TITANS-PACKERS SUPPLEMENTAL NOTES

TITANS QUARTET FLIRTING WITH RARE ACCOMPLISHMENT: With two games remaining in the regular season, Titans quarterback Ryan Tannehill, running back Derrick Henry, and wide receivers Corey Davis and A.J. Brown are on the verge of a rare statistical feat as a foursome. Soon they can make the Titans the NFL's eighth team with a 3,500-yard passer, a 1,500-yard rusher and a pair of 1,000-yard receivers.

Tannehill enters Week 16 with 3,482 passing yards, only 18 yards away from giving the team its fifth individual 3,500-yard passing campaign. Warren Moon reached the mark three times with the Oilers from 1989 to 1991 (3,631 yards, 4,689 yards and 4,690 yards, respectively). Matt Hasselbeck provided the franchise's only other 3,500-yard passing season in 2011 (3,571).

With 1,679 rushing yards, Henry leads the NFL and already has established a career high for rushing yards in a season. His total ranks fourth in team annals behind Chris Johnson's 2,006 yards in 2009, Earl Campbell's 1,934 yards in 1980, and Campbell's 1,697 yards in 1979.

Davis, who already has a career-high 945 receiving yards, is 55 yards from 1,000. Brown has 881 receiving yards, putting him 119 yards away from his second consecutive 1,000-yard season to begin his career. If they both hit the mark, they will be the franchise's first receiving tandem with 1,000 yards in the same season since Drew Bennett (1,247) and Derrick Mason (1,168) in 2004.

The last time an organization simultaneously produced a 3,500-yard passing season, a 1,500-yard rushing season and two 1,000-yard receiving seasons was 2006, when the St. Louis Rams ensemble of Marc Bulger (4,301 passing), Steven Jackson (1,528 rushing), and Isaac Bruce (1,098 receiving) and Torry Holt (1,188 receiving) teamed to do it.

Teams in NFL history with a 3,500-yard passer, a 1,500-yard rusher and two 1,000-yard receivers in a season:

Team	Season	3,500-Yard Passer	1,500-Yard Rusher	1,000-Yard Receivers
Detroit Lions	1995	Scott Mitchell (4,338)	Barry Sanders (1,500)	Herman Moore (1,686), Brett Perriman (1,488)
Denver Broncos	1997	John Elway (3,635)	Terrell Davis (1,750)	Shannon Sharpe (1,107), Rod Smith (1,180)
San Francisco 49ers	1998	Steve Young (4,170)	Garrison Hearst (1,570)	Terrell Owens (1,097), Jerry Rice (1,157)
Minnesota Vikings	2000	Daunte Culpepper (3,937)	Robert Smith (1,521)	Cris Carter (1,274), Randy Moss (1,437)
Indianapolis Colts	2004	Peyton Manning (4,557)	Edgerrin James (1,548)	Marvin Harrison (1,113), Brandon Stokley (1,077), Reggie Wayne (1,210)
Indianapolis Colts	2005	Peyton Manning (3,747)	Edgerrin James (1,506)	Marvin Harrison (1,146), Reggie Wayne (1,055)
St. Louis Rams	2006	Marc Bulger (4,301)	Steven Jackson (1,528)	Isaac Bruce (1,098), Torry Holt (1,188)
Tennessee Titans *	2020	Ryan Tannehill (3,482)	Derrick Henry (1,679)	Corey Davis (945), A.J. Brown (881)

* Two games remaining

TITANS REACH 20 RUSHING TDs, 30 PASSING TDs: The Titans have scored 55 touchdowns in 2020. The total is good for second place in franchise history behind the 66 touchdowns registered by the 1961 Oilers.

The 55 touchdowns scored by the Titans also puts them in a tie with their opponents this week, the Green Bay Packers, for first place in the NFL. The next closest total is owned by the Kansas City Chiefs with 52 total touchdowns.

The Titans' prolific scoring pace is a result of significant production in both the running game and the passing game. They have reached the end zone on 21 occasions on rushing attempts, led by Derrick Henry's 15 rushing scores. Meanwhile, they have 31 touchdown passes, all by Ryan Tannehill.

Since 1960, the Titans are only the sixth NFL squad to have at least 20 rushing touchdowns and 30 passing touchdowns in their first 14 games. The 2018 New Orleans Saints were the most recent team to accomplish the feat prior to the Titans.

The average NFL team in 2020 has 14.4 rushing touchdowns and 23.7 passing touchdowns.

Teams since 1960 with 20 rushing touchdowns and 30 passing touchdowns through 14 games:

Team	Season	Rush TD	Pass TD
Tennessee Titans	2020	21	31
New Orleans Saints	2018	22	31
New England Patriots	2012	23	30
St. Louis Rams	2000	21	34
San Francisco 49ers	1994	20	32
San Diego Chargers	1981	23	32

TITANS SCORING AT HIGHEST RATE FOR TEAM SINCE 1961: With last week's 46-25 victory against the Detroit Lions, the Titans pushed their season total to 436 points, passing the 2003 squad (435 points) for second place in franchise history in overall scoring. The only occasion in team annals in which the Titans/Oilers scored more points was the 513-point season of 1961 (14 games).

The Titans are tied with the Kansas City Chiefs for the lead in scoring in 2020 with an average of 31.1 points per game. That is also the highest rate ever for the Titans/Oilers other than the 1961 club, which averaged 36.6 points per contest.

Most points in a season in franchise history:

Season	Points	Pts/Gm
1. 1961	513	36.6	(14 games)
2. 2020	436	31.1	(two games remaining)
3. 2003	435	27.2
4. 1988	424	26.5
5. 1990	405	25.3
6. 2019	402	25.1
7. 1999	392	24.5
8. 1962	387	27.6	(14 games)
9. 1991	386	24.1
10. 2016	381	23.8

TITANS LOOK TO SUSTAIN ROAD SUCCESS: The Titans enter Sunday night's game at Green Bay looking to extend their streak to six consecutive games with at least 420 offensive yards and 30 points. They would be the first team in history to attain such a streak.

Separately, the Titans can craft their sixth consecutive game on the road with at least 420 total yards. They would join the 2018 Kansas City Chiefs (six games), the 2014 Philadelphia Eagles (six games) and the 1961–1962 Oilers (eight games) as the only teams who have done it since 1950.

After totaling 377 yards at Denver in their Monday night opener (Sept. 14), the Titans have registered at least 420 yards in every road contest they have played, including 454 yards most recently at Jacksonville (Dec. 13).

Most consecutive 420-yard road games since 1950:

Team	Dates	Road Games
1. Houston Oilers	Oct. 13, 1961–Sept. 23, 1962	8
2. Kansas City Chiefs	Sept. 16, 2018–Dec. 2, 2018	6
Philadelphia Eagles	Oct. 26, 2014–Dec. 28, 2014	6
4. Tennessee Titans	Sept. 27, 2020–Dec. 13, 2020	5	(active streak)
Philadelphia Eagles	Sept. 9, 2013–Nov. 3, 2013	5
New Orleans Saints	Dec. 11, 2011–Oct. 21, 2012	5
San Diego Chargers	Dec. 11, 1982–Oct. 16, 1983	5

ON THE ROAD AGAIN: Derrick Henry leads the Titans rushing attack into Green Bay this week hoping to author another chapter in his catalogue of memorable road performances in the last two seasons.

Henry has an active streak of nine consecutive 100-yard rushing games on the road. It is the second-longest streak in NFL history, and Sunday night he could tie Barry Sanders (10) for the longest such streak in history.

Additionally, with 127 rushing yards, Henry can join six other players since 1948 who have logged at least 1,000 total rushing yards on the road in a single season. The last player to hit the mark was Adrian Peterson in 2012, and before Peterson it was only Jim Brown (1963), O.J. Simpson (1975), Eric Dickerson (1984), Gerald Riggs (1985) and Sanders (1997) who could claim the achievement.

Players since 1948 with 1,000 rushing yards in a season in road games:

Player	Team	Season	Rush Yards
1. Eric Dickerson	Los Angeles Rams	1984	1,087
2. Barry Sanders	Detroit Lions	1997	1,081
3. O.J. Simpson	Buffalo Bills	1975	1,043
4. Jim Brown	Cleveland Browns	1963	1,042
5. Adrian Peterson	Minnesota Vikings	2012	1,039
6. Gerald Riggs	Atlanta Falcons	1985	1,013
Derrick Henry	Tennessee Titans	2020	873 (two games remaining)

TANNEHILL CAN PASS BLANDA FOR MOST TDs BY A QB: Titans quarterback Ryan Tannehill enjoyed one of the best statistical games of his career last week, passing for three touchdowns and rushing for two more. It was the first time in his nine-year NFL career that he had five total touchdowns through the air and on the ground, and he became the team's first player to do so since Billy Volek on Dec. 19, 2004 at Oakland.

Tannehill's performance against the Lions also improved his season total to 31 passing touchdowns. Only George Blanda (36 in 1961) and Warren Moon (33 in 1990) have had that many in a season.

Adding his passing touchdowns to his four rushing touchdowns in 2020, Tannehill's sum of 35 combined touchdowns in 2020 is tied for second place all-time for the franchise. He needs two more to establish a new record ahead of Blanda's 36 total touchdowns from 1961 (all passing) and Moon's 35 from 1990 (33 passing, two rushing).

Most combined passing and rushing touchdowns in a season, franchise history:

Player	Season	Rush TD	Pass TD	Combined TD
1. George Blanda	1961	0	36	36
2. Ryan Tannehill	2020	4	31	35
Warren Moon	1990	2	33	35
4. Steve McNair	2003	4	24	28
Marcus Mariota	2016	2	26	28
George Blanda	1960	4	24	28
7. Warren Moon	1989	4	23	27
George Blanda	1962	0	27	27
9. Steve McNair	2001	5	21	26
Ryan Tannehill	2019	4	22	26

TITANS HAVE MOST PLAYERS WITH A TAKEAWAY: Against Detroit, the Titans defense contributed three takeaways. Safety Kevin Byard recorded an interception, while defensive tackle Jeffery Simmons and linebacker Will Compton recovered fumbles by the Lions.

Simmons is the only player in the NFL this season with three defensive fumble recoveries, and he is Tennessee's first player since linebacker Brad Kassell in 2005 to recover three opponent fumbles in a single campaign.

Byard and Compton each notched their first takeaways of the season with their thefts last week, which gave the Titans an NFL high of 15 different players with at least one takeaway in 2020.

The Titans' 21 takeaways this season are tied for the fifth most in the league, and their plus-12 turnover differential is tied for first.

Most players with at least one takeaway (interception or opponent's fumble recovery) in 2020:

Team	Players with at Least 1 Takeaway
1. Tennessee Titans	15
2. Washington Football Team	13
Indianapolis Colts	13
Cleveland Browns	13
San Francisco 49ers	13
6. New York Giants	12
Philadelphia Eagles	12
New York Jets	12
Buffalo Bills	12
Pittsburgh Steelers	12
Atlanta Falcons	12
Miami Dolphins	12
