On Oct. 3, the Baltimore Ravens hosted their 4th-annual Caw to Action community day of service in partnership with the United Way of Central Maryland. Nearly 40 charitable organizations throughout the area, covering a wide range of worthy causes, hosted a service event. Organizations included Leveling the Playing Field, Irvine Nature Center and Our Daily Bread. Each participating nonprofit was supported by the United Way of Central Maryland, in addition to Ravens staff, cheerleaders and 17 players, such as CB Marlon Humphrey, ILB Patrick Queen and K Justin Tucker. Additionally, fans participated in this state-wide initiative that brought the community together.
