Ravens' Offseason Offers Players Extra Time to Serve The Community

DE Cory Redding

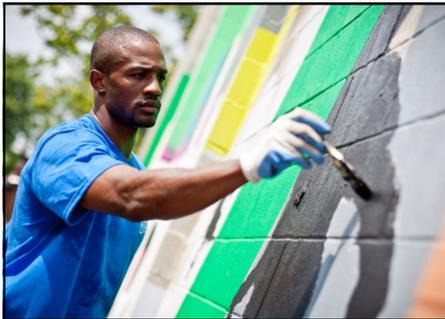

With the lockout in place, several Ravens players used the offseason as an opportunity to devote more time to serving Baltimore and their hometown communities. CB/RS Lardarius Webb (Opelika, Ala.), LB Jameel McClain (Philadelphia, Pa.), RB Ray Rice (Baltimore, Md.), and DE Cory Redding (Houston, Texas) were among the numerous players who hosted youth football camps.

Several players, including CB Domonique Foxworth, ILB Ray Lewis, WR Anquan Boldin and S Ed Reed, participated in service projects and charity events that benefitted the players' foundations and organizations in need.

Other players used the extra time off to reach out to their communities and show team spirit by supporting their team-

Ravens Partner with KaBOOM! to Build Playground

Ravens personnel work to assemble benches.

On June 16, the Baltimore Ravens teamed with more than 300 volunteers from KaBOOM!, local organizations and community members to build a new playground at German Park. The new playground included slides, swings and a serenity garden. Thanks to the efforts of all the volunteers, the playground will provide more than 1,200 children of diverse backgrounds a safe place to play and connect.

Volunteers carry mulch to the playground.
