McClain Spreads Holiday Cheer at Festival of Trees

On Friday (11/26), Ravens LB Jameel McClain entertained more than 100 parents and kids in attendance at the Kennedy Krieger Institute's Festival of Trees at the Maryland State Fairgrounds (Timonium, Md.). McClain took to the stage to read the holiday classic, "The Night Before Christmas" by Clement C. Moore. After he finished the story, McClain answered questions from the audience. Proceeds from the three-day event benefit children and families of the Kennedy Krieger Institute.

Birk Receives Donation

C Matt Birk (above, at left) hosted an assembly for nearly 300 students at Arundel Middle School on Tuesday (11/30). The sixth-grade students invited Birk to come and receive a check for $821.76 made out to his HIKE Foundation. The money was raised through the a fundraiser organized by the school's National Junior Honor Society.

Birk took the opportunity to speak to the students about the mission of the HIKE Foundation, the importance of education, and he also hosted a Ravens-themed game of Jeopardy.

Carr Speaks to Towson Business Class

On Tuesday (11/30), Ravens CB Chris Carr (right, in the center) spoke to a Towson University Professional Experience class. Carr, a Ravens' NFL Players Association representative, explained the business side of the NFL from both the owners' and players' perspectives. He also offered encouragement and advice for students preparing to graduate.

Cundiff and Lawrence Encourage Students

Ravens K Billy Cundiff (left) and RB Matt Lawrence visited Archbishop Borders Catholic School (Baltimore, Md.) on Tuesday (11/30). The duo addressed an assembly of 160 kindergarten through eighth grade students, encouraging the youth to focus on family, friends, faith and education in order to attain their dreams.

Boldin Honored by United Way

On Tuesday (11/30), Ravens WR Anquan Boldin was named the Emerging Leaders United (ELU) Honorary Chair by the United Way of Central Maryland. As the ELU ambassador, Boldin will encourage fellow professionals to volunteer in assisting the local community. Already enhancing the educational and life opportunities of underprivileged youth in Florida, Arizona and Baltimore through the Anquan Boldin Foundation, Boldin hopes connecting with the United Way can expand those efforts.
