories in the Rose Bowl and Sugar Bowl, and an appearance in the CFP National Championship (2020).

Prior to Ohio State, Wilson was named the All-American Bowl Man of the Year for his excellence in community service, education, and athletic distinction, after a career at Lake Travis (TX) HS that finished with 204 receptions for 3,359 yards and 55 total touchdowns. Despite missing time as a senior, Wilson had 1,151 yards receiving and 19 touchdowns, while as a junior, he was named 2017-18 Central Texas High School Athlete of the Year by The Statesman, and finished with 98 catches for 1,774 yards while accounting for 32 total touchdowns.

OF NOTE

CHILDHOOD TEAMMATES: Wilson grew up with current New York Mets infielder Brett Baty, also a first-round pick (2019). The pair started as teammates on the Lake Travis Cavaliers youth football team before going on to star as multi-sport athletes at Lake Travis (TX) HS. Wilson was named the area's Male Athlete of the Year (2017) by the Austin American-Statesman, an award Baty won the following year.

"Garrett was one of the best basketball players I've ever seen, too," Baty told SNY.tv. "If he chose basketball, no doubt he'd be in the NBA right now."

"I'm confident he would've been in the NFL as a quarterback," Wilson said of Baty. "He was that good. He says he was just throwing it up to me, but the bombs he was throwing were 45, 50 yards and we were in sixth grade."

BASKETBALL IN HIS BLOOD: His father, Kenny, finished his career at Davidson as the school's fifth all-time leading scorer. Wilson was an All-Central Texas selection in basketball, after averaging 21 points per game at Lake Travis (TX) HS, and earned Division I scholarship offers in basketball, as well as football.

STATS PACK

ENTERING THE TOP 10: With six receptions for 71 yards and a touchdown in Week Five vs. DAL (10/5), Wilson moved into 10th on the franchise's all-time receptions list, surpassing WR Gerorge Sauer (309) with his 25-yard reception in the third quarter.

BEFORE THE NFL

ROCKETMAN: A five-year defensive back at Toledo, Womack appeared in 50 career games with the Rockets after originally joining the program as a walk-on.

Under-recruited out of high school, Womack had a handful of Division II offers, but elected to commit to Toledo as a preferred walk-on after the coaches discovered him while recruiting one of his high school teammates. Womack was a two-sport athlete in high school, where his talent on the AAU circuit often kept him away from summer football camps.

After appearing in six games as a true freshman walk-on, highlighted by an interception vs. Bowling Green, Womack was rewarded with a scholarship the following summer.

"I came here and did what I was supposed to do," Womack told UTRockets.com. "I listened, studied the game, tried to get better. Because of the program I came from and the coaching I had there, I took the same mentality here, and after a year of being a walk-on, Coach Candle gave me a scholarship. I really just took advantage of my opportunities and stayed the course and went beyond of what I was asked to do."

He finished his career with 128 tackles, five interceptions, 46 passes defensed, one forced fumble, one fumble recovery, and a half sack. Notably, Womack finished his junior campaign (2019) with the second-most passes defensed in the country (15).

BEFORE THE NFL

PARALLEL PATHS: Wright began his college career at Laney College, earning all-conference honors while helping lead the program to the 2018 state championship.

After one season at Laney, he transferred to Oregon State, where he immediately became a full-time starter. Wright appeared in 18 games for the Beavers and registered 64 tackles, five interceptions, 11 passes defensed, and one forced fumble. He earned All-Pac-12 honorable mention honors following his final season in 2020.

During his time at Oregon State, Wright's younger brother, Rezjohn, followed a similar path, attending Laney while the program was featured on the Netflix series Last Chance U. Rezjohn was a featured player on the show, with Nahshon also making several appearances.

Rezjohn later transferred to Oregon State following his career at Laney, mirroring his older brother's path. He is currently a cornerback for the New Orleans Saints, entering his third NFL season.

OF NOTE

PLAYING FOR BEAM: Amidst his career year last season (2025), Wright's former coach at Laney College, John Beam, passed away. Two days later, Wright recorded his fourth interception of the season, helping secure a 19–17 road divisional win.

"He was watching over me," Wright told reporters after the game. "It's crazy. He called me the night before he passed and he told me that every game he watched, I just seemed to get a pick. So I just know he was behind me today."

After Wright's father, Alphonzo Wright, was tragically shot and killed in December 2017, Beam became a father-like figure to Wright and his brother, Rezjohn Wright, who also played for Beam at Laney.

"He meant the world to me," Wright told reporters. "When my dad was killed, he came to my house and got me out of the bed. He was someone I could confide in, someone that I just love dearly. We talk once a week, easily."

"He did a lot for me and my brother and my family. He's been there. He's been there every step of the way, and it won't stop. I gained an angel."

STATS PACK

IN THE WRIGHT PLACE: Wright led the league in takeaways last season (2025) with eight, a career-high, as part of a defense that registered a league-high 33 takeaways.

BEFORE THE NFL

EYE OF THE TIGER: A former soccer player, York did not begin training for football full-time until his junior year of high school, yet quickly emerged as one of the top-ranked kickers in the country. He was recruited to LSU by then-special teams coordinator Greg McMahon, a longtime NFL assistant who previously coached with the New Orleans Saints.

At LSU, York became one of the most accomplished kickers in school history, highlighted by winning the CFP National Championship as a freshman, when he became the first LSU true freshman to make a field goal in the season opener in the modern era. That season, he led the nation in PATs (89), finishing second in the country in scoring (152) behind only Jonathan Taylor.

York graduated from LSU a two-time second-team All-American, holding the record for the longest field goal in program history (57), the most points by kicking in a season (152), PATs in a season (59), consecutive PATs (118), the most 50-yard field goals in a career (15) and in a season (six), and the only player in school history with multiple 50-yard field goals in the same game.

Before his football career, York played soccer competitively, including on a trip to Europe for youth camps.

BEFORE THE NFL

ANCHORING THE LINE: Young emerged as one of the SEC's top offensive linemen during his career at Kentucky, collecting first-team All-SEC honors from the league's coaches. A three-time SEC Offensive Lineman of the Week, he helped anchor an offensive line that was named a semifinalist for the Joe Moore Award, presented annually to the nation's most outstanding offensive line, in both 2019 and 2020.

OF NOTE

ACADEMIC & COMMUNITY LEADER: Young established himself as a leader both on and off the field throughout his collegiate career. He earned recognition on the SEC first-year Academic Honor Roll (2016–17) before adding SEC Fall Academic Honor Roll and SEC Community Service Team honors (2019).

His dedication to serving others was also received nationally, as in 2019, he secured Frank G. Ham Society of Character honors and was named captain of the Allstate AFCA Good Works Team, one of college football's highest honors for community service. He earned the honor after making community service a cornerstone of his priorities. He participated in numerous outreach initiatives, including assisting with yard work at a local Christian church, volunteering with Habitat for Humanity, and speaking to students at local schools. He also traveled to Ethiopia on a week-long mission trip, where he delivered essential supplies and mentored young orphans.

He capped off his collegiate career as a finalist for the 2020 Pop Warner College Football Award, which recognizes student-athletes who exemplify excellence in the classroom, on the field, and in their communities.

"THE WALT": Following a 50-yard touchdown reception against Houston Christian on Nov. 2, 2024, Walthall unveiled a unique touchdown celebration that quickly became a viral sensation. Walthall celebrated by standing on his head, placing his arms at his sides with his legs extended upward before falling to the ground—a move he later dubbed "The Walt." The celebration spread rapidly across social media and captured the attention of the football world. Just one day later, NFL wide receivers Drake London and Amon-Ra St. Brown recreated "The Walt" after scoring touchdowns of their own. The celebration's popularity continued to grow as UIW Athletics encouraged fans to submit videos of themselves attempting the celebration, with selected submissions showcased on the video board during the Cardinals' following home game.

"I've seen some videos of the fans trying to do it. It didn't work out too good for them," Walthall told Cory Hogue in 2024. "They weren't wearing a helmet either."

RING OF HONOR

The New York Jets launched the Ring of Honor in 2010, coinciding with the opening of MetLife Stadium, to celebrate franchise greats in the team's new home. The inaugural class featured legends Weeb Ewbank, Winston Hill, Joe Klecko, Curtis Martin, Don Maynard, and Joe Namath.

"This organization has always had a deep appreciation for and admiration of those who have worn this team's uniform," said Jets Chairman Woody Johnson at the time of the announcement. "These six men span generations of Jets football, all embodying the best of this game and what it means to truly be a Jet. With this new stadium we now have a proper way to salute those who have helped make this franchise what it is today."

Each season, inductees are nominated and added to the Ring of Honor, with no minimum or maximum number required in any given year. The Ring of Honor is displayed along the interior façade of MetLife Stadium, and a replica ring is featured in the field house of the Atlantic Health Jets Training Center.

LARRY GRANTHAM

Grantham spent all 13 seasons of his professional career in New York after being selected in both the 1960 NFL and AFL Drafts, starting 175 games at outside linebacker and wearing No. 60 throughout his career. A cornerstone of the franchise, he earned AFL All-Pro honors in each of his first five seasons, played in five AFL All-Star Games, was named the Jets' MVP in 1971, and started in the team's historic Super Bowl III victory over the Baltimore Colts. Grantham finished with 24 career interceptions and three defensive touchdowns, later earning recognition on the AFL's All-Time Second Team following the AFL-NFL merger.

DON MAYNARD

Don Maynard's place in franchise history began before the team ever played a game. As the first player signed by the New York Titans in 1960, Maynard became one of the foundational figures of the organization and went on to spend 13 seasons with the Titans and Jets. Teaming with Joe Namath to form one of the AFL's most prolific passing combinations, No. 13 finished his career with 627 receptions, 11,732 receiving yards and 88 touchdowns, franchise receiving records that still stand today. Maynard was voted team MVP in 1967 after setting a franchise record with 1,434 receiving yards, played in four AFL All-Star Games, helped lead the Jets to victory in Super Bowl III and was named to the AFL All-Time Team in 1970. He was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1987.

WEEB EWBANK

Ewbank made football history as the only head coach to win championships in both the AFL and NFL, leading the Baltimore Colts to victory in the legendary 1958 NFL Championship Game and guiding the Jets to the 1968 AFL title. He then cemented his legacy by coaching New York to its stunning upset of the Colts in Super Bowl III, one of the most significant victories in football history. Ewbank's contributions to the game were recognized with his induction into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1978.

WINSTON HILL

Hill had a storied 14-year career with the Jets from 1963-76, with the first half of it spent at left tackle as Joe Namath's "personal protector," and the second half as the starter at right tackle. Nicknamed "Winnie," Hill is one of the most decorated players in franchise history, having played in four AFL All-Star Games from 1964-69, four NFL Pro Bowls (1970-73), and securing three second-team All-Pro nods (1970-72). Wearing No. 75 his entire career, Hill holds the franchise mark for offensive linemen with 186 consecutive games played and was elected into the Pro Football Hall of Fame Class of 2020.

GERRY PHILBIN

Philbin was one of the premier defensive ends of the AFL era, spending nine seasons with the Jets after being selected in both the 1964 AFL and NFL Drafts. He appeared in 110 games and started each of his final eight seasons with the franchise, establishing himself as a cornerstone of the team's defense. A key contributor to the Jets' Super Bowl III championship team, Philbin earned first-team All-AFL honors in 1968 and 1969, played in two AFL All-Star Games and was later named to the AFL All-Time first-team. He finished his Jets career with 64.5 sacks, seven fumble recoveries and one interception, cementing his place among the greatest defensive players in franchise history.

MATT SNELL

Snell spent his entire professional career with the Jets from 1964-72 and made an immediate impact, rushing for 945 yards as a rookie to earn AFL Rookie of the Year honors. He went on to become a three-time AFL All-Star (1964, 1966, 1969) and earned first-team All-AFL recognition in 1969. Snell cemented his place in franchise history during Super Bowl III, rushing for a then-Super Bowl-record 121 yards and scoring the Jets' lone touchdown in a 16-7 victory over the heavily favored Baltimore Colts. His dominant performance helped deliver the AFL's first Super Bowl championship and remains one of the defining moments in franchise history.

JOE NAMATH

After starring at Alabama, Joe Namath joined the Jets as the second overall pick in the 1965 AFL Draft and quickly became the face of the franchise. A five-time AFL All-Star and the architect of the Jets' historic Super Bowl III victory, Namath famously guaranteed and delivered a win over the heavily favored Baltimore Colts, helping solidify the AFL's credibility ahead of its merger with the NFL. He later became the first professional quarterback to throw for more than 4,000 yards in a season and remains the franchise's all-time leader in passing yards (27,057) and passing touchdowns (170). Namath's No. 12 was retired by the organization, and he was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1985.

EMERSON BOOZER

Emerson Boozer spent his entire 10-year professional career with the Jets from 1966-75, establishing himself as one of the franchise's premier running backs. A two-time AFL All-Star (1966, 1968), he earned All-AFL honors in 1967 after leading the league with 13 rushing touchdowns despite appearing in only eight games due to a knee injury. Later in his career, Boozer was an important contributor to the Jets' Super Bowl III championship team, including leading the way for Matt Snell's touchdown to complete the historic upset. When he retired, Boozer ranked as the franchise's all-time leading rusher with 5,135 rushing yards, cementing his legacy as one of the foundational offensive players in team history.

LEON HESS

Hess entered professional football in 1963 with a $250,000 investment in the New York Titans and eventually became the sole owner of the renamed New York Jets in 1984. He moved the franchise from Shea Stadium to the Meadowlands in New Jersey, giving the Jets a permanent home in the Garden State while earning a reputation as a player-friendly owner dedicated to building a championship-caliber team.

JOE KLECKO

As the centerpiece of the New York Sack Exchange, Klecko developed into one of the most dominant and versatile defenders of his era during his 11 seasons with the Jets from 1977-87. The 1981 NFL Defensive Player of the Year and league sacks leader earned four Pro Bowl selections (1981, 1983-85) and two first-team All-Pro honors (1981, 1985) while excelling at defensive end, defensive tackle, and nose tackle. Klecko finished his career with 77.5 sacks, the second-most in franchise history, before having his No. 73 retired by the organization in 2004. His remarkable career culminated with induction into the Pro Football Hall of Fame as a member of the Class of 2023.

WESLEY WALKER

Walker spent his entire 13-year NFL career with the New York Jets after being selected in the second round of the 1977 NFL Draft, developing into one of the franchise's greatest deep threats. He finished his career with 438 receptions, 8,306 receiving yards, and 71 touchdowns, earning first-team All-Pro honors and leading the NFL in receiving yards in 1978 while also being selected to two Pro Bowls. Walker ranks third in franchise history in receptions and second in both receiving yards and touchdown receptions.

MARK GASTINEAU

Gastineau spent his entire decade-long career with the New York Jets from 1979–88, establishing himself as one of the league's most talented and feared pass rushers. The 1982 NFL Defensive Player of the Year earned five Pro Bowl selections (1981–85) and three first-team All-Pro honors (1982–84), while leading the NFL in sacks in back-to-back seasons (1983, 1984), a feat accomplished by only three players in league history. Gastineau retired as the Jets' all-time sacks leader with 107.5, a franchise record that still stands today.

MARTY LYONS

Lyons spent 12 seasons (1979–1990) with the New York Jets after being selected in the first round of the 1979 NFL Draft out of Alabama, becoming a cornerstone of the defensive line and a key member of the famed New York Sack Exchange. He recorded 43.0 career sacks, the most by an interior defender in franchise history, and helped lead the Jets to multiple playoff appearances. He was recognized by the organization with the Community Service Award, which was later renamed in his honor to recognize players who demonstrate an exceptional commitment to community involvement. Off the field, Lyons earned the NFL's Walter Payton Man of the Year Award in 1984 and has made a lasting impact through the Marty Lyons Foundation, which he founded in 1982 to grant wishes to children with terminal or life-threatening illnesses.

FREEMAN McNEIL

McNeil spent all 12 of his NFL seasons with the New York Jets from 1981-92, establishing himself as one of the most productive running backs in franchise history. He earned first-team All-Pro honors in 1982 after leading the NFL in both rushing yards

(786) and yards per carry (5.2) while receiving the first of his three Pro Bowl selections (1982, 1984, 1985). McNeil appeared in 144 games, the most by a running back in team history, and finished his career with 8,074 rushing yards and 1,798 carries, both of which rank second in franchise history. His combination of production, longevity, and consistency cemented his legacy as one of the premier offensive players of his era and one of the greatest running backs to wear a Jets uniform.

AL TOON

A first-round pick (10th overall) in the 1985 NFL Draft, Toon spent his entire eight-year NFL career with the Jets and established himself as one of the franchise's most productive receivers. He led the team in receptions for six consecutive seasons from 1986-91 and set a team record with 101 consecutive games with at least one reception. He earned Pro Bowl and team MVP honors in 1986, 1987 and 1988, along with first-team All-Pro recognition in 1986. He finished his career with 517 receptions, 6,605 receiving yards, and 31 touchdowns, cementing his legacy as one of the premier pass catchers in Jets history.

WAYNE CHREBET

Chrebet spent his entire 11-year career with the Jets from 1995-2005, developing from an undrafted free agent into one of the most productive players in franchise history. A model of consistency, Chrebet recorded at least 600 receiving yards in each of his first eight seasons and became one of the league's most reliable possession receivers. He finished his career ranked second in franchise history with 580 receptions and third with 7,365 receiving yards, while adding 41 touchdowns. Chrebet's rise from long-shot roster hopeful to franchise icon cemented his place as one of the greatest undrafted success stories in team history.

CURTIS MARTIN

Acquired as a restricted free agent from the New England Patriots in 1998, Martin became one of the greatest running backs in team history, rushing for a franchise-record 10,302 yards and helping lead the team to four playoff appearances, including a trip to the 1998 AFC Championship Game. His stellar tenure in New York included four team MVP awards (1999-2001, 2004), three first-team All-Pro selections, three Pro Bowl nods, and the 2004 NFL rushing title after he led the league with 1,697 rushing yards. Martin's impact on the franchise was recognized with the retirement of his No. 28 jersey and induction into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2012. In honor of his legacy, the organization later renamed its annual team MVP award the Curtis Martin MVP Award, recognizing the four-time recipient as one of the most influential players in franchise history.

KEVIN MAWAE

Mawae spent eight seasons with the New York Jets from 1998-2005, establishing himself as one of the premier centers of his era. A six-time consecutive Pro Bowl selection (1999-2004), Mawae earned two first-team All-Pro honors (1999, 2001) and four second-team All-Pro selections (1998, 2000, 2002, 2004) while anchoring the Jets' offensive line. His leadership up front helped pave the way for Curtis Martin's franchise-record 1,697-yard rushing season in 2004, and his excellence earned him a place on the NFL 2000s All-Decade Team. Mawae's distinguished career was recognized with induction into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2019, cementing his legacy as one of the greatest offensive linemen in franchise history.

D'BRICKASHAW FERGUSON

Ferguson spent his entire 10-year career with the Jets from 2006-15 after being selected fourth overall in the 2006 NFL Draft. One of the most durable and dependable offensive linemen of his era, Ferguson started all 160 regular-season games of his career at left tackle, famously missing only one snap out of 10,708. He helped anchor the offensive line during the franchise's back-to-back AFC Championship Game appearances in 2009 and 2010, earning three consecutive Pro Bowl selections from 2009-11. Named to the PFWA All-Rookie Team following his outstanding debut season, Ferguson established himself as one of the premier offensive linemen in franchise history through his longevity, reliability, and excellence.

NICK MANGOLD

Mangold spent his entire 11-year NFL career with the New York Jets from 2006-16, becoming one of the most accomplished centers in franchise history. He made an immediate impact by earning PFWA All-Rookie Team honors in 2006 before establishing himself as a perennial standout with a franchise-record seven Pro Bowl selections (2008-11, 2013-15). Mangold earned first-team All-Pro honors in back-to-back seasons (2009-10) and added a second-team All-Pro selection in 2011 while starting all 164 games he played during his Jets career. A cornerstone of the offensive line throughout his tenure, he combined durability, consistency and elite play to cement his legacy as one of the greatest offensive linemen in team history. He tragically passed away in October 2025.

"Nick was more than a legendary center," said Jets Chairman Woody Johnson. "He was the heartbeat of our offensive line for a decade and a beloved teammate whose leadership and toughness defined an era of Jets football. Off the field, Nick's wit, warmth, and unwavering loyalty made him a cherished member of our extended Jets family."

DARRELLE REVIS

Revis established himself as one of the greatest cornerbacks in NFL history after being selected 14th overall in the 2007 NFL Draft. Nicknamed "Revis Island" for his ability to eliminate opposing receivers, he earned five Pro Bowl selections and three first-team All-Pro honors during two stints with the Jets while helping lead the franchise to back-to-back AFC Championship Game appearances in 2009 and 2010. He finished his Jets career with 25 interceptions, was named team MVP in both 2009 and 2010, and set an NFL single-season record with 31 passes defensed in 2009. Revis' remarkable career culminated with induction into the Pro Football Hall of Fame as a member of the Class of 2023.

TEAM AWARDS

Annually, the Jets present seven team awards recognizing outstanding performance on the field and exceptional contributions off the field, in the locker room, and in the community.

Headlined by the team MVP award, the annual honor was renamed the Curtis Martin team MVP Award during a halftime ceremony on Nov. 18, 2007, when Chairman Woody Johnson announced the change in honor of the four-time team MVP.
