SURPRISE MILITARY REUNION

On Thursday (Nov. 21), Lieutenant Colonel Russell Coté surprised his two sons, Jonathan and Ryan, as they attended a Ravens practice at the Under Armour Performance Center. Coté contacted the Ravens to inquire about the possibility of surprising his family upon his return from service in Honduras. The organization obliged and set up the surprise with his wife, Annmarie. The two boys were under the impression that their mother had won a contest allowing them to visit the Ravens training facility, receive a tour and view practice. At the conclusion of practice, the family was invited into the team huddle and was addressed by head coach John Harbaugh. Within the huddle stood Lieutenant Colonel Coté; he greeted his family tearfully after coach Harbaugh introduced him. Following the reunion, the boys were able to interact with Ravens players and coaches.

RICE ANTI-BULLYING

On Friday (Nov. 22), RB Ray Rice held his second-annual anti-bullying event, Ray's Links of Kindness, at the SECU Arena in Towson. The event, which included guest speakers and prizes for attendees, focused on the negative effect of bullying, while Rice encouraged kindness as an alternative.

WEBB TURKEY DISTRIBUTION

CB Lardarius Webb, with his foundation, again supported the Boys and Girls Club with the United Way this year to celebrate Thanksgiving. Webb, along with S Anthony Levine and OLB Pernell McPhee, distributed turkey dinners to families of the Baltimore community that are in need on Friday (11/22).
