The game also will air nationally on Sports USA Radio, with broadcasters Larry Kahn (play-by-play) and Mark Carrier (analyst).

Setting the scene: The Bengals this week travel to Chicago to face the Bears at Soldier Field on Sunday at 1 p.m. Cincinnati will be looking to ride the momentum of a thrilling overtime win over the Minnesota Vikings on Sunday.

"We found a way to win in all three phases," said Bengals head coach Zac Taylor. "I told the team that there were times today it looked pretty dark, and I think a lot of people would probably agree with me there, but we got the win."

The victory came courtesy of the right leg of rookie K Evan McPherson, who booted a game-winning 33-yard FG as time expired in OT. McPherson's kick came after Minnesota had made a game-tying 53-yard FG as time expired in regulation. The contest went down as the first in NFL history in which there was a game-tying score with zero seconds remaining in regulation and a game-winning score with zero seconds remaining in overtime.

"It was Evan's first career game, so I don't care how far that field goal is," Taylor said after the win. "That's an intense situation, and he was 'nails,' as we expected him to be."

With the kick, McPherson (22 years, 53 days old) became the youngest player in league history to convert a game-winning FG in overtime.

"That was actually my first-ever walk-off field goal," McPherson said. "It was super exciting, and I'm glad I got to do it for this team."

"Every kick's the same for me. It was 33 yards, which is a PAT. That's what was going through my mind. I already did it three times earlier in the game, so it was nothing new. I just hit it cleanly, and I knew it was going to go in."

The game also was notable for being the return of Bengals QB Joe Burrow, who played for the first time since his season-ending left knee injury last November. After a long rehab process, Burrow fulfilled his public vow that he would start Cincinnati's season-opener. The second-year QB didn't show many signs of rust either, posting career-highs in passer rating (128.8), completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempt (9.6). In the first half alone — his very first action since the injury last November — he posted a 149.2 passer rating and had as many TDs (two) as he did incompletions (11-for-13 passing). Burrow finished off the game with a seven-play, 46-yard drive in overtime that set up the winning FG. That drive was highlighted by perhaps the play of the day, when on fourth-and-inches with 39 seconds remaining in OT, Burrow changed the play at the line of scrimmage and tossed a 32-yard pass to TE C.J. Uzomah to get the Bengals to the Vikings' 20-yard line. McPherson's kick came three plays later.

"We ran a QB sneak earlier in the game, so they put a guy over center and then set two shading over the guards," Burrow explained of the dramatic conversion. "It was going to be tough to run the ball up the middle, so we had a second play called, and that's what I got to at the line. We've run that play multiple times over the last couple of years, and I don't think we've thrown it to C.J. once. But he was ready for it."

Burrow got a significant lift from his supporting cast in his first game back. HB Joe Mixon, who himself was returning to action after a foot injury ended his 2020 campaign in October, burst back onto the scene with 127 rushing yards on 29 carries. His rushing total was the highest of any player across the league in Week 1.

"The linemen were blocking their (tails) off," Mixon said after the game. "Everybody on the perimeter was blocking, and the tight ends were doing their thing too. It was great."

"Man, it felt great to be back. It was electric out there. The atmosphere was crazy. I'm just very pleased that we got the win, because we worked really hard all offseason."

The other major contributor on offense was rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase, who had five catches for 101 yards and a TD in his NFL debut. Chase, Cincinnati's first-round pick in April's draft, became the youngest Bengal (21 years, 195 days) ever to post 100 receiving yards, the third-youngest Bengal ever to score a TD, and the first Bengal with a receiving TD in his NFL debut since A.J. Green in 2011. Additionally, Chase's 50-yard TD catch at the end of the first half was the longest TD of any kind by a Bengals rookie in their NFL debut.

"That's the expectation," Chase said when asked about the offense's potential. "We've got Joe Burrow at quarterback — that's a real quarterback. We've got nothing to do but lean on Joe and have Joe tell us what to do, and vice-versa. We're one unit, one team, and we've got to get the job done."

On the other side of the ball for Cincinnati, the defense held Minnesota, a top-five offense a year ago, in check for much of the contest. The play of the game on defense came courtesy of LB Germaine Pratt, who forced and recovered a fumble by Vikings RB Dalvin Cook with two minutes remaining in OT and Minnesota nearing range for a game-winning FG. "I knew I had it," Pratt said of the fumble. "There was no doubt in my mind. We needed a play, and we'd all been preaching about getting to the ball and winning the turnover battle. It was an opportunity to go against one of the league's best backs, but he had five fumbles last year, so I thought it was great opportunity to take the ball away."

Cincinnati's defense as a whole caused problems for Minnesota all day, and those issues were magnified by the crowd at Paul Brown Stadium. Cincinnati's defensive line stole the show on defense, posting three sacks, five additional QB hits and two additional tackles for losses, all while holding Cook to just 3.1 yards per carry. Together, the crowd teamed with the Bengals' defense to force 12 Vikings penalties for 116 yards, including five offensive holding penalties (all along the offensive line) and five for false starts.

"That's why you invest in your defense," Taylor said of the effort. "Those guys stepped up. There's a lot of things we can clean up all over the map for the whole team. But when it mattered, those guys collapsed the pocked and put pressure on the quarterback, and a lot of that that stems with coverage as well."

Added Burrow about the fans: "The Vikings were going on their normal cadence — they weren't going on silent at the beginning of the game, and they false-started three, four, five times. That's strictly because of the fans. That's why they give us such a big advantage. We're going to keep winning, they're going to keep coming and it's going to get louder and louder and louder. That's big."

This week, the Bengals travel to Chicago to face a Bears team led by a familiar face in QB Andy Dalton, a 2011 second-round pick of the Bengals who served as Cincinnati's starter for nine seasons. Additionally, the Bears' offense is coordinated by Bill Lazor, who was the Bengals' offensive coordinator in 2018.

“Andy obviously has been playing at a high level for a long time,” Taylor said. “He’s a smart player who is going to put his team in a great position to do really good things. We certainly have our work cut out for us.”

Chicago enters Sunday’s matchup at 0-1, after losing 34-14 at the L.A. Rams on Sunday night.

The series: Though they are relatively close geographical neighbors, the Bengals and Bears have played infrequently, with Cincinnati holding a 6-5 series lead.

Outside of the relatively new franchise Carolina, 11 is tied for the fewest number of all-time games between the Bengals and any opponent. The only other long-established NFL teams that the Bengals have played just 11 times are the N.Y. Giants (the Bengals lead 6-5) and the Washington Football Team (the series is tied 5-5-1).

The Bengals have lost the last two meetings with Chicago, 24-21 in 2013 at Chicago and 33-7 in 2017 at Cincinnati.

Home-field advantage has not been a factor in the Cincinnati-Chicago series. The Bengals lead 4-2 at Chicago and trail 3-2 as the home team.

A complete recap of the Bengals-Bears series appears on page 193 of the 2021 Bengals Media Guide.

Team bests from the series:

Bengals — MOST POINTS: 45, in a 45-10 win at Paul Brown Stadium in 2009. LARGEST VICTORY MARGIN: 35, in the 45-10 win in '09. FEWEST POINTS ALLOWED: 3, in a 13-3 win at Chicago in 1972, the first game of the series.

Bengals career records watch: Here’s a look at potential upcoming movement in the team’s career records book (regular-season):

- Bengals P Kevin Huber has played in 191 career Bengals games, one shy of QB Ken Anderson (192) for third place all-time. CB Ken Riley (207) is the Bengals’ all-time leader.
- Bengals LS Clark Harris has played in 185 career Bengals games, tied with OT Anthony Munoz (185) for sixth place all-time.
- Bengals S Brandon Wilson has two career kickoff returns for TDs, tied with S/CB Tremain Mack for the Bengals’ all-time lead.

Records vs. Bears: On Dec. 14, 1980 at Soldier Field, CB Louis Breeden became the third Bengal to register the team record of three interceptions in a game. The record now has been set eight times, by six players.

On Sept. 25, 2005 at Soldier Field, Bears QB Kyle Orton threw five INTs against the Bengals, tied for the most by an opposing QB. That record has been reached four times. The other QBs were Oakland’s Daryle Lamonica (1969), Minnesota’s Daunte Culpepper (2005) and Green Bay’s Brett Favre ('05).

Individually vs. Bears: Tyler Boyd is the only current Bengal who has offensive statistics in a previous game against Chicago. He caught one pass for 15 yards vs. the Bears in 2017.

Bengals-Bears connections: Bears QB Andy Dalton originally was a second-round pick of the Bengals in 2011, and was with the team through the '19 season ... Bears RB David Montgomery is from Cincinnati (Mount Healthy High School) ... Bengals WR Mike Thomas is from Chicago (DuSable High School), and played one season (2012) at the College of Dupage in Glen Ellyn, Ill. (outside Chicago) ... Uniform watch: The Bengals are scheduled to wear white jerseys and black pants this week at Chicago. The team over the offseason unveiled new uniforms, marking Cincinnati’s first significant uniform redesign since 2004.

There are three different color options for the new jerseys — black, white and orange. The pants also feature three different options — black with orange stripes, white with orange stripes, and white with black stripes. The team’s iconic striped helmet was unchanged.

Here are the possible combinations for the Bengals’ new uniforms (this table does not consider the additional possible options of the three sock colors of black, orange and white):

* — NFL rules allow teams to wear designated alternate jerseys, color rush (CR) uniforms and/or throwback uniforms for a combined total of three regular-season games. As in years past, orange will serve as the Bengals’ designated alternate jersey. Cincinnati does not have a throwback uniform, and no longer has a color rush uniform.

THE HEAD COACHES

Zac Taylor was named the 10th head coach in Cincinnati Bengals history on Feb. 4, 2019.

In 2019, his first season as head coach, Taylor headed off a wave of early season injuries to lead Cincinnati to second-half turnarounds on both offense and defense. Offensively, the Bengals' per-game rushing average jumped 70.6 yards from the first half of the season (59.5) to the second (130.1), while their per-attempt average jumped 1.26 yards (3.17 to 4.43) and they allowed 10 fewer sacks (29 to 19). The team's top four WRs — Tyler Boyd, Alex Erickson, Auden Tate and John Ross III — all posted career-highs in both receptions and receiving yards. Defensively, Cincinnati notched 11 more sacks in the second half of the season compared to the first, and allowed 84.1 fewer yards per game. The team finished 2-14 that season.

In 2020, Taylor helped transition QB Joe Burrow, the No. 1 overall pick in the draft, to the pro level despite the absence of an in-person offseason program due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Taylor helped Burrow to one of the most productive starts to a career by a QB in NFL history, before a knee injury ended the rookie's season after 10 games. Still, Burrow's 264 completions were the most ever by an NFL QB through their first 10 career games, while his 404 pass attempts were second and his 2688 passing yards were fifth. Defensively, Taylor oversaw the onboarding of seven new starters, and helped Cincinnati hold opposing passers to just a 62.8 completion percentage (sixth-lowest in the NFL).

Taylor came to Cincinnati after two seasons (2017-18) with the L.A. Rams, where he served as assistant wide receivers coach in 2017 and quarterbacks coach in '18. In 2018, he helped guide Rams QB Jared Goff to career highs in every major passing category. Goff ranked fourth in the NFL in passing yards and eighth in passer rating. The Rams' QB play was a key component to their offense, which finished the regular season ranked second in the NFL in total net yards (421.1 per game), fifth in net passing yards (281.7), second in scoring (32.9), first in first downs (401) and fifth in third-down percentage (45.0). Los Angeles won the NFC West with a 13-3 regular-season record and advanced to Super Bowl LIII against the New England Patriots.

In 2017, Taylor helped oversee an emerging Rams passing offense that ranked 10th in the NFL in passing yards per game (239.4). Taylor directed a young Rams receiving corps headed by rookie Cooper Kupp, who finished the season with 62 catches, a team-high 869 receiving yards and five TDs.

Prior to his time with the Rams, Taylor had a one-year stint in the college ranks, serving as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at the University of Cincinnati in 2016. Taylor served under head coach Tommy Tuberville at UC.

Taylor broke into NFL coaching in 2012 with the Miami Dolphins as assistant quarterbacks coach. He was elevated to quarterbacks coach from 2013-15, and spent the final five games of '15 as the Dolphins' interim offensive coordinator and primary play-caller, after the team made coaching staff changes.

During his time in Miami, Taylor was instrumental in the development of QB Ryan Tannehill, the team's first-round draft pick in 2012.

Taylor's coaching career began at Texas A&M University, where he served as offensive graduate assistant and tight ends coach under head coach Mike Sherman from 2008-11. The Aggies shared the Big 12 South Championship in 2010 and played in three bowl games during Taylor's time in College Station.

As a player, Taylor began his college career at Wake Forest (2002-03), before transferring to Butler County Community College in Kansas ('04) and then playing his final two seasons ('05-06) at the University of Nebraska. Taylor had a decorated career with the Cornhuskers, setting numerous school records and passing for a combined 5850 yards and 45 touchdowns. In his senior season of 2006, Taylor was named Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year after passing for 3197 total yards and leading the Cornhuskers to a 9-3 record, an appearance in the Big 12 Championship Game and a berth in the Cotton Bowl. He was inducted into the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame in 2017.

Taylor joined the Tampa Bay Buccaneers as a college free agent in 2007, but he was waived prior to the start of training camp and never saw NFL action. Later that year, he joined the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League, where he spent one season (did not play).

His father, Sherwood, was a defensive back and captain at the University of Oklahoma, playing under Sooners head coach Barry Switzer from 1976-79. Sherwood Taylor later served as an assistant coach at Oklahoma and Kansas State University. Taylor's brother, Press, played quarterback at Marshall University and is currently senior offensive assistant for the Indianapolis Colts.

Taylor was born in Norman, Okla., on May 10, 1983. After attending Norman High School, he earned a bachelor's degree in communication studies from the University of Nebraska in 2006. He and his wife, Sarah, have four children — Brooks, Luke, Emma Claire and Milly. Sarah Taylor is the daughter of former Green Bay Packers and Texas A&M head coach Mike Sherman.

Matt Nagy was named the 16th head coach in Chicago Bears history on Jan. 8, 2018.

In his inaugural season of 2018, Nagy guided the Bears to their first playoff appearance since 2010.

Nagy joined the Bears with 10 seasons of coaching experience in the NFL with the Kansas City Chiefs (2013-17) and Philadelphia Eagles ('08-12). He was promoted to Chiefs offensive coordinator in 2017 after spending '16 as a co-offensive coordinator with Brad Childress. Nagy served as the Chiefs' quarterbacks coach from 2013-15.

In Philadelphia, Nagy was the Eagles' offensive quality control coach from 2011-12 and a coaching assistant in '10. He started as a coaching intern with the Eagles from 2008-09.

Nagy played QB at the University of Delaware from 1997-2000. He played six seasons in the AFL for the N.Y. Dragons (2002), Carolina Cobras ('04), Georgia Force ('05-06) and Columbus Destroyers ('07-08).

Nagy began his coaching career at the high school level in Central Pennsylvania, as an assistant coach at Manheim Central (2001), then quarterbacks coach at Cedar Crest ('02-03) and offensive coordinator at Palmyra Area ('08-09).

Nagy was born on April 24, 1978, in Plainfield, N.J. He and his wife, Stacey, have four sons — Brayden, Tate, Jaxon and Jett.

Burrow bounces back: Bengals QB Joe Burrow returned to the lineup this season a little more than nine months after his rookie campaign was cut short by a left knee injury. Over the offseason, a hot topic of debate centered on how quickly Burrow could return to the field, and how quickly he would return to form. He answered both of those questions in Game 1 vs. Minnesota. First, he fulfilled a public promise he made shortly after the injury, when he said that he would start Cincinnati's 2021 season opener. Then he emphatically answered any questions that remained about the possibility of having rust.

Burrow against Minnesota posted career-highs in passer rating (128.8), completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempt (9.67). At halftime, he had as many TDs (two) as he did incompletions (11 of 13 passing). He finished off the game with a seven-play, 46-yard drive in overtime that set up a game-winning FG as time expired. That drive was highlighted by perhaps the play of the day, when on fourth-and-inches with 39 seconds remaining in OT, Burrow changed the play at the line of scrimmage and tossed a 32-yard pass to TE C.J. Uzomah to get the Bengals to the Vikings' 20-yard line. Three plays later, rookie K Evan McPherson nailed the 33-yard game-winner.

"I was excited to get out there and get hit a little bit," Burrow said of his first game back. "I think I could have played a little better, but it's great to get the win in Game 1. I don't think we win that game last year."

Recapping Burrow's NFL journey: Bengals QB Joe Burrow has returned healthy this year after his rookie campaign last season ended due to a left knee injury suffered early in the third quarter of Cincinnati's Nov. 22 game at Washington. With one of the top statistical seasons by any rookie in Bengals history cut short, the 24-year old Burrow had surgery on Dec. 2 and then embarked on a long rehab process. He was medically cleared in time to take the first snap of training camp on July 28, and participated fully in every practice (save for one scheduled rest day). Bengals coaches played it safe with Burrow in preseason, though, limiting him to just three snaps, which came in the preseason finale vs. Miami.

Burrow ended his rookie campaign with 404 pass attempts, 264 completions, a 65.3 completion percentage, 13 TDs, five INTs and a passer rating of 89.8. He had five 300-yard passing games, which tied the Bengals' single-season record despite him playing only 10 games. The Athens, Ohio native had been on pace to shatter numerous other NFL rookie passing records, including the marks for attempts, completions and passing yards.

Burrow approaches 3000 passing yards: Bengals QB Joe Burrow enters his 12th career game on Sunday in Chicago with 2949 passing yards, just 51 shy of 3000. If he reaches 3000 against the Bears, he will tie for the fifth-fastest NFL QB ever to do so, in terms of games played.

It should be noted that Burrow missed nearly the entire second half of his 10th career game, after he left the contest with a season-ending left knee injury early in the third quarter.

Here's a look at the NFL QBs who took the fewest number of games to reach 3000 career passing yards:

PLAYER	TEAM	GAMES TO REACH 3K YARDS
Patrick Mahomes	Kansas City Chiefs	10
Justin Herbert	L.A. Chargers	10
Cam Newton	Carolina Panthers	11
Andrew Luck	Indianapolis Colts	11
Deshawn Watson	Houston Texans	12
Baker Mayfield	Cleveland Browns	12
Marc Bulger	St. Louis Rams	12

Burrow among fastest Bengals to 3K: Joe Burrow enters Sunday's game at Chicago with 2949 career passing yards — just 51 shy of reaching 3000 — on 431 attempts. When he does reach 3000 passing yards, he will be among the fastest Bengals ever to hit the mark.

Here's a look at the Bengals QBs who took the fewest number of passing attempts to reach 3000 career yards:

BENGALS QB	PASS ATTEMPTS TO REACH 3K YARDS
Jeff Blake	420
Boomer Esiason	425
Andy Dalton	437
Carson Palmer	446

Burrow's 300-yard games make history: Despite playing only 10 games as a rookie in 2020, Bengals QB Joe Burrow passed for 300 yards five times. That total at the time was tied for second-most ever among NFL rookies, and just one shy of the then-rookie record of six, set by Colts QB Andrew Luck in 2012. Then, of course, came Burrow's season-ending left knee injury on Nov. 22 at Washington.

At the time of his injury — early in the third quarter — Burrow was just 97 yards shy of the 300-yard mark, which would have given him his sixth such performance and put him into a tie with Luck with six games remaining in the season. That never happened, of course, and later in the season Chargers QB Justin Herbert surpassed Luck and established his own rookie record of eight 300-yard games.

Earlier in season, Burrow became the first rookie QB in NFL history to ever throw for 300 yards in three consecutive games — Game 2 at Cleveland (316), Game 3 at Philadelphia (312) and Game 4 vs. Jacksonville (300).

Additionally, Burrow joined Chiefs QB Patrick Mahomes as the only players in NFL history to top 300 passing yards in at least five of their first seven career games. Mahomes, though, did it over his first and second seasons, meaning Burrow is the first rookie in league history to accomplish the feat.

Burrow's five 300-yard passing games also put him into a tie for the single-season team record, alongside Boomer Esiason (strike-shortened 1987 season), Carson Palmer (2007) and Andy Dalton ('13). Burrow's three consecutive 300-yard games are tied for the second-most in Bengals history, and were just one shy of Dalton's team record of four, set in 2015.

Burrow's college connections: Bengals QB Joe Burrow may only be in his second NFL season, but he has plenty familiar faces around him in Cincinnati. There are six current Bengals who played with Burrow in college at either Ohio State or LSU, meaning 11.5 percent of Burrow's 52 Bengals teammates suited up with him for at least one season in college.

The Bengals also have two practice squad players who played with Burrow, along with one assistant coach — assistant WRs coach Brad Kragthorpe — who was on LSU's staff in 2018, Burrow's first season with the Tigers.

Here's a look at the current Bengals who played with Burrow in college, along with the years they played together. Burrow played at Ohio State from 2015-17, and at Louisiana State from '18-19:

NAME	POSITION	SCHOOL	SEASONS WITH BURROW
Eli Apple	CB	Ohio State	2015
Vonn Bell	S	Ohio State	2015
Ja'Marr Chase	WR	Louisiana State	2018-19
Sam Hubbard	DE	Ohio State	2015-17
Isaiah Prince	OT	Ohio State	2015-17
Tyler Shelvin	DT	Louisiana State	2018-19
Keandre Jones*	LB	Ohio State	2016-17
Thaddeus Moss*	TE	Louisiana State	2018-19

* — Asterisk denotes practice squad player.

2021 Bengals captains: Prior to start of the regular season, the Bengals named team captains for 2021 on offense, defense and special teams.

On offense, the captains are second-year QB Joe Burrow, fifth-year HB Joe Mixon and sixth-year WR Tyler Boyd. This is Burrow's second season as a captain, while Mixon and Boyd are first-time captains.

On defense, the captains are fourth-year S Jessie Bates, fourth-year DE Sam Hubbard and sixth-year S Vonn Bell. It's the first captain nod for both Bates and Hubbard, and the second for Bell, who joined the Bengals last season.

The lone captain on special teams is P Kevin Huber, who is the longest-tenured Bengal on the roster at 13 seasons. Huber is 36 years old, while Boyd, Bell and Hubbard are the next-oldest captains at just 26.

Roster flip noticeable in Year 3: Zac Taylor took over as Bengals head coach in 2019, and throughout his now three-year tenure there has been a steady but noticeable churn of the roster. Of the 53 players on the current roster (as of Tuesday, Sept. 14), only 13 suited up as Bengals prior to Taylor's arrival. That means 40 current Bengals — or 75.5 percent of the roster — have joined Cincinnati since 2019.

Cincinnati's roster overhaul has especially hit overdrive since the end of last season. Twenty-three current Bengals — that's 43.4 percent of the 53-player roster — entered the 2021 season having never suited up in a game for Cincinnati. (It should be noted that figure includes three players who were with Cincinnati previously but never played — CB Trae Waynes, OT Isaiah Prince and TE Mitchell Wilcox.)

McPherson the youngest with OT winner: Bengals rookie K Evan McPherson made his NFL debut in style on Sept. 12 vs. Minnesota, booting a game-winning 33-yard FG as time expired in OT.

McPherson, a fifth-round pick of the Bengals in April's draft, chose to forgo his final year of college eligibility to enter the NFL draft, and thus is among the youngest Bengals on the roster. At the time of his game-winner against Minnesota, which he says was the first "walk-off" FG of his career on any level, he was 22 years and 53 days old (born 7-21-99), making him the youngest player in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG in overtime. It also made him just the second rookie kicker in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG with no time remaining in OT (the other was Miami K Jason Sanders in 2018). Earlier in the game, McPherson became the youngest Bengal ever to kick a FG or PAT.

Here's a look at the youngest players in NFL history to kick a game-winning FG in OT:

PLAYER	TEAM	DATE/OPPONENT	AGE
Evan McPherson	Cincinnati	9-12-2021 vs. Minn.	22 years, 53 days
Pete Stoyanovich	Miami	10-8-1989 vs. Cle.	22 years, 163 days
Wade Richey	San Francisco	12-6-1998 at Car.	22 years, 201 days
Ali Haji-Sheikh	N.Y. Giants	9-11-1983 at Atl.	22 years, 243 days
Blair Walsh	Minnesota	9-9-2012 vs. Jax.	22 years, 245 days

Tee continues rookie momentum: Bengals WR Tee Higgins this season has continued the momentum he built during his rookie campaign in 2020. Higgins, a second-round pick of the Bengals in 2020, has four catches for 58 yards and a TD so far this season.

Last year, Higgins' 67 catches tied with former WR Cris Collinsworth for the most by a rookie in team history, while his team-high 908 receiving yards were good for the fourth-most ever by a Bengals rookie. He also hauled in six TD catches, tied for fifth-most ever by a Bengals rookie. He finished the season ranked third leaguewide in catches, yards and TDs by a rookie.

It also should be noted that Higgins' rookie accomplishments came despite several obstacles along the way. He did not have an offseason program or preseason games due to the COVID-19 pandemic, and a hamstring injury caused him to miss two weeks early in training camp. He was eased into the WR rotation the first two regular-season games, and then his starting QB — fellow rookie Joe Burrow — was lost for the final six games of the season due to injury. Higgins caught passes from three different QBs as a rookie.

Then, he was held without a catch in the season finale after leaving early in the game with an injury. That injury occurred on a 41-yard catch-and-run in the first quarter, which would have broken the rookie receptions tie with Collinsworth and moved him closer to becoming just the third Bengals rookie to record 1000 receiving yards.

Higgins this season has drawn praise from numerous Bengals coaches and teammates for transforming his body over the offseason. "My biggest thing was to get stronger," Higgins said over the summer. "I didn't do any routes, I didn't run. I was just really in the weight room for the most part. Then, once I was able to actually get on the field and do like a workout or something, I just went out there and it felt good. I just felt like I had to get stronger, so I focused a little bit more on the weight room. Now I'm weighing like 220 (pounds), and it feels good. Last year I came in at like 220, but it was too heavy for me, so I had to lose a few pounds. Now it feels really good and I feel even faster."

Boyd looking for third thousand: Bengals WR Tyler Boyd so far this season has three catches for 32 yards. The 2016 second-round pick of the Bengals is looking this season to top 1000 receiving yards for what would be the third time in his career. That would make him just the fifth Bengal ever with as many 1000-yard seasons.

Boyd ended his 2020 season with 841 receiving yards, just 159 shy of reaching the 1000-yard mark for what would have been the third consecutive season. Boyd had been aiming to become just the fourth Bengal ever to reach 1000 receiving yards in at least three consecutive seasons. He was on pace to do just that before he left Game 14 vs. Pittsburgh in the first quarter with a concussion, and then missed the following week at Houston. He also was limited to just 10 games with the team's No. 1 QB, Joe Burrow, who suffered a season-ending injury in November.

Boyd stands as one of nine Bengals ever to reach 1000 receiving yards in a season, and one of six to hit the mark more than once. WR Chad Johnson's seven 1000-yard seasons stand as the most in team history, followed by WRs A.J. Green (six), Carl Pickens (four), Cris Collinsworth (four) and T.J. Houshmandzadeh (two). WRs Eddie Brown, Tim McGee and Darnay Scott each had one 1000-yard season.

Chase, Burrow reunite in Cincinnati: One of the most statistically accomplished QB-WR duos in college football history has reunited in Cincinnati. Bengals QB Joe Burrow, the No. 1 overall pick in the 2020 draft, and WR Ja'Marr Chase, the No. 5 overall pick in the '21 draft, are now teammates again after helping power the Louisiana State Tigers to a college football national championship in 2019.

So far this season, Burrow and Chase have connected five times for 101 yards (20.2 average) and a TD.

With Burrow as his QB in 2019, Chase set single-season SEC records for receiving yards (1780) and TDs (20), en route to winning the Biletnikoff Award as college football's top receiver. Burrow, of course, went on to win the Heisman Trophy as college football's top player that year, after setting numerous NCAA and SEC passing records.

"Ja'Marr is one of the best receivers I've evaluated in the draft," said Bengals head coach Zac Taylor. "You can see the chemistry that he and Joe had together in that 2019 season. He comes in and adds to a great receiver room that we already have, and gives us one more great playmaker. Adding a guy like Ja'Marr when we already have Tyler Boyd and Tee Higgins, you're able to put pressure on the defense."

Chase third-youngest to hit paydirt: It didn't take Bengals rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase long to find the end zone. Cincinnati's first-round pick in April's draft caught a 50-yard TD from QB Joe Burrow just before halftime in the team's season-opener vs. Minnesota, and in doing so he became the third-youngest Bengal ever to score a TD. Chase also finished the Vikings game with 101 receiving yards, which made him the youngest Bengal ever to hit 100 receiving yards in a game.

Chase, the youngest Bengal on the current roster, was just 195 days removed from his 21st birthday when he scored in the opener. Only former DE Robert Geathers and HB Joe Mixon, Chase's teammate, were younger for their first Bengals TD.

Here's a look at the youngest Bengals to score a touchdown:

PLAYER	DATE/OPPONENT	AGE
HB Joe Mixon	10-8-2017 vs. Buffalo	21 years, 76 days
DE Robert Geathers	1-2-2005 at Philadelphia	21 years, 144 days
WR Ja'Marr Chase	9-12-2021 vs. Minnesota	21 years, 195 days
WR Josh Malone	10-29-2017 vs. Indianapolis	21 years, 222 days
S Jessie Bates	10-28-2018 vs. Tampa Bay	21 years, 244 days

Chase goes long in debut: Bengals rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase began his Bengals career in style, with five catches for 101 yards and a TD in his NFL debut. His first two catches converted third downs to keep alive what became a Bengals TD drive, and then his third reception was a 50-yard TD pass from QB Joe Burrow to give the Bengals the lead just before halftime.

That 50-yard TD went down as the longest score of any kind by a Bengals rookie in their NFL debut.

Here's a look at the longest TDs by Bengals rookies in their NFL debut.

BENGALS ROOKIE	DATE/OPPONENT	TOUCHDOWN
WR Ja'Marr Chase	9-12-2021 vs. Minnesota	50-yard reception
WR A.J. Green	9-11-2011 at Cleveland	41-yard reception
WR Darnay Scott	9-4-1994 vs. Cleveland	24-yard reception
QB Joe Burrow	9-13-2020 vs. L.A. Chargers	23-yard rush

Mixon fastest Bengal to 3K/1K: Bengals HB Joe Mixon currently stands at 3486 career rushing yards and 1031 receiving yards. It took the 2017 second-round pick just 45 career games to hit 3000 career rushing yards, and then another five to top 1000 career receiving yards. That made him one of just seven Bengals ever to hit both marks, however it took him the fewest number of games (50) to do so.

Corey Dillon, James Brooks, Pete Johnson, Harold Green, Giovani Bernard and Essex Johnson are the only other players to accomplish the 3000/1000 feat as Bengals. And of those players, only Dillon, Brooks and Johnson reached 4000 career rushing yards as Bengals, a figure Mixon is just 514 yards shy of.

Here's a look at the fastest players ever to top 3000 career rushing yards and 1000 career receiving yards in a Bengals uniform (it should be noted that Brooks began his career with the San Diego Chargers from 1981-83; however, the data counts only rushing/receiving yardage and games played as a Bengal):

NAME	BENGALS GAMES TO REACH 3K/1K
Joe Mixon	50
James Brooks	61
Corey Dillon	71
Giovani Bernard	75
Pete Johnson	77

Bengals tough when Mixon hits 20 carries: The Bengals hold a 9-6 record when HB Joe Mixon reaches the 20-carry mark. And in those 15 games, Mixon has topped 100 rushing yards 10 times. Nine of his last 11 games with 20 carries have resulted in 100-yard rushing performances.

The Bengals are 1-0 this year when Mixon hits the mark — he had 29 carries for 127 yards (4.4 average) in a win over Minnesota in the season opener. Last year, despite being limited by a foot injury to just six games, Mixon hit the 20-carry mark twice, and the Bengals were 1-1 in those contests.

Mixon secures the rock: Not only is Bengals HB Joe Mixon considered one of the top rushers in the NFL, he's also proven effective at protecting the football. Mixon has fumbled just four times (two lost) since entering the league in 2017, a span that covers 974 combined touches on offense (841 rushes, 133 catches). That includes just one fumble (lost) since the start of the 2018 season. He also put together a streak of 541 consecutive rushing attempts without a fumble (ended in Game 1 last season), which was the second-longest by a Bengal since the Elias Sports Bureau began tracking the stat in 1990.

Mixon has a current streak of 130 rushes without a fumble, dating back to his fumble in the 2020 opener.

Here's a look at the longest streaks of rushing attempts by a Bengal without a fumble since 1990:

NFL PLAYER	CARRIES WITHOUT A FUMBLE	SEASONS SPANNED
Giovani Bernard	829	2013-20
Joe Mixon	541	2017-20
Harold Green	298	1991-93
Jeremy Hill	282	2015-17
Cedric Benson	260	2010-11

Mr. Reliable wears No. 30: Jessie Bates earned a starting S spot midway through his first preseason in Cincinnati, and he hasn't looked back since. The 2018 second-round pick has started all 49 possible games since joining the team, good for the seventh-most consecutive starts by a player to begin their career as a Bengal. It also should be noted that Bates stands just three starts shy of LB Takeo Spikes (52) for most consecutive starts by a defender to begin a Bengals career. At his current pace, he would tie Spikes this season in Game 4 vs. Jacksonville, and then pass him in Game 5 vs. Green Bay.

Here's a look at the players with the most consecutive starts to begin a Bengals career:

PLAYER	CONSECUTIVE STARTS TO BEGIN CAREER
C Bob Johnson	94
QB Andy Dalton	77
TE Dan Ross	65
C Russell Bodine	64
LB Takeo Spikes	52
LB Bill Bergey	51
S Jessie Bates	49

Bates coming off his best season: Bengals S Jessie Bates this season is looking to build off of a strong 2020 campaign in which he was among the top performers — offense or defense — on the team. Bates, a 2018 Bengals second-round pick, has drawn praise from many observers as one of the top safeties in the NFL.

Bates so far this season leads Cincinnati in tackles (nine). Last year, he started all 16 games and recorded 107 tackles (second on team), including two for losses, along with 15 PDs (tied for sixth in NFL), three INTs and a FF.

Opposing coaches have taken notice when watching the film. "I don't know how many interceptions Jessie Bates has, but this is a good player," said Dolphins head coach Brian Flores. "I'll tell you that right now, this is a damn good player."

Added Steelers head coach Mike Tomlin: "I just can't say enough about the play of (the Bengals') safety tandem, specifically Jessie Bates. He's a good player. They are asking him to do more, and he's delivering more."

Said Bates of all the praise: "That only means so much. I play this game to win football games. I'm a leader of this team on the defensive side, and my main goal is to win football games. I look at national media when I need to, but right now I'm just focusing on building the right environment around here."

Bates has started all 49 games of his career (more info in "Mr. Reliable wears No. 30"), and topped 100 tackles in each of his first three seasons.

Hubbard a Day 2 draft steal: DE Sam Hubbard, a third-round pick (77th overall) of the Bengals in 2018, ranks third in sacks (16.5) among all players from the '18 rookie class (draft picks and college free agents).

Players' listed positions vary from media outlet to media outlet (e.g. whether a player is classified as a LB or DE), but according to NFL.com's draft record, Hubbard was the 13th defensive lineman selected in 2018 — five DEs and seven DTs came off the board before him. According to NFL.com, there were a total of 40 defensive linemen (20 DEs, 20 DTs) selected in the 2018 draft, along with 32 linebackers and one player classified as "EDGE." There were also, of course, numerous undrafted rookies in 2018.

Hubbard has been the Bengals' starting RDE since 2019, and signed a contract extension with the Bengals in July that keeps him in Cincinnati through the end of the 2025 season.

Here's a look at the career sack leaders from the rookie class of 2018:

PLAYER/POSITION	TEAM	PICK (ROUND)	SACKS
Bradley Chubb/DE	Denver	No. 5 (1st)	20.5
Harold Landry/EDGE	Tennessee	No. 41 (2nd)	20.0
Sam Hubbard/DE	Cincinnati	No. 77 (3rd)	16.5
Darius Leonard/OLB	Indianapolis	No. 36 (2nd)	15.0
Marcus Davenport/DE	New Orleans	No. 14 (1st)	13.0

Special teams soar under Simmons: Over the 19-year tenure of Darrin Simmons, the Bengals have consistently boasted one of the top special teams units in the NFL. Simmons in 2020 added the title of assistant head coach to his usual role as special teams coordinator, a nod to a successful run that has seen 17 of his pupils appear in the team's record book.

Here's an overview of Simmons' players' dominance in the records (for more info, see the Bengals' records section on page 168 in the 2020 media guide):

- The three most accurate FG kickers (by career percentage) in team history — Shayne Graham, Randy Bullock, and Mike Nugent — were all coached by Simmons for their entire Bengals careers. Simmons has also been at the helm for each of the six most accurate single seasons by Bengals kickers.

- The five longest consecutive FG streaks in team history have all come under Simmons' watch, as have three of the five longest PAT streaks.

- Simmons, who punted at the University of Kansas, has had particular success coaching his former position. Current P Kevin Huber holds the top spot in every Bengals career punting category, along with the top five single seasons for gross average, net average and inside-20s. Former P Kyle Larson, who spent his entire Bengals term (2004-08) under Simmons, ranks within the top four in every career punting category, and shares with Huber the record for longest punt in team history (75 yards).

- Simmons has coached three of the Bengals' top four leaders in career punt return average — Adam Jones, Quan Cosby and Peter Warrick.

- Simmons has coached four of the team's top six leaders in career kickoff return average — Jones, Alex Erickson, Bernard Scott, Glenn Holt — along with five of the six best single seasons by a kickoff returner (based on yards per kickoff return).

And although the category is not kept as an official team record, it should be noted that LS Clark Harris has executed 1711 deep snaps without a single unplayable delivery since joining the Bengals in mid-2009.

Simmons has also coached four players who have made the Pro Bowl as special teamers — Huber, Jones, Harris and HB Cedric Peerman.

Wilson goes long: On Cincinnati's opening possession of last season's Nov. 29 matchup vs. the N.Y. Giants, S Brandon Wilson fielded a kickoff in the end zone and darted 103 yards for a TD. It counted officially as the longest play of any kind in Bengals history, topping a 102-yard kickoff return by RB Eric Bieniemy (Oct. 26, 1997 at NYG) and a pair of 102-yard INT returns by CBs Artrell Hawkins (Nov. 3, 2002 at Houston) and Louis Breeden (Nov. 8, 1981 at S.D.). It was also the longest play in the AFC in 2020.

According to the NFL's Next Gen Stats service, which uses GPS to track players' speed, Wilson reached a top speed of 21.05 MPH during the return. It didn't, however, match the 22.03 MPH he recorded on a kickoff return for a TD in 2019, which still stands as fastest by a Bengal since NGS' launch in '16.

Wilson currently has two career kickoff returns for TDs, tied with former S/CB Tremaine Mack for the most in team history.

2020's 19 4th downs second in NFL history: The Bengals' offense last season successfully converted 19 of its 27 fourth-down attempts, good for a 70.4 percentage that ranked fourth in the NFL.

But while their percentage wasn't historically significant, their league-best 19 fourth-down conversions were. According to the Elias Sports Bureau, whose records on fourth-down conversions go back to 1977, 19 fourth-down conversions is tied for the second-most in a single season in NFL history. That mark also easily outpaces the previous Bengals record of 14, set in 1992 (Bengals records go back to '82).

The Bengals fell just one fourth-down conversion shy of tying the NFL record of 20, set by the 1996 Chicago Bears. But for a moment in time it appeared they had tied the record. In Game 15 at Houston, Cincinnati was driving to break a 24-24 tie when QB Brandon Allen gained the necessary one yard on a fourth-down QB sneak. But Cincinnati was flagged for an illegal formation on the play, which negated the conversion. The Bengals instead settled for a FG and went on to win the game.

So far in 2021, the Bengals have converted two fourth downs on three attempts.

Here's a look at the teams with the most successful fourth-down conversions in a single season (since 1977):

SEASON	TEAM	ATTEMPTED	MADE
1996	Chicago Bears .....	28	20
2020	Cincinnati Bengals .....	27	19
1996	New England Patriots .....	34	19
2007	Jacksonville Jaguars .....	33	19
1994	New England Patriots .....	35	18
2002	Jacksonville Jaguars.....	26	18

Bengals' 2020 QB trifecta: Three different quarterbacks started and won games for the Bengals in 2020 — Joe Burrow, Brandon Allen and Ryan Finley. It marked just the second season in Bengals history that as many QBs have gotten into the win column, joining the 1984 campaign when Ken Anderson, Boomer Esiason and Turk Schonert all did it.

Cincinnati was one of three teams in 2020 to have won games with at least three different starting quarterbacks, joining Washington and San Francisco.

Burrow and Allen are the only two QBs on Cincinnati's roster in 2021.

25 points does the trick: Since 2011, the Bengals own a 52-5-2 record when scoring 25 or more points. That's good for the third-best winning percentage (.898) in the NFL when topping the 25-point mark over that span.

The Bengals are 6-4 under head coach Zac Taylor (1-0 this season) when reaching the 25-point plateau.

Here are the top five teams in the NFL since 2011, in terms of winning percentage, when hitting the 25-point plateau:

TEAM	WINS	LOSSES	TIES	WINNING PCT.
Miami Dolphins .....	42	4	0	.913
New England Patriots .....	91	9	0	.910
Cincinnati Bengals .....	52	5	2	.898
Denver Broncos .....	57	8	0	.877
Kansas City Chiefs .....	71	11	0	.866

Huber, Harris chasing down Kenny: One of the most prestigious Bengals records in existence, and one that has stood for 38 years, could be matched by the end of the 2021 season. Longtime CB Ken Riley's Bengals record 207 games played is currently 16 clear of current P Kevin Huber (191), meaning that if Huber plays in every game the rest of the season, he would tie The Rattler's historic mark that has stood since his retirement in 1983.

Huber currently stands fourth in career games played as a Bengal, trailing only Riley (207), LB Reggie Williams (206) and QB Ken Anderson (192). Not far behind, though, is current LS Clark Harris, who has snapped to Huber since joining Cincinnati midway through the 2009 season. Harris has played in 185 games as a Bengal, tied with Pro Football Hall of Famer Anthony Munoz (185) for sixth place.

Here's a look at the players with the most career games played as a Bengal:

PLAYER	GAMES AS A BENGAL	YEARS
CB Ken Riley .....	207	1969-83
LB Reggie Williams .....	206	1976-85
QB Ken Anderson.....	192	1971-86
P Kevin Huber.....	191	2009-present
DT Tim Krumrie .....	188	1983-94
OT Anthony Munoz.....	185	1980-92
LS Clark Harris .....	185	2009-present

The Huber roundup: Bengals P Kevin Huber, a 2009 Bengals fifth-round pick who is now in his 13th season in stripes, has long been considered the top punter in team history. He has cemented that legacy in recent seasons by taking over the top spot in the few remaining career punting categories he did not already own.

Huber now stands first in team history in the following categories:

- Punts (9921)
- Punting yards (41,694)
- Gross average (45.27)
- Net average (40.24)
- Inside-20 punts (318)

Huber has also taken over many of the Bengals' single-season and single-game records. Among them are:

- He holds the top five Bengals season averages in both gross and net punting yardage, and in 2020, his 12th NFL season, he re-set his own single-season team records in both categories (47.18 gross, 42.82 net).
- He shares the team record for longest punt (75 yards) with Kyle Larson.
- His 33 inside-20 punts in 2012 is a single-season franchise record.
- His six inside-20 punts on Sept. 14, 2017 vs. Houston are tied with Lee Johnson (Nov. 2, 1997) for the most in a game in Bengals history.

Huber among NFL's best at pinning 'em: As the evidence shows, no Bengals punter has ever been nearly as successful as Kevin Huber at pinning opponents inside the 20-yard line. The 2009 fifth-round draft choice currently has 318 career inside-20 punts, a margin of more than 100 over the next-best in team history (Lee Johnson, 186).

But the numbers also show that Huber is among the best active punters in the NFL at pinning opponents deep.

Here's a look at the four active NFL punters with the most career inside-20 punts:

PUNTER	2020 TEAM	NFL EXP.	CAREER INSIDE-20s
Andy Lee	Arizona .....	18	448
Sam Koch	Baltimore .....	16	428
Brett Kern	Tennessee.....	14	377
Kevin Huber	Cincinnati.....	13	318

Bengals leaned on 2020 rookies: Despite the lack of an offseason program to ease the college-to-pro adjustment, the Bengals in 2020 leaned heavily upon their draft class. The seven players drafted by Cincinnati in April combined to play in 96 games, with 33 starts. For perspective, the most combined games played by a Bengals draft class since 1994 (the year the draft went to seven rounds) is 99, achieved by the 11-player draft class of 2017. The most combined starts over the same period is 50, by the nine-player draft class of 1998.

This season, the 2020 draft class has played in five combined games, with three starts. It should be noted, though, that two players have not yet played due to injury — OT Hakeem Adeniji is on the Reserve/Non-Football Injury list, and DE Khalid Kareem is on Reserve/Injured. The other five players in the draft class all made the roster and have been regular contributors.

2021 draft class overview: Of the 10 players Cincinnati selected in April's draft, four were defensive linemen and three were offensive linemen. That haul added more than a ton — 2077 pounds, to be exact — of reinforcement to the Bengals' trenches.

Here's a closer look at Cincinnati's 2021 entire draft class:

- WR Ja'Marr Chase, LSU (Round 1, Pick 5): Cincinnati looks to re-create the magic of Louisiana State's 2019 season, when Chase and then-Tigers QB Joe Burrow helped lead their team to a national championship. Chase set SEC records for receiving yards (1780) and TDs (20) that year, en route to winning the Biletnikoff Award as college football's top receiver.

- G Jackson Carman, Clemson (Round 2, Pick 46): Carman is a native of nearby Fairfield, Ohio, which is about 35 minutes north of Paul Brown Stadium. At Clemson, he played LOT and protected the blindside of QB Trevor Lawrence, the 2021 No. 1 overall draft pick. The Bengals, though, have moved the 6-5, 322-pound Carman to G, where he helps protect the No. 1 overall pick from a year ago, QB Joe Burrow.

- DE Joseph Ossai, Texas (Round 3, Pick 69): Ossai was set to be the youngest Bengal on the roster at 21 years old, born (4-12-00) just four months prior to the opening of Paul Brown Stadium (8-19-00). He showed great promise early, recording a sack and two additional QB hurries in the preseason opener at Tampa Bay, but a knee injury suffered in that same game landed him on Reserve/Injured at final cuts and ended his rookie season before it started.

- DE Cam Sample, Tulane (Round 4: Pick 111): Sample earned Defensive MVP honors at the 2021 Senior Bowl, and was rated last season by Pro Football

Focus as the most valuable defensive lineman in college football. He is known for his relentless effort and outstanding production in college against both the pass and run.

- DT Tyler Shelvin: LSU (Round 4, Pick 122): The heaviest Bengal on the roster at 350 pounds, Shelvin played NT at LSU and was the man in the middle of the Tigers' national championship defense in 2019. He did not play for LSU in 2020, after opting out of the college season due to COVID-19.

- OT D'Ante Smith, East Carolina (Round 4, Pick 139): Bengals coaches initially called Smith a pure OT prospect due to his size (6-5) and length (35-inch arms), but during training camp practices he impressed with his play at G, so that's where he is listed to begin his NFL career. Smith entered last season at East Carolina considered by scouts as a possible riser on draft boards, but he suffered an injury in the Pirates' opener and did not take the field again until the Senior Bowl in January.

- K Evan McPherson, Florida (Round 5, Pick 149): McPherson spent three seasons at Florida and left as the SEC's all-time leader in FG percentage (85.0). He is also known for his leg strength, as 56.4 percent of his kickoffs in college went for touchdowns.

- C/G Trey Hill, Georgia (Round 6, Pick 190): Hill was the starting C the last two seasons at Georgia, which was widely considered to have one of the top offensive lines in college football. At 6-4, 319 pounds with ability to play both C and G, however the Bengals list him only at C.

- HB Chris Evans, Michigan (Round 6, Pick 202): Bengals coaches first noticed Evans during one-on-one drills at 2021 Senior Bowl practices, when he showed off his hands and route-running ability out of the backfield. He looks to fill the vacant role that was held in recent years by former HB Giovanni Bernard.

- DE Wyatt Hubert, Kansas State (Round 7, Pick 235): A productive defender and leader in college at Kansas State, Hubert was expected to push for a spot in the regular pass-rushing rotation as a rookie. But that plan is on hold for now due to a pectoral injury he suffered over the summer. He did not participate in training camp, and is currently on the Reserve/Non-Football Injury list.

These cats can fly: Since 2016, the NFL's Next Gen Stats service has tracked a variety of in-game measurements using GPS trackers and other technology. One of those measurements is the speed — in miles per hour — that ball carriers reach during a given play.

The fastest speed reached by a Bengals ball carrier so far in 2021 came from Joe Mixon, who clocked in at 20.66 MPH on a 19-yard run in the season-opener vs. Minnesota. That run, though, is not among the four fastest by a Bengals ball-carrier since 2016.

Here are Next Gen Stats' fastest Bengals ball carriers since 2016:

PLAYER	SPEED (MPH)	DATE/OPPONENT	PLAY
S Brandon Wilson	22.03	10-13-19 at Balt.	92-yard KOR (TD)
WR Alex Erickson	21.52	12-16-18 vs. Oak.	77-yard KOR
CB William Jackson III	21.52	9-24-17 at G.B.	75-yard INT return (TD)
CB William Jackson III	21.33	9-15-19 vs. S.F.	19-yard INT return

Three Bengals hail from Queen City: The Bengals have three players — DE Sam Hubbard, P Kevin Huber and G Jackson Carman — who grew up in Greater Cincinnati.

Hubbard, a Moeller High School alum and former Ohio State standout, played his third Bengals season, after joining the team as a third-round draft pick (77th overall) in 2018. He is in his third season as a full-time starting DE, and in July signed a contract extension that keeps him in Cincinnati through 2025.

"It's insane," Hubbard said after being drafted. "Seeing that 513 area code pop up on my phone on draft day was just incredible. To get an opportunity to represent Cincinnati for the pro team in this city is a dream come true. I watched every game the Bengals played. I've just always been a big fan."

Huber, an Anderson Township native and alum of McNicholas High School and the University of Cincinnati, was a fifth-round draft choice of the Bengals in 2009. He is the longest-tenured player on the roster and has played in all but two games throughout his career in Cincinnati. He currently stands as the Bengals' career leader in both gross (45.25) and net (40.22) punting average.

Huber and his wife, Mindi, have been active in the local community throughout his Bengals career. The couple started their own charity, The Foundation for Underserved Rescues, which "provides resources and support to underserved Cincinnati-area animal rescues."

Carman, a rookie, is a native of Fairfield, Ohio, a Cincinnati suburb about 35 minutes north of the city. He attended Fairfield High School before playing at Clemson University for three seasons, and then the Bengals selected him in the second round of the 2021 draft.

"As soon as I saw the 513 area code pop up on my phone, everything instantly hit me at once," Carman said on draft night. "It was an amazing feeling. Knowing that I was going to be able to be home, it's indescribable."

Ring of Honor launches with four members: The Bengals this offseason announced the formation of a Ring of Honor, which will recognize former players, coaches and individuals who have played a significant role in the franchise's history and tradition. The Ring of Honor will be displayed on the east façade inside Paul Brown Stadium, as well as on the Bengals' digital media channels.

The Ring of Honor this year will induct a four-member inaugural class during a halftime ceremony at the Bengals' Sept. 30 home game vs. Jacksonville (Thursday Night Football). The Bengals announced upon the Ring of Honor's formation that the first two members would be Paul Brown, the organization's founder and first head coach, and OT Anthony Munoz, who is widely considered among the top offensive linemen in NFL history. Both Brown (1967) and Munoz ('98) are members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

"The Bengals Ring of Honor is a way to show our appreciation for individuals who have made a significant impact on our franchise," said Bengals President Mike Brown. "We selected Paul Brown and Anthony Munoz. They are in the Hall of Fame in Canton, and it pleases me to put them out front as our initial inductees. We have a lot great players and coaches to honor, and it will be fun to reminisce as we go about this process."

The other two members of the Ring of Honor's inaugural class were decided via vote over the summer by Bengals season ticket holders. They selected QB Ken Anderson and CB Ken Riley, two longtime Bengals who were pillars of Cincinnati's first Super Bowl team in 1981.

"We have a long history of players, many of them great players. Ken Anderson and Ken Riley are at the top of that list of great players," Mike Brown said. "They were the type of players that we like to think our team is all about. I am pleased they are the top picks of the fans."

In addition to the aforementioned halftime ceremony during the Jacksonville game, the Bengals will also celebrate the 40th Anniversary of the 1981 team's Super Bowl appearance during a pregame ceremony. Munoz, Riley and Anderson all played on that Super Bowl team, and Paul Brown was its general manager.

Bengal bites: Rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase, Cincinnati's first-round pick in April's draft, is the first player in Bengals history to wear uniform No. 1 ... According to the NFL's Next Gen Stats service, which tracks players' speed by using GPS, S Brandon Wilson's kickoff return for a TD at Baltimore in 2019 (22.03 MPH) stands as the fastest speed by a Bengal ball-carrier since NGS' launch in '16; The fastest speed by a Bengals ball-carrier in 2021 came from HB Joe Mixon, who reached 20.66 MPH on a 19-yard run in the season-opener vs. Minnesota ... The longest-tenured player on the roster in 2021 is P Kevin Huber, a 13th-year pro who joined the Bengals as a fifth-round pick in 2009 ... The oldest Bengal on the roster is LS Clark Harris, who is 37 (born July 10, 1984) ... The youngest Bengal is WR Ja'Marr Chase, who is 21 (born March 1, 2000) ... The lightest Bengal on the roster is CB Mike Hilton, who is 184 pounds ... The heaviest Bengal is DT Tyler Shelvin, who is 350 pounds ... The tallest Bengal is OT Isaiah Prince, who is 6-7 ... There is a tie for shortest Bengals between CB Mike Hilton and S Ricardo Allen, who are both 5-9.

POSITION BY POSITION

Quarterbacks: Second-year pro Joe Burrow has returned to action this season, after his rookie campaign was limited to just 10 games due to a left knee injury. So far, he has completed 20 of 27 pass attempts for 261 yards and two TDs (128.0 rating). In Cincinnati's Game 1 overtime win vs. Minnesota, his first game back since the injury, he posted career highs in passer rating (128.8), completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempts (9.6). Burrow then ended the game in OT with a seven-play, 46-yard drive that included a fourth-and-inches in which he changed the play at the line of scrimmage and tossed a 32-yard completion to set up a game-winning FG as time expired three plays later. Burrow was medically cleared in time to take the first snap of training camp on July 28, and in Game 1 this season he followed through on a vow he made shortly after his injury that he would start the 2021 regular-season opener. After winning the Heisman Trophy and leading the LSU Tigers to a national championship in 2019, the Bengals made Burrow, a native of Athens, Ohio, the No. 1 pick in the '20 draft. Despite the absence of an offseason program and preseason his rookie year, Burrow got off to one of the best statistical starts to a career by a QB in NFL history, and at the time of his injury had been on pace to shatter numerous NFL rookie records. Still, his five 300-yard passing games tied the Bengals' single-season record and stand third-most by a rookie in NFL history, while he also became the first rookie in NFL history to pass for 300 yards in three consecutive games (Games 2-4) and the sixth to top 400 yards in a single game (Oct. 25, 2020 at Cleveland). Listed second on the depth chart is veteran Brandon Allen, who filled in as starter in Burrow's absence late last season. Allen started five of Cincinnati's final six games in 2020, and completed 63.4 percent of his passes for 925 yards, five TDs and four INTs (82.0 rating). Allen joined the Bengals in August of 2020, and then began that season on the practice squad as the team's "quarantine QB" that was kept away from the rest of the QBs at practice/meetings in case they could not play due to COVID-19.

Running backs: Leading the Bengals' running back room is fifth-year pro Joe Mixon, who has returned to action this season after his 2020 campaign was limited to just six games due to a right foot injury. Originally a second-round pick of the Bengals in 2017, Mixon has shouldered a heavy load for Cincinnati, and when healthy is considered one of the NFL's top running backs. So far this season, Mixon has rushed for league-best 127 yards and a TD on 29 carries (4.4 average), and caught four passes for 23 yards. Mixon topped 1000 yards rushing in both 2018 and '19, before his foot injury last season prevented him from making it three seasons in a row. Mixon has one 100-yard rushing game this season (Game 1 vs. Minnesota) and 11 for his career; he also has one game with at least 100 yards from scrimmage this season (Game 1 vs. Minnesota), and 18 for his career. Mixon signed a contract extension in 2020 that keeps him in Cincinnati through the '24 season. Fifth-year pro Samaje Perine, who also shared a backfield with Mixon in college at Oklahoma, is in his third Bengals season after beginning his career with Washington. Perine this season has five carries for 22 yards, and one catch for seven yards. Perine saw increased playing time late last year in Mixon's absence, and he impressed with a 4.8-yard-per-carry rushing average and three TDs on 63 carries. At 5-11, 240 pounds, Perine brings size and a physical rushing style, and he's also used extensively on special teams. Cincinnati spent a sixth-round pick this year on HB Chris Evans, who is known for his receiving ability out of the backfield. Evans impressed during training camp and preseason but has no statistics so far during the regular season. Bengals coaches say they first took notice of Evans' route-running and hands during receiving drills at 2021 Senior Bowl practices.

Wide receivers: Considered one of the top slot receivers in football, sixth-year pro Tyler Boyd leads a young and talented group of Bengals wide receivers. So far this season, Boyd has three catches for 32 yards. Boyd led the team in catches the last three seasons (2018-20), and stands as one of six Bengals ever to top 1000 receiving yards in consecutive seasons ('18-19). Boyd has nine career 100-yard receiving games, and five games with at least 10 catches. Boyd signed a contract extension in 2019 that keeps him in Cincinnati through the '23 season. Returning this season after a terrific rookie year is second-year pro Tee Higgins, a second-round pick of the Bengals in 2020. Higgins so far this season has four catches for 58 yards and a TD. Last season, he led Cincinnati in receiving yards (908) and tied for the franchise's rookie receptions record (67). Higgins brings considerable size (6-4, 216) to the receiving corps, and coaches have credited him for transforming his body over the offseason to get stronger. Higgins caught six TDs as a rookie last season, after a three-year career at Clemson in which he tied a school record with 27 TDs. The newest and most-anticipated addition to the Bengals' offense this season is first-round draft pick Ja'Marr Chase, who brings previous experience with Joe Burrow from their time together in college at LSU. Chase already has been one of Cincinnati's top performers, with 101 yards and a TD on five catches. In Game 1 vs. Minnesota, his NFL debut, he became the youngest Bengal (21 years, 195 days) ever to post 100 receiving yards, the third-youngest Bengal ever to score a TD, and his 50-yard TD catch at the end of the first half was the longest TD of any kind by a Bengals rookie in their NFL debut. With Burrow as his QB in 2019 at LSU, Chase set single-season SEC records for receiving yards (1780) and TDs (20), and won the prestigious Biletnikoff Award as college football's top receiver. Chase has been assigned uniform No. 1, and is the first player in Bengals history to wear that number. Providing valuable depth is Auden Tate, a 2018 seventh-round pick who at 6-5, 228 pounds is known as a big-bodied receiver with a knack for making acrobatic catches. Tate battled a shoulder injury last season and was limited to just nine games, but when healthy the Bengals have utilized his wide catch radius and ability to come down with contested catches. Sixth-year pro Mike Thomas is expected to add value as a speedy rotational receiver, as well as on special teams. Thomas joined the Bengals in 2020 but spent his first four NFL seasons with the L.A. Rams, where in '17 his assistant WRs coach was Zac Taylor. Third-year pro Stanley Morgan, a 2019 college free agent signee of the Bengals, also adds depth at receiver, but he has excelled most in the NFL as a gunner on special teams.

Tight ends: C.J. Uzomah, a 2015 fifth-round pick of the Bengals, has returned to action this year after suffering a season-ending right Achilles injury in the second game of 2020. Uzomah so far this season has two catches for 35 yards. In Cincinnati's Game 1 overtime win vs. Minnesota, his first game back since the injury, Uzomah caught a 32-yard pass on fourth-and-inches in OT to help set up a game-winning FG as time expired three plays later. Uzomah is known for his veteran leadership off the field, and his combination of blocking and receiving ability on it. Also known as complete tight end, with both receiving and blocking ability, is 2019 second-round pick Drew Sample. After Uzomah's injury last season, Sample shouldered a heavier work load that saw him start 13 games, play more than 80 percent of the team's offensive snaps, and catch 40 passes and a TD. Mitchell Wilcox, a 2020 college free agent signee of the Bengals, spent nearly all of his rookie season on Cincinnati's practice squad. Wilcox is also considered a complete TE prospect — he left USF in 2019 with every single-season and career receiving record for a TE, and also helped block for three different 1000-yard rushers.

Offensive linemen: Now in his second season as Cincinnati's starting LOT is 2019 first-round pick Jonah Williams. After missing his entire rookie season to a shoulder injury, Williams started 10 games in his sophomore campaign in 2020. A right knee injury ended Williams' 2020 season early, but it was not deemed serious and he participated fully in the Bengals' offseason program. At ROT this season is 10th-year pro Riley Reiff, who signed with Cincinnati in March after spending his first nine NFL seasons with Detroit and Minnesota. Reiff has played LOT for a majority of his career, with his one season as a full-time ROT coming in 2016 with Detroit. Reiff, though, told the local media after signing with Cincinnati that he welcomes the opportunity to play ROT in Cincinnati, and if needed would even move inside to G for the first time in his pro career. Cincinnati's starting C since 2019 has been Trey Hopkins, who originally was a college free agent signee of the Bengals in '14. Hopkins battled injuries and bounced between the practice squad and roster for his first three seasons, before settling into a regular role and gaining starting experience at all three interior OL spots. Hopkins suffered a torn left ACL in last season's finale, but he was medically cleared in time to participate in the first practice of training camp on July 28 and lined up as the Bengals' starting C in the regular-season opener. Seventh-year pro Quinton Spain, a proven starter at G for the Titans and Bills, joined the Bengals mid-season in 2020 and is listed this year as Cincinnati's starting LG. Spain played in nine games (eight starts) last season for Cincinnati, and made starts at both RG and LG, as well as at ROT when the line was dealing with injuries and COVID-19 issues. Another valuable veteran on the interior of the line is G Xavier Su'a-Filo, who is listed as the starting RG. Su'a-Filo, who is known for his athleticism and intelligence, opened 2020 as the Bengals' No. 1 RG but suffered an ankle injury in the opener and then switched to the starting LG spot upon his return late in the year. Adding depth at OT is third-year pro Fred Johnson, who stands at an imposing 6-6, 325 pounds. Johnson has starts at both OT and G during his now three-year career in Cincinnati, but he figures to work mostly at OT this season. Johnson has been a reserve at OT to this point in his career, but the Bengals are a combined 4-1 when he fills in as a starter at either OT spot. The Bengals added three offensive linemen in April's draft. The first was second-rounder Jackson Carman, a native of Fairfield, Ohio, about 35 minutes north of Paul Brown Stadium. The 6-5, 322-pound Carman played LOT at Clemson, but he is listed at G for the Bengals. In the fourth round, Cincinnati selected D'Ante Smith from East Carolina. Bengals coaches called Smith a "pure OT prospect" due to his size (6-5), length (35-inch arms) and agility, but he excelled at G during training camp, so that is where he is currently listed on the depth chart. In the sixth round, Cincinnati selected Georgia's Trey Hill, who is touted as a stout interior blocker with good movement skills and a high football IQ. Hill started 26 career games at C at Georgia, considered one of college football's top offensive lines, and this year is listed as the Bengals' backup C. Adding depth at OT is the tallest Bengal on the roster, Isaiah Prince (6-7), who returns to action in 2021 after opting out of the '20 season due to COVID-19.

Defensive linemen: Cincinnati native and Archbishop Moeller graduate Sam Hubbard is in his fourth Bengals season, including his third as a full-time starter, and is considered the leader of the defensive line. A third-round draft pick of the Bengals in 2018, Hubbard's 16.5 career sacks are third-most among players from his draft class (including college free agents), and he's also considered among the best DEs in the NFL against the run. Hubbard signed a contract extension in July that keeps him in Cincinnati through the 2025 season. At the LDE is Trey Hendrickson, one of Cincinnati's most high-profile additions from free agency in March. Hendrickson spent the last four seasons (2017-20) with New Orleans, and last year his 13.5 sacks tied for the NFC lead and tied for second in the NFL. Last year's high-profile addition in free agency was DT D.J. Reader, a 6-3, 347-pound nose tackle who excels against the run. Reader was limited to just five games last season due to a left quad injury, but he has returned healthy and is slotted to anchor the interior of Cincinnati's defensive line. Lining up next to Reader is DT Larry Ogunjobi, who signed a one-year deal with Cincinnati in March. Ogunjobi has impressed so far this season, with one sack, an additional QB hit and an additional tackle for a loss. Ogunjobi spent his first four NFL seasons with Cleveland, where he played NT, however in Cincinnati he is playing three-technique DT, which he has called his "natural position." Also in the rotation at three-technique DT is B.J. Hill, who was acquired in an Aug. 30 trade with the N.Y. Giants. Hill already has two sacks on the season — both came in his Bengals debut, the season-opener vs. Minnesota. Hill stands 6-3, 311 pounds, and has played in every possible game over his now four-year career. In the fourth round of April's draft, the Bengals selected DE Cam Sample of Tulane. Sample is known as a productive, versatile and high-energy player, and last season he was rated the most valuable defensive lineman in college football by Pro Football Focus. Bengals coaches say that Sample caught their eye during the 2021 Senior Bowl, where he earned Defensive MVP honors. Later in the fourth round, the Bengals selected 6-2, 350-pound DT Tyler Shelvin, a space-eater with a rare blend of strength and athleticism. Shelvin was a key player on LSU's defense during their national championship run in 2019, but he opted out of the '20 college season due to COVID-19. Back in the lineup this season is 6-3, 345-pound DT Josh Tupou, who opted out of last season due to COVID-19. Tupou was a college free agent signee of the Bengals in 2017, and has worked his way into the regular defensive rotation as a reliable run-stuffer. Adding depth at DE is second-year pro Wyatt Ray, who was acquired on waivers from Tennessee on Sept. 1. Ray originally was a college free agent signee of the Cleveland Browns in 2019, and has also spent time with Houston, Buffalo, the N.Y. Jets and Tennessee. Rounding out the defensive line group is 6-1, 248-pound rookie DE Darius Hodge, a college free agent signee out of Marshall. Hodge, who initially was listed at LB, excelled as a pass-rusher during preseason and earned a roster spot out of training camp.

Linebackers: Among Cincinnati's most promising young defenders is second-year pro Logan Wilson, the team's third-round draft pick in 2020. Wilson in 2021 is in his first season wearing the green dot as the defense's communicator, and so far he has seven tackles. Wilson battled injuries as a rookie in 2020 and was limited to 12 games (two starts), but when healthy he saw his role on defense increase. Germaine Pratt, a 2019 third-round pick of the Bengals, has grown into a key contributor on defense after being considered a raw prospect coming out of the draft, due to switching from S to LB late in his college career. Pratt has eight tackles so far this season. In Cincinnati's season-opening win vs. Minnesota, Pratt made the defensive play of the game late in overtime when he forced and recovered a fumble by Vikings RB Dalvin Cook; the play thwarted Minnesota's potential game-winning drive, which had reached the Bengals' 38-yard line, and set up a Cincinnati drive that ended with a game-winning FG as time expired in OT. Pratt, who earned a starting LB spot midway through his rookie season, has drawn particular praise from coaches this season for his grasp of the defense. At 26 years old, fifth-year pro Jordan Evans is Cincinnati's longest-tenured linebacker by two years. Evans originally was a sixth-round pick of the Bengals in 2017, and has developed into a valuable rotational LB and special teams contributor. Akeem Davis-Gaither, a fourth-round pick of the Bengals in 2020, is also in the LB rotation this year. After being seeing brief action on defense late last year, Bailey has seen more time on defense in 2021.

Defensive backs: S Jessie Bates, a fourth-year pro and 2018 Bengals second-round pick, is considered one of the core leaders of the team. So far this season, Bates has a team-high nine tackles. Bates earned a starting S spot in training camp as a rookie and has started every game since, becoming one of Cincinnati's most productive players. Bates topped 100 tackles in each of his first three seasons (2018-20), and last year showed off his coverage ability with 15 PDs (sixth in the NFL). Next to Bates at S is sixth-year pro Vonn Bell, who has not missed a single snap since joining the Bengals in 2020 after spending his first four seasons with New Orleans. So far this season, Bell has seven tackles, including one for a loss. Last year, in his first season with the Bengals, Bell played all 1059 defensive snaps and led the team in both tackles (114) and FFs (three). One of the headliners of the Bengals' 2020 free agency haul was CB Trae Waynes, who is listed as one of Cincinnati's two starting outside CBs. Waynes, though, has not played yet this season due to a hamstring injury suffered late in training camp. Last year, Waynes suffered a pectoral injury early in training camp and ended up missing the entire season. Depth at CB was a primary focus for the Bengals in 2020 free agency, as the team added three veteran corners. The first is Chidobe Awuzie, a former second-round pick of the Cowboys who spent his first four seasons in Dallas. Awuzie, who is under contract through the 2023 season, mans the other outside CB spot opposite Waynes. The second free agency addition was Mike Hilton, who is widely considered among the top slot CBs in the NFL. Hilton, who is under contract through the 2024 season, is among the smallest players on the roster at 5-9, 184 pounds, but he is known as a sure tackler and outstanding blitzer. The third free agent addition over the offseason was Eli Apple, a former first-round pick of the Giants. Apple brings familiarity with Bell, whom he played alongside in college at Ohio State, as well as with defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo, who was his position coach with the Giants in 2018. Bringing experience and a veteran presence at CB is Darius Phillips, a 2018 sixth-round pick of the Bengals who, when healthy, has proven to be a playmaker in the secondary. Phillips led the team in INTs (four) in 2019 despite playing only 108 snaps on defense, but then he battled injuries throughout '20. Phillips has taken over as Cincinnati's primary punt returner this season, and thus is filling a rotational role on defense. At safety, 2017 sixth-round pick Brandon Wilson fills a rotational role on defense and primary role on special teams. Wilson is considered one of the top kickoff returners in the NFL, and has two career KORs for TDs (tied for most in team history). Another veteran safety in a key role is Ricardo Allen, who joined the Bengals in March after spending the last six seasons a regular starter and defensive leader for the Atlanta Falcons. Allen played collegiately at Purdue, where his position coach his first two seasons (2010-11) was Bengals defensive coordinator Lou Anarumo. CB Jalen Davis joined the Bengals in mid-2020 and was immediately thrust into action while the team dealt with a wave of injuries and COVID-19 issues. Davis, who previously spent time with the Dolphins and Cardinals, drew praise from coaches during his six games of action in 2020, and earned a contract extension with the Bengals in March. Rounding out the defensive backfield is CB Nick McCloud, who was acquired on waivers from Buffalo on Sept. 1. McCloud, a rookie out of Notre Dame, was a college free agent signee of the Bills in May.

Special teams: Cincinnati native and the longest-tenured player on the roster Kevin Huber is handling the Bengals' punting duties for the 13th consecutive season. Huber, a graduate of Archbishop McNicholas High School and the University of Cincinnati, originally was a fifth-round pick of his hometown Bengals in 2009. So far this season, Huber is averaging 47.4 gross yards on punts, and 42.9 net yards. Huber is considered the top punter in team history, and stands as the Bengals' career leader in every significant punting category, including punts (921), punting yards (41,694), gross average (45.27), net average (40.24) and inside-20 punts (318). Huber was a Pro Bowl selection in 2014, but he has maintained a high level of play and last season posted career-highs in both gross (47.2) and net (42.8) average. Huber also ranks fourth in team history in games played (191), and is within striking distance this season of leaders Ken Anderson (192), Reggie Williams (206) and Ken Riley (207). The oldest Bengal on the roster is LS Clark Harris (37 years old), who joined the Bengals early in 2009 and has snapped to Huber nearly his entire career. Harris has been a paragon of reliability for Cincinnati, and has never had an unplayable snap in 1711 career attempts (918 punts, 791 placekicks) as a Bengal. Harris, a Pro Bowler in 2017, has also been strong in kick coverage throughout his career. Harris has played in 185 career games as a Bengal, tied with Hall of Fame OT Anthony Munoz for sixth-most in team history. Among the youngest players on the roster is 21-year-old rookie K Evan McPherson, whom the Bengals selected in the fifth round of April's draft. McPherson has already made a significant impact, after nailing a game-winning 33-yard FG as time expired in overtime of his first career game (season-opener vs. Minnesota). McPherson is known for his strong leg and accuracy, and left the University of Florida as the SEC's all-time leader in FG percentage (85.0). In the return game, S Brandon Wilson is considered among the top kickoff returners in the NFL. Wilson has two career kickoff returns for TDs, tied with Tremain Mack for most in team history, and his 103-yarder last season against the N.Y. Giants stands as the longest play of any kind in team history. Listed as the No. 1 PR is CB Darius Phillips, who prior to 2021 had five career punt returns in the NFL. In college though, Phillips was considered among the top returners in college football history, as he set an FBS career record with 12 career TDs on returns (five KOR, one PR, five INT, one FR). The Bengals also feature a number of experienced players in kick and punt coverage, including Wilson, LB Jordan Evans, LB Akeem Davis-Gaither, WR Stanley Morgan and WR Mike Thomas.

THE LAST BENGALS-BEARS MEETINGS

2013 SEASON

WEEK 1, GAME 1

Chicago Bears 24, Cincinnati Bengals 21
Sunday, Sept. 8, 2013 at Soldier Field

The Bengals were on the wrong end of the seesaw at the conclusion of their season opener. Cincinnati rose to a 21-10 third-quarter lead after trailing 7-0, but the Bears came back to get the last two scores on TD drives of 80 yards in the third quarter and 81 yards in the fourth. The Bengals lost after leading through three quarters for only the 13th time in 75 opponent opportunities under head coach Marvin Lewis. The Bengals were burdened by a minus-two turnover differential. Bengals WR A.J. Green had nine receptions for 162 yards and two TDs, and he also drew a 34-yard pass interference penalty. His yardage total was the highest in Bengals history for a receiver in a season opener. Bengals QB Andy Dalton posted a 97.2 passer rating, and would have topped 100 had one well-thrown ball not been deflected off Green's hands for a Chicago INT.

2017 SEASON

WEEK 14, GAME 13

Chicago Bears 33, Cincinnati Bengals 7
Sunday, Dec. 10, 2017 at Paul Brown Stadium

Cincinnati started the game with six starters declared inactive due to injuries, including five on defense. After an early TD and missed PAT by the Bears, the Bengals took a 7-6 lead with just over two minutes left in the first quarter when QB Andy Dalton connected with WR Brandon LaFell for a 14-yard TD pass, but that advantage was short-lived. The Bears regained the lead on a 34-yard FG by former Bengals K Mike Nugent just over two minutes into the second quarter, and then put the Bengals in their rearview mirror. As the game progressed, Chicago took advantage of Cincinnati's depleted defense. The Bears scored 27 unanswered points after the first period, and the Bengals were unable to counter against the expanding deficit. Chicago outgained Cincinnati by 248 yards (482-234) and, aside from the score, held clear advantages in several key stat categories, including first downs (29-14), net yards rushing (232-70), takeaways (2-0) and time of possession (38:09-21:51). The loss left the Bengals with having to win their last three games to avoid a losing season and snapped a 22-game stretch of Bengals opponents failing to score 30 or more points. Dalton's career-long stretch of 193 straight passes without an INT ended in the third quarter. The Bengals fell to 5-8; the Bears improved to 4-9.

2021 GAME SUMMARIES

WEEK 1, GAME 1

Cincinnati Bengals 27, Minnesota Vikings 24 Sunday, Sept. 12, 2021 at Paul Brown Stadium

Bengals QB Joe Burrow, who was less than 10 months removed from a left knee injury that ended his rookie season, showed few signs of rust, posting career-highs in passer rating (128.8), completion percentage (74.1) and yards per attempt (9.67). HB Joe Mixon, whose 2020 season also ended early due to injury, rushed for 127 yards and a TD on 29 carries. Rookie WR Ja'Marr Chase impressed in his NFL debut with five catches for 101 yards, including a 50-yard TD. Minnesota closed a 14-point second-half deficit and sent the game to OT with a 53-yard FG at the end of regulation. Late in OT, LB Germaine Pratt forced and recovered a fumble by Vikings RB Dalvin Cook, setting up a seven-play, 46-yard drive that was highlighted by a 32-yard pass from Burrow to TE C.J. Uzomah on fourth-and-inches. Rookie K Evan McPherson, making his NFL debut, then nailed a 33-yard FG as time expired to give Cincinnati the win. The game was the first in NFL history with a game-tying FG with no time left in regulation, and a game-winning FG with no time left in OT. Cincinnati moved to 1-0, and Minnesota dropped to 0-1.
