

OUR TEAM. OUR COMMUNITY.

CRUCIAL CATCH

HOSPITAL VISIT

In celebration of the NFL's Crucial Catch initiative, Baltimore Ravens cheerleaders and mascot Poe visited MedStar Health's Good Samaritan Hospital to spend time with oncology patients and distribute special Ravens-themed care packages.

CRUCIAL CATCH

INTERCEPT CANCER

Prior to the 10/11 game against the Colts, the Ravens welcomed cancer survivors, and those battling the disease, onto the field for a moment of recognition during the national anthem. Additionally, at the two-minute warning, the team held a stadium-wide moment of recognition for all affected by cancer.

INTERCEPT CANCER EARLY

Some cancers can be found before they have had a chance to grow and spread.

Click here to learn more about screenings that can be used to detect cancer early and about the American Cancer Society's guidelines for using them.

SIP N' PAINT

On 10/5, the Ravens hosted their sixth- annual Sip N' Paint event to celebrate and honor women who have survived or are currently undergoing treatment for breast cancer. Guests were able to bond with fellow survivors, enjoy a painting class with OL Patrick Mekari and take photos with WR Devin Duvernay. Survivors Barbara Palmer and Diane Wallace (bottom left) have attended the event since its inception.

