

True Teamwork

If you've grown up in or around sports like many of us have, you've heard expressions such as "Teamwork makes the dream work" or "There is no 'I' in Team". These phrases are constantly put to the test in all areas of our lives, especially when an emergency arises. In fact, these situations tend to cause the best of us to forget about Teamwork, forget about our training, forget about our mission and values, and even fold under pressure. Luckily for us at M&T Bank Stadium, we have team members like the ProCare Team who are trained to excel in emergency situations and are this week's recipients of the President's Award.

The ProCare Team is our First Aid and Emergency response medical team. On game day they are called to all sorts of guest related medical issues.

During the Steelers game, there was a high priority emergency that put them to the test and they passed with flying colors. Between providing the best level of care, working on crowd control and ultimately being responsible for the transport of a guest who was in a very serious state, the ProCare team is more than deserving of this award. We want to thank all those listed below for all their hard work and efforts.
