

RAVENS IN OUR COMMUNITY

THANKSGIVING EVENTS

Ravens players served the Baltimore community on Tuesday (11/19) while extending a helping hand in Maryland's fight against hunger. Each year, the Ravens organization and its players commit to making a difference by feeding Maryland families. LB Josh Bynes, with the help of CBs Corey Graham and Lardarius Webb, served lunch to over 300 people in need at Paul's Place, a Baltimore-area soup kitchen that offers services and programs to low-income individuals and families. This year's seventh-annual holiday dinner at the Helping Up Mission men's shelter in downtown Baltimore was led by Ravens RB Ray Rice. The Mission is a residential facility where Rice, joined by 10 Ravens teammates, served dinner to over 500 guests. Ravens LB Jameel McClain, partnering with the Salvation Army and six teammates, hosted his fourth-annual Thanksgiving distribution, where 53 families were treated to a Thanksgiving basket with a turkey and all the trimmings. Finally, Ravens WR Torrey Smith, joined by TE Dennis Pitta, visited the Ronald McDonald House Charities of Baltimore for a holiday dinner. The two distributed food and gift cards to the families who currently live there.

MDA SCHOOL VISIT

On Tuesday (11/19), RB Ray Rice visited Hilltop Elementary (Glen Burnie) School to help promote its Maryland Meals For Achievement Program, which provides free breakfast in the classroom to every student regardless of family income. The program is supported in the form of grants from the Mid-Atlantic Dairy Association and Share our Strength's No Kid Hungry campaign. The program will result in the serving of 3,400 additional breakfast meals per day to children in the Anne Arundel County Public School system.
