

Sommer E., Baltimore Ravens Cheerleader

A Bright Day for Sean!

The Baltimore Ravens Cheerleaders are some of the biggest ambassadors for our brand, outside of our players, and they bring smiles to fans faces every day of the week. A few months ago, a young Raven fan, Sean, met Sommer at an appearance. Sean is currently undergoing surgery for a bone marrow transplant and he and his family have been staying in housing provided by Believe In Tomorrow. Sean was so excited to see and meet the Cheerleaders but due to undergoing treatments, didn't want to take any pictures. Sean had a connection with Sommer E, and they instantly became friends. Sommer promised Sean when he was ready, she'd take a picture with him.

Fast forward to the week of the Packers game and Believe In Tomorrow reached out to the Ravens about making the next few days extra special for a patient who was about to have surgery; and that patient was Sean! When talking to his mom about the upcoming visit to M&T Bank Stadium, his mom mentioned the interaction and his new friend who treated him so kindly. During their pre-game field visit, we arranged to surprise Sean with Sommer stopping by to reconnect and so he could finally have his picture taken with her. When asking Sean who his favorite player was, he said Sommer. The look on his face when seeing her standing on the field to greet him was priceless!

Sean has left a lasting impact on Sommer, so much so that she's organizing her own fundraiser to support him & his family as they go through some tough times in the next few months. Thank you, Sommer, for making such a special memory for Sean and his family. This is an experience he will always remember!

The fundraiser will be held on October 17 at The Charles Baltimore. If anyone is interested in making a donation to the fundraiser, please email Rob.Tune@Ravens.nfl.net.
