Ron RIVERA

NFL: 19th season
Panthers: 5th season
Regular Season: 32-31-1 (.508)
Postseason: 1-2 (.333)

Ron Rivera became the fourth coach in Carolina Panthers history on January 11, 2011.

In four seasons with Carolina, Rivera has guided the team to two NFC South Division titles and two playoff appearances, reaching the divisional round both times. In 2014, Rivera led the Panthers to their second consecutive NFC South championship and the team's first playoff win since 2005. The Panthers became the first team in NFC South history to win consecutive division championships since realignment in 2002 and the first team since 1970 to overcome a six-game losing streak and win their division.

Since 2011, Rivera's 15-3 record in December is tied for best in the NFL (Bill Belichick, Pete Carroll). In 2013, Rivera was named NFL Coach of the Year by the Associated Press after directing Carolina to 12 wins, the NFC South title and its first playoff appearance since 2008. Taking over a team that went 2-14 in 2010, Rivera coached the Panthers to six wins in 2011, seven in 2012 and 12 in 2013.

Before joining the Panthers in 2011, Rivera coached the San Diego Chargers (2007-2010) and Chicago Bears (2004-06, 1997-98) and Philadelphia Eagles (1999-2003). In 2006, the Bears defense led the NFL with 44 takeaways, helping propel Chicago to an appearance in Super Bowl XLI.

Rivera is just the third Latino head coach in NFL history, joining Tom Flores with the Oakland Raiders (1979-1987) and Seattle Seahawks (1992-94) and Tom Fears with the New Orleans Saints (1967-1970).

A second-round draft choice in 1984 by Chicago, Rivera played nine seasons with the Bears. Primarily an outside linebacker, he was a member of the Super Bowl XX championship team in 1985.

An All-American at the University of California, Rivera finished his career as the school's all-time leader in sacks with 22 and tackles with 336.

Born January 7, 1962 in Fort Ord, Calif. He and his wife, Stephanie, have two children — Christopher and Courtney.

Bill BELICHICK

NFL: 41st season
Patriots: 16th season
Regular Season: 211-109 (.659)
Postseason: 22-9 (.710)

Bill Belichick is in his 41st season as an NFL coach and his 16th season as head coach of the New England Patriots.

Belichick has led the Patriots to 14 consecutive winning seasons (2001-14). The only other NFL coach to have at least 10 consecutive winning seasons with one team since the 1970 merger was Tom Landry, who led the Dallas Cowboys to 16 consecutive winning seasons (1970-1985).

Through 15 seasons with New England, Belichick has delivered four Super Bowl championships, six conference titles, 12 division crowns and 21 playoff victories, while posting an overall record of 196-73.

Belichick won his fourth Super Bowl title last season with the Patriots 28-24 victory over Seattle to match Pittsburgh's Chuck Noll for the most Super Bowl wins by a head coach.

He is one of five NFL head coaches to win four or more championships since the league began postseason play in 1933. Belichick is the only of those five to win three titles in a four-year span with Super Bowl wins in 2001 and back-to-back Super Bowl wins in 2003 and 2004.

Belichick launched his coaching career in 1975 with the Baltimore Colts and continued as an assistant coach with Detroit (1976-77), Denver (1978) and the New York Giants (1979-1990). Belichick was named head coach of the Cleveland Browns in 1991. Belichick then spent three seasons with the New York Jets from 1997 to 1999.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN 2015

- The Panthers defense will look to rank in the top 10 for the fourth consecutive season. The Panthers are one of three teams (Seattle, San Francisco) to rank in the top 10 in each of the past three seasons.
- Linebacker Thomas Davis (831 from 2005-14) needs 123 tackles to pass Mike Minter (953 from 1997-2006) for the most in team history. Davis has averaged 132 tackles per year since 2012.

- With 10 sacks this season, defensive end Charles Johnson would become the second player in team history with double-digit sacks in four or more seasons (Julius Peppers).
- Cornerback Charles Tillman has 42 career forced fumbles and needs four interceptions to reach 40 career interceptions to become the first player since forced fumbles were officially kept in 1994 to reach 40 in both categories.
- Quarterback Cam Newton needs three 300-yard passing games to tie Jake Delhomme (11 from 2003-09) for the most in team history.
- Tight end Greg Olsen needs 54 catches and 696 receiving yards to pass Wesley Walls (324 for 3,902 from 1996-2002) for the most by a tight end in Panthers history. Olsen has averaged 67 catches and 801 yards per season since 2011.

- Kicker Graham Gano will attempt to lead the NFL in kickoff touchback percentage for the third consecutive season. Since 2013, Gano leads the NFL with 124 kickoff touchbacks.

OLSEN EARNS ED BLOCK COURAGE AWARD

Tight end Greg Olsen is the Carolina Panthers 2014 Ed Block Courage Award winner. The award honors one player from each NFL team that shows courage on and off the field. Olsen was selected for the award in a vote by his teammates.

In 2014, Olsen produced the best year of his career, earning his first career Pro Bowl selection, and breaking his own Panthers records for receiving yards and receptions by a tight end with a team-leading 84 for 1,008. The performance came while Olsen and his wife Kara are dealing with tremendous challenges off the field.

Olsen's son, TJ, was born in 2012 with a rare congenital heart defect called Hypoplastic Left Heart Syndrome (HLHS), a severe underdevelopment of the left side of the heart. Since that time, TJ has had to undergo four separate heart surgeries, including two during the 2014 season.

Throughout portions of the 2014 season, Olsen has had to balance attending practice and meetings with sleeping at the hospital by TJ's side and being a father to his other children, Tate and Talbot, TJ's twin sister. The eight-year NFL veteran did so effectively, being named a team captain for the first time in his career, and emerging as one of the top tight ends in the NFL, ranking among the League leaders in receptions, receiving yards and receiving touchdowns. He has exhibited commitment and durability as well, having played in 126 consecutive games, a streak dating to his rookie year in 2007.

Off the field, Olsen and his family have started the HEARTestYard Initiative with Levine Children's Hospital at Carolinas Medical Center in Charlotte, N.C. The program provides services including in-home, private nursing care, physical therapy and speech therapy, free of charge, to families of babies affected by congenital heart disease.

The Ed Block Courage Award is named in honor of Ed Block, the longtime head athletic trainer of the Baltimore Colts who was a pioneer in his profession and a respected humanitarian.

Recent winners of the Panthers' Ed Block Courage award include Ryan Kalil (2013), Thomas Davis (2011) and Jordan Gross (2010).

DAVIS NAMED WALTER PAYTON NFL MAN OF THE YEAR

Panthers linebacker Thomas Davis was named the 2014 Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year. The award recognizes a player's off-the-field community service as well as his playing excellence. The announcement was made during the fourth annual NFL Honors.

Davis is a four-time Walter Payton Man of the Year nominee, and was a finalist in 2013 – the team's first.

Davis faced more than his share of challenges growing up in Shellman, Ga. In his acceptance speech, he challenged his fellow NFL players to make a difference in the lives of children in their communities.

"To the guys in this league, I just want to say to you, 'Let's take charge. Dare to be different,'" Davis said. "We are a village. Let's step up and be a village of guys that make a difference. Let's change this world.

"We're well-compensated for what we do. Let's show these kids how much we care about them."

Linebacker Thomas Davis accepts the Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year Award at the fourth annual NFL Honors(1/1/15).

Davis, who was also one of eight finalists for the inaugural Art Rooney Sportsmanship Award, received a $50,000 donation in his name to a charity of his choice from the NFL Foundation and Nationwide. The two other Man of the Year finalists – Green Bay Packers quarterback Aaron Rodgers and San Francisco 49ers wide receiver Anquan Boldin - received $10,000 donations in their names.

"So often in my career, I've been the guy that's come up just short," Davis said, "but receiving this award signifies and encompasses everything that I've been able to accomplish and all that I had to go through."

2014 was another strong season for linebacker Davis, who started in all 15 games he played and finished with his third consecutive 100-tackle season. Davis, a four-year team captain, totaled 129 tackles, 2.5 sacks, two forced fumbles, one fumble recovery and six passes defended. He was a key component of the Panthers 10th-ranked defense, helping the team become the first franchise to claim consecutive NFC South titles. Davis ranks second on the Panthers all-time tackles list with 831.

Off the field, Davis puts his shoulder in to as many charities as he does opposing team ball carriers. In 2007, he and his wife Kelly founded the Thomas Davis Defending Dreams Foundation (TDDDF), a non-profit dedicated to providing and promoting free programs that enhance the quality of life for more than 2,000 underprivileged children and their families annually. Since its inception, the foundation has distributed more than $500,000 in aid. The foundation's cornerstone program, the Youth Leadership Academy, is a 14-week after-school mentoring program for low-income middle school students.

Davis annually provides two college scholarships for graduating high school seniors who have completed the Youth Leadership Academy program. Through TDDDF, Davis also hosts annual programs including a back-to-school supply giveaway, a Thanksgiving meal for members of a local women's shelter and a Christmas gift giveaway for underprivileged children, in Charlotte, N.C., parts of South Carolina and in Davis' hometown in Georgia.

Davis is an avid proponent of keeping youth active and healthy. In June 2013, he led the construction of the first and only playground in his rural hometown of Shellman. In addition, his annual free football camp provides more than 350 children with instruction in football basics and life skills. Davis is active in the Panthers' PLAY 60 efforts and is a frequent visitor at the local pediatric hospital.

In April 2014, Davis received the Call to Courage Award, given annually to a Christian athlete who displays exemplary character through both adversity and triumph.

Thomas and his wife Kelly founded the Thomas Davis Defending Dreams Foundation, dedicated to providing and promoting free programs that enhance the quality of life for more than 2,000 underprivileged children and their families annually.

Davis was chosen from among the 32 team nominees for the award, all of whom receive a $5,000 donation to the charity of their choice. The selection panel is comprised of NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell, former NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue, Connie Payton, Pro Football Hall of Fame members Frank Gifford and Anthony Muñoz, 2013 winner Charles Tillman, and Sports Illustrated football writer Peter King.

Davis joins an esteemed list of winners of the annual award. Recent winners of the Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year Award include Tillman of the Chicago Bears, Jason Witten of the Dallas Cowboys and Matt Birk, then of the Baltimore Ravens (2011).

The winner of the Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year Award will receive the Gladiator statue, an original art creation by the noted sculptor, Daniel Schwartz.

KUECHLY & OLSEN ARE PRO BOWL PANTHERS

Linebacker Luke Kuechly posted seven tackles in his second career Pro Bowl.

Linebacker Luke Kuechly and tight end Greg Olsen were named to the 2015 Pro Bowl. This is the second consecutive Pro Bowl selection for Kuechly and the first for Olsen.

Kuechly, in his third NFL season, started every game in 2014 for the Panthers' 10th-ranked defense. The 2012 Defensive Rookie of the Year and 2013 Defensive Player of the Year, Kuechly led the Panthers with 166 tackles and had a career-high 12 passes defensed. He added a career-high 3.0 sacks, an interception, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery. He posted nine games with double-digit tackles.

"It's always an honor to be recognized by fellow players, coaches and fans. I don't take this for granted," Kuechly said. "A lot of the credit goes to my teammates, coaches and Carolina Panthers organization. Without those guys this wouldn't be possible."

Among tight ends, Olsen finished third in the NFL with 84 receptions and second with 1,008 yards. Both marks are Panthers tight end records, surpassing his own team records of 843 yards (2012) and 73 catches (2013). He also added six receiving touchdowns. Olsen, in his eighth NFL season and fourth with the Panthers, is the only active NFL tight end with five or more touchdowns in every season since 2008. He started every game this season and totaled three 100-yard games, tied for the most by a tight end (Rob Gronkowski).

"It's a tremendous honor to be selected to the Pro Bowl and be recognized by your peers, the coaches and the fans," Olsen said. "It's something that every player thinks about at one point in time.

Olsen and Kuechly were pitted against each other after being selected to opposite teams during the Pro Bowl Draft. Kuechly was selected by Team Michael Irvin and Olsen was selected by team Cris Carter.

The 2015 Pro Bowl, played Sunday, January 25, 2015, from University of Phoenix Stadium in Glendale, Arizona, site of Super Bowl XLIX, ended with Team Irvin earning a 32-28 victory.

In the victory, Olsen finished with three catches for 52 yards and two touchdowns. Kuechly posted seven tackles.

"It's been a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity," said Olsen. "It's been amazing."

On Team Carter's first drive of the game, Olsen got behind Baltimore Ravens linebacker Elvis Dumervil and caught a 17-yard pass from Indianapolis Colts quarterback Andrew Luck in the corner of the end zone.

Olsen notched his second touchdown early in the third quarter when he reeled in a 10-yard back-shoulder pass from New Orleans Saints quarterback Drew Brees. The pass was initially ruled incomplete, but a replay challenge showed that Olsen, who was battling Cleveland Browns cornerback Joe Haden, got both feet inbounds.

"I was very fortunate that I was chosen to be here," Olsen said. "The entire week has just been a dream come true."

Tight end Greg Olsen scored two touchdowns in his first career Pro Bowl.

WOFFORD'S BERSIN MAKES HISTORY

Brenton Bersin

In 2014, wide receiver Brenton Bersin, a Charlotte, N.C. native, joined Panthers owner Jerry Richardson as the only players in Wofford College history to make an NFL regular season roster.

Richardson played his final NFL contest in 1960, and Bersin ended a nearly 54-year drought for the school.

Bersin played in 15 games, earning his first career start in Week Eight vs. Seattle (10/26/14). Bersin finished the season with 13 catches for 151 yards and a touchdown and added 14 punt returns for 86 yards and seven kickoff returns for 167 yards. His 49-yard kickoff return vs. Seattle (10/26/14) was the longest for the Panthers since Kealoha Pilares' 76-yard return at Indianapolis (11/27/11).

Jerry Richardson at Wofford

Bersin's 1-yard touchdown reception in Week Seven at Green Bay (10/19/14) is the first touchdown catch by a player from Wofford since Richardson had a touchdown as a member of the Baltimore Colts at Dallas (10/30/60).

As a junior at Wofford in 2010, Bersin's nine touchdown catches tied the Wofford single-season record set by Richardson in 1958.

Bersin, played four seasons at Wofford (2008-11), the 1,600-student school in Spartanburg, S.C., that has hosted the Panthers training camp for each of the team's 20 seasons. In his collegiate career, Bersin played in 46 games with 33 starts and totaled 77 catches for 1,567 yards and 15 touchdowns.

Bersin was a member of the Panthers practice squad in 2013 and attended training camp with the team as a rookie in 2012.
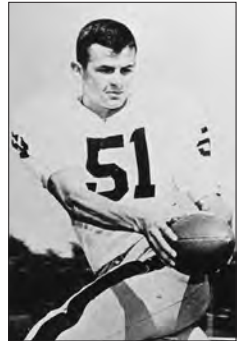

WILKS AT HOME IN CHARLOTTE

Steven Wilks

Assistant head coach/secondary coach Steve Wilks connections to the Carolinas run deep. When Wilks was hired by the Panthers prior to the 2012 season, it was a homecoming for the Charlotte native.

In the 1980s Wilks starred at quarterback for West Charlotte and played collegiately at Appalachian State before spending one season with the Charlotte Rage of the Arena Football League in 1993. He began his coaching career at Johnson C. Smith University in 1995.

Following 11 years coaching on the college level, Wilks entered the NFL coaching ranks in 2006 when he joined Panthers head coach Ron Rivera in Chicago. With Rivera serving as defensive coordinator and Wilks leading the Bears secondary, Chicago won the NFC Championship and advanced to Super Bowl XLI. The two reunited in 2010 in San Diego, helping the Chargers lead the NFL in total defense and pass defense.

Wilks (9) played quarterback at West Charlotte.

Wilks has been an important part of the Panthers coaching staff. In 2014, Wilks' secondary helped the Panthers rank 10th in the NFL in total defense, the third consecutive season the team has ranked in the top 10. In 2013, he directed a unit that helped the Panthers finish second in the NFL in total defense and sixth in passing defense.

CANADIAN CONNECTION

David Foucault

French-Canadian offensive tackle David Foucault (FOO-coe), the fifth overall selection in the 2014 Canadian Football League Draft by the Montreal Alouettes, played five games for the Panthers in 2014 after making the team's 53-man roster following the preseason. He earned his first career start in Week Nine vs. New Orleans (10/30/14).

The 6-foot-8-inch, 305-pound lineman was one of two rookies from Canadian colleges to make NFL active rosters, joining offensive guard Laurent Duvernay-Tardif of McGill University who was a sixth-round pick of the Kansas City Chiefs. He joined the Panthers as a free agent after participating in the team's rookie minicamp in May on a tryout basis.

Foucault is the first player from the University of Montreal to make an NFL roster. He played four seasons for the Carabins, moving to the offensive line in 2011 after starting on the defensive line in 2010. Foucault played in the 2013 CIS (Canadian Interuniversity Sport) East-West Bowl after helping the team average 6.0 yards per rush. In 2012, he opened holes in for the conference's leading rusher.

A FAMILIAR FACE
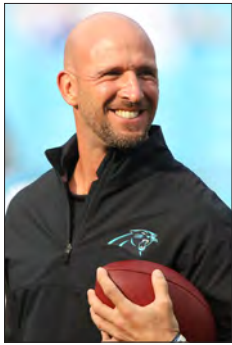

Ricky Proehl

Ricky Proehl spent 17 seasons as an NFL player, including three with the Carolina Panthers from 2003-05. In 2014, Proehl is in his fifth season as a member of the coaching staff, serving as wide receivers coach for the third consecutive season.

In his career, Proehl played in 244 games with 110 starts for Phoenix/Arizona, St. Louis, Seattle, Chicago, Carolina and Indianapolis. Proehl was a member of four Super Bowl teams, including championship teams with the Rams and Colts. He finished his career with 669 catches for 8,878 yards and 54 touchdowns.

Proehl caught a touchdown from 16 different players, second-most in NFL history behind Irving Fryar (19).

In three seasons with the Panthers, Proehl tallied 86 catches for 1,327 yards and eight touchdowns and was a member of two playoff teams. He is responsible for one of the most well-known plays in franchise history when in the 2003 season opener vs. Jacksonville, his first game with Carolina, Proehl caught a 12-yard touchdown on fourth down with 16 seconds left to cap a come-from-behind win and propel the Panthers on their Super Bowl run.

BOYKIN BACK HOME

David Foucault

Jarrett Boykin returned to his hometown this offseason when he signed with the Panthers. The fourth-year wide receiver played his high school football at Butler in Matthews, N.C., just outside Charlotte, earning first-team All-State honors as a senior.

Boykin's best professional season came in 2013 when he posted career highs in receptions with 49, receiving yards with 681 and receiving touchdowns with three. He broke out in the final 11 games of that season, racking up 48 catches, 638 yards and three touchdowns in that time.

Boykin is one of three wide receivers from the Charlotte area on the Panthers roster, joining Brenton Bersin (Charlotte Latin HS) and Avius Capers (Independence HS). Capers also played collegiately at Johnson C. Smith in Charlotte.

A DECEMBER TO REMEMBER

The month of December was critical to the Panthers' success in 2014. The Panthers entered the month with a 3-8-1 record, but earned a 4-0 record in the season's final four weeks to finish 7-8-1 and win the NFC South Division. Carolina is the first team in history to win the NFC South in consecutive years.

December has historically been strong for the Panthers under head coach Ron Rivera as his 15-3 record in the month is tied for best in the NFL since 2011.

In 2014, the Panthers started eight different offensive line combinations in the regular season. The Panthers were one of five teams to start at least that many combinations, joining Indianapolis (11), Chicago (8), New England (8) and San Francisco (8).

In one stretch from Week Six at Cincinnati (10/12/14) to Week Thirteen at Minnesota (11/30/14), the Panthers started seven different offensive lines in seven games (the Panthers had a bye week in Week Twelve). Only center Ryan Kalil started all 16 games along the line in 2014.

The consistency helped improve the offense as the Panthers rushing for an NFL-leading 975 yards in the season's final five weeks. The Panthers finished with a 4-1 record in those games.

In the season's final five weeks, the Panthers saw a significant rise in offensive rankings, improving in yards per game, rush yards per game, yards per carry, third down efficiency, and points per game.

WEGHER PRODUCING IN PRESEASON

Undrafted rookie running back Brandon Wegher has scored three times in two games for the Panthers this preseason. Wegher's three total touchdowns are the most by any player in the preseason.

Wegher, who will be featured on the second season of NFL Network's "Undrafted" series as he seeks to make a 53-man roster, rushed for touchdowns of four and nine yards vs. Miami (8/22/15) after scoring on a 42-yard catch and run at Buffalo (8/14/15).

Wegher played his final two seasons at Morningside College after playing for the University of Iowa as a freshman in 2009. He holds Morningside career records with 3,815 rushing yards, 52 total touchdowns and 48 rushing touchdowns.

Last season, as a senior, Wegher set National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) single-season records with 2,610 rushing yards on 327 attempts, 43 total touchdowns, 39 rushing touchdowns and 8.0 yards per rushing attempt (minimum of 250 carries). He is the only player in NFL history to start a career with four consecutive seasons with 3,000 or more passing yards and 500 or more rushing yards. times. Cam Newton	16,997	14,426	2,571

Newton is the first player in NFL history to have 10,000 passing and 2,000 rushing yards in his first four seasons.

Newton's 539 rushing yards marked his fourth consecutive season of at least 500 rushing yards. Newton joined Randall Cunningham and Michael Vick (six each) as the only quarterbacks with four or more 500-yard rushing seasons in a career.

Newton's best day running the ball came in Week Six at Cincinnati (10/12/14) when he rushed a career-high 17 times for 107 yards. The 107 rushing yards at Cincinnati were the second-most of Newton's career behind the 117 he had vs. Atlanta (12/9/12). Newton added a season-high 284 passing yards vs. Cincinnati.

In addition to his rushing touchdown at Cincinnati, Newton added two passing touchdowns. Newton is the only quarterback in NFL history to pass for at least 250 yds with two touchdowns and rush for at least 100 yards with a touchdown in a game. He has accomplished the feat twice: at Cincinnati (10/12/14) and vs. Atlanta (12/9/12).

Newton produced another memorable game in Week Fourteen at New Orleans (12/7/14), passing for 226 yards and three touchdowns and rushing for 83 yards and a touchdown as the Panthers gained 497 total net yards, including 271 rushing yards. Both marks are the third-highest in team history.

Newton has four career games with at least 200 passing yards, multiple touchdown passes, at least 80 rushing yards and a touchdown run. His four such games are the most in NFL history. Only two other players have accomplished the feat multiple times: Michael Vick (two) and Russell Wilson (two).

Newton has produced 115 total touchdowns (82-pass, 33-rush), tied for sixth-most in NFL history through a player's first 62 games. Newton has 24 career games with a passing touchdown and a touchdown run.

NEWTON RUSHES INTO THE END ZONE

Quarterback Cam Newton has made a habit of finding the end zone with his legs as his 33 rushing touchdowns are the most by a quarterback through his first four seasons in NFL history.

Newton's 33 career rushing touchdowns are tied for 10th-most all-time among quarterbacks with John Elway (16 seasons), Otto Graham (six seasons) and Y.A. Tittle (15 seasons).

Newton scored a team-leading 14 rushing touchdowns in 2011, the most-ever by a quarterback in NFL history, surpassing the previous mark of 12 by Grogan in 1976.

Since he entered the NFL in 2011, only three running backs have more rushing touchdowns than Newton.

In Week Ten at Philadelphia (11/10/14), Olsen set a career high with 119 receiving yards. It marked his second 100-yard receiving game this season after tallying 105 yards in Week Seven at Green Bay (10/19/14).

In Week Five vs. Chicago (10/5/14), Olsen caught six passes for 72 yards and two touchdowns, marking the third multi-touchdown game of his career. He last scored twice vs. Denver (11/11/12).

OLSEN LEADS THE WAY AT TIGHT END

In 2014, tight end Greg Olsen totaled 1,008 receiving yards and 84 receptions, new Panthers tight end records, surpassing his own team records of 843 yards (2012) and 73 catches (2013).

He twice produced a career-best and Panthers tight end record-tying 10 catches. The performances came in back-to-back weeks – Week Fourteen at New Orleans (12/7/14) and Week Fifteen vs. Tampa Bay (12/14/14). Olsen's 20 receptions are the second-most in a two-game span in Panthers history behind Muhsin Muhammad's 21 over two games in 2000.

Olsen's six touchdown catches this season make him the only active NFL tight end with five or more touchdowns in every season since 2008.

Olsen owns the top three single-season reception totals and three of the top four single-season receiving yards totals by a tight end in team history.

Since entering the NFL in 2007, Olsen ranks among the top 10 players at his position in receptions (fourth – 465), receiving yards (fifth – 5,188) and receiving touchdowns (seventh – 42).

OLSEN A CONSISTENT PRESENCE
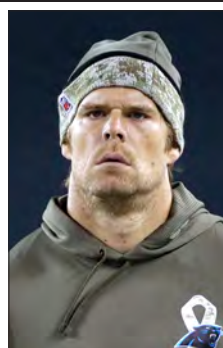

Greg Olsen

Tight end Greg Olsen has been a consistent presence in NFL lineups since his rookie year in 2007. Olsen has played in 126 consecutive regular season games, the second-longest streak among active tight ends behind Dallas' Jason Witten (187).

A first-round choice (31st overall) by Chicago in 2007, Olsen missed the first two games of that season with a knee injury sustained in the preseason. He made his NFL debut vs. Dallas (9/23/07) and has not missed a game since.

Derek Anderson

Quarterback Derek Anderson was called upon in Week One at Tampa Bay (9/7/14) to start for Cam Newton who missed the game with injured ribs.

The start was Anderson's first since 2010 when he led the Arizona Cardinals against the St. Louis Rams (12/5/10). The win was the first for Anderson as a starter since he led the Cardinals to victory against Oakland (9/26/10).

Anderson completed 24-of-34 passes (70.6 percent) for 230 yards and two touchdowns with no interceptions to post a 108.7 passer rating, the sixth-best of his career as a starter. His 70.6 completion percentage was the fourth-best mark of his career as a starter.

Anderson again filled in for Newton in Week Fifteen vs. Tampa Bay (12/14/14), after Newton missed the game with a back injury suffered in a car accident. Anderson led the Panthers to a 19-17 victory by completing 25-of-40 passes for 277 yards and one touchdown. The 91.4 passer rating is the 10th-best of Anderson's career as a starter.

In his two games as a starter in 2014, Anderson produced a 99.3 passer rating, completing 49-of-74 passes for 507 yards and three touchdowns.

WEBB PLAYING WELL IN PRESEASON

Joe Webb

Panthers quarterback Joe Webb is the team's leading passer in the preseason, tallying a 106.0 passer rating. In addition, Webb is seeing action on special teams as well.

Webb has led the Panthers to two one-point victories in the first two weeks of the pre-season. He has completed 20-of-32 passes for 238 yards and two touchdowns without an interception in the preseason.

At Buffalo (8/14/15), Webb led the Panthers on a 91-yard touchdown drive on the team's final possession to earn a 25-24 victory. On the drive, Webb rushed for eight yards and completed all four of his pass attempts, including a 42-yard touchdown completion to running back Brandon Wegher. After the touchdown, Webb connected with wide receiver Paul Browning on a two-point conversion to seal the victory.

Versus Miami (8/22/15), Webb led the Panthers to three touch-down drives in the second half to secure a 31-30 victory. For the game, Webb completed 12-of-17 passes for 131 yards and one touchdown to produce a 112.6 passer rating.

Last season, in his first season with Carolina, Webb played in seven games, serving as a backup quarterback and seeing action at wide receiver and on special teams. In Week Seventeen at Atlanta (12/28/14), Webb made a touchdown-saving tackle on a 66-yard kickoff return by Devin Hester.

BROWN ENDS PR-TD DROUGHT

Corey Brown

Wide receiver Corey Brown's 79-yard punt return for a touchdown in the first quarter of the Week Five matchup vs. Chicago (10/5/14) was the Panthers first punt return touchdown in the regular sea-son since Steve Smith's 53-yarder at the New York Giants (12/28/03), an NFL-worst drought of 164 games.

The return happened in odd fashion as Brown was interfered with before he fielded the punt and he, along with the ball, fell to the ground. But Brown got up and found the loose ball. He then ran 79 yards down the sideline for a touchdown to give Carolina a 7-0 lead.

The 79-yard return is the third-longest punt return in Panthers history.

Brown played in 13 games with three starts in 2014, contributing on offense in addition to special teams. His 14.1-yard per catch average led the team as he totaled 21 catches for 296 yards and two touchdowns. Brown also rushed eight times for 98 yards. He was one of a franchise-record seven rookies to start in Week Sixteen vs. Cleveland (12/21/14).

OLSEN & BENJAMIN GO FOR 1,000

Wide receiver Kelvin Benjamin and tight end Greg Olsen finished the 2014 regular season tied for the team lead with 1,008 receiv-ing yards, becoming the first pair of Panthers to each gain 1,000 receiving yards in a single season since Muhsin Muhammad and Patrick Jeffers in 1999.

That season, Muhammad finished with 1,253 yards and Jeffers had 1,082.

Olsen and Benjamin are the fifth and sixth players to reach 1,000 yards in a season for Carolina, joining Steve Smith, Muhsin Muhammad, Patrick Jeffers, Raghib Ismail and Mark Carrier.

COTCHERY RETURNS TO CAROLINAS

Receiver Jerricho Cotchery returned to North Carolina last season signing with the Panthers. A former record-setting receiver at NC State University, Cotchery joined the Panthers after three sea-sons (2011-13) with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

In 2014, Cotchery ranked third on the team with 48 catches, 580 yards. He added his only touchdown catch of the season in Week Fifteen vs. Tampa Bay (12/14/14).

In 2013, Cotchery led the Steelers with a career-high 10 touch-downs, all of which came in the red zone, including eight in the last nine games. His 10 touchdowns tied for 10th in the NFL. Cotchery finished the season with 46 catches for 602 yards and tied for fourth in the NFL with 78.3 percent of his receptions resulting in first downs.

Cotchery began his career with the New York Jets, playing seven seasons (2004-10) with the team. He posted back-to-back sea-sons of 82 catches in 2006 and 2007 with the Jets, tallying more than 1,000 receiving yards in 2007.

Jerricho Cotchery's two-yard touchdown catch put the Panthers ahead for good in the team's victory in Week Fifteen vs. Tampa Bay (12/14/14).

DEFENSE IN TOP 10 FOR THIRD YEAR IN A ROW

Carolina's defense ranked 10th in the NFL in 2014, becoming one of three teams to field a top 10 defense in each of the last three seasons (2012-14). San Francisco and Seattle have also had top 10 defenses each of the last three seasons.

Despite ranking as low as 27th in total defense, 28th in rushing defense and 26th in passing defense at different points in the season, the unit's performance down the stretch helped the Panthers finish the season ranked 10th in the NFL in total defense (339.8), 16th in rushing defense (112.0) and 11th in passing defense (227.8).

The Panthers' improved defense down the stretch was instrumental in the team's four-game winning streak to end the regular season. In the season's final four weeks, Carolina ranked fifth in total defense, 11th in rush defense, sixth in pass defense and second in points allowed over the final four weeks of season.

PANTHERS DEFENSE SETS NFL PLAYOFF RECORD

The Carolina Panthers held the Arizona Cardinals to an NFL post-season record 78 total yards in the Wildcard Playoffs (1/3/15), breaking a 56-year old record of 86 yards by the New York Giants against the Cleveland Browns in 1958.

The 78 total net yards allowed are the lowest in any game, including the regular season, since the San Diego Chargers limited the Kansas City Chiefs to 67 yards on December 12, 2010. Panthers head coach Ron Rivera was the Chargers' defensive coordinator at the time.

The Panthers broke a 56-year old record for fewest total net yards allowed in a postseason game with the performance in the NFC Wildcard game vs. Arizona (1/3/15).

EALY EARNS PFWA ALL-ROOKIE HONORS

Defensive end Kony Ealy, a second-round draft choice (60th overall) in 2014 from Missouri, was named the Professional Football Writers of America All-Rookie team.

Ealy played in 15 games for Carolina and finished the season with 12 tackles, 4.0 sacks (tied for third on the team), nine quarterback pressures and one forced fumble.

Ealy played his best down the stretch as he tallied a sack in each of the final three games of the regular season. His forced fumble came on a strip-sack in Week Fifteen vs. Tampa Bay

Kony Ealy sacks quarterback Bryan Hoyer in Week Sixteen vs. Cleveland (12/21/14).

KUECHLY & DAVIS A FORMIDABLE DUO

Luke Kuechly and Thomas Davis have earned the reputation as one of the best linebacker duos in football from coaches, players and media members and their play in 2014 backed that up.

Kuechly and Davis were among the defensive league leaders based on statistics compiled by the football analytics website, Football Outsiders. The site ranked players by their total number of "Defeats" — a total of all tackles for a loss, including sacks; any tackle or pass defensed to prevent a conversion on third or fourth down; any turnover or a batted pass that leads to an interception.

Kuechly and Davis were two of just 16 players in the NFL with at least 24 "Defeats," one of two sets of teammates on the list (Detroit had three players), and the only pair of linebackers on the list.

KUECHLY IS A TACKLING MACHINE

Based on press box statistics, linebacker Luke Kuechly led the NFL in tackles for the second time in three seasons, recording 153 in 2014. He totaled six double-digit tackle games and narrowly led Detroit's DeAndre Levy who was credited with 151. His performance earned him a Pro Bowl selection and Associated Press All-Pro honors for the second consecutive season.

Kuechly also led the NFL in tackles in 2012, becoming the first rookie since San Francisco's Patrick Willis in 2007 to lead the NFL in tackles. He finished fourth in 2013 with 156.

Since entering the NFL in 2012, press box crews have credited Kuechly with 473 tackles, the most in the NFL.

Kuechly is just the second player to win Defensive Player of the Year and Defensive Rookie of the Year in his first two seasons. New York Giants linebacker Lawrence Taylor won both awards as a rookie in 1981 and repeated as Defensive Player of the Year in 1982 (and later in 1986).

Kuechly is one of eight players in NFL history to win Defensive Rookie of the Year and Defensive Player of the Year in a career.

YOUNG SECONDARY STEPS UP

Young players became a hallmark of the Panthers secondary near the end of the 2014 season as nine-year NFL veteran Roman Harper was joined by rookie safety Tre Boston, rookie cornerback Bené Benwikere and third-year cornerback Josh Norman.

Norman started 10 games in 2014 and ranked second on the team with 11 passes defensed behind Luke Kuechly's 12. He finished tied for second on the team with two interceptions.

Benwikere began the season as the Panthers nickel corner, but was moved outside and become the starting corner oppostite Norman in the final four games. Despite missing six games due to an ankle sprain, Benwikere contributed seven passes defensed and an interception on the year.

Boston started at safety the final four games as well and paired nicely with Harper, tallying a game-high and team-high nine tackles in Week Fifteen vs. Tampa Bay (12/14/14).

The young group helped the Panthers rank sixth in pass defense over the final four weeks of the season.

SAFETY ZONE

Roman Harper

Safety Roman Harper joined the Panthers from the New Orleans before 2014 and started all 16 games for the Panthers last season.

Harper totaled 57 tackles, eight passes defensed and a career-high four interceptions, including one returned for a touchdown. It marks the third time in his nine-year career that he has posted multiple interceptions (2007 – 3; 2012 – 2).

Since 2006, Harper is the only defensive back in the NFL with 15 or more sacks (18), 15 or more forced fumbles (15) and 10 or more interceptions (11).

In Week Seventeen at Atlanta (12/28/14), Harper intercepted a Matt Ryan pass and returned it 31 yards for a touchdown, marking the second time in Harper's career he returned an interception for a touchdown. His first came in 2007 as a member of the Saints at Atlanta (12/10/07).

In Week Fourteen at New Orleans (12/7/14), Harper tied his career high with three passes defensed.

LOTULELEI & SHORT ARE STRONG IN MIDDLE

Young defensive tackles Star Lotulelei and Kawann Short have emerged as mainstays in the middle of the Panthers' defensive line.

The linemates, drafted in consecutive rounds in 2013 – Lotulelei in the first (14th overall) and Short in the second (44th) – have played 30 of a possible 32 regular games for the Panthers in the last two seasons with the only two games missed due to an ankle injury suffered by Lotulelei in 2014.

Short emerged as a starter in 2014, opening the final nine games of the season and tallying 3.5 sacks and 12 quarterback hurries.

Despite dealing with an injury, Lotulelei started 13 of 14 games played and compiled two sacks and seven quarterback pressures. The two sacks came in Week Seventeen at Atlanta (12/28/14), marking a single-game career high and contributing to a season high six sacks for the team.

Second-year defensive linemen Star Lotulelei (98) and Kawann Short (99) have emerged as the Panthers defensive tackle duo.

HARPER EARNS NFC PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Safety Roman Harper was named NFC Defensive Player of the Week for his performance in the Panthers 34-3 victory over Atlanta in Week Seventeen (12/28/14).

Harper had six tackles and a 31-yard interception-return touchdown. With the victory, Carolina won the NFC South for the second consecutive season.

With the Panthers leading 10-3 in the second quarter, Harper extended the team's advantage by picking off a pass and returning it 31 yards for a touchdown to give Carolina a 17-3 lead with 4:18 remaining in the first half.

Harper was part of a defensive unit that limited the Falcons to three points and 288 total net yards. Carolina's secondary recorded two interception-return touchdowns as Harper (31 yards) and rookie Tre Boston (84) each scored for the Panthers. It marked the first time in franchise history the team returned two interceptions for touchdowns in a game.

In his ninth year from Alabama, this is Harper's third career Player of the Week Award and first with the Panthers. He previously was honored in Weeks Two and Ten in 2011 with the New Orleans Saints.

Harper is the third safety in franchise history to be named Defensive Player of the Week, joining Pat Terrell (Week 11, 1996) and Deon Grant (Week 3, 2002).

Panthers safety Roman Harper celebrates after his 31-yard interception return at Atlanta (12/28/14). The return gave the Panthers a 17-3 lead.
