RAVENS IN OUR COMMUNITY

PLAYER SPOTLIGHT: RICKY WILLIAMS

On Monday (11/28), RB Ricky Williams hosted a community yoga and meditation class at Stevenson University. More than 125 participants attended the master's class taught by Williams, a licensed yoga instructor.

The class was designed to cleanse and energize the aura, as well as remove stress and negative thoughts/emotions. Each participant was entered into a raffle to win prizes, including an autographed football and tickets to this week's game. All procceeds from the event benefitted the Ricky Williams Foundation.

The Ricky Williams Foundation provides tutorial services, public speaking programs and sports camps that promote health and fitness. The mission of the foundation is to be instrumental in the economic, social and educational development of at-risk individuals from low socio-economic communities.

XBOX KINECT

As part of Kinect for Xbox 360's collaboration with the Ravens and Play 60, 10 students were selected to receive Xbox 360 consoles with Kinect at the 49ers game (11/24). Children who received the game console were chosen as Play 60 ambassadors for their participation in various Ravens Play 60 programs.

As the winner of the NFL Play 60 Super School sweepstakes in Baltimore, the Immaculate Heart of Mary School will also receive two game consoles. To help support its commitment to a healthy and active lifestyle, the school will incorporate Kinect for Xbox 360 into its Physical Education curriculum.

ACT AUCTION PARTY

The Ravens hosted the 11th annual All Community Team Auction Party, presented by Miller Lite, on Monday (12/5). The soldout event featured a Monday Night Football theme, interactive stations (cornhole, Madden NFL 12 and holiday card signing for troops overseas) and silent and live auctions.

Ravens players with foundations were on hand to meet with more than 600 guests and participate in the live auction.

Proceeds from the Auction party benefit the Ravens' charitable arm, the Ravens All Community Team Foundation.
