

RAVENS IN OUR COMMUNITY

THANKSGIVING SUPPORT

Jimmy Smith

Marlon Humphrey

Ronnie Stanley

Pernell McPhee

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Ravens players were unfortunately unable to attend any events in person this year, however, they remained committed to serving families in the Baltimore area this Thanksgiving. G/C Bradley Bozeman, DE Calais Campbell, CB Marlon Humphrey, RB Mark Ingram II, OLB Matthew Judon, DB/LB Anthony Levine Sr., OLB Pernell McPhee, CB Marcus Peters, CB Jimmy Smith and T Ronnie Stanley joined forces to purchase nearly 2,000 turkeys and sides for pre-selected families in the Baltimore area. Turkeys were distributed at the following places: Brooklyn O'Malley Boys and Girls Club, Fort Washington Elementary/Middle School, Furley Elementary School, Harry & Jeanette Weinberg Family Center YMCA at Stadium Place, Curtis Bay Elementary/Middle School and Zion Baptist Church.

ALUMNI SUPPORT

LEVEL 82

Ravens alumni continued to be a positive force in the Baltimore community this Thanksgiving. Ravens director of player engagement and former LB Jameel McClain held his annual Thanksgiving dinner and, once again, distributed nearly 5,000 meals to families all across Baltimore. Volunteers packaged meals at the Salvation Army and delivered them to pre-selected families. Former LB Bart Scott continued supporting the Helping Up Mission through his 15th annual holiday dinner to over 350 men who live at and visit the shelter. S Ed Reed's foundation donated 650 meals to families at Booker T. Washington Middle School in downtown Baltimore and the SEED School of Maryland. This is the 18th year Reed has supported the community of Booker T. Washington Middle School and 10th-consecutive year he has distributed Thanksgiving meals at the SEED School. Lastly, former WR Torrey Smith was on-site to distribute meals, produce and books to community members in West Baltimore, as he launched his partnership with Baltimore City Recreation and Parks at the Hilton Rec Center.
