TITANS-JAGUARS SUPPLEMENTAL NOTES

TANNEHILL GOES FOR NINTH GAME WITH A 100+ PASSER RATING: Last week against Cleveland, Titans quarterback Ryan Tannehill registered a 104.8 passer rating, completing 29 of 45 passes for 389 yards, three touchdowns and one interception. It was his third consecutive game to register a passer rating above 100.0.

With another passer rating this week of at least 100.0, he will tie the franchise record he established last season (Nov. 10–Dec. 8, 2019) of four consecutive starts with a 100.0 or better passer rating.

Additionally, a triple-digit passer rating this week would be his ninth of the season. That would break his own franchise record of eight such performances in 2019.

Most starts in a season with a passer rating of 100.0 or greater, franchise history:

Player	Season	Starts w/ 100.0+ Passer Rating
1. Ryan Tannehill	2020	8	(through 12 games)
Ryan Tannehill	2019	8
3. Marcus Mariota	2016	7
Warren Moon	1990	7
Warren Moon	1989	7
6. Steve McNair	2002	6
Steve McNair	2001	6
George Blanda	1961	6
9. Vince Young	2010	5
Steve McNair	2003	5
Steve McNair	2000	5
Chris Chandler	1995	5
Warren Moon	1988	5

Despite not starting the first six games of the 2019 campaign, over the past two seasons Tannehill is tied for the second-highest number of games with a 100.0 passer rating by a starting quarterback. His 16 such games are equal to the amount posted by Patrick Mahomes, Kirk Cousins and Derek Carr, and only Russell Wilson—with 17—has more.

Most total starts from 2019 to 2020 with a passer rating of 100.0 or greater:

Player	Team	Starts w/ 100.0+ Passer Rating
1. Russell Wilson	Seattle Seahawks	17
2. Ryan Tannehill	Tennessee Titans	16
Derek Carr	Las Vegas Raiders	16
Kirk Cousins	Minnesota Vikings	16
Patrick Mahomes	Kansas City Chiefs	16
6. Deshaun Watson	Houston Texans	15
Aaron Rodgers	Green Bay Packers	15
8. Drew Brees	New Orleans Saints	14
9. Lamar Jackson	Baltimore Ravens	13
Philip Rivers	L.A. Chargers/Indianapolis Colts	13

HENRY'S STREAK UNPRECEDENTED IN LAST 40 SEASONS: In last week's game against the Cleveland Browns, Titans running back Derrick Henry fumbled the ball for the first time in more than a calendar year. His last fumble prior to Sunday, including playoffs, was Dec. 1, 2019 at Indianapolis.

The fumble ended Henry's streak of 439 rushing attempts and 462 scrimmage touches (rushing attempts and receptions) in the regular season and the postseason without a fumble. From Week 14 of 2019 through Week 12 of 2020, he was the NFL's only player to register at least 175 rushing attempts without a fumble.

Another streak for Henry—consecutive games with at least 18 rushing attempts—came to an end against the Browns when he was limited to 15 carries. Until then he had 18 or more rushing attempts in 20 consecutive regular season and postseason games, which was the second-longest streak of its kind in the NFL since 1948. The only player with more consecutive 18-carry games in the regular season and postseason was Emmitt Smith, whose streak was 23 games with the Dallas Cowboys from 1995 to 1996.

Those two streaks by Henry overlapped to give him 17 consecutive regular season and postseason games with at least 18 rushing attempts and no fumbles. He was the first NFL player to do that in the last 40 seasons. Prior to Henry, the only players since 1981 with as many as 12 consecutive 18-carry/zero-fumble games were Terrell Davis (12 in 1998) and DeMarco Murray (12 in 2014).

Most consecutive regular season and postseason games with 18+ rushing attempts and zero fumbles, 1981 to 2020:

Player	Team	Season(s)	Consecutive Games
1. Derrick Henry	Tennessee Titans	2019–2020	17
2. Terrell Davis	Denver Broncos	1998	12
3. DeMarco Murray	Dallas Cowboys	2014	12

DAVIS AMONG NFL'S MOST EFFICIENT PASS CATCHERS: Corey Davis produced the best statistics of his career last week against the Browns. The fourth-year wide receiver caught 11 passes for a total of 182 yards, including a touchdown reception.

Davis continued his ascent among the NFL's most efficient receivers in 2020. He has been targeted on 70 total passes and has turned those chances into a team-high 53 receptions and 801 receiving yards. Despite spending two games earlier in the year on the reserve/COVID-19 list, he is on pace to exceed the career highs he established in 2018 of 65 receptions and 891 receiving yards.

Davis is contributing an average of 11.4 yards per receiving target. Among all NFL players with at least 50 targets, he is tied with Seattle's DK Metcalf for the third-highest average per target. Only Minnesota's Justin Jefferson (12.4) and Houston's Will Fuller (11.7) have fared better.

Davis' teammate A.J. Brown has averaged 10.1 yards per target, which is tied (Travis Kelce) for the seventh-best average in the league.

Players with the highest average yards per target in 2020, minimum 50 targets:

Player	Team(s)	Targeted	Receptions	Rec Yards	Rec Average	Rec Yards Per Target
1. Justin Jefferson	Minnesota Vikings	84	61	1,039	17.0	12.4
2. Will Fuller	Houston Texans	75	53	879	16.6	11.7
3. Corey Davis	Tennessee Titans	70	53	801	15.1	11.4
DK Metcalf	Seattle Seahawks	98	63	1,119	17.8	11.4
5. Julio Jones	Atlanta Falcons	68	51	771	15.1	11.3
6. D.J. Moore	Carolina Panthers	89	50	924	18.5	10.4
7. Travis Kelce	Kansas City Chiefs	110	82	1,114	13.6	10.1
A.J. Brown	Tennessee Titans	72	44	725	16.5	10.1
9. Hunter Renfrow	Las Vegas Raiders	56	42	556	13.2	9.9
10. Tim Patrick	Denver Broncos	62	40	607	15.2	9.8
Marquez Valdes-Scantling	Green Bay Packers	53	25	518	20.7	9.8

SEVENTY TITANS HAVE PLAYED IN 2020: Through 12 games in 2020, the Titans have had a total of 70 players participate in at least one game. It is the seventh-highest total in the NFL.

The Titans' opponent this week, the Jacksonville Jaguars, have had an NFL-high 77 total players participate in games this season.

With four games remaining, the Titans already have equaled their previous high since the 1993 campaign for total game participants, matching the 70 players who took the field in 2014. In 2019, 69 players appeared in at least one game for the Titans.
