

RAVENS IN OUR COMMUNITY

SIP & PAINT NIGHT

On Monday, Oct. 19, the Baltimore Ravens hosted a “Sip & Paint Night” at M&T Bank Stadium for pre-registered participants who are currently battling or have overcome breast cancer. The evening centered around a Ravens-themed instructional painting session hosted by Trevino Paint (Pikesville, Md.). To help celebrate the event, members of the Lady Ravens Association were in attendance, along with DE Chris Canty (pictured top left), LS Morgan Cox (pictured bottom left) and T Eugene Monroe (pictured top right).

TEAM PURPLE WALK

In honor of Breast Cancer Awareness month, the Baltimore Ravens partnered with the American Cancer Society (ACS) through support of the nonprofit’s Making Strides Against Breast Cancer event on Sunday, Oct. 18. The event featured a non-competitive 5K in which Ravens fans joined Team Purple to raise money for the American Cancer Society’s breast cancer research studies. Ravens staff, along with official mascot Poe, came out to show their support. Close to 6,000 people participated in the 5K, raising over $300,000 for ACS.

RAVENS RISE BCA GAME

In honor of Breast Cancer Awareness month, the Ravens RISE High School Game of the Week (Century Knights vs. Winters Mill Falcons) incorporated several pink aspects throughout the evening, including banners from the NFL’s A Crucial Catch campaign. In addition, both teams were provided pink gloves and shoelaces to wear, courtesy of the Ravens. The American Cancer Society was also onsite promoting the campaign and accepting donations, while Zeta Tau Alpha distributed pink ribbons to all fans in attendance.
