RAVENS IN OUR COMMUNITY

HIGH SCHOOL COACH OF THE YEAR

Roger Wrenn (right), head coach of the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute (Baltimore, Md.) varsity football team, was named Ravens High School Coach of the Year for the 2011 NFL season. Presented by Toyota, this is the 15th year of the Ravens' award program.

Wrenn took Poly to the regional finals this season, before falling to Catonsville on Nov. 18. It was the team's only loss of the season. After more than 40 years as a high school football coach, Wrenn, who turned 60 on Nov. 29, is retiring this year. His final career record is 285-114-2.

Each week during the 2011 season, the Ravens honored a high school coach who has made a significant impact on his athletes. Each winner was present at the Ravens vs. Browns home game (12/24) for the naming of the Ravens' High School Coach of the Year. Comcast SportsNet, the official sports network of the Baltimore Ravens, also featured a weekly segment to honor the selected coach.

Each 2011 Ravens High School Coach of the Week recipient received an award certificate signed by Ravens head coach John Harbaugh, a specially-designed Coach of the Week hat and a $2,000 donation to the school's football program. As the 2011 Ravens High School Coach of the Year, Roger Wrenn received an additional $4,000 donation toward Poly's football program.

For the second straight year, the Baltimore Ravens cheerleaders continued their partnership with the Ronald McDonald House (RMH) in Baltimore.

On Wednesday (12/14), several cheerleaders visited RMH to host a holiday party for residents and their families. During the event, the cheerleaders helped children decorate Christmas cookies and paint wooden picture frames.

The cheerleaders volunteer at RMH twice a month hosting activity nights for the residents, including game night, arts and crafts night and dessert night.

PLAYER SPOTLIGHT

The Wesport Homes Boys & Girls Club was transformed into a Santa's Workshop for children to "shop" for toys with McKinney. DTs Arthur Jones (above center) and Bryan Hall (above right) were also in attendance at the event.

After selecting their toys, children enjoyed festive activities, including face painting, holiday tattoos and holiday word finds. The players also posed for pictures and signed autographs.
