HENRY PUTS ROAD STREAK ON THE LINE: This week Derrick Henry will attempt to extend his streak of seven consecutive road games with at least 100 rushing yards. His latest heroics came in a 28-carry, 133-yard performance at Baltimore that included the game-winning 29-yard run in overtime.

Henry returns to the scene where his current road streak began, Lucas Oil Stadium in Indianapolis. On Dec. 1, 2019, he registered a 149-yard performance in the Titans' victory over the Colts. Since then, he has reached triple digits at Oakland (103 rushing yards on Dec. 8), Houston (211 on Dec. 29), Denver (116 on Sept. 14), Minnesota (119 on Sept. 27), Cincinnati (112 on Nov. 1) and Baltimore.

Going back to 1960, Henry's streak is tied for the third-longest continuous stretch of its kind. Detroit's Barry Sanders had 10 road games in a row with 100-plus yards from 1996 to 1997, and Titans running back Chris Johnson produced an eight-game streak from 2009 to 2010. Los Angeles Raiders running back Marcus Allen (1985 to 1986) is the only other player with a streak of seven 100-yard rushing games on the road.
