

Welcome to this week's edition of the New York Jets Community Relations press release. We're excited to share the latest initiatives and events that highlight our commitment to making a positive impact in our community. From growing youth football to providing opportunities for disadvantaged populations, the Jets are dedicated to fostering a spirit of unity and support. Stay tuned for inspiring stories and updates on how we're working together to create lasting change both on and off the field.

Jack Cannon Named Jets High School Player of the Week Fueled by Gatorade

Each week during the 2025 high school football season, the New York Jets and Gatorade will recognize a player of the week from the tri-state area. All players will receive a $1,000 donation from the Jets and Gatorade to support their high school football program. Along with the monetary award, each recipient will be invited to attend the Jets vs. Dolphins game on December 7th, where they will be honored on-field at MetLife Stadium.

This week's recipient is senior quarterback Jack Cannon of Holmdel High School in Holmdel, N.J. Cannon led Holmdel to a historic victory over the weekend, defeating third-seeded Seneca, 41-20, in the NJSIAA Central Jersey Group 3 tournament, securing the school's first-ever state sectional title in football.

The Dartmouth commit accounted for four touchdowns—two passing and two rushing—recovered an onside kick, and grabbed an interception on defense in the final minutes to put the game away for the Hornets. While this was arguably Holmdel's most significant win in the program's 53-year history and a moment Cannon described as "one of the greatest nights of [his] life," the Hornets have their sights set on what still lies ahead. Holmdel faces Cedar Creek in the semifinals this Friday at 7 p.m., with an opportunity to advance to the state championship and extend a record-breaking season.

New York Jets Join Food Bank For New York City and Serve Meals Ahead of Thanksgiving

Jets Players Quincy Williams, Tyler Johnson and Marcelino McCrary-Ball served meals to NYC residents and families on Tuesday

On Tuesday, Jets players Quincy Williams, Tyler Johnson, and Marcelino McCrary-Ball joined the Food Bank for New York City to donate food and serve meals at Food Bank's Community Kitchen and Pantry in West Harlem, giving back to residents and families in need ahead of Thanksgiving.

The Jets served smiles and hot lunch, including shepherd's pie to over 140 older adults who rely on the Food Bank's daily meal service. The team donated $20,000 to Food Bank For New York City to help families in need before the Holiday Season.

Food insecurity is surging in NYC. Food Bank For NYC and its network of 800 pantries across the five boroughs have seen a doubling in visits compared to pre-pandemic levels. 1.4 million New Yorkers are currently food insecure. This Thanksgiving meal serves as a reminder of the continued need to end hunger for all in New York City and beyond.

LOOKING TO HELP? $1 can provide up to 5 meals. To donate, please click here. If you prefer to make a direct food donation, Food Bank for NYC's most needed items include shelf-stable, pop-top canned vegetables, nut butters, beans, rice, and pasta. Any amount that can be contributed is enough and will be matched three times ahead of the Holiday Season.

Please click here for photos from the event.

Please click here for b-roll from the event.

