

RAIDERETTE OF THE GAME

PRESENTED BY EōSFITNESS

Taylor

Born and raised in Las Vegas, which is appropriately hailed as “The Entertainment Capital of the World”, Taylor has always had a passion for performing. At three years old, Taylor knew she wanted to be an entertainer. She began studying a broad genre of dance, including ballet, jazz, hip hop, lyrical, contemporary, and acrobatics.

In high school, she was on the varsity dance team for four years and performed in musical theatre. After graduation, she became a licensed esthetician to make people look and feel beautiful by enhancing their natural beauty.

Taylor had danced her whole life but never imagined she’d have the opportunity to dance professionally. When the Raiders relocated to Las Vegas, her parents encouraged her to audition, and we are grateful she did.

Taylor says the best part of game days are “spending time with my teammates and performing in front of 65,000 fans in my hometown.” Taylor inspires future generations to pursue their dreams by teaching classes at Raiderettes The Studio. Meeting the youth of Las Vegas and encouraging them to follow their dreams has been a rewarding experience for her.

Today’s Salute to Service game holds a special place in Taylor’s heart because both her grandfathers, father, and brother have all served in the military. “The commitment and sacrifices they have dedicated to the military contributed to the freedom and safety we all have,” says Taylor. “I thank my family and everyone who served in the military and value their honor and sacrifices.”

Today Taylor pays tribute to her Grandpa Jim, Grandpa Earl, brother (U.S. Air Force), and her father (U.S. Army).

Thank you, Taylor, for your Commitment to Excellence and being a leader on the team. We appreciate all you do!
