GAME 1 CAROLINA 23 – SAN FRANCISCO 3

September 10, 2017

Levi's Stadium • Santa Clara, CA

Behind a strong defensive effort that included four sacks, three fourth-down stops and two takeaways, the Carolina Panthers opened their season with a 23-3 victory over the San Francisco 49ers. The Panthers allowed the fewest points they've ever yielded in an opener, bettering their 29-6 victory over the Falcons to open the 1996 season. Late in the first quarter, defensive end Wes Horton made the first of many impact plays by the defense, slicing through the 49ers' offensive line and stripping quarterback Brian Hoyer. Defensive tackle Star Lotulelei recovered the fumble to set Carolina up at San Francisco's 42-yard line. Three plays later, quarterback Cam Newton connected with wide receiver Russell Shepard on a 40-yard touchdown pass. Shepard caught the pass along the left sideline near the 20, spun around safety Jaquiski Tarta and strolled into the end zone, giving Carolina an early 7-0 lead. Two Graham Gano field goals after the Panthers stopped the 49ers on fourth downs near midfield extended the lead to 13-0 at the half, and the defense picked up where it left off in the second half. On the first drive of the third quarter, Kuechly intercepted Hoyer. The interception set up the Panthers just outside the red zone. Running backs Jonathan Stewart and Christian McCaffrey shared three handoffs before Newton tossed an 8-yard touchdown pass to Stewart to make it 20-0. Carolina's offense didn't stay on the sidelines for very long. On the ensuing drive, the Panthers defensive forced the 49ers into a three-and-out. Newton led the offense into the red zone, alternating between run and pass, keeping the defense on its toes. The drive ended with another Gano field goal that split the uprights from 20 yards out. The 49ers put together their first and only scoring drive late in the third quarter. Hoyer linked up with wide receiver Pierre Garçon for 22 yards on the left sideline on the way to driving the 49ers into the red zone. However, the drive ultimately ended with a Robbie Gould field goal, thanks to Carolina's stifling defense. While Carolina's defense stole the show, the offense did its job. McCaffrey and Stewart combined for 112 yards on 31 carries, while Shepard led the team with 51 receiving yards. Newton showed signs of rustiness throughout – understandably so after undergoing shoulder surgery in the offseason and throwing just two passes during the preseason – yet finished the game with 171 yards through the air and two passing touchdowns.

GAME 2 CAROLINA 9 – BUFFALO 3

Bank of America Stadium • Charlotte, NC

The Carolina Panthers' disruptive defensive front fueled a 9-3 home-opening victory over the Bills. Buffalo trailed for the entire game, but gave the Panthers a scare in the final moments, nearly executing the two-minute drill to perfection. Bills' quarterback Tyrod Taylor worked the sidelines on a drive that began from Buffalo's 25-yard line with just over two minutes remaining. A string of completed passes and a couple scrambles gave Buffalo a shot at the end zone from 38 yards out with 14 seconds remaining. Rookie wide receiver Zay Jones broke free near the right pylon, but couldn't haul in Taylor's slightly overthrown pass to steal the victory. The Bills fought to move the ball with little success for the majority of the game and held possession for just 21:07. Carolina's defense limited the Bills to 176 total yards and 3-of-11 on third down. Taylor struggled to find open receivers and often relied on his mobility to make plays. While Taylor averaged nearly seven yards per rush, the Panthers held all-pro running back LeSean McCoy in check. McCoy finished the game with nine yards rushing on 12 carries - the fourth lowest rushing total of his career. For the second straight game, Carolina held the opposition under 70 yards rushing. While the defense supplied the Panthers' offense with great field position on multiple occasions, Carolina only managed nine points. Three Graham Gano field goals - 34, 28 and 20 yards - proved to be enough. Cam Newton completed 20-of-32 passes and threw for 228 yards while wide receiver Kelvin Benjamin led the team with 77 yards receiving on six receptions. Running backs Jonathan Stewart and Christian McCaffrey combined for 50 yards rushing. While securing the win and improving to 2-0, Carolina suffered a loss when tight end Greg Olsen went out with an injury. Early in the second quarter, Olsen pulled up on a route over the middle and limped off the field, only to disappear to the locker room. Following the game, Olsen confirmed he had broken his foot. While the injury likely won't sideline the tight end for the season, the Panthers will miss a key piece of their team going forward.

The Carolina Panthers' defense couldn't contain Drew Brees and the New Orleans Saints in the first NFC South matchup of the season, falling 34-13. Carolina started well. The Panthers offense appeared to click on the opening drive. Running backs Jonathan Stewart and Christian McCaffrey carried the load, totaling 57 of the Panthers' 61 yards. However, despite averaging over four yards per play, the drive ended in a field goal after Newton suffered a sack on third down in the red zone. The Saints took over there. New Orleans marched 75 yards down the field in their first possession, immediately toppling Carolina's opening field goal. Running backs Adrian Peterson and Mark Ingram and wide receiver Tommy Lewis shared six carries for 25 yards, setting up the passing game for Brees. The quarterback and wide receiver Michael Thomas connected five times for 50 yards, including a 5-yard slant for a touchdown. The score marked the first deficit of the season for the Panthers and the first touchdown allowed by a defense that limited its opponents to six points combined in Weeks 1 and 2. After the Panthers drew within 7-6 following a 48-yard Graham Gano field goal, linebacker P.J. Williams intercepted Cam Newton over the middle. New Orleans took over inside the red zone and only needed four plays to punch it in. Brees found Thomas to move the chains on third-and-8 before tossing an 11-yard score to wide receiver Brandon Coleman. New Orleans increased its lead at the start of the second half. Brees unloaded deep balls twice on the eight play, 75-yard drive - first to tight end Coby Fleener for 21 yards and second to former Panthers wideout Ted Ginn for a 40-yard touchdown pass. The score put the Saints up 24-6. Carolina responded near the end of the third quarter. The Panthers were backed up against the goal line to begin the drive, but Newton linked together the best passing drive of the game. A 19-yard strike to wide receiver Devin Funchess gave Carolina some breathing room. After McCaffrey picked up two yards on the ground, Newton unloaded a 37-yard dart down the left sideline to the running back. Funchess corralled another 21-yard pass before McCaffrey hauled in an 11-yard toss over the middle, setting up Newton for a three-yard touchdown sneak. The late score sparked a potential comeback, but two turnovers in the fourth quarter ended Carolina's hopes.

GAME 4 CAROLINA 33 – NEW ENGLAND 30

October 1, 2017
Gillette Stadium • Foxborough, MA

Graham Gano's 48-yard field goal as time expired gave the Panthers a 33-30 victory over the New England Patriots. The Panthers held a 30-16 lead early in the fourth quarter, but Tom Brady and the Patriots battled back with back-to-back touchdowns – an 8-yard rush by Dion Lewis and a 1-yard touchdown pass to Danny Amendola. New England erased Carolina's lead but put Cam Newton in position for a game-winning drive with three minutes remaining. The offense clicked, not only on the final 10-play, 46-yard drive to put Gano in range, but throughout the entire game. Newton threw for 316 yards and three touchdowns against the Patriots, all while completing nearly 76 percent of his passes. He even added a rushing touchdown to the mix, becoming the first NFL quarterback with 50 rushing touchdowns. Newton and the Panthers matched the Patriots record for stride early on. After New England opened the game with a 41-yard field goal courtesy Stephen Gostkowski, Carolina answered on the ensuing drive with 32-yarder from Gano. The trend continued as Newton matched Brady's 2-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Chris Hogan with a 28-yard touchdown pass to running back Fozzy Whitaker. However, instead of matching the Patriots' field goal on the ensuing drive, Newton tossed a 10-yard touchdown strike to wide receiver Devin Funchess to give Carolina all the momentum and the lead entering the second half, which ultimately carried into the final kick of the game. Funchess finished the game with 70 yards receiving, the most since Week 17 of the 2015 season, and two touchdown catches. Kelvin Benjamin hauled in his first 100-yard receiving game of the season while Jonathan Stewart added 68 yards on the ground, becoming the Panthers' all-time leading rusher.

GAME 5 CAROLINA 27 – DETROIT 24

Ford Field • Detroit, MI

Cam Newton and the Carolina Panthers earned their second impressive road victory in as many weeks, scoring 24 consecutive points before holding on for a 27-24 victory over the Detroit Lions. One week after a last-second victory at New England, the Panthers fell behind 10-3 against a fellow 3-1 team before dominating the second and third quarters. The onslaught began early in the second quarter when running back Christian McCaffrey scampered into the end zone from six yards for his first career touchdown on a beautifully designed shovel pass. The drive could have ended early with a punt, but on third-and-1 at Carolina's 34, Newton moved the chains with a 57-yard pitch and catch to tight end Ed Dickson - his second long reception of the day. Dickson finished with five catches for 175 yards, setting an NFL record for most yards per catch for a tight end with five or more catches. Newton looked like his 2015 MVP self in the victory, tossing two more touchdowns after the one to McCaffrey. Newton completed 79 percent of his passes and finished with 141.8 passer rating. Newton capped off the first half with 10-yard touchdown strike to Devin Funchess, who returned to Ford Field for the first time since the state championship game when he was junior in high school. The receiver led the Panthers in both targets (eight) and receptions (seven). The duo of Funchess and Kelvin Benjamin combined for 111 receiving yards and two touchdowns on 11 receptions. Benjamin's biggest contribution came in the third quarter when he raced past his defender on a seam route down the left sideline. Newton dropped a perfectly placed pass into the outstretched arms of Benjamin, who reeled in the 31-yard touchdown pass to build the lead to 24-10.

GAME 6 PHILADELPHIA 28 – CAROLINA 23

October 12, 2017

Bank of America Stadium • Charlotte, NC

Despite playing the ball away three times and totaling one rushing yard between running backs Jonathan Stewart, Christian McCaffrey and Fozy Whitaler, the Carolina Panthers had a shot at a game-winning drive late. Down by five points with two minutes remaining and zero timeouts, Carolina began his final drive at its own 31-yard line. A 12-yard dart to wide receiver Kelvin Benjamin and a 9-yard completion to wide receiver Russell Shepard put the Panthers in Eagles territory, but two incomplete passes on third and fourth down sealed Carolina's fate. The Panthers' offense was completing drives earlier. McCaffrey's 25-yard punt return, the longest of his NFL career, sparked the offense in the second quarter to a 57-yard scoring drive in just four plays. Newton found a wide-open Ed Dickson for 13 yards and a diving Benjamin for 14 yards before scrambling 16 yards into the end zone. The score put Carolina up 10-3, but nearing the end of the second quarter cornerback Rasul Douglas intercepted Newton inside Carolina's 20. The pocket collapsed on the quarterback, who was hit while throwing. It took the Eagles seven plays to move 12 yards, but quarterback Carson Wentz ultimately capped off the drive with a 1-yard touchdown pass to tight end Zach Ertz. Misfortune struck once more for the Panthers at the start of the third quarter. Newton tossed a routine screen pass to Stewart, but the ball slipped from his fingertips and into the hands of cornerback Patrick Robinson. Wentz once more topped off the short drive with a 17-yard touchdown pass to Ertz. Carolina clawed back within five in the fourth quarter following a 1-yard touchdown pass to McCaffrey, but failed to capitalize on the late momentum shift. The loss drops the Panthers to 4-2 on the season and into second place in the NFC South behind the Atlanta Falcons.

GAME 7 CHICAGO 17 – CAROLINA 3

October 22, 2017
Soldier Field • Chicago, IL

The Panthers appeared poised for success early, but two costly turnovers proved to be too much to overcome in a 17-3 loss to the Chicago Bears. Quarterback Cam Newton completed three passes for 39 yards and scrambled for 14 more on the game's opening drive, but at the Bears' 24-yard line, Newton ran an option and wide receiver Curtis Samuel fumbled the pitch. Rookie safety Eddie Jackson scooped up the loose ball and returned it 75 yards for a touchdown. Jackson, who was starting just his sixth career game, doubled his touchdown total in the second quarter. Newton dropped back just outside the red zone and threw a bullet to wide receiver Kelvin Benjamin. Cornerback Prince Amukamara tipped the pass, which Jackson hauled in and returned 76 yards for a touchdown. On the Bears' ensuing drive, rookie quarterback Mitch Trubisky opened up Carolina's defense with a 70-yard toss to rookie running back Tarik Cohen to set up Chicago's lone offensive points, courtesy of a 19-yard field goal. The Panthers defense did the job otherwise, holding Chicago to just three first downs before Chicago picked up a couple more in the closing minutes to run out the clock. The two early turnovers deflated Carolina's offense, which only managed three points on the day, the Panthers' lowest point since a 30-3 loss to the Titans in Week 10 of Newton's rookie season in 2011. Carolina did total 108 rushing yards, which had been a concern in the previous two weeks. Newton led the way with 50 while running back Jonathan Stewart rushed for 48 yards. Despite two interceptions, Newton threw for 211 yards and completed nearly 62 percent of his passes.

GAME 8 CAROLINA 17 – TAMPA BAY 3

Raymond James Stadium • Tampa, FL

Points were at a premium as the Carolina Panthers defense kept the Tampa Bay Buccaneers out of the end zone and came up with three takeaways to spearhead a 17-3 victory. All season long, head coach Ron Rivera has stressed the importance of starting fast. After not scoring a touchdown in the first quarter since the opener at San Francisco, Carolina ended the drought. The Panthers had to convert on third down five times, but ultimately running back Jonathan Stewart took flight over the offensive line to cap off the 17 play, 82-yard drive with a 1-yard touchdown rush – his first rushing touchdown of the season. The Panthers added a second touchdown in the fourth quarter. Quarterback Cam Newton followed his 20-yard scamper – the longest rush of the day – with a 25-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Kelvin Benjamin on third down. The 6-foot-5 receiver boxed out rookie cornerback Justin Evans to reel in the jump ball for his second touchdown of the season. The defense took over from there. The unit received criticism entering the game for the lack of takeaways this year, but nearly matched their season total Sunday. The defense forced three turnovers – two interceptions and one fumble. Defensive end Julius Peppers started the day tallying sack No. 151 while forcing a fumble that safety Kurt Coleman recovered in the second quarter. In the fourth quarter, safety Mike Adams and linebacker Luke Kuechly – who returned after missing one game – each intercepted quarterback Jameis Winston.

GAME 12 NEW ORLEANS 31 – CAROLINA 21

December 3, 2017
Mercedes-Benz Superdome • New Orleans, LA

Carolina couldn't reclaim the top spot in the NFC South, falling 31-21 to division rival New Orleans in the Mercedes-Benz Superdome. With the Panthers already down a touchdown early in the second quarter, punter Michael Palardy fumbled J.J. Jansen's snap at Carolina's 31 and was called for targeting an ineligible receiver in desperation. New Orleans took over just outside the red zone. With the help of an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty on defensive end Julius Peppers, the Saints moved the chains on an important third-and-5, and quarterback Drew Brees eventually connected with wide receiver Michael Thomas for a 10-yard score and a 21-7 lead. The Panthers did claw back within a touchdown before halftime on the back of a Saints fumble forced by safety Mike Adams. The veteran punched the ball loose from Saints tight end Josh Hill's grasp, allowing lurking linebacker Luke Kuechly to recover to the fumble. The Panthers' offense took the field at New Orleans' 45, and Newton immediately hit wide receiver Brenton Bersin for 18 yards. Three plays later, Newton found running back Christian McCaffrey for 21-yard catch and run into the end zone. The Saints, however, struck first on the other side of the break. Brees linked up with wide receiver Willie Snead for 26 yards to move the chains on third-and-5 at New Orleans' 46, and two plays later running back Alvin Kamara scored his second touchdown of the day. The third-round pick broke free around the outside for 20 yards to cap off the eight-play, 67-yard drive. The Saints led 28-14 at the end of the third quarter. New Orleans added to its advantage in the fourth quarter and sealed the victory with a 31-yard field goal. Newton's second touchdown pass of the day, this one to Devin Funchess for 24 yards, closed the gap, but Funchess' all-out effort on the ensuing onside kick didn't pay off as he was ruled out of bounds.

GAME 13 CAROLINA 31 – MINNESOTA 24

Bank of America Stadium • Charlotte, NC

It took quarterback Cam Newton's late-game heroics for the Carolina Panthers to pull out a pivotal 31-24 victory over the Minnesota Vikings at Bank of America Stadium. Although the Panthers led for the majority of the game, Minnesota's Kai Forbath kicked a game-tying 27-yard field goal to level the score at 24 with 3:07 remaining. However, with all eyes on Newton, he orchestrated his first game-winning fourth quarter drive since 2015. On the second play of the drive, the quarterback broke free for a 62-yard run up the middle and barreled into the red zone. Three plays later, running back Jonathan Stewart capped off the game-winning drive with a 1-yard touchdown run, his third rushing touchdown of the day. All season long, head coach Ron Rivera has stressed the importance of starting strong. Until now, that hasn't included a first-quarter interception, let alone an interception from a cornerback. Dary Worley set the tone early when he picked off Vikings quarterback Case Keenum on a deep pass intended for wide receiver Adam Thielen. The Panthers' offense took over at their own 31 and within three plays, Carolina was leading by a touchdown. On his first handoff of the game, Stewart broke off a 60-yard touchdown run, his longest of the season. Keenum and the Vikings responded on the ensuing possession, putting together a 10-play, 75-yard drive ending in an 18-yard touchdown reception for tight end Kyle Rudolph. However, Carolina's offense continued to roll behind the legs of Stewart. After the Panthers strung together 13 plays totaling 88 yards, Stewart bulldozed into the end for his second touchdown of the day. Despite conceding two field goals before halftime, the Panthers offense began clicking again out of the break. Leading 14-13, Newton connected with Funchess for an 18-yard touchdown completion. On third-and-7, Newton dropped 15 yards behind the line of scrimmage to evade pressure before finding Funchess all alone at the goal line. The third quarter score paired with a 41-yard Graham Gano field goal gave Carolina a 24-13 lead, its largest of the game. The Vikings didn't go away in the fourth quarter. Even after throwing a second interception, Keenum linked up with Thielen once more for a 52-yard pitch and catch turned touchdown. The score preceded a third Kai Forbath field goal, this time from 27 yards, that leveled the game, 24-24.

GAME 14 CAROLINA 31 – GREEN BAY 24

December 17, 2017
Bank of America Stadium • Charlotte, NC

On the day of Packers quarterback Aaron Rodgers' heralded return, the Panthers came up with four turnovers to fuel a 31-24 victory. After breaking out of that lull and taking a 17-14 lead early in the third quarter, safety Colin Jones recorded the second interception of Rodgers on the day. The turnover further inspired Carolina's offense, which took over at Green Bay's 49 and scored seven plays later. An 8-yard scramble by Newton and two short passes to tight end Greg Olsen set up first-and-goal at the 9-yard line. Newton dropped back and threw a dart to wide receiver Damiere Byrd, whose back end zone catch counted after a dramatic replay reversal to give the Panthers a 24-14 lead. On the ensuing Packers' drive, cornerback James Bradberry picked off Rodgers for the Panthers' third interception of the game. It was the first time Rodgers had thrown three interceptions in a game since Nov. 8, 2009, against Tampa Bay. Moving into the fourth quarter, Newton continued to find Olsen for first down after first down, and looked for Byrd once more in the red zone. Newton threw a strike between two defenders for the second touchdown of the day for Byrd, who had never found the end zone before Sunday. The score increased the Panthers' lead to 31-17. Despite trailing by two touchdowns, Rodgers and the Packers clawed back. With less than three minutes remaining, Rodgers connected with tight end Richard Rodgers for a 24-yard touchdown. After the extra point, Green Bay recovered an onside kick to give the Packers a shot at tying the game. Rodgers moved the Packers into Panthers territory, but Bradberry forced a timely fumble on Packers wide receiver Geronimo Allison that safety Mike Adams recovered to seal Carolina's victory.

Bank of America Stadium • Charlotte, NC

The Carolina Panthers clinched a berth in the NFC playoffs for the fourth time in five years, defeating NFC South rival Tampa Bay 22-19 in their home final at Bank of America Stadium. Despite struggling to move the ball for the majority of the game, with three minutes remaining, quarterback Cam Newton led the Panthers to its first victory when trailing after three quarters since 2015. Carolina took over at its own 41-yard line after the Buccaneers kicker Patrick Murray missed a 51-yard field goal attempt. Newton jumpstarted the drive by connecting with wide receiver Brenton Bersin for 23 yards and wide receiver Kaelin Clay for another 13 – his first reception of the day. Later, a 5-yard completion to tight end Greg Olsen moved the Panthers to the 5-yard line, but the tight end fell short of the first down marker, forcing fourth down. After Tampa's fourth offside of the day moved Carolina closer, running back Jonathan Stewart barely picked up inches needed, setting up a first-and-goal at the 2 with 38 seconds left. Newton fumbled the ensuing snap, but he picked up his mistake and barreled into the end zone for the game-winning score – Carolina's only offensive touchdown of the game. The Buccaneers possessed a final chance to answer with 35 seconds remaining, but defensive tackle Kawann Short sacked Buccaneers quarterback Jameis Winston, forcing a fumble. Defensive end Julius Peppers recovered the loose ball, initiating victory formation. With the win, the Panthers improved to 10-4 on the season and are currently tied atop the NFC South with the Saints.

GAME 16 ATLANTA 22 – CAROLINA 10

December 31, 2017
Mercedes-Benz Stadium • Atlanta, GA

It's not the way the Carolina Panthers would've liked to end 2017, but even after a 22-10 loss to the Falcons, Carolina will begin the new year with postseason play for the fourth time in five seasons. Quarterback Cam Newton and the Panthers offense never shifted out of first gear in the first half. After falling behind a touchdown on the Falcons' opening drive, Newton began the game 0-for-9 passing, the poorest start not only in his career but also in franchise history. The trend continued into the second quarter, but when Newton did finally complete his 10th attempted pass to running back Christian McCaffrey for minus-3 yards, it spurred Carolina's game-tying scoring drive. The Panthers moved the chains on fourth down and converted on third down three times during the drive, including a 27-yard completion to wide receiver Brenton Bersin on third-and-23. Ironically, Newton finished the drive completing all seven of his passes after finding wide receiver Devin Funchess in the end zone for a 4-yard score. That sent the teams to halftime tied at 7-7. The Panthers suffered a three-and-out on the opening possession of second half while the Falcons converted field goals on each of their first three second-half drives to build a working margin. Down 16-7 at the start of the fourth quarter, Newton found Funchess for a 44-yard pickup through air, the largest gain of the game for either team. However, Carolina failed to capitalize on the big play and was forced to settle for 42-yard Graham Gano field goal. The score made it 16-10. The Falcons drove back down into Panthers' territory on the ensuing drive and rolled the dice on a 56-yard field goal attempt. To Carolina's dismay, Bryant's kick sailed through the uprights with distance to spare and all but ended the Panthers' hopes of topping the Falcons in the season finale. Atlanta added another field goal for insurance and intercepted Newton twice more to end Carolina's final two drives.

WILD CARD ROUND NEW ORLEANS 31 – CAROLINA 26

January 7, 2018
Mercedes-Benz Superdome • New Orleans, LA

NEW ORLEANS - Carolina had its chances, but the Panthers couldn't keep up with New Orleans' high-powered passing game and suffered a 31-26 loss to the Saints in the NFC Wild Card round. Even after settling for field goals four times over the first three quarters, the Panthers had the ball just inside the red zone with less than a minute remaining with a chance to pull it out. The Panthers had battled back from a 24-12 deficit in the fourth quarter courtesy of two Cam Newton passing touchdowns - 14 yards to tight end Greg Olsen and 56 yards to running back Christian McCaffrey. Newton's offense set up first-and-10 at New Orleans' 21 with 46 seconds remaining in regulation. After an incomplete pass intended for wide receiver Devin Funchess, the Saints forced Newton into an intentional grounding penalty that cost Carolina 13 yards. Newton's second attempt to Funchess on third-and-23 fell incomplete once more, and on fourth down, he was pressured and ultimately sacked, ending Carolina's season. The Panthers produced 413 total yards, 24 first downs and converted on 47 percent of third downs. The Panthers kicked four field goals through the first three quarters while the Saints punched in three touchdowns. After the Panthers' defense forced two punts from the Saints on their first two possessions, wide receiver Kaelin Clay dropped a touchdown pass that would've gave the Panthers a 7-0 advantage in the first quarter. Kicker Graham Gano missed the subsequent 25-yard field goal attempt wide right, and within one play of getting the ball back, New Orleans took the lead 7-0. Saints quarterback Drew Brees connected with former Panthers receiver Ted Ginn Jr. for an 80-yard touchdown pass and like Ginn, who ran past the Panthers' secondary, New Orleans didn't look back. While Brees tossed two touchdown passes and fallback Zach Line rushed for another in the first half, Gano booted three field goals -- 27, 39 and 58 yards -- as Carolina finished 0-for-2 from the red zone in the opening half. The Panthers set a number of franchise playoff records as Newton finished the game with 349 passing yards and two touchdowns with no interceptions for a passer rating of 105.1, setting the record for most passing yards in a Panthers postseason game. Gano's 58-yard field goal before halftime was the longest in franchise history and tied for the longest in NFL postseason history.
