

RAVENS IN OUR COMMUNITY

L.I.F.T. CONFERENCE

The Ravens hosted their second annual L.I.F.T. (Leading and Inspiring Females to Thrive) Conference in April at the Under Armour Performance Center. Baltimore City and County public high school athletic directors nominated females who exemplify leadership in sports. The event, designed to empower the next generation of female student-athletes, provided insight for success on and off the field. Head coach John Harbaugh, alongside Pam Herath of SportsChallenge Leadership Academy and former USA Volleyball player Angela Forsett, the wife of RB Justin Forsett, spoke to the students about developing a leadership style, college preparation and career choice. Under Armour also powered a workout to help the young women discover how their on-field skills can be applied to their personal and professional lives.

RAVENS SCHOLARS

This summer, the Baltimore Ravens hosted their second annual luncheon dedicated to honoring Ravens Scholars past and present (pictured below). The Ravens organization continues its partnership with CollegeBound Foundation, an independent nonprofit working to help local students. Funded by the Ravens Foundation, Inc., the program enables youth to continue their education on a collegiate level with a $5,000 renewable scholarship for each student.

BEACH BASH

Ocean City, Md., was transformed into Ravenstown this past June for the fifth annual Ravens Ocean City Beach Bash event, presented by Miller Lite. Fans had the opportunity to hang out on the beach and enjoy fun in the sun with players, cheerleaders and mascot Poe. Ravens WR Kamar Aiken, TE Crockett Gilmore, DE Lawrence Guy and DT Brandon Williams were all on hand to interact with fans and enjoy the summer festivities by the ocean.

ROOKIE CLASS COMMUNITY VISIT

This past June, the 2016 Baltimore Ravens rookie class (pictured right) visited the Helping Up Mission, a comprehensive faith-based recovery service for men fighting addiction, poverty and homelessness in Greater Baltimore. The rookies assisted in serving a hot meal to 300 residents. The visit was part of a long-standing tradition with the Helping Up Mission. Throughout the years, additional support of the shelter has included Thanksgiving meal distributions, and multiple food and clothing donations.
