

YOUR OFFICIAL PSL OWNER REWARDS RECAP

February 2022

Now that Super Bowl LVI is behind us, football fans have found themselves in the reoccurring dilemma...what to do now?! With so many exciting and close finishes throughout the playoffs, there is certainly an immediate void that comes with the official end of the season.

While we enviously congratulate the Los Angeles Rams on their NFL Championship, we can take a little solace that two special PSL Owners got to experience the craziness of an L.A. Super Bowl weekend, on us!

Baltimore Takes on Los Angeles...x2!

PSL Owners and guests head to L.A. for Super Bowl LVI...

As we mentioned in a previous edition of PSL Owner Rewards News, long-time PSL Owner, Lamont Braxton, section 515 from Glen Burnie, was awarded a trip to Super Bowl LVI at the Ravens-Chargers game back in October. Excited for the weekend, Lamont and his game partner (now travel partner), Kenneth Walker arrived in Los Angeles Friday to jumpstart all the Super Bowl fun. From Friday to end of game, their weekend was filled with red carpets, celebrity sightings, sight-seeing, and of course confetti celebrations!

We asked Lamont to keep us posted on his trip and here's what he reported...

Friday:

The weekend got off to a great start with Shaq's Fun House, an event at the Shrine Auditorium sponsored by Shaquille O'Neal. It combined all the hoopla of a carnival atmosphere on the outside, with a partying vibe inside that included DJ's (including Shaq), other performers and performances by Lil Wayne and others.

"There was a red carpet, an 80-foot slide, a human claw, open bar, free food, bumper cars, and a Ferris Wheel. We took advantage of all the festivities there and even won a few prizes, along the way!" Lamont shared as he recalled the first day being long, yet memorable.

Saturday:

To jumpstart the day, our two guests did some shopping, had some brunch and purchased some souvenirs to bring back to Baltimore. Interestingly enough, Lamont recalls there being little to no Super Bowl signage or even people wearing Rams gear. "I know if the Super Bowl was here in Baltimore, and we were in it, you could just put a purple dome over the entire city...lol." Couldn't agree more Lamont! This city would've been covered in everything purple!

What's a trip to Los Angeles without visiting Hollywood?! Lamont and Kenneth continued their Saturday with the famous Hollywood City Bus Tour. The narrated tour gave the two Baltimoreans a glimpse of how the stars of Hollywood live from their gigantic houses to their luxurious shopping areas.

"We went through the famous Mulholland drive and passed the ritzy Rodeo Drive with all its' stores and shops. We saw the iconic Hollywood sign, several homes of famous celebrities and the Hollywood Walk of Fame, including the Dolby Theater and TLC Chinese Theatre. The highlight of the tour came when Flava Flav drove up beside our bus and give us a shout out. He asked us how we were doing, and of course we all took pictures!," Lamont reported.

Gameday:

On Sunday, with no traditional tailgating as an option, Lamont and Kenneth paid a visit to the infamous Madame Tussauds Hollywood House of Wax. "This was a very special place and one that I highly recommend anyone to visit while in LA.," Lamont shared. He described an exceptional depiction entertainers showcased there, as well as a short interactive Marvel movie. "The movie was awesome! And just as memorable was getting a wax figurine made of my hand."

Check out some pictures of Lamont and Kenneth posing with some of the best wax figures: Jimmy Fallon, Barack Obama, The Bride (from the movie Kill Bill) and Captain Jean-Luc Picard & Captain James T. Kirk (from the series Star Trek).

After Madame Tussauds...it was game time!

Upon getting to SoFi Stadium, Lamont took in some spectacular views and described the scenery as very picturesque- beautiful waterfalls, decorated facade with Super Bowl banners and a huge LVI sculpture. The two were later surprised with some lanyards that allowed them to be part of the halftime show! How exciting! From the start of the game to the end, there was a steady stream of entertainers making appearances on the big screen: Jennifer Lopez, Chris Tucker, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, James Corden, Magic Johnson, Cardi B and the list goes on.

Once Lamont settled in for the game, many wanted to share in his excitement, "I had so many friends and family calling and texting me, congratulating me, I could hardly keep up with the game," he said with a smile. "It was a beautiful show and the game itself was entertaining and competitive which is what I wanted since the Ravens weren't there."

Once the game ended, he and Kenneth stayed to take in the full celebration. The confetti falling, post-game interviews and of course the awarding of the Lombardi Trophy!

But wait, there's more... Clark LeDane also made the flight to L.A. from the east coast to meet his father and long-time west coast PSL Owner, James LeDane, section 144 from Las Vegas, NV, for all the Super Bowl festivities. Flashback to the final game of the season against the Pittsburgh Steelers, we surprised James with Super Bowl LVI tickets during the Pregame Live show featuring Ravens Legend Torrey Smith.

Sharing similar experiences as our other guests, James summed up his weekend reporting:

"What a bucket list day! The energy in the air was amazing. The Super Bowl was an experience like a regular Sunday Ravens game but on steroids! And of course, we repped the greatest team in the NFL the entire time we were there."

With rocking nothing but purple, one could imagine some banter from Rams and Bengals fans. According to Clark, they received less from the Rams fans so that's who they ended up rooting for adding, "It was a really awesome experience and made us proud to be a part of the Ravens organization. We can't wait to go to the next one and watch Lamar win it! Thank you to the Ravens for providing this amazing opportunity!"

Sounds like all four had an amazing time in the "City of Angels" and represented our team well. Thank you to our winners!! We too hope to see every Super Bowl city covered in purple!

Thanks for tuning into this month's newsletter! We'll be back in March to discuss what PSL Rewards has to look forward to in 2022.

Sincerely,
