WEEKLY NEWS RELEASEDEC. 10, 2019

NEW ENGLAND PATRIOTS (10-3) AT CINCINNATI BENGALS (1-12)

WEEK 15, GAME 14
 SUNDAY, DEC. 15
 AT PAUL BROWN STADIUM

NEXT WEEK:
 DEC. 22 AT MIAMI

GAME NOTES

Kickoff: 1 p.m. Eastern.

Television: The game will air on CBS-TV. In Cincinnati, it will be carried by WKRC-TV (Ch. 12). Broadcasters are Andrew Catalon (play-by-play), James Lofton (analyst) and Amanda Balonis (sideline reporter).

Radio: The game will air on the Bengals Radio Network, led by Cincinnati flagship stations WLW-AM (700), WCKY-AM (ESPN 1530; all sports) and WEBN-FM (102.7). Broadcasters are Dan Hoard (play-by-play) and Dave Lapham (analyst).

The game also will air nationally on Sports USA Radio. Broadcasters are Larry Kahn (play-by-play), John Robinson (analyst) and Troy West (sideline reporter).

Setting the scene: The Bengals this week return home to Paul Brown Stadium, where they will host the New England Patriots on Sunday. Cincinnati stands at 1-12 on the season, after falling 27-19 on the road to the Cleveland Browns last week.

At first glance, Cincinnati put up what seemed to be a solid all-around showing against Cleveland. The Bengals' offense gained a season-high 451 yards, HB Joe Mixon rushed for a career-high 146 yards and a TD, the team was plus-one in the turnover battle, and Browns QB Baker Mayfield was held to just a 45.8 percent completion percentage and 38.9 passer rating.

But Cincinnati fell short in a few critical areas. The Bengals scored just one TD on five trips inside the red zone, converted just three of 12 third downs, threw a pick-six, and committed eight penalties for 99 yards.

"It was just the situational stuff that, if we're going to get to where we want to be as a team, we need to do a better job at," said Bengals head coach Zac Taylor. "Third downs and red zone were really the situations that got us. Even in the two-minute offense at the end of the half — that brought us back. Those were the situations that got us beat."

Mixon highlighted the day for Cincinnati by posting a career-high 186 yards from scrimmage, the most by a Bengals RB since Jeremy Hill in 2016 (192 vs. Cleveland). After a slow start to the season in which he averaged just 36.3 rushing yards over the first seven games, Mixon has been among the hottest running backs in the league in recent weeks. The third-year pro ranks third in the NFL in rushing yards (469) over the last five weeks, and first in attempts (105).

"It goes back to a lot of the guys on the coaching staff not having a big ego," Taylor said of changes made during the team's Week 9 bye. "We felt like we got on track a little bit as we played the Rams (in Week 8), and then we spent the whole bye week studying ourselves and saying, 'OK, these are things that we've really spent a lot of time and energy on, it's just not paying off for us.' We just wanted to be efficient and give ourselves an opportunity. You need to evolve."

Added OT Bobby Hart: "Each week, we've been meeting together and just figuring out how to get things going, and it's been paying off. We have to continue to keep Joe running and keep Andy (Bengals QB Andy Dalton) clean, and just grind out as many wins as we can the rest of the year."

Getting back into the win column and continuing the offensive momentum figure to be tall tasks this week, as Cincinnati faces a Patriots team that boasts the league's top defense in both yards and points allowed. Taylor, who faced New England in last year's Super Bowl while he was an assistant with the Rams, said this week that his approach will not change.

"It's just another opponent for us," Taylor said. "They've obviously had a lot of success, but we just have to look at what they've done this year. You can't worry about all the things that come with the Patriots' (history). You just need to attack them. They're another opponent."

New England enters Sunday's matchup with a 10-3 record, after suffering a 23-16 loss at home to the Kansas City Chiefs last week.

The series: The Patriots lead 16-9, but the Bengals lead in games played in Cincinnati, 7-6. New England has won the last two meetings, 35-17 in 2016 and 43-17 in '14 (both played at Gillette Stadium). The Bengals won the last meeting in Cincinnati, 13-6 at Paul Brown Stadium in 2013.

Cincinnati's first victory in the series was a memorable one, as the 1970 team won 45-7 over Boston at Riverfront Stadium to clinch the AFC Central Division title. The Paul Brown-coached Bengals, in their third season, became at the time the youngest franchise ever to reach the playoffs.

In 1988, a Super Bowl-bound Bengals team opened the season with a 6-0 start before losing 27-21 at New England in Game 7.

The series began at baseball's storied Fenway Park. In an American Football League game in 1968, the Patriots beat the expansion Bengals, 33-14.

The complete Bengals-Patriots series listing is on page 208 of the 2019 Bengals Media Guide.

Team bests from the series:

Bengals — MOST POINTS: 45, in a 45-7 win at Riverfront Stadium in 1970. LARGEST VICTORY MARGIN: 38, in the 45-7 win in 1970. FEWEST POINTS ALLOWED: 6, in the most recent Bengals win, a 13-6 decision at Cincinnati in 2013.

Patriots — MOST POINTS: 43, in the most recent meeting, in 2014 at New England. LARGEST VICTORY MARGIN: 26, in the 2014 game. FEWEST POINTS ALLOWED: 2, in a 7-2 victory at New England in 1993.

The last meetings: Summaries of the last two Bengals-Patriots meetings — in 2014 and '16, both at New England — are on page 14 of this news release.

- DE Carlos Dunlap has 78 career sacks, 5.5 shy of DE Eddie Edwards* (83.5) for the Bengals' all-time lead. Dunlap passed DT Geno Atkins (75.5) for second place all-time in Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets.
- Atkins has 75.5 career sacks, 2.5 shy of Dunlap (78) for second place all-time. Edwards* (83.5) is the Bengals' all-time leader.
- WR A.J. Green has 63 career receiving TDs, three behind WR Chad Johnson (66) for the Bengals' all-time lead.
- Green has 63 total TDs, one short of WR Carl Pickens and RB James Brooks (both with 64) for third place all-time. FB Pete Johnson (70) is the Bengals' all-time leader.
- Bengals WR Alex Erickson has 106 career punt returns, 24 shy of CB Lemar Parrish (130) for third place all-time. WR Brandon Tate (153) is the Bengals' all-time leader. Erickson passed S Tommy Casanova (91) for fifth place all-time in Game 3 at Buffalo, and then passed CB Adam Jones (98) for fourth place all-time in Game 10 at Oakland.
- Erickson has 798 career punt return yards, 317 shy of Jones (1115) for fourth place all time. Tate (1411) is the Bengals' all-time leader. Erickson passed Casanova (784) for fifth place all-time in Game 11 vs. Pittsburgh.
- Erickson has 104 career kickoff returns, 11 shy of FB Eric Ball (115) for fifth place all-time. Mack (146) is the Bengals' all-time leader.
- Erickson has 2575 career kickoff return yards, 177 behind RB Stanford Jennings (2752) for fourth place all-time. Mack (3583) is the Bengals' all-time leader.
- Bengals S Brandon Wilson (Reserve/Injured) has one career kickoff return for a TD, one shy S/CB Tremain Mack (two) for the Bengals' all-time lead.

*—The NFL has counted sacks as official statistics since 1982. However, the Bengals have sack statistics compiled since 1976 and recognize those sacks recorded from '76-81 in its records. Thus, please note that, because the NFL has sacks statistics for all teams only since 1982, the Bengals' sack statistics for players whose careers included seasons prior to '82 will not be included in league information.

Individually vs. Patriots: Here is a look at the statistics for current offensive players for the Bengals against New England (ordered by total games played):

- QB Andy Dalton: Three games (1-2 record); 56 completions in 82 attempts (68.3 percent) for 670 yards, three TDs and one INT (100.2 passer rating); 10 rushes for 58 yards (5.8-yard average) and one TD.
- WR A.J. Green: Three games; 10 receptions for 230 yards and one TD.
- HB Giovani Bernard: Three games; 41 rushes for 173 yards (4.2); Eight receptions for 62 yards (7.8).
- TE Tyler Eifert: One game; Five receptions for 53 yards (10.6).
- WR Tyler Boyd: One game; Four receptions for 79 yards (19.8)
- TE C.J. Uzomah: One game; One reception for six yards.

Uniform watch: The Bengals are scheduled to wear black jerseys and black pants this week vs. New England.

Since 2004, the year of the Bengals' last significant uniform redesign, a number of color options for jerseys and pants have been available. Below are the records (regular season plus postseason) for the different combinations:

JERSEY	PANTS	W-L-T	PCT.
Orange*	Black.....	6-1-0	.857
Orange*	White.....	16-7-1	.688
Black	Black.....	17-16-1	.515

White	Black.....	28-38-0	.424
White (CR)*	White (CR)*.....	2-3-0	.400
White	White.....	19-30-0	.388

* — NFL rules allow teams to wear designated alternate jerseys, color rush (CR) uniforms and/or throwback uniforms for a combined total of three regular-season games. As in years past, orange served as the Bengals' designated alternate jersey, and for the third straight year, the team used their color rush uniforms (white jersey, white pants), which debuted in 2016. Cincinnati does not have a throwback uniform.

THE HEAD COACHES

Zac Taylor was named the 10th head coach in Cincinnati Bengals history on Feb. 4, 2019. He comes to Cincinnati after two seasons with the L.A. Rams, where he served as assistant wide receivers coach in 2017 and quarterbacks coach in '18.

In 2018, Taylor helped guide Rams QB Jared Goff to career highs in every major passing category — completions (364), attempts (561), passing yards (4688), passing TDs (32), completion percentage (64.9), yards per attempt (8.36) and passer rating (101.1). Goff ranked fourth in the NFL in passing yards and eighth in passer rating. The Rams' QB play was a key component to their offense, which finished the regular season ranked second in the NFL in total net yards (421.1 per game), fifth in net passing yards (281.7), second in scoring (32.9), first in first downs (401) and fifth in third-down percentage (45.0). Los Angeles won the NFC West with a 13-3 regular-season record and advanced to Super Bowl LIII against the New England Patriots.

In 2017, Taylor helped oversee an emerging Rams passing offense that ranked 10th in the NFL in pass yards per game (239.4). Taylor directed the Rams' young receiving corps, headed by rookie Cooper Kupp, who finished the season with 62 catches, a team-high 869 receiving yards and five TDs. Kupp (869 yards), TE Gerald Everett (244) and WR Josh Reynolds (104) — all rookies — helped the Rams finish with the third-most receiving yards among rookie pass catchers.

Prior to his time with the Rams, Taylor had a one-year stint in the college ranks, serving as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at the University of Cincinnati in 2016. Taylor served under head coach Tommy Tuberville at UC.

Taylor broke into NFL coaching in 2012 with the Miami Dolphins as assistant quarterbacks coach. He was elevated to quarterbacks coach from 2013-15, and spent the final five games of '15 as the Dolphins' interim offensive coordinator and primary play-caller, after the team made coaching staff changes in late November. During his time in Miami, Taylor was instrumental in the development of QB Ryan Tannehill, the team's first-round draft pick in 2012.

Taylor's coaching career began at Texas A&M University, where he served as offensive graduate assistant and tight ends coach under head coach Mike Sherman from 2008-11. The Aggies shared the Big 12 South Championship in 2010 and played in three bowl games during Taylor's time in College Station.

As a player, Taylor began his collegiate career at Wake Forest (2002-03), before transferring to Butler County Community College in Kansas ('04) and then playing his final two seasons ('05-06) at the University of Nebraska. Taylor had a decorated career with the Cornhuskers, setting numerous school records and passing for a combined 5850 yards and 45 touchdowns. In his senior season of 2006, Taylor was named Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year after passing for 3197 total yards and leading the Cornhuskers to a 9-3 record, an appearance in the Big 12 Championship Game and a berth in the Cotton Bowl. He was inducted into the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame in 2017.

Taylor joined the Tampa Bay Buccaneers as a college free agent in 2007, but he was waived prior to the start of training camp and never saw NFL action. Later that year, he joined the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League, where he spent one season (did not play).

His father, Sherwood, was a defensive back and captain at the University of Oklahoma, playing under Sooners head coach Barry Switzer from 1976-79. Sherwood Taylor later served as an assistant coach at Oklahoma and Kansas State University. Taylor's brother, Press, played quarterback at Marshall University and is currently quarterbacks coach for the Philadelphia Eagles.

Taylor was born on May 10, 1983, in Norman, Okla., where he was raised and later attended Norman High School. He earned a bachelor's degree in communication studies from the University of Nebraska in 2006. He and his wife, Sarah, have four children — Brooks, Luke, Emma Claire and Milly. Sarah Taylor is the daughter of former Green Bay Packers and Texas A&M head coach Mike Sherman.

Bill Belichick is in his 45th season as an NFL coach and his 20th season as head coach of the New England Patriots. Hired by Chairman and CEO Robert Kraft on Jan. 27, 2000, Belichick has led the Patriots to 18 consecutive winning seasons (2001-18). The only other NFL coach to have at least 10 consecutive winning seasons with one team since the 1970 merger was Tom Landry, who led the Dallas Cowboys to 16 consecutive winning seasons ('70-85). Belichick's career record is 302-137.

Through 19 seasons with New England, Belichick has delivered six Super Bowl championships, nine conference titles, 16 division crowns and 30 playoff victories, while posting an overall record of 255-89. Belichick won his sixth Super Bowl title last season with the Patriots' 13-3 victory over the Los Angeles Rams. He joined George Halas and Curly Lambeau as the only coaches with six NFL championships and owns the record for most Super Bowl titles, two ahead of Chuck Noll, who is second with four Super Bowl titles. Belichick is the only one of those to win three titles in a four-year span with Super Bowl wins in 2001 and back-to-back Super Bowl wins in '03 and '04.

With the victory over Indianapolis in the 2014 AFC Championship Game, Belichick collected his 21st career postseason win, the most postseason wins by a head coach. He expanded on that record to 31 over the last four seasons. The 2018 AFC Championship was also Belichick's ninth conference championship as a head coach, adding to his mark for the most NFL history. New England's berth in Super Bowl LIII was Belichick's 12th Super Bowl during his coaching career, the most among any head coach or assistant coach in NFL history.

Belichick has recorded 292 career wins as a head coach, which is third in NFL history. He owns a career winning percentage of .685, which is first all-time in NFL history. Belichick directed the Patriots to victories in Super Bowls XXXVI (2001), XXXVIII ('03), XXXIX ('04), XLIX ('14), LI ('16) and LIII ('18), and in '07 he became the first NFL head coach to guide his team to a 16-0 regular-season record. His 16 division titles are the most among any coach. He also is the first NFL head coach to lead his team to 10 straight division crowns (2009-18).

Belichick helped the Patriots become the first franchise in NFL history to score 500 or more points in four seasons (589 in 2007, 518 in '10, 513 in '11 and 557 in '12). The St. Louis Rams are the only other team to have done it three times, while Belichick is the only head coach in NFL history to lead a team to three straight 500-point seasons.

Belichick is the only head coach in NFL history to win at least 14 regular-season games in five separate seasons. Only four other coaches — San Francisco's George Seifert (3), Washington's Joe Gibbs (2), Chicago's Mike Ditka (2) and Miami's Don Shula (2) — have more than one 14-win season. Belichick's Patriots teams own the all-time NFL records for consecutive victories, including postseason (21 from 2003-04) and consecutive playoff victories (10 from '01-05). Over a 100-game span from 2003-09, he directed the Patriots to an 81 wins — the most in NFL history by a head coach.

Belichick's recent accomplishments are the latest in a career during which he has helped produce eight Super Bowl titles, 12 conference championships and 23 division titles since entering the NFL in 1975. He won his first two Super Bowls as defensive coordinator for the New York Giants in 1986 and '90 before claiming six Super Bowl championships with the Patriots. George Seifert is the only other man to have won multiple Super Bowls both as a head coach and as an assistant coach.

Belichick launched his coaching career in 1975 with the Baltimore Colts and continued as an assistant coach with Detroit ('76-77), Denver ('78) and the N.Y. Giants ('79-90). Belichick was named head coach of the Cleveland Browns in 1991, becoming the youngest head coach in the NFL at the time at age 38. By 1994, Belichick brought the Browns back to the playoffs, finishing 11-5 and advancing to the second round of the playoffs, while allowing a league-low 204 total points.

In 1996, Belichick joined New England and was a key contributor to the Patriots first division title in 10 years en route to the Patriots appearance in Super Bowl XXXI. Belichick then spent three seasons with the N.Y. Jets from 1997-99, helping New York improve from a 1-15 season in '96 to an appearance in the AFC Championship Game in '98.

Belichick played C/TE at Wesleyan University from 1971-74. He was born on April 16, 1952, at Nashville, Tenn.

Taylor vs. Patriots: No previous meetings.

Taylor vs. Belichick: No previous meetings.

Belichick vs. Bengals: Belichick leads, 15-4 (he leads 7-2 as Patriots head coach, and 8-2 as Browns head coach).

BENGALS NOTES

At the top of the list: Here's a look at where the Bengals rank — both individually and in team categories — among the top 10 in the NFL.

BRANDON WILSON (Reserve/Injured)

- First in yards per kickoff return (31.3).
- Third in kickoff return yards (625).
- First in kickoff returns of at least 40 yards (four).
- Tied for second in kickoff returns of at least 20 yards (16).

BENGALS TEAM:

- Third in yards gained per kickoff return (26.9).
- Fifth in yards allowed per kickoff return (19.7).
- Sixth in yards allowed per punt return (5.6).
- Tied for third in fewest penalties (75).
- Tied for third in fewest penalty yards (639).

Gio sets sights on Brooks: HB Giovani Bernard currently stands within striking distance of the Bengals' all-time leads in both receptions and receiving yards by a running back, which are both held by RB James Brooks. With 291 career receptions, Bernard stands six short of James Brooks' record of 297. And with 2490 receiving yards, Bernard is 522 short of Brooks' record of 3012. Brooks played eight seasons with the Bengals (1984-91), while 2019 is Bernard's seventh.

Bernard averaged 898 yards from scrimmage in his first six NFL seasons — 518 rushing, 380 receiving — although his pursuit of Brooks' records has been slowed slightly by injuries in recent years. In 2018, he got off to a fast start before a knee injury sidelined him for four games. He also missed the final six games of 2016 due to a torn ACL in his left knee.

Andy earns two Bengals records: Andy Dalton returned to the Bengals' starting QB role in Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets, after serving in a reserve role for Games 9-11. And in his first game back, Dalton not only led the Bengals to their first win of the season, he passed former Bengals QB Ken Anderson for a pair of team records.

Dalton, who entered the Jets game tied with Anderson for a franchise-best 197 career TD passes, tossed his 198th career TD in the first quarter when he hit WR Tyler Boyd for a 17-yard score. Dalton had actually briefly passed Anderson in Game 8 against the L.A. Rams, when he found WR Auden Tate for a TD with eight seconds left in the game, but the score was taken off the board after replay review deemed it an incomplection.

And then on the Bengals' next offensive possession, Dalton completed his 2655th career pass, passing Anderson (2654) for the Bengals' all-time lead.

Dalton set the records in his 129th career game (all starts) and in his ninth Bengals season, while Anderson played in 192 career games (172 starts) over a Bengals-record 16 seasons. Dalton, who stands second in Bengals history in completion percentage (62.09), tossed the record-setting TD on his 4265th career pass attempt, and set the completion mark on his 4267th attempt. Anderson had 4475 career pass attempts.

"Obviously I've been here a long time," Dalton said, "so it means a lot to me to have the opportunity to break Ken's records. I've known him a long time. I've been lucky to have played on some good offenses here. It's cool to break those records, and it gives me bragging rights now (laughs)."

Andy tops Kenny in total TDs: QB Andy Dalton's three rushing touchdowns this season have given him 22 total TDs for his career, the most by a QB in Bengals history. Dalton tied former Bengals QB Ken Anderson (20) for the lead in Game 3 at Buffalo, and then moved ahead of him in Game 6 at Baltimore with a two-yard rushing score in the fourth quarter. Dalton in 2019 is playing his ninth season, while Anderson played 16 Bengals seasons (1971-86).

Dalton's 21 career rushing TDs are now also the most ever by a Bengals QB, ahead of Anderson (20). All of Anderson's TDs were rushing scores, while Dalton has 22 total by virtue of being the only Bengals QB ever to catch a touchdown pass. He scored on an 18-yard gadget connection from WR Mohamed Sanu vs. Tennessee in 2014.

The next-most total TDs by a Bengals QB is 10, by Jeff Blake.

Dalton and Jack Thompson share the Bengals season record for touchdowns by a QB, at five. Dalton had five in 2014, tying the record first set by Thompson in 1979.

Dalton returns to starting role: On Nov. 25, the day after his team fell 16-10 to the Pittsburgh Steelers, Bengals head coach Zac Taylor announced at his news conference that Andy Dalton would return to the starting QB role for Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets.

Dalton replaced Ryan Finley, who had previously replaced Dalton during the Bengals' Week 9 bye. Finley started three games, and passed 41 of 87 for 474 yards, with two TDs and two INTs.

In his first game back as the No. 1 QB, Dalton led the Bengals to their first victory of the season, a 22-6 home win over the Jets. He passed 22 of 37 for 243 yards and a TD (88.0 rating). During the game, Dalton passed former Bengals QB Ken Anderson for a pair of team passing records — he now has 198 career TD passes (Anderson had 197), and 2669 completions (Anderson had 2654).

Dalton this season has passed 248 of 413, for 2757 yards, 10 TDs and nine INTs.

"Andy gives us a great chance to go win a game," Taylor said Dalton returning to the starting lineup. We just want to win. That veteran presence Andy has will certainly be helpful through all the things we've been experiencing so far on offense. He has great experience."

An Andy roundup: After serving in a reserve role for Games 9-11, QB Andy Dalton has returned to the Bengals' starting QB position. Dalton, who was announced again as the starter at head coach Zac Taylor's news conference on Nov. 25, ranks among the most accomplished QBs in Bengals history. Here's an overview of his statistical accomplishments.

- He now stands as the Bengals' all-time leader in passing TDs (198) and completions (2691). Dalton passed former Bengals QB Ken Anderson (197 TDs, 2654 completions) in both categories in Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets.

- He also stands as the team's all-time leader in career passer rating (87.9) and 300-yard passing games (27), and is second in career passing yards (30,857) and completion percentage (62.09).

- He has posted 48 career games with a passer rating of 100 or more, and the Bengals are 39-9 (.813) in those contests.

- His 198 career TD passes and 113 INTs are good for a ratio of 1.75-to-1, the best in Bengals history ahead of second-place Carson Palmer at 1.54-to-1 (154-100).

- His 24 game-winning drives are the most in Bengals history ahead of Boomer Esiason (22). A game-winning drive is defined as a drive that results in an offensive score in the fourth quarter or overtime that is responsible for putting the team ahead to stay (PATs included).

- His 22 total TDs are the most ever by a Bengals QB, ahead of Ken Anderson (20).

- His 21 rushing TDs also are the most ever by a Bengals QB, ahead of Anderson (20).

- He holds club season records for passing yards (4293) and TD passes (33), both set in 2013.

- He is the only Bengals passer to throw for 300-plus yards in four consecutive games (2013).

- He is the only Bengals QB ever to catch a TD pass. He scored on an 18-yard gadget connection from WR Mohamed Sanu vs. Tennessee in 2014.

- He opened his career with 77 consecutive regular-season starts, a Bengals record for quarterbacks at any point during a career. The previous mark had been 61, posted by Boomer Esiason from 1985-89.

Keep an eye on Andy: QB Andy Dalton owns a 69-59-2 record as a starter, good for the second-best winning percentage (.538) of any Bengals QB with 10 or more starts (Virgil Carter, .545, 12-10). And as the numbers have shown, the Bengals' success is tied closely to that of their QB.

The Bengals are 39-9 (.813) when Dalton achieves a passer rating of at least 100, with wins in 11 of their last 16 such instances. Conversely, Cincinnati is just 10-28 (.263) when Dalton's passer rating is 70 or lower, with losses in the last 16 such instances.

Dalton has thrown at least two TDs 63 times in his career, and the Bengals are 41-21-1 (.659) in those contests. In his 23 games with at least three TD passes, the Bengals are 22-1 (.957), with the only outlier coming in a 2012 loss at Cleveland. Conversely, the Bengals are just 6-18 (.250) when Dalton is held without a TD pass, and haven't won such a game since 2014 at Cleveland.

A similar trend is true with passing yardage. In the 52 instances of Dalton topping 250 passing yards, the Bengals are 29-22-2 (.566). He's topped 300 yards 27 times, with Cincinnati going 15-11-1 (.574) in those contests. But when he is held under 150 passing yards, Cincinnati is just 6-11 (.353).

Cincinnati has also proven tough to beat when Dalton is at his most accurate. When he completes at least 65 percent of his passes (minimum 20 attempts), the Bengals are 36-15-1 (.702), including wins in eight of their last 12 such games. And when that completion percentage jumps to at least 70, the Bengals are 21-6-1 (.768), with wins in 12 of their last 15 such games. Cincinnati, however, is just 5-18 (.217) when Dalton's completion percentage is 55 or lower.

'Ice-Water' Andy: Bengals QB Andy Dalton has 24 career game-winning drives, the most in Bengals history ahead Boomer Esiason (22).

A game-winning drive is defined as a drive that results in an offensive score in the fourth quarter or overtime that is responsible for putting the team ahead to stay (PATs included).

The Bengals' record for most game-winning drives in a season is five, set by former QB Jeff Blake in 1996, and then tied by former QB Carson Palmer in '09. Dalton had four game-winning drives in 2018, despite missing the final five games due to a season-ending thumb injury.

Since 2011, the year the Bengals drafted him, Dalton's 24 game-winning drives are tied with Atlanta's Matt Ryan for the fourth-most in the NFL.

Here's a look at the NFL quarterbacks with the most game-winning drives in the fourth quarter or overtime since 2011.

QUARTERBACK	TEAM	GAME-WINNING DRIVES SINCE 2011
Matthew Stafford	Detroit	32
Russell Wilson	Seattle	28
Drew Brees	New Orleans	27
Andy Dalton	Cincinnati	24
Matt Ryan	Atlanta	24
Eli Manning	N.Y. Giants	23

'Crazy Legs' Andy: QB Andy Dalton's 21 career rushing TDs not only put him in rare company in team history, he also is among the best when compared to his current NFL peers. In the category of rushing TDs by a QB, only Carolina's Cam Newton, whose 58 are beyond similarity, ranks higher than Dalton since 2011. Dalton and Dallas QB Dak Prescott (21) stand tied for second behind Newton, with Russell Wilson (19), Tyrod Taylor (16), Drew Brees (16) and Josh Allen (16) not far behind.

Boyd eyeing another thousand: With WR A.J. Green having not yet played this season due to an ankle injury, WR Tyler Boyd has again stepped into the spotlight as the Bengals No. 1 WR. But it's familiar territory for the fourth-year pro. Boyd served in the same role the second half of last season while Green was out with a foot injury, and he ended the year with a career-high 1028 receiving yards despite missing the final two games with his own injury. That made him the first Bengal other than Green to top 1000 receiving yards in a season since 2009 (Chad Johnson, 1047).

This season, Boyd is on pace to again top 1000 receiving yards. He currently has a team-high 833 receiving yards, and stands just 167 yards shy of 1000. He would need to average 55.7 yards over the season's final three games to reach the century mark.

Boyd already stands as one of nine Bengals ever to reach 1000 receiving yards in a season, and he's attempting to become just the sixth Bengal to hit the mark in multiple seasons. Johnson's seven 1000-yard seasons stand as the most in team history, followed by Green (six), WR Cris Collinsworth (four), WR Carl Pickens (four) and WR T.J. Houshmandzadeh (two). WRs Eddie Brown, Tim McGee and Darnay Scott each had one 1000-yard season.

A.J. nears a return: WR A.J. Green has not yet played this season, due to an ankle injury suffered in the Bengals' first training camp practice on July 27. But the possibility remains that Cincinnati's star WR could make his 2019 debut in the coming weeks, and could even do so as early as this Sunday vs. New England.

Green ranks as the Bengals' all-time leader in 100-yard receiving games (33), and is second in career receptions (602) and receiving yards (8907). His 63 career receiving TDs rank tied for second in team history with WR Carl Pickens, and are just three shy of all-time leader Chad Johnson (66). Green also stands as the only NFL WR since the 1970 merger to begin his career with seven straight Pro Bowl seasons. He and DT Geno Atkins are tied for the second-most Pro Bowls (seven) in team history, behind Hall-of-Fame OT Anthony Munoz.

Green has played in 111 of 141 possible regular-season games in his nine Bengals seasons. Of the 30 regular-season games he's missed, 20 have come since the beginning of 2018.

Last season, Green was limited by a toe injury (right foot) to just nine games. He suffered the injury on the final drive in Game 8 vs. Tampa Bay, missed the next three games, and then re-aggravated it in the first half of Game 12 vs. Denver. He ended the season on Reserve/Injured, but returned healthy for the start of 2019 training camp. Then came the ankle injury.

Despite the unclear timeline that came with this summer's injury, the Bengals opted to carry Green on the active roster at the start of the season rather than putting him on Reserve/Injured, thus leaving open the narrow possibility of a return within the first eight weeks of the season. During his rehab, Bengals head coach Zac Taylor publicly expressed satisfaction with Green's progress while also declining to put a timetable on his return. Green returned to practice on a limited basis prior to Week 6, and bounced between limited participation and DNP for two weeks. Green and Taylor both publicly expressed optimism during the Week 9 bye about a possible return in Game 10 vs. Baltimore, but a setback on Wednesday of that week caused Green's return to be further delayed.

"Everything is trending up," Green said recently. "But I have to be effective to be out there, and right now I'm not."

Green and some gold jackets: Ninth-year Bengals WR A.J. Green has 10 career games of at least 150 receiving yards and one TD, making him one of only nine receivers to ever reach as many games through their first nine NFL seasons. It should also be noted that Green's numbers come despite missing 30 regular-season games to injury throughout his career, including 20 since the beginning of 2018.

Here's a look at the list of players with 10 or more games of 150-plus receiving yards and a TD through their first nine NFL seasons.

PLAYER	TEAM	NO. OF GAMES
Jerry Rice*	San Francisco 49ers	17
Lance Alworth*	San Diego Chargers	16
Calvin Johnson	Detroit Lions	13
Torry Holt	St. Louis Rams	11
A.J. Green	Cincinnati Bengals	10
Antonio Brown	Pittsburgh Steelers	10
Isaac Bruce	St. Louis Rams	10
Don Maynard*	N.Y. Jets	10
Randy Moss*	Minnesota Vikings	10

* — Asterisk denotes a Pro Football Hall of Famer.

A.J. finds paydirt: Bengals WR A.J. Green has 63 career receiving TDs, which since his rookie year of 2011 ranks as the sixth-most of any NFL player, the most among WRs and the second-most among active players. Green and former Bengals WR Carl Pickens are tied for second in team history in TD catches, behind WR Chad Johnson (66). It should be noted that Green has posted those lofty totals despite missing 29 career regular-season games due to injury, including 19 since the beginning of 2018.

Here's a look at the NFL's leaders in receiving TDs since 2011.

PLAYER	TEAM	RECEIVING TDs
Antonio Brown	Pittsburgh/New England	75
Jimmy Graham	New Orleans/Seattle/Green Bay	69
Rob Gronkowski	New England	69
Dez Bryant	Dallas/New Orleans	67
Jordy Nelson	Green Bay/Oakland	66
A.J. Green	Cincinnati	63

Mixon regaining 2018 form: Despite missing two games due to a knee injury last season, HB Joe Mixon still managed to become the only Bengals player ever to lead the AFC in rushing yards (1168) in a season (RB Paul Robinson led the AFL in rushing in 1968).

Mixon struggled to find that same rhythm early this season, however the third-year pro has started to hit his stride since the Bengals' Week 9 bye. Since Week 10, Mixon leads the NFL in rushing attempts (105) and ranks third in rushing yards (469). His 93.8 yards-per-game average over that five-week stretch easily outpaces his 83.4-yard average last season (1168 yards in 14 games played).

Mixon's turnaround began in Game 9 vs. Baltimore, when he notched a season-high 151 yards from scrimmage, including 114 rushing yards on 30 carries. In Game 10 at Oakland, Mixon averaged 5.7 yards per carry (15 rushes, 86 yards and a TD) and totaled 103 yards from scrimmage. In Game 11 vs. the Steelers, he started slow before hitting his stride in the second half and finishing with 18 carries for 79 yards (4.4). And in Game 13 at Cleveland, Mixon rushed for a career-high 146 yards and a TD on 23 carries (6.3 average).

Mixon's season totals now stand at 206 rushes for 789 yards and a three TDs, and 29 catches for 230 yards and three TDs. He stands just 211 rushing yards short of 1000, and would need to average 70.3 yards over the Bengals' final three games to hit the century mark.

For the season, Mixon has two games with 100 rushing yards, and four games of 100 yards from scrimmage. Last year, he had four games of 100 or more yards rushing and seven games of 100 or more yards from scrimmage.

15 carries for Gio does the trick: Over his now seven seasons in Cincinnati, Giovani Bernard has carved out a spot among the top dual-threat running backs in team history.

But when examining Bernard's workload specifically as a rusher throughout his career, a significant trend becomes apparent — the Bengals are 10-1-1 in games in which Bernard has at least 15 rushing attempts. Bernard has not yet reached 15 carries in a game in 2019, however Cincinnati was 1-0 in 2018 when Bernard hit the mark (15 rushes for 69 yards in Game 4 at Atlanta).

In the 12 games in which Bernard has reached 15 carries, he has averaged 78.4 yards, scored seven rushing TDs and topped 100 yards three times.

The Huber roundup: Long considered the top punter in Bengals history, 11th-year pro Kevin Huber now has the career records to back up that claim. Already a considerable presence in the Bengals' record book heading into last season, Huber moved into first place in the only two remaining career punting categories in the Bengals' record book.

Huber now stands first in team history in the following categories:

- Punts (829)
- Punting yards (37,332)
- Gross average (45.03)
- Net average (39.92)
- Inside-20 punts (292)

Huber has also taken over many of the Bengals' single-season and single-game records. Among them are:

- He holds the top four Bengals season averages in gross yardage and the top five Bengals season averages in net. His gross record is 46.84, and his net record is 42.10 — both were set in 2014.
- He shares the team record for longest punt (75 yards) with Kyle Larson.
- His 33 inside-20 punts in 2012 is a single-season franchise record.
- His six inside-20 punts on Sept. 14, 2017 vs. Houston are tied with Lee Johnson (Nov. 2, 1997) for the most in a game in Bengals history.

Looking at first-year Bengals coaches: When Zac Taylor was named Bengals head coach on Feb. 4, questions immediately surfaced about how quickly he could return the team to success. But even the best coaches in Bengals history have taken time to right the ship.

Here's a look at the nine previous Bengals head coaches' records in their first full season as the team's head coach.

HEAD COACH	1ST FULL SEASON	RECORD
Paul Brown	1968	3-11-0
Bill "Tiger" Johnson	1976	10-4-0
Homer Rice	1979	4-12-0
Forrest Gregg	1980	6-10-0

Bruce Coslet	1997	7-9-0
Dick LeBeau	2001	6-10-0
Marvin Lewis	2003	8-8-0

How rookie head coaches stack up: Over the last 10 seasons (2009-18), first-time NFL coaches in their first full season have gone a combined 304-352 (.463). Here's a look at how many wins those 41 rookie head coaches piled up in their first full regular season.

(NOTE: This includes only rookie coaches who made their NFL head coaching debut at the start of a season.)

25 points does the trick: Since 2011, the Bengals own a 46-1-2 record (.959) when scoring 25 or more points. Only Miami has a better winning percentage, at .971 (33-1-0), when topping the 25-point mark over that span.

The Bengals have yet to reach to 25-point plateau in a game this season. In 2018, they were a perfect 6-0 when scoring 25 points or more, and 0-10 when failing to hit the mark.

Here are the top five teams in the NFL since 2011, in terms of winning percentage, when hitting the 25-point plateau.

TEAM	WINS	LOSSES	TIES	WINNING PCT.
Miami Dolphins	34	1	0	.971
Cincinnati Bengals	46	1	2	.959
New England Patriots	86	8	0	.915

N.Y. Jets	35	5	0	.875

Dunlap's PD frenzy: Over his now 10 NFL seasons, Bengals DE Carlos Dunlap has earned a reputation as one of the league's best defensive linemen at batting down passes at the line of scrimmage. Dunlap has only furthered that reputation this season, and has five passes defended this year despite missing two games due to a knee injury.

Dunlap had eight passes defended in 2018, second-most in the NFL among non-DBs. His eight PDs were the third-highest single-season total of his career, behind the 2013 (10) and '16 (15) seasons. His 2016 total led all Bengals defenders and all other NFL defensive linemen, and it was the first time since Cincinnati began recording defensive stats in 1976 that a Bengals defensive lineman had ever led the team in PDs.

To paint a clearer picture of just how effective Dunlap has been at batting passes, here's a list of non-defensive backs in the NFL with the most passes defensed since the start of the 2016 season.

PLAYER	POS	TEAM	PDs SINCE 2016
Carlos Dunlap	DE	Cincinnati	35
Eric Kendricks	LB	Minnesota	34
Alec Ogletree	LB	St. Louis/L.A. Rams/N.Y. Giants	34
Deion Jones	LB	Atlanta	30
Luke Kuechly	LB	Carolina	29

Dunlap has played in 11 of Cincinnati's 13 games so far this season. He missed Games 6-7 due to a knee injury.

Dunlap's, Atkins' dominance = team success: Bengals DE Carlos Dunlap and DT Geno Atkins entered the NFL together in 2010 as draft picks of the Bengals, and in the 10 seasons since they've established themselves among the top pass-rushing duos in the league. Most importantly though, the record shows that when Dunlap and Atkins are at their most dominant, it usually spells success for Cincinnati.

The Bengals are 11-6 (.647) when Dunlap records more than one sack, and 8-6 (.571) when Atkins records more than one sack. There have been two instances in which both have had more than one sack in the same game (Bengals are 1-1 in those contests), which means Cincinnati is a combined 18-11 (.621) when getting more than one sack from either player.

The Bengals are 8-1 since the beginning of the 2015 season when Dunlap records more than one sack, with the only outlier coming in a 20-17 overtime loss at Denver in 2015. Dunlap had a career-best three sacks in that Denver game and finished 2015 with a career-high 13.5, second-most in Bengals history. Dunlap has one multi-sack game this season — Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets, when he tied his career from the 2015 Denver game with three sacks.

Since 2015, the Bengals are 6-4 when Atkins has more than one sack. The Bengals are 0-2 this season when Atkins records more than one sack — two sacks in Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, and 1.5 sacks in Game 10 at Oakland.

Dunlap and Atkins are under contract with the Bengals through the '21 and '22 seasons, respectively. Dunlap (78 sacks) currently stands second on the Bengals' all-time sack list, and Atkins (75.5) is third. The Bengals' leader in career sacks is DE Eddie Edwards, with 83.5.

Dunlap, Atkins neck-and-neck in career sacks: Just 2.5 sacks separate Bengals DE Carlos Dunlap (78 sacks) and DT Geno Atkins (75.5), who rank second and third, respectively, on Cincinnati's all-time sack list behind all-time leader Eddie Edwards (83.5). And now that Edwards' record is within sight, the race is on to see which player catches him first.

Dunlap, a two-time Pro Bowler (2015 and '16) who turned 30 after the '18 season, has a team-high 5.5 sacks this season. He entered the year 1.5 sacks ahead of Atkins, but fell behind after missing two games (Games 6-7) due to a knee injury. Dunlap, though, re-took the lead in impressive fashion in Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets, when he tied a career high with three sacks. Dunlap averaged 8.1 sacks over his first nine NFL seasons, while Edwards averaged just under seven over 12 seasons. In 2015, Dunlap set a career-high in sacks, with 13.5, the second-most in Bengals history.

Atkins, who missed nearly half of the 2013 season with a torn ACL, has more than double the number of sacks of the next-closest interior defensive lineman in Bengals history (Tim Krumrie, 34.5). Atkins has 4.5 sacks this season, including two multi-sack performances — Game 7 vs. Jacksonville (two), and Game 10 at Oakland (1.5). Last season, he had a team-high 10 sacks, the third-highest single-season sack total of his career (he had a career-high 12.5 in 2012, and 11 in '15). Atkins has finished with at least a share of the NFL lead for sacks by an interior lineman five times in nine NFL seasons, including in three of the last four years (see "Geno looks to re-claim his crown").

NOTE: The NFL has counted sacks as official statistics since 1982. However, the Bengals have sack statistics compiled since 1976 and recognize those sacks recorded from '76-81 in its records. Thus, please note that, because the NFL has sacks statistics for all teams only since 1982, the Bengals' sack statistics for players whose careers included seasons prior to '82 will not be included in league information.

Geno on HOF pace: Bengals DT Geno Atkins, who is playing his 10th NFL season in 2019, currently stands at 75.5 career sacks, third in team history and the most ever by a Bengals interior defensive lineman.

But a closer look reveals that Atkins is on a Hall-of-Fame pace. When compared to defensive tackles in the Pro Football Hall of Fame, Atkins compares quite favorably at this point in his career.

Here's a look at the sack totals of notable Hall-of-Fame DTs through their 10th seasons, as well as where they stood at the end of their careers. It should be noted that Atkins missed nearly half of the 2013 season, due to a torn ACL.

(NOTE: This list includes only DTs whose careers started after 1982, when the NFL began counting sacks as official statistics):

NAME	YEARS ACTIVE	THRU 10 SEASONS	CAREER SACKS
John Randle.....	1990-2003	106.0	137.5
Warren Sapp.....	1995-2007	79.5	96.5
Geno Atkins	2010-present	*75.5	*75.5
Cortez Kennedy.....	1990-2000	57.0	58.0

*—Atkins is 13 games into his 10th NFL season.

Geno looks to re-claim his crown: Bengals DT Geno Atkins this season is looking to reclaim a crown that, for all intents and purposes, has been his for much of this decade. In nine previous NFL seasons (2010-18), Atkins has five times finished in at least a tie for most sacks by an NFL interior defensive lineman. He claimed it outright in 2012 (12.5 sacks), '16 (nine) and '17 (nine), while sharing it in '11 (7.5) and '15 (11).

Atkins, though, will have a steep climb ahead of him the final three games just to get back into the race. Atkins has 4.5 sacks this season, and stands 6.5 behind the league's leader among interior linemen, Rams DT Aaron Donald (11).

Last season, Atkins had a team-high 10 sacks but finished two short of the top spot, held by 49ers DT DeForest Buckner (12). It marked the first time in the previous four seasons that Atkins failed to finish in at least a tie for the lead.

Atkins has been selected to the Pro Bowl seven times in his nine previous seasons. Those seven selections are the most by a Bengals defensive player in team history, just ahead of CB Lemar Parrish (six). No other Bengals defensive lineman has been selected more than twice. Atkins currently stands at 75.5 career sacks, the most by a Bengals interior lineman and third overall.

Two Bengals hail from Queen City: Two Bengals — DE Sam Hubbard and P Kevin Huber — grew up in Greater Cincinnati.

Hubbard, a Moeller High School alum and former Ohio State standout, is now in his second season with the Bengals. A third-round draft pick (77th overall) a year ago, Hubbard followed up a productive rookie season by earning the Bengals' No. 1 RDE spot in preseason. He has five sacks this season (second on team).

"It's insane," Hubbard said after being drafted by his hometown Bengals. "Seeing that 513 area code pop up on my phone on draft day was just incredible. To get an opportunity to represent the city of Cincinnati one more time, and to do it for the pro team in this city, is a dream come true. I watched every game the Bengals played. I was there when Carson Palmer got hurt in the playoffs (in the 2005 season). I've just always been a big fan."

Huber, an Anderson Township native and alum of McNicholas High School and the University of Cincinnati, was a fifth-round draft choice of the Bengals in 2009. He has played in all but two games throughout his career in Cincinnati, and he currently stands as the Bengals' career leader in both gross (45.03) and net (39.92) punting average.

Huber and his wife, Mindi, have been active in the local community throughout his Bengals career. The couple started their own charity, The Foundation for Underserved Rescues, which "provides resources and support to underserved Cincinnati-area animal rescues."

It should also be noted that Bengals have a third player with Cincinnati ties. Rookie G Michael Jordan was born in Fairfield, Ohio, just outside of Cincinnati, but his family moved and he attended high school in Michigan.

Bengals draft picks stick in NFL: A familiar trend has emerged this season regarding which teams have the most keen eye for talent in the draft, and the Bengals again are toward the top of the list. As of Monday (Dec. 9), there were 46 players on NFL rosters who entered the NFL as draft picks of the Bengals, two shy of New England (49) for the most of any team in the NFL.

Cincinnati was among the top three teams all of last season as well, and even held a double-digit lead over the second place team early in the year before 13 qualifying players landed on the Bengals' Reserve/Injured list. Only players on active 53-man rosters are counted in this data.

Of the 53 players on Cincinnati's active roster on Monday (Dec. 9), 40 entered the NFL with the Bengals — 31 as draft picks, and eight as college free agents.

Of the Bengals' 31 draft picks on their roster, six were first-round picks, six were second-rounders, four were third-rounders, six were fourth-rounders, four were fifth-rounders, two were sixth-rounders and three were seventh-rounders.

It should also be noted that the Bengals have five former draft picks currently on Reserve lists, including former first-rounders OT Jonah Williams and CB Dre Kirkpatrick.

Here's a look at the teams with the most draft picks on an active NFL roster, as of Monday, Dec. 9.

TEAM	DRAFT PICKS ON NFL ROSTERS
New England Patriots	49
Baltimore Ravens	47
Cincinnati Bengals	46
Seattle Seahawks	46
Green Bay Packers.....	45

Bengal bites: The NFL's Next Gen Stats service, which tracks players' speed by using GPS, clocked S Brandon Wilson's (Reserve/Injured) kickoff return for a TD in Game 6 at Baltimore at 22.03 MPH, the third-fastest in the NFL this year, and fastest by a Bengal since NGS' launch in 2016 ... Three Bengals on the 53-player roster have changed uniform numbers since preseason — CB Darius Phillips now is No. 24 and CB B.W. Webb now is No. 23 ... There is a tie for the tallest Bengal between QB Jake Dolegala and OT Isaiah Prince, who are both 6-7 ... The shortest Bengal is HB Trayveon Williams, who is 5-8 ... There is a tie for heaviest Bengals player between DT Josh Tupou and OT Cordy Glenn, who are both 345 pounds ... The lightest Bengal is CB Tony McRae, who is 185 pounds ... The oldest Bengal is LS Clark Harris, who is 35 (born July 10, 1984) ... The youngest Bengal is G Michael Jordan, who is 21 (Jan. 25, 1998).

BENGALS QUOTES

Head coach Zac Taylor, on the overall state of the team:

"We're in this thing together. We genuinely care about each other, and we've put in a lot of work. If we stay the course and we believe in what we're doing and we believe in the people we're doing it with, good things are going to happen. We know good things are coming our way. We just have to keep working."

Taylor, on his feelings after the team's first win:

"I'm proud of all of them — proud of the coaches, proud of the players for sticking together (through the 11-game losing streak) and earning this win. It's emotional. You go through it with all of these guys. And to finally get it, it feels really good."

Taylor, on his team's attitude throughout the 11-game losing streak:

"It's easy to give up. It's even easier to start pointing fingers. That's what we didn't see anybody do. It speaks to the leadership we have, throughout the building, really, that we stuck together and found the positives."

WR Tyler Boyd, on what it meant to give Zac Taylor his first win:

"Everything. He always continued to push us. He never lost his mind, he never snapped, he never felt like we were a losing team. In spite of our record, he knew we were better than what it showed. He continued to be a great head coach and put us in positions to win, and I'm sure he'll continue to do that. If we go out and execute the game plan, we'll keep getting wins."

Taylor, on how QB Andy Dalton handled quarterback changes this season:

"Andy has handled it as well as you could hope any veteran would. He wants to play and feels he can help the team win, but at the same time, he was still a leader for us and going about things the right way when he wasn't the starting quarterback. He and I have always had a relationship where we can be open with each other. We appreciate that, and now we're relying on him to help us win games, and he's taking that on."

QB Andy Dalton, on breaking Ken Anderson's team records for passing TDs and completions:

"I've been here a long time. It means a lot to me to have the opportunity to break Ken's records — I've known him for a while. (Setting records) also shows that I've been consistent here for a long time. I've been lucky to have played on some good offenses with good players here. It is cool to break those records, and it gives me bragging rights now."

Taylor, on handling the offensive play-calling responsibilities:

"It leaves you with a lot on your plate, but at the same time I know what I want this thing to look like. (Offensive coordinator) Brian Callahan and I are in lockstep. We're on the same page, along with all the other coaches in this offense. It may be me calling the plays, but everybody has input. Even at practice, I'm listening to Brian and some of the other coaches talk about ideas. Even though it's coming out of my mouth, it doesn't mean the ideas for play-calls are solely coming from me. (Communication between us) is something we practice, and it's important that everyone is equally involved."

Offensive coordinator Brian Callahan, on the offense being without A.J. Green (injured early in training camp) thus far this season:

"Listen, we all want A.J. out there. Everyone wants him. When you have those (premier players), you find ways to use them. But there are plenty of instances where you may not have him. You always stay true to what you believe offensively is going to help you win the game. If that involves featuring matchups with a guy as dynamic as A.J., then that's going to be part of it. If we don't have that piece, we will move the pieces around to get us the best matchups that help us win the game."

Taylor, on HB Giovanni Bernard, who signed a contract extension just prior to the opener:

"He's consistent with his approach every day. You know what you're getting from him. He's very detailed with his craft — he's a good runner, he's a good receiver and he's a good protector. He fits all three of those traits that you want in a running back, and particularly in a No. 2 running back, because Joe gets the majority of the touches. Gio has always been reliable and goes about it the right way. He sets a great example for the other players on this team. He's very deserving of what he received (with a contract extension) and I'm happy for him."

OT Bobby Hart, on blocking for HB Joe Mixon:

"It's fun. He's so physical. He runs so well, and for a big back to be as fast as he is ... he does a great job. Guys don't want to tackle him. It's always good for us (the blockers) be the reason why he's able to do those things. You never want to be the reason why he's not able to play to the best of his ability."

HB Joe Mixon, on the Bengals' recent rushing success:

"We've done a good job up front, and the receivers on the perimeter are blocking. I hope we build on it. I think that's what's going to help us in these late-season games — running the football and controlling the line of scrimmage."

Taylor, on offensive line coach Jim Turner:

"Our experience working together (in the past) has great value. We see protections the same way, we see the run game the same way (and) the cadences the same way. We are always on the same page. ... I believe in Jim. I've seen him coach for six years live and in person now. I've seen what he has gotten out of players and the way he has developed players. Jim's attention to detail is unmatched. Our offensive linemen are going to be disciplined and know how we want it done. I don't believe in anybody more than I believe in Jim to get that job done."

Offensive line coach Jim Turner, on Trey Hopkins earning the starting center position in 2019:

"We feel like Trey helps us win at center better than anybody else on our team. As far as the performance of playing center and all the things that go into that position, Trey's got a lot of experience. When you watch the tape over Trey's career, he has done a heck of a job, and he has developed into a heck of a player. We expect a lot out of him now, having given him this responsibility."

Taylor, on WR Auden Tate:

"Auden has aggressive hands and he's tough. Those are two traits that you love. He's a guy we have a role for in this offense. He looks like a tight end playing wide receiver. He's physical in the run game, he has a great catch radius, he catches the ones you throw to him, and he's hard to take down. When his number has been called, he's produced for us."

WR Auden Tate, on WR Tyler Boyd:

"He's just a playmaker. In one-on-one opportunities, he wins them. He shows us that every game, putting the offense on his back, getting us a touchdown, getting us on the scoreboard. He has shown everybody what kind of player he is. He's special."

Callahan, on TEs C.J. Uzomah and Tyler Eifert:

"There's no question — when we put those guys in different positions in formations, they do a lot for us both as coverage indicators and as pieces in the passing game. On top of that, they can run block well. We're able to run a lot of different things with them in the lineup."

Tight ends coach James Casey, on using TEs C.J. Uzomah and Tyler Eifert on the field at the same time:

"It opens up so many possibilities with both those guys on the field. I don't think C.J. gets enough credit for how well he runs and catches the ball, and I don't think Tyler gets enough credit for how well he does blocking."

CB B.W. Webb, on defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo:

"Lou is very strategic about what he calls and has a lot of confidence in his players. That's very big for us — for our confidence —when a coach trusts you enough to put you in certain positions against the opponent's best players. He knows what the offense wants to do against us, so he just prepares us throughout the week, and we trust him."

CB William Jackson III, on defensive coordinator Anarumo and the defense's recent turnaround:

"Lou's a great coach, and he stayed on us about the little details (during the 11-game losing streak). You can see it paying off now. He has been on us hard, and this defense is really coming together as one now."

Defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo, on DE Carl Lawson:

"He's a powerful guy. I watched Cam Wake do it for six years (with the Miami Dolphins). Carl has the same body type and can also jack up 300-pound tackles in the run game. And Carl has that same kind explosion. I think Carl's an all-around player, for sure."

POSITION BY POSITION

Quarterbacks: After starting the first eight games of the season and then being moved to a reserve role for three games, veteran Andy Dalton returned to be the starting quarterback for Game 12 against the N.Y. Jets. In his return, he led the Bengals to their first victory of the season by virtue of his 243 passing yards and touchdown pass. Through his first eight games, Dalton ranked second in the NFL in passing attempts (338) and fifth in completions (204). In Game 8 at the L.A. Rams (London), Dalton completed 32 passes en route to 329 yards and one touchdown through the air. In Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, Dalton totaled four rushes for 33 yards and collected his third rushing touchdown of the season. In Game 5 vs. Arizona, Dalton posted a season-high 107.6 passer rating, his highest output since Game 4 of 2018, when he notched a 109.5 rating at Atlanta. In the opener at Seattle, he set career-highs in completions (35) and passing yards (418), en route to a 106.5 passer rating. Dalton owns a 69-59-2 regular-season record as a starter, good for the second-best winning percentage (.538) of any Bengals QB with 10 or more starts. He stands as the Bengals' all-time leader in career passer rating (87.9), 300-yard passing games (27), career completions (2691) and passing TDs (198). He is currently second in passing yards (30,857) and completion percentage (62.09). His 198 career TD passes and 113 INTs are good for a ratio of 1.75-to-1, the best in Bengals history ahead of second-place Carson Palmer at 1.54-to-1 (154-100). Dalton's 22 total TDs in his career are the most ever by a Bengals QB, ahead of Ken Anderson (20); his 21 career rushing TDs are also the most ever by a QB, ahead of Anderson (20). Dalton has posted 48 career games with a passer rating at or above 100, and the Bengals' record in those contests is 39-9 (.813). After serving as the second-string quarterback for the first eight games of 2019, rookie Ryan Finley took the reins as the starting signal-caller for Game 9 vs. Baltimore. After three starts, however, he is back in his secondary role. Finley completed 41-of-87 passing attempts (47.1 percent), totaling 474 yards, two touchdowns and two interceptions. In his debut, Finley passed for 167 yards on 16-of-30 passing, with a touchdown pass to TE Tyler Eifert for his first-career score. The Bengals traded up in April's draft to select Finley, from N.C. State, in the fourth round. Finley left N.C. State with the top career completion percentage (.645) in school history. Despite playing only three seasons (2016-18) at N.C. State, Finley finished his career ranked third in ACC history in both passing yards (10,505) and 300-yard passing games (18). Finley began his college career at Boise State (2013-15), then graduated and played his final three seasons ('16-18) at N.C. State. Perhaps the biggest surprise of training camp was the play of college free agent Jake Dolegala of Central Connecticut State, a tall (6-foot-7), athletic and strong-armed passer who impressed in a little more than one game of action in preseason. In college, Dolegala set school records for career passing yards (8129) and TDs (48). Dolegala has not yet played this season.

Running backs: HB Joe Mixon now is in his third season with the Bengals, after a 2018 campaign in which he rushed for 1168 yards and became the first Cincinnati HB ever to lead the AFC in rushing yards in a season (Paul Robinson led the AFL in rushing as a rookie in 1968). Through 13 games, Mixon has rushed 206 times for 789 yards and three TDs, and has 29 catches for 230 yards and two TDs. In Game 13 at Cleveland, Mixon became the first Bengals HB since 2016 to reach 186 yards from scrimmage. Mixon rushed for a career-high 146 yards on 23 carries (6.3), while scoring a TD, and added 40 yards on three receptions in the passing game. In Game 12 against the N.Y. Jets, Mixon found the end zone for his second rushing touchdown on the season. In Game 10 at Oakland, Mixon logged 86 yards and a touchdown on the ground, including a 30-yard run that came on a 12-play drive in the second quarter. Mixon's TD came on the final play of that drive — a 3-yard improvisation that he cut back against the grain. In Game 9 vs. Baltimore, Mixon surpassed the 100-yard rushing mark for the first time this season, with 114 yards on the ground. In Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, Mixon collected a receiving touchdown on a two-yard pitch-and-catch from Dalton with 1:25 left to play in the first half. In Game 5 vs. Arizona, he reached 100 yards from scrimmage (93 rushing, 16 receiving) for the time on the year. In Game 3 at Buffalo, Mixon reached the end zone for the first time in 2019 with a one-yard reception in the fourth quarter. In 38 career games (29 starts), Mixon has seven 100-yard rushing performances and 13 games of at least 100 yards from scrimmage. Giovani Bernard, a 2013 second-round pick of the Bengals, again serves in the No. 2 HB role behind Mixon. In Game 8 against the L.A. Rams, Bernard ripped off a season-long 25-yard run. In the opener at Seattle, Bernard caught two passes for 42 yards, including a 35-yarder on a screen pass, which was his longest gain since 2017. Bernard ranks second in Bengals history in both receptions (291) and receiving yards (2461) by a RB, trailing only James Brooks (297 and 3012). Brooks played seven Bengals seasons (1984-91), and Bernard in 2019 is in his seventh season. Bernard also owns the Bengals' record for receiving yards in a game by a RB (128), which he set in 2015 at Arizona, and his 89-yard TD run vs. Carolina in '14 stands as the second-longest rush in team history. New to the Bengals' backfield this season is rookie sixth-round pick Trayveon Williams of Texas A&M. Williams was inactive for Games 1-2 due to a foot injury he suffered in preseason, but has appeared in seven games this season and has seen action on special teams. In three seasons at A&M, Williams had 4176 yards from scrimmage and 35 total TDs. Last season, Williams led the Southeastern Conference in rushing yards (1760) and TDs (18), while ranking second among SEC running backs in receptions (27) and third in receiving yards (278).

Wide receivers: Tyler Boyd has stepped up to be the Bengals' No. 1 receiver this season. Boyd currently leads the Bengals in both receptions (73) and receiving yards (833). In Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets, Boyd reeled in a 17-yard touchdown reception over the middle to give Cincinnati the lead — a lead it wouldn't relinquish en route to its first victory of the season. In Game 11 vs. Pittsburgh, Boyd hauled in five catches for 101 yards and a touchdown. Boyd hauled in a 47-yard deep ball from QB Ryan Finley to set up his 15-yard TD grab late in the second quarter. In Game 5 vs. Arizona, Boyd led the team in receptions (10) and receiving yards (season-high 123), and had a 42-yard touchdown catch in the fourth quarter. In Game 2 vs. San Francisco, Boyd had 122 yards on 10 receptions. He now has six career 100-yard receiving games and three career games with double-digit receptions. Boyd has become one of the most reliable and productive receivers in the league on third down, and currently has 17 third-down receptions, including 15 that have converted first downs. Boyd has caught at least one pass in all 51 of his career games played. Originally a 2016 second-round pick of the Bengals, Boyd signed a contract extension in July that will keep him in Cincinnati through the 2023 season. Second-year pro Auden Tate, a 6-5 WR out of Florida State has worked his way into the regular rotation at WR, and has 40 receptions (second on team) for 575 yards (second on team). Tate, however, sustained a leg injury in Game 13 at Cleveland and his status for this week's game against New England is uncertain. In Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, Tate hauled in three receptions for 65 yards, including a career-long 33-yard grab in the third quarter. Tate had a career day in Game 6 at Baltimore, leading the team in catches (five) and receiving yards (91). Tate recorded his first career touchdown in Game 5 vs. Arizona on a two-yard pass from Dalton with 4:11 remaining in the game. Tate made his first NFL start in Game 3 at Buffalo, and posted 88 receiving yards on a career-high six receptions. Alex Erickson, a Bengals CFA signee in 2016, has seen time throughout his career at both returner spots, WR and emergency RB. Erickson has played in all 61 games of his NFL career, and has 73 career catches for 870 yards and a TD. In Game 8 against the L.A. Rams, Erickson led the team with 97 receiving yards, including a career-long 52-yard connection in the fourth quarter. Erickson had a career day in Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, notching his first career 100-yard receiving game, while posting career highs in catches (eight) and yards (137), and had a 48-yard catch. Stanley Morgan, a 2019 college free agent signee out of Nebraska, was signed from the practice squad to the active roster on Oct. 2. In Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, Morgan collected his first career special teams tackle, and downed a first-quarter punt at the Jaguars three-yard line. He made his NFL debut in Game 5 vs. Arizona and notched his first career reception with a six-yard catch in the second quarter. Morgan spent four seasons (2015-18) at Nebraska, and set school records in career receptions (189) and receiving yards (2747). WR A.J. Green has been rehabbing from an ankle injury suffered in the first practice of training camp, thus his climb up the Bengals' record books is temporarily on hold while he rehabs. Green has not yet played in 2019, and Bengals head coach Zac Taylor says there is no specific timeline for his return. Last season, Green was limited by a toe injury to just nine games, and for the first time in his eight seasons, missed out on earning a Pro Bowl nod. Green, though, still stands as the only NFL WR since the 1970 merger to start his career with seven consecutive Pro Bowl nominations. Green's seven Pro Bowl selections are tied with DT Geno Atkins for second in Bengals history, behind HOF OT Anthony Munoz (11). Despite limited action in 2018, Green finished second on the team in receptions (46), receiving yards (694) and receiving TDs (six); it was the first time in his eight seasons he did not lead the team in receptions and receiving yards. Green currently ranks second in team history in receptions (602) and receiving yards (8907); Chad Johnson, who played 10 seasons with the Bengals, is first in both categories (751 and 10,783). Green is the Bengals' all-time leader in 100-yard receiving games (33), after passing Johnson (31) last season. John Ross III, the Bengals' first-round pick out of Washington in 2017, returned from the Reserve/Injured list to play in Game 13 at Cleveland. Ross suffered a sternoclavicular injury and was placed on the list on Oct. 2. In his return, he caught two passes for 28 yards. He started the first four games at WR, and caught 16 passes for 328 yards and three TDs. In Game 1 at Seattle, he notched career-highs in receptions (seven), receiving yards (158) and TDs (two), including a 33-yarder on a flea-flicker and a 55-yarder just before halftime that gave Cincinnati the lead. In Game 2 vs. San Francisco, Ross posted 112 receiving yards on four catches, including a career-long 66-yard TD. Known for his record-breaking speed, his 4.22-second 40-yard dash at the 2017 NFL Combine is considered to be the fastest in the event's history.

Tight ends: Fifth-year pro C.J. Uzomah, who signed a three-year contract extension (through 2021) with the Bengals over the offseason, is listed as the No. 1 TE on the Bengals' depth chart and has started all 13 games this season. Uzomah has 17 receptions for 172 yards this season, including a career-high 66 yards in Game 1 at Seattle. Last season, Uzomah notched career-highs in catches (43), receiving yards (439) and TDs (three). Tyler Eifert, who was limited to just 14 games from 2016-18 due to back and ankle injuries, has played in all 13 games so far this season. Eifert has 37 catches for 225 yards and two TDs on the year, including 18 third-down catches for 172 yards this season. In Game 9 against Baltimore, Eifert hauled in his second touchdown of the season to convert a red zone opportunity. In Game 8 against the L.A. Rams, Eifert posted season-highs in receptions (six) and receiving yards (72). In Game 2 against San Francisco, Eifert collected a one-yard TD in the first quarter, his first score since his 15-yard TD in Game 4 of 2018. When healthy, Eifert has proved to be among the top pass-catching TEs in the NFL. In 2015, Eifert caught 13 TDs (in just 13 games), the most ever by a Bengals TE. Cethan Carter, a third-year player out of Nebraska, appeared in each of the Bengals' first 11 games this season, but exited in Game 11 vs. Pittsburgh with a concussion, and subsequently missed Game 12, but returned the following week. Carter has seen most of his action on special teams, and has five ST tackles this season. Cincinnati signed TE Mason Schreck off the practice squad on Nov. 30 ahead of Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets, when he made his season debut and contributed primarily on special teams. Schreck, a third-year player, was originally a seventh-round draft pick (251st overall) of the Bengals in 2017. He was limited by knee injuries to just six games over his first two seasons (no statistics), and then spent Games 1-11 of this season on Cincinnati's practice squad.

Offensive linemen: At center is veteran Trey Hopkins, who won the starting job after a strong preseason. Hopkins, now in his sixth season in Cincinnati, is known for his intelligence, versatility (has started all three interior OL spots during his career) and experience (33 career starts). Hopkins and ROT Bobby Hart are the only Bengals offensive linemen to start each of the 13 games this season. Hart, a seventh-round pick of the N.Y. Giants in 2015, signed with Cincinnati in the '18 offseason, and has started all 29 games in his Bengals career. Veteran Cordy Glenn, last year's No. 1 LOT returned back outside after missing the first 10 games of the season. Glenn suffered a concussion in preseason, and missed much of the first half of the season before returning to practice on Oct. 16 and working his way back into playing shape. Glenn also spent Game 7 vs. Jacksonville on the Reserve/Suspended by Club list. Glenn made his 2019 debut in Game 11 vs. Pittsburgh and played every offensive snap. Glenn, who has played all 93 of his career NFL games at LOT, was acquired in a trade with Buffalo during the 2018 offseason. At RG this season is John Miller, an unrestricted free agent signee who spent his first four seasons with the Buffalo Bills. At 6-3, 315, Miller is considered a powerful run-blocker and helped the Bills rank in the top 10 in rushing offense in each of his four seasons with the team. After starting the first 53 games of his NFL career, Miller was inactive for Games 7 and 8 due to a groin injury he suffered in the second quarter of Game 6 at Baltimore. Miller returned to play every offensive snap in Game 10 at Oakland. The Bengals invested a first-round pick in OT Jonah Williams of Alabama, who was slated as the 2019 starter at LOT, but a shoulder injury suffered in OTAs will cause Williams to miss most or all of his rookie season (currently on Reserve/Physically Unable to Perform). Veteran John Jerry, who signed with the Bengals in June after Williams' injury, has played in 10 games this season, with starts at LOT in Games 6-10 for the injured Smith. Jerry has played in 131 career games, with 106 starts. Entering this season, he had two career starts at LOT. Billy Price, a 2018 first-round pick (21st overall) out of Ohio State, began the year as a reserve but has since started seven games at LG (Game 3 and Games 6-11). Price was limited during preseason and early in the regular season by a foot injury. In Game 1 at Seattle, rookie G Michael Jordan, a Bengals fourth-round pick and the youngest player on the roster (turns 22 in January), became just the 16th Bengals rookie to start on the offensive line in an opener, the seventh to do so at G, and the seventh to do so after being drafted in the fourth round or lower. Jordan has played in 11 games this season, with six starts at LG. New to the Bengals' offensive line is OT/G Fred Johnson, who was acquired on Oct. 14 on waivers from the Pittsburgh Steelers. Johnson, a rookie out of the University of Florida, originally was a college free agent signee of the Steelers in May. He made his NFL debut in Game 7 vs. Jacksonville and has seen action in three games for Cincinnati. The Bengals claimed OT Isaiah Prince on waivers from the Miami Dolphins on Dec. 6. Prince (6-7, 305), a rookie out of Ohio State, was originally a sixth-round pick of the Dolphins in April's draft. He played in four games for Miami this season, with two starts. In college at Ohio State, he played in 54 career games with 41 starts at RT, and earned first-team All-Big Ten honors as a senior.

Defensive linemen: Considered one of the top interior defensive linemen in football, 10th-year DT Geno Atkins again anchors the Bengals' defensive line and continues his climb up the Bengals' all-time sack list. He's currently second on the team in sacks (4.5), and in Game 10 at Oakland, Atkins was consistently in the Raiders' backfield and logged 1.5 sacks of QB Derek Carr. In Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, Atkins recorded his second and third sacks of the season after dropping Jaguars QB Gardner Minshew two times in a three-minute span. Atkins also recorded a sack in Game 3 at Buffalo. The 10th-year veteran now has 75.5 sacks, third-most in team history, most by a Bengals interior lineman and eight shy of the all-time lead. Atkins in 2018 led the Bengals in sacks (10) for the fifth time in his career. In his nine previous seasons, Atkins has finished in at least a share of the NFL lead for sacks by an interior defensive lineman five different times — he claimed it outright three times (2012, '16, '17) and shared it twice ('11 and '15). Atkins' seven Pro Bowl selections are the most ever by a Bengals defensive player, and tied with teammate A.J. Green for the second-most in team history behind Hall of Fame OT Anthony Munoz (11). Standing in second place on the Bengals' all-time career sack list is 10th-year DE Carlos Dunlap, whose 78 sacks are 5.5 shy of all-time leader Eddie Edwards (83.5). After appearing in 115 consecutive contests and not missing a game since 2012, Dunlap missed Games 6-7 with a knee injury. Dunlap has 5.5 sacks this season, most recently contributing last week in the Game 12 matchup vs. the N.Y. Jets, when he tied his career high with three sacks of QB Sam Darnold. In addition to pressuring the quarterback consistently, he also had a PD. His other sacks were registered in Game 1 at Seattle, Game 10 at Oakland and Game 11 against Pittsburgh. Also considered one of the NFL's most proficient defensive linemen at batting down passes, Dunlap's 34 PDs since 2016 are tied for the most in the NFL among non-defensive backs over that span. And in 2015, Dunlap's career-best 13.5 sacks were the second-most in a season in Bengals history. Second-year DE Sam Hubbard, a Cincinnati native (Archbishop Moeller High School), has taken over at RDE this season. Hubbard leads all Bengals defensive linemen in tackles (60) and is second in sacks (five). In Game 12 vs. the N.Y. Jets, Hubbard sacked QB Sam Darnold on third down and forced a Jets punt. In Game 11 against Pittsburgh, Hubbard chased down

QB Devlin Hodges and aided in stalling the drive. In Game 5 vs. Arizona, Hubbard totaled five tackles, including a sack (a five-yard loss). In Game 3 at Buffalo, Hubbard posted six tackles and collected his second career forced fumble (Bengals recovered) after stripping the ball from Bills RB T.J. Yeldon. Hubbard made his first career start in the opener at Seattle, and recorded a team-high 10 tackles, including two sacks of Seahawks QB Russell Wilson. Fourth-year DT Andrew Billings lines up as Cincinnati's No. 1 NT for the second-straight season. Billings has played in every game this season, with 12 starts at NT, and has 23 tackles and a sack. Third-year DE Carl Lawson, considered one of the Bengals' most talented young defenders, returned to action this season after having his 2018 campaign cut short by a torn ACL in his right knee. Lawson, though, has been limited to nine games this season due to a hamstring injury. In Game 13 at Cleveland, Lawson brought down QB Baker Mayfield in the second quarter and aided in stalling the Browns' drive. In game 10 at Oakland, Lawson sacked QB Derek Carr on a third down to force a Raiders punt. Lawson made his second career start in Game 6, and totaled three tackles and a sack. Lawson turned heads in 2017, when his 8.5 sacks led all NFL rookies and tied for the second-most ever by a Bengals rookie. Veteran DT Josh Tupou, who is tied for the heaviest Bengal on the roster, adds a massive run-stuffing presence to the middle of the Bengals' defensive line. After missing the final six games of 2018 due to a torn pectoral muscle, Tupou has appeared in all 13 games this season, has 22 total tackles and he made his first career start in Game 3 at Buffalo. Tupou registered the most productive game of his career in Game 10 at Oakland, when he notched seven tackles and a forced fumble. Andrew Brown, a 2018 Bengals fifth-round draft pick out of Virginia, made the roster this year after spending his rookie season on Cincinnati's practice squad and Practice Squad/Injured list (hand). After being inactive for the first two games this season, Brown has logged time in Games 3-13, and has 14 total tackles. Brown made his first career NFL start in Game 7 vs. Jacksonville and recorded a career-high five tackles. DT Renell Wren, a 2019 fourth-round pick out of Arizona State, has played in 11 games so far this season, starting Games 11-12 against Pittsburgh and the N.Y. Jets, respectively, and has eight total tackles. At a massive 6-5, 318 pounds, Wren totaled 14.5 tackles for losses and three sacks in four seasons at ASU. Anthony Zettel, a fourth-year DE, was originally signed by the Bengals on Oct. 18 and has played in four games in a reserve role. He originally was a college free agent signee of Detroit in 2016, and also spent time with Cleveland.

Linebackers: The Bengals' linebackers are led in 2019 by fourth-year pro Nick Vigil, who has started all 13 games this season and leads the team in tackles (98). In Game 13 at Cleveland, Vigil logged his second-career interception midway through the first quarter. Additionally, he totaled two PDs on the day. Vigil led the defensive charge in Game 10 at Oakland, posting 12 tackles and his third career fumble recovery. In Game 9 against Baltimore, Vigil recorded his second-career sack when he took down elusive QB Lamar Jackson on a drive that ended with a punt. In Game 6 at Baltimore, Vigil tied his season-high with 13 tackles, and collected a fumble recovery. In addition to his team-high 11 tackles in Game 4 at Pittsburgh, Vigil collected his first career forced fumble (Bengals recovered) after jarring the ball loose from Steelers WR Diontae Johnson. Vigil now has nine career games with 10 or more tackles, including four this season. The Bengals this year invested a third-round draft pick in LB Germaine Pratt of North Carolina State, who began his college career at S before switching to LB. Pratt has played in all 13 games this season, and led the team in tackles (eight) for the first time in his career in Game 11 against Pittsburgh, and did it again in Game 13 at Cleveland (eight). Pratt made his first career start in Game 6 at Baltimore, and has seen increased playing time since, finding himself in a starting role since Game 9. He has totaled 46 tackles on defense and three on special teams. Last season was Pratt's first as a starting LB, and he ended up leading the Wolfpack in tackles (104) while earning first-team All-ACC honors. Third-year pro Jordan Evans, a 2017 sixth-round pick of the Bengals, has played in 42 career games (nine starts) for the Bengals, seeing time mainly as a rotational linebacker. Evans this year has contributed mainly on special teams, with five tackles. LaRoy Reynolds signed with the Bengals as a free agent on Sept. 10 and has appeared in all 12 games since. He has three tackles and a PD on defense, and three tackles on special teams. Reynolds, a seventh-year player out of the University of Virginia, previously spent time with the Jaguars, Bears, Falcons and Eagles. Hardy Nickerson, a 2017 college free agent signee out of Illinois, was signed from the practice squad on Nov. 15. Nickerson has bounced between the roster and practice squad over his three seasons. He has played in three games this season, and has three tackles.

Defensive backs: Shawn Williams, a 2013 third-round draft pick, fills a starting S position for the fourth-straight season, and he's currently second on the team with 92 tackles. In Game 11 against Pittsburgh, Williams energized the Bengals with a red-zone interception of QB Mason Rudolph. Williams posted the second highest tackle output in Game 10 at Oakland with nine. In Game 5 vs. Arizona, Williams collected his fourth-career game with double-digit tackles (12). Williams posted a team-high nine tackles in Game 3 at Buffalo. At the other safety spot is second-year pro Jessie Bates III, a 2018 second-round draft pick of the Bengals who has started all 29 possible games of his career. Bates has five career games with double-digit tackles, including two this season. After leading the team in tackles (111) a year ago, Bates currently ranks third on the team in tackles, with 91. In Game 13 at Cleveland, Bates logged his third interception of the season, which began a drive that ended in a touchdown. In Game 10 at Oakland, Bates jumped a route and intercepted QB Derek Carr for his fifth-career pick. In Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, he recorded 12 tackles, which led the team and tied his career high. In Game 4 at Pittsburgh, Bates collected his first career fumble recovery. Considered one of Cincinnati's most talented young defenders, William Jackson III is in his fourth season as a Bengal, and second as a full-time starting CB. Jackson suffered a shoulder injury in Game 6 at Baltimore, which caused him to miss Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, but he returned to action in Game 8 against the L.A. Rams. Jackson, the Bengals' first-round pick in 2016, collected his second-career interception in Week 2 with a 19-yard pick off of San Francisco QB Jimmy Garoppolo. His other career INT is a 75-yard pick-six of Packers QB Aaron Rodgers in 2017. Veteran CB B.W. Webb, an unrestricted free agent signee over the offseason, has played this season through a right arm injury he suffered in Game 2. Webb has appeared in 12 games this season and made nine starts (four at NCB, and five at CB). In Game 7 vs. Jacksonville, Webb started in place of Jackson and collected three tackles and two passes defended. In Game 5 vs. Arizona, Webb had two tackles and two passes defended, including a pass deflection on third-and-10 that forced a Cardinals punt late in the fourth quarter and set up a Bengals game-tying TD with 2:03 remaining. Webb previously spent time with the N.Y. Giants (2018), Cleveland ('17), New Orleans ('16), Tennessee ('15), Pittsburgh ('14) and Dallas ('13). CB Darqueze Dennard, the Bengals' first-round pick in 2014, began the season on the Physically Unable to Perform list with a knee injury before making his season debut in Game 7 vs. Jacksonville. Dennard recorded five tackles and two passes defended against the Jaguars, but suffered a hamstring injury in the contest that caused him to miss Game 8 against the L.A. Rams. He returned to play in the Game 9 matchup against Baltimore, and had the second-most tackles in Game 10 at Oakland as a starting CB. Dennard has played in 74 career games (23 starts), and has 239 tackles, three INTs, three sacks, 22 PDs, two FFs and a FR. CB Darius Phillips was activated from Reserve/Injured on Nov. 29 after missing games 4-11 due to a knee injury. Prior to his departure, he played in the first three games and recorded one tackle, one INT, and six kickoff returns for 137 yards (22.8 average). He now returns to the defense in a reserve role and serves as the primary kickoff returner. Adding depth at safety is Clayton Fejedelem, a seventh-round pick of the Bengals in 2016 who has become a core special teams player and valuable reserve on defense. Fejedelem has played in all 61 possible games over his career (six starts), and he led the Bengals in special teams tackles in each of his first three seasons. Veteran CB Tony McRae, a reliable contributor on both defense and special teams, also adds depth in the secondary. McRae this season has 15 tackles and a PD on defense, and leads the team with six tackles on special teams. In Game 8 against the L.A.

Rams, McRae logged a career-high five tackles and one PD. New to the defensive backfield is CB Torry McTyer, who the Bengals signed from the Kansas City Chiefs' practice squad on Sept. 26. McTyer, a third-year player out of Nevada-Las Vegas, was originally a college free agent signee of the Miami Dolphins in 2017, and has previous experience playing under secondary/cornerbacks coach Daronte Jones and defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo. McTyer has played in four games for the Bengals this season, and has two tackles on defense. CB Greg Mabin, a rotational CB and third-year player out of the University of Iowa, has spent time on both the active roster and practice squad this season for the Bengals. He's played in six games (Games 4 and 9-13) and was inactive for another (Game vs. Arizona). He was originally a college free agent signee of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 2017, and also spent time with the Buffalo Bills and San Francisco 49ers. He has played in 25 career games (one start), and has 18 tackles, a pass defended and a forced fumble. S Trayvon Henderson was signed from the Bengals' practice squad on Dec. 7, and fills a reserve role on defense. Henderson, a second-year player who saw his first NFL playing time in Game 13 at Cleveland, originally was a college free agent signee out of the University of Hawaii in 2018. He spent his rookie season on the Reserve/Injured list after suffering a knee injury in preseason. He spent the first 12 games this season on the practice squad.

Special teams: After being activated from the Reserve/Injured list on Nov. 29, Darius Phillips slides back into the No. 1 kickoff returner roll, where he excelled earlier in the season prior to his injury. On 11 returns this year, Phillips has amassed 251 KOR yards (22.8). Alex Erickson has been a key contributor for the Bengals in the return game since joining the team as a CFA in 2016. Erickson, though, has seen more action at WR this season due to injuries at that position group, and has just three kickoff returns (for 53 yards) on the year. In Game 4 at Pittsburgh — his first action returning kickoffs this season — Erickson had two returns for 44 yards, including a 25-yard return in the second quarter. Erickson also has posted 113 yards on 19 punt returns this year. Last season, Erickson's 1049 kickoff return yards were second-most in the NFL. As a rookie in 2016, Erickson posted an AFC-best 27.9-yard average on kickoff returns, the second-best mark in team history. Eighth-year pro Randy Bullock has served as the Bengals' placekicker since midway through the 2016 season, when he joined Cincinnati on waivers from Pittsburgh. So far this season, Bullock is 19-for-19 on PATs and 21-for-25 on FG attempts. Handling punting duties again this season is 11th-year pro Kevin Huber, the longest-tenured Bengal on the roster. Huber, a Cincinnati native (McNicholas High School), stands as the Bengals' career leader in every significant punting category, including punts (829), punting yards (37,332) gross average (45.03), net average (39.92) and inside-20 punts (292). He also shares the franchise record for longest punt (75 yards) and owns the Bengals' best career ratio for inside-20s to touchbacks (4.42-to-1; 291-66). Huber, who also serves as the holder for placekicks, has played in 176 of 178 possible games (including postseason) since joining the team as a fifth-round draft pick in 2009. LS Clark Harris, the oldest Bengal on the roster at 35, has served as the Bengals' long snapper since midway through the 2009 season. Harris has been a paragon of reliability throughout his career in Cincinnati, with no unplayable snaps in 1506 attempts as a Bengal (826 punts, 704 placekicks). In 2017, Harris became the first-ever Bengals long snapper to earn a Pro Bowl nod. Harris has also been solid in kick coverage throughout his time in Cincinnati, with 33 career special teams tackles.

THE LAST TWO BENGALS-PATRIOTS MEETINGS

2014 SEASON
WEEK 5, GAME 4

New England Patriots 43, Cincinnati Bengals 17
Sunday night, Oct. 5, 2014 at Gillette Stadium

The Bengals started the Sunday night game as the NFL's only remaining unbeaten team (3-0), but New England quickly signaled that the singular status would end. The Patriots scored TDs on their first two possessions for a 14-0 lead, and the Bengals were not able to reduce that deficit into single figures. Cincinnati pulled to within 20-10 in the third quarter, when CB Adam Jones' 47-yard punt return set up a TD pass from QB Andy Dalton to WR Mohamed Sanu, but the Patriots responded with an 86-yard TD drive and then went up 34-10 when CB Kyle Arrington returned a Bengals fumble of the ensuing kickoff for a TD. The Patriots churned out 505 yards of net offense and posted a plus-three edge in turnover differential. The Bengals fell to 3-1 and the Patriots improved to 3-2.

2016 SEASON
WEEK 6, GAME 6

New England Patriots 35, Cincinnati Bengals 17
Sunday, Oct. 16, 2016 at Gillette Stadium

The Bengals got off to a promising start against the Patriots, who were 48-1 in their last 49 regular-season home games against AFC opponents. Cincinnati held leads of 7-3 in the second quarter and 14-10 in the third. But the roof fell in for Cincinnati after New England closed the gap to 14-12 in the third quarter by sacking QB Andy Dalton for a safety. The Patriots took the ensuing Bengals free kick and drove 68 yards in five plays for a TD, and after a Cincinnati three-and-out, New England went 53 yards in just four plays for another TD and a 25-14 lead entering the fourth quarter. Dalton posted a 103.4 passer rating, but New England QB Tom Brady, in his first home game of the season after missing time due to a suspension, scorched the Bengals for a 140.0 rating, completing 29 of 35 (82.9 percent) for 376 yards, three TDs and no INTs. The Bengals fell to 2-4, while New England improved to 5-1.

2019 GAME SUMMARIES

WEEK 1, GAME 1

Seattle Seahawks 21, Cincinnati Bengals 20 Sunday, Sept. 8, 2019 at CenturyLink Field

Cincinnati outgained Seattle by 196 net yards (395-161), recorded 10 more first downs (22-12) and held more than a 10-minute advantage in time of possession (35:50-24:10), but the Bengals ultimately were inefficient in converting yards into points and lost their first game under new head coach Zac Taylor. The Bengals scored just one FG in three trips inside the Seahawks' red zone in the game. And in the third quarter alone, three times Cincinnati reached Seattle's 36-yard line or farther (36, 27 and 12) and came away with no points (the drives ended on a fumble, a missed FG and a turnover on downs). Seattle, however, scored TDs on three of their four drives into Cincinnati territory overall, including two TDs on their only two trips inside the Bengals' red-zone. QB Andy Dalton had career highs in yards (418) and completions (35) in 51 attempts, tossed two long TDs to WR John Ross III, and had a 106.5 passer rating. Ross had career highs in catches (seven) and receiving yards (158), and his TDs came on passes of 55 and 33 yards. The Bengals' defense enjoyed a solid game overall, recording four sacks and holding the Seahawks, who led the NFL in rushing in 2018, to just 72 yards on the ground. Seahawks QB Russell Wilson, however, stung the Bengals with a 44-yard TD pass to WR Tyler Lockett on the first play of the fourth quarter for what ultimately were the game's winning points.

WEEK 2, GAME 2

San Francisco 49ers 41, Cincinnati Bengals 17 Sunday, Sept. 15, 2019 at Paul Brown Stadium

The game started poorly right away for Cincinnati — a penalty erased a kickoff return, followed by a sack, then by a fumble on QB-RB exchange for no gain, then a failed third-down conversion attempt, and then a punt that barely made it to midfield. And, largely, the game was all downhill from there for the Bengals. The 49ers scored TDs on three of their first four drives to jump out to a 21-7 first-half lead and never looked back. San Francisco beat the Cincinnati soundly on both sides of the ball, outgaining the Bengals in total net yards 572-316, including 259-25 rushing. There were some individual positives for Cincinnati, as WR Tyler Boyd had 10 catches for 122 yards, and WR John Ross III had four catches for 112 yards and a TD. The 49ers improved to 2-0. The Bengals fell to 0-2.

WEEK 3, GAME 3

Buffalo Bills 21, Cincinnati Bengals 17
Sunday, Sept. 22, 2019 at New Era Field

Cincinnati's offense stalled for nearly the entirety of the first two quarters en route to a 14-0 halftime deficit, and the early ineffectiveness ultimately doomed the Bengals' late efforts for a comeback win against an undefeated Buffalo team in a stadium packed with rowdy Bills fans. The Bengals, who failed to produce a first down until the two-minute warning of the first half, had just 76 total net yards at intermission. Still, when they kick-started their offense in the second half, the Bengals scored 17 unanswered points to take a 17-14 lead with just under five minutes left. The Bills, however, responded with a late seven-play, 78-yard drive, which was highlighted by a 49-yard pass from QB Josh Allen to TE Dawson Knox in which Knox stiff-armed and bulldozed his way deep into Bengals territory, and ended in a one-yard TD run by RB Frank Gore. QB Andy Dalton drove the Bengals 42 yards to the Bills' 28-yard line with 20 seconds left, but his next pass bounced off the outstretched hand of WR Auden Tate and was intercepted by Buffalo CB Tre'Davious White to seal the Bills' win. The Bengals fell to 0-3, while the Bills improved to 3-0.

WEEK 4, GAME 4

Pittsburgh Steelers 27, Cincinnati Bengals 3
Monday night, Sept. 30, 2019 at Heinz Field

A FG by K Randy Bullock gave Cincinnati a 3-0 lead after one quarter of the 100th meeting between the Bengals and Steelers, but Pittsburgh scored 27 unanswered points in the final three quarters and cruised to a dominant 27-3 win on Monday Night Football. Both teams entered the matchup 0-3, and the Steelers were without QB Ben Roethlisberger (Reserve/Injured; elbow) for the first time in a game against the Bengals since 2003. But Roethlisberger's replacement, QB Mason Rudolph, filled in admirably, completing 24 of 28 passes for 229 yards, two TDs and no INTs (124.6 passer rating). His top two targets were RBs James Conner and Jaylen Samuels, who combined for 16 catches for 140 yards and one TD receiving. Samuels also added another TD rushing. Bengals QB Andy Dalton was sacked eight times, the most in his nine-year career, and Cincinnati's offense gained just 175 total net yards. It was the eighth straight win in the series for the Steelers, who improved to 1-3. The Bengals fell to 0-4.

WEEK 5, GAME 5

Arizona Cardinals 26, Cincinnati Bengals 23 Sunday, Oct. 6, 2019 at Paul Brown Stadium

Behind 23-9 midway through the fourth quarter, the Bengals rallied to tie the game on a 42-yard TD pass from QB Andy Dalton to WR Tyler Boyd with 1:41 remaining. But Cardinals rookie QB and No. 1 overall draft pick Kyle Murray led Arizona on a six-play, 62-yard drive that ended with a Zane Gonzalez FG as time expired, and Arizona escaped Paul Brown Stadium with a 26-23 win. Despite allowing 514 total yards, including 266 rushing yards and a 7.0-yard rushing average, the Bengals' defense was stout in the red zone, keeping the game close by allowing the Cardinals just one TD on six trips inside the 20. Despite not having two of his top three receivers — John Ross III and A.J. Green, both out due to injury — Dalton completed 71.1 percent of his passes (27 of 38) and leaned heavily on Boyd, who totaled 10 receptions for 123 yards and a TD. The Bengals fell to 0-5, while Arizona improved to 1-3-1.

WEEK 6, GAME 6

Baltimore Ravens 23, Cincinnati Bengals 17 Sunday, Oct. 13, 2019 at M&T Bank Stadium

Cincinnati raced to literally the fastest start in team history when S Brandon Wilson took the opening kickoff 92 yards for a score, becoming the first Bengal ever to begin a game returning a kickoff for a TD. But the Ravens answered, scoring on their first three possessions to take a 17-7 lead, and they never looked back. Baltimore, which amassed 497 total yards, leaned heavily on a ground attack that gained 269 yards on 43 rushes and earned a 19-minute edge in time of possession (39:42 to 20:18). The Ravens were led by QB Lamar Jackson, whose 152 rushing yards were the third-most ever in a game by a QB. Cincinnati's rushing offense, on the other hand, struggled to find traction and totaled just 33 yards on 14 attempts. But the game was kept close, and the visiting Bengals pulled to within six with 1:28 remaining when QB Andy Dalton capped a 12-play, 48-yard drive with his 21st career TD (a Bengals QB record). Wilson recovered the ensuing onside kick attempt, but it was ruled that the kick did not travel the required 10 yards, and the Ravens were able to run out the clock. Cincinnati fell to 0-6, while Baltimore improved to 4-2.

WEEK 10, GAME 9

Baltimore Ravens 49, Cincinnati Bengals 13
Sunday, Nov. 10, 2019 at Paul Brown Stadium

The Ravens scored TDs on five of their first six possessions and cruised to an easy 49-13 win at Paul Brown Stadium. Rookie QB Ryan Finley made his first career start, replacing longtime starter Andy Dalton, who was assigned to a reserve role the previous week during the team's bye. Finley played mostly well, passing for 167 yards and a TD against a stout Ravens defense, however he made two costly mistakes — an INT that was returned 89 yards for a TD, and a fumble that was returned 33 yards for a TD. The Ravens were led by second-year QB Lamar Jackson, who became just the third player ever to post a perfect 158.3 passer rating in a game (minimum 15 attempts) against the Bengals (also Oilers QB Chris Chandler in 1995, and Rams QB Kurt Warner in '99). Jackson also impressed with his feet, stunning fans with a 47-yard TD run that featured a highlight-reel spin move. The Bengals fell to 0-9, while the Ravens improved to 7-2.

WEEK 11, GAME 10

Oakland Raiders 17, Cincinnati Bengals 10
Sunday, Nov. 17, 2019 at Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum

With the Raiders moving from Oakland to Las Vegas after the 2019 season, the Bengals made perhaps their final trip to the Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum. A TD by Bay-area native Joe Mixon gave the Bengals a 7-0 lead after one quarter, but Oakland outscored Cincinnati 17-3 in the final three periods to earn the win. The Bengals did have two potential game-tying drives late in the fourth quarter, but they turned the ball over on downs and then threw what amounted to a game-sealing INT. Bengals QB Ryan Finley struggled in his first career road start and completed just 41.9 percent of his passes, along with an INT, lost fumble and five sacks. The Bengals fell to 0-10, matching their 1993 season for the worst start in team history. The loss was also their 12th straight dating back to 2018, the longest losing streak in team history. The Raiders improved to 6-4.

WEEK 12, GAME 11

Pittsburgh Steelers 16, Cincinnati Bengals 10 Sunday, Nov. 24, 2019 at Paul Brown Stadium

In the first Bengals-Steelers matchup in 16 years that featured neither Andy Dalton or Ben Roethlisberger, the 32nd-ranked Bengals defense played stout and helped Cincinnati to a 7-3 lead at halftime. In the third quarter, Pittsburgh benched starting QB Mason Rudolph in favor of rookie college free agent Devlin Hodges, who tossed a 79-yard TD to WR James Washington on his third pass attempt. The Bengals and starting QB Ryan Finley couldn't muster an answer, and were held to just three points in the second half. Cincinnati's best scoring opportunity came on a 72-yard drive in the fourth quarter, but that ended when WR Tyler Boyd, who had a game-high 101 receiving yards, lost a fumble on the Steelers' six-yard line. Finley struggled in his third start, completing just 12 of his 26 passes (46 percent) for 192 yards and a TD, while also losing a fumble. On Monday after the game, Bengals head coach Zac Taylor announced that QB Andy Dalton would return to the starting role, after serving as a reserve for three games. Pittsburgh improved to 6-5, while Cincinnati fell to 0-11, the worst start in team history.

WEEK 13, GAME 12

Cincinnati Bengals 22, N.Y. Jets 6 Sunday, Dec. 1, 2019 at Paul Brown Stadium

After starting the season 0-11, the Bengals put together a dominant performance for their first win of the year, and the first career win for Zac Taylor as head coach. The visiting Jets, who had scored exactly 34 points in each of the three previous weeks (all wins), were held to just two FGs by a Bengals defense that entered the contest ranked 27th in points allowed. The Bengals applied constant pressure to Jets QB Sam Darnold and sacked him four times, including three by DE Carlos Dunlap, while holding the Jets' offense out of the red zone altogether. Bengals QB Andy Dalton returned to the starting lineup, after serving in a reserve role behind rookie Ryan Finley the previous three weeks, and passed former QB Ken Anderson for first place all-time in both career completions and TD passes by a Bengal (Anderson had 197 TD passes, and 2654 completions). The Bengals improved to 1-11, while the Jets fell to 4-8.

WEEK 14, GAME 13

Cleveland Browns 27, Cincinnati Bengals 19
Sunday, Dec. 8, 2019 at FirstEnergy Stadium

For just the second time in history, a Bengals-Browns matchup featured two rookie head coaches (Cincinnati's Zac Taylor and Cleveland's Freddie Kitchens) who were facing both each other and their Ohio rival for the first time in the same game. The visiting Bengals gained 451 yards, HB Joe Mixon rushed for a career-high 146 yards and a TD, Cincinnati was plus-one in turnovers, and Browns QB Baker Mayfield was held to just a 38.9 passer rating. But mistakes and situational football doomed the Bengals, who scored just one TD on five trips inside the red zone, converted just three of 12 third downs, threw a pick-six, and committed eight penalties for 99 yards. Trailing by eight points in the fourth quarter, Bengals S Jessie Bates III seemingly set Cincinnati up for a potential game-tying TD when he intercepted a Mayfield pass on Cleveland's 18-yard line. But replay review ruled that there was defensive pass interference on the play, allowing the Browns to continue to drive for a FG. Cincinnati countered with its own late FG, but failed to recover an onside kick with 12 seconds left. The Bengals fell to 1-12; the Browns improved to 6-7.
