Raiders Defeat Broncos on the Road, 15-12

- The Raiders defeated the Broncos 15-12 to snap the team's eight-game losing streak against Denver. The team's last win against Denver came on Sept. 12, 2011.
- For the first time in the Raiders-Broncos series history, the Raiders did not allow the Broncos an offensive touchdown in a season. It marks the sixth time the Raiders held Denver without a passing touchdown (last: 2002) and the eighth time without a rushing touchdown (last: 1993) in a season series.

Defense Holds in First Half, Dominates in Second

- The Raiders held the Broncos to three field goals on three red zone trips in the first half and did not allow Denver back into the red zone for the entire second half.
- The Raiders held the Broncos scoreless in the second half for the first time since Oct. 15, 2006, a 3-13 loss. The last time the Raiders did so in a win was Nov. 22, 1992 (24-0).
- The Raiders did not allow the Broncos to run more than three offensive plays on five-of-eight second-half drives. Broncos 0-for-3 in the red zone in the first half

Raiders Stifle Broncos' Rushing Attack

- The Raiders held the Broncos to 34 rushing yards, giving the Broncos 77 total rushing yards against the Raiders this season. That marks the Broncos' second lowest season total versus the Raiders (51 yards in 1972).
- Along with 1963 (96 yards), this marks the third time in team history the Raiders allowed less than 100 rushing yards to Denver in a season (excluding the strike-shortened 1982 season).
- The Raiders allowed 25-or-fewer rushing yards in a first half for the fourth time this season and the second time in three weeks (also Nov. 29 at Tennessee).

Mack Ties Franchise Sack Record

- DE Khalil Mack tied a franchise record and set a career high with five sacks, matching Howie Long's five sacks on Oct. 2, 1983.
- Mack is the sixth NFL player since sacks became official in 1982 to record five sacks and one forced fumble in a game. The last player to do so was Aldon Smith for the San Francisco 49ers in 2012.
- The only other Raider with four sacks and a forced fumble in a single game was Anthony Smith on Oct. 18, 1992 (two forced fumbles).

Multi-Sack Mack

- DE Khalil Mack has at least two sacks in three straight games, making him the first NFL player to do so this season. His three straight games is the longest active streak and ties the second longest streak in the NFL since 2001.
- Mack is the first Raider with two sacks in three straight games since Derrick Burgess in 2005.
- Mack's five multi-sack games tie Anthony Smith (1991-92) for the most by a Raider through his first two seasons.

Carr Cracks Top Five for Touchdowns

- QB Derek Carr threw two touchdown passes in the game, giving him 28 on the season and tying him with Rich Gannon (2000) for the fourth most in a season in team history.
- Carr's second touchdown pass came on his fourth career fourth-quarter comeback drive and his third of the season.
- Carr is now the second Raider to record two passing touchdowns in 10 games in a season, joining Jeff George (10 in 1997).

Carr Sets Career High

- QB Derek Carr threw for 135 yards, eclipsing his rookie season total of 3,270 yards in the game. He is now the fourth quarterback in NFL history with 20 touchdown passes and 3,200 passing yards in each of his first two seasons.
- The other three quarterbacks to do so are Andy Dalton, Andrew Luck and Peyton Manning.
