MILITARY APPRECIATION DAY & NAVAL ACADEMY OPEN PRACTICE

The Ravens continued their tradition of honoring current and former service members during training camp. The Ravens held their annual Military Appreciation Day at the first open practice of training camp on Monday (7/28) at M&T Bank Stadium. All fans were welcomed to watch practice, with a special emphasis placed on active and former military personnel. Upon entry, veterans and active service members were given a limited edition Ravens patriotic t-shirt. In addition, their guests received a military-themed Ravens wrist sweatband. Specific sections were designated for these military members and their families to sit and enjoy practice. Before practice, head coach John Harbaugh addressed the crowd of 2,800, thanking them for their service and many sacrifices. After practice, players stayed on the field to sign autographs and take pictures with fans.

For the third-consecutive year, the Ravens traveled to Annapolis, Md., to hold an open training camp practice at the Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium on Monday (8/4). The practice was open to all fans, giving them the opportunity to see the 2014 Ravens compete in a series of drills and game-like situations. Prior to practice, aspiring youth football players were able to participate in a free clinic and welcomed Ravens players onto the field. Ravens cheerleaders and mascot Poe made appearances, signing autographs and taking pictures with fans. Shortly before the conclusion of practice, children were invited to obtain autographs from players.
