SILVER AND BLACK IN PRIMETIME

- The Raiders will appear in three primetime games this season, including two of which will be played at home in Allegiant Stadium. The Silver and Black will close the NFL's first weekend of football in 2021 on Monday Night Football against the Balti-more Ravens. The team is also slotted to face the Los Angeles Chargers in the ESPN primetime slot just three weeks later in Week 4 at SoFi Stadium. The team will conclude its prainting slate against the division-rival Kansas City Chiefs in Week 10 on Sunday Night Football.
- This will mark the Raiders' 72nd and 73rd contest on Monday Night Football and sixth consecutive year with the contest. This marks the third time in four years the Raiders open the season in Week 1 on Monday Night Football. The Silver and Black took last year's Monday Night Football contest against the New Orleans Saints, which marked their first game in Allegiant Stadium.
- The Raiders hold a 41-29-1 all-time record in Monday Night Football contests.
- The Raiders will appear on Sunday Night Football once in 2021, marking the second consecutive year in the primetime slot against the Chiefs.
- Since 1978, the Raiders hold a 19-21 all-time record in Sunday night contests, and a 1-5 record against the Chiefs on Sunday Night Football.
- The Raiders will be without a Thursday Night Football contest in 2021, and instead will face the Dallas Cowboys on Thanksgiving Day.
- The Raiders hold a 11-12 record on Thursday with a 3-4 record on Thanksgiving Days. On Thanksgiving against the Cowboys, the Raiders are 0-2.

JON GRUDEN

Jon Gruden returned as head coach of the Raiders on Jan. 9, 2018, welcoming back one of the most respected and successful coaches in the storied history of the Silver and Black. Gruden, who was first introduced as head coach of the Raiders over 20 years ago, served four seasons with the Raiders from 1998-2001.

In his third season back with the Raiders and the franchises' inaugural campaign in Las Vegas, Gruden guided the Silver and Black to an 8-8 record that included a 6-2 mark on the road. The road victory total was the most for a Raiders team since 2016 and just the fourth time in 40 years that a Raiders squad has produced that many wins on the road. Under Gruden's tutelage, Carr set a career high with 4,103 passing yards and became the first Raiders quarterback to pass for 4,000 yards in three straight seasons, all coming under Gruden's tutelage.

In addition, tight end Daren Waller broke the franchise single-season mark with 107 receptions and running back Josh Jacobs rushed for 1,065 yards to become the first Raider to eclipse the 1,000-yard mark in each of his first two seasons. Both Waller and Jacobs were rewarded with Pro Bowl bids.

The youngest head coach in the NFL at age 34 upon his initial hire by Raiders Ówner Al Davis in 1998, Gruden posted a 38-26 record (.594) and led the Silver and Black to back-to-back AFC West titles in 2000 and 2001. He guided the Raiders to an AFC Championship Game appearance in 2000, a campaign in which the Raiders set a franchise record with 479 points and led the NFL in rushing (154.4 avg.).

In all, Gruden-led teams have claimed five division championships and have recorded six seasons with nine-or-more wins. As a head coach, he has seen 22 different players combine for 40 Pro Bowl selections. In addition, Rich Gannon was tabbed for the Maxwell Club's Bert Bell Award as the league's Most Valuable Player in 2000 and four players who Gruden tutored as a head coach have been enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame: Jerry Rice (2010), Warren Sapp (2013), Derrick Brooks (2014) and Tim Brown (2015).

Gruden spent seven seasons as head coach of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, finishing his time there as the winningest coach in franchise history by compiling a 57-55 (.509) regular-season record, while leading the Buccaneers to three division titles and a 3-2 mark in the postseason, including a Super Bowl XXXVII victory, becoming the youngest head coach in NFL history to win a Super Bowl.

Prior to beginning his initial tenure in Oakland, Gruden was a seven-year NFL assistant, helping his teams qualify for the playoffs five times. Gruden spent three seasons (1995-97) as offensive coordinator for the Philadelphia Eagles. He was the NFL's youngest offensive coordinator at age 31

Before joining Philadelphia, Gruden worked for three years at Green Bay from 1992-94. He served as an offensive assistant to head coach Mike Holmgren in 1992 and spent the 1993 and 1994 seasons as Green Bay's wide receivers coach. Gruden worked as offensive assistant to head coach George Seifert with the San Francisco 49ers in 1990.

Born August 17, 1963 in Sandusky, Ohio, Gruden attended South Bend (Ind.) Clay High School and was a three-year letterman at quarterback at the University of Dayton, graduating in 1985 with a degree in communications. Gruden and his wife, Cindy, a former University of Tennessee cheerleader, have three sons, Deuce, who is in his fourth season as an assistant strength and conditioning coach for the Silver and Black, Michael and Jayson.

JOHN HARBAUGH

Super Bowl-winning head coach John Harbaugh – the 2019 NFL Coach of the Year - has led the Ravens to a playoff berth in nine (2008-12, 2014 & 2018-20) of his 13 seasons in Baltimore, and in 2012, captured the franchise's second World Championship.

Since his 2008 Baltimore arrival, the Ravens have posted the NFL's fifthmost total victories (140).

Under Harbaugh, Baltimore is one of four teams (NE, GB & Sea.) to earn the playoffs in nine of the past 13 seasons. The Ravens are also one of four teams (KC, Sea. & NO) to make the postseason in each of the past three seasons (2018-20).

Harbaugh's 11 playoff victories rank as the fourth most by a head coach in the first 13 seasons of an NFL coaching career (Joe Gibbs - 16, Bill Belichick – 15 & Chuck Noll – 14). Harbaugh also owns the most road playoff wins (eight) by a head coach in NFL history. The Ravens' 11 playoff wins since 2008 tie (GB) for the NFL's second most (New England, 16). Of those Ravens' victories, an NFL-best eight have come on the road.

Under Harbaugh's guidance, the Ravens have appeared in three AFC Championship games (2008, 2011, 2012) and have won at least one playoff game in seven of their nine postseasons with him as head coach. Harbaugh has led the Ravens to 129 regular season wins since 2008, ranking as the NFL's fifth most.

Harbaugh is the only head coach in NFL history (since 1970 merger) to win a playoff game in each of his first four and five seasons. He is also the only head coach in NFL history to win a playoff game six of the first seven seasons of a coaching career. Harbaugh is one of 10 coaches to earn at least nine playoff berths in his first 13 seasons.

With Harbaugh, the Ravens have a 77-27 mark at M&T Bank Stadium over the past 13 seasons, ranking as the NFL's third-best home record during that span (2008-20).

Harbaugh has led the Ravens to four AFC North Division titles (2011-12, 2018-19). John and his younger brother, Jim (2011, 2012 and 2013), the former 49ers' head coach, are the only NFL head coaches to reach three conference championships in the first five seasons of a coaching career.

Prior to Baltimore, Harbaugh spent 10 seasons as an assistant coach with the Philadelphia Eagles, where his special teams units were consistently ranked among the NFL's best.

Before entering the NFL ranks, Harbaugh had a two-year stint (1995-96) as the assistant head coach at the University of Cincinnati. While at Cincinnati (1989-95), Harbaugh coached special teams, tight ends, outside linebackers, running backs and was the recruiting coordinator. He coached 10 years on offense and four on defense at the collegiate level, launching his coaching career in 1984 at age 21 as a graduate assistant for his father at Western Michigan. In his second position at the University of Pittsburgh (1987), he was mentored by the legendary Sid Gillman, a Pro Football Hall of Famer.

Born September 23, 1962 in Perrysburg, Ohio, Harbaugh attended Pioneer (Ann Arbor, MI) High School and played defensive back at Miami (OH) before earning his master's in physical education at Western Michigan. Harbaugh and his wifr, Ingrid, have a daughter, Alison, who is a sophomore lacrosse player at Notre Dame.

COMMITTMENT TO EXCELLENCE

The Raiders - who began play in the American Football League in 1960 – finished their 62nd year of professional football competition, including the last 50 as a member of the National Football League.

In six memorable decades — the 1960s, '70s, '80s, '90s, 2000s and 2010s - the Raiders have been dominant in professional football since Al Davis first pledged in 1963 to build the finest organization in pro sports.

During these decades of dominance, the Raiders have won an AFL championship, four American Football Conference championships, and three world championships of professional football, participated in five Super Bowls, played in 14 championship games, won or tied for 17 division championships, had 22 playoff seasons, finished 36 seasons at .500 or better and played in 44 postseason games.

Pro football's dynamic organization placed first in the AFC West in 2000, 2001 and 2002 despite playing among the toughest schedules in the NFL in each of those seasons. With their appearance in Super Bowl XXXVII, the Raiders became the first NFL team to have had a season end in the Super Bowl in four different decades.

The Raiders are the only team to have been in Super Bowls in the '60s, the '70s, the '80s and the 2000s.

The Silver and Black are the only AFC team — and one of just two NFL teams (Minnesota) - to have a season that advanced to the conference championship game in the '60s, the '70s, the '80s, the '90s and the 2000s.

The Raiders are one of only three original AFL teams to have captured three world championships of professional football with Super Bowl victories. The Raiders are one of only five AFC teams to have won more than one Super Bowl since

In their five Super Bowl appearances, the Raiders have been led by four head coaches and started four quarterbacks.

With four postseason victories, the Raiders were the first of the AFC West teams to win multiple postseason contests in the new millennium by six years.

Since 1963, when Al Davis first took over the failing Oakland franchise that had struggled to win only nine of 42 league games in the initial three seasons of the new AFL and pledged to build the finest organization in sports, the Raiders have dominated professional football in terms of consistent victory. During the memorable 61 years in Oakland, Los Angeles and now Las Vegas, the Raiders won 481 league games, tied 11 and lost 440.

'Commitment to Excellence" has never been an idle phrase to those who have proudly represented the Raiders organization during the '60s, '70s, '80s, '90s and the new millennium as shown by their domination of pro football.

More than 24 of the great players who proudly wore the Silver and Black, as well as Owner-Leader Al Davis, legendary Head Coach John Madden and trailblazer Head Coach Tom Flores have been enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame. The Raiders have also produced six Coaches of the Year.

In addition, 74 Pro Bowl players have earned 206 Pro Bowl selections representing the Silver and Black. In 1970, as the Raiders began their second decade of play, the merger between the AFL and NFL became a reality on the field. In the 1970 through 2012 period of interconference play, the Raiders compiled a remarkable 92-77-1 record against present National Football Conference rivals.

Another innovation came to professional football in 1970 "Monday Night Football." The Raiders' domination of this prime-time television series has seen the Silver and Black build a 41-29-1 record in Monday night play. In the 50 years of this series, the Raiders are 18-9-0 in "Monday Night Football" games at home.

Through the decades — the '60s, '70s, '80s, '90s, 2000s and now the 2010s — the Raiders have had the greatest players, the greatest coaches, the greatest plays and participated in the greatest games in the annals of professional sports.

Challengers to Raider domination of professional football will arise as they have in the '60s, '70s, '80s, '90s and the new millennium. The Raider organization will continue to meet these challenges.

GENERAL MANAGER MIKE MAYOCK

Mike Mayock was named General Manager of the Raiders on Dec. 31, 2018, becoming just the third general manager in Raiders franchise history. Mayock previously served as an Emmy-nominated analyst and draft expert for the NFL Network and handled color commentary duties in the broadcast booth for both college and NFL games before joining the Silver and Black.

Mayock applied his expertise in player evaluation once again in the 2021 early free agency period, addressing needs on defense by signing defensive end Yannick Ngakoue and defensive tackle Solomon Thomas, while adding dynamic playmakers in wide receiver John Brown and running back Kenyan Drake on offense. Mayock and Head Coach Jon Gruden were also able to retain important contributors on the Raiders roster, extending the contracts of tackle Kolton Miller and center Andre James, while re-signing defensive tackle Johnathan Hankins and linebacker Nicholas Morrow.

The 2021 NFL Draft saw the Raiders take a methodical approach that added talent and overall depth to the roster. Headlining the draft haul was Alabama All-American Alex Leatherwood in the first round, a key addition to the offensive line who is expected to start immediately at right tackle for the Silver and Black. The Raiders were then able to execute the first of two draft-day trades, moving up five spots to secure TCU safety Tre'von Moehrig with the 43rd-overall pick, adding a dynamic playmaker to the secondary. Las Vegas continued to stock the defense with back-to-back picks in the third round, selecting pass rusher Malcolm Koonce from Buffalo and linebacker Divine Deablo from Virginia Tech with the No. 79 and No. 80 picks, respectively. Continuing to add athleticism and versatility to the defense, Mayock traded up into the fourth round on the draft's third day to select Missouri safety Tyree Gillespie before nabbing Illinois cornerback Nate Hobbs in the fifth round. Pittsburgh offensive lineman Jimmy Morrissey rounded out the team's selections in the seventh round, concluding a draft in which the Raiders did not pick an offensive skill position player for the first time in franchise history.

Mayock provided his own stamp on the Raiders' roster through free agency in both 2019 and 2020, adding significant talent to increase depth and competition throughout the roster. In 2020, the Raiders signed 12 new unrestricted free agents to address needs on both sides of the ball. The linebacker corps was bolstered with the signings of Nick Kwiatkoski and Cory Littleton, while the additions of future Hall of Fame tight end Jason Witten and quarterback Marcus Mariota provided depth and leadership.

Mayock's second NFL Draft with the Silver and Black in 2020 saw the Raiders add speed, toughness and a desire for competition, identified as key "Raider traits," with seven picks through just four rounds. Roster needs at wide receiver and cornerback were addressed early, as explosive Alabama wide receiver Henry Ruggs III, the fastest player in the draft, and versatile Ohio State cornerback Damon Arnette were taken in the first round. Without a second-round pick, Mayock used two of three third-round selections to nab South Carolina wide receiver Bryan Edwards and Clemson linebacker Tanner Muse. On the draft's third day, Mayock used a second draft-day trade to move up and select Clemson guard John Simpson, the fifth player plucked from "Death Valley" by the Raiders in two years, before rounding out the class by drafting Louisiana Tech cornerback Amik Robertson later in the fourth round.

In his first NFL Draft at the helm, Mayock and Gruden used four picks among the top-40 players selected to assemble a group of "foundational" standouts. The Raiders selected defensive lineman Clelin Ferrell from Clemson with the fourth-overall pick before adding Alabama running back Josh Jacobs and Mississippi State safety Johnathan Abram with late first-round selections. Mayock executed two trades on the draft's second day to move back to the 40th-overall spot, selecting Clemson defensive back Trayvon Mullen and netting additional fourth and fifth-round picks. The Raiders were involved in five draft-day trades in total, trading up in the fifth round to pick Clemson wide receiver Hunter Renfrow, helping complete a draft haul that earned plaudits from around the NFL.

In addition, five rookie free agents who signed with the Silver and Black immediately after the draft spent significant time on the active roster during the 2019 season, including fullback Alec Ingold, who was selected as Pro Bowl alternate, and punter A.J. Cole, who placed 33 punts inside the 20-yard line, tied for the third-most in Raiders history.

The Raiders' 2019 rookie class registered as one of the most immediately impactful in team history, producing the PFWA Offensive Rookie of the Year Award winner in Jacobs, while rookie defensive end Maxx Crosby, a fourth-round selection, finished the year as an AP Defensive Rookie of the Year finalist. As a whole, the 2019 draft class led the NFL in sacks (14.5), touchdowns from scrimmage (17), rushing yards (1,167), rushing touchdowns (seven), rushing first downs (60) and yards after catch (676), while finishing second in receptions (107), receiving yards (1,112) and first-down receptions (62).

Prior to assembling talent for the Raiders, Mayock's NFL Draft analysis had been one of the most respected voices among media, NFL front office personnel and team scouting departments. His expertise featured within the NFL Network's extensive coverage of the NFL Draft, including the show "Path To The Draft," as well as the network's exclusive coverage of the NFL Scouting Combine and the Reese's Senior Bowl.

Outside of the studio, Mayock served as the television analyst for the Philadelphia Eagles' preseason games since 2015. He also served as a game analyst for NFL Network's broadcasts of the Senior Bowl and East-West all-star game, as well as preseason analyst for the Minnesota Vikings for several seasons.

In 2010, Mayock became the color commentator for NBC's coverage of Notre Dame football, teaming with play-by-play announcer Tom Hammond. In January 2011, he teamed with Hammond to call NBC's broadcast of the NFC Wild Card playoff game between the New Orleans Saints and the Seattle Seahawks. The following year, he called an AFC Wild Card contest featuring the Cincinnati Bengals and the Houston Texans.

Mayock teamed with Brad Nessler to call the NFL Network's Thursday Night Football package from 2011-2013.

Prior to joining NFL Network, Mayock served as a college football analyst for ABC Sports (2001-03), Fox Sports Net (2000), and CBS Sports (1996-99). He also covered the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament as a reporter for CBS (1997-99). From 1993-95, Mayock worked on ESPN's coverage of the Canadian Football League.

A 10th-round pick in the 1981 NFL Draft by the Pittsburgh Steelers, Mayock then played for the New York Giants from 1982-83. He is a member of the Boston College Hall of Fame, where he captained both the football and baseball teams. Mayock graduated from Boston College in 1980.

Mayock and his wife Amanda have four children (Leigh, Michael, Mackenzie and Jack).

Pro Bowl Raiders

RB JOSH JACOBS AND TE DARREN WALLER NAMED TO PRO BOWL

Josh Jacobs earned his first selection to the annual All-Star game after becoming the team's all-time rushing leaders through a player's first two seasons (2,215 yards). In 2020, Jacobs ranked third in rushing attempts (273), eighth in rushing yards (1,1065) and tied for fourth in rushing touchdowns (12). The second-year rusher logged at least two touchdowns in four contests this season, including a three-touchdown performance in Week 1, tied for second-most in a single game this season. His three touchdowns tied a single-game franchise record, as he became just the second player in NFL history with at least two rushing touchdowns in Week 1 of both their rookie season and second season. Jacobs became the first running back in the storied history of the Raiders to rush for 1.000 vards in each of his first two seasons. He joined Marcus Allen and Mark van Eeghen as the only running backs in club lore to surpass the 1000-yard mark in multiple seasons.

Darren Waller also earned his first selection to the Pro Bowl after one of the greatest seasons by a player in Raiders lore, breaking Hall of Famer Tim Brown's record for most receptions in a single season by posting 107 in 2020. Waller became just the sixth tight end in league history to surpass 100 catches in a season, as he also posted a career-high 1,196 receiving yards and nine touchdown receptions. Waller hauled in at least five passes in an incredible 13 games this season, finishing fourth overall in the NFL in total catches. He also surpassed 100 receiving yards in five contests, giving him 10 total since the beginning of 2019, the most in the NFL among all tight ends. Among Waller's exceptional highlights this year includes one of the best performances from a tight end in NFL history, as he hauled in 13 passes for 200 yards and two receiving touchdowns in Week 13. Waller joined Hall of Famer Shannon Sharpe (2002) as the only tight ends in league annals to post at least 10 receptions, 200 yards and two touchdowns in a single game. Just two weeks later in Week 15, Waller posted another nine receptions for 150 yards and a touchdown, surpassing the 150-yard barrier for the second time in three games. The only other tight ends to log 150 receiving yards two times in a single season are Sharpe, Hall of Famer Kellen Winslow and Christensen. With 425 receiving yards in the last three weeks, Waller surpassed Sharpe's (1996) and Jimmy Graham's (2013) previous record (413 yards) for most yards by a tight end in a three-game span in NFL history.

FRANCHISE RECORD

In 2019, he cemented himself as the club's all-time passing yards leader, breaking the record held by Hall of Fame QB Ken Stabler since 1979. Carr became just the 15th guarterback in NFL history to surpass 19.000 passing vards in 80 career games or less, as his 19,196 yards ranked 12th through a player's first 80 career contests. A look below shows the club's top-5 passing leaders in franchise history. He surpassed the 20,000-yard barrier in his 84th game and surpassed 25,000 yards in his 104th game, the 12-fewest games to 25,000 yards in NFL history.

THROWING FOR SIX

Carr has enjoyed one of the most prolific starts to a career in NFL history, especially when it comes to finding the end zone. His 53 TDs rank second most by any NFL player through his first two seasons, trailing only Dan Marino (68). And although his 2016 season was cut short due to injury, he continued his stellar start to his career by throwing 28 more TDs in his third season. His 170 TDs are 10th-most in the NFL since 2014.

D-INT RATIO

Among Carr's great talents as a quarterback is his ability to protect the ball and minimize turnovers. Through the first seven years of his career, there have been few to ever do it better than Carr when it comes to touchdown-to-interception ratio.

Carr's 2.43 TD-INT ratio (168/69) is fourth-best in NFL history among QBs with 3,000-or-more attempts. Shown below is the elite company Carr has joined with those numbers:

Rank	Player	Team	Ratio

RECORD STREAK

From midway through the team's Week 5 (2018) contest against the Los Angles Chargers to the opening quarter of their Week 17 matchup with the Kansas City Chiefs, QB Derek Carr did not throw an interception. A span of nearly 12 games and totaling a remarkable 332 pass attempts, Carr broke the previous franchise record set by Rich Gannon in 2001 (277) for most consecutive passes without an interception and etched himself among NFL history.

JOSH JACOBS

With the 24th overall selection in the 2019 NFL Draft, the Raiders selected RB Josh Jacobs to be their bell-cow back out of the University of Alabama. After earning the starting role at the conclusion of his first training camp, Jacobs made his rookie debut on Monday Night Football at home against the Denver Broncos. With 23 carries for 85 yards and two rushing scores, while adding one reception for 28 yards, Jacobs became the first player since RB LaDainian Tomlinson (2001) to tally two rushing TDs and 100 yards from scrimmage in his rookie debut. Jacobs also became the first player in franchise history to score two rushing TDs in his NFL debut. Since then, Jacobs took the NFL by storm, becoming the first rookie in franchise history to earn two NFL Offensive Rookie of the Month honors (October and November), while racking up five 100-yard performances and also breaking RB Marcus Allen's franchise rookie rushing record set in 1982 for total rushing yards and 100-yard contests. Jacobs also became the 21st player in NFL history with 1,000 rushing yards through his first 12 career contests. In Week 1 of 2020, he picked up right where he left off as a rookie, becoming the first player in Raiders history to score three times on the ground in a season opener. Jacobs finished 2020 appearing in a career-high 15 games and setting career highs in rush attempts (273) and touchdowns (12). His 12 scores on the ground are tied for third-most in Raiders single-season history.

DARREN WALLER

In 2018, TE Darren Waller was signed by the Raiders off of the Baltimore Ravens' practice squad. In 2019, Waller led the team in receptions and receiving yards. Waller's receptions (90), receiving yards (1,145), receiving touchdowns (three) and first-down receptions (53) all led the team. Waller broke the club record and led the NFL among his position group with five 100-yard contests. In one of the most historic receiving campaigns in franchise history, Waller earned his first Pro Bowl selection after leading the team in all major receiving categories and setting a new club record with 107 receptions, topping Tim Brown's previous mark of 104 catches in 1997. Waller also posted career highs in receiving yards (1,196) and touchdown receptions (nine). He also tied his own record set in 2019 with five games of at least 100 receiving yards. Waller finished the campaign rattling off three straight games with over 100 receiving yards, becoming only the third Raider to accomplish the feat since the merger: Hall of Famer Tim Brown in 1999, Cliff Branch in 1974 and 1976.

HENRY RUGGS III

Selected with the 11th overall pick in the 2020 NFL Draft, the NFL Combine's fastest man, WR Henry Rugs III was brought to Las Vegas to wear the Silver and Black. Clocking a 4.27 40-yard dash at this past year's combine, Ruggs III posted a time that tied for the sixth-fastest ever recorded during the nationally televised event pre-draft process. Ruggs III was a three-year player who appeared in 41 games during his time with Alabama (2017-19). He finished his career ranked third in program history with 24 receiving touchdowns and tanked sixth in Alabama history with an average of 17.5 yards per catch over his career (minimum of 50 receptions). He totaled 98 receptions for 1,716 yards over his three seasons, adding two rush attempts for 75 yards and a score. Over his rookie season in the NFL, Ruggs III appeared in 13 contests and made 12 starts, missing three games due to injury and COVID-19. Ruggs III compiled 26 receptions for 452 yards for an average of 17.4 yards per reception, while hauling in two touchdown passes, both of which were 45-plus vards. His 452 receiving vards ranked fourth on the team in 2020 and also ranked 13th among all rookies in franchise history. His two touchdown receptions of 40-plus yards tied for first among all rookies last season, while ranking tied for second in club history among all rookies. Ruggs III's four receptions of at least 40 yards ranked tied for 10th in the NFL among all players, while his two scores of 40-plus yards ranked tied for sixth.

Owner Mark Davis

LAS VEGAS REVIEW JOURNAL

Raiders owner Mark Davis is emerging from his father's shadow By Ed Graney May 27, 2020

Raiders owner Mark Davis is used to life in the shadow of his father Al, whose massive legacy is matched by few in the history of professional football.

Slowly but surely, however, Mark is creating one of his own. Even if he doesn't allow himself to see it that way.

"I've always said the least important thing in life is the score at halftime, so I can't be thinking about legacies right now," Davis said. "We're talking about building something."

That process began with his relocation of the Raiders from Oakland to Las Vegas and their spectcular new home that is Allegiant Stadium. It continued when Davis purchased in January the WNBA's Las Vegas Aces.

Al Davis remains, now and forever, the most indelible figure of all things Raiders. He died in 2011, but his presence defines the organization. It happens when you are principal owner and general manager for 39 years.

That 85-foot memorial torch inside Allegiant Stadium might be ceremoniously lit to honor Davis before each home game, but understand that the successful and controversial flame ignited by him when running the Raiders will never really expire.

"Al was a genius and a progressive, but he also had paranoid tendencies," said longtime Bay Area sports columnist Ray Ratto. "His story is told through one of those prisms depending on who is telling it."

Ratto said father and son are alike in one significant regard. "Take me the way I am" is an approach to life they share.

"Maybe that is (Mark's) legacy — don't go out and seek a positive one but that he doesn't want a negative one," Ratto said. "Who does? That makes him closer to the every-man owner than maybe anybody in sports."

One whose arrival to Las Vegas has proven to be a financial bonanza.

A tidy return on investment: The Raiders today are ranked as the world's 29th most valuable sports franchise at an estimated $3.1 billion. In the last five years, that value has jumped some 117 percent. Which brings us to what Las Vegas has done for the Raiders, the most prominent example being that $750 million public contribution toward the building of Allegiant Stadium.

It was never going to happen in Oakland. There was never going to be enough money to raise a new stadium in place of the dilapidated Coliseum. It's why, ultimately, Davis found a new home in Las Vegas.

Time will pass, those from both sides of the stadium dispute between the Raiders and the city of Oakland promise, and the entire narrative as to all that transpired will be told.

Some believe it rather simple: That the reason Davis was initially involved in a potential move to Los Angeles (one the Rams and Chargers now share) and the reason he flirted with San Antonio in trying to create a market was that he long since accepted the realities of Oakland.

The city wasn't going to invest hundreds of millions in public money toward a new venue, so Davis discovered in Las Vegas the largest public subsidy ever earmarked for an NFL stadium.

"For anyone to question his desire to get something done in the Bay Area is both ignorant and uninformed," Raiders president Marc Badain said. "Even up until the time we were negotiating here, he always said (Oakland) had a chance."

Community driven

This might not define a legacy, but it is stuff of legend: During the long and dreary days of a pandemic shut-in, Davis hunkered down at his temporary home — Westgate Las Vegas.

"I was the only person living there," Davis said. "There were like 25 security people there on a daily basis. Other than that, I was the only one. It was like 'The Shining.' Everyone in (Las Vegas) was looking for toilet paper and I had 3,000 rooms' worth."

Believe it. He would have invited the entire city inside if allowed.

Davis will tell you how significant those two years leading up to the official move were in connecting his franchise to Las Vegas. NFL owners approved relocation in March of 2017, but the Raiders remained in Oakland until they could officially kick off at Allegiant.

While there is no debating the intimate connection felt between the Golden Knights and Las Vegas — one forged from the October 1 mass shooting during the NHL team's expansion season — the Raiders too have spent their short time here integrating themselves into the community.

Rare is it that a few weeks pass without a press release announcing another outreach program. Recognizing local teachers. Hosting local prep football teams for games at Allegiant Stadium. Feeding the hungry. Working with veterans. Visiting hospitals and middle schools and high schools. Promoting the COVID-19 vaccines.

"Their involvement in the community is really impressive," Gov. Steve Sisolak said. "They don't say, 'No,' when you ask them for something. They just say, 'Yes,' to any community service item." Davis has often said he wanted the organization to earn such attachment, which he doesn't think would have occurred if the Raiders had arrived earlier and, say, played a few years at Sam Boyd Stadium.

He believed all infrastructure needed to be in place.

"Mark has made a commitment to Las Vegas and delivered every step of the way," Raiders head coach Jon Gruden said. "The community is really important to him and he's proud to be part of it. It shows the way Las Vegas has embraced the team. You can feel the excitement everywhere around here."

Need to win more

All of his dreams for the Raiders had come true. The beautiful practice facility. The magnificent stadium. The community interest.

"And then the pandemic hit and the world stopped," Davis said. "That's how life goes sometimes." What those who committed to paying traditional sky-high NFL season ticket prices missed watching in person last season was an 8-8 team whose franchise missed the playoffs for a 17th time in 18 years. Gruden will now enter a fourth year since returning to the sidelines. He is 19-29 on this second goround after signing a reported 10-year deal in 2018 to get things turned.

They haven't been yet.

"My role in taking over for my father when he passed away was to continue the legacy that he built and the mystique of the Raiders," Davis said. "The one thing that I have failed in so far is we haven't won. That's what this team is about. It drives me, absolutely. It does.

"I felt bringing Jon Gruden into the organization was very stabilizing and he has a long time to do the things he needs to in order to get it done. I wasn't looking for a quick fix. I was looking for something that we built for the future. We're doing a wonderful job off the field, but we have a lot of work to do on it."

The latter isn't an issue with his other team.

Passion for hoops

Over nearly 30 years working for the Raiders, during which time she became the NFL's first female front office executive, Amy Trask would frequently need to discuss a matter with Al Davis or have him sign a document.

Often, she was made to wait.

"He would be involved watching a women's basketball game," Trask said. "His interest and love for women's basketball was as strong as it could be. When I heard Mark purchased the Aces, it made me smile."

If the Raiders are the impetus by which Davis' heart beats, it appears he has saved a portion for the Aces.

He bought the team from MGM Resorts International and is building an 80,000 square-foot training facility next to the Raiders' headquarters in Henderson.

Davis has been a courtside staple since 2017. Two years later, the Raiders purchased 1,600 tickets for local youth to attend home games. Davis recently announced that Aces season-ticket holders — around 2,000 — will attend games this season for free. He is eating the entire cost.

Numbers are sometimes just that. His football team has a 53-player roster and $180 million salary cap. His basketball team has 12 players and a $1.3 million cap.

Davis, though, recognizes the disparity in compensation between his male and feamle athletes and has already proven to be overly passionate about ensuring women receive a larger piece of the financial pie. He is pushing fellow WNBA owners to negotiate a more lucrative media rights deal.

"It will be a different style of ownership from the big conglomerate to an individual, but the commitment from (Davis) is as much or even more than the MGM," said Aces coach Bill Laimbeer, whose team is among the favorites to win this year's title. "His commitment to making us as good as we can be is phenomenal.

"My goal is to educate him. He wants to learn everything about the women's game. In the long run, I'd like to see him have whatever say he chooses — hey, it's his money — but he knows he has a long ways to go. He wants to be taught and that's wonderful, from both a basketball and business side as well." Already, the first-year owner is dreaming about how legacies can be born for all involved. What's he looking forward to most?

"Designing that (championship) ring," Davis said.

It's still halftime

Even on one of the most important days of his life - March 27, 2017 - Davis spoke about another. Minutes after league owners voted 31-1 in favor of the Raiders relocating to Las Vegas, Davis stood behind a podium in Phoenix and talked about how his father often stated that the greatness of the Raiders was in its future.

The prospects for a rewarding one born and nurtured in Las Vegas seem more likely than ever. "Al Davis was Oakland and Mark Davis will be Las Vegas," Sisolak said. "The thing that has surprised me most is how approachable he is. He's very recognizable — I don't want to say it's the haircut, but that certainly helps — and he takes an inordinate amount of time to visit with anybody and sign autographs and talk to people. He shows and feels his best relating to everyday people."

In the end, legacies are built. It's just that many prefer to focus on the process and not the outcome. So maybe that's it, then, for Davis.

Maybe it's still halftime and he's not near ready to keep score.

"His (legacy) never has seemed to be the motivation behind any of his decisions," Badain said. "When people ask me about him, I say he's the anti-sports owner. He doesn't want any credit. He doesn't really want his name in the paper, but he will put his face out there when things go badly."

As an example, Davis last month took responsibility for a tweet that appeared on the team's official account about the verdict in the George Floyd murder case that was roundly criticized as insensitive. It read, "I CAN BREATHE 4-20-21," which Davis meant as a way to applaud the guilty verdict. But an hour after the tweet went public, it already had received nearly 20,000 comments and more than 15,000 retweets. Most were of a highly critical nature.

"But when things are going well, you don't hear from him," Badain said. "I really can't see the motivation for himself to create a legacy."

With or without one, Mark Davis has changed the trajectory of Las Vegas sports forever. Somewhere in there, perhaps not yet detectable, is a pretty amazing legacy.

THE ATHLETIC

New city, new man: How Las Vegas has changed Raiders owner Mark Davis By Vic Tafur July 22, 2020

LAS VEGAS — Back before the pandemic, Raiders coach Jon Gruden hit the Las Vegas Strip pretty hard for a few days, sampling some of the prized steak houses, enjoying an Aerosmith concert and appearing on social media posts with comedian Carrot Top.

"I was getting pissed at him," team owner Mark Davis said, laughing. "He stole my 15 minutes of fame. I told him to go home."

While Gruden, a celebrity coach who used to be a TV star, is the face of the franchise, Davis holds the keys to the city. After years of struggling to get a new stadium in Oakland and then falling short in an attempt to move to Los Angeles, Davis sits in Las Vegas with a state-of-the-art, $1.85 billion stadium that is 98 percent completed and on track to be ready for the 2020 season.

Davis has immersed himself in the community since moving to Las Vegas last summer.

"The buzz has been unbelievable," Davis said in an hour-long sitdown interview on Saturday. "The fans here have just been so welcoming. They are stopping me and thanking us for coming, while I'm trying to thank them for bringing us."

Nevada Gov. Steve Sisolak first met Davis four years ago and is amazed by just how many people Davis talks to.

"Mark is an unusual character," Sisolak said in a phone interview Tuesday. "I have gotten to know a lot of wealthy and very powerful individuals, and Mark is the most unique of all of them. He is at his best, his comfort zone is with regular people. When he is on-site, he is always in the back talking to kitchen workers. And he will sign autographs until there is no one left. And you can tell he enjoys taking the selfies and chatting with these guys. He really gets close with people."

Allegiant Stadium may not have people cheering at games this season due to the pandemic, but it looks great and a visit last week saw workers looking back and admiring it at the end of their shifts.

"It's a phenomenal feeling," Davis said. "To get through the trials and tribulations and actually get it done on time. The pride that the workers showed in this building, man, they really did ... they loved working on it. Every three months before the pandemic hit, we would serve them a big-ass lunch and go through and thank every one of them. They just had so much pride in building this thing.

"You see them building hotels around here and you don't see the same enthusiasm about a project. They are the MVPs. I just can't thank them enough."

A new owner in a new city, Davis is also a new man.

After years of thinking that players should not protest or take a stand on issues while on the football field, he started changing his mind three years ago — before a weird game in Washington that Davis felt set the team back years. He has now reached a point where he is one of only a handful of NFL owners to say "Black Lives Matter" after the killing of George Floyd by a police officer in Minnesota and the subsequent protests around the country.

In a statement the team posted on social media, Davis said, "To watch a man be murdered by a uniformed police officer kneeling on the man's throat for nine minutes while three uniformed police officers either assisted or stood by watching is disturbing in too many ways. To be honest I'm surprised that the resulting violence hasn't been much worse."

Davis has since met with Nevada Attorney General Aaron Ford, Clark County Sheriff Joseph Lombardo and Gruden about how they can make a positive social impact coming into the Las Vegas community.

"The initial thing is trust," Davis said. "The officers need to trust the players and their families, and the players need to trust the officers so we can all say that we are on the same team.

"We discussed a lot of different programs and things that we can do. As soon as this virus is over, we're going to get together and have an eye-to-eye and let everyone talk and speak from the heart, so we're all starting on the same page. Starting in the local community is the quickest and most effective way for us to make a difference."

Davis has also sat in on Zoom meetings that his players had to discuss social injustice.

"They are really stressing voting, and getting the word out how important it is to vote," he said. "Making sure people know how to register to vote. If you want change, that's really the only way to go about doing it, voting. The players would also have mentorships with kids in the community and make appearances with officers in schools, together, showing that they are on the same team and it's not us versus them."

Players are planning to make a stand against police violence before games — possibly taking a knee during the national anthem — and Davis is fine with that. He wasn't for a long time, but that changed just before that Washington game in 2017.

Actually, it goes back to 1968.

"I was 13 years old then and there was a lot of social change going on in the Bay Area — we had Berkeley, Hells Angels, the Black Panthers, People's Park, the war in Vietnam," Davis said. "We had all that going on and it's so remarkable to me the violence that was going on then and the protests and kids getting the shit kicked out of them. And then what was going on in Los Angeles and across the country in Black communities.

"And now, today, people think we are in a tough situation with Black Lives Matter and George Floyd," he said. "When you look back at '68, I think people have been actually pretty calm about what's going on now. You think about it, has anything really changed in 50 years? There's been progress, but certainly not enough."

Davis admitted that he didn't know what to make of Colin Kaepernick's 2016 protests during the national anthem at first.

"My hero was Tommie Smith," Davis said. "Fist in the air. Strength. That was quite a statement. I didn't see strength in Colin kneeling, and there was some confusion at first over what he was kneeling for. A little bit before that Washington game, I had told the players that while I was the first person for social justice and the Raiders are the first team in the world for social justice, I would prefer that if you had something to say, you don't do it in a Raiders uniform. Because then you're speaking for all 53 players and everyone that works in this organization. And they may not all agree with you."

Davis asked them to speak out after games and said he would stand with them then if they wanted. He thought the message was well received but wasn't sure what the players would do. Then, two days before the game at Washington, President Donald Trump called NFL players who kneeled "sons of bitches."

"Certain things happened and the national climate changed. Things got hot and that clicked me back to 1968," Davis said. "I called in Derek (Carr) and Khalil (Mack) and told them that I can no longer ask them not to say something while you're in uniform. And that if they were going to say something, say it with class and pride and try and say it as a team. There won't be a fine."

While Davis gave his blessing, there was still a lot of debate and uneasiness in the locker room going into the game. Coach Jack Del Rio clearly sided with Trump that players should not protest during the anthem. Carr and Mack, meanwhile, were not polished leaders and did not pull off the unified front, as some players kneeled during the anthem, others stood and many sat on the benches with their arms interlocked.

"Everybody took a different path," Davis said.

Carr took a beating that game, as the listless Raiders were dominated, 27-10, and would go on to lose four straight games to erase a 2-0 start to the season. The rumors spread that the offensive linemen let Carr get hit over the differences of opinion over the pregame protest.

The players on the team all deny this, and most point to the offense falling apart under new coordinator Todd Downing, with former linebacker Del Rio and offensive line coach Mike Tice getting too involved in the play calling.

But there was definitely something hanging in the air in the locker room.

"People respected that Derek stood," former Raiders defensive lineman Mario Edwards Jr. told The Athletic's David Lombardi in 2018. "It's a free country. But people definitely had their feelings about it. We had a group of people that sat and a group of people that stood, and that's where it really started separating.

"And then some people started getting upset like, 'OK, if you're going to sit now, how about you start doing stuff to actually make a difference? Don't sit down just to sit down because it's cool, let's sit down to make a difference.' So then we started pointing fingers and it started going downhill from there."

Davis can't imagine that teammates let Carr get hit.

"I wasn't inside enough to know what was really going on, and I take the blame for that," Davis said. "And it killed our team for the rest of that year. It tore at the heart of our team. It was a total defeat — socially, on the field, everything. It was a disaster. Just a terrible night. And it was my fault, because I was at the top of the food chain."

(Del Rio was fired at the end of the season, after Davis finally succeeded in his long-time courtship to get Gruden to return for a second stint as Raiders coach.)

Davis has been more demonstrative this time around, trying to steer the organization's response to police violence.

"I have taken a lot of criticism over saying Black Lives Matter," Davis said. "I am not backing some Marxist organization, it's just a clean statement. Obviously, all lives matter, but where we're at right now, we have to make clear that Black lives matter because a part of our society needs to hear that after what's been going on. We have to stop police brutality.

"We have two pandemics this year, social justice and COVID virus."

When Davis visits his new baby, his favorite two things about the stadium are the grass field and the 85-foot Al Davis torch, honoring his late father.

"Those were the two must-haves," Davis said. "Non-negotiable. I give all the credit in the world to (Arizona Cardinals owner) Michael Bidwill for taking the risk to actually do a grass field in Arizona that grows outside and actually rolls into the stadium, and then all of the help that they gave us. They helped effectuate that for our stadium. ... Football should be played on grass."

Davis stresses that while Allegiant Stadium is multipurpose, it was made for football. "The sidelines are very tight and everybody is going to be right on top of the field," Davis said. "It's going to be exciting."

Fans have begun referring to Allegiant Stadium as "The Death Star" because some think it resembles the "Star Wars" space station, and Davis is over the moon about it.

"That's just spectacular," he said. "Disney is kind of excited that that name was attached to the stadium, as well. But that came from the fans. I love that."

While the Raiders won't announce the formation of a "Black Hole" fan section like there was in Oakland, it's already incubating. It will be in the end zone section that doesn't have a club area.

"If the fans want to consider that the Black Hole, they can absolutely do it," Davis said. "I don't try and tell fans what to do, I like organic. But it's very clear that that one end zone will be the Black Hole. A good amount of fans who were in that section in Oakland have bought seats in that section.

"That's part of our legacy."

There are roughly 9,000 fans from Oakland that have bought season tickets, Davis said.

"When I run into them when I am in the Bay Area, they tell me that it hurts that we left, but they understand why," Davis said. "Ninety percent are on a positive note. It's very heartening. The other 10 percent are very, very angry at me. But I am willing to talk to them and explain to them what the reasoning was. And for some, they were still mad after I tell them.

"I totally understand the passion and that they aren't forgiving."

Davis has always spent a lot of time talking to fans, often holding court in the lobby of the Napa Valley Marriott after training camp practices.

"Seeing what the A's are going through right now, knowing what a tough situation we were in," Davis said. "I wouldn't say getting a new stadium in Oakland was impossible, but it was pretty damn impossible. I think most of the fans understand that, and that's important to me."

Davis said the Raiders also have 8,000 fans coming from their other former home, Los Angeles, and he wonders what people are talking about when they say that the Raiders have lost the fever pitch that their fans had in Oakland.

"You hear people say that the crowd is going to be 50/50 with our fans and the opposing team's fans, but the only way the other team's fans get in is if our fans sell their tickets," Davis said. "Because they are all sold out. We have to win so that they don't sell their tickets, but I understand that if they can get $2,000 a ticket for the Chiefs game or Tom Brady game.

"I think a lot of people try to kiss it off and say we sold all the tickets to the hotels or the brokers, and that's the farthest thing from the truth."

It sounds as if there will be no fans at Allegiant Stadium this season, but Davis thinks fans will be pleased with what they see on TV. He thinks his team is set up to win and is particularly excited about the first-round draft pick who reminds him of his late friend, Cliff Branch. And of his father, late owner Al Davis.

"Henry Ruggs was the player I wanted for the last six months," Davis said. "My dad was always trying to replace Cliff with so many different types of guys. ... Speed, speed, speed and we really got away from that the last five, six, seven years. We really didn't have anybody that could run. Nobody could run.

"I watched Henry Ruggs and his speed and quickness and his strength were pretty impressive. And then if you see his baseball highlights, my God. He made some nice tackles on interceptions and he'll block too. He is a complete player. I was just so thrilled that we drafted him. Maybe that's the piece that we haven't had that's Raiders football. You throw it deep the first play and the safety is worried the whole game."

Ruggs is potentially the one new starter on an offense that has its quarterback, offensive line, running backs, receivers and tight ends back from last season. That familiarity should bode well as teams had to shelve their offseason workouts and now the preseason games have been canceled.

"There was so much talk this offseason about other quarterbacks and things of that nature, and having Derek (Carr) come back and the continuity he brings with how little time that players have to work together is probably a positive thing," Davis said.

Davis thinks the life came back into the organization when Gruden came aboard, but more so when the Raiders beat Mack and the Bears in London last season. They had traded away Mack, the former defensive player of the year, before the 2018 season for no immediate return as they awaited the future draft picks in 2019 and 2020. The two first-rounders turned out to be running back Josh Jacobs and cornerback Damon Arnette.

"After that Bears game, people realized that we hadn't given away the ship with Khalil," Davis said. "We have such good young guys today. They are really working hard this offseason. And it's not the coolest weather."

The new practice facility has outdoor and indoor fields, and Davis said the only person more excited than the players is Gruden.

"He is really excited," Davis said. "The facility gives him an opportunity to do something he's never had the opportunity to do — having everything at his disposal as far as the film-editing and the technology, the rooms, just everything."

The Raiders will be having training camp at the facility starting next Tuesday, but Davis hopes to return to Napa next summer.

"I would like to continue to do it there," Davis said. "It is one of the most beautiful places in the world and gives us ties back to our Northern California roots. Southern California is another possibility, but I just think there is nothing better than Napa."

The Raiders have another year in their deal at Napa and Davis thinks extending it should go smoothly, though he senses other teams are "biting."

The ribbon-cutting and the official opening of Allegiant Stadium may get pushed back due to the pandemic, but Davis says he knows he will be holding back tears whenever it does happen.

"This would have been my dad's dream," Davis said. "He would have loved the stadium. It has that imposing Raiders touch to it. It looks like a Raiders stadium. I think he would be happy too about the facility in Henderson and the ability that it gives us to be a 21st-, 22nd-century team."

While his dad was always full speed ahead, Davis does look back and he said it's important to him that people know he did everything he could to make it work in Oakland.

"If I didn't try, I would have felt guilty," Davis said. "I gave it my best and I don't feel guilty one iota. I take a lot of blame for a lot of things where maybe I wasn't prepared or made a bad decision — everything is from the heart — but on the trying to get us a stadium in Oakland, I did everything I could. Then, at our last home game, they took an edited video and made it look like I didn't give a damn about the fans.

"I wanted to say that the city ran us out of town and was suing us, and the guy that runs the Coliseum was facing federal charges for inside dealing on the naming rights, but I didn't ... and it came out looking like I didn't care about the fans. When I think they are the best in the world."

Former Coliseum Authority executive director Scott McKibben was charged in January for alleged violations of state conflict-of-interest laws for seeking a $50,000 fee in helping negotiate a stadium's naming rights.

"He backtracked on the deal he made us on the price of the lease, and he gets caught for taking a kickback, and I haven't heard a word about it since," Davis said. "The Bay Area is one of the most beautiful places in the world, and the politics are the most dysfunctional I have ever seen anywhere."

Davis was also hurt when the NFL chose the Rams and Chargers over the Raiders to move to Los Angeles, but processed it quickly.

"I have lost games before," Davis said. "That's how I have learned to live my life — you lose on Sunday, you're pissed about it, I go to P.F. Chang's on Monday, I have lunch and then I am on to the next week. We got our ass kicked in LA, and we went back to Oakland with our tails between our legs. And then McKibben backtracked and tripled our lease, and it was total disrespect. It was like, how are we going to work with these people?

"Vegas had been after us for years, but I told them I will only talk to you if Oakland and Los Angeles don't happen. Losing the LA vote was probably the best thing that ever happened for us."

And for Nevada football fans and workers.

"This stadium has been a great thing for the community," Sisolak said. "It created an awful lot of jobs, which I am really, really proud of. Mark has been a great partner. There are only 32 cities that get to call themselves NFL cities and it's an honor to be one of them for the people in Nevada.

"Mark has won a fan base already. He is extremely supportive of the community, he's at every sporting event and charity event. He has donated to our schools. He has jumped in with both feet and he has certainly changed the landscape of Las Vegas and Nevada forever."

General Manager Mike Mayock

LAS VEGAS REVIEW-JOURNAL

Man with the Plan: Raiders' GM Mike Mayock seeing vision through By Adam Hill September 9, 2020

Mike Mayock fondly remembers wandering the various playgrounds of West Philadelphia as a teenager in search of the best competition to test his mettle.

"You'd kind of hear where guys might be running that day and go find them," Mayock recalled during a phone call late in training camp. "I didn't care if it was Wiffle ball. Let's just go find a game."

It was that same search for competition that led him to leave behind a nearly two-decade run as a television analyst to serve as the general manager of the Raiders in December 2018.

Mayock employed the same passion and work ethic to his media job as he does to his front office gig with the Raiders, particularly his time spent as an NFL draft analyst.

It was a grueling process to prepare for the biggest three days of the year, but as soon as the draft broadcast wrapped, it was time to move on from all of the players he had spent so much time studying.

The son of a football coach wanted more skin in the game, as he describes it.

"When I was at NFL Network, I could prepare 10 months for the draft and feel really good about it afterwards, go out and have a beer and feel like you worked your tail off and did the best you could," he said. "But there's no connection to the individual players and the game, it's just a job well done."

That's not the case anymore. Now his meticulous research on every player coming out of college is put to the ultimate test. "You get to see these guys as more than just a commodity," he said. "You get to see them become fathers, husbands, brothers and men."

He also has to worry about trades, free agency, managing egos and the salary cap and making sure all those pieces work together when they take the field on game days.

"On Sunday afternoon for three-and-a-half hours, I'm ready to puke," the 62-year-old Boston College alum said. "That's what I missed. The butterflies, the nerves when every snap matters. That's what's been the cool thing for me is trying to build something different and special and on Sunday, you live and die by every snap."

A successful transition

It's a proving ground that sounds nightmarish, but Mayock insists he's a man living a dream.

"Everybody has a different definition of fun," he said. "My wife looks at me and just laughs. She's like, 'You've never had more fun in your life.' And she's right. At my age, to have the opportunity to do this, you kind of live and die a little bit every day because it means so much."

Not that he was unhappy with his prior professional life. After his brief playing career ended, Mayock went into commercial real estate and eventually broke into broadcasting.

He did a little bit of everything in television from sideline reporter in college football and the NCAA basketball tournament to calling games in the Canadian Football League to lead analyst on Notre Dame broadcasts.

It was the kind of versatility that once had him dreaming of being the first person toplay in Major League Baseball, the NBA and the NFL when he was growing up.

Mayock was best known for his NFL draft analysis and had settled into that role, though there was always a sense he wanted to experience what was on the other side of the business. He knew it would have to be the right situation for it to work, however.

Mayock had been inside the facilities of just about every team in his time covering the NFL and the draft and had determined one of the biggest factors in the success or failure of a franchise was whether the coach and general manager were on the same page. He knew it was going to have to be the right fit if he were to move into the front office.

Finding right fit

Mayock found it with the Raiders and head coach Jon Gruden and it didn't take long to figure it out.

While they had crossed paths many times in their roles as broadcasters, their first meeting about taking the general manager job for the Raiders took place in late 2018 when Gruden was wrapping up the first season of his coaching comeback.

The group of five or six people at Gruden's house included owner Mark Davis, but soon only Mayock and Gruden were talking.

"It was the easiest conversation I ever had," Mayock recalls. "It happened organically. It was just topic to topic to topic about football and on most of them we were aligned. I think the most important thing was just kind of the vision for how to build this franchise."

In addition to the chemistry, Mayock liked that Gruden had a 10-year contract. It afforded the duo the opportunity to remake the roster according to their vision of how it should be done with the security of enough time to see the process through.

They wanted to focus on building through the draft and augmenting through free agency in areas where they believed they could invest in impact players.

It helped that Gruden had turned assets like Khalil Mack and Amari Cooper into draft capital and salary cap space.

So they were aligned on how to build a team, but Mayock has long said a key part of their shared vision was what type of players they wanted to bring in.

Mayock stressed to his scouting department the importance of evaluating a player and not just his measurables.

"I like smelling the grass," he said. "I want to be out there. I don't want to just know the results of the 40 and the vertical jump. I want to see them work out. I want to go to dinner with them. I want to get to know them. I tell my scouts all the time that we can all watch the tape, put the reports in and evaluate, but what makes that kid tick? What's important to him? The better we do at that, the better overall scouts we will be.

"We want guys with a passion for the game of football," he said.

Football first

Anyone who has been at the team's brand new facility in Henderson before sunrise knows how important football is to the faces of the front office. Mayock typically arrives around 5:30 a.m. He insists he's never beaten Gruden to work.

The two usually share a coffee around that time to discuss the agenda for the day and whatever big picture issues may be pertinent at the time.

Together, they have turned over almost the entire roster. They believe they are far more talented, stronger, faster and better than when they started. They are certainly younger.

Mayock has confidence in what they are building, but he knows it doesn't matter until it's put to the test on the field. As much credit as he got for the success of the rookie class he put together in his first draft, he's quick to point out his team went 7-9 in his first season as general manager.

So, has the vision he and Gruden had for building the roster started to take shape?

"The answer to the question is we're getting more and more of our guys in the building, we're competing at a higher level, but it remains to be seen whether that translates on the field or not, which is most important," he said.

"I think we're slowly seeing what we wanted, which was guys to come in and compete their tails off," he continued. "We want guys that love to compete, that don't shrink from competition. That's probably why you've seen some of the guys that we've drafted from big schools, used to playing in big games, an opportunity to watch them compete in that type of atmosphere. As Jon and I are sitting here contemplating cutting to a 53-man roster, we kind of take a step back and say it's a lot harder this year. We've got more guys competing. There's more talent."

It's time to put it to the test. But Mayock doesn't have to seek out that competition like he did when he was a kid.

His work will be graded every week, starting with a road game in Charlotte against the Panthers on Sept. 13.

DE Maxx Crosby

THE ATHLETIC

Now 18 months sober, the Raiders' Maxx Crosby opens up about his journey to the brink and back

By Vic Tafur September 6, 2021

March 11, 2020, was the day that Maxx Crosby got sober. And it's a day the Raiders defensive end always knew had to come.

"I knew from the day that I started drinking that I wasn't like everybody else," Crosby said in a recent phone interview. "I couldn't just have one drink, and it was always a crutch for me. Through high school, through college ... and even when I got to the pros at first.

"I always knew I had a problem, but it got to a point where it started becoming unmanageable and things just got overwhelming for me. It was over the top, and I knew if I wanted to be the player that I wanted to be and the person that I wanted to be, it was something that I had to cut out of my life."

Crosby's teammates voted him a team captain last week, making him one of the two defensive players of the seven selected. If you have been around training camp, it's no surprise that Crosby and Yannick Ngakoue were picked because ever since Ngakoue showed up this spring, the two pass rushers have been pushing each other and teammates at practice.

Crosby, entering his third season, is in the best shape he's ever been in and is totally recovered from last season's broken hand and torn shoulder. Most importantly, he's the happiest he's ever been.

He took some time to talk about his journey to get here, as he closes in on 18 months sober from alcohol and drugs.

"It's been an awesome ride so far," Crosby said. "The first year of sobriety, for everybody, they say, is the hardest, and I know for me, mentally and physically, it was really tough. Getting through that and learning how to live a meaningful life taking care of myself and the people around me that I care about and love ... it was an uphill battle, and it's an everyday process, but life is getting better and better."

It started in March 2020 when Crosby went to Hollywood and checked into a rehabilitation center for a month. That same day, the Utah Jazz's Rudy Gobert tested positive for COVID-19 and the NBA suspended its season. Soon after, the rest of the sports world followed and much of society went into pandemic-related lockdowns.

"It's crazy, when I got there on March 11 ... that's when everything started shutting down because of COVID," Crosby said. "The NBA stopped their season and everything was put on lockdown, so it was kind of a blessing in disguise in a way.

"The whole world was put on lockdown, and it really gave me time to go take care of myself."

Walking into Grace Recovery Center was jarring and depressing at first, but Crosby knew he had to be there.

"I absolutely love those people," Crosby said.

He then transitioned to a sober living facility in Venice Beach, where he also trained to get ready for the 2020 season.

"I was there the entire offseason, really working on myself," Crosby said. "There were a lot of ups and downs, but I stayed the course. It was the best decision I ever made. It saved my life and it's a miracle what the (Alcoholics Anonymous) program has done for me and my family."

Crosby had wanted to put a year of sobriety under his belt before he told everybody, and some teammates were surprised to hear the news when Crosby told former teammate Will Compton about his sobriety on the "Bussin with the Boys" podcast in March.

"Will has a big platform and I thought it was a good idea to share my story so that it can help other people," Crosby said.

Crosby said he has a family history of alcohol addiction.

"I've had a lot of people close to me deal with it, and it's part of who I am," Crosby said.

Crosby also has a teammate in Darren Waller who has been very public about his addiction to opiates and alcohol and his recovery since he joined the Raiders in 2018. Crosby watched from afar on the other side of the locker room at first, and now he and Waller are close friends who attend rehab meetings together every Tuesday night.

"We were always cool, but we weren't really close before I got sober," Crosby said. "But just seeing him, I knew I could get sober. And I never thought that would happen, to be honest. ... I was just in a bad, bad space. But seeing him gave me hope.

"When I first got sober, I was like, 'Shit, if Darren can overcome what he did, I can do it. I can dedicate myself like he did.' I am about to be a year and a half sober, but it's still an everyday process. I am focused on the now, and having guys like Darren around me is so special to have that in the locker room."

It's not lost on Crosby that the Raiders have long been seen as the renegades of the NFL and the team has now moved to Las Vegas — Sin City — and ... two of its best players are drinking club soda and going to meetings every Tuesday night.

"Well, Darren and I have crazy-ass stories, at least," Crosby said, laughing. "But we can shed light on real-life situations and what we went through, and that can really help other people."

Special-teams coordinator and assistant head coach Rich Bisaccia also played a big part early on.

"He was FaceTiming me when I first got sober, and that was big," Crosby said. "He helped me a ton ... that was special. He says to find the three things that are most important to you, and obviously sobriety is at the top right next to football and my girlfriend, family and loved ones. Keep that circle small, and keep my priorities in the front, instead of the back."

For a guy like Crosby, who came out of Colleyville, Texas, with only one college scholarship offer and has always pushed himself, admitting that he wasn't strong enough to handle his over-drinking by himself — that he couldn't control the situation — was a big hurdle to get over.

"Any guy in AA will tell you, 'You can't do it alone.' That's a fact," Crosby said. "I tried to get sober multiple times in the past. I tried to do it by myself and white knuckle it, 'do it my way' and whatever, but eventually, it didn't work."

Crosby was, in fact, sober his entire last season at Eastern Michigan .. after getting in a drunk-driving accident leaving a party that spring.

"I wrecked my car and got arrested," Crosby said. "I knew I was going to face some kind of suspension. Coach (Chris) Creighton told me it was going to be a two-game suspension, but that second game was against Purdue ... that's a huge game. At Eastern Michigan, if you're playing a Big Ten team, that's a monstrous game. I was like, I cannot miss that game. And I was waiting for a couple of weeks to see what he was going to do. It was a scary time."

Creighton made Crosby a deal.

Crosby had to stay sober the entire season, get drug-tested and breathalyzed frequently, do a lot of community service and the suspension would only last the first game. If Crosby drank after any game or failed a test, he would be suspended again immediately.

Crosby was planning to enter the NFL Draft early after that junior season, so it was a no-brainer. And a white knuckler.

"He challenged me," Crosby said. "And I stayed sober and was able to get to the draft. Without that challenge, I don't know if I would be here today. Looking back on it, obviously, I went to the pros and had my struggles again, but a year and a half later, our relationship is so strong. (Creighton) always reaches out to me."

Crosby stayed sober for nine months without working a program, until he exhaled after getting picked by the Raiders and getting that first big paycheck.

"I was a pro," Crosby said. "Didn't have to go to class anymore, less responsibility and more money and you want to fit in with the guys. I started again and things got worse and worse."

During the draft process, the drunk-driving accident was the first thing Crosby was asked about by every prospective NFL team. And as he answered, Crosby thought to himself that he needed to address the problem with a full-fledged plan and program someday.

That day came a year later.

"The AA program, with the 12 steps and everything you have to do to truly heal yourself, is a different experience," Crosby said. "I could go on all day about it. The quote that stuck with me the most is, 'The one thing you have to change is everything.' The people around you, your daily routine, everything in my life had to change." Besides the support of his current and former coaches and teammates, Crosby also now has a team of counselors, AA members, mentors, sponsors and housemates from Grace and the transition center pulling for him and staying in touch.

"It's been an amazing journey," Crosby said.

Las Vegas Raiders DE Maxx Crosby says he's 18 months sober after stay in rehab last offseason

By Paul Gutierrez August 27, 2021

HENDERSON, Nev. -- A week before the world shut down due to the COVID-19 pandemic in the spring of 2020, Maxx Crosby's world opened up.

That's when the Las Vegas Raiders defensive end began a month-long stay in rehab for alcoholism and is now nearing an 18-month milestone of being sober, on the cusp of the 2021 NFL season. In a wideranging interview with ESPN on Friday, Crosby detailed his fight for sobriety as he enters his third NFL season.

"It got to a point after my rookie year my life became unmanageable," Crosby said. "Alcohol, partying and all that s--- became too much of a distraction in my life. It became just overwhelming. I've always had issues with drinking and partying throughout high school and college. I've been able to slip by and get by, but it became too much for me and it's always been that one crutch.

"Alcoholism runs in my family and I'm an alcoholic. So, for me, I knew it was something that was always a crutch. I always knew I had a problem. I knew I couldn't just drink like everybody else. I got ahead of it. My first year of sobriety is always the hardest and that was last year. I had a lot of ups and downs. Mentally it was really tough for me. But going in, I'm almost a year-and-a-half sober now and life is great. I'm really enjoying every single day. I'm enjoying the work."

Crosby, who turned 24 on Aug. 22, was a Day 3 draft pick of the Raiders in 2019 out of Eastern Michigan, the No. 106 overall selection in the fourth round. He racked up 10 sacks as a rookie.

But it was in that offseason when Crosby decided he needed help.

"It was March 11 [2020], the day I got sober," he said. "I was living in Hollywood. Strolled out there and checked into rehab. ... And the whole world was put on shut down. I was there for a month and then I was able to just get myself right. And then after rehab, for that month I went to a sober living [facility] and I was staying out in Venice Beach all the way until training camp. I was literally in treatment like for the whole offseason.

"It was a big struggle but looking back on my journey, I know five years, 10 years down the road, I'll look back and be like, that was the biggest offseason of my life even though I was just trying to get my s--- together and just trying to stay above water. I know if I can make it through that s--- and get sober, I can do anything. It was special and I met some awesome people along the way."

Raiders owner Mark Davis said he was happy for Crosby.

"I think it's fantastic," Davis said. "Everybody has their demons. Obviously, he recognized he had a problem and he went out and fixed it. Recognizing it and wanting to fix it is the No. 1 way to get the help you need. And he did it."

Raiders coach Jon Gruden agreed.

"Maxx is an amazing man," Gruden told ESPN. "He realized he had a problem and he isolated himself and conquered it. He has incredible mental toughness and a desire to be great. He's a great inspiration for people to see what you can do if you're committed to following through."

Crosby said teammate Darren Waller, a Pro Bowl tight end, has also been open about his battle with addiction and they have become close friends.

"Here's a guy that was deep," Crosby said of Waller, "deep as hell and almost lost his life and he was able to come back and is now one of the best players in the league. For me, seeing a guy like that, that gave me hope. When I went off to rehab, I was terrified. I didn't know if I was able to do it. I couldn't imagine my life being sober. But today, the blessings that have come my way from being sober and doing the work and trusting in the people around me have been incredible.

"I'm living my real purpose and helping people out. ... The whole basis of AA is literally you can't do it alone. AA is a big family."

Crosby followed up his rookie breakout season with seven sacks last year and says after a year-plus of being sober, and re-dedicating himself to his health and fitness, he is primed for a good season.

"This offseason has been incredible," he said. "I've never been in this good a shape in my life. I've never been this dedicated. I've always been a hard worker as far as work ethic. ... I've taken it to a whole different level.

"I love being able to talk about it and share my story with other people and try to help other people out there going through what I've gone through."

Raiders Walter Payton Man of the Year nominee Alec Ingold always striving to help 'one more kid' find a home

By Grant Gordon December 30, 2020

Outlaws of the autumns, swashbuckling marauders of the gridiron, the Raiders are the league's bad guys by choice and design.

For Silver and Black fullback Alec Ingold, however, being the white hat among the wild bunch is a celebration of each of the endeavors in his life he's most passionate about: playing Raiders football and positively affecting his community.

"It's kinda cool. You get to put on a helmet and shoulder pads, you get to be the outlaw, you get to be a bully. You get to be with a bunch of guys that love playing football," Ingold says. "[You get to be part of] that whole aura on Sundays. And then Tuesday you can go out and help a community and see a spark in a kid's eyes. It is cool doing both of those things."

As the Las Vegas Raiders' nominee for the 2020 Walter Payton Man of the Year, Ingold has devoted his time and energy to fundraising for and serving nutritious meals to those who need them most, supporting the Special Olympics and spreading awareness about the need and importance for foster and adoptive families. He's done it all while blocking for Raiders quarterback Derek Carr and paving the way for running back Josh Jacobs' 1,000-yard season.

Among the 32 nominees, Ingold, in just his second NFL season, is the least experienced among the field. No player has ever won the award in their first three seasons, according to NFL Research, and Ingold has an opportunity to do it in Year 2.

"It means the world to me," Ingold says of the nomination. "It wasn't really on my radar. As a young guy, my second year and I was undrafted last year. So, to kinda receive that respect among the guys in your facility, in your organization, was pretty surreal."

It's all the more surreal as Ingold is the only fullback in the field of nominees and having a trying year on the field, though it's been one in which he's carried on no matter the obstacles.

Slowed by busted ribs sustained in early November, Ingold was relegated to sleeping on the couch for a few weeks. That was, for a time, where his daily routine began. Early to wake to get additional treatment, to get his body warmed up for the grind of practices, the 24-year-old hasn't missed a game. Perhaps more inspiring, though, is that it hasn't slowed Ingold off the field.

"Learning how to deal with adversity and still being able to impact a community is amazing," Ingold says.

Though the honor was unexpected for Ingold, it was an aspiration all the same.

Given annually, the Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year Award is recognized as the league's most prestigious honor and recognizes NFL players "for outstanding community service activities off the field, as well as excellence on the field."

Striving to become part of the prestigious class of honorees was something that came into view roughly a year ago when Ingold accompanied Jacobs to Miami ahead of the Super Bowl.

"I remember going to the Super Bowl with Josh, the NFL Honors show," Ingold says. "He was up for Rookie of the Year and he brought me, so [I had a chance] to kinda experience everything. It was our rookie year together. To see [2019 Walter Payton Man of the Year] Calais Campbell speak last year. You know you get a little taste of everything at the Super Bowl, right? You get the advertisement, endorsement stuff. You get the radio-side of things. And then, you get the NFL Honors show.

"When Calais talked, that was like, 'That's what I want to do. That's the impact I want to have – moving forward for the rest of my life.' After seeing all that, trying everything, to have that speech, that moment kind of be like that's what I want to do down the road, I was expecting to kinda have this long-term goal. And for that nomination to be happening this year is kind of surreal for me."

Giving of his time and efforts off the field didn't emanate from Miami, though. It's something that's been with Ingold for quite some time – all the way back to growing up in Green Bay, Wisconsin.

Always quick to point out and appreciate the efforts of a support staff that includes his marketing and community relations teams, it's always begun with his parents – mother Chris and father Pat.

"I think it really starts with my parents. Being adopted, understanding how important that support system was for me, how I was raised," Ingold says. "My parents mean the world to me and the way they raised me growing up, I always knew it was about helping the person next to you. Whether that's on the football field being accountable, being a good teammate or in the community, having a platform to give back. It really starts with them. That whole adoption thing is huge for me. I feel like that gives me a sense of, 'I'm on this planet to do something.' There's that divine intervention of 'I'm here for a reason.' I'm gonna do everything I can to impact the people around me because that's what my parents did for me. They gave me the best opportunity possible to live out my dreams. That's kind of where I got that from and that's where the support toward Raise the Future AdoptUSKids, the national spokesperson-type thing kind of parlays into that."

Ahead of Election Day, Ingold was active in a "Get Out and Vote" campaign and he offered his support to Special Olympics competitors from Nevada and California by way of a "Virtual Fall Sports & Fitness" workout. In Las Vegas, Ingold aided the Three-Square Food Bank's Coronavirus Emergency Food Fund in providing 31,000 healthy meals for kids, veterans and furloughed workers and he also served meals to first- and second-graders at Jack Dailey Elementary. But it's adoption and AdoptUSKids that beckons him above all and what he's chosen as the charity that will receive an NFL donation in his name as a result of Ingold's MOTY nomination.

"I just hope people talk about how important adoption is," Ingold says. "It changed my life. I'm a living testimony of someone who was adopted and was given a great opportunity to live my best life because I had a great adopted family. I just hope that having those conversations helps one more family, helps one more kid find that home."

Able to find a home long ago, Ingold's now aiming to do the same for others.

Ingold is now a Las Vegas fullback, but was once a Green Bay kid who was able to listen to Packers such as Ahman Green, William Henderson, Randall Cobb, Brett Favre and Aaron Rodgers speak and give back to their community.

"I was that wide-eyed kid," Ingold says. "That meant the world to me, just seeing them.

"Those people kind of shaped my life growing up. And I know that's kind of the impact people can have in the NFL, just by smiling, by shaking someone's hand, by having conversation."

Among the Silver and Black's storied brutes and bandits, a once-wide-eyed kid has emerged as one of the NFL's 32 best men.

THE ATHLETIC

Adopted as a child, Raiders' Alec Ingold wants to help unite other families By Tashan Reed July 20, 2020

For Raiders fullback Alec Ingold, there was no mystery as a child to the fact that he was adopted. He's biracial, Black and White, while his mom, Chris, dad, Pat, and sister, Sydnie, are White.

"Growing up that way, it was never a big secret or anything," Ingold said. "I was pretty comfortable with it by a very young age. I love my parents. It's mom and dad and it's nothing different, but at the same time, I always knew I looked different than the rest of my family. I never really had identity issues with that, but it was always there."

Regardless, there were some tough moments. It would hit him late at night while he was alone in bed that he didn't have a relationship with anyone whom he was related to by blood. He didn't have the same biological connection that all his friends and most others enjoyed.

Ingold eventually adjusted, which was made easier because of how he was raised in Green Bay, Wis. He never had an issue in the community related to his race and his parents emphasized the importance of knowing who he is as a human being before he even considered his skin color. He also forged a strong relationship with Sydnie and had an expansive network of friends that welcomed him.

Green Bay also sparked his love for football. His Sundays were built around two things: church and the Packers. The players were his superheroes and drove him to pursue the career he has today.

"It was about as picture perfect as you could imagine," Ingold said. "I just realized how fortunate I was to be placed in that family that was going to love me so much unconditionally and support me through everything I've been through."

Ingold, 24, has spoken to his parents and sister through text messages, phone calls and FaceTime calls multiple times a week since relocating to Las Vegas in mid-March. While he doesn't know his biological father, he's had contact with his biological mother. The Ingolds are tight-knit and genuinely love and care about one another. That sustained bond was the driving force behind his decision to partner with AdoptUSKids on July 14.

"I know for a fact that there's kids out there going through the same things I'm going through," Ingold said. "Whether they were adopted early or have recently been adopted, you have that self-realization that can be a little bit of a struggle sometimes."

AdoptUSKids is a nonprofit national project that works to help children and teenagers in foster care get adopted by "safe, loving, permanent" families. It simultaneously educates families about foster care and adoption while providing child welfare professionals with information and support.

Additionally, it maintains the lone federally funded photo listing service used to connect waiting children with families in the country.

Through his partnership with the project, Ingold has become a part of its mission to raise public awareness about the need for foster and adoptive families and assists states, territories and tribes in recruiting, engaging, developing and supporting foster and adoptive families.

In the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic and the ongoing social justice movement surrounding the recent deaths of Black people at the hands of law enforcement, Ingold felt moved to use his platform. That's when he came upon AdoptUSKids, which he hopes others will use to do the same.

"I'm just hoping to speak to both sides: The kids that are in foster care right now and the kids that have been adopted, but also the prospective families," Ingold said. "That support system and that communication, everyone's life can improve from that. I just hope I can be an example for some kids going through tough times and help them understand that you can reach out and trust family members that aren't blood related. They can be your best friends. They can be more than you can even imagine.

"My family means the world to me. There's a lot of kids out there right now searching for that. Hopefully, being an NFL football player and opening up in that light will be able to show them that there's really so many opportunities and blessings that come with being a part of a family like that."

Ingold, who graduated from Wisconsin in 2019 with a personal finance degree, doubled down on his good deed by speaking to a group of Las Vegas high school students through the UNLV Young Executive Scholars Hospitality & Tourism Program, a four-week summer program targeting underresourced youth in the Clark County School District. Ingold talked about his life and journey and stressed the importance of financial literacy.

"I'm trying to speak to as many kids that'll listen to try and give them some insight on what I've learned throughout my life," Ingold said. "Las Vegas is a community that's definitely going to be one and the same with the Raiders. Me and a lot of other teammates are trying to speak to the community about topics that are near and dear to our hearts so that we can create this relationship."

Ingold has also remained active physically, whether it's running in random parks or participating in the Raiders' unofficial 30-player workouts in Las Vegas. It's not convenient, but it's nothing compared to the adversity that he experienced early in life. He wants to be consistently accountable and reliable in his second season, so he's got to keep putting the work in. Dozens of other Raiders players have followed suit.

"I'm proud of working hard when things are tough," Ingold said. "A lot of guys that have moved out here, we've kind of found our rhythm and what it takes to work together. It's definitely bringing us together on the team, no doubt, with the move and the pandemic and an unknown season."

Ingold's involvement in the community in the meantime isn't a front. His desire to help others stems from how Chris and Pat helped him as a child.

"I've been blessed with the decisions people made to step out of their comfort zone and make that adoption decision from my biological parents to my (adoptive) parents," Ingold said. "There's so much in this world that we can offer one another. Any difficulties or adversity that I've been through, I'm going to try and share it with others so that they can get through their own adversities. If it's relatable, great. If they can take one thing away from whenever I'm speaking, awesome. But at the end of the day, it's just opening my heart up and letting people do what they need with it.

"Hopefully, we can all be better because of it."

Josh Jacobs is the Las Vegas Raiders' 'angry runner,' on his way to NFL superstardom By David Fleming September 21, 2020

THE CENTERPIECE OF the Las Vegas Raiders' Allegiant Stadium is the 95-foot Al Davis Memorial Torch. Built out of carbon fiber and aluminum and billed as the largest 3D-printed object in the world, the urinal-shaped cauldron doesn't feature an actual flame. Encircled by a bar, like all serious monuments, it instead blows a mixture of hot air and lasers to simulate flames in front of the $1.9 billion stadium's lanai-style peep show doors that open to expose the Strip. The rest of the building is adorned with a similar kind of classic Vegas casino-style art meant to assimilate the Raiders into the culture of their new hometown. The works include an Area 51 alien sporting Raiders merch and one particularly riveting piece featuring Baby Carlos of "The Hangover" sporting a Raiders beanie. There's a mural of Raiders greats and a series of ayahuasca-fever-dream-inspired murals by local artist Michael Godard that reimagine Marilyn Monroe as a Raiderette, Wayne Newton as a Silver and Black quarterback and Elvis Presley as a Raiders running back.

And just in case there's any question as to just how impossibly high the expectations are for the Raiders' inaugural season in Vegas, one of the few other locals deemed worthy of a King-sized portrait inside Allegiant is Raiders running back Josh Jacobs, whose picture towers above what seems like a mile of white marble near the corner suites on the 200 level of the stadium. "Very surreal and humbling," Jacobs says about his portrait. Taken 24th overall out of Alabama in last year's draft, Jacobs set the franchise record for rookie rushing yards (1,150) and led the NFL in missed tackles (70), all while playing most of the season with a broken shoulder. Now the writing is quite literally on the wall for him and the 2020 Raiders.

In a Week 1 win against Carolina, Jacobs responded to the expectations by scoring three touchdowns and breaking 10 more tackles on his way to 139 all-purpose yards. It was a performance so explosive and dominant, yet somehow so effortless and smooth, that it drew comparisons to yet another GOAT. "That was a little bit like Walter Payton used to play," says coach Jon Gruden. "Josh is special. He deserves some national attention, and I hope you give it to him."

Jacobs is one of the most compelling success stories in the NFL and, pound for pound, one of the game's most physical young runners, and Gruden and the Raiders are now counting on him to develop into the kind of dynamic all-around talent worthy of becoming the national face of the franchise, or, in Vegas vernacular, the town's first Chairman of the Scoreboard. "Josh is going to be a superstar," says Raiders fullback Alec Ingold. "There's a really, really unique opportunity that none of us will probably ever get in our lifetimes again of setting the foundation and the identity for what the first Las Vegas Raiders teams will be. And in a lot of ways, that's the responsibility Josh has taken on. He really makes this offense run, and he sets the tone for what this franchise is going to be in our new home." Even with the questionable decor choices, the Raiders' new home base, which makes its debut on Monday Night Football against the New Orleans Saints (8:15 p.m. ET on ESPN), is nothing short of spectacular.

The expansive locker room, featuring long club-style ceiling lights crisscrossing above the center of the room, feels like something befitting of Marshmello, not Maxx Crosby -- although there are already nine other clubs inside the stadium, including one so close to the north end zone that Gruden could easily signal its bouncers to break up any potential Hail Marys. "This is our field of dreams," says owner Mark Davis. "This is our house."

For Jacobs, though, it was only the second-best dream house reveal of the offseason. In January, he bought his father, Marty, a house in Oklahoma, creating a fairy-tale ending to a well-documented journey that began 10 years ago on the streets of north Tulsa inside the family's red Chevy Suburban. When Josh was in middle school, he and his four siblings and Marty were homeless for several weeks. After their parents' divorce, Josh and his siblings initially stayed with their mother, Lachelle. Josh says they argued frequently, however, especially over what he says was Lachelle's misuse of child support money. Eventually Marty was granted custody of his kids, just as he found himself between apartments and jobs. It's an all-too-common scenario experienced by many of the nearly 60,000 families in the U.S. that are homeless on any given night, especially during the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Jacobses crashed with friends and in motels as long as they could until they were forced to sleep in the Suburban in a section of town where Josh had been shot at as a teenager. "I wouldn't change how I grew up for nothing because it made me who I am today," Jacobs says. "Nobody can tell me that something isn't possible, and I've got so many other dreams I want to achieve, starting with a championship, so I'm still grinding in every aspect of life."

To this day, Jacobs vividly recalls -- in a way that suggests the experience is never far from his thoughts -- that his father would often go without food, waving it away and pretending not to be hungry, so his children would have fuller bellies. Marty would often go without sleep as well, standing guard in the front seat with a gun resting in his lap, his eyes bloodshot from exhaustion and stress. Ten years later, after the surprise gift from Josh, when Marty's eyes were watering again, this time he was leaning against the black-and-gray granite countertops inside his immaculate new kitchen as giggles from grandchildren echoed throughout his spacious new home.

Standing next to him, and close to tears as well, was a former homeless teenager turned NFL running back who has now christened new homes for both his father and his franchise. "The kids that warm your heart as a coach are the ones who were not given anything and had to earn everything," says former Alabama offensive coordinator Mike Locksley, now the head coach at Maryland. "I saw Josh, going from homeless to buying his dad a house, and it's especially heartwarming when the reason you got into this business is to change people's lives with this brown football."

To help his kids process their emotions throughout their childhood, Marty encouraged them to express their feelings through poetry and art. Josh responded by drawing a picture of his dad valiantly fighting off a series of monsters. To this day, Josh attacks most carries on the football field in the same fashion: as an opportunity to slay some monsters, or at least run them over. Throughout his career, despite his relatively small stature (5-foot-10, 212 pounds), Jacobs has left in his wake a breathtakingly violent, "Jackass"-esque compilation of cartoonishly destroyed would-be tacklers. Just ask the Panthers.

Against Carolina, an astonishing 87% of Jacobs' 93 yards rushing came after contact. "There's no doubt he is an angry runner," says Locksley, who now coaches Josh's younger brother, Isaiah. "It's a chip on his shoulder, angry at the world, here I am a kid that spent time being homeless, not heavily recruited out of high school, then, at Bama, not being the focal point of the offense. Every time he touches the ball, he runs as if he may not get the ball again."

In 2015, as an unknown Wildcat quarterback at McLain High School in Tulsa, Jacobs was putting up truly unbelievable numbers. His stats were so off-the-charts ridiculous, in fact, that a skeptical reporter called McLain's athletic director and accused football coach Jarvis Payne of padding Jacobs' stats. It's a frequently recurring accusation in Jacobs' life. "The more you get to know him," Ingold says, "the more he does seem too good to be true almost." Jacobs' high school stats had to be doctored. How could a no-star, injury-prone kid suddenly average 300 rushing yards a game?

"Well, come to our next game and see for yourself," Payne growled into the phone. Just before kickoff against Cascia Hall Prep, Payne went to Jacobs' locker and dropped the details of the phone call. "After that I felt kind of sorry for that team," Payne says. "Josh took everything out on them."

The stats in question were, in fact, way off. Instead of a measly 300 yards, Jacobs ended up with 455 on 22 carries. And it would have been north of 600 if several big runs hadn't been called back. After a breathtaking display of speed, power, elusiveness and, well, controlled rage, on Jacobs' sixth and final TD, a clear path to the end zone emerged. Instead, and in what would become his signature move as a running back, Jacobs lowered his shoulder and bulldozed a defensive back who was left straddling the goal line like a Dali timepiece. "Poor kid," Payne says. "Josh could have easily sidestepped him and walked into the end zone, but he chose to run him directly over. I've seen a lot of talented kids, but that level of anger and tenacity? Very few are built like that. Josh needed to prove a point to the world. And that kid was in his way."

Several weeks later, when former Alabama and current New York Giants assistant coach Burton Burns sat down to watch McLain's highly ranked basketball team's practice, Jacobs took the ball end to end, effortlessly gliding around defenders before finishing with so much power to the basket that his forearm ended up above the rim. Burns got up and sprinted to his car like he was about to get towed, and after a frantic call to Nick Saban, Jacobs was bound for Tuscaloosa. "I see it in him, that extra hunger, that inner spark and inner sense of drive that is not typical unless you've been in those shoes," says Arash Ghafoori, the executive director at the Nevada Partnership for Homeless Youth, which runs a drop-in center just a few miles from Allegiant Stadium. "I see it over and over: The experience of being homeless doesn't beat these kids; they beat the experience, and then that resiliency becomes part of their DNA."

After splitting time in Saban's talent-rich backfield, Jacobs burst onto the scene during Bama's 2018 run to the title game. When an Auburn cornerback attempted to tackle Jacobs in the open field, the defender eventually came to rest on his head, with the rest of his body facing the wrong way, a full 7 yards downfield. A few weeks later in the national semifinal, Jacobs road-graded an Oklahoma safety on his way to pay dirt. Jacobs' personal favorite came next, in the title game, when he pancaked a 280-pound Clemson defensive end, then flexed over his massive, prostrate body. "He was a lot bigger than me, so I was supposed to lose that battle," Jacobs says. "So I put him in the ground and then, yeah, I flexed on him. Honestly, yeah, it feels good."

Jacobs' signature as a runner (and blocker) is the way he is somehow able to crystallize his physical gifts and the residual anger, fear and intense drive (along with even the tiniest perceived slight from an opponent, à la Michael Jordan) into a force that, when transferred into the body of would-be tacklers, often leaves them several yards downfield looking as if they've just been ejected from a mechanical bull.

Last season, in a Week 7 matchup at Lambeau Field, Packers safety Adrian Amos stepped in front of Jacobs at the 22. Amos, who made the unforgivable mistake of getting too much attention for being one of the highest-paid safeties in the game, returned to earth somewhere around the 26. For starters, Jacobs believes in the age-old runner's argument that operating at anything less than full speed is far more dangerous. "That's when injuries happen," he says, "when you're going through the motions." And he insists he could have easily made Amos miss -- if he'd wanted to. But Jacobs' uber-violence is more about inspiring his teammates and dictating the chess game in the trenches. After he runs over a tackler or two, the entire Raiders offense operates on a different plane, while the defenders, obsessed with delivering a huge payback blow, are overextended and off balance. "Then I'm gonna juke 'em and make them look stupid," Jacobs says. "So it's all a mind game."

Two plays later, in fact, Jacobs reeled off a 42-yard run to set up the Raiders' first score. But the damage had been done. This wasn't Cascia Hall Prep. The showdown with Amos had left Jacobs with a fractured right shoulder. "It hurt," Jacobs confesses. "But that's football." In a feat that seems nearly superhuman given the pain involved and the relentless pounding delivered to a running back's shoulder, Jacobs valiantly continued to play -- and play well -- for the next five weeks. Although pain-killing injections deserve some of the credit, playing through the injury earned Jacobs the kind of universal locker room respect and stature that usually takes younger players years to acquire. "That's another weight that Josh has to carry is that he's the focal point of this offense and also this team's identity," Ingold says. "So when you say he runs with all that anger and he runs people over even when he doesn't have to, it's not just Josh, it's the Raiders. He has to set the standard for the rest of us."

Over time, though, Jacobs' shoulder deteriorated to the point that he missed three of Oakland's final four games, and the Raiders faded from playoff contention, finishing 7-9. It was the franchise's 15th non-winning season in the past 16 years. When the doctors finally forced him to sit out, Jacobs was sobbing so hard his entire body was shaking inside his locker. He felt lost again, unmoored. His calling card as a runner had become his kryptonite. And with his life off the field near perfect, moving forward he would have to learn to run with purpose instead of anger.

As crazy as it sounds for someone who dealt with homelessness as a child, the toughest challenge of Jacobs' life was still ahead of him: adapting and surviving in a league in which most running backs are battered and broken and discarded before they hit 30. (Case in point: Leonard Fournette, the No. 4 pick in the 2017 draft, was cut in camp by the hapless Jaguars before signing with Tampa Bay.)

Sometimes, Jacobs learned, the actual work begins after all your dreams come true. "I'm gonna be one of those guys who walks away with my body intact," Jacobs insists. "I'm not gonna be one of those guys who plays until he's 35 and all of that. I plan on leaving on my terms. And my running style? Not only does that come from my life, it comes from people trying to confine me and put me in some kind of box, like 'You're this kind of runner, you're that type of runner."

Jacobs' shoulder injury opened the door for Cardinals quarterback Kyler Murray to win 2019 Rookie of the Year honors. Jacobs, who finished third in the NFL with 88.5 yards per game, would award himself only a B for his rookie season. Rather than bask in his success and the realization of a lifelong dream of buying his dad a house, after the season Jacobs went to Gruden and, instead of a pat on the back, asked for a shove.

Chucky was, of course, more than happy to oblige.

"He's got to stay healthy," Gruden says. "We need our feature back down the stretch. We were in a playoff stretch last year and didn't have him. He's got to stay wire-to-wire healthy, and we have to get more out of him in the passing game, more on the field on third downs. He had a great year last year, and we expect more from him this year."

Gruden's message seems to have gotten through -- a little. On the fourth day of camp, Jacobs caught a pass in the flat and began to lower his shoulder preparing to steamroll then-teammate Damarious Randall, only to pull up at the last second to smartly avoid a collision. It was a sign, however small, that Jacobs has begun to manage those cravings for contact and run with focus instead of fury. Of course, after the play, Jacobs barked, "Boom! I just retired you" just to remind everyone that the détente was a temporary courtesy, and only for teammates.

To further reduce Jacobs' wear and tear and increase his production -- as well as his Q-rating -- Gruden plans to get him much more involved in the passing game. The goal is to increase his 20 catches in 2019 to 60 this season. His four catches in the opener put him on pace for 64. If he stays on that pace and gains another 1,000 yards on the ground, that combo would put Jacobs in rare company, alongside versatile All-Pro-level backs such as Christian McCaffrey and Ezekiel Elliott.

It's a skill set Jacobs has been developing for years. Back in Tulsa, before his senior season at McLain, when Payne realized Jacobs had a better arm than any of his quarterbacks, the coach (and robotics teacher) recircuited his entire offense and moved Jacobs to Wildcat quarterback. The improvement was instant. "And ridiculous," Payne says. "Like watching a human highlight film." For good measure, Jacobs also started at safety and even found time to contribute on special teams and pitch in with some game strategy consulting.

In 2015, in a late-season game with playoff implications, McLain had the ball at the 30 with the score tied and time about to run out. McLain hadn't kicked a field goal all season, so Payne had already begun making plans for overtime when, instead of taking a knee, his quarterback called timeout and trotted to the sideline. "Hey, Coach, let's kick it," Jacobs said. "I've been watching our kicker and working with him -- he can make it." Payne huddled the team together and drew up a makeshift field goal formation using Jacobs as a decoy. Thinking it had to be a trick play, the defense didn't bother to rush the kicker. "He lines up, takes his time and kicks the most perfect 30-yard field goal you will ever see in your life," Payne says. "Josh brings out the best in everyone, even the kickers, even the coaches."

At Bama, to get Jacobs more opportunities while sharing time on a roster loaded with future NFL playmakers, Locksley used him as a back, as a slot receiver, on pass protection, on special teams and even at quarterback. "And he was good at everything," the coach says. "As an offensive coordinator, he's just one of those rare chess pieces. I call him Swiss Army Knife because he's just so multifaceted."

It's a trait that applies to Jacobs' entire life. Wanting to expand his interests off the field, this summer Jacobs met with several businessmen and entrepreneurs who, he says, always had the same response: "Are you sure you're only 22?" Teammates swear he can hit 15 3-pointers in a row on a basketball court. On his first carry in camp, after nearly falling on his face, Jacobs put one hand on the ground, caught his balance and blew through the Raiders' defense. "We all just looked at each other like, 'Oh my god,'" Ingold says. "The first time you see his kind of power and acceleration, it's like watching a new Ferrari leave the shop."

A few days later, when Raiders back Jalen Richard visited Jacobs' home outside of Vegas, Jacobs was playing piano and preparing chicken and shrimp fried rice from scratch. "So what can't you do?" Richard said with a laugh.

Before the Raiders had even completed their move to Vegas, Jacobs had already worked with the Nevada governor and attorney general to produce child ID kits to prevent human trafficking in a region with the country's highest rates of youth homelessness. Just before the 2019 draft, when it looked as if Jacobs was headed to Las Vegas, a die-hard Raiders fan and volunteer at the Nevada Partnership for Homeless Youth emailed Ghafoori, the NPHY director. The Raiders are going to have someone on their team who could have literally been one of your kids at NPHY, the email said. "I looked Josh up and read his story and I got goose bumps," Ghafoori says. "The Raiders have their own unique history in terms of having multiple homes. ... The Raiders could make a huge impact in Nevada, and Josh could be our biggest game-changer."

Ultimately it will be up to Gruden whether Jacobs has a similar impact on the Raiders franchise. When it comes to incorporating running backs into the passing game, many NFL schemes still operate like nickel slots at the Flamingo: low risk, low reward. Even in today's pass-happy NFL, contributing in the passing game for running backs mostly means serving as a safety valve checkdown for quarterbacks. (The Giants are constantly neutralizing Saquon Barkley this way.)

Dumping the ball off on simple flare-outs, rub routes and shallow crosses to a dynamic talent like Jacobs is essentially a gift to defenses, reducing his power and impact by forcing him to move horizontally and allowing the sideline to become a 12th defender instead of attacking defenses vertically and capitalizing on the constant mismatches Jacobs' skill set creates.

Instead, the model for the Raiders should be McCaffery, who, like Jacobs, played multiple positions in high school and lined up 100 times as a slot receiver during his rookie season. That dual threat, in turn, prevents defenses from loading up the box to stop the run. In the opener, Jacobs and McCaffery led their teams with 139 and 135 yards from scrimmage, respectively. (Don't be surprised, by the way, if Gruden also uses Jacobs under center. "I'm not gonna sit here and tell you he's Jim Plunkett," Locksley says, "but Josh is definitely skilled enough to throw the ball.")

So it's a hopeful sign that when asked about his offseason training focus, Jacobs sounds more like a receiver geek than a running back. Former NFL running back and current Raiders wide receivers coach Edgar Bennett constantly fed Jacobs film cut-ups on the art of receiving. One day Jacobs would watch film on disciplined route stems to prevent telegraphing his routes, the next he'd study release techniques for press coverage or how to read body language and create leverage to attack defensive backs downfield. Jacobs even dove into "stacking" -- an advanced technique to manipulate defensive backs in the deep passing game.

If there was any doubt Jacobs had truly upgraded his route-running and receiving game, it ended in Carolina when he vaporized linebacker Shaq Thompson with a surgical cut up the seam for a 29-yard catch. It was one of a dozen highlights in an all-around performance that Jacobs says is just a glimpse of what he plans to unveil in 2020. "In college and high school, I played everything, so it's just about getting back to that," Jacobs says. "I don't want to be known as just a good runner. I'm more than that. I didn't do enough last year, and I left a lot of yards on the table. This year is going to be different for me. I'm going to become a complete player and take my game to the next level."

Tonight, with the national spotlight focused on Allegiant Stadium, the 2020 Raiders and their franchise back, as the previous King of Vegas once said: It's now or never.

Raiders' Darren Waller copes with the shutdown by exploring his musical side By Vic Tafur May 15, 2020

The violins start in first, before the bass drops and the angry voice starts poking you in the chest. D Wall, or Darren Waller as Raiders fans and fantasy football players call him, wants to know how your paper is stacking up in his new single, "Profits."

The music video drops Friday, the second to be released off his "Wall Street" album. "SHSW" was a much more relaxing song, with a smiling Waller rapping about how he separated from the crowd, as the acronym indicates, Some How Some Way.

Most people know Waller's story of overcoming addiction, signing with the Raiders and quickly becoming one of the best tight ends in the NFL. Many don't know how serious he is about his music — he recently received his first royalty check. The $500 was the first money he has ever earned for his passion project.

"It's going great," Waller said in a phone interview last week. "Quarantine has provided a lot of time to lock in on improving my production and making new songs."

He is working on building a studio in his new house. Waller is back in Las Vegas, having returned from Georgia week ago. He is all moved in - after spending the past season and a half at the extended-stay hotel two blocks from the Raiders' old facility in Alameda.

"I grew to appreciate the proximity to the facility," Waller said, "because I would get there early for treatment and stay late for treatment."

The Raiders' new facility in Henderson, Nev., is on schedule to be finished next month, with the team's new stadium in Vegas set to be complete in July.

"It's quiet, but I really like Vegas so far and can really see myself enjoying life here," Waller said.

Waller gets up early and logs into the team's online meetings before hitting the field at a local park and working out with teammates Derek Carrier and Foster Moreau. (The team's newest tight end, Jason Witten, is in the process of moving from Dallas.)

"It's been pretty well organized, as far as the position meetings and getting a whole team meeting online," Waller said. "It's gone a lot smoother than I thought it would - I thought there would be a lot of connections dropping and a lot more difficulties.

"There is really good communication from the coaches to the players, so we know what we should be doing to be ready when the time comes."

Waller was very excited by the addition of Witten, an 11-time Pro Bowler with the Cowboys.

"I thought it was awesome," he said. "He is a great example of longevity and doing it the right way. His technique and his mental approach to the game kept him at the top and is going to put him in the Hall of Fame, so to have him in your room and be able to learn from him is priceless."

Waller said Moreau used to mention watching film of Witten, and that prompted him to do the same last year.

"There are things that caught me off guard watching him," Waller said. "He looks fast because he is great getting off the ball right at the snap, like no one I have ever seen — he will be ahead of wide receivers. So I am watching and thinking, 'I didn't know Jason Witten was that fast,' but it's that get-off and there are a lot of small details to his game that are just incredible."

Waller can't wait to get together with Witten and the rest of his teammates.

"I think we had another great draft class and we're putting together something special on both sides of the ball," he said. "We have a lot to offer Las Vegas, a lot of energy and we also want to do big things in the community."

Waller was also excited about the schedule, much fairer than last season's, when the Raiders were away from home for seven straight weeks.

"I feel that if we can get through last year's schedule, there is nothing we can't get through," he said.

The bar is high for Waller, in particular. A receiver in college, Waller is still learning the nuances of the tight end position and last season had 90 catches for 1,145 yards at 27 years old. And that's with defenses bracketing their coverage toward him after receiver Antonio Brown was cut and Tyrell Williams was injured.

"I see a lot of room for growth," Waller said.

He can block as well and is already among the handful of most valuable tight ends in the NFL. But Waller leaves the swagger to his rap persona.

"I try not to compare and say I am better than that guy," Waller said. "Saying I am the top dog doesn't do too much for me, because things change week to week. I just need to be the best me I can possibly be. That makes my life a lot simpler.

"I save that kind of energy for the music."

After football meetings and workouts every weekday, Waller works just as hard in the evenings, coming up with new beats. In many ways it's harder than being a professional football player.

"I pull the laptop open and ... I don't know," Waller said. "Sometimes I will go off a sample and try to flip that. Or I will play with some software that I found called Arcade and I try to create a melody. I just go through random sounds and click and play things on my keyboard until I catch something and I can hear something in my mind. And then I find another sound to layer it up.

"There is no one process. I could also be inspired by something I see or hear or some feeling I have. Something someone said to me can translate into a note that can spark a beat. It's random. ... I try not to press for it and let it just happen. I have taken a week off at times and when I come back to it, I really missed it. I just really enjoy it."

Teammates have remarked how on team flights Waller disappears into his laptop from wheels up to wheels down. And he has said he has missed the first bus from the hotel to the stadium on game days because he has gotten lost in his music.

Waller filmed all five music videos in a span of 39 days, each Saturday beginning in February, in the Atlanta area. He is also recording new stuff, with the same plan that he had last year — having enough songs to put out another project/album at some point during the season.

"I can mess around with a beat for fun during the season," Waller said, "but I don't get to spend an extended amount of time. So I like to get most of my music work done before the season gets going."

Waller recently started his own YouTube channel, and reaction to the music has been positive.

"I have put a lot of work into it and I think it sounds good. So it's definitely good to see other people like it because music is meant to be shared," Waller said. "It was dope to get that check, just because I never thought that was ever possible."

And yes, Raiders fans, that collaboration with teammate Maxx Crosby is still in the works.

"I sent Maxx a whole bunch of beats, so hopefully when he puts something out he will be using one of mine," Waller said. "He is a busy guy, and whenever he is ready to lock in, I am here for him."

Waller will put that song on his YouTube channel or on Instagram when the time comes. While the Instagram account is also popular, Waller winds up checking it almost every day for more important stuff than reactions to his music.

"People message me and tell me how they relate to my story and what they are going through, so I use that to have short conversions with them," Waller said.

Waller struggled with opiate and cocaine addiction when he first came into the league. He was suspended twice for failing drug tests, including for the entire 2017 season.

"I try and connect with fans on Instagram whenever I can and let them know that I see them and I am there, and that I am just a normal human being who had to overcome some stuff," Waller said. "Ever since 'Hard Knocks' (last summer), people have been able to relate to what I went through and I want to let them know that I appreciate them and what they are going through as well. And those talks give me a recharge because I am not perfect and I have doubts and I need to be picked up sometimes, too.

"People saying they look to me for inspiration gives me extra life sometimes."

Waller also started the Darren Waller Foundation a few months ago. There was a kickoff dinner scheduled for it on the Las Vegas Strip during NFL Draft weekend, but the pandemic wiped that out.

"Corona has us on hold, but we'll start having events as soon as Vegas is up and running again," Waller said. "We just want to educate people and put my story and the stories of others in front of the youth.

"Kids always envision who they want to be when they grow up, without really taking stock of their mental health and how happy they are going to be when they get there. Maybe kids ages 10 on up to 25, getting in front of them as well as having an online community, which can serve as a safe space. They can say whatever is on their minds.

"I am trying to put together things that I wish I would have taken advantage of when I was a teenager."

Music was one of the things that Waller turned to before he was sober, and it's been even sweeter for him since he cleaned up.

"On my first project, there are songs where I am talking about drinking or using drugs, and I was able to learn how to make music without doing that," Waller said. "I was afraid that once I got sober, my music was going to be trash — because you know, that's a big part of rap — but my stuff did get better and I was able to be creative without rapping about material things, drug, alcohol or talking about women in a crazy way. I was able to find my sound, find my pocket and still be confident and still feel like I could still put music out that people would want to listen to."
