

RAVENS IN OUR COMMUNITY

LADY RAVENS AT MARYLAND FOOD BANK

On Monday Sept. 9, Ingrid Harbaugh and members of the Lady Ravens joined Orioles wives in supporting Hunger Action Month at the Maryland Food Bank. Hunger Action Month is a nationwide initiative, championed by Feeding America, that enlists Marylanders to become involved with issues concerning hunger.

As part of their Be A Voice Campaign, the wives joined Baltimore Mayor Stephanie Rawlings-Blake in encouraging local residents to speak out against hunger by donating food, funds or time. The wives spent the afternoon sorting and packing food for distribution to hungry families across the state of Maryland.

RONALD McDONALD HOUSE VISIT

The Ravens hosted a pizza and karaoke party for the families of the Ronald McDonald House (RMH) Charities of Baltimore on Tuesday, Sept. 10. RMH provides a home away from home for seriously-ill children and their families while they seek medical attention at Baltimore-area hospitals.

Ravens players ILB Brandon Copeland, K Justin Tucker and DT Brandon Williams, pictured to the left, were on hand to serve pizza to the families as well as sing karaoke alongside the residents.

2013 HONOR ROWS PROGRAM

The Baltimore Ravens kicked off the 14th year of their Honor Rows program at the first home game of the season when they hosted the Cleveland Browns on Sept. 15. The program was created to recognize youth groups or organizations that provide outstanding volunteer service to their communities. Sixteen winning groups and organizations have been selected for this year's Honor Rows program.

Throughout the season, at every home game, groups will receive complimentary tickets to a game, Honor Rows t-shirts, a pre-game on-field visit and in-game recognition on the RavensVision video boards.

Honorees were selected by a panel of employees representing the Governor's Office on Service and Volunteerism, the Baltimore Ravens and M&T Bank.
